MORE ABOUT V. B. S.

Committee's Reply to Letters Published Last Week

The committee, representing the churches of the community, appreciate the comments carried in the Carroll Record last week with reference to the Vacation Bible School. This Bible school belongs to the people of the community. And such discussions as this and expressions of public opinion will help to shape the future of this summer program for the children.

In particular the committee received with deep appreciation the offer of the high school for this purpose of Prof. George N. Shower, Professor Shower, from year to year, has been very gracious and cooperative in offering the facilities of the high school for this community program. He has done so on his own authority and readily given permission whenever it was sought.

With reference to this courteous offer this year, however, two qualifications are involved. The first is that the local Principal and County Superintendent do not seem to agree in the matter. One approves while the other disapproves.

The second difficulty about the high school is that last summer the elementary equipment for the small children was removed to the Elementary School. Therefore the little children would have to sit in big desks or big chairs around large tables unless equipment suited to their age be brought in from the outside.

The committee likewise expresses appreciation for the article by Dr. Ingram expressing thoughtful comments and questions about the Vacation School. The question raised about splitting up the Vacation School into sections and holding it in two or three churches, was carefully considered before final action was taken. While this could have been done it was felt that such a procedure was not feasible. That it would destroy the unity of the school, disrupt the coordination of its work, increase the number of teachers required, and place the supervisors in the difficult position of trying to be in two or three places at one time.

Another question raised in the article by Dr. Benner was that no reason was given for the Elementary School not being made available for this program. The committee is not in possession of any specific reason. Beyond the expression of disapproval in the matter it was pointed out that the Elementary School was so new and so elegant that it should not be used for any purpose except the public school program or for such activities as are under the direct supervision of the faculty thereof.

With all my heart, I wish you every morning

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer

And this from another to whom I talked in a hospital, "Well, I was going about 90 and there were four of us in the car and I was doing the driving! Folks, I could go on and on and write all the things that are said and done and it would amaze you."

Here's just a half dozen rules to remember which should become a real habit and which will stop and prevent accidents. If a driver wants to go past you, let him go by pulling to the side, always drive

FRIDAY, JUNE 8, 1951

TOO SMART TO FIGHT?

For three hours last Saturday, in a thousand test centers, 175,000 college boys wrestled with an extra-curricular exam, the first of four to determine whether their further education will be of the ivy-walled type or the "hay-foot, straw-foot", or rugged, sort.

This first step in an "intellectual deferment plan", followed months of heated controversy on the justice of military selection, or non-selection, by such methods. But whether the 150 questions that confronted the boys last week are generally considered as fair or unfair, the rectitude of this course of action will be long and bitterly debated, and will gain fresh emphasis when actual drafting begins on the basis of performance in these exams.

It is still an undeniable fact, for instance, in spite of the wider availability of free scholarships, and other aids to the boy who works-his-way, that a well-to-do father is a distinct aid to higher education; and that thousands of young men, not so endowed, have preferred to forego college and get on with the business of making a living, only to find that the Horatio Alger outlook has made them draft bait.

Furthermore, every exam is a competitive effort. Every boy with spirit does his best to pass an exam, and with the highest possible mark. Thus, we can not avoid the feeling that there's something left-handed about a competition from which exemption from duty to one's country can be won. It is almost as if Uncle Sam himself were saying: "Smart boys don't get to war!"—J. E. Jones.

The Hunting Commandments

1. Treat every gun with the respect due to a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp and home.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle even if you stumble.
5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.
8. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun.
9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.
10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Danger of Infection

There is danger of infection in every break in the skin. Germs may be present on the skin, fingers, clothing and unclean dressings, in droplets sprayed from the mouth or nose in sneezing, laughing, or talking. The cleansing and disinfection of all serious wounds should be left to the doctor. First aid stops with the checking of the bleeding, the application of a sterile dressing, and measures taken to prevent or lessen the severity of shock. For small wounds, cut and scratches, paint the wound with an antiseptic such as mild tincture of iodine and when the iodine is dry, cover it with a sterile cloth pad, or compress. Blood poisoning sometimes results from "just a scratch."

Dawn of Air Day

Army airplanes flew around the world in 1924. The Air Service became the U. S. army air corps in 1926. In 1927, the great research and development center was established at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio. That same year an air corps plane flew nonstop from California to Hawaii. Maj. Carl Spaatz, Capt. Ira Eaker, and Lt. Elwood Quesada, destined to become famous commanders in World War II, kept the tri-motored Kokker, "Question Mark," in the air for almost 151 hours by refueling in flight in 1929.

U.S.D.A. Sums Up Data On Feeding Potato Culls

Feeding cull or surplus potatoes to livestock is a sensible, profit-making move for both growers and feeders, a U.S. department of agriculture survey of experiments at state agricultural colleges and elsewhere shows. Dairy and beef cattle, hogs and sheep have been fattened successfully using potatoes in the ration.

Here are some of the highlights of the federal findings, summarized for North Dakota by North Dakota agricultural college extension service.

About 400 to 450 pounds of fresh potatoes are equal to 100 pounds of an average grain mixture.

Potatoes are about equal to good corn silage in feed value and have about one-third the feed value of alfalfa hay.

They contain twice as many digestible nutrients as wet beet pulp or beet tops.

It appears you can safely feed dairy cows up to 35 pounds of potatoes a day, preferably with high-protein legume roughage to offset the low-protein potatoes. You can substitute potatoes for all or part of the corn silage, part of the grain mixture, or part of the hay.

For beef cattle, potatoes are sometimes used in fattening rations and may be used in a wintering ration. They may replace part of the hay and grain, and may be gradually increased from three or four pounds per head daily at the start up to 20 pounds.

Fresh potatoes are well suited for both fattening lambs and wintering ewes as part of their feed. Potatoes are equal to corn silage for fattening lambs, and some commercial feeders claim that potatoes fed to ewes immediately after lambing make the ewes' milk heavier.

As for hogs, cooked potatoes make an excellent feed. Raw potatoes are worth only one-half to two-thirds as much in feed value for swine. You can steam them in large kettles or in a covered dump truck for about 30 minutes, and then store them in a silo without adding any other material. Cooked potatoes may replace up to one-half the grain mixture usually fed.

Glaucoma May Hit Dog After Emotional Upset

Emotional upsets in dogs may lead to a serious eye disease known as glaucoma.

The disease results in hardening of the eyeball due to pressure caused by an abnormal increase of fluids within the eye, and blindness may follow.

Belief that emotional instability plays a part in the disease is founded on observations that glaucoma is more common in certain breeds of dogs and in certain individuals known to be highly excitable. A very exciting weekend may be instrumental in bringing on an attack of glaucoma.

In some cases, forced rest and quiet are enough to return the dog's eyes to normal in a day or two. In other cases, however, the wrought-up dog refuses to rest and aggravates itself into such a nervous condition that glaucoma symptoms develop.

Glaucoma also may follow an infectious disease such as distemper or an injury to the eye, or it may be brought on by a continued state of poor health.

Selection of Farm Pumps

The best made pump on the market is not satisfactory (for irrigation and drainage) if it is not selected to fit the job. Poor selection of pumps without adequate attention to engineering principles may result in such inefficiency that power costs will be three or four times as much as necessary. Even more serious, a poorly adapted pump may not give enough pressure for good irrigation regardless of the power used.

Pre-Homeric Alphabet

American small fry, learning their 26-letter ABC's with modern methods of word study, can be glad that reading and writing have come a long way toward simplification in the last few thousand years. An alphabet of 74 phonetic characters and more than 50 ideographic signs was in use during the pre-Homeric period of the Greek King Nestor, according to a recent report by a University of Cincinnati archeologist who for some years has been literally digging into the subject.

Increases in Families

The number of families in the United States increased by 175 per cent between 1890 and 1940, while the population as a whole gained 110 per cent. Families with not more than three members increased from 52 per cent of the total number in 1930 to nearly 58 per cent in 1940. While the proportion of four-person families held steady, families with five or more persons fell from 31 per cent of the total in 1930 to 25 per cent in 1940.

Remove Old Putty

Old putty can be removed by passing a hot soldering iron or a red-hot poker over it. Do not let the iron touch the glass, or it might crack. Or, cover the putty with soft soap and allow it to stand for several hours; it can then be removed with any sharp instrument.

THIS 'N' THAT

miles less for the hour than the law even allows, when there is a bike, have your foot ready on the brake in case the cyclist turns suddenly, watch for those little cherubs on the side walk for they may run out into the road or street at a second's time, be alert at all times and last—don't drive bang up to the car in front of you for you never know when he will stop suddenly! And this—never hold your arm around your best girl when you are driving for if she was the best girl she would not take such chances even if you were "the only guy in the world!"

Here's an odd one which surprised me. Your Observer was walking on the city street last week toward the car where I parked it and a very fine looking young policeman who was on the corner on duty came up to me and said in a very low voice, "Hold your hand bag Madame up under your arm always instead of in your hand at your side!"

Don't worry, Folks about that T.V. Color for that won't take place for six months and when it does there is a little gadget on the back of your set which was manufactured just for that purpose which can be purchased for a small amount and then attached to give it all the glamour you desire in colors.

Thinking of T.V. Sarah Churchill (daughter of Mr. Winston Churchill) is surely making a hit here in America and when she made her debut the other evening with the "Lux" Video she was just as sweet as in her recent movie. She is chucked full of charm The half hour T.V. play was called, "Sweet Sorrow" and she fitted the part beautifully.

There is a big movie to come out soon called, "I See No Evil."

Did you know there were ten ambulances in the city of Baltimore in use at any time for the public and four on reserve?

The Charles-Ezzard fight last week appeared dull and most boring and if it was not for those 34 pounds of heavier weight than his opponent Charles would have been floored.

There is a farm lady who makes the most beautiful braided oval rugs that I have ever seen. They will last a lifetime!

Met a farmer's wife who lives in a stone house who has the most beautiful hands of any farmer's wife I have ever seen. They positively appear like those hands of the "skin you love to touch". She has a very attractive daughter with plaits who will be a beauty in a few more years.

What a sweet letter arrived from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and one which I was not expecting. I had written a question to McCall's on the page, "If You Ask Me" and instead a personal reply came which was a real pleasure to receive as that lady happens to be 'tops' with Your Observer. That letter will be placed along with all the other famous ones of my collection.

Welcome to Carroll County! The nice Godly Methodist minister and his lovely wife and little brown-eyed three-year-old Cherub over at Union Bridge! That congregation is most fortunate!

That delicious whole wheat bread around our town can top them all. The other day when I called for a loaf that nice proprietor said, "It isn't wrapped or sliced as yet." "I'll take it just as it is", sez I.

"America Sings" put over by the Elementary last week was interesting from start to finish. The speakers over the 'mike' were excellent. The trio "This is the hour" will be going places if they continue to practice real hard as there was much harmony in the voices.

There was a tiny boy with the American flag who walked and marched as any real soldier with whom the audience was much pleased. That little girl who led the musical instruments was most sincere and every little movement of hers had a meaning all its own.

If you know by now, folks, what I mean when I write about chubby people and if you have a lot of fat to carry and know just how to carry that weight you need not worry. The fat boy was another example in the dance of "Oh Susanna". He was most graceful and sweet.

And to top it all those sweet "Little Women" who sat in the row in front of Your Observer were real ladies around our town. One was dressed in a tiny check suit and the other in an egg shell color. They appeared as though they stepped out from a frame of days of long ago.

Thinking of portraits—now is the time to have the family portrait taken for it is all the rage again and you will treasure the photograph in years to come. Have it taken at a first-class Studio for it will pay you to pay more! Have a grand week-end, Folks and as you ride along have tremendous thoughts of and about God, the lighting, in the wide reaches of the Universe, in the trusting smile of a little child, in every day fellowship, of life and of love. Will be seeing you. Until next week D.V. I am,

Faithfully,

How much does a paratrooper weigh?

In full fighting trim, more than 100 pounds over his own weight! And sometimes he'll jump with as much as 200 pounds of special equipment!

Multiply one man by millions in all the services. Add tanks, planes, ships and ammo—and think what it takes to equip the whole nation for defense.

Our enemies laughed at our World War II production goals. But American business topped the figures that seemed fantastic. And America's business-managed electric companies provided a record-breaking power supply to do the job.

Today, new production miracles are in the making. The electric companies have doubled the amount of electricity available before the last war. And they're still stepping up the pace.

That's why it seems strange to hear some people say "the government" could do a better job of running the electric light and power business. It seems stranger still when you realize that this idea leads straight to socialism.

No American can ever forget that when the nation needs production strength it's business management, as always, that gets the job done.

The U.S. won't go socialistic so long as Americans recognize that government taking over a business or industry "for keeps" is socialism, no matter what reasons are given for it.

From the telescope, I'm passing this "The New Model" along to you.

When people's cars get old and worn, and then begin to tottle, they go somewhere and trade them in, and get the latest model—now, I have very often thought that when my joints get achy, and when my hair has all turned gray, and knees are rather shaky; and when the onward march of time has left me rather feeble, how nice 't would be to find a firm that deals in worn-out people.

How nice 't would be, when feet give out, or one has dented livers, if one could go and get new parts, just like we do for fivers. And when my form is bent with age, and gets to looking shoddy, how nice 't would be to trade it in, and get a brand new model!

FEESERSBURG

I admire the human race. I do, indeed. Everybody is busy running us down, these days, for the mess they say we have made here and there and everywhere. Pshaw! That's short-range stuff, a worm's eye view of our world. Over the marching and abundant centuries, we haven't made any mess. Far from it! We have done and are doing a better job than anyone has any right to expect. We're all right!

From the beginning, we found ourselves alone in a vast universe, and not only one but the only living thing on this planet which could realize its loneliness. We realized it, gave it a good close look, and then turned our attention to making something practical and useful out of an unprecedented situation.

First of all, we found ourselves a Light, a God, and we got a sense of direction, a goal to work toward. This was pretty clever of us, if you think of it carefully.

We proceeded to set up standards for our living together. Early in our experience we made the revolutionary discovery that gentleness and kindness were more practical than brute strength. No other species has ever known that out and used it as a model and practical code of conduct.

We have in actual fact no one we need answer to, beyond ourselves, and yet we observe our ideal standards in remarkable degree. We are honest and trustworthy one with another so that it is the exception, it is news, when we commit a theft. We are decent 99 per cent of the time, when we could easily be vile. With silence and mystery behind us and ahead of us, we make up little songs and whistle them. We look life and fate in the eye, and smile. I like that, and I admire the people who do it.

Along all our living things, we have discovered Beauty, and we cherish it, and create it for eye and ear. Alone among living things, we have the power to look at our environment and criticize it and improve it. Finding it necessary to live together by the millions, we created for ourselves governmental spaces. We actually have the thrilling and terrific idea of a world government, a global government to bring justice to white and black, to Eskimo and Afrikaner, rich and poor, not because any tribe is powerful and can exact justice, but because we have conceived and created the ideal of justice and plan it for all men. This is great. This is not the act of a little animal, or a mean inhuman. We think in global terms. We inhabit a star, and we know it.

Finding that we have to work to stay alive, we work with ability beyond imagining. Out of the earth we take food, and improve that food year by year; we take heat, and light, so that darkness which lay upon the face of the earth is dispelled by man made light. We enjoy all the myriad products of our unparalleled ingenuity.

Every morning the necessity for the day's work faces us. And we go and do a day's work, with an overall average effectiveness and perseverance that is amazing, considering many of our jobs. Of a persistence, a daring and ingenuity impossible to surpass, we find ways to move easily under the water and through the air. Now we speculate eye our neighboring planets. It should astonish no one if man one day begins to move among these planets. How shall I not address such a creature? Daunted by nothing, his horizons constantly recede, the territories of his possession and use expand and expand.

Whenever he comes to an insurmountable obstacle, apparently insurmountable barrier, he goes to work at it and in due time he surpasses it. If he has limits, I do not know where they are. I do not think he has limits. I think he is a child of the universe who inherits eternity. I think universe who inherits eternity. I am his devoted one and I am proud indeed to be partisan of him. Note: The above was written by Roger Ris and I have been given special permission to use it in this column by the Book-of-the-month Club. Copyright 1951.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Mt. Union Lutheran church held its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening in the Parish House, with ten members present. Election of officers was held with the following persons elected: Mrs. Ruth Bair, president; Mrs. Mary Crabbs, secretary; Mrs. Helen Crouse, treasurer, and Mrs. Viola Leister, treasurer. Mrs. Earle Wilhide has served as the Society's president for the past two years.

With six fatal accidents over the week-end among the teen age group, in our county parents are asking themselves what can be done about the reckless driving among their children. Denying them the use of the automobile is not the answer. Educating them to their responsibility both to themselves and their fellow citizens seems to do little good, but that seems to be the only logical solution. Maybe a good stiff jail sentence and revoking their driver's license might induce some of the immature drivers to come to their senses, but it seems to me the matter rests in the parents' hands. After all we parents are the one's that must bear the heartaches caused by death and accidents among our children. Can't we unite and do something before it's too late?

The table fork, considered by all civilized people (except the Asiatic) as a necessary implement in eating is a comparatively recent invention. Even during colonial days eating peas with a knife wasn't considered impolite. Forks only became a common table implement after mass production made them an inexpensive item.

The job situations for all college graduates this year are very good. There are a long list of positions open in every field for both the male and female graduate. But the outlook of most male graduates is grim due to the fact that he faces a stint in the army. They of course is a wrong attitude for they must plan their lives in spite of all handicaps. A "don't care attitude can only lead to dejection and defeat.

Children's Day services will be held Sunday, June 10th at Mt. Union Lutheran church. The young people will present an interesting program under the direction of Mrs. Paul Leister and the choir will sing special music. The public is cordially invited.

The Elmer Wolfe school will close June 15th. Parents wonder how long it will be before their children will be forced to go to school the year round. Although one lone voice can do little, I would like to suggest to the school authorities that the public schools be closed June 1st so that we parents can have a chance to get acquainted with our own children and teach them a few things that we think they should know.

Mother's just can't win. Try teaching manners to a Fifth Grader and what does she say? "Maybe that was true in your day, mother, but times have changed."

Alaska's Brooks Range Explored by Scientists
A majestic graveyard of 300 million years ago is the great Brooks range of northern Alaska, forming North America's northern rampart and perhaps the least explored under the American flag.
A systematic paleontological exploration of parts of these mountains has been in progress during the past two summers, conducted by a United States geological survey party led by Arthur L. Bowsher, Sr., Smithsonian institution paleontologist on detached duty with the survey.
The area where these mountains now exist was once the bottom of ancient shallow seas, during the long, temperate, quiet era of earth's history known as the Mississippian, when the dominant form of life—at least the most abundant—consisted of crinoids and their relatives. This was the heyday of these curious animals, which were, for the most part, attached by stems to the sea bottoms. Their skeletons were composed of tiny plates of calcium carbonate very similar to chalk. Thick limestone strata of the Brooks range are made up of broken fragments of the skeletons. In other sections, however, the crinoid remains are excellently preserved.
The crinoids were found by the geologists in great variety, for the most part representing species hitherto unknown to science. At the time represented by the fossils, the climate was probably somewhat warmer than at present, and the animals were apparently able to enjoy favorable living conditions for as long as 30 million years. Life on the land was already well established, and there were many primitive fishes in the seas.
Hitherto, there has been little geological explanation of this region.

Dream House Is Moved 1,200 Miles by Pair

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—Houses are difficult to find these days, especially dream houses. A Vermont man and his wife knew this and as a result moved their house some 1,200 miles.
Bryon White and his wife built their Vermont home themselves, lovingly adding each new gadget and labor saving device. When the time came for them to move to Virginia they decided they wouldn't leave it.
Through half a dozen states, up hills, across ferries, down slippery wet pavement they drove, pulling their house behind them.
Sorely tired by fire, breakdowns, blowouts and vigilant policemen, they never gave up. After all, how could they abandon 14,200 pounds of house.
Altogether, with detours, they towed the house 1,200 miles.
Six Weeks Journey
But six weeks after the hazardous journey started, the house is set among a grove of evergreens. Its picture windows look out on rolling grass and gardens. Its winding driveway leads to the garage they have built at the rear of the much traveled, modernistic home.
White, an electronics engineer and former assistant professor at the University of Vermont, was just finishing up his house on university property when he took a job in Newport News with an electronics manufacturing concern.
The Whites had not overlooked the possibility that they might have to move their house when they planned it. The structure was built in the form of a T with the living room the T's crossbar. They built the living room so that by using hinges it could be folded up no wider than the T's perpendicular.
They had also used hardwood plywood—not yet on the home builders market—and aluminum screws instead of nails. This made for lightness.
Trip a Nightmare
When they hit the road for Virginia, the home, set on a specially made trailer, was 35 feet long, eight feet wide and 11½ feet high.
But if the house was a dream, the trip was a nightmare. They had to get permits from the states they planned to drive through. They had to avoid overpasses and some bridges. They had to write ahead to arrange for tows in some places.
They spent $250 on tires on the trip. Each time one blew out it ripped itself to pieces under the weight of the house.
Bear mountain in New York never will be forgotten by the Whites. Almost to the crest of the long, high hill their overheated motor burst into flame. When they got the fire out the crankcase oil was a chocolate brown from the heat.
Now that the house is set up again and liveable, some of the terrors of the trip seem humorous to the Whites. But they're certain of one thing, never again!

Injured Mike Finds Friends Did Not Forget

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—This story seems almost like a Christmas story because it is about a little boy who had his faith restored.

It began some six months ago when a can of cleaning fluid exploded and horribly burned 14-year-old Mike Calfi. Ever since then the youth has been in a hospital.

Recently Mike became discouraged over his condition. He said he wanted to die because no one cared about him any more and no one came to see him.

Now he knows that everyone cares—apparently the whole country. An incessant stream of humanity has been pouring into the West Penn hospital where he has lain since the explosion.

Receives 5,000 Letters

They started coming to see Mike as soon as the story got out that he didn't want to live anymore.

Mike has received 5,000 letters from all over the United States. The correspondence became so large the hospital had to reroute the mail to Mike's Oakmont (Pa.) home.

Movie actress Celeste Holm sent him a wire telling him that she and others in Hollywood were pulling for him. Rich folks have thrown open their doors to Mike for an expense free rest cure as soon as he is well enough to leave the hospital.

Movie comedians Bud Abbott and Lou Costello chose him the "brave boy of 1950" and offered him "any Christmas gift he wanted." Mike picked a television set.

Pittsburgh Steeler backs Joe Geri and Howard Hartley gave Mike a football autographed by the entire national football league team.

Home run king Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates sent an autographed bat from his Alhambra (Calif.) home.

Faces a Long Fight

And still the letters from every part of the country continue to swamp Mike. His seven brothers and four sisters are kept busy opening and sorting mail, all letters from pals Mike never knew he had.

And Mike has found that people everywhere do care.

A former newsboy, Mike still faces a long fight. Doctors report he needs more skin grafts — he's had three already. His family has neared the end of its financial resources to pay medical expenses.

Doctors have set up the Michael Calfi fund to help meet the cost of from $9,000 to $10,000 still needed to get Mike well again.

Experts Visions Machines Taking White-Collar Jobs

NEWARK, Del.—Within a decade electronic calculators might take over the tasks now done by millions of white-collar workers.

According to the professor one of the major reasons why these electrical brains have not been put to widespread use has been the cost. An electronic calculator, built by hand, now costs about $500,000.

The electric brain, he says, can turn out as many and as good results as hundreds of payroll clerks, hand-computers, shipping clerks, job-routing clerks—almost any type of clerical help.

"They are not built for a single, narrow, specialized job," he said. "They are sufficiently versatile to do almost any type of job, so long as no imagination or originality is required."

Dr. Jackson is a consultant to the ballistics research laboratory of the army's Aberdeen proving grounds.

Perfect Agreement

A well-known judge once had a case before him in which the plaintiff was represented by a very nervous young barrister. When the barrister rose to begin his address to the jury, he stammered, "My unfortunate client—" and there he stuck.

"Come, come," interrupted the judge, "proceed with your address. So far the court agrees with you."

Dilemma!

Some kids were having a party and they decided to play postoffice. The first little boy and girl went into the closet and didn't come out. The other kids called to them to come out immediately.

HOW INCONSIDERATE

They were having just one more at the bar when an old friend, previously quite normal, walked through the door, up the wall, across the ceiling and down the other wall.

Every Matched A grinning crowd stood around the two conscious men lying on the sidewalk. "What's the matter here?" demanded a policeman who had rushed up, attracted by the crowd.

ONE VIRTUE A bad, bad man was shot in a saloon brawl in Cripple Creek, in the old days. They buried him; then everyone stood around the filled grave expectantly, waiting for someone to say a few good words for the deceased.

Not to Be Served

Lesson for June 10, 1951

THERE are at least three ideas of what religion is, and two of them are wrong if Jesus was right.

To put this more correctly: All three ideas have some truth in them, but if either the first or the second is taken as the main and only truth, then religion goes wrong; while Christ's truth carries in itself all the truth the others have.

Dr. Foreman

Religion Is Not a Retreat

FIRST of these wrong ideas about religion is that it is a retreat from the world, a private conference between God and the soul—and nothing more.

People holding this idea have literally fled from the world, they have lived as hermits, they have taken vows of silence and not spoken to a living soul for years on end, they have lived in little shut-in communities devoted to contemplation and prayer.

Now the relation between God and the soul is extremely important. Prayer and contemplation are the very atmosphere of religion, and the Christian ought always to be truly separate from the world. But retreating to a cell won't answer. Nobody is any better for taking a vow of silence.

Jesus was not that kind of person. His apartness from the world was not marked by a brick wall, but by his being a different kind of person, in the world.

Religion Is Not a Guarantee

Another wrong idea about religion is that it is a means of gain. Being religious is supposed to be a sure way of getting what you want, it means getting God on your side, it means having all your prayers answered, it means prosperity and success.

Surely no one could study the story of Jesus and come away with that notion in his head! Jesus got neither health, wealth, popularity nor success out of being what he was and doing what he did.

The most respectable citizens regarded him as a wicked man; his property was only the clothes he wore; he is known to us as a "man of sorrows and acquainted with grief"; as for success, it is written that "he came to his own, and his own received him not."

Well, some one will ask, do you mean to say there is nothing in being a Christian? Don't you get anything at all out of it? That is a fair question.

Yes, there is everything to be gained; but not in that money-making, happiness-guaranteeing fashion. The person who "goes in for religion" hoping to advance his own interests, is still only a selfish man; and selfishness and Christianity are just crosswise.

Not To Be Served

THE third idea is in Jesus' words: "The son of man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life a ransom for many." And as one of his great followers said: "As he is, so are we in this world." (I John 4:17.)

This is the ideal of service, in its deepest, widest sense; and it takes in both those other ideals of religion. One of the best ways of serving others is to pray for them, as Jesus did. One of the best things we can do for others is to live as close to God as we can. But as Jesus himself said: "For their sakes I dedicate myself."

It is true, also, that something is to be gained from religion; but nothing that a selfish, greedy, money-loving person can understand. As one of the great creeds expresses it, the "benefits of redemption" are assurance of God's love, peace of conscience, increase of grace, and perseverance therein to the end.

These are priceless, but no one can understand such things or even wish for them so long as he is a self-loving person. Jesus served men's bodies and minds, he taught and healed; but deeper than this, he came to save men—save them from their worst selves, bringing them out from slavery of sin, into the freedom of God.

So the Christian who wants to know the full meaning of his religion will, like his Master, so far as he can find opportunity, serve others' needs in every way he can. And the best service one person can do for another, after all, is to introduce him to Christ.

Success of Vaccine For TB Attested By Exhibit for AMA

CLEVELAND, O.—Dr. Andrew F. Ivy of the Chicago Research Foundation demonstrated in an exhibit before the American Medical Association recently how vaccination against tuberculosis, long a subject of much controversy among specialists, is proving itself all over the world.

The type of vaccination, known as BCG, after the French scientists by whom it was devised, now is being tested by the public health service.

In several well controlled studies the research institute asserts, "it has been found that BCG vaccination decreases by approximately 80 per cent those who contract the disease and who die of it."

The principle, it was explained, is very similar to that of smallpox vaccination. The vaccine is made from an organism which produces a mild form of cattle tuberculosis. It is harmless to man but sets up a resistance to more virulent types of the bacillus.

More than 50 million vaccinations have been performed since 1921. There has never been a proved case, it is asserted, of tuberculosis developing as a result of the vaccination.

A committee of tuberculosis experts of the world health organization, a U. N. affiliate, has recommended that between 15 and 20 million persons all over the world be vaccinated in the next few years. Thirty million have already been vaccinated in Japan and other millions in Europe.

The disease, it is stressed, still kills about 50,000 Americans each year. There are now about one million active cases in the country and it still is the leading cause of death from disease between the ages of 15 and 44.

Experts Are Seeking Ways To Increase Farm Workers

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A shortage of farm hands in 1951 has been predicted by some agriculture experts. As a result, congressional farm officials called on the government to attempt to find ways of increasing the number of laborers in 1951.

A number of congressional leaders want to "cut" immigration "red tape" to make it easier to bring foreign workers into the country for season employment as one means of meeting the shortage.

Allowance Will Aid Child To Develop Responsibility

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Dr. Luther E. Woodward, consultant for the National Association of Mental Health, believes it is important for children to have a regular allowance. He says it helps children to develop a sense of responsibility.

"It is important for children to assume growing responsibility in the family circle, and to have a feeling of confidence in their own ability to make decisions and try new things. They should learn to know the value of money, and be responsible for the consequences if they spend the whole allowance the first day and have no money the rest of the week," he said.

He suggested that allowance be expanded as a child grows into teens so that it would include certain clothing.

City parents, he pointed out, have greater difficulty developing a sense of responsibility in children than farm families, where a child learns to work along with the father or mother at an age when the city child is being completely cared for.

Telephone Prattling Teen Agers Almost Cause Tragedy

MADISON, Wis.—The kind of telephone manners not to have was demonstrated recently in Madison. Two prattling teen agers almost cost a 6-year-old boy his life.

The boy's mother said her son started hemorrhaging violently as result of a recent tonsillectomy. She tried to call the doctor and police, but two young girls were monopolizing the party line.

"I explained it was an emergency, but they laughed and kept on talking," she said. "When they finally stopped talking and I tried to dial, they would dial, too. It took half an hour for me to reach the doctor."

The boy had a narrow escape, but doctors say he is all right now.

Pawn Shop Offers Violinist $10 for His Stradivarius

OMAHA, Neb.—An anxious man, apparently down on his luck, entered Isadore Goldstein's pawnshop and handed him a violin.

"How much will you give me? I gotta get to Pittsburgh," the man said.

"Ten dollars," said Goldstein. The "customer" put the violin back in the case and stalked out. Then Goldstein learned that he was violinist David Rubinoff and the violin was a Stradivarius valued at $100,000.

A reporter who was on hand to see what happened explained to the startled Goldstein that the whole thing was a gag thought up by another newspaperman.

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

MEANING OF A GENTLEMAN

In a publication: "Roosevelt in Retrospect—That Man Roosevelt," John Gunther says:

Mr. Roosevelt was a gentleman. This may seem only too obvious, but it is important to state; not all American presidents have been gentlemen by any means, I mean gentlemen in the literal sense. He was decent; he was civilized, he was kind. He loathed anything, he abhorred crudities in personal behavior. His casual letters are, one sometimes feels almost too "nice", even effeminate; it would be a relief if he would break out, get angry, and sass somebody. But what a pleasant touch he had! Consider a little note he sent to Sam Rayburn, on the Speaker's sixtieth birthday:

Dear Sam: Ever so many happy returns on the day—it must be awful to be so old—I don't get there for 23 days. F. D. R.

It costs something to be a gentleman. The significant question is: Am I willing to pay the price? Many would like to be "This" or "That" if it doesn't cost too much.

To be a gentleman means to be unselfish. It involves showing genuine thoughtfulness of others. Thoughtfulness of other people may take one off the beaten path frequently it may mean the cultivation of manners, or at least the restoration of personal consideration. An old adage says, A person is known by the company he keeps. It might also be said, a gentleman is known by the deeds he does and by the acts he performs. A gentleman doesn't run before to get the best seat, or grab the largest piece of pie.

A gentleman is a "gentle" man. There is no age limit to being a gentleman. Who has not heard the expression. He is a perfect little man! In other words, this boy has the requisites for the becoming of a gentleman. A gentleman possesses qualities which distinguish him. Among these are humility, kindness, tolerance, and respect for the rights and opinions of other people. He is neither too high to stoop nor too low to reach beyond himself. A gentleman needs no recommendation other than himself.

Courtesy is another mark of a gentleman. The Bible speaks of it as preferring one another. Jesus gave this man significance in the scheme of things when He said: "The meek (the gentle) shall inherit the earth." This truth is being demonstrated daily. The gentle do not come into immediate possession of the earth. He shall inherit it bit by bit. This inheritance is not necessarily physical possession but rather spiritual possession. Rome had her day and is no more. Hitler is no longer with us. Stalin will soon pass off the stage of action. Cannibals and savages are rapidly becoming extinct. Mild, gentle, peace-loving peoples are taking their places, and thus are inheriting the earth. The hyena, the jaguar, and the tiger have given way to the horse, the cow, and the sheep. Spiritual virtues—gentleness, mildness, justice, peace and good-will will cover the earth as the water covers the sea.

Robert Louis Stevenson gives the following picture of a gentleman: "To be a gentleman is to be one all the world over, and in every relation and grade of society. It is a high calling, to which a man must first be born, and then devote himself for life."

RED CROSS

Working in Cooperation with Civil Defense Program

The rapidly expanded services in Red Cross were outlined at an orientation program meeting held Monday night in Westminster by key chairmen of the Carroll County Chapter. During the past year the chapter has been reactivated for broader services under the Red Cross program and working in cooperation with the Civil Defense Program. The chapter chairman, Col. S. S. MacLaughlin, following his election last fall, brought into activity many of the services requested by the national organization in view of changed conditions coming out of the Korean war.

Mrs. John Wood continued in her chairmanship of Volunteer Services and under her guidance six services are functioning. They are: Gray ladies, serving at the Springfield State Hospital; canteen, which has recruited many interested women; motor services; production and supply; social welfare and staff aides. Enrollment in all of these services are increasing and classes for these services are being organized where requested. Mrs. Earl Furguson is directing the volunteer services training program. She schedules instructors and classes for canteen, motor service, staff aide and arranged the orientation program Monday night. Mrs. A. J. Lamme, Jr. is chairman of recruitment and program for volunteer services and with the chairmen of these services has visited many of the districts over the county, calling for women to volunteer in Red Cross course and programs. Their organization work with the many groups over the county has placed their activities in commendation by chairman Col. MacLaughlin with the national organization in preparing Carroll County for an emergency, if the occasion should arise.

The concentration of services, needed in every community, state and nation emphasizes the importance of all the services of the Red Cross in both peace and war. Home services are greatly in demand the entire year. With the establishing of a headquarters building at the Historical Society Home, the full time services of an executive secretary, the Carroll County Chapter is qualified to carry on the full program of the people. Disaster services and Home services were described by the executive secretary.

The schools in the county are carrying on an excellent program of Jr. Red Cross under the guidance of Miss Ruth DeVore, Elementary Supervisor of the public schools of the county. This program is active during the whole school year.

For the new workers, this orientation program was most helpful. The history of Red Cross was told by Miss Adabelle Robb and was most enlightening. Of great value, in every day living, is the nursing program under the direction of Miss Maude Manahan, of the Carroll County Health Department. Hazard Clarke has arranged for many first aid courses being conducted, with classes being held at a convenient time for workers as well as the housewives. This is one of the first courses recommended to every citizen, because if the time should come when any service is needed, this will be the most important one so that persons will know how to care for themselves and their own families. In addition, the first aid course is recommended for every day living.

The blood bank service will shortly go into action, under the management of Mrs. Charles Morrow, chairman. Her program is set up in the various districts and will be ready when the Bloodmobile from Baltimore appears. Prospective donors of blood are urgently requested to send in their names to headquarters.

Expanded service in water safety has been well planned for all the swimming pools in the county by Mrs. George Bingham, with instructors and guards for the teaching and observing of water safety to children from 7 to 16. PTA groups, (and in Westminster, the Recreation committee) will lend their support to this program, supervising this important project.

Public information will promote the services of the chapter, keeping citizens informed of the courses available and where they may obtain training help and guides. Headquarters welcome any call for assistance so that the program of the Red Cross may continue and be of service where required.

Col. MacLaughlin made a summary of the meeting and added his appreciation for the fine work being carried on by the women of the county. There were 110 present.

The annual meeting, with the election of officers, will be held Wednesday, June 13, at 8 P. M., in the Westminster High School. Certificates for Canteen and other volunteers who have had training will be presented that night.
