CLASS MEET

Reformed Women Hold Election

The Graceful Workers Class of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church met at the home of Nadine Feeser, November 15. There were 19 members and 2 visitors present. The meeting opened with the class singing, "Come, Thou Almighty King." Scripture as recorded in Psalm 100 was read by the hostess, followed by the Lord's Prayer, in unison. Several favorite songs were sung. The business meeting was in charge of Ruth Holter, President. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was heard and accepted.

The officers now serving were re-elected to serve during 1952. They are as follows: President, Ruth Holter; Vice-President, Nadine Feeser; Secretary, Freda Lambert; Treasurer, Anna Motter.

The meeting adjourned to meet on December 20 in the social room of the church. This will be a covered dish supper. At this meeting the Secret Sisters names will be revealed and new names drawn for the coming year. The price of the gift will not exceed $2.00. The committee in charge of arrangements for the meeting are Marian Rue, Virginia Baumgardner and Louise Eckard.

Several games were played and were won by Thelma Frock and the team captained by Jean Harman.

Mrs. Virginia Baumgardner, local Faemad Representative, gave a demonstration for the benefit of the class. The door prize was won by Carmen Harner.

Ethel Garber announced a "Plastic Party" at her home on December 3, for the class benefit. Each member is asked to turn out and support the class and bring a friend along.

Refreshments were served and a brief social hour followed.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION MEETS

The regular meeting of the Alumni Association was held Monday evening in the High School. Reports of many committees were heard and discussed. Janet Royer showed illustrations of several types of floodlights which could be obtained. The group decided to buy two portable floodlights which have a felt and weighted base. These will remain the property of the Association for use by both the High or Elementary School.

Mr. Manspeaker, the High School Principal, informed the group that the portable movie screen which was bought by the Alumni has been shipped and is expected in the next few days.

Mrs. William Rittase reported for the committee appointed to devise a plan for accident insurance for students. She reported that after meeting with a PTA group it was recommended and later adopted that all students participating in Varsity sports must be covered by insurance, either their own or the group policy which would be paid by the individuals.

After hearing of the need for new basketball backboards and the desire of the school to have the baskets moved away from the walls, the group decided to pay for the materials needed, the approximate cost to be about $45.00. Plans were also begun for a benefit basketball game co-sponsored by the school and Alumni for the benefit of the school. The tentative date was set for Tuesday, December 11. Tickets and arrangements will be in charge of the coaches and business managers of the teams. Practices for Alumni teams will soon begin and it is hoped that everyone interested will turn out for these.

Reports on the Thanksgiving dance were favorable and showed that all committees were completing their jobs in splendid fashion.

The nominating committee appointed consists of Mildred Rittase, chm.; Doris Harner, Shirley Null and Francis Myers. Additional nominations and election will be held in December. Delicious refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. William Rittase.

KEYSVILLE THANK-OFFERING SERVICE

The Keysville Evangelical Lutheran Missionary Society will hold its annual public Thank-offering service, Sunday evening, November 25, at 8 o'clock. Rev. Glenn L. Stahl, of Taneytown will bring the message and the Lutheran Brotherhood Chorus of Taneytown will furnish special music. This service will also be the ingathering of gifts to be given to the Lutheran Home of the Aged at Washington. If possible bring jars or what have you to the morning service so they can be arranged. This service is open to the public, everybody is invited. What say you? Let's fill the church.

WINTER

Winter blasts are streaming thru the air Everywhere the birds are seeking ease Down the long flight of time they come Seeking naught but safety in their home, Who will note the seasons as they go Whether it be rain or frost or snow 'Tis the same to all in all the land Fruit and flower and grain that grow All are creatures of Omnipotent hand God above is ruler of the land. ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

Proceeds to Support Carroll County T. B. Association

November 16th was the opening date for the 45th annual Christmas Seal Sale in Carroll County. These gay little Santa Claus stickers arrived in the homes to be used on all Christmas mail.

The Seal Sale is the sole support for the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association. It made possible the mass X-ray survey conducted in the county in June and July. During that time more than four thousand people received chest X-rays. Most of those people received cards saying that they are healthy but a few are being watched in the local chest clinic until their cases can be diagnosed. Some of the people were found to have cancer as well as tuberculosis.

"This is each Carroll Countian's chance to help make our County a healthier place to live. Let's support the Seal Sale," says Mr. Shauck, treasurer of the Association.

From the Carroll County office, 10,359 letters were mailed. There were two sheets of seals in each letter. A contribution of three dollars entitles the contributor to a membership in the Association. The Association office suggests that if a name has been duplicated, that that person contact the Tuberculosis office in the Health Department. Also seals are available in the Health Department.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE NIGHT

The second annual Carroll county College and school night will be held at Westminster High Tuesday, Nov. 27, 1951 at 7:30 o'clock.

All students interested in attending college or some advanced school of learning beyond high school are requested to attend. Their parents are invited and urged to be present at the conferences with their children.

Representatives from the following schools will be present and will devote time to conferences with groups or on 30 minutes to conferences with groups or on an individual basis: Automotive Institute of Maryland, Baltimore Business School, Baltimore Engineering Institute, Bard Avon, Bridgewater College, Capitol Radio and Television Institute, Church Home Hospital, Dickinson College, Drexel College, Franklin Square Hospital, Gettysburg College, Hood College, Johns Hopkins University, Maryland Art Institute, Juniata College, Mary Washington College, Maryland General Hospital, Strayer College, Towson State Teachers, Union Memorial Hospital, University of Maryland, Vogue Beauty School, Western Maryland College.

Students in Senior High and their parents should not miss this splendid opportunity to meet and discuss with school representatives their personal problems concerning college and school life.

Taneytown High School is taking an active part in this year's program, Billy Weaver class of 1952 designed the cover for the programs.

The mixed chorus will sing several selections under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Yingling.

WITH OUR MEN IN THE SERVICE

Mildenhall, England, Nov.—For the third time since WW II, the B-29 Superfortresses of the 22nd Bomb Wing (Medium) are streaking contrails high across Europe's skies, but this time there is a big difference. There are many recent civilians at the controls.

Although essentially a "California" outfit stationed at March Air Force Base near Riverside, the 22nd has drawn on flying talent from virtually every State in the Union.

Men from Maryland with the 22nd Bomb Wing in England includes: Pfc Henry L. Horne, weapons mechanic, Taneytown, and S-Sgt. Paul J. Carman, 34, turret system mechanic-gunner, son of Mrs. Lillian A. Carman, of Westminster.

Gone are most of the 22nd's veteran air crews who dumped 6,800 tons of high explosives on the North Koreans late in 1950—gone to new units to spread their recent combat experience throughout the expanding U. S. Air Force.

The new crews are largely made up of "recallees," WW II men who returned to active duty from Reserve status. Fresh from civilian life, the "recallees" have tackled their retraining program enthusiastically. Their sustained drive to reach full combat readiness draws unequalled praise from the Wing's commander, Col. James V. Edmundson, Jr., of Santa Monica, Calif.—and he's not a man to pass out compliments lightly.

"These are top-bracket, hand-picked men," he says. "There is no marginal material among them. They are ambitious, and they are in there pitching to get the job done quickly."

The 22nd has dozens of "Four-Headed Monsters"—men who are qualified as pilot, navigator, bombardier, and radio-radar man. Flying from three airfields in East Anglia—"the land of The Fens"—the recallees are squeezing every possible flying hour out of their planes. The flying goes on around the clock with ten hours being a normal mission. You can cover an awful lot of Western Europe in ten hours in a B-29, and the new crews are rapidly

SCHOOL NEWS

Activities in the High and Elementary Schools

The forming of an honor roll has been effected at the High School with the November report period. A "B" average with no more than one "C" in major subjects is required to make one eligible for the award.

Administrative officials believe the honor roll can serve a good purpose as an incentive to scholastic achievement as long as it is realized that the word honor also implies the attainment through individual effort.

Those making the initial honor roll are: 7th Grade: Larry Koontz, Sylvia Keeney, Earl Angell, Richard Stonesifer, Jean Luckenbaugh, Doris Moffit, Gwynne Myers, Doris Reaver, Doris Stonesifer, Shirley Warehime, Richard Null, George Spangler, Jas. Wolf, Clifford Stansbury. 8th Grade: Arlene Naylor, Suzanne Lawyer, Shirley Jordan, Rosalie Sharrer, Mary Alice Rue, Robert Fuss, Larry Feeser, Glenn Copenhaver, Helen Humbert, Roberta Garvin, Patricia Flickinger, Rita Carr. 9th Grade: Patricia Smith, Dorothy Rohrbough, Yvonne Lambert, Ernest Stonesifer, Carrie Claybaugh, Shirley Cluck, Glenna Dinterman, Sylvia Koontz, Thelma Motter, Oneida Myers, Betty Neidig, Marsha Reifsnyder, Reda Sentz, William Abrecht, Wayne Baumgardner. 10th Grade: Fred Stonesifer, Sandra Welker, Vivian Davidson, Ruby Lord, Melvin Bowling. 11th Grade: Jean Gilds, Nancy Pennington, Ruth Ridinger, Mary Jo Robb, Lorraine Sauble, Kathryn Dale, Dorothy Foglesong, Yvonne Foreman, Georgia Ingram. 12th Grade: Lester Bollinger, Arthur Garvin, Robert Waddell, Lois Clingan, Fairy Frick, JoAnn Koons, Wanda Mehring, Diane Thomas, Jean Wantz, Mildred Robertson, June Reaver, Isabelle Motter, Dotty Morelock, Doris Ingram, Marlin Rittase, Francis Selby, Leonard Singel.

Due to a section of one of the furnaces being out it necessitated a shut down on Tuesday. The section which was shipped from Utica, New York has now arrived and will be installed by Mr. Harner during the Thanksgiving recess.

On Wednesday a short Thanksgiving assembly was held in the auditorium. The Rev. Glenn L. Stahl, pastor of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, spoke.

Also as part of the observance of Thanksgiving the Future Homemakers of America, a high school organization of girls taking home economics, packed a Thanksgiving box for a deserving family in the community. The box was presented to the family by the visiting teacher and two FHA members, Lois Brown and Barbara Simpson, on Wednesday afternoon. The club is sponsored by Miss Jacqueline Brown.

TANEYTOWN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL OBSERVES THANKSGIVING

The Taneytown Elementary School emphasized the national need to pause for observance of the Thanksgiving at an assembly program on Wednesday morning in the school auditorium. The combined sixth grades presented a playlet which sketched the first Thanksgiving feast in this country. It also showed Thanksgiving as it is observed in our country today, with a strong plea to think of this holiday in its true significance. After the play and assembly, the school enjoyed its annual Thanksgiving dinner. School was dismissed at the regular time and will reconvene on Monday.

The regular November meeting of the elementary school parent-teacher association was held on Tuesday, Nov. 20, at 7:30, with an attendance of approximately 150 patrons. In the absence of the president, Mrs. S. Harley Holter, Vice-president, was in charge of the meeting. After group singing of the National Anthem and the Invocation by Rev. Morgan Andreas, the elementary school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Robert Kersey, presented two numbers. After the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report, reports of committees were presented. Mr. Glenn Groshon reported that his committee recommends that the school adopt the one solicitation plan to handle all charitable organization requests. This report will be given consideration and voted upon at a later meeting. Mrs. Ralph Stonesifer, chairman of the membership committee, reported that there are now 213 members in the Association. Mr. Stanley Stahl, principal of the school reported about a meeting of the Carroll County Council of PTA organizations and recommended that the association join the council. It was voted to join the Carroll County Council. After the business session, the group was entertained by a Thanksgiving playlet presented by the combined sixth grades.

MARYLAND MUSINGS

Cut and burn all dead and diseased foliage of ornamentals to prevent over-wintering of insects and diseases.

A protective mulch should be spread around your evergreens. Straw alone is satisfactory, or it may be mixed with some leaves. Apply after the ground is well frozen.

See that all leftover fungicides are placed in closed containers with labels inside for storage over winter.

Remove dead leaves and trash from gutters and downspouts.

LOCAL C. OF G. JOINS NATIONAL BODY

Benefits Derived Outlined Below

Businessmen in Taneytown have teamed with 1,300,000 others throughout the nation to work for good citizenship, good government and good business.

By joining the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the Taneytown Chamber takes its place with more than 2,600 chambers and some 500 trade associations in an organization which yields a powerful influence in national affairs, and which will bring to Taneytown the advantages of pooled information, ideas and advice about improving the local community.

In the National Chamber, American businessmen work as a team. They work on the theory that business cannot flourish and expand, and conditions cannot improve in one area or one field, if the country as a whole is not strong, productive and prosperous, and if business in general is not free to advance.

The future of Taneytown, therefore, becomes a matter of concern to businessmen all over the country. At the same time, local businessmen obtain in framing policies which guide the national organization as it copes with the urgent and complex problems of these troubled times.

Nearly forty years ago, a Senator arose in the Capitol to make a speech. In his hand he held two telegrams. One was from a chamber of commerce in the eastern end of his state. It asked him to support a pending bill. The other was from the western end. It asked him to oppose the bill.

"I don't know," said the Senator, "whether this is a good bill or not. I am not well enough informed about the subject. I asked the two largest chambers of commerce in my state for their views, and these two telegrams are my answer."

"What does business think? I wish I knew, and I am sure that the rest of you here in the Senate would like to know, because the bill you have before you is of the utmost importance to business."

Business leadership throughout the country had long felt the need for an instrument to coordinate and give public expression to business opinion. A small group had been working quietly with the thought that a national businessmen's organization could be formed to accomplish the purposes sought.

In the summer of 1912, at the request of this group, President Taft called a meeting in Washington of local chambers of commerce representatives. Thus, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States came into being. Its beginnings were small, but as businessmen in cities and towns over the nation came to know of its work the membership grew. The bulk of the country's trade associations came into the membership so as to give voice to specific industries. The local chambers gave representation to business geographically and to civic interests as represented in the activities of local chambers.

Today, the Taneytown Chamber is a part of this far flung fabric of business representation—big and little—which might be called the nation's "business front."

The National Chamber interprets to government the considered views of business on issues of national importance, and in turn interprets to its business membership the moves of the legislative and administrative branches of government. It has helped to create within local chambers of commerce more than 2,400 committees on national affairs which conduct continuous campaigns for more efficient government.

At all times, the national organization is ready to survey business opinion in the interest of applying business experience for the solution of economic problems. That function has been welcomed by public representatives in the nation's capital, who know that businessmen conduct their operations with the knowledge that the public welfare at all times be safeguarded.

An early president of the National Chamber, asked to suggest a slogan for the organization, without hesitation responded:

"If it is not in the public interest it is not in the interest of business."

IN THE ARMED SERVICE

Pvt. William H. Stonesifer, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stonesifer, 55 George St., Taneytown, has completed processing at the 2053d Reception Center here and is assigned to the 8th Infantry Division, Fort Jackson, S. C., for Army basic training.

Prior to induction he was employed as a laboratory technician by the Cambridge Rubber Company, Taneytown.

He will receive 16 weeks of basic military training necessary for all soldiers. Fundamental military subjects such as close order drill, care of clothing and equipment, first aid, scouting and patrolling, and map reading will be taught.

Individual firing of the M-1 rifle, carbine and light machine gun will be included in the battle indoctrination phase of the training.

THIS 'N' THAT

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It is very seldom stated all the nice things that the American Legion and their Auxiliary perform. Take the one big thing they do which I have never heard mention and that is purchasing flags to present to schools!

How nice it is to see all our boys gradually returning from overseas. Frankie, was so glad that he said he could scream!

Ladies, have you really seen the Amber Beads returning as of yester year? They are very beautiful and worn with a brown outfit, they are most becoming. Have you seen the "Heather" in the department stores, ladies? You can use it for table decoration, Corsages, the buttoniere, Christmas Gifts and home decorations. Heather is rich in history and lore of the Scots, heather is instinctively associated with the wild, rugged solitude of the Scottish Highlands. Actually it grows in many parts of the world—from Northern limits of Norway to the Cape of Good Hope at the tip of South Africa. "Plaid-Pak" Heather is an ideal gift or for your own pleasure.

Did you see on T.V. on the Ken Murray show last Sat. night the 5 year old, Beatriz Bergman from Brazil and hear the wonderful Classics she played on the piano? Then to hear and see an old favorite who used to sing with Nelson Eddy—Jeannette MacDonald. So many of the old favorites she sang which delighted the audience. That was Gene Raymond—her husband who then appeared and he is some proud of her! All Movie Stars do not separate from their husbands or wives! As to acting—Sara Churchill is one of my favorites and is getting more interesting with each performance on T.V.

Then to top it all off to see the three Service men win "1500" by their correct answers and then the little lady up in Mass. win $10,000 on the Bert Parks Thursday evening show by the correct name of the song "Indian Summer".

When this column goes to press, Your Observer will be strolling down the Great White Way in New York. For a few days. More about that in a later column.

The other day, parking my car at 29th and Charles Streets in Baltimore I jumped in a cab for down town shopping. The driver of the cab was a wife of a G. I. who operates the cab for her husband during the day and he drives the cab at night!

There was a young girl sitting beside the driver and after a few blocks of riding, she left the cab and the driver turned to Your Observer and said, "That girl, I picked up from the Union Memorial Hospital and she told me that her husband is in jail and that she is to have a child the end of this month". So you see what I mean, Folks in being interested in people?

If someone asked you what was something in your childhood that was cute that you could recall, just what would you say? Your Observer would answer, "The time when there were two straws in our Chocolate ice cream soda which was shared by my little chum!"

Now, this from Florida! Crabbing and fishing just great and the lovely Poinsettias, Acaasia and Crysanthemums all in bloom in their array of colors!

Last Monday morning, Your Observer attended a funeral of a man who was killed in action in Korea—a Medical Doctor who was the father of two small sons. He was to return this month to his family as his service to Uncle Sam was completed! Instead, his body was brought back in the big steel casket with the American flag just laid top of it! That was the most sad affair, I have ever witnessed—there were many men there who could not control their tears. The Episcopal Minister stated to his Minister that the deceased was his best friend, the man who made the address drove from Ohio just for the service because they had been close friends. He, too was a Minister—a Presbyterian.

A Methodist Minister in one of the Pews was the Minister who had taken him in church and the Minister of the church in Baltimore where the young couple were members was there, and prayed. Six Ministers of different denominations! The young wife with whom I am friendly bore up under the ordeal and was most brave. The body was brought back to the home of the little graveyard in the church where he was buried and laid to rest. The American flag was then folded carefully in a triangle shape and the Chaplain carried it to the wife presenting it to her.

Oh—Folks—what that man, SHERMAN said about War is true in any country!

So long will be seeing you next week, dear Readers when I will write of The Sagittarius Born that is from Nov. 20th to Dec. 20th, which is one of the most beautiful signs of the entire Zodiac. Have a grand week-end. Be good and be careful. I am,

Faithfully,

THE POT IS BILLIN'

Politics is beginning to simmer, soon the chaldron will be bubbling hot. Funny thing about politics in these United States. We get all het up a month or two before election time, and the day after forget all about it. That is as it should be. After all politics is a game played by the politicians and soon forgotten by the people.

THE "REVENOOERS" WILL GIT YOU—EF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT

The income tax collector is lighting out over hill and dale, through meadow and swamp and wood-lot after the farmer, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation. Rich farmers and poor farmers alike, the Federation's official magazine warns, may expect him to drop in most any time to check up on farm income-tax returns.

Be nice to him, the Federation counsels, but make sure he is a genuine collector working for Uncle Sam, and not just an enterprising character employing these new tactics of the Internal Revenue Bureau to improve his own fortune.

But, even if you're sure he's the real thing, the Federation counsels against signing any statements or papers of any sort without the advice of your attorney or tax accountant.

Maybe you should consult the Game Warden too. But we think a closed season has been declared in most states.—J. E. Jones.

JUST NAME HIM—WE'LL VOTE FOR HIM

Rep. Fred E. Busbey (Rep) of Illinois, returning from Latin America told ship news reporters in New York: "Don't sell MacArthur short"; that there was a "good chance MacArthur could beat both Taft and Eisenhower".

Mr. Busbey added, however, that he personally wished his party would choose an "outstanding business man" to run for the presidency.

There can be little doubt that his wish will be echoed by enough plain citizens to elect such a candidate. But the mechanics of political selection are such that no man who has tended to his own business long enough to be nationally "outstanding" is likely to have enough energy left to engage in the convention hassle, let alone campaigning for election. Making a living is still harder work than politicians realize.—National Industries News Service.

NATURE

Strolling in the rain Walking back again. We see the fields are bloomy With alfalfa they are zoomy Soon the hay will be laid In swaths duly made For the rake in windrows made Then in haystack to be displayed Teams will gather up the hay And in mows will store away That the cattle in the winter May have food abundant fitter Then can otherwise be had Good, or great or even bad What wonderful thing is nature Granted to the common creature Be he tall or be he small Nothing else will do at all Put to take things as they come Far away or close at home. Dermatologist Says Sunburn May Be More Than Skin Deep

Sunburn may be more than skin deep, a Pittsburgh dermatologist warned in an article in the current (August) issue of Today's Health, published by the American Medical Association.

Besides the immediate skin burn and possible infection resulting from excessive exposure to the sun, there may be consequences after a lapse of months to a year, according to Dr. Lester Hollander.

"The acute consequences of a sunburn are dwarfed when we consider some of the diseases it affects," he said, listing three.

One disease, known as xeroderma pigmentosum but a rarity, is marked by roughness and dryness of the skin. It occurs only in certain families, mostly in teen-age boys and young men, and develops at the site of freckles on the face. At first these are unduly deep-hued; later they form ulcers and the skin around them forms highly malignant cancers. Sunlight accelerates these changes.

A second, and another infrequent disease, is disseminated lupus erythematosus, which affects the skin. The disease includes a residual dermatitis (at the site of a sunburn, as a rule), leukopenia (lowering of the white cell content of the blood), loss of supporting connective tissue in the internal organs and a gradual and persistent general weakness.

Thirdly, Dr. Hollander pointed out, there are many reports to indicate that the sun plays a provocative role in the development of skin cancer, which is found more often in people who work outdoors and under the sun, like farmers.

"The length of time spent in the sun, even if it lurks behind clouds, is responsible for the broiling of the skin and the resultant painful product, most appropriately named sunburn," he said. "Sunburn is an acute dermatitis caused by actinic rays. It may be mild or severe; it may pass inconspicuously or it may have grave results.

Velocity of Bullet Affects 'Bang' from Fired Pistol

The question of what causes the "bang" or noise from a fired gun has always intrigued a considerable segment of the shooting public. Many gunners have taken it for granted that the noise is made by the "explosion" of the powder in the charge. Others have not been so willing to accept the theories of laymen whose opinions lack the backing of scientific knowledge.

Dr. C. S. Cummins, supervisor of physics and ballistics research, Remington Arms Company, Inc., recently wrote an article describing some experiments on the analysis of the sound from a 22 rim fire cartridge. These studies revealed that, once the velocity of sound in air (approximately 1100 feet per second), the major portion of the noise arises from the so-called "bow wave" or "shock wave" originating with the bullet and the contribution of the expanding gases at the muzzle is relatively small. It was also known that, as the velocity of the bullet increases the loudness of the "crack" or "bang" increases rapidly up to a bullet velocity of about 1300 feet per second, after which it continues to increase, but at a slower rate.

Child's Eye-Enemy

One of the greatest potential enemies of a child's eyesight is an uninformed parent, particularly in cases of eye injuries, says the Better Vision Institute. The average parent, of course, tries hard to see that children are kept out of situations dangerous to their vision and prevented from playing with things that might inflict injuries. But many a doting mother or father is remiss after trouble has struck. One hazardous belief is in the efficacy of the "home remedy." Boric acid and Argylol are considered by many to be cure-alls for eye troubles. But this is not the case; in fact, vital time may be wasted in reliance on such products when professional guidance should be sought. Any thinking parent is alert enough to seek professional aid when there is an obvious eye injury, such as a cut. But an injury that does not seem particularly serious is often ignored after only cursory medicine-chest treatment. Unfortunately, the pain involved in an eye injury is not necessarily an indication of its seriousness; nor is the external appearance of the eye. A relatively minor blow on the eyeball, for example, may seriously damage the inner eye and the vision without apparent manifestations.

Soviets Rename Peaks

Soviet Russia, liquidating reminders of Tsarist days, continues to rename its prominent peaks. Gormo, its highest, 21,590 feet, in the Pamir Range of the Tadzshik Soviet Republic, is now Stalin Peak. Near by, Kaufmann, second highest in the entire Union, nowadays is Lenin Peak. Other peaks looming large for those who see behind the Iron Curtain have recently been rechristened Mao Tze-tung, Paul Robeson, and Thirtieth of October (to honor the date of the 1917 revolution which brought the Bolsheviks to power).

You—and the SCRAP METAL EMERGENCY

ANSWERS every farmer should have to questions about scrap iron and steel

- Q. Why is iron and steel scrap a matter of importance to farmers? A. Steel for our Country's defense, program and civilian economy is being produced at the highest annual rate ever... Q. How does scrap figure in the production of steel? A. One pound of scrap is needed to make two pounds of steel. Q. Is scrap getting scarce? A. Yes, the supply of scrap at the steel mills and foundries is not increasing fast enough to meet the needs of expanding steel production. Q. What if the needed scrap isn't obtained? A. That will mean a serious loss of steel production... Q. Why not use pig iron instead of scrap? A. Every ton of scrap conserves approximately 2 tons of iron ore, 1 ton of coal, nearly 1/2 ton of limestone and many other vital natural resources... Q. What should be done with farm scrap? A. See that every bit of scrap gets to the scrap dealer located nearest to you... Q. How can more scrap be furnished? A. By everybody pitching in—as we always do in every emergency—and searching out all possible sources of scrap... Q. What else can I do about farm scrap? A. Support the scrap drive organized in your locality... Q. What is farm scrap? A. It is any worn out, obsolete, unrepairable equipment, tools or other objects made of metal.

What is Scrap?

You'll be helping your country—and yourself!

Copper, Brass, Bronze and Lead Scrap are needed too! This advertisement is a contribution, in the national interest, by...

Atomic Probers Seeking India's Monazite Sands

WASHINGTON, D.C.—"A place where the goddess of prosperity dwells" may soon become a true description of Travancore, the region of India whose name means just that.

For a hundred miles along the Arabian Sea, Travancore's beach sands are rich in monazite, a source of potentially fissionable thorium for atomic energy. This mineral is so greatly in demand in the United States that attempts were made in Congress to require shipments of monazite as part payment for the recently approved $190,000,000 wheat loan to India.

Travancore is situated at the southern tip of India's Malabar Coast and is a favorite vacation land. Shut off from the rest of the Indian peninsula by a chain of mountainous jungles, the Western Ghats, the State is crisscrossed by dozens of rivers, lakes and canals and has many good natural harbors.

Trade Started Early
The ancient Phoenicians were probably the first traders to come to Travancore. They were followed by merchantmen of Greece and Rome. In modern times traders from Portugal, the Netherlands and England competed for the copra, teakwood and coir rope produced in this fertile region.

Under the Republic of India's 1949 Constitution, Travancore is now merged with Cochin, a smaller state to the north. The 39-year-old Maharaja of Travancore, Bala Rama Varma, is titular ruler of the combined area, which has more than nine million inhabitants. Deposits of monazite were discovered near the town of Colachel about 1907 and an extracting plant was established. At that time Brazil was the world's only large-scale exporter of the mineral.

The beach sands and dunes were worked at Colachel by a sluicing operation similar to the washing of gold. Grains of monazite were then separated electromagnetically from the associated zircon and ilmenite. The product was shipped to Hamburg and until 1934 Travancore's monazite, representing 75 per cent of the world's supply, was controlled by Germans.

Originally, the thorium extracted from monazite was used in the manufacture of incandescent gas mantles. After World War I, the decline in gas lighting fixtures brought a halt to monazite mining. Another mineral, ilmenite, which is present also in the Travancore sands, was found to be valuable in paint manufacture, and production switched to ilmenite.

Atom Researchers Want Monazite
The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in 1946 listed thorium as a potential source of fissionable material, although its usefulness at that time was said to be limited to research.

In April, 1946, India placed an embargo on the export of monazite sands, and the Indian Atomic Energy Commission, created in 1948, later authorized the construction of a factory for production of thorium at the town of Alwaye.

Monazite has been found in the Urals, Siberia, Finland, the United States, Brazil, Colombia, New South Wales and Quebec. Small quantities have been taken from North Carolina and Florida.

New Babies Given Life Expectancy of 68 Years

Babies born in the U.S. today may be expected, on the average, to live to age 68, compared with age 47 for those born fifty years ago, but the person in middle or later life has a relatively small additional expectation of life.

This was emphasized by the Institute of Life Insurance in analyzing the mortality and longevity trends of the first half of the century.

"The greater strides towards longer life," the Institute said, "have been made at the younger ages and the most direct result is that the nation is rapidly building up a larger proportion of middle aged and aged persons, rather than adding any great number of years to later life."

Two of the major trends that have contributed to the greater expectation of life today, compared with 1900, were cited by the Institute as follows: 1. Drastically reduced death rate in infancy and childhood; 2. Greater decline in death rate among women than among men.

Mexican Rural Orchestra Goes on Musical Strike

MEXICO CITY, Mex.—The 44 members of the Mexican rural orchestra didn't have to go on a sit-down strike to get $1,200 in back pay they had coming to them. All they had to do was to play.

The group tired of waiting for all the red tape regulations involved and marched on the office of Mayor Fernando Casas Aleman, playing military airs, waltzes, polkas and loud jazz melodies.

Employees stopped working to watch from windows, bystanders began to crowd around, traffic became stalled. The mayor did the only possible thing—gave the band members their money and sent them on their way.

When you're six years old—and it's only a game—it's fun to stumble around in the dark. But an adult wants to know where he's going!

And to give a child a second-rate education is to blindfold him in his adult years. It can condemn him to go through life missing so much—reaching for goals that always just elude him. It's a personal misfortune—and a national one.

That's why—even in times of national emergency like this—we can't afford to neglect our schools. Millions more children are crowding into our already jammed classrooms each year. Many communities haven't enough qualified teachers, up-to-date textbooks, supplies, and equipment.

Find out what you can do to help your schools. Join your P.T.A. And for further information on solving school problems, write to: "Better Schools," 2 West 45th Street, New York 19, N. Y.

SCANNING THE WEEK'S NEWS of Main Street and the World

Threat of Inflation Increases As Price Index Hits a New High

INFLATION THREAT—With the government's report that the consumers' price index rose to a record level last month, the dangers of inflation took first place in the week's news.

The bureau of labor statistics reported the index figure went from 185.2 to 185.5. This means the retail prices of goods and services bought by moderate-income families averaged 85.5 per cent higher than the average between 1935 and 1939. This is 9 per cent above the level before the Korean war.

It also means that more than 3,000,000 workers who have cost-of-living escalator clauses in their contracts will receive automatic raises of approximately 1 cent per hour.

Industry member of the wage stabilization board, who recently approved escalator clauses in union contracts, warned when the new index figures were announced that the arrangement is not based on sound economic principles. "Putting all workers, manufacturers, farmers and merchants on escalation may easily prove the first step to national bankruptcy," the group warned.

The average home towner seems to have the feeling that runaway inflation is dangerously near. If each group in the nation's economy continues trying to get ahead of every other, then the economic situation may explode into a mad race that can lead to ruin.

Food and rent prices are credited with pushing the index figures to the new high. Food prices averaged 12.1 per cent higher than in June, 1950, just before the Korean war. There are indications of further increases. Large dealers are reported demanding boosts of 1 to 6 cents an item for well known brands of flour, breakfast cereals, canned fruit and vegetables, vinegar, mayonnaise and spaghetti.

PRICE CONTROLS—While the average home towner views the price picture with increasing fear, President Truman asked congress for three major changes in the new price controls law.

The President asked repeal of: (1) The provision requiring that price ceilings reflect rises in business costs that have occurred since Korea. ("An economic booby trap," Truman called it.); (2) The amendment giving wholesalers and retailers their customary percentage markups; (3) The amendment banning the OPS livestock-slaughter quotas, under which each slaughterer was told how many animals he could handle.

No one can predict how congress will react to the President's requests, but the average small town American, whatever his political views and his beliefs concerning the cause of higher prices, wants something done about it. He realizes the nation is in as much danger today from its internal economic picture as from external enemies; he feels it is time for personal interests and politics to take a back seat to the nation's welfare.

WESTERN POLITICS—Democratic party representatives from 15 midwest states, as far east as Ohio and as far west as Wyoming, the great farm belt that came to President Truman's rescue in 1948, met at French Lick, Ind., to discuss possibilities for 1952. Their conclusions were startling to the average home towner.

Briefly, they concluded that President Truman will be a candidate for reelection and that he can defeat Sen. Robert Taft. Should Gen. Eisenhower seek the office he could have had in 1948, then Mr. Truman's chances would not be so good.

As a basis for these startling conclusions, the democratic leaders believe the President would get a large farm vote as he did in 1948 because farm prices have been high during his administration. A continued high level of domestic prosperity without inflation would also add to his chances, they concluded.

They also pointed out that Truman was denied New York's 47 electoral votes by the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace and those of four southern states by the Dixiecrats. This is unlikely in the 1952 campaign.

The big question, of course, is Gen. Eisenhower. The general is a midwesterner, and it would not be difficult to sell a national hero to the people in the home towns.

THE NEW FEAR—The latest news from Korea would indicate the Chinese Communists are beset with a new fear, that of world condemnation for breaking off the Kaesong peace talks. It is the only reasonable conclusion since the Reds announced the talks can continue if the Allies will admit a plane tried to murder the Communist delegates by dropping explosive bombs and jelled gasoline near their quarters.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who previously rejected their charge as a fake and a fraud, is unlikely to accede to their demand. Ridgway has informed the Reds that their neutrality-violation charges are nothing more than malicious lies, deliberately manufactured for propaganda effect and unworthy of reply.

As long as both parties maintain this attitude there is little hope for a resumption of talks. And even if they should be resumed, other incidents will be manufactured by the Reds to further their propaganda aims. Peace in Korea will not be restored until one side or the other is thoroughly and completely defeated.

JAPANESE TREATY—On Tuesday 34 nations gathered at San Francisco to sign the proposed peace treaty with Japan. Russia is represented, but no one expects her to sign the document which is sponsored by the United States. To the contrary, she will do everything in her power to wreck the treaty negotiations and eventually will present her own versions of a pact.

The big news as the conference opened was India's boycott of the meeting. That country's denunciation of the treaty was in direct line with Moscow propaganda and will have many repercussions in this nation's foreign aid program. It may lead to a tougher U.S. policy toward India and a reduction in aid given her in recent months. It may also mean that a number of other countries will suffer as a direct result of India's stand.

From now until the conference closes, the people in the home towns of the country can expect a flood of Soviet propaganda against the treaty. In fact, one of the greatest propaganda slanders the world has ever seen is about to begin.

THIS IS CHINA

Peiping Demands Life Data on Everyone

The Communists in China have demanded a combination confession and autobiography for millions of persons in the country whom the Reds find necessary to re-educate in the new attitudes of Chinese communism. It is a complete record and repudiation of the past life of the individuals concerned.

The document serves as a domestic passport that must be produced whenever the possessor seeks a new job, wants to move from one part of the country to another, or from some other reason, comes under official scrutiny.

The person under examination may have made money on the stock market or gone to a U.S. university. Whatever it is, these must be confessed and branded as bad and wrong.

Manchurian Fields Base for Commies' Plane Build-up Try

WASHINGTON, D.C.—What lies behind North Korea's border with Manchuria, along which U.S. and Red planes have been clashing in the biggest jet battles of aviation history? From the borders of Soviet Siberia southwest in a mighty arc across Manchuria and around the Yellow Sea lie more major airfields than in all the rest of China put together. Mao Tse-tung's so-called "privileged sanctuary" is criss-crossed with runways laid down by Japan's Kwantung Army in long years when the banners of the Rising Sun floated over puppet Manchukuo. What condition these fields might be in to receive a reported 3,000-plane build-up of Chinese air power is uncertain. But for months indications have come from Korea that Red China is hard at work improving such bases and building new airfields in Manchuria. Events have made plain that at least some of these installations are operational for jet aircraft. North Korea's airfields—what few the Japanese built among the tumbled mountains—have been pounded by United Nations planes since the Korean fighting began. North of the ridges which pile to 8,000-foot peaks along the Manchurian border, however, is the flat, board valley of the Sungari River, one of the richest agricultural areas on earth, rising gradually to the treeless plateau of western Manchuria. Westward across the Yellow Sea from Korea and south of China's Great Wall stretches another plain along the East China coast, through which wander the Yellow and Yangtze Rivers. There, too, the Shantung peninsula points like an outstretched tongue straight at Korea, closer to Seoul than any U.S. airfield in Japan. A new National Geographic Society map of Asia, published in March, shows principal airports at 26 Manchurian and Chinese cities, all of which are closer to the heart of Korea than Tokyo. Among them are Shanghai, Nanking, Tsingtao, Tientsin and Peiping itself. At the end of World War II, there were more than 40 military airfields in Manchuria alone.

Recently he broke open a bundle of $5 bills and carefully counted them. They totaled $500. As a check, he turned them over to recount. This time he got a total of $530. Checking, re-checking and turning over each crisp bill carefully, he made a startling discovery: Six of the notes, fresh from government presses, were $5 denominations on one side, $10 on the opposite.

The soldier took the lad to the commanding officer. Eddie Dworczek, 11 years old, had hitchhiked from Paoli, 10 miles away, although friends had laughed at his idea of volunteering as a "reader." The officer didn't laugh. Neither did the blind patients as Eddie read to them from two books he had brought under his arm: biographies of Lou Gehrig and Joe Di Maggio. Why We Worship
Lesson for November 25, 1951

FEWER than two out of every three Americans belong to any church or synagogue. Yet the traveler across America is never long out of sight of some house of worship. With or without a cross, with or without paint, every few miles there will be a church or chapel or meeting-house, where like-minded people meet to worship the One God.

Dr. Foreman

Variety
It is amazing, the confusing variety of ways in which God is publicly worshipped. Some churches are liturgical; that is, the form of the service is prescribed, printed in a book, used with little change from generation to generation. Roman Catholic churches are of this kind (though there is a wide range of detail in the procedures of different Catholic churches); so are the Lutheran, the Reformed and the Episcopal churches, among others.

Other churches are non-liturgical, or free, in their mode of worship, varying all the way from churches with optional forms of worship on out to snake-handling sects like the "Church of God with Signs Following," where you never know one minute what is going to happen next.

The liturgical churches, too, are different as can be. Some liturgies are filled with chanting, incense, long and not easy for a stranger to follow. Other liturgies are brief and simple. The insides of these various kinds of churches are just as different as the interiors of hotels—all the way from the elegant Waldorf-Astoria down to the ramshackle boarding house of a frontier town. The leader of the worship may be clad in vestments gorgeous in the extreme, or in a plain black gown, or dressed in shirt-sleeves.

The "man from Mars" would be so bewildered by all this that he would ask: Is there anything at all that these different kinds of worship have in common?

Communion
For an answer, we can go back more than 3,000 years to the time when Moses was organizing his people's worship as he organized the rest of their lives. You would hardly have recognized that little "tabernacle" in the wilderness as a place of worship at all; it looked like neither church nor synagogue.

And what went on in the tabernacle would look strange to a Jew of today, stranger still to a Roman Catholic, stranger of all to a "non-liturgical" Protestant. And yet, what went on to make that tabernacle possible in the first place, and what went on in it afterwards, give us the answer to the question: What do all the innumerable forms of worship have in common?

First of all is communion with God. In true worship we become aware of Him! In the New Testament phrase, we "approach with boldness the throne of Grace." Worship is right when it actually brings the worshipper into a cleansing consciousness of the nearness of God,—when, indeed, he feels and knows that it is "in Him we live and move and have our being."

Not every one reaches this divine awareness in the same way.

Consecration
But there is another side to worship: Consecration. However varied the order of worship may be, one part of it will be found nearly everywhere: the offering.

This is actually one of the most important parts of the service, though it is often neglected and "skimmed." For the offering is not only important in itself, but it is a great symbol of what worship ought always to be, a call to dedication.

Into the offering plate go bits of silver, green paper, checks... Represents something of the life and work of the worshippers. Every man has some better moments when he would generously like to do something to help the world. On Sunday the church harnesses his vague good will. It gives him a channel for his generosity.

What a man gives ought never to be TO the church but THROUGH the church; it would be an expression of gratitude to God from one who knows that his whole life is God's gift.

Thanksgiving

AT THIS time of the year the thoughts of many turn with gratitude to the brave little band of Pilgrims, numbering 102 all told, who sailed from Plymouth, England, on September 6, 1620, in search of religious freedom. Some two months later they came ashore in America on the coast of Massachusetts, where they established the Plymouth colony. History records that their first act after landing was to offer thanks to God.

A year later, though they had suffered material hardships and loss, they assembled for a season of thanksgiving to God for the provision and protection He had given them in a strange new land. They put spiritual values first. Their gratitude for the continuous care of a loving Father, often expressed in the face of hardship, was undoubtedly the inspiration of the holiday later instituted by proclamation as a national Thanksgiving Day.

The Bible abounds with stories of those who understood that the offering of thanks to God constitutes a high order of prayer. One writer tells us (Psalm 92:1, 2), "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord... to show forth thy lovingkindness in the morning, and thy faithfulness every night." Christ Jesus carried out this prayer of thanksgiving to the full. He lived the gratitude he expressed.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, and a consecrated, consistent follower of Christ Jesus, has written much on the subject of gratitude. In the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she writes (p. 3): "Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

The giving of thanks would indicate the acceptance of a gift. Mortals petitioning God for the granting of material desires are blind to the truth that a loving Father is continually supplying all good to His children...

One who makes a practice of offering thanks to God lifts his thought above the mists of error to perceive something of the truth of God's love and providence. Paul wrote (Philippians 4:6), "Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God." The word "careful" used here means full of care. Jesus used the same word when he said to Martha (Luke 10:41), "Thou art careful and troubled about many things."

... A clear sense of the ever-presence, power, and joy of divine Love pours into the consciousness of him who pours out his heart's gratitude to God in love and service. He will know the healing power of thanksgiving.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Uncle Sam Says

They're hauling up a new flag beneath Old Glory in hundreds of American communities. It's a Treasury Department flag awarded to cities for special activity in selling U. S. Defense Bonds under the Payroll Savings Plan. Where 80 per cent or more of a town's business firms install the plan, the town becomes a Flag City, entitled to fly this special flag. Let's hope more and more towns get on this bandwagon. Employees who have the benefit of this plan are saving wisely and helping America to become strong.

U. S. Needs Civil Defense

TRAINING CAN SAVE MANY LIVES IF ENEMY BOMBS FALL

(This is the sixth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

Civil Defense does many things before an attack. The most important is preparedness. It gives you information on how to safeguard your home, how to fight fires, and what steps to take against atomic, biological, and chemical warfare. It arranges for shelters and operates the warning system which notifies you when to use them. It gets medical supplies and special equipment ready, trains technical services needed to restore a stricken area, and organizes mutual aid and mobile support.

There are two steps which everyone can take to get into civil defense. The first and most basic is to inform yourself what you and your family as individuals can do to protect yourselves against enemy attack. You can learn how to protect your home from fire, how to handle injuries among your family until trained first aid help can be obtained, how to minimize the dangers of attacks by poison gas and biological warfare. You can do this by reading a series of booklets available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. They are:

- "Survival Under Atomic Attack"
- "What You Should Know About Biological Warfare"
- "This Is Civil Defense"
- "Emergency Action To Save Lives"
- "Firefighting For Household"

But this is just the beginning. The second step, and it can be taken at the same time you are studying the booklets, is to join your local civil defense organization. There you will get professional training in meeting the dangers of an enemy attack and become part of the team defending your community.

Organize Mutual Aid
One of the most important functions of civil defense before an attack is the organizing of mutual aid and mobile support. The first is help from the neighbors. No matter how well prepared a city might be, after an attack it could not take care of itself. It would have to look to neighboring suburbs, cities and states for help. And that help must be just as well organized and trained as the civil defense organization in the city which has been knocked out. That is the meaning of mutual aid.

Mutual aid pacts to help each other in case of disaster or enemy attack have been drawn up by many cities. In operation it works like this: If your city were hit by an atomic bomb, nearby towns would send fire, police, and rescue crews to help out, or your city would do the same for other communities, for mutual aid works both ways. The same operation would take place between States, since many of them have also drawn up mutual aid pacts.

Name Maryland 4-H Winners

TOP RANKING records in the 1951 National 4-H Achievement and Leadership programs have brought state honors to four Old Line State club members.

One of the highest honors bestowed on 4-H boys and girls, is the 4-H Achievement award. State-wide recognition for brilliant records in achievement has been accorded James H. Welling, 19, of Sykesville, and Shirley Hoff, 17, of New Windsor. Not only was their record in 4-H Club work outstanding, but they have earned respect and admiration in their homes and communities for service to others.

During his 4-H club career James has taken a variety of agricultural projects including dairy, baby beef and poultry. Today he has a herd of eight head and intends to keep developing it. Champion showman of all beef breeds at County Fair, he won two record contests and excels in demonstrations for which he has received many awards. He finds time to help his father on their farm and with household duties as his mother died when he was six. James has been president of his class five successive years and is vice-president of Howard County Dairy Club.

Among the 68 projects Shirley has completed in eight years of club work are clothing, gardening, home management and dairy. She has frozen 903 quarts of food, prepared 496 meals and sewn more than 47 new articles of clothing. A capable and active 4-H'er she gives much of her time helping with younger members and has served as president, vice-president and secretary of her club.

A set of two miniature statues, symbolizing achievement, one of a boy and one of a girl, was presented to each of these young people by Edward Foss Wilson, president of Wilson and Co., Chicago.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

4-H CLUB ACHIEVEMENT BANQUET

Held at Sandymount School. Taneytown Members Present

Carroll county 4-H Club members, along with 4-H'ers all over the nation, observed National 4-H Achievement Week from November 3-11.

The highlight of this week and the entire year, was the Carroll County 4-H Achievement banquet held on Thursday, Nov. 8th, at the Sandymount Elementary school. At this banquet the 4-H'ers were recognized for their outstanding 4-H Club work. A window display was made of the different county achievement awards in the National home economic and agricultural contests. This display consisted of names and pictures of the county winners of the various 4-H projects carried by the boys and girls. Mather's store window in Westminster was used for this exhibit.

Approximately 400 4-H'ers, parents, and friends, were present at the Achievement Banquet to honor those boys and girls who had accomplished much in 4-H work during the past year. Larry Graybill, Sam's Creek 4-H Club, served as toastmaster. Miss Janice Raver, Elwood Rill, and Eugene Houck, all of the Hampstead Clubs, and Elsa Crum, Woodbine, served as song leaders. Outstanding 4-H talent was featured on the program. This consisted of a vocal solo by Virginia Baust of the Baust 4-H Club, a piano duet by Evelyn and Doris Bollinger of the Taneytown 4-H Club, and a humorous reading by Ann Roop, of the Sam's Creek 4-H Club.

The awards presented that evening consisted of the Carroll County 4-H Fair exhibit winners, county winners in the national 4-H Achievement contests and other special awards for 4-H Club participation and accomplishments. Robert Bollinger, Taneytown, received the Hereford Breeders Association trophy for the grand champion baby beef. Recipients of the 3 Hahn Brothers trophies were: Herbert Klein, Taneytown, champion pig; Ralph Coshun, Terra Rubra, Angus; James Bushey, Freedom, champion Jersey The Holstein trophy donated by the County Holstein Association went to David Brauning, Smallwood. The Ayrshire Association presented the Ayrshire trophy to Ralph Coshun, Terra Rubra, and the Guernsey Breeders presented their trophy to John Chambers, Bachman's Valley. The Poultry Trio trophy donated by the Westminster Poultry Co-op was given to Harvey Dickinson, Taneytown. The Kiwanis Club of Taneytown donated the trophy for the champion Shorthorn which was received by Richard Myers of the Limestone Club. Elwood Rill and Eugene Houck, Hampstead Club, received the champion team demonstration trophy donated by the Carroll County Farm Bureau. County winners in the National 4-H contests were introduced and presented their respective medals by Miss Barbara Ann Young, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent, and Mr. James Pasike, Jr., Assistant County Agent. These winners were: Canning, Ruth Ensor, New Windsor; Frozen foods, Corrine Hoff, New Windsor; Girls Records, Olivia Helwig, New Windsor; Home Improvement, Anne Marie Summers, Westminster; Wilanna Stem, Westminster; Mary Lou Bishop Westminster; Dairy Achievement, John Chambers, Westminster; David Brauning, Finksburg; Olivia Helwig, New Windsor; Garden, Hans Willen, Westminster; Poultry, Erich Willen, Westminster; Farm and Home Safety, Erich Willen, Westminster; Soil Conservation, Shirley Livesay, Sykesville; Meat Animal, Elizabeth Anne Prough, Sykesville.

The D.A.R. award for citizenship was presented by Mrs. James Marsh, Chapter Regent, to Miss Barbara Myers, Westminster and Donald Bennett, Sykesville. The Danforth award for the four-square 4-H boy and girl was presented to Miss Ruth Ensor, New Windsor, and John Arbaugh, New Windsor. A silver tray was presented by the Carroll County Senior Council to the younger 4-H club members who submitted the most complete records in Home Economics and Agriculture projects to the county office. Miss Arnit Dell, Finksburg, and Miss Elsa Crum, Woodbine, were the recipients of these awards. The Taneytown Agriculture Club was designated as the outstanding boys club of the year, for which they received an achievement trophy; and the Hillsdale Girls 4-H Club and the Terra Rubra Boys Club received the trophies for making the most improvement over the past year.

The local leaders of the local 4-H Clubs received recognition for their meritorious service to the 4-H boys and girls of the county. Of the local leaders, Hubert Null, Taneytown and Mrs. George Leister, Jr., Hillsdale, received a gold medal and certificate for having completed 10 years of distinguished service; Irvin Rappoldt, Manchester; Mrs. Daniel Shipley and Mrs. Lyle Stoddard, Meadow Branch received the silver leaders pin and certificate for five years of service. Other local leaders received leadership plaques for having reached the 3 year milestone of leadership in their community. These leaders are: Miss Fannie Mae Hoke, Bachman Valley; Donald Dell, Hillsdale, and Ellis Ranoull, Ski-Hi; Harold Thomas, Terra Rubra.

Mr. Burns, County Agricultural Agent, made a brief presentation of the proposed plans for the County Agricultural Center.

State honors were received by Miss Shirley Hoff, Sam's Creek 4-H Club, in the Achievement contest; Margaret Ann Young, New Windsor, in the Recreation and Rural Arts contest, and Janice Raver, Hampstead, in the Food Preparation contest.
