The introduction to the topic, "We Learn to Worship", was given by Mrs. Shoemaker, after which the discussion was carried on with four speakers: Miss Helen Daughenty, Mrs. Ruth Wilhide, Mrs. Marion Coshun and Mrs. Mary Devilbiss. For true worship we must worship with our hearts as well as with our minds. We must be ever conscious of the need of "True" worship. During the discussion the songs "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross", "God is Love" and "Lord Speak to me that I May Speak" were used. A sentence prayer ended the discussion. Another solo "Beyond the Sunset" was rendered by Miss Clabaugh. To really do something great we must first feel an urgent need; Mrs. Mildred Stine gave a humorous mon-

DOING THE JOB

According to the proponents of compulsory government health insurance, the American people just can't protect themselves against the exigencies of illness.

However, judging by their actions, the American people don't agree with that view. According to the Health Insurance Council, they gained millions of new subscribers-all of whom bought the service because they wanted it, not because the government told them they had to-in 1949. In that single year, hospital expense insurance increased its coverage from about 61,000,000 people to more than 65,000,000-and only 10 years before it covered but 5,670,000. A relatively new form of protection that pays benefits for medical expenses other than John Wood, Solicitor. surgery was owned by 12,895,000 people at the end of 1948 and by 16,862, 000 at the end of 1949, a huge gain of 31 per cent in twelve brief months. Other types of insurance also showed healthy jumps.

This certainly doesn't look as if we, as a people, are incapable of doing something about the sickness problem. These plans are inexpensive—a few dollars a month gives the basic protection to a worker and his family. Their benefits have been broadened. And they don't require billions of dollars of tax money for support!

No one argues that we have reached perfection in this field. Much remains to be done. But the point is that it is being done, in an orderly and effective fashion. And it is being done without placing an intolerable burden on the taxpayers-and without subjecting the healing arts' to the whims of the bureaucrats and politicians.-Industrial News Review.

No crystal ball here!

At some time in the future, it will be possible for you merely to pick up the telephone, dial the proper ten digits, and get anyone you wish to talk to, any place in the country! That's the forecast of telephone experts, based upon the theory and experiment already substantiated and proved as of today.

Teamwork smoothed the way

And teamwork can make a party line run smoothly, too. For instance, when you have a number of calls to make, it's better to space them out, and give your neighbors a chance on the telephone. And when you hear someone already on the line, hanging up gently is almost sure to get you the same treatment in return.

Look before you loot

A young bandit in Canada pushed the woman in charge of a restaurant into a small enclosure and slammed the door. Then he proceeded to rob the till. Before he could make his getaway, the police arrived. He had put the lady in a telephone booth. That's a new slant on your telephone's extraordinary

FEESERSBURG

In some parts of the country-and our own Carroll County happens to be a part of that country—there is a delightfully lazy season in autumn known as Indian summer. Indian summer brings with it a complaint not unlike spring fever. For the sunlight is a smoky haze, warm without humidity and delightful to be out in. The morning's low temperatures has tinged the leaves with gold and orange and deep red. The children are in school and the summer chores done and so we feel free to enjoy that brief interlude before cold winter weather shuts us in. A walk in the nearby woods, with the smell of burning leaves in the air and the sound of crisp fallen leaves under foot give us a feeling of well being and satisfaction of being even a small part of this thng called "life". Far away are the problems of modern civilization and the coming winter months. Here, under the trees, majestic in their brilliant dress, one can glimpse if only for a moment, the things poets write of the things an artists tries to put on canvass with a brush. Indian summer unlike any other season, affects the mind and soul rather than the The Keysville Lutheran church will nide or Mrs. Sharrer. Visitors of the Lee Finks on Sunday were: Mrs. Anna Vogel and Mrs. Clara Poteet and two children, of Green Haven; John Doyle, of Gibson Island; Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hottinger, of Rockville, and Mr. and Mrs. Loren-

Take the day off and vote for your favorite candidates and also help the school by buying your lunch from the Mother's Club. In this way you will be killing three birds with one stone. You will help your country, your community through the school and yourself.

Sunday visitors of the Wolfes were: Mr. and Mrs. William Leitz, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Miller and children, of Keymar, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller,

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers and children, of Baltimore, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Russell

We received this week our plate with the picture of Mt. Union church etched on it and was greatly pleas-ed with the picture of the church. It makes a nice wall decoration and also a keepsake to cherish all through the years.

The executive committee of the Elmer Wolfe P. T. A. met Monday evening at the school for their regular monthly meeting. There are several items which the eral items which the school is in need of-among them are black curtains for the new recreation hall in the added annex; padding for the stage floor to be used by acrobatic students; the stone wall to be finished and new books for the library. It was decid-ed to hold a supper the first of No-vember and invite all the political candidates of both parties to attend and of course pay for their own suppers. This in itself should assure the support of being a success.

And while we are on the subject of politics, schools and everything that all of us are interested in may I pass on to you a prayer which I ran across while reading a story. This is it: "Lord, I am praying for the little people of America. There are a lot of them, Lord, and they are not all in the small towns or the back country as a local state of the small towns or the back." country, as a good many of them are in Washington, D. C., trying to run this government. From the White House down to the Congress, they are mostly little people trying to steer the country through the biggest trouble the world has ever seen and the rest of us stand off and look and the rest of us stand of and flook at them and watch them for being so small, especially Congress. But the truth is, Lord, they are no differ-ent from us. They are the same breed of human than we are, we sent them to Washington, and if they are small, why it proves only one thing—that we are small too. Lord I ask you to we are small too. Hold I ask you to save us from our smallness. Lord, de-liver the little people of America from their littleness. I am one of them and I know my own size and my own faults. I am low on self improvement and lazy and thoughtless, thoughtlessness and littleness. There s something great in them too, as they have showed time and again in their past. So, Lord, let somebody stand up now—the President or somebody—and ask for that greatness, let nim speak to it and call it out and ead it against the danger that threat ens us. We are not afraid of the danger, but only that we will not be called on to face it in time. So now let somebody stand up, and ask for the greatness and we will give it to him tomorrow. We will give up our comforts, we will give up our lives, if we have to, for the sake of the country we love, though we don't always show it. God, save the little people of America from their little-Amen.

Suppose you were single, good looking, and wrote two letters—one to the one you loved and the other to your boss concerning a business deal; and then, some prankster exchanged the letters in their respective envelopes, and mailed them. What do you think would happen—well, don't miss seeing the forthcoming production of "The Whiz Kids" in which George Motter takes the part of Archer Kingsley, and gets into such a mess, and works his way out of it again. This play is being presented by the Christian Endeavor Society of Grace E. & R. church on Thursday and Friday eve-nings, No. 2 and 3 in the Taneytown High School auditorium.

Growing in Prayer

Lesson for October 22, 1950

LIFE MAGAZINE, which does not set up as an authority on religion some years ago carried a story about a little girl who was going to be confirmed in the Episcopal church. In describing the requirements for confirmation, the reporter said she had "graduated from Now I Lay Me' to the Lord's

Most Christian ministers, including those of the denomination in which she was confirmed, would agree that (1) if that is as far as she had "graduated," she still had a very long way to go in learning about prayer, but (2) the little girl had got about as far as thousands of "Christians" ever go. They learn the Lord's Prayer when they are children and that's that. When they grow up they don't actually pray, themselves; they leave it up to Grandma or the preacher-or the tiny tots who "sound so cute" say-ing "Now I Lay Me."

The Lord's Prayer

THIS is not meant to say anything against the Lord's Prayer, or to imply that we are wrong every time we use it. But our Lord did not mean that prayer to be used as a magic formula, he did not intend it as a substitute for our own free prayers. We know this is so, because in the first place he himself never used that prayer again, and in the second place, although doz-ens of prayers by Apostles and others are recorded in the New Testament, the Lord's Prayer, as such, is never used. Then what is the Lord's Prayer?

It is his suggestion as to the lines along which, and the spirit in which, we ought to pray. (See the book by William Douglas Chamberlain on the Lord's Prayer, "The Manner of Prayer."

One truth suggested by the Lord's Prayer is that we are not alone in the world. Every verb, every prois in the plural—OUR Father . . . We noun referring to the one who prays, forgive US . . . lead US . . . We have to remember that God is Father of others, not of ourselves alone; that we dare not be selfish in asking special favors of him for our-

Maturing in Prayer

DRAYER at its lowest level is nothing much more than "Gim-The untaught pray-er may even talk to God as if he were a personal servant, a kind of celestial bell-boy on call whenever we ring

The growing Christian will grow in prayer as in all things; he will grow to the point where, even when he prays as an individual, he will be remembering how many ties bind him to other individuals; he will pray less and less for his own necessities and more and more for what he may share with others. The beginning Christian, the childish Christian, will pray as a child prays. If his prayers were all arrows they would all point toward himself. As for the mature Christian, if his prayers were visible arrows they could be seen pointing into all the world; he will have those in every land for whom he prays, for his heart bears their names in love and faith.

Learning God's Will

A GOOD deal of worrisome argument has gone on over the question: Can prayer change the will of God? We shall be less bothered by that question when we discover two truths.

One is that in the Lord's Prayer, and in the Bible generally, we have already revealed to us the lines along which God's will moves; and the other is that prayer itself is a means of learning God's will. If we know that God's will is against something, then, if we have any sense, we know there is no use in praying for that thing. If we know God's will desires something, then we can be confident that our prayers in that direction will be heard with

A study of the Lord's prayer, from this angle, will teach a Christian how to pray in accordance with God's will. Paul knew this. When he prayed that his Philippian friends' "love may abound more and more," he knew very well that this was precisely in line with the will of the Father who is eternal
