TARDY

When I was a child in public school we had a teacher who insisted on promptness in attendance and sent home for excuse any who came late. On one occasion one of the boys in my class was late and sent home for an excuse explaining why he had been late. A half hour later he reentered the class room and the teacher asked "where is your excuse." An irate woman bounded in exclaiming "I'm your excuse." Lorgnettes Come Back Lorgnettes, those spectacles-witha-handle which our grandmothers used to good effect, are making a comeback. The modern version is a small, attractive visual aid which folds to a size that will not cause an ordinary purse to bulge unduly. Women find the little glasses helpful in looking up telephone numbers under poor light, in reading theater ful in looking up telephone numbers under poor light, in reading theater programs, and on numerous other occasions when it is simpler to use them than to don spectacles. Lorthem than to don spectacles. Lorgnettes had a curious origin. The earliest spectacles lacked a satisfactory method of being attached to the face, for they were without ear pieces or nose clasps. Therethey were held before the eyes by hand, and were distant ancesters of the lorgnette.

How Coccidiosis Works

Poultry growers have long known that chicken infected with coccidiosis lose appetite and get weak, but the reason has never been clear. Now veterinary medical scientists have turned up evidence that the coccidiosis parasites upset the body's alibity to use sugar. This means that the birds fail to get energy from the sugar that is naturally present in feedstuffs. Besides that, it has been found that these parasites also may affect the delicate body mechanisms that control temperature, metabolic rate, muscle contraction, and muscle nu-

I AM GOING HOME

The announcement of the sermon topic of the Lutheran Hour, on Sunday, April 29, 1951, started a trend of thought in my own mind on the same theme—"I am going home."

Home can have the most blessed significance, making for the happiest and most pleasant relationships, when the conditions are right. Home, Mother and devotion, are truly meaningful words.

Home is not home if it is merely a place to sleep, and sometimes a place to eat. When the genuine spir-it of home permeates the atmosphere ordinary activities are made enjoy-

A house is not necessarily a home. A home is the spirit which dwells in the house. Home is the designation of a certain quality of life found within the four walls of a house. This quality manifests itself in pleasant attitudes towards the various members of the family.

I have discovered an occasional ome so ideal that upon leaving, I took with me a deeper appreciation of the real meaning of home. These were homes where a desire for thrills and a good time did not characterize the primary ambition of the family.

Can parents render nobler service to their children than to create an atmosphere in which their offspring love to linger and to which they long to return!

Many college students and young in military service yearn for the day when they can truthfully exclaim: "I am going home." Going home to Mother, to Father, and to friends. Going home to sleep, to rest, to feast, and to thoroughly enjoy everything that loving hearts and diligent hands prepare and make ready for them and for their home-oming.

Thoughts of home elicited from James Thomas Fields:

Oh, to be home again, home again, home again! the mill.

When Hen Van Dyke wrote the following verse, he was thinking of is national home.

So it's home again, and home again, America for me.

My heart is turning home again,

And there I long to be.

We all are going home. Is it a happy thought to you?

BOARD MEETING OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

The quarterly board meeting of the Carroll County Children's Aid Society was held on Monday, May 14, at 2 P. M., at the Historical House with the new president, Mrs. R. Howard Reichard, presiding Reports of Reichard, presiding. Reports of standing committees were read and approved.

Mrs. Reichard then introduced Mrs.
Mrs. Reichard then introduced f the Ober Herr, first vice-president of the Society, who gave a very interesting and enlightening talk on the beginning of the Red Cross and its progress throughout the years. At this crucial time Mrs Herr expressed a crucial time, Mrs. Herr expressed a need for volunteer services to pre-pare us for what might come. Several courses in Canteen service have already been started along with other courses, some of which are nearing completion. Mrs. Herr called upon those present to participate in the Red Cross projects and to enlist the services of others.

Service report of Miss Bonnie M. Custenborder, Director follows:

"Since January 1, fourteen children were referred to the Children's Aid Society, either by their own parents or by interested citizens. On complaint models of the complaint m plaint made by neighbors concerning one family where the parents were separated and the children were with their father but not receiving adequate care. The father was not interested in getting employment but wanted to stay home and let the variable. rious agencies carry food and clothing to him. By action of the court the children were committed to the CAS and placed in factority CAS and placed in foster homes. In one home the mother died and the father asked the CAS to accept his two small children; after some investigation some relatives were found who were willing to give these children a home. Three children have remained in their grandparents home after some conferences had been held with the parents of the children. In two other homes the five children concerned have been kept in their own homes after the parents had took time to reconsider their problems. Plans have been two small children; after some investheir problems. Plans have been made to place three children in foster homes very soon, two of these for temporary care while the mother is in a hospital and the other child, in orphan, will need a permanent home; the last is a two year old child in his grandparents home, deserted by his parents who want him placed in a faster home.

The CAS passed from care one girl now eighteen and a senior in H. S.; she plans to begin nurses training after graduation. There are now in the care of the CAS 35 children placed as follows: eight in free homes; twenty-five in boarding homes, one in an adoption home and one in wage home.

In the child guidance clinic three boys were studied and helped to adjust in their foster homes. Glasses were gotten for a school girl and special shoes for another child in the orthopedic clinic; three children were seen in the chest clinic and one of them is parative while one has active them is negative while one has active tuberculosis and will go to a sanator-ium as soon as a bed is available; the third child is to be taken to a hospital for further observation.

The CAS is cooperating with the city and local agencies in securing foster homes in the event of wartime

In the family department 13 families were given emergency aid such as shoes, clothing and food until others. er plans could be made to assist them or they could provide for their own needs; 12 families were given coun-seling services when they came with their problems which threaten to break up their homes; 56 children were involved in these homes.

295 office interviews were held and 186 visits were made to children in foster homes and in behalf of families in trouble."

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

The old-age and Survivors Insur ance system under the Social Security law was extended by the amendments of 1950 to cover regular farm employees. Beginning January 1, 1951 the farm employer became liable for the deduction of the employee tax from the cash wages of his forms employees. The employees is flarm employees. The employer is required to pay such employee tax, together with his tax as an employer, to the U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue for his district.

For those hired farm workers who meet the requirements of the new law, this Government insurance provides Monthly payments when they retire after reaching 65 and pay-ments to their families when they die regardless of their age.

A worker on a farm or in a farm home to be covered under the system must meet both of the following conditions: (1) He must have been employed by the farmer continuously for a full calendar quarter (whether or not doing farm work). No tax is due for agricultural labor performed in this qualifying quarter, which may be the last quarter in 1950. (2) In the next quarter he is employed by the same farmer in agricultural labor on a full-time basis for at least 60 days, and his cash wages for these services are $50.00 or more. Generally speaking, after he has served the qualifying quarter, the employee will be covered in each succeeding quarter. ter with the same employer as long as he continued to work at least 60 days on a full-time basis and earns cash wages of $50.00 or more.

Only the cash wages paid to employees will be considered for benefit and tax purposes. The value of room and heard will not be considered.

and board will not be considered.

These taxes do not apply to wages paid to a son or daughter under 21, or to a farmer, mother, wife or husband. They do apply to wages paid to a son or daughter 21 or over, or to other relatives and in-laws if they meet the above tests.

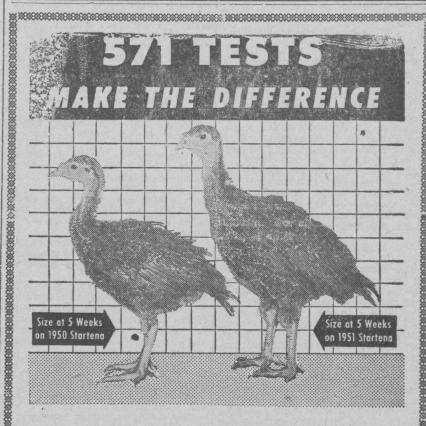

Farm operators having employees who will meet the above tests should request Instruction Sheet—"Notice to Farmers with Regular Hired Help' —from the nearest office of the Collector of Internal Revenue or from the Baltimore Office of the Social Security Administration, located at 5227 York Road. Baltimore 12. Md. Office hours are from 9:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. on Monday through Friday.

In addition, a representative of the Baltimore (North) Social Security Office may be contacted on the first Wednesday of each month, at the First National Bank, Taneytown, Md.

The American farmer probably will have the most prosperous year in history this year. Such was the forecast of the Agricultural Department's Bureau of Agriculture Economics this week in its monthly report on the demand and price situation. Realied net income of farm operations in 1951 may equal or slightly exceed the previous peak of 1947. However with nonagricultural prices and incomes substantially higher, the purchasing power of farm income will not equal that of the earlier year nor will agiculture's share of the national income be as large.

By a resolution of the Board of Directors of the Maryland Coopera-tive Milk Producers, Inc. a "committee of ten" was authorized to study the problems of the Maryland Milk Producers Association and to submit suggestions and recommendations for the expansion of harmonious usefulness of the Association to its members. The committee was composed of the following members: Paul B. Harland, Churchville; E. A. Shoe-maker, Woodbine: I. E. Nicodemus, maker, Woodbine; I. E. Nicodemus, New Windsor; W. D. Akehurst, Monk-ton; Charles E. Lamborn, of McDonogh School. The committee held four meetings at the Lord Baltimore Hotel and explored the conditions of the Baltimore milk market and the Cooperative, and attempted to analyze the various phases of the life and work of the Association and submitted its findings to the Board of Directors for their consideration. The committee desires to express its feeling of honor at being offered the opportunity to serve the members of the Association in this way. The task has been taken in all seriousness, each member recognizing the opportunity for service and eager to put in the background all personal feelings in working for the good of the whole. The committee further agrees to hold itself in readiness to act in support of the original resolution, and will await the direction of the Board of Directors to this

The Elmer Wolfe school was represented last Saturday in the National School Patrol parade in Washington by pupils from each grade from the 5th to the 12th. The day proved to be quite chilly and some of the children turned blue from the cold, but all agreed they had a wonderful trip thanks to the Lions Club of Union Bridge, who sponsored the trip and stood the expense. Some of the children were disappointed because they didn't get to see President Truman nor Hop-a-Long Cassidy, but they took in the Art gallery, the Washington monument and the Smithsonian Institute which was quite as interesting as "Hop-a-Long." Twenty-five thousand school children from every state in the Union took part in the parade. This is an annual event sponsored by the AAA to focus attention on "Safety on the Highway".

ANTI-TB DRIVE IN CARROLL COUNTY TO OPEN JUNE 4

Most intensive and far flung anti-tuberculosis drive ever staged in Carroll County will be launched June 4 under the joint auspices of the TB Association and the local Health De-partment. The campaign, in the form partment. The campaign, in the form of mass x-ray, will continue through July 6, and will represent a blending of philanthropic funds and tax monies to improve public health.

A mobile x-ray unit will be sent to the county for the duration of the drive by the State Department of Health. The local TB Association, supported entirely through the sale of Christmas seals, will bear the expense of the campaign and pay salar-Warthen, p *Boyle, lf (7) pense of the campaign and pay salaries of the state and Health Department technicians who take the films.

A planning committee for the survey consists of Wilbur Wimmer, Geo.

Robert Cairns, Mrs. Gladys Wimert.

"This year's survey technique will differ from that in previous drives", Mr. Wimmer said. "The x-ray unit will be taken direct to the people. It will be moved often making it convenient to the thousands of Carroll Countians who have never had a chest x-ray. There will be no charge of any kind and everybody over 15 years of age may have a chest x-ray made and the statement of the thousands of years of age may have a chest x-ray made upon request." Neighborhood subcommittees are being set up to plan the publicity campaign for the lengthy stay of the x-ray until this county.

Disappointment

Speaking of kids reminds me of the yarn passed on about the little girl who had a pet canary. After the usual number of years of singing, the bird died.

The child was heartbroken, so a fitting funeral was arranged for the departed musician. The bird was put in a cigar box and buried in the garden. Ater the service was over, the girl whispered to her

"Do you think my little canary will go to heaven?" she asked. "I imagine so," replied her father. "Why?"

"I was just thinking," she mused, "how cross St. Peter will be when he opens the box and finds it isn't cigars after all!"

Safety First

Two Irishmen on a tandem bike at last got to the top of a steep hill. "That was a stiff climb," said Pat."

"It sure was," Mike replied. "and if I hadn't kept the brake on we would have gone backward for sure."

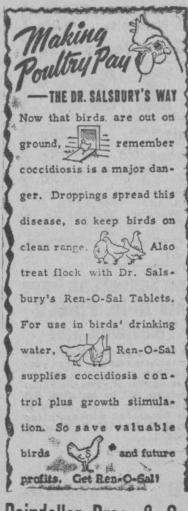

William Dana Orcutt tells of a young politician who, in his first appearance at a county fair, was trying to convince the farmers that he was one of them. "Feeling the urge to get away from the hot pavements last Sunday, my feet took me out into the country. As I walked along a bosky glade, I came out into a sylvan meadow through which flowed a pearly brook. Beside the brook stood a cow with an expression of anxiety on her face. I discovered that her offspring had fallen into the brook, and was unable to extricate itself from its

"Now I ask you-was that not a demonstration of one of the greatest of all human attributes? Was that not a touching expression of grati-tude?"

"No," came the answering voice from the crowd. "She thought she

Dangers of Wartime

Lesson for May 20, 1951

NOT all the dangers of wartime are to life and limb. More serious dangers threaten the minds, the attitudes, the characters, the souls of those who make war. Some of our readers will find no war a good war; others will draw a line between wars that are justified and wars that are not. But no matter how well-justified a war

Dr. Foreman may be, its dangers to mind and heart are just as real as if it were not justified at

-"To Decide Who Is Left"

"ONE danger which war-making brings is that it gets everyone thinking that might makes right. Now might does not really make right and never did; otherwise the champion heavy-weight would always be the best man, morally, in all the world, and the most helpless invalid would be the most wicked.

Along with this "might-isright" idea is another one close to it: that the best way to persuade others to our way of thinking or to our way of living is to beat them over the head. That has never succeeded yet. You know yourself that you were never persuaded that way. Fists and guns and armies can make people change their tune, but never change their minds.

The way to change people is through their minds and consciences and hearts. One act of international goodwill, justice or generosity is more potent than tons of high explosives. The sending of food, services, skilled help such as doctors and teachers, does more to win friends than any number of armed alliances. The Christian way is always the way of love.

Topsy-Turvy Land

THE waging of war creates illusions. Besides the one just mentioned, of confusing might with right, there is this one too: a nation at war lives in a kind of topsyturvy land. What is of greatest value is rated low, and things of little value are made much of.

The longer a war goes on, the more of a habit this crooked scale of values becomes. For instance: normally we value life above all things. Violent death is something to make the headlines, and causing death to others is something from which we all shrink. But in wartime we are all tuned, so to speak, to the business of killing.

Whatever genius such a nation may have, whatever productive power, goes mainly to building up the military "potential," devising more and better ways of inflicting sudden death.

Dr. Charles Leber tells of remembering, when a boy, how his father and mother read in the paper about the sinking of the steamship Titanic, which went down with the loss of over 1,500 lives. It was breakfast time when they read the paper; but neither father nor mother could finish the meal.

That was before World War I.
But now, forty years later, how many people would lose their appetite at reading of the death of petite at reading of the death of a mere 1,500 persons? We are so used to slaughter that as Dr. Leber puts it, we have become brutalized, we have "lost our sense of compassionate shame.'

The Illusion of Violence

TWO last illusions pursue the war-ring nation. One is that war is normal. In reality, however necessary war may ever be, it is never normal; but let it run too long or come too often, and people take it for granted.

The other illusion is that it is possible by war to end wars, that by one more war, one more victory, peace will be secured once and for all. It never works.

"The one thing you cannot do with bayonets is to sit upon them." Arnold J. Toynbee has warned us (see his "War and Civilization") that "the ultimate failure of all attempts to win salvation by the sword . . . is demonstrated in his-

He might have taken his text from Isaiah 31, or the history of Israel and Judah, for Isaiah was saying much the same thing to both Hezekiah and Sennacherib. But neither one understood him; and so their nations died. For whenever any nation puts its supreme faith in force, and neglects the character of its citizens, or the justice of its institutions, then it has forgotten God.
