SPRING FESTIVAL OF MUSIC

To Be Held at Mount Saint Mary's College

The program has been completed for the Spring Festival of Music to be presented in Memorial Gym on the campus of Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Thursday, May 1, at 8:30 p. m. Four colleges, Western Maryland College, Westminster, Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Mount Saint Agnes College for Women, Mount Washington, Baltimore, and Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg and Littlestown Men's Chorus will combine in an evening of music.

Since many of these collegiate groups participate in athletic contests, it was proposed that the music departments of the schools likewise join forces in choral work. The Littlestown Men's Chorus, the only non-collegiate group in the festival, was chosen for its outstanding work in the field of male glee club music. Each group will have its own director and accompanist and will appear in a distinctive garb.

Mrs. Mary Malcolm Hunter, B. S. in music, will serve as adjudicator for the program. Mrs. Hunter's experience and training eminently qualifies her for this work as she was formerly a teacher of public school music in the Carroll County schools from 1927-1947, teacher of music education Westminster High School, 1943-47; critic teacher, Western Maryland College, 1927-30, and director of the Carroll County Teachers' Chorus, 1940- (Continued on fourth page)

MARYLAND REGIONAL GUILD MEETS

The spring meeting of Maryland Regional Women's Guild met on Wednesday, at Grace E. & R. Church, at Walkersville, Rev. Charles A. Price, Minister.

After registration and a worship service, the morning session was filled with reports and business. Mrs. H. Paul Bovey, president, presided at the meeting. The theme for the day was: "Having Eyes, See Ye?" Mrs. E. J. F. Dettbarn, Potomac Synodical President, brought greetings and highlights of the meeting at Cleveland and told of the gains during 1951.

Rev. Paul Minnich Robinson, D. D., Pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Hagerstown, gave the inspirational address. He based his talk on world conditions as he found them while traveling through twenty countries of Europe and the Near East. His message centered around the beautiful story of "The Parable of the Good Samaritan" and its relation to our times today.

It is a long road today to Jericho from Jerusalem and today it is filled with human misery and suffering. He told of the Arabs living in refugee camps, due to the war, and living in mud huts and existing on $2.00 per month as appropriated by the United Nations. The people in the refugee camps of Germany are thankful to the American people for the used clothing and food which they send. On his travels he saw relief clothing which had come from New Windsor. The goodwill of the world is not being built by armies or statesmen but by the people of the church.

The people of the world are copying our western ways materially speaking but forget that our nation is founded on spiritual ideals. The world is materially unified but spiritually divided and we have been trying to hold it together with force. Our modern inventions have made the world small and we are living at a time when it is easy to talk but have the least to say. We are powerful but fearful too. We are wealthy and appreciate it so little. Our best hope for peace would be learning how to get along together in the spirit of Jesus, that of Christian love.

Those attending the meeting from Grace church were: Mrs. Glenn Martin, Mrs. Ellsworth Lambert, Mrs. Lloyd Lambert, Miss Millie Brown, Mrs. Morgan Andreas, Mrs. Clyde L. Hesson, Mrs. Emma Rodgers, Miss Mary Fringer, Mrs. Walter Eckard, Mrs. Harry Mohny, Mrs. Mary Mohny, Mrs. William Simpson and Mrs. Mervin Wantz.

BUS SCHEDULE CHANGES

Effective Sunday, April 27th, Blue Ridge Lines will revise its bus schedules, it was announced today. These changes are a result of the shift to Daylight Saving Time on that date. A majority of the towns served by the bus company are going to "fast time" again this summer.

Schedules will be affected in different ways. In some cases they will simply be changed to comply with the time change. In other cases it will be necessary to make an extensive revision because of connection problems.

Since the schedule changes will not be uniform, Blue Ridge officials say it is extremely difficult to announce the changes for each locality in advance. They urge all passengers to check schedules with Blue Ridge drivers or local agents before traveling on, or after April 27th.

SALTY YARN

Those little salt shakers on Maryland dining tables carry a big load—more than 14,000,000 pounds a year.

That's the amount of table salt that Marylanders sprinkle on their food annually, according to estimates of American Can Company, the firm that developed the fibre salt box with the aluminum pouring spout.

The container-making company's Maryland estimate was based on a national average consumption of six pounds of table salt per person a year for seasoning. This is in addition to the salt already in food or added by canners and packers.

A REMINDER

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

MET AT MT. AIRY

Program Centered Around the History of B. & O. Railroad

The meeting of the Historical Society of Carroll County at Mount Airy on the evening of April 17 was attended by an enthusiastic audience representing eleven districts of the county. Mr. Lawrence W. Sagle, the speaker of the evening, brought out many facts of special interest in Carroll Counties concerning the one hundred and twenty-five years of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

He recalled the intense rivalry between the road and the Chesapeake and Ohio canal as each raced to be the first to reach the Ohio river. On the same day, July 4, 1826, that Charles Carroll of Carrollton was laying the first stone of the B. & O. railroad in Baltimore, President Adams, spade in hand, was inaugurating the building of the C. & O. canal at Georgetown. Carroll County helped the railroad win this historic race by furnishing the right of way up the valley of the Patapsco. The first section to Ellicott's Mills was opened for traffic on May 24, 1830. The first through train to Frederick ran through Carroll County on Dec. 1, 1831. In this instance, train meant a caravan of cars, each individually pulled by "hay-burners" (horses). It was not until three years later that the iron horses supplanted their early rivals. And now after a century of undisputed sway, the team locomotives, in turn, are giving way to the diesels. The display of changing models greatly enhanced the interest of the lecture.

At the conclusion of the program, Mr. Sagle presented the Historical Society with a copy of his paper, "The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Carroll County, Maryland."

THIS 'N' THAT

(Your Chatty Column)
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Now, Your Observer has seen just about everything! Visited a "Sheep Shed" where the sheep were being sheared of it's heavy wool! Not a move and not a whimper but just lay there as little babies. However, this thought came to me that it was rather early to venture that clipping at this time of the year wondering if those sheep would catch cold? I really have learned more in six years in the country than all my life in the city! What is that song, Folks? "I would not change it all for a Palace so Rare?"

Here's to the ladies! Dresses are a lovely length now for the street! Eh! This one for Grandma—if your hair is really gray go right down and buy yourself a red hat and when you look into the mirror you will be more than surprised what it does for you!

Last week went to the Harford Homemakers' Annual Spring Meeting held in Bel Air which was a most interesting afternoon. Of course there was the demonstration of the voting machine and panel discussion on "Woman's Duties as a Citizen"! There was special music for all and an excellent baritone voice singing two popular numbers which won much applause. A style review of the dresses made by the Homemakers—those women who have never attempted before to make a dress and they surely did beautifully.

It seems that the ladies are really getting to be "Sewing Minded" and if you don't think so just visit the stores in any town and see the numerous forms being sold and the thousands of yard goods on the bolt being sold weekly in all sorts of designs and materials.

A letter arrived from another city stating, "I love Arthur Godfrey so much that I can't get my housework done in the mornings when he is on (Continued on Eighth Page)

Mixed choruses presented their music to the court and the program closed with a grand finale. A ballet by Ann Breth and an Indian Snake Dance by Miss Kay McLaughlin, Western Maryland College were appreciated additions.

A school card party, Thursday evening, April 24th, afforded many fine prizes to the winners. The PTA injected a great deal of work into making the party a success. Outstanding jobs were done by General Chairman, Mrs. Sanders; Prize Chairman, Mrs. George Cruise; Refreshment Chairman, Mrs. George Gunther and table Chairman, Mr. Doty Robb; Advertising Chairman, Mrs. Luther Luckenbaugh.

Monday, April 28 is the date set for the Commercial Club trip to Baltimore. On May 1, the Carroll County Student Council will meet in the Taneytown High School.

ELECTION TIME

We approach again election time. It is not only our right, it is our privilege to vote. I have voted in five states in primary and in general elections. Many people pay little or no attention to primary elections. Primaries are most important. There the people rule and determine what class of people shall serve us. We have in Maryland this year a number of distinguished citizens seeking office. I have my choice, you have yours. If all the citizens entitled to vote do so the right man will be elected. Be sure to vote.

Queer Duck, Third Reported, Turns Up in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—It was undetermined whether he was a vacationist or political refugee, but Roland C. Clement, Executive Director of the Audubon Society of Rhode Island announced that a European duck was found off the shores of the state.

The bird, a ruddy sheld-duck, is native to Eastern Europe and Asia. It is a rarity in the United States, only two previous specimens having been recorded. One was found in North Carolina, the other in New Jersey.

The duck was shot by a hunter at Brock Island, 14 miles off shore.

Key Substances in Diet Affect Healing of Wounds

CHICAGO — Wounds heal faster when certain key substances are present in the diet, Dr. Martin B. Williamson, associate professor of biochemistry in the Loyola University School of Medicine, told the American Chemical Society's Chicago Section at an all-day chemical conference.

Although war wounds, accidental injuries, and surgical incisions are matters of everyday occurrence—and have been throughout history—little is known of the basic aspects of wound healing, Dr. Williamson declared.

Periodic measurements of the strength of tissue in healing wounds under conditions of controlled diet, have shown that certain sulfur compounds in food are necessary for healing at a maximum rate, Dr. Williamson reported. The compounds are sulfur amino acids, which occur in the proteins of eggs, milk, wheat, corn and some other foods, he said.

The "healing index"—a number which expresses the rate of healing as measured in Dr. Williamson's research—was much greater on high protein diets than on low protein diets in tests conducted on experimental animals. The obvious explanation is that the protein is necessary for the rebuilding of the wounded area.

Flying Leathernecks Land To 'Cry of the Wild Goose'

WITH THE FIRST MARINE AIRCRAFT WING IN KOREA—New arrivals to this station are a bit startled, and hurriedly scan the skies the first time they hear the cry of the "wild goose."

This is not a natural phenomenon, just the newest innovation to be used by flying Leathernecks of the Korea Courier, a section of R4D transport aircraft attached to the First Marine Aircraft Wing. The "goose" horn, a Japanese bulb horn, was introduced to take the place of a lot of unnecessary voice transmittal. On approaching the field, the pilot presses his microphone switch and gives a blast on the horn. One blast requests landing instruction. Two blasts signifies the wheels and flaps are down. On the final approach the goose gives out with three blasts.

Guidance at Hand

MANY events recorded in the Scriptures show that those who love righteousness and seek the guidance of God, divine Mind, receive from Him wisdom and intelligence that lead to achievement. When thought is humble and receptive, God's angels—spiritual intuitions—can be depended upon to instruct one. The Bible assures us (Isaiah 30:21), "Thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it."

But the thought full of error neither listens for nor hears God's voice. To one who is proud, willful, and egotistical, the right or better way may even seem wrong. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes (p. 106), "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience." Then she adds the significant statement, "Man is properly self-governed only when he is guided rightly and governed by his Maker, divine Truth and Love." True self-government expresses the will of God and is never synonymous with self-will.

The sixteenth chapter of Matthew speaks of instructions that Christ Jesus gave his disciples during which he foretold his crucifixion and resurrection. Impetuous Peter protested, feeling certain, no doubt, that there was no justifiable reason why one so good should submit to such an ordeal. But the selfless Saviour rebuked the uncomprehending thought, saying (verse 23), "Get thee behind me, Satan: thou art an offence unto me: for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men." Strong personal feeling would have had the Way-shower stop short of the fulfillment of his great mission.

We are called upon continually to make decisions. Both experience and observation show the danger of allowing one's thought to become clouded by strong personal or partisan feelings, which tend to shut out the impartations of Mind. Thought must be free from narrow opinions and hampering prejudices in order to be able to receive right intuitions. Thinking must be calm and intelligent in order that wise and just decisions may be reached.

God created man in His own image and likeness; hence man reflects the qualities of God. God is supreme wisdom and intelligence; hence there is no limit to man's reflected ability to manifest these spiritual qualities. These great facts are not affected in the least by differences in race, nationality, or language, or by finite concepts of time and space. It is infinite Mind's individual expression, not matter, which identifies the real man.

The great need of mankind is to know God. Jesus' understanding of God enabled him to accomplish the marvelous good that seemed miraculous to others. He never taught that the ability to demonstrate God's presence and power was exclusively his own. On the contrary, his assurance was (John 14:12), "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father." Jesus looked always to his Father, divine Mind, for the spiritual understanding and guidance that enabled him to go from achievement to achievement and to provide an everlasting example of man's ability to express the true nature of God.—The Christian Science Monitor.

WHEN DO YOU WIND YOUR WATCH?

When nearly everybody else winds theirs? Then you must wind yours at night! Isn't that when most people wind their watches and clocks? Experts tell us that night is the wrong time. That they should be wound early in the morning. In the mornings the spring is strong. Do not wait until the end of day when the spring runs down, when it is weak, tired with the rustle and bumps and jolts of the day.

Watches are like people. People run down during the day. They become fatigued with the rush, bumps, jolts, annoyances, and problems of the day. Evening is a poor time to begin something new. It even isn't the best time to pray effectively.

Yet, how many committee meetings, business meetings, bank meetings, teachers meetings, and various other meetings, where grave and momentous problems must be discussed and solved, are brought before meetings or groups assembled at night after a strenuous day in the office, factory, or elsewhere. When do you wind your watch! For the best results select the best time.

FEESERSBURG

Last week some bright people wrote that the most confused people were the well informed people. After reading the week-end news it didn't take a well informed person to be confused—most anyone could get in that condition. One wonders often why a human being can take so much punishment and yet never learn anything by the experience. I am referring mostly to the floods in the mid west. Ever since we have been alive here the Missouri and the Mississippi rivers have ever so often gone out of control, causing untold damage to property and to the land. And each time this has occurred, committees have been set up by Congress to study the situation and draw up some plan to control the floods. While the brown waters of the rivers are doing their damage, everybody is excited and Congress promises many wonderful things, but when the water has receded, memory of the peril and the damage recedes with it. The loss of the top soil in the Missouri Valley is important to every American for history has told us over and over again, when the top soil of the land vanishes, civilization goes with it. We are fortunate in having the knowledge on how to control floods, but unfortunately in having men with little minds in a position to hide that knowledge beneath political arguments. And while Congress hesitates, the topsoil continues to roll down the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

While gaunt men battled the swollen rivers, other men caged behind prison bars, battled their keepers in two prison riots. One was in Michigan and one in New Jersey. While the newspapers refrain from saying what brought on the riots it is safe to assume they were caused by one of three things—bad food, brutality on the part of guards or by close confinement. Once a man is placed in prison, the world forgets him. Rarely does the public ask questions about how the prisons are run or by whom. Granting that society must protect itself against men with criminal minds yet caging a man up like an animal is so foreign to his nature that it is no wonder, some of them rebel. Sit down and think just for two minutes what it must be like to be put in a cell for life or twenty years or just for one year. Never to see the blue sky, the blade of grass, the blue robin chirp. Never to see a child run with a dog; never to see the sun come up nor the moon to ride lazily through a summer night. Some will say why are we sentimental over hardened criminals? But once they were the same as you and I. They had the same dreams, the same hopes, only somewhere along life's highway they took the wrong turn, even as we so easily could have done. What can be done for them? Society can't turn them out of prison to continue their ill fated course. No, we can't do that, but we can take an interest in what goes on in our prisons. That isn't asking too much. Most prison riots are staged just to focus the public's eye on the conditions in the prison so that changes will be made. If this was the reason for the riots in the Michigan and New Jersey prison, we hope the public will respond and see that justice is done. For though a man is caged behind bars, he is still a human being and deserves humane treatment. If man is really made in the image of God then he should receive a little god-like treatment no matter what he is, or where he may be.

The Elmer Wolfe P-T.A. held its monthly meeting Monday evening in the school auditorium. The program consisted of the Eisteddfod music to be sung at Western Maryland College on Friday night and a style show demonstrating the projects of the Home Economics Department made by the girls this year. The Industrial Arts Department exhibited some of their handiwork. The May P-T.A. meeting will be held Monday night, May 12, at 8 P. M. The program will consist of the usual May Day program with the queen and her court chosen from high school girls. Various grades will present musical and dance numbers. Installation of P-T.A. officers for the year 52-53 will be held at the conclusion of the program.

Monday was registration day for 27 future first graders at the Elmer Wolfe school. Following the plan inaugurated last year a preview of a school day will be given all the future first graders on May 14. Any child, whether he or she was registered on Monday, who will start to school in the fall is invited to be present May 14th. Lunch will be provided for the children and their mothers. After lunch, while the children are sitting in a regular class room period, the mother will attend a mother's club meeting. Here a panel discussion will take place. The nutritional and emotional needs of a first grader will be discussed from all angles. This plan worked so well last year and such a marked improvement was shown in the first graders approach to his first year in school that it is to be used as a pattern again this year. The cooperation of all mothers of first graders will be greatly appreciated by the staff at the Elmer Wolfe school.

Union Bridge district and Middleburg district was well represented at the dinner Monday evening held at the American Legion Post, Westminster in honor of Congressman Lansdale Sasser. The Honorable Gordon Boone, a candidate for Congressman from the 2nd district was also present. Mr. Sasser is seeking the democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate. Members of the Union Bridge Girl Scouts attended a tri-state meeting on Saturday held in Baltimore for Girl Scouts from Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. Exhibits of all the Scouts activities was one of the main features.

Enjoy this beautiful spring weather but remember this is the danger period for forest fires. One cannot be reminded too often to burn brush at a safe distance from a woods, to not carelessly toss a lighted cigarette out of a car window and make sure your picnic fire is put out with water before leaving.

Malaria fever is the world's most prevalent disease, being responsible for up to 800 million cases annually and out of which number approximately three million deaths are reported.

If Congress is so anxious to impeach some one, it could start right among some of its own members for failure to vote for proper flood control measures. In this reporters estimation more harm was done the American people in allowing the best farming land in the United States to be carried to the Gulf of Mexico than was done the constitution by President Truman taking over the Steel Industry.

And to end this column with a billious note we want to comment for a minute on the Daughters of the American Revolution who have just ended their convention in Washington. Some of the resolutions they passed last week must have made the ghosts of Washington's ragged army march again. The women representing the D.A.R. surely must be descendants of the Continental Congress that refused to appropriate money to buy shoes and food for the barefooted and shivering army that crossed the Delaware. For they bear no resemblance to the men of Concord or Lexington. These men were revolutionists—not reactionaries. Oh, shades of Paul Revere! Will you ever ride again!

MARYLAND MUSINGS

Plan to do T. B. and Bang's testing before cattle are turned out to pasture.

Maryland farm products worth $19 million were exported in 1949, the last year for which figures are available.

Watch clover and alfalfa for spittlebug infestation, and plan to combat them with sprays. Get Fact Sheet 41, "Spittlebug Control on Clover and Alfalfa" from your County Agent.

Plan to fence pastures for rotational grazing. It will help you get more out of your pastures.

When ordering chicks, plan to allow more floor space per bird for summer broods.

Seed poultry ranges and save feed and promote flock health. Then, repair or build range shelters for poultry.

Clean manure out of barn lots and stables to destroy fly-breeding grounds.

Rubber jar rings attached to the bottom of scatter rugs will help guard against falls and similar accidents.

Steps should not be waxed unless special precautions are taken to prevent slips and falls. Rubber treads or carpeting will insure against accidents.

For hard cooked eggs at their best, simmer them from 25 to 30 minutes.

What I gave, I have; what I spent I had; what I kept I lost.—Old Epitaph

Plan to rewire or rearrange yard wiring if new farm uses of electricity are to be added this summer. Planning pays.

Broiler profits depend on efficient feed conversion.

Get equipment ready for shearing the sheep flock.

Check cellars and foundations for signs of termites.

Give the pasture a head start before turning livestock out.

Clean excess wax, propolis and debris out of beehives.

Do a good job of plowing with less fuel and power—make sure your plow is running straight.

When mixing ingredients and trying to read a recipe at the same time you'll find this makeshift recipe holder will come in handy. Set a folder handle down in a sturdy tumbler or tall cup and place the recipe on the lines.

Never put the dressing on a tossed salad until it's ready to be served. Leaf lettuce wilts very quickly after dressing is added.

Since nylon is strong, only sharp scissors, pins, and needles should be used in working with it.

Thought must be made better, and human life more fruitful, for the divine energy to move it onward and upward.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Farm Price System

OUT of the President's state of the union message, aside from his proposals to insure our defense, security and peace, the most important recommendation for rural America was his urgent demand for strengthening our system of farm price supports to prevent farmers from being penalized for all-out production of essential crops.

On this President Truman said: "Another thing the congress should do at this session is to strengthen our system of farm price supports to meet the defense emergency. The sliding scale in the price support law should not be allowed to penalize farmers for increasing production to meet defense needs. We should also find a new and less costly method for supporting perishable commodities than the law now provides."

The President further declared: "I think that most farmers understand that soil conservation and rural electrification and agricultural research are not frills or luxuries, but real necessities in order to boost our farm production."

The President listed these factors among the things we cannot ignore as vital to our national strength if we are to win the fight for peace, and he may have put his finger on the hottest "potato" which will come before this session of the congress. For with OPS clamping ceiling prices on potatoes, and with parity on feed grains being driven down by the new moving table of 10-year averages, the big farm organizations already are choosing up sides in a fight over kicking out the new parity formula and the sliding scale of supports, in favor of a 100 per cent loan on storables and a new law on perishables and other commodities.

New Law Suggested

It is reported that Sen. Allen J. Ellender, Louisiana, chairman of the senate agricultural committee, has indicated he favors a new farm price guarantee law similar to the old Steagall act. This act assured farmers a specific percentage of parity support on commodities for which large production increases were asked, without which farmers might be tempted to shift to more profitable crops. This would mean that feed grains and cotton would suffer.

As it has worked out, the present Aiken law has driven parity prices downward in this manner: Every time a farmer raises a bumper crop, resulting in driving the price down in the 10-year period of movable averages, that new low price drives the parity down, so that at the end of the 10 years, the farmer has a new all-time low parity price as a penalty for his hard work in raising increased crops.

Already, as of November 15, the wheat price parity, under the Aiken law, would be $2.11. There is a saving clause, called a transitional percentage, which permits only a 5 per cent drop a year, but even under this operation, most all parity prices with the exception of livestock and soy beans would have new parity lows.

Potato Supports

OPA recently set ceilings on white potatoes after potato prices more than doubled during the year. These ceilings are at producer and wholesale level and retail ceilings are to be initiated soon. But remember, just about a year ago, the government was "dumping" potatoes, hundreds of tons of them, so why should the price suddenly soar to almost 8 cents a pound retail a year later? This crop had already cost Commodity Credit Corporation millions of tax dollars in support payments.

Reason given is that after years of bumper crops, bad weather caused an abnormally short crop in 1951, only 325,000,000 bushels when usable demand is 335,000,000 bushels. The farmers had raised 429,000,000 bushels in 1950—that's when we were dumping potatoes, selling them as livestock feed, giving them to institutions, to school lunches, sending them overseas in export, etc. Department of Agriculture says that although there was some reduction in acreage in 1951, it was not enough to cause the shortage.

Hot dry weather in Maine and New York and the east coast, plus wet and cold growing season weather in Wisconsin, Michigan and other western potato growing areas accounted for the short crop. Potatoes being perishable there was little or no hold-over according to Department of Agriculture.

Farm Organizations

The National Grange and the Farm Bureau Federation have stoutly supported the new movable parity formula and the sliding scale of supports, while the National Farmers Union wants an entirely new parity formula and 100 per cent of parity supports. There is some indication, however, that The Grange and Farm Bureau may have "softened" a little on some basic crops such as corn, wheat and cotton.

RURAL HEALTH

School Sets Up Plan to Train Rural Doctors

DURHAM, N.C.—The rural health of North Carolina is benefiting from an exchange program for medical students and country doctors sponsored by Duke University.

In their senior year, Duke medical students are permitted to take a minimum "time-out" of two weeks to serve a tour of duty with a small town or country doctor in the state. In turn, the physicians to whom the students are "farned out" all are instructors in general medical practice at the University.

The program was instituted by Dean W. C. Davison, who began to pioneer in this field 20 years ago. "The program gives an insight into the problems of the country doctor on a give-and-take work basis," he said. "These students learn to examine, diagnose and treat, thus meeting the principal problems confronting a doctor in rural practice."

Dean Davison reports that students taking part in the program have written from the rural areas expressing their satisfaction with the lot of the modern country doctor.

Important Work

"You realize the importance of what you are doing after you have seen a family of nine children, none of whom has been immunized against anything," one letter said. "Doctoring is teaching and you have to be something of a philosopher out here; but you've also got to be right up to the minute on recent advances," another said.

One student reported his typical day consisted of seeing 30 to 50 outpatients, treating in-patients at the clinic and spending three to four hours at night making house calls.

A typical clinic in the rural areas consists of a one-story brick building with a business office, waiting room, examining rooms, laboratory, X-ray room, delivery room, kitchen and beds for six or seven people.

Pay in Produce

Remuneration from country patients covers a wide range. One clinic reported being paid four bushels of apples for delivering a baby. It is not uncommon to be paid in hams, chickens or produce, one exchange student wrote.

One of the most satisfying aspects of the country doctor's career is the spirit of cooperation among the people served, Dean Davison said. Frequently the local people are unable to contribute financially to building a clinic, but often they supply lumber and labor and make the clinic their own public project.

A student recently wrote to the dean, "You can't help but catch the infectious community spirit, and it is surely a field where love and the skill of healing go hand-in-hand."

Entire New York Town Is Quizzed About Health

ONEONTA, N.Y.—Columbia University is making a health survey—mental and physical—of an entire town. The community is Oneonta, N.Y.

The survey, which will include the entire adult population of the town, is for the purpose of measuring the health status of adults in a representative American community. It is believed to be the first of its kind.

Prof. Irving Lorge of Columbia, survey director, said the Public Health Service will be able to determine the approximate effect on a community of such emergencies as epidemics, floods and bombings as a result of the survey.

The investigation started as a random sampling of 600 families. The response to questionnaires was so overwhelming that it was decided to distribute them to every house in Oneonta.

The local hospital is encouraging citizens to cooperate in the survey and high-school and college students are helping with the work.

The questionnaire is self-administered, with 195 items relating to physical and mental illness. A blue form is provided for men, a pink for women. The information they provide is confidential.

Lorge explained the work will provide evidence of the "frequency of physical and emotional disability symptoms in a representative population."

"Since this is primarily a method study," he said, "it is expected that it will become another device for health screening. The data would lead to inferences about the requirements for medical care for the normal population."

Ohio Town Celebrates Premier in Big Way

BELLAIRE, O. — The town of Bellaire was the scene of a movie premiere recently that turned the community upside down.

Mrs. Anne Kuchinka, a dentist's wife, wrote a letter for the contest: "Why I would like to have 'My Favorite Spy' premiered in my home town." She won and more than 40 Hollywood performers and officials, including Bob Hope, Gloria Grahame, Jan Sterling, Rhonda Fleming, Jerry Colonna and Les Brown and his band invaded the town.

SHE'S THE SAFEST LADY ON THE ROAD

With Chrysler POWER STEERING plus Chrysler POWER BRAKES

At the wheel of a new Chrysler, you have quicker, surer control of motion than you've ever had in a car. You can't imagine what it's like till you drive it! With this full-time power steering, hydraulic power does 4/5 the steering work at your gentle pull on the wheel! You also turn the wheel 1/3 less distance. And on rough roads, soft shoulders, snow or sand, "wheel fight" just doesn't happen. Your hand actually has five times the usual steering control, through every minute of every mile... with the same sure "wheel feel" at all times!

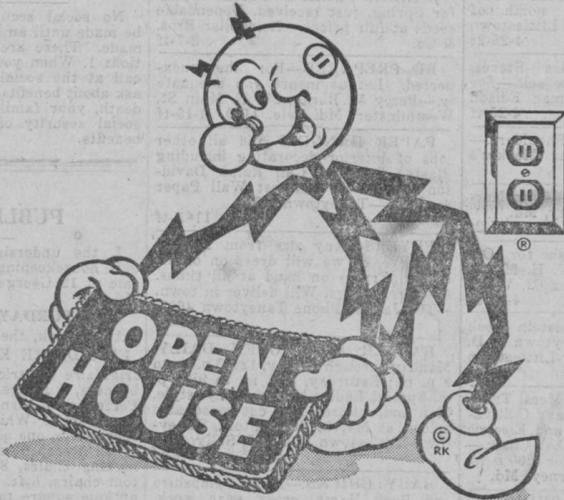

With this safer way to steer, power brakes make stops at all speeds safer and easier, too. Power from the engine "boosts" every touch of your toe. Actually you stop with up to 2/3 less foot pressure than non-power brakes. You can bring your Chrysler to a halt from full speeds in many feet less distance than other cars of comparable size can stop. See your Chrysler dealer soon. Feel for yourself why thousands of owners say Chrysler offers the two greatest advances in many years in driving safety and driving ease!

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Exodus 20:1-6; Luke 14: 16-20; 25:27; 16:13-15.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 148.

Idols Up-to-Date

Lesson for April 27, 1952

SOME PEOPLE THINK Jesus somehow did away with the Ten Commandments. Nothing of the sort. He showed them in new lights, showed them in a depth and height few if any had suspected; but he had no intention of abolishing them. One thing he seldom did — merely repeat the Commandments. That was hardly necessary, as most of his hearers knew them by heart. We fail not so much because we don't know what they mean.

Dr. Foreman

To the First Commandment, Thou shalt have no other gods before me, Jesus gave a startling new meaning. Readers of the Gospels will observe (and not only in this week's Scripture by any means) that Jesus demanded supreme loyalty, absolutely without exception. Christians take this seriously, when they are serious Christians, and we accept the tremendous claim sounding through such words as "if any man hate not . . . he cannot be my disciple."

In short, Christians understand that loyalty to God means loyalty to Christ. Taking orders from God means taking orders from Christ. We do not believe this to be idolatry because when we worship and honor Christ we do not pay this tribute to a mere man but to the One God who was one with his Son, and in him.

The "Almighty Dollar"

THE KIND of idols the ancient Israelites worshipped are no more. At least we see no more gilded calves, no more sacred pillars or brass snakes.

But modern man worships idols still, and even Christians are tempted to do so, just as much as any ancient Israelite. One of these perennial idols, of course, is money.

We measure success with a dollar yardstick; a man will do almost anything, not only not to be poor but even in order not to seem to be a little worse off than his neighbor. We should never forget Martin Luther's definition of a god: Whatever a man hangs his heart on and depends on, that is his god.

How many people hang their heart on property? It is not that money and what it will buy are evil things; the evil begins when we take a good thing and look at it as if it were the best thing.

The Crowd

ANOTHER POPULAR IDOL goes by various names. The most common name for this many-headed idol is "everybody." When we let "everybody" make our minds up for us; when we feel we just must do something, or have something, that "every one" else has or does; when we decide on what's right and what's wrong by taking a poll, or counting noses, then we are putting people in the place of God.

You can't get "ought" out of "is." You can't find what is right to be done merely by looking at what is done.

It is very poor arithmetic that adds a million wrong acts and concludes that if a million people act that way it must be right! Everybody may be right, everybody may be wrong; but in either case it is God who is Judge; not man, not a million men. "One with God is a majority."

The Last Idol

ABOUT THE LAST IDOL a man ever throws away is one that is hardest to see, because to see it you have to look at yourself. The idol to which each of us bows down — far to often; the idol that takes God's place over and over again; this is none other than a man's own self.

"I am the master of my fate," he says, "I am the captain of my soul." Most sins come about in this way, don't they? Essentially that is what sin means, saying to God, "Get out of my way, let me by. Stop giving me orders, let me run my own affairs as I see fit."

Not that a sinning man consciously says such a thing, but when a man steers by his own cloudy notions instead of God's eternal Light, he has the wrong pilot in the cockpit. Perhaps the most foolish of all things is to try to use God, in such a way that these idols may smile upon us!

We want God to bless us so that we can become rich; we want God to make us popular with the crowd; we demand that God help us in our own selfish plans. So even our prayers may be idolatrous.

(Continued from first page) T.V." And then she added, "No one is loved as much as that man and no one on radio or T. V. has his fine character!" Sumpin? Now, this is for that man in your life and I do think he should be made to read the following—A letter arrived from a lady whose husband is head of exactly four kinds of business ventures.

Dear Observer:—I have a good husband in one way as to morally speaking but when it comes to having a companion as a husband, I am the most lonely woman in the world. We have no children and I am up in years and all my husband thinks of doing is just making money which I do not want. What good is the money if he should die and leave me fixed well substantially? It is his love and companionship that I desire. We never go anywhere of an evening together. My heart aches so at times when I see other women have everything—their husbands with them at night. I am an excellent housekeeper and a good cook. I am really worse off than if I was a widow!

Now, Gentlemen that letter does not need a reply as the reply is right in those words in that letter! I hope that it will be of aid to other husbands to remedy conditions if this is existing in your home. Then to top that one—this—a young wife sent this lovely Greeting card! "I Would not Want to Wash Dishes for any one else in the world but you!" Here is a very and most unusual unique calling card of a Minister in that State of Montana (Methodist of course)! On the reverse side—

At 45 miles per hour sing, "Highways, are Happy Ways!" At 55 miles sing—"I'm but a stranger here, Heaven is my Home!" At 65 miles sing, "Nearer, My God to Thee!" At 75 miles, sing—"When the Roll is Called up Yonder, I'll be there!" At 85 miles, sing—"Lord, I'm Coming Home!" This card has brought some people to church to see what the Pastor is like and they've come again! That "Durling" man wrote in his column of the News-Post last week that the best Sea-Food Restaurants rated just this way—Baltimore City was third in place! Well, we may not have as many restaurants but when it comes to Sea Food—Ummmmmm—what place could beat Eastern Shore? Eh?

Here is a really cute one—Your Observer is arranging and presenting a "Tom Thumb Wedding" and one adorable child of five who is to be one of the Bride's Maids said to her Grandmother, "Oh, does that mean Granny that I can bring a little boy home to live with me after the wedding is over?" So long, Folks. Have a grand week end. Be good and be most careful especially as these glorious days keep coming for outdoor driving. Don't drink, don't smoke, don't hang on to the roof of your car with your left hand and I beg of you don't speed and don't just think of yourself. If the other fellow driver wants to get passed don't try to race him! Until next week D.V., I am,

Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER

T. H. S. ALUMNI MEETS

On April 21, 1952 thirteen members of the Taneytown High School Alumni Association attended the regular monthly meeting in the high school. The meeting was called to order by the President James Fair. The Secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and they stood approved as read.

A final report was given on basketball with the girls winning 6 and losing 1 while the boys won 3 and lost 7. Doris Harner was appointed to contact Steele's, Eddie's and King's Cleaners for prices for cleaning the basketball uniforms. Janet Royer and David Wilhide are to collect all the uniforms and see that they are cleaned.

It was reported to the association that after some time, due to the efforts of the association and the P.T.A. that the water pipes have been changed in the high school resulting in cold drinking water.

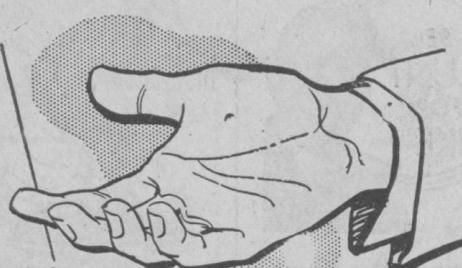

A cabinet to be used for the purpose of filing equipment and supplies was purchased for the association by Francis Myers was reported by the President.

The painting of the cafeteria in the high school was again brought to the attention of the members and it was decided that we should again urge the committee in charge to contact the members of the Board of Education in the near future.

More plans for the annual banquet to be held June 21, 1952, were discussed. Cards to be sent out are to be given out to individuals at the next meeting to be addressed and mailed some time around the first of June. The menu for the annual banquet is to be the same as last year. No definite cost was presented at this time. The program committee had nothing definite to report, but they are working to try to present a very entertaining program again this year. Motion made and passed that persons who participate in the program whether alumni members or not should be given their meal free.

Refreshments were then served and meeting adjourned.

An angry little man bounced into the postmaster's office. "For some time now I've been pestered with threatening letters," he shouted, "and I want something done about it!" "I'm sure we can help," soothed the postmaster. "That's a federal offense. Have you any idea who is sending you these letters?" "Indeed I have," snapped the little man. "They are all coming from those pesky income-tax people."
