THE REPORT OF THE PARTY OF THE

DIAL SYSTEM IN OPERATION

Switch-over in Taneytown was Made on Wednesday

With a simultaneous jerk of many strings and with very little "fan-fare" one of the "landmarks" of Taneytown passed into history. At 12:26½ P. M., Wednesday, May 25, Taneytown was placed on the dial system in telephone.

After several months of preparation and labor, costing nearly $100,000.00, the C. & P. Telephone Company, of Baltimore City, modernized telephone communication in the Tanguage. eytown Area.

Progress cannot be denied but many persons cannot help but have some regret in the passing of the "Number, please" of our local exchange operators. The fine, loyal and lengthy service of our telephone op-erators in Taneytown will long be remembered and we, at this wish to extend our appreciation to these operators for their splendid ser-

LIONS CLUB NEWS

Attorney Hoffman was the Speaker Tuesday Evening

Taneytown Lions returned to their own lair, so to speak, for their meeting Tuesday which was presided over by President Ohler, at Taney Inn, their established meeting place. Fol-lowing an excellent meal four guests from Hagerstown and Officer of Police Gamber were introduced. Hagerstown visitors were Lions seeking support for their nomination of Masey Rowe to the post of district governor.

The report of the nominating committee was reviewed preparatory to nominating from the floor, and one change was noted in their report. Lion Chester Cartzendafner has now been proposed for the secretaryship. A few other names were offered, and the election will be conducted at the first June meeting, on Flag Day.

Attorney Ralph Hoffman was then presented by Lion Fuss, program chairman, as the evening's speaker. His remarks dealing with the law courts of the State of Maryland represented a timely and informing. resented a timely and informing explanation of our legal procedures. Lowest in degree are the magistrates courts, now presided over by Mr. Tubman, sitting at Westminster, and by Mr. Berman, denominated roving magistrate, who both are appointed two years. Their criminal jurisdiction covers such cases as assault and disorderly conduct, while their civil domain covers actions, as in trespass, for example, not in excess of three hundred dollars. They also issue warrants, and can determine such cases without the more expensive higher court machinery, subject to the right of any litigant to appeal to a superior court. The circuit court is the one most important to each of us, and its judges are elected for 15-year terms, the first year of which is in the nature of a trial period under gubernatorial appointment. The new judges name then appears on the ballot, and he may be duly re-elected for the remainder of the full term. There are three in this district, one each for Carroll, Howard, and Anne Arundel counties. The court's jurisdiction covers serious offenses on its criminal docket (usually felonies), criminal docket (usually felonies), and in civil matters any action involving sums greater than three hundred dollars. After indictment by a grand jury, the defendant is entitled to a trial by jury, but if both parties agree, this may be waived in favor of adjudication by the court alone. When sentencing, the court may exercise considerable discretion on the more lenient side, although it may more lenient side, although it may never exceed the full penalty of the law in question. The circuit judge may even strike down a jury verdict for lack of proper evidence, but seldom does this occur. The court of appeals is the highest Maryland court, sitting at Annapolis hearing only the records of proceedings in the lower courts, not their must have temper, just as steel does, wedding gift! A SHOW PLACE

To the outlander Baltimore has many show places to offer. Ft. Mc-Henry, Federal Hill, Druid Hill Park and many other spots. At Miller's Restaurant on West Fayette Street, there are named and briefly described a great many of "firsts' that are found in Baltimore.

One of the leading show places now is the ten to twenty acre lawn and flower garden at Homewood-of the Sherwood Brothers, where great beds of tulips, from snow white to deep purple, and all intermediate colers may be found. Some are almost black and await a future Burbank to develop that specie. The Sherwoods import these bulbs from Holland. It would pay any reader of The Carroll Record to visit this show place, which is the greatest in Maryland, if not in the entire country.

Thousands of people go to this place daily and are well paid for the trouble they take.

NEW DEALS, FAIR DEALS, RAW DEALS

Washington, D. C., May-For many years there has been an almost running battle between employers and employees in the Nation's leading industries. Franklin Delano Roosevelt's New Deal was a bad experiment. The Truman "Fair Deal" is simply a patched-up "raw deal" that is weak and wholly impractical.

It is estimated that the combined American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Organizations. railroad unions and independent unions have 400 lobbyists in Washington. Even so, only a few AFL and the CIO Bosses control the unions. President Truman yields to most of their demands. He recommended the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act-and the resurrection of the Wagner Act, which is as out-of-date as the Dodo bird. Roosevelt settled strikes in his own peculiar way-always in favor of the strikers.

Our President has been insisting that "party loyalty" must be proved by Democratic Senators and Representatives by following their leader. If they don't walk the chalkline they'll lose their "pull" at the White House.

No wonder the Members of Congress are disturbed as to what will happen to 2,000 postmaster appointments that are now being laid before the Senate, in view of the fact that Congressmen who expect to share in the distribution of patronage are told to vote the way Mr. Truman tells

Most Members of Congress, whether they belong to the Republican or Democratic party, feel that the pressing issue of 'inflation" should be met. Nevertheless, Mr. Truman backs-up public spending. He has the habit of finding ways to toss the money around. The People stand aghast as they realize how high the new tax burdens are growing, and how close we are to economic disaster.

Senator Byrd is a shining example of the right kind of a public servant. He isn't being bluffed by the President as proved by his public statement that he would vote "in accord with the views of the majority of people in Virginia and in accord with my own convictions, regardless of whether I am placed on the black list or how it will affect my own political fortunes."

Strikes are ordered by labor union Bosses, and the members of their organization follow in line. In most cases increased pay is won by the strikers. Automatically prices go up on manufactured goods and the necessities of life. Next: Increased taxes become new public burdens. Automatically all kinds of schemes, including Government health insurance, medical care, socialization of our entire educational system, and a variety of things the people of the country are not asking for-are recommended by the President of the United States. the camel that broke the man's back

Remember the old story about the merchant and the camel? It was a cold night, and the camel begged to warm his nose - only his nose - in the tent. Then what happened? Little by little, the camel inched in his shoulders, his front legs - until he took over the whole tent. And the merchant was out in the cold.

That's how government agencies are inching their way into the electric business. First, public funds were set aside to build dams - for flood control and navigation. Then it was argued that the water behind the dams could be used to make electricity.

That led to the building of power lines, and then to more dams, more lines, and so on. Now these same agencies want more millions of dollars to build fuel-burning power plants-which have nothing to do with floods or navigation at all.

Yes, the camel of State Socialism is creeping farther and farther into the tent of the electric business. What it is doing here it can do in other industries. For when a government can enter one business in unfair competition with its own citizens, it is but a short step to entering all businesses and eventually taking over all

Prayer in Pain

Lesson for May 29, 1949

THE SHADOW over Gethsemane is deep. We can scarcely see the tortured figure under the moon-lit olive trees. If Jesus' closest friends, in that hour, were strangers to his soul, we cannot dare to penetrate all the secrets of that fateful hour. Yet while we cannot know all, we can know enough; enough to support us in our own time of dark- Dr. Foreman ness and of pain. Mark uses very strong language to describe the state of Jesus' mind in Gethsemane. The two Greek words he uses, translated in the King James version "sore amazed" and "very heavy," are translated by the Revised Standard Version "greatly distressed and troubled;" by Goodspeed, "distress and dread;" by Moffatt, "appalled and agitated." As our hymn says,

"We know not how, we cannot tell

What pains He had to bear."

Still, we do know of some of the burdens which weighed so terribly on Jesus' mind and heart that

Power of Darkness

ONE THING that must have troubled our Lord was lack of sympathy. Peter, James and John were comfortably asleep, evidently without the slightest notion of what he was suffering. But there was worse than lack of sympathy, somewhere in the dark city one of Jesus' supposed friends, the man called Judas, was even then slinking through the alleys with murder in his heart.

Jesus well knew what was in store for him. He knew the Sanhedrin would call him a blasphemer, he knew what the Romans would do with him, once they got their hands on him. Worse than this must have been the tragic sense of failure.

"I would, but ye would not," he had said in tears to this very city; a city full of enemies who should have been his friends, of unbelievers who should have believed, a city he loved, but which had nothing for him but thorns and a cross.

All this was on Jesus' heart that night-and as many Christians believe, far more. One of the most profound Christian thinkers has suggested that the heaviest, most painful shadow on Jesus' white soul was the sense of guilt, not his own but for the sins of the world.

Blood and the Angel

SO JESUS PRAYED. Even in the cool spring night his forehead was covered with sweat, falling to the rocky ground like drippling blood. Never rose prayer from a more tortured heart. And what came of it? In one sense, the prayer was not answered. The cup did not pass from him, he must drink it to the last bitter dregs. The prayer did not remove the pain. Yet in a deeper sense, the prayer of Christ was fully answered. "Not as I will, but as Thou wilt," he breathed. The prayer that sets one's own will in line with the will of God, whatever His will may be, is the prayer that always finds answer. At the end, there was not release, but power. "An angel came and strengthened him."

What Prayer Can Do

TESUS "LEARNED obedience by I the things which he suffered." (Heb. 5:8.) We can share his lesson. The hour of pain is not the hour to begin praying; those who have not learned prayer before, will scarcely know how to pray in a time of agony. Yet the time of pain is not the time to give up praying. When the dark hour comes, Jesus did not throw aside his faith, he prayed more intensely than ever before. Prayer does not explain pain, much less explain it away.

Prayer does not always get rid of pain, even though in many cases the prayer of faith works cures where doctors fail. What true prayer does always is to set the one who prays in tune with the will of God even when that will is not as our own.

Prayer does not bring us all the answers to the riddles of existence. It does bring power to bear what God sends us. For God's answer to those he loves is not always escape, but it is always endurance.
