CORN PLANTING TIME

We set aside May 7 to 10th as the proper time to plant corn and weather permitting always did so.

It was my chore to drop the corn three grains to the hill and a pumpkin seed in every fourth hill of each fourth row.

Sometimes if opportunity offered we would drop an occasional watermelon seed so that those who cut the corn could have a melon to eat. The negro is supposed to be specially partial to watermelon but I have yet to find a white did not like them.

Two weeks after planting was replanting, and two weeks after that thinning. Busy times these and hard back breaking work.

No six or eight hour day for us but as the old darky said we worked from can to can't (daylight to dark). I think the modern system a little better. Honest toil and a good sweat never did any one any harm.

'THIS 'N' THAT

is educational, essential and the knowledge retained for ever after!

The free cook book, Ladies, by Anne Marshall is worth sending for as it will be excellent for the summer time meals especially with those wonderful products of Campbell Company. The address—Dept. M. 17 Camden, N. J.

The old time "Switch" is back again for my lady's short hair plus the Chignon of course. There are different prices of permanents. So be sure always to purchase the very best for it pays and pays and pays!

There are the most attractive "DUSTERS", Ladies, those auto coats when the Motor Vehicles came upon the world in our Mother's day. The coats are most attractive now in all colors plus much style and glamour and the price is only six dollars.

One does not have to go to the seashore for those famous "Salt Water Taffy" as there are delicious ones right at the May company in the big city at their candy counter.

Walking down Howard Street there in a window was the cup marked, "Mother" and one for "Father" too! Your Observer never did like them as they always appeared as a shaving mug! But they do say that in our Grandmother's Day they were filled with coffee for the parents. In antique shops they are costly.

If you are planning a vacation why not visit Canada this year. You will never forget the trip and it will be in a much cooler climate than elsewhere.

Calling the executive of the States Road! Kind, Sir before a critical accident occurs at Tyrone won't you place a real skeleton with the bones 'n everything on a sign just before that awful curve right by the side of the house which sells vegetables. (Going in the direction of Westminster). There is an arrow on the right coming toward Taneytown but none on the other. The other day a driver was backing back to go into the yard of this house and it could have meant one car piled a top of another if speed had not been slowed down. Please do something immediately before a life is taken as I hear there have been a number of accidents right there!

It's nice to know that the cows come home! Queen Victoria has a Secretary which was made just seventy years ago by the father of our furniture store around the town. They say he was one of the finest "Cabinet Makers" in his day!

Sunday is May Day so be careful when you go for that drive and outing. Let the other car pass you if the driver appears in a hurry. You will enjoy the day if you drive slowly for that way you can see more beauty this first Sunday in May!

Collecting for "The Cancer Fund" this past week was interesting and enabled Your Observer to get closer to my readers. I have always wanted to drink water which I pumped directly from the well and did just that and on the wayside picked the lovely violets! Such nice substantial people out Keymar way!

Did you know that through your contributions that 70,000 men, women and children were saved from Cancer in this past year?

The 20th Anniversary of the grocery business will be celebrated by that nice family on the square beginning on Tuesday May 1 and closing Saturday May 5th. There will be many gifts. The story of that grocery business is most interesting!

Did you know that Samuel Osgood was the first Postmaster General under the Constitution. He was appointed Sept. 26, 1789.

They say that Dick Stark of the Chesterfield programme is kissed more than any other man living and always by a different girl!

Your Observer started a braided cretonne rug which I have named, "The MacArthur" rug due to the fact that I started and finished it that entire week from the day of MacArthur's arrival, awaiting the speech to Congress and awaiting his special car in the parades!

Did you see Arthur Godfrey last Wednesday night with his friends which was circus night? He was brave enough to have that elephant, "Ruthy" place her big foot in his face while he lay down on the floor! I think many in the audience held their breath for the time being!

So long, Folks. Have a nice weekend and, when you go along in life instead of discouragement and fault-finding just say, "You're doing fine, John", and you will immediately see the energy curve soar in an individual. Until next week D. V. I am,

Faithfully,

FARM Facts

Q. What causes my hens to eat their eggs and how can I break them of this habit?

A. This cause is unknown, according to the Research Laboratories of the Ralston Purina Company, but the problem is probably created by an egg being accidentally broken, the hen tasting it and developing a craving for eggs. To overcome this problem the following is recommended to keep eggs from being broken:

- 1—Feeding adequate oyster shell and vitamin D in the ration to overcome thin-shelled eggs.
- 2—Keeping the nests well littered so the hens can't break the eggs.
- 3—Gathering the eggs at least three times a day.
- 4—Darkening the nests.
- 5—Clipping the beaks of egg-eating hens.

Q. When should lights be turned on laying hens?

A. Lights should be turned on when the days begin to get shorter than 12 hours, in order to provide a 13 to 14 hour day. November 1 is the usual starting date, but it will vary according to the latitude.

Q. Do laying hens need more feed when their egg production is high?

A. Yes. When egg production is high, hens need more feed to keep their body weight. If feed rations are not sufficient, bodyweight will go down and production will slump. The Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company suggests the following amounts for medium weight birds:

When egg production is	Total feed required daily
40%	20 to 22 lbs. per 100 birds
50%	23 to 25 lbs. per 100 birds
60%	26 to 28 lbs. per 100 birds
70%	29 to 32 lbs. per 100 birds

Q. When should my growing pullets be moved to the laying house?

A. Usually it is best to put the pullets into the laying house when their production is less than 10 per cent.

Q. How many nests do I need for my laying hens?

A. You should have one nest for every seven hens. If trapnets are used, you should have one nest for every four hens.

Q. How many eggs must a hen lay in a year in order to qualify for the R. O. P. under the National Poultry Improvement Plan?

A. To qualify for this, a hen must lay a minimum of 200 eggs in a year, averaging 24 ounces to the dozen.

Chicken Hearted Audience

Milton Berle tells of the touring circus in Europe, which advertised that an 83-year-old man would dive 90 feet into six inches of water. The place was jammed, and then the bent, bearded and wizened man walked out onto the platform.

"I am 83 years old," he announced, in a thin, wailing voice, "83 years old. And to make a living, I have to dive 90 feet into that tub. Imagine your own fathers, or grandfathers—at the age of 83 having to dive 90 feet. A young person could get killed doing such a thing, and I'm 83. Tell me," he wept, "shall I dive?"

"NO," the touched audience shouted in chorus.

"Then," said the 83-year-old man, "will you please clear the stadium and make room for the next audience?"

CAN DO BETTER

The old farmer was dozing in the shade of his front porch, when a high-pressure salesman bustled up the front walk and awakened him with a cheery "Good afternoon." He had a sample book of a 10-volume set of scientific agriculture he was selling.

The old farmer was at length persuaded to page through the specimen volume.

"Nope," he objected, "ain't got no use for it."

"But you ought to have it," the salesman insisted. "It will teach you to farm twice as good as you do now."

"Nope, son," barked the ancient agriculturist, "I don't farm half as good now as I know how."

Hope is the glory of springtime. The moon and the stars at night, The power that leads us onward From darkness into light.

Hope dries the tears of the weeper, Helps the fallen to rise, Draws upward the fear-ridden soul, And brightens weary eyes.

Hope goes with our boys to battle To fight for our homes and God; Their spirits do not falter, as Through mud and dust, they plod.

Hope is the staff of the troubled To guide them through the haze, O'er unknown paths where dangers lurk Back to the sunny days.

Hope scatters her cheer like blossoms For comfort to mankind; To follow the light she carries Bring solace to the mind. —Emma Myers Kead.

CROUT — ROOP

Miss Elizabeth Roop, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John D. Roop, Linwood, Md., became the bride of Alan Lee Crout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Crout, Middletown, Ohio, at 2:30 P. M., March 31, 1951, in the Pipe Creek Church of the Brethren. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William E. Roop, of Westminster.

The church was beautifully decorated, with handsome, large ferns and baskets of attractive gladiola. A seven branched candelabrum of exquisite design formed the center-piece of the excellent decoration. Miss Dorothy Fuss, student of the Peabody School of Music, Baltimore, was the soloist, accompanied by Linwood's most noted musician, Mrs. Seward Englar. The bride was given in marriage by her father, in a white slipper satin gown, fashioned in a basque of chantly lace, with a lace yoke, with long sleeves and full gathered skirt. Her veil fell from a lace Juliet cap, matching the lace of the gown, with a hyacinth petal border. She carried a large arm bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Mrs. William Knight, was matron of honor, and wore a charming aqua gown.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Marie Crout, sister of the groom, and Miss Ruthanna Hoff, who wore yellow gowns, fashioned with basque bodice, with low necklines, outlined with ruffles, cap sleeves and gathered skirts. They carried large mixed bouquets of carnations. Miss Martha Hoffman, of New Windsor, was a most charming flower girl, dressed in a becoming aqua frock, and carried a very beautiful bouquet of mixed pink flowers. Robert Wells, Middletown, Ohio, was bestman, for the occasion. Roger Roop and Carroll Roop, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

After congratulations an enjoyable reception was held, for a hundred or more guests, at the bride's parents home.

Some of those in attendance from a distance, were: Mrs. James A. Crout, Ohio; Miss Norma Lauterback O.; Dr. and Mrs. Robert McKinney, Wilmington, Del.; Col. and Mrs. Henry Holman, Washington, D. C.; Alfred Bancraft and Matthew Lipa, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Manifold, Ephrata, Pa.; Mrs. Clarence Bohn, Catonsville, and Miss Ethel A. Roop, registered nurse in the Women's Hospital, Baltimore.

The official car of the Polish Ambassador, in Washington, D. C. brought a stately basket of carnations, and gladiola, containing a note from the Ambassador Hon. T. Winiewicz, regretting his inability to attend the wedding and the reception, on account of the illness of his wife, Mrs. Winiewicz.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a great many costly, though very useful presents. After an extended trip north, the happy couple will be at home in West Middletown, Ohio.

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

FLOWERS

"And because the breath of flowers is far sweeter in the air (where it comes and goes, like the warbling of music) than in the hand, therefore nothing is more fit for that delight than to know who be the flowers and plants that do best perfume the air."

"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen, And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

"The flowers and fruits of love are gone; The worm, the canker, and the grief are mine alone."

Flowers are for the enjoyment of the living, and are tokens of respect for the dead.

Flowers are beautiful, fragrant, and awe-inspiring. One's attitude toward flowers bespeaks the quality of one's soul. A life without flowers is as barren as a desert without an oasis. Destitute, poor and cold would seem the earth, were there no flowers in it.

Flowers give cheer. They brighten life. They speak messages of love, affection, sympathy, and devotion. They tell stories that cannot be voiced. There is no language where their message is not heard. They speak an universal language. Flowers appear to recognize man's aesthetic nature and attempt to satisfy it.

The power of flowers to comfort, to instill noble thoughts, and to aid in restoration to health may be witnessed in the sick room, and in hospital wards. When he comes slinking in at two o'clock in the morning, a husband sometimes is prepared to attempt a reconciliation with his wife, by bringing her a bouquet of roses.

Flowers are harbingers of spring. They inspire poets to write undying verse. They move artists to paint masterpieces of art. They impel the singer to lift her voice in celestial rhapsody.

May we not think of the expansive fragrance of flowers as symbolic of the far-reaching influence of love. Some of the choice passages of the Bible have to do with flowers.

His life becomes richer who makes flowers his friends.

True Income

INCOME is mental. Intelligence and right thinking are spiritual forces leading to achievement, peace, joy, and success. To those who are tempted to think of income in terms of position or inheritance, Paul gives this heartening promise (Philippians 4:19): "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

This declaration about supply is applicable now, and true riches are ever available. . . .

Confidence in and reliance upon God, ever-present good, destroy fear and the bondage of lack. Understanding the limitless affluence of divine Love, Christ Jesus fed the multitudes with a few loaves and fishes. And he counseled (John 6:27): "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you."

Our effort should be to gain that Christlike understanding of God which is true substance.

Reliance on material position, dependence on fluctuating earnings, and all faith in matter as security must be exchanged for the spiritual ideas of service to God, utilization of Mind's unfoldment, and confidence in Spirit's infinite production. Capability and capacity, wisdom and worth, integrity and inspiration, are dependable spiritual substance, and these, emanating from Spirit, God, furnish abundant supply. The all-knowing Mind imparts true wisdom and neither knows nor causes doubt, confusion, or fear. Spiritual gain, or true income, contains no element of change or retrogression. Spiritual qualities alone are real and constantly productive.

Out of Love's plentiful storehouse, divine Mind has made full provision of all right ideas for man. In Spirit's limitless, infinite realm true income is fully assured. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, declares in her book "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 307): "God gives you His spiritual ideas, and in turn, they give you daily supplies. Never ask for tomorrow: it is enough that divine Love is an ever-present help; and if you wait, never doubting, you will have all you need every moment. What a glorious inheritance is given to us through the understanding of omniscience!" —The Christian Science Monitor.

The Last Time

A problem child was becoming too well acquainted with the principal's office. One day the principal showed her annoyance. "This makes the fifth time I have punished you this week. What have you to say for yourself?"

"I'm glad it's Friday."

CARROLL COUNTY ANGUS BULL SETS RECORD

An Aberdeen-Angus bull, Wakefield Gillis 9th, reg. 1308220 owned by Wakefield Valley Stock Farm of New Windsor set a new record for weight gained. On April 23rd at the age of one year to the day, he tipped the scale at 1015 pounds as witnessed by C. M. Peery, fieldman for the Angus Association.

To make his record more remarkable Wakefield Gillis 9th was never on a calf creep; he was weaned at 6½ months of age; he was never on a nurse cow; and he had pneumonia for two weeks in January. Comparing this record to the thirty bulls of all three beef breeds on the ROP test at the Beef Cattle Research Station at Front Royal, Va., for this year, it is interesting to note that he surpassed the top gaining bull, a short-horn who weighed 992 lbs.

CLOTWORTHY BIRNIE RETIRES

Clotworthy Birnie of the Virginia engineering department of the C. & P. Telephone Company has recently retired after thirty-seven years of service. A native of Taneytown, and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George H. Birnie, it was natural that after graduation from Lehigh University he should seek work in Baltimore and he accepted a position with the C. & P. in 1913 when the headquarters were located at 108 East Lexington Street. Mr. Birnie remained in Baltimore until 1921 when the department was removed to Washington and in the reorganization of 1929 he was assigned to the Virginia company with offices at Richmond. He remained with the equipment and building group until his retirement.

During his term of service, through two world wars and through boom and depression, Mr. Birnie participated in meeting and solving the equipment problems which arose in providing telephone service under unusual conditions, and established himself as one of the stalwarts of the department.

He was an early member of the famed Thursday Luncheon Club, and a golfer of no mean ability as his opponents in many company tournaments can testify.

Mr. Birnie is now making his home in Washington and his many friends wish him good health and happiness in the years to come. He will always be a welcome visitor and they hope to see him frequently.

What Is Greatness?

Lesson for May 6, 1951

WHAT is a great man? Some men have been called great who were not so; they were only prominent. Hitler, for example, was certainly prominent enough; but he was not great. Men can truly be called great for various good reasons. Some may be artists; some may be soldiers, others statesmen, or prophets. Once in a while a man is born who is great in more ways than one.

Dr. Foreman great in more ways than one.

David the Ideal King
SUCH a man was David, King of Israel and one of the world's most famous men. The United Kingdom of Israel had a short history, only three kings reigning over it—Saul, David and Solomon. Of the three, David was by all odds the greatest man and greatest king. Neither Saul nor Solomon was capable of holding for a lifetime to a high ideal. Neither was capable of whole-hearted devotion to God. Neither one could gain and hold the loyalty of the nation.

It was only David who could do these things. It is no accident that forever after, when a Hebrew thought of the ideal king, he would think neither of Israel's first king nor of the wealthiest, but of David the best and most beloved.

Military Genius
DAVID was great, in part because of his power in battle. What no one since Joshua had been able to do, David did: he welded the quarreling, jealous, weak tribes of Israel into a "single sword." The times called for military genius, and David had it. He gave Israel the military might that was essential for their peace and prosperity.

So, often since David's time, there have been great soldiers who have used their military genius not for conquest in itself but in order to win some place in the sun for peace-loving nations. One thinks of Charles Martel, who saved Europe from barbarian conquest; of William of Orange who set the Dutch free from Spanish tyranny; of Washington, "father" of a great nation; and of many others.

The great soldiers of history have been more than professionally skilled and successful killers of men; they have been like David, men whose skill was used to preserve nations, not to destroy them.

Lovable Leadership
IN OUR times Hitler brought the word "Leader" under a shadow, because his leadership was in the wrong direction. But there is such a thing as noble and wise leadership, and David had this quality in a high degree.

It is true, success has something to do with it. Men will flock to a winner who would have nothing to do with him if he were a loser. But still it is a fact that most of the world's great leaders who have come up from obscurity, as David did, have arisen at the head of groups of devoted men who have followed them loyally through the darkest times.

So it was with David. During his years as leader of the "underground" (literally so, since for some time his headquarters were in a great limestone cave), he developed the hard core of the army he commanded at a later time, a core of men who would rather lose with David than win against him.

Leader in Faith
DAVID had yet another quality of greatness, and for this he is perhaps best remembered. He was a man of deep religion. But religion for him was not merely a personal matter; he carried his faith into public life, he made his faith contagious. He did his best to make faith in God central, as it had never been, in the life of his nation.

Religion for him was not a stick with which to beat other people about the head, but a rod and staff to lean upon. It was not a secret locked in his own heart but something he desired to share with all his people. It was not a device to keep his subjects contented; it was an acid test for his own life.

And though he sometimes slipped and terribly fell, he could always rise again, for his religion gave him that rarest of all qualities in great men; humility before God and man.

Q. What is the cause of blindness among my laying hens?
A. Blindness may be caused by a disease known as Avian Leucosis. This disease is probably the cause of most of the blindness in laying flocks. This type of blindness is characterized by "fish eyes" in which the normal reddish bay color of the iris becomes a slaty gray, and the pupils may become irregular in shape. In some cases, the blindness may be due to nutritional roup or vitamin A deficiency. This type of blindness is much more rare, and the blindness results from destruction of eye tissues.

Q. We have been getting watery eggs from our hens. What causes this?
A. Watery eggs may be caused by the storage place being too warm, or this may be an inherited condition which can be corrected only by culling the diseased birds. Frequently, birds recovering from Newcastle disease will lay watery eggs.

Q. Does a hen's body weight have any influence on her ability to produce eggs?
A. No. According to the Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company, measurements of several hundred pullets indicated that neither body weight with the normal range nor body type was shown to be a reliable index of egg-production ability of the hen, nor could either be used as a guide in predicting future egg production or in estimating the past production of a hen. However, birds that are definitely under weight or over weight should not be kept in a laying flock.

Q. Does quick cooling make eggs keep longer?
A. Yes. Quick cooling makes eggs keep longer. Gather them in wire containers and place in the cave or basement to cool thoroughly before filling the cases.

Q. How often should eggs be gathered?
A. During warm weather they should be gathered 4 or 5 times daily and less often during cool weather. As soon as the eggs are gathered they should be cooled to remove all animal heat.

The Only Sure Protection

MUCH human planning, discussion and research is given to questions of adequate defense and protection. We hear of the need for protection against disease, against old age, against enemy attack. Are we tempted to accept the need and to believe in the adequacy of material remedies? If so, we must awaken to where danger really lies, in spiritual ignorance, and learn to place our confidence where alone is sure protection—in the infinite power of God.

... Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 387). "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering."

Christ Jesus consistently refused to accept the false testimony and the false remedy. He acknowledged and demonstrated God's protection and power, healing the sick and sinning. He realized that man is perfect and eternal, not mortal but immortal. He raised the dead by refusing to accept the false belief of death and exercising his understanding of eternal life.

The Master's understanding of the infinitude of God enabled him to overcome the destructive elements of human nature which the human mind of itself is incapable of overcoming. He understood the nothingness of self-will, envy, fear, indifference, and the like...

While men and nations yearn for peace and freedom, stability and security, the world seems beset by treachery, discord, sin, confusion, unrest, and greed. Yet again and again do we see defenses built on materiality of life. Only in proportion as we understand that all sure protection is of God can we overcome such enemies as fear, hypocrisy, and hatred.

We could ask for no more perfect promise of protection than that given us in the Ninety-first Psalm: "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. . . . Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence." When we come to realize that the man of God's creation dwells continually in the shelter of his unailing power, because he cannot be separated from God, we shall cease to fear material laws of aggression and oppression. We shall give up our false beliefs of life and intelligence in matter.

All human suffering is caused by the false belief that man can be separated from God. The truth that the real man, the man of God's creating, man in His image and likeness, is spiritual and perfect and therefore cannot entertain thoughts of malice, envy, criticism, self-righteousness, and self-aggrandizement—this truth understood and acted upon would revolutionize daily living. . . .

Do we harbor thoughts of jealousy, envy, animosity, revenge? If so, we shall long in vain for peace and for a better world. But we can hasten the establishment of peace and know the indwelling joy of the consciousness of good by following Jesus' behest (Matthew 5:44, 45), "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them that despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven."

ANCIENT JOKE

The farmer, his business in town concluded, was driving homeward when he heard the fire siren and dutifully guided his horse and wagon to the curb. After the engine whizzed by he started up again. But the hook-and-ladder truck came zooming along and smashed squarely into the farmer's wagon.

"Didn't you hear the siren?" asked the cop as he helped the farmer from the wreckage.

"Yes, and I let 'em go by," said the farmer. "And then along came that truckload of drunken painters!"

Housewife's 'Bottle Note'
Cheers Up Yanks in Korea

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J. — Mrs. Elsie B. Pearce, a young housewife, mailed a letter recently addressed "for a soldier at the front who has not received mail." She wrote it on an impulse and the response has been wonderful.

She said she had received eight letters from soldiers on the Korean battle front showing how avid the GI's were for a friendly message from home.

The young housewife had enclosed a photograph of herself in her letter and had written: "This is something like putting a note in a bottle and sending it out to sea."

Her picture and written message ended up on a bulletin board at army headquarters in Korea.

A corporal wrote: "It helps to know that someone cares about our loneliness over here."

Another noncom expressed the hope that more persons "would take the interest in some of these boys that you have, because some of them are so young that they hadn't been away from home before they joined the army and now they seem lost without news from anybody."

Whale
Hitchhikes a Ride

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif.—The near catch of the year was made recently by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Campbell. A 30-foot whale hitchhiked a ride on their yacht.

The Campbells were sailing their cabin cruiser off Pebble Beach when the whale plopped itself aboard, nearly sinking the craft.

"We were watching a school of fish playing around the boat when a gigantic wave rose just ahead," Mrs. Campbell said. "My husband was at the wheel. I braced myself against the side of the cabin and thought, 'This is the end.'"

Then they felt a "terrible impact."

"It was like a complete blackout," Campbell said.

The Campbells looked out the window and saw the whale twisting on the deck.

"We couldn't judge how long it was on the boat because it flopped off right away," Mrs. Campbell said.

During its brief visit the whale splintered the stern deck, ripped an awning with its tail, smashed a bulwark in front of the cabin and ripped up the port side deck.

"The best way of saving for a working man is the Payroll Savings Plan for the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds." That is the story from thousands of employed persons who are today helping their country and themselves as well. It is also the opinion of a couple in Niagara Falls who made a down payment on a new home with Savings Bonds. They are now putting 10 per cent of their pay into Savings Bonds so that they can buy a bakery. You too can build your own future by signing up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or if self-employed, the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank.
