KING OF ENGLAND IS DEAD

Daughter Elizabeth Proclaimed Queen

King George VI died in his sleep on Tuesday, at Sandringham, the royal estate in Norfolk (England) where he was born 56 years ago.

The King came to the throne Dec. 11, 1936 following the death of his father, George V who died Jan. 21st, 1936.

The late king had a history of circulatory ailments being operated on in 1949 to relieve a leg disorder. Last September, a surgeon removed one of his lungs as cancerous and the King had looked ill for a long time but even his immediate family did not know that death was so near.

He was a quiet family man who put royal duty above personal pleasure that endeared him to millions of his subjects.

His daughter Elizabeth, age 25, will be made the ruling Queen in final services some time in the Spring. The word reached her in an African colony, one of the remnants of the vast empire. She sobbed as she received the news and then made arrangements to fly home.

Tentative plans were made for the funeral to be held Feb. 15th.

Teachers' Salaries and Additional Funds Considered

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll county was held on Feb. 5, 1952, at 3 P. M. in the offices of the Board in City Hall. The Board approved the minutes and bills presented for this meeting. The superintendent was directed to begin to negotiate for school transportation during 1952-53 and to prepare revised plans and this transportation to be considered by the Board at a future meeting.

Careful consideration was given to the problems confronting the Board with relation to the teachers' salary problem in 1952-53 and additional funds for increasing and expanding the facilities throughout the county. THIS 'N' THAT

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It is a bitter cold day. Soup's on and that old-fashioned clock is striking the hour (which I purchased about three years ago from 'the antique lady' around the town!) What is more homey than the familiar sound of a clock chiming or striking the hour either day or night time?

Did you know that the father, and grandfather of Stephen Foster did much for this country during the Revolutionary War plus the War of 1812? That is to finance? Part was paid back to Steezy's father but not the entire amount. Did you know that the family of Stephen Foster was directly connected with the Barclay's of Kentucky—none other than our own Vice-President! The book, Stephen Foster, America's Troubadour by John Tasker Howard is a most interesting one. Your Observer was most interested due to the fact of gathering material to present such a play in March. More about that one in a later column.

Want to make a THOUSAND DOLLARS? That is the advertisement now to any individual who can bring in some real talent (not professional) to T.V.—WAAM.

Even if that old Ground Hog did see or not see his shadow—Spring is really just around the corner (although February may be full of the snow storms each year).

How nice and by that little Minister "LET'S THINK"—food for thought in every sentence! Just keep it up! The car strike—in the big city now settled did not have the slightest affect upon anyone as they all seemed to take it in the stride and I think you know just what I mean. I interviewed many who stated that if it did go on and on perhaps there would be a real adjustment for the public. Could be!

Here's one for the young Mother! Did you ever feel cross and dragged out and then feel 100% after a good warm bath. Could be that an extra, relaxed tepid bath would work the same cheerful transformation on your little one. Try it and see!

A letter arriving from a very young reader of this column states she is engaged to be married and the wedding bells are to be heard very shortly but she writes the following, "Dear Observer—won't you please tell me what you think about marrying a young man who sulks, is jealous and moody. At times, I have seen that he has a real temper. I try to laugh it off and pretend that it is nothing but it really has me a little edgy!"

My dear Child—I would not think or have anyone do the thinking for you—by all means give this man back the ring and get down on your knees this very night and thank God that this has come to you before your marriage. You should be happy that you know it all before it is too late for many times it is discovered after the honeymoon is over! It is not necessary to have any words with the young man just tell him frankly that you do not want to get married and tell him the reason. That should be entirely up to you to choose the latter. That young man will never change and if you marry him he will become more severe in all of his makeup knowing he had you tied to him! Your letter brought forth to my mind of the lovely girl in Washington who was marrying a man who drank heavily but she thought she could change him. She soon realized her horrible mistake and her marriage went on the rocks! No woman can make a man over and the attempt is futile. Your letter was a very sensible one for a girl of only 18 years of age. You have my love and prayers! I know you will meet someone who will interest you far more and then you will be glad that you did not go through with such a marriage. Good luck!

How nice it was to hear the voice of "Our Pharmacist's" wife over the phone. That was a nice surprise and Your Observer does like surprises!

Don't forget, folks that very special Valentine for that someone who is dear to you. Perhaps, you have not given your wife or your husband any greeting for so long a time thinking, "Oh, he or she knows I love him or her!" I do not want to appear mushy! Well, being 'mushy' is very nice and especially from the one you love. Take a special treat to her in the way of candy, her favorite flowers with that nice Valentine card.

Your Observer had a surprise already of a grand book of Valentines from my Minister. All in glorious colors and beautiful poems. "Ideals" is the name of the magazine which is published only six times a year. Better hurry and ask the Pharmacist about that one as this coming Thursday, Feb. 14 is Valentine Day. You will love the Front Cover of the Valentine number with it's contents of all the pictures which appear as hand painted!

So long, folks. Have a nice week end. Be good and kind for then you will reap a harvest. Life is so short and that would be a grand way to send a Valentine to that one whom you love and have not spoken to for many a day. Will be seeing you next week D. V. Until then,

I am,

YOU AND YOUR CONGRESS

A few weeks from now Congress will receive its Joint Economic Committee's considered opinion of the state of the nation.

Presumably, that opinion, dwelling mainly on the country's economic health, will influence the thinking of Congress on such matters as taxes and federal spending—whether either or both should be increased.

Actually, the influence of the Committee's report is likely to be mild.

The reason is that this is a national election year. That fact will influence Congressional thinking more than anything else between now and November.

The Committee's membership includes such divergent thinkers as Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), on the one hand and Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), and Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), on the other.

It is possible that the Committee members will adopt a conciliatory attitude and steer a non-political course as nearly as possible. But that is a great deal to ask in a national election year.

It would not be surprising to most Washington observers if all harmony in the Committee's report ended at the point where it recommended increased efforts toward federal economy.

For one thing, Sen. Taft, his campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination already in high gear, has made it plain that, if nominated, he will campaign on points which will clash sharply with certain Administration policies as voiced by those such as O'Mahoney and Patman.

The Joint Economic Committee was established under the Full Employment Act of 1946—enacted at a time when there was fear in Congress of a bad postwar recession or depression.

The Act requires the President to send Congress periodic reports on the nation's economic outlook, together with suggestions for making or keeping it bright. He is assisted in drafting the reports by his Council of Economic Advisors, also established under the Act.

The Joint Economic Committee is required to digest the President's report, hold hearings on it and then make its own report and suggestions to Congress.

Because those fears of a bad postwar recession or depression turned out to be unfounded, the President's Economic Report in recent years has been devoted mainly to stating that economic conditions could be much worse than they are.

Usually, in January, the President's Economic Report follows his budget for the next fiscal year to Capitol Hill. This year it was the other way around—perhaps not without design—and the President appeared to be using the Economic Report to prepare Congress psychologically for his Budget Message.

In the Report, he forecast a sizable federal deficit for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, and predicted a bigger one for the following fiscal year.

A few days later he sent up a Budget Message which detailed spending $85.4 billion next year—$14.5 billion more than this year—with deficits of $8.2 billion and $14.4 billion for this year and next respectively.

While the Joint Economic Committee is digesting the President's Economic Report and, perforce, his budget recommendations, economic opinion is rapidly forming in Congress along political party lines.

And unless the Joint Economic Committee's Report fits approximately into the Congressional opinion mold—which means disagreement on such things as the extent of new spending and deficits—it's likely to get lost in the shuffle.

RICHES

Work as tho you were to live forever; Live as tho you would die tomorrow. I don't know who said that but I learned it long, long ago and have striven to keep the thought ever in mind. I have made many mistakes, more than I care to think of. I have passed up many opportunities that would have been better had I seized them as they happened, but in that respect I have been but the average, I think. A Carnegie starts from scratch and ends up with so many millions that he tries to die poor and fails. Who is the happiest man? Who can tell?

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

WALDEN, N. Y., CITIZEN-HERALD: "Announcement by the New York State Electric & Gas Corporation, which serves many thousands of people, that it is seeking an increase in electric rates should come as no surprise. The company has not had a general rate increase in more than 30 years. Significantly, though the proposed new rate will produce about $2,500,000 more revenue per year throughout the company's system, more than half this amount will go to the federal government in taxes."

BALTIMORE, OHIO, TWIN CITY NEWS: "The day is past when the farmer grew most of the things he and his family needed. Now he must buy many things—lumber, machinery, nails, fencing, roofing, barn equipment, fertilizer and seed, as well as food and clothing. While inflation drives up all prices, the pressures on many goods the farmer buys are greater than they are on many of the products he sells."

CULLMAN, ALA., DEMOCRAT: "The politicians' creed seems to be to keep the people's pockets full of 'money', even though the 'money' eventually drops to where it is not worth the cost of the paper used to make it."

ANTIGO, WISC., DAILY JOURNAL: "The National Security Resources Board is trying to promote the dispersal of new industry in the United States for safety reasons. Says the board: 'There is no need of a bureau in Washington or elsewhere in the federal government to do this job.' And apparently the effort is meeting with considerable initial success despite the board's almost heretical views. If it works out, maybe others will be inclined toward this unorthodoxy and away from the prevailing notion that you're not in business until you've denuded the capital warehouses of every available desk and have hired people to lean on them."

A bus and two cars were filled with members and friends from the Church of God this place. They motored to Washington, D. C. on Sunday and were among the estimated 35 or 40 thousand on the capitol steps and plaza to hear Billy Graham, the great evangelist, denounce crime and irregularities in government and shout that they must continue to be exposed wherever found. The only way we can win the battle between Communism and Christianity is for the American people to turn to God and the Bible, said Billy. U. S. senators and representatives took part by the dozen to sit on the platform with Dr. Graham. Our president, Harry Truman was not there although he had a special invitation. He also asked the U. S. Congress to set aside a weekday in which the normal pursuits of the American people would be forgotten and it would be declared a day of confession of sin, humiliation, repentance, and turning to God at this hour. The world today would be a much better place in which to live if there were more Billy's like the late Billy Sunday and Billy Graham.

FEESERSBURG

Along with other things, February brings with it "ground-hog" day and the celebration of Lincoln's and Washington's birthday. "Ground-hog" day of course is just traditional American folklore. We have a lot of fun with it but no one really takes it seriously, or do they? However, Lincoln and Washington we have always taken seriously for they have stood for the highest points in our country's history. Even today, the spell of these two men can be felt. Not so many days ago I visited Gettysburg and stood on the spot where Lincoln gave his immortal address. One could imagine him standing there, speaking earnestly and probably a little wistfully, for the people had not really come to hear him speak that day. They had come to hear the great orator of that era—Stephen A. Douglas. Lincoln must have spoken with sadness too, for our nation was at that time in the midst of war and strife, just as it is today. It is not for me to say whether people were better in Lincoln's time than they are now. For one would have to live in both periods to judge fairly, I do think all of us could use some of Lincoln's honesty and wisdom and there are many in high places both in government and business who could use to good advantage both Lincoln's and Washington's idealism. Both men placed their country first in deed and thought. Honor meant everything to them. I can fully believe that both men would have preferred death to using their high office for any personal gain. How many men today could we say as much for?

It has always been my contention that any woman could be a first rate cook if she was given all the cream and butter she could use, preferably all the butter. It was 5 thousand years ago that this yellow substance was discovered and like most discoveries in an unorthodox way. This is the story: It was on a burning hot day and on the desert of all places. A small Arab band was slowly making its way across the scorching hot sands. The camels, loaded down to their last hump, groaned and complained about life in general. At last the caravan came to a small oasis and the heavy packs were taken down and the camels given a chance to rest. And the dairy bags, containing milk were opened to give the men a drink. But when the Arabs looked at the milk they were dismayed to find it spoiled with yellow blobs floating on the top. One Arab, more resolute than the others took his finger and tasted one of the floating yellow dots. It was soft, tasty and it was food. It was also butter. And so, two, three, four or five thousand years ago our most favorite food was discovered. In all these years no one has discovered anything to take its place. Like Gertrude Stein may have written—a cow is a cow, And no man made device has so far taken the place of her butter bearing apparatus.

The Missionary Society of the Mt. Union Lutheran church held its regular monthly meeting at the Parish House, Monday evening. At the close of a short business meeting a plastic party was held. There were eighteen members and guests present. Mrs. Donald Lambert, Mrs. Scott Crabbs and Mrs. David Miller served refreshments. The Society plans to finish two quilts and offer them for sale in the near future. The money will be used toward special projects the Society sponsors.

The county school orchestra met for its first rehearsal at the Westminster High school, Monday evening. Each school in the county is represented in the orchestra. Mr. Kersey and Mr. Sampson were the directors Monday evening with Mr. Royer serving as moderator critic. The students representing the Elmer Wolfe school in the orchestra are: Gretchen Reese, Evelyn Coshun, Reba Yingling and Nancy Roelke.

The seasawing temperatures of the past two weeks have derved our neighbors with muddy roads, pneumonia and arthritis. Mrs. Ross Wilhide and Raymond Buffington have been seriously ill with pneumonia; Mrs. Samuel Keyton is out of circulation with arthritis. Mrs. Russell Bohn has just recovered from a congested lung while the small fry in the neighborhood has had everything from hives to ingrown toenails. Germs still continue to be man's greatest natural enemy.

With the passing of Harold Ickes to the "great beyond" another and almost the last of the colorful and dynamic "new dealers" leaves the scene of what was back in the 30's an inspiring and heartwarming political experiment. Mr. Ickes was blunt and outspoken, but he was a true public servant, always serving the people to the best of his ability and conviction. What is more, he believed the core of America was good and sound, no matter if some of the leaders were "soiled and shabby," as he so ably stated it.

In the last two weeks we have all been given two examples of how persuasive is the human voice. First, it was Mr. Churchill who with simple English and a John Bull voice charmed even the most anti-British American into a pro-British state of mind. The second example of the hypnotic influence of a gifted voice is that of Billy Graham, evangelist, who has induced thousands to come and hear him elaborate on how sinful is the world. This has always been a very popular subject ever since Adam and Eve lost the Garden of Eden, and when a person with a golden voice talks on the topic it can be down right disturbing. Youth starting out on a career should take note of Mr. Churchill and Mr. Graham and at all cost learn to speak effectively. But in learning to persuade with the voice box, he sure to persuade in a constructive way. Remember Hitler with his voice led the German people and the entire world to the edge of disaster.

To Abraham Lincoln

Oh, slow to smite and swift to spare,
Gentle, and merciful and just!
Who, in the fear of God, didst bear
The sword of power, a nation's trust!—William C. Bryant.

MEDAL AWARDED POST-HUMOUSLY

Perhaps five or ten years before Mr. Harry L. Baumgardner died he applied for the medal that was granted to him as a veteran of the Spanish-American War. Recently his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Baumgardner, received a document from Cuba, later a letter, and these were followed by a silver medal. Inscription on the front of the medal in Spanish; the other side in English is: "First. That the people of the Island of Cuba are, and of right ought to be free, and independent. From the joint resolution of April 20, 1898." The document and letter are in Spanish. These Mrs. Robert Unger, Westminster, translated for her.

The translation of the document is: "The President of the Republic of Cuba. Inasmuch as Harry L. Baumgardner, Sergeant of Company 'E', 17th Regiment of the Infantry of the Army of the United States of America, has duly verified that he served in the Armed Forces of the United States of America, either in its main body or auxiliary organizations, during the Spanish-American War.

Therefore, in accordance with official order number 867 of Feb. 13, 1935, he is awarded the Medal of the Veterans of the Spanish-American War. And in order that it be certified he is presented this Document, legalized by the Secretary of State of the Republic, in the Mansion of the President, Havana, on Jan. 19, 1951."

There were gusts of 60-70 m. p. h. recorded at the airport tower with sustained winds of 45-55. Some awnings and shutters were torn off, a few trees blown out and some large windows broken, also light globes. The weather is like June. Hoagland's have a lovely home. They look fine."

RHONDA BRINGS FAMED DANCE

ROLE TO SCREEN

Glamorous Rhonda Fleming plays the title role of the seductive Egyptian dancer who invaded the Chicago Columbian Exposition in 1893 and created a national sensation with her hootchy-kootchy dance in Universal-International's new Technicolor spectacle, "Little Egypt", showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Earle Theatre.

Mark Stevens is co-starred with Miss Fleming in the new film and the strong supporting cast is headed by Nancy Guild, Charles Drake, Tom D'Andrea, Minor Watson and Steven Geray.

"Cheaper By The Dozen" an outstanding Technicolor picture starring Clifton Webb and Myrna Loy will play a return engagement on Monday and Tuesday.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Maryland General Assembly is now in session with about 56 bills in the hopper. Most of these bills, including the Teacher's Salary Bill, were governor-vetted bills. The House delegates voted on Thursday 96 to 23 to override the Governor's veto. The Bill now goes over to the Senate for action.

Herman L. Mills, Mayor of Hagerstown and a Republican and George P. Mahoney, Baltimore and a Democrat have entered the already crowded field of candidates for the U. S. Senate subject to the primaries.

Provide More Space
A 24-inch feeder will take care of 40 to 60 chicks from hatching to two weeks of age. Penn State extension poultry specialists suggest that then the feeder space be doubled. When the chicks are 5 to 6 weeks old, put hen hoppers in the pens.

No Car Drive-Ins
Two drive-in's which prohibit cars are a unique feature of the Army Medical Center in Washington. They include a theater and a bank bar for wheelchair and Stryker-frame patients at Walter Reed Army hospital located on the Center grounds.

Madras
Madras, a popular cotton fabric, is named for an Indian city. In the coast town of Madras, a colorful cotton cloth was made especially for the sailors who sailed out of the port city. Today, madras means a thin, but strong, cotton material used chiefly for shirts and dresses.

Car Heat
The average car generates enough heat to warm a six room house. Without its cooling system the tremendous heat would destroy the automobile engine. The life of the engine depends on the good operation of the cooling system.

Stops Rust
By dipping threads of a bolt in shellac before screwing on a nut, trouble may be prevented when rust may cause them to stick together. The shellac will cover the surface and stop rust from forming.

CHRYSLER V-8 ENGINE!

HEART OF FIREPOWER!
This hemispheric combustion chamber, with large, well-cooled valves right in the dome, is the basic reason FirePower outperforms all previous engines, even on non-premium fuel!

WHETHER you plan to buy a Chrysler or not, we cordially invite you to drive this revolutionary Chrysler FirePower V-8 engine. Only FirePower performance can possibly tell you what it is like. We want you to have that experience. The FirePower engine is a basic new design so advanced it can meet rising performance needs for years to come. Today it delivers 180 horsepower, even on non-premium fuel, and when desirable with simple changes in manifolding, compression, and carburetion the horsepower can be raised to 250 . . . or over 300, as in the experimental Chrysler K-310 car. Naturally, others will imitate this Chrysler achievement, at least in part. We honestly believe that the FirePower engine will outperform any other car in America . . . and we invite you to learn the new standard in engine performance Chrysler has set by driving it yourself.

These buy you half as much
These are the pennies that make up a dollar of the average family's income. They go only about half as far as they did in 1937.

This buys almost twice as much
This represents the part of the family dollar that goes for electric service. It buys pretty nearly twice as much as it did in 1937. And when you think of all the things electricity does for the comfort, health, ease and fun of your family, you'll count it by far the biggest bargain in your budget!

Two Rich Men

Lesson for February 10, 1952

EVERYBODY knows that Jesus took an interest in the poor. But there is another side of the picture: Jesus took just as keen an interest in the rich. Some of his most famous and penetrating sayings were spoken in conversations with wealthy men. The truth is, Jesus was interested in people, as people. Whether they were rich or poor was, for him, a side issue. And still he knew that a man with money has both temptations to evil and opportunities for good that the poor man never has.

Dr. Foreman

Two Rich Men

JESUS met two men of means who were quite different from each other.

One, who remains nameless, had much to recommend him. He was rich, but perhaps that was the last thing people thought about when they saw him. He was young and vigorous; when he came to Jesus for an interview he did not walk, he ran. He was a man of executive ability, for the story calls him a "ruler." He was good, at least he claimed to have kept all the Ten Commandments, and Jesus did not contradict him.

Furthermore, he was eager in the right direction. His principal ambition was not to have more money but to have eternal life. On top of all this, Jesus loved him. You would certainly think that a man like that couldn't miss. But he did.

On the other hand was the man Zacchaeus. Being a publican, and rich, it is perfectly obvious that he couldn't have been either honest or generous, for it was only the greedy and the dishonest in those days who could amass fortunes by collecting taxes. He was no doubt middle-aged, for it took time to rise to the top in the publican game. As for eagerness for spiritual things, he seems not to have felt a bit of it.

We may guess that Jesus was not the only one who loved the rich young ruler; but if Jesus loved Zacchaeus, and he must have, he was perhaps the only person then in Jericho who did. No community loves a man who bleeds it white. Yet, strange as it seems, it is this rich man, this bad rich man, who comes out in the end with a higher rating than the "good" rich man.

Money the Master

THE last thing we see of the good rich man is his turning his back on Goodness. He had a chance to follow Christ—the same chance that Peter and Matthew had, the same command. Follow Me!

What great service Christ had in mind for him we shall never know. All we know is that he made the great refusal. Perhaps he thought better of it and came back later on; but it is not likely. The last we see of him is his back, as he "went away sorrowful."

Jesus never said of him what he said of Zacchaeus. Salvation never came to his house. He never inherited the eternal life he wanted. When it came right down to a choice: money, or eternal life, he chose money. He was willing to be a Christian, but not a sacrificing Christian. He only wanted to be an inheriting Christian. He thought of himself (no doubt) as master of his money; instead, money was his master. His money talked so loud he could not hear well what Jesus said. His money talked so fast that it made what Jesus demanded sound like nonsense.

Money the Servant

JESUS did not ask all his followers to get rid of every penny they possessed. Zacchaeus, for instance, did not renounce all he had. What he did was to give back all that did not belong to him, and give away a good deal that did. Jesus did not ask this man to do more.

A doctor does not always prescribe the same operation for every one. For some men, an appendix is a source of danger and must be removed at once, for others, an appendix may safely and most wisely be left where it is.

Jesus could see that the younger man was at the point where money was about to be his master; so indeed it was for the older man. But the first could not shake off the tyranny of his wealth, his own wealth; the other man could.

For the servant of Christ, money is not in itself a sin. It is a root of sin when its voice is louder than the voice of the Master. It is the means of sin when it stops the ears to a cry of need. No one can call himself a Christian when he refuses his money in the service of Christ.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, MRS. DAVID H. HAHN who passed away 6 years ago, Feb. 7, 1946

Six years has passed since that sad day. The one we loved was called away; God took her home, it was His will, But in our hearts she liveth still

Before our eyes she faded,
Growing weaker every moment,
Doing all we could to save her,
Until God took her away.

Sometimes 'tis hard to understand,
Why some things have to be;
But in His wisdom God has planned
Beyond our power to see.

By her HUSBAND and CHILDREN.
