Each future day and in some way-help to bring you happiness! One of the sweet young girl High School graduates over Middleburg way has a real 'flash' on the third Yinger of her left hand!

There is a sweet young girl grad-uate of Taneytown High who is studying vocal, lives out on a farm a mile from "Around The Town" and is go-ing in Training this September. Betcha, she will make a marvelous murse as she has all the qualifications but then I am woondering if the cill but then, I am wondering if she will get that far before one of those big Doctors grab her and lead her to the altar.

Now here's to any M D no matter where the location. Recently, I was sitting in the waiting room awaiting my turn with a number of other patients. A charming young girl was seated next to me and we started to talk about that Dr. in question and to taik about that Dr. in question and to my amazement this very young girl said, "One of the things, I like about this Dr. is that he treats you like a Human Being not a machine to run you in and out of his office!" See, what I mean, Folks about nice people "Around The Town" I could write a column daily of all the nice people I meet instead of weekly. They may not meet instead of weekly. They may not say it to you and you and you but they all have nice thoughts about each other. It is just the idea that many people cannot express them-selves in the way they would like to do. Well, Folks lately I had a real wish granted! All my life, I have wanted to 'sit in' a little Red School House in the country and I did that very thing recently. School was in session and I tiptoed in. The nice School Master came forward to meet me and shook hands and I then asked if I may be seated. I sat down in a double desk seat with the ink well in the middle. Just the kind that I had in the first and second grade of the Public School in Philadelphia. To my amazement, that teacher taught srades ranging from the First to the Sixth, all in the one room! There was much order, discipline and quiet-ness in that class room and one of the big things that impressed me was the gentle manner of the School Master, his low voice in addressing the puthe pu pils and the respect all held for him. As I gazed around the room, I saw large pictures of our First and Six-teenth President with the American Flag over them. There was an upright plain piano and a very old and charming desk of the School Master's that any Antique Dealer would pur-chase in a minute and be delighted to have it. There were ten deep sill windows with tiny lights. The children's clothing was hung on clothes hangers on the sides of the walls as there was no closet. What surprised me was the huge old furnace in COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT the Foom-the very largest that I have ever seen in any cellar. Two of The commencement exercises of St. the larger boys had just returned with a full bucket of coal (although it was the last week in May.) Miss Julia Arnold de-livered an address on 'Ideals' which was failured the solution of the solution of the solution of the solution girl who came into my class. The seat was vacant beside me and I remember so distinctly telling that the little girl may sit beside me. What impressed me about her were her eyes that were blue as the skies which I thought very unusual as all Colored Folks, I ever knew in our household as maids were very dark with black eyes or the darkest brown. There were colored schools in Philadelphia but there was a real story in back of this child which I seemed to sense immediately. There was a reason that she was to be the pupil in our school. Then, one day her Mother called on our teacher. There never was a more refined woman than the mother of the little blue eyed colored girl. Then there was the little Chinese girl who had the American father who was a Lieut. and the Chinese mother and I can hear her voice repeating to me so many times after visiting China, "Oh, I am so glad that I live in America. I never want to go back to China with all it's beautiful flowers!" As I sat in that seat of the little Red School House in the country, where quietness prevail-ed and thoughts of yesteryear com-ing back to me, I thought of our grand country and how very much "A Melting Pot" it really is and has been more more years only that we been many, many years only that we are realizing it now all the more. Don't forget Father's Day, Folks, is this Sunday. Show your love for him in some very special way and al-ways remember that he played a bigger part in your life perhaps than you will ever realize. Treat him like a Human Being as he loves to be loved just as much as Mother but may never let you know that side of him! What a thrill he would get if he were called on Sunday night by Bert Parks for the Mystery Tune which I think

One special highlight of our meet-ing was the privilege we all enjoyed when Miss Dorothy Alexander, ac-companied by Miss Dorothy Koons, favored us with a lovely vocal solo. Good things did not stop with this but continued right on when Program (Chairman, M. C. Fuss introduced our guest speaker the Rev. Raymond Myers from the Glade Valley Lions Club of Walkersville. Being a member of and interested in the progress and work of Lions Clubs, Rev. Myers topic of discussion was "Why is there a Lions Club?" He made it clear how the Lions club can be divided into two distinct cleasifications. Followship distinct classifications—Fellowship and Service Club. Begides a club where good fellowship is enjoyed the Lions club is an organization which always stands ready to offer valuable service to its community in what service to its community in what-ever capacity where such service and help is needed. The operator of a retail chain recently wrote his views on the proposal to raise the minimum wage of 75 cents an hour for a 40-hour week. "The retailer would have no choice of action but to reduce the number of employees and hope for greater production from those who are retained," he said. "The marginal producers from the standpoint of sales volume would, of course, be eliminated from the payroll.

"Many untrained women and high school girls are employed for Saturday and special rush day periods. This type of available worker would not find employment for the reason that their potential production would not justify the wage."

The proposed law is unrealistic. It takes no account of the differences in living costs in varying sections of the country. Nor does it take account of the special operating problems faced by retailers in rural areas, where it is impossible to confine the business to a short working day and week. In the farm districts many customers can only find time to shop in the evening, and stores must stay open to serve them.

Retailing is simply one of a number of enterprises which can use beginners, part-time workers, and people without special skills. It is obvious that the value of such employees to the store owner is limited. If the legal minimum wage is set at too high level, he can no longer employ them and so help them make a start in life. Congress should give this phase of the minimum wage intense consideration when it comes time to vote on a new law.—Industrial News Review.

"Today's Children Are Tomorrow's America" — keynote of this year's national observance of Father's Day — is the basic idea to which the lives of these two famous fathers have been dedicated by deed and principle. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower (left), "Father of the Year" in 1943, is about to pin a "Father's Day" emblem on the lapel of Drew Pearson, 1948's "Father of the Year." The emblem says "Salute Dad, Builder of Our Country's Future." Father's Day is Sunday, June 19, last day of Father-Child Month, dedicated to closer father-child relationships. Purpose: to build a strong America through wholesome child upbringing.

In deploring the frightful slaugh ter on our streets and highways, President Truman called attention to the fact that many states do not have driver licensing systems worthy of the name. He cited his own State of Missouri where he said, "a man can walk out of a lunatic asylum, go into a drug store and buy a driver's license for a quarter to drive on any road in the State. Persons, discharged from an asylum, of course accoun for few accidents. It is the lunatic who has never seen inside of an in-stitution who creates the traffic accident problem. Rarely can you drive a mile without observing someone behind a wheel who hasn't the faintest idea that he is in command of a lethal weapon. If all such were lethal weapon. According to the Frederick News se of displaced European persons on Maryland farms has not been very successful up to this time. The pro-gram was doomed from the begingram was doomed from the begin ning because screening of the individ-uals in Europe failed to single out those with farm experience. Only three of the six assigned to Frederick farms remained on the farms since none of them had, had any farm ex-perience. Some included a medical student a veterinarian, beautician, carpenter and other trained occupations not related to agriculture. While the program was designed to bring the displaced persons into the country to do farm work, it has been pointed out, there is actually no way to force the people to stay on the farm. Thirty-six women and two men enjoyed the trip in Mr. Harvey Leister's new bus. Our first stop was to see the beautiful statue stop was to see the beautiful statue of Jesus in Rotunda of the Johns Hop-kins Hospital. This massive statue of marble, was a gift from William W. "I'm thinking of the time Detective Sergeant Rod Upshur went up to Round Pond for his summer vacation. Rod was city bred and city raised. He worked on the police force of one of the country's largest cities. He didn't know a great deal about the country and country ways. But he knew human nature, and he was smart.

"Rod was stay-O - Minute ing at one of those Fiction J summer camps and was having a pretty dull time, when Henry Graves, the owner, came to him with a request. "'There's been a drowning up the river a ways', he explained. 'Jed Thomas, the local officer, isn't so sure but what there's foul play. I know it's out of your jurisdiction, but we'd appreciate having you lend us a hand.' He smiled flatteringly. 'You see, your fame as a detector of crime is far reaching.' "Jed Thomas, a farmer by trade, was congenial and willing to let Rod assume the entire burden.

" 'Fact is, Mr. Upshur, there's been a feud hereabouts. Between the Hallams and the Spencers. " 'Well, sir, couple days back Herm and Punk Hallam come to me an' says they was bait diggin' in their lower pasture and suddenly they sees a boat with Pat Spencer in it come sweepin' around the bend. He was clear across the river, which is about 200 yards wide there, an' they claim he hit a submerged log and stuck. They claim he tried to push hisself off with an oar an' the oar slipped an' it an' him fell overboard. Well, sir, Pat can't swim an' he just naturally drowned. "Jed Thomas drove Rod out to the Hallam farm and introduced him to Herm and Punk. They were big strapping fellows, smug, amused.

" 'Sure, sure, we'll go down to the river with yuh,' Herm said in reply to Rod's question. Spencer lost overboard."

" 'Yep,' replied Jed, and not too happily, 'I found it caught in some weeds along the bank about 15 yards downstream. I guess he musta lost it, just like Punk and Herm said.' "Punk and Herm laughed.

There is practically no one who would think of driving their car on the highway without insurance, yet tractors and farm ma-chinery being operated on the highway can become involved in an accident even more quickly than a car. According to statistics hundreds of such accidents occur every year with usually the farmer paying the bills, simply because no such insurance protection was provided.

Our FARM LIABILITY policy not only protects you in case of such accidents but also includes, without additional charge, acci-dents resulting from cattle straying on to the highway, injury to anyone coming on your farm or even if your kind dog suddenly decides to take a bite at your bread man or other person, and just about every farm accident you can think of, even if you acci-dently shoot some one while hunting. Yet the cost for all of this is very much less than for just one car. Any information is FREE if you ston in or call: if you stop in or call:

"Sure, we'll go down to the river with yuh," Herm said.

" 'Wait a minute,' Rod said easily. 'Not so fast, boys. You two are smart all right. Too smart. So smart you made one awful blunder. Officer Thomas, I think you'll be safe in arresting these men and charging them with murder.' PAT'S AND HERM'S mouths fell open. In fact, so did Jed's. Jed said: "Yuh mean, you know Pat didn't drown hisself?'

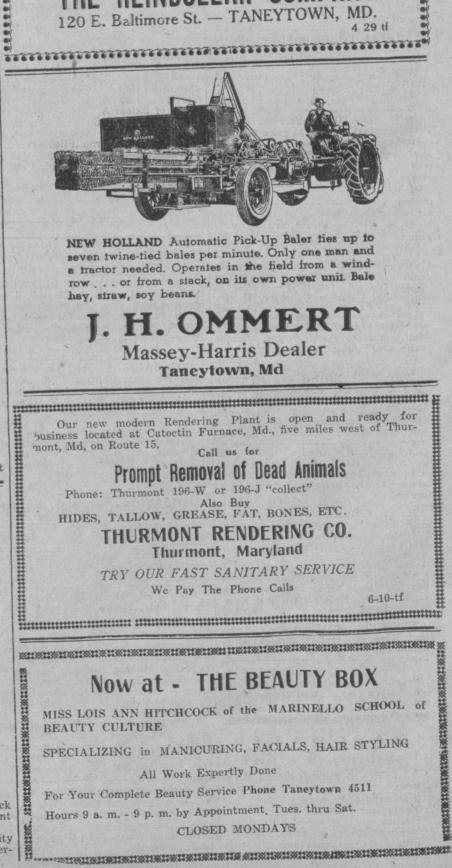

"'O course he did!' Punk Hallam said darkly. 'Listen, city jigger, you ain't comin' up here an' gettin' away with accusin' us o' murder. You ain't scarin' us none. We got each other for witnesses.'

" 'Fine,' said Rod. 'That makes the lie all the worse, because you both declare you saw Spencer fall out of the boat, first dropping his oar. No, I must confess I am a city man and the ways of the country are strange to me. However, any dumbbell would know after looking at that river and seeing that bend above here and knowing that there's a fast current, that an oar dropped overboard near the opposite bank, could never lodge in underneath along the bank on this side 15 feet from where we're standing. It would be two or three miles down stream by now.

"For a minute, there was silence. The three men stared at Rod blankly. It took quite awhile for the announcement to penetrate. Officer Thomas fortunately, recovered first. He had a gun in his pocket and he got it out, just as Punk Halam jumped at him. He had to shoot Punk through the shoulder, and would have done the same to Herm, apparently, had one more ounce of grey matter than his brother. He quit." Released by WNU Peatures

A substation on wheels, Potomac Edison's latest addition to their stock of emergency equipment, is scheduled for future use in this area to prevent or minimize power interruptions.

This 534,000 unit will be used to maintain the supply of electricity when equipment must be taken out of service for either routine or emergency work.

No Ghost

mediums profess to get in touch with the spirits of the dead. If you could believe the spiritists, Shakespeare and Queen Victoria and innumerable other famous people, have come back and talked from beyond the grave. But the thing that makes the Christian church more than doubtful about such performances, is that somehow the dead-and-come-back genius is never a genius any more. Neither Shakespeare nor any other famous person has said anything worth saying through a "medium." And even these feeble ghosts cannot endure the daylight. They have to come at night.

How different were the com-ings of Jesus! There was nothing weird or uncanny about him. Around the supper table, or on an afternoon walk, or out on the lake shore under the morning sun . . . never the poor mumbling ghost of a seance, never any stupid trifles from his lips, but words of truths and comfort which the church cherishes as among the best from our Lord's mind. Jesus' resurrection is not the story of the survival of a ghost, still less the mere return of a revived and walking corpse.

It is the story of a Divine Person who conquered death, and who came back from that conquest in power and majesty, yet with all the tenderness, love and brilliance 'he had ever shown.

clear that our hope of lifebeyond-death grows right out of Christ's resurrection. The enemies of Christ would have given their right eyes to stop the mouths of the men who told that story, and to prove it a lie.

But they could never do it. You cannot well stop people from believing what they have seen with their own eyes. So our hope of eternal life is not just a hope.

As Paul says, if that were all, we should be miserable men.
