GOLDEN RULE CLASS MEETS

The Golden Rule Sunday School Class held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Russell Sulcer, on Tuesday, August 5th. The meeting opened with singing of hymn "Faith of Our Fathers." Scripture was read by Mrs. Mohney followed by Lord's Prayer in unison. The hymn Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us was then sung. Little George Heffner gave a recitation and little Martha Harmon sang "Jesus Loves Me."

Minutes of previous meeting was read and approved followed by roll call and collection of dues. Several orders of business were discussed and the class approved a contribution toward the furnace debt. The meeting adjourned after singing "Stand Up for Jesus." The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Devibiss. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

TRIP TO WEST COAST

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuss returned last Saturday from a trip to the West Coast going by way of S. Dakota, Yellowstone Park and as far north as Grand Coulee Dam in the State of Washington. Visited the Power Plant there. This dam furnishes more electricity than any other in the world.

A nephew of Mr. Fuss worked on this dam in 1938 while it was being built.

They continued South by the coastal route to Covina, California, near Los Angeles, where they visited Mr. Fuss' brother, returning home by way of Salt Lake City and Rocky Mt. National Park, in Colorado.

CEMETERY DRIVEWAY BUILT

At last, the much discussed need of a driveway in the Keysville Union Cemetery, has been realized. The macadam driveway was completed last week by Mr. Wilson Utz, and adds greatly to the appearance as well as convenience of the cemetery. The directors of the Union Cemetery Association of Keysville, Inc., are gratefully indebted to the four solicitors, Mr. Roy Kiser, Mr. Lloyd Wilhide, Mr. Clarence Stonesifer and Mrs. Glenn Gresham who contacted all lot holders and friends. The Cemetery Association is most grateful to the donors. The driveway was completed free of debt.

PINEY CREEK PRESBYTERIAN BROTHERHOOD

A very enjoyable meeting of the Brotherhood was held at 8 p. m., Aug. 11th.

The attendance was good and the entertainment was superb.

After the regular business meeting the Brotherhood was entertained in a delightful manner by Mr. Ernest Dunbar. His subject was his recent trip to Mexico, which he enlarged on in a highly educational way and was illustrated by moving pictures. One member was heard to remark that Mr. Dunbar's experience and display was worth one hundred dollars to anyone of the brotherhood. A rising vote of thanks was extended to our guest. After Mr. Dunbar's address a plentiful supply of refreshments was served to all present.

The Brotherhood was organized Oct. 26, 1926, by the late Rev. Thomas Brown, which makes it the oldest in this section. Through the years it has been headed by presidents who have been able men of forward looking vision and having always worked for the good of the church and community.

A recent House Armed Services Committee report said that we may be spending ourselves into "a bloodless victory" for Russia, because continued defense spending at the present rate could bankrupt the nation.

CARROLL COUNTY TEACHERS APPOINTED FOR 1952-1953

The Board of Education of Carroll County through the office of the county superintendent, S. M. Jenness announces plans for the opening of all county schools September 2, 1952. Meetings for teachers prior to the opening will be held as follows: Aug. 22, Conference for all principals; Aug. 26-27, Conference for new teachers and principals, Westminster High School; August 28, General meeting for all teachers, Westminster High School; August 29, Principals and teachers in schools to prepare for opening. Anticipated enrollment in county will be 8400, an increase of 500 or more from June enrollment. Number of anticipated first grade pupils in county will be 900. Of this number 225 are expected to enroll in two primary schools in Westminster.

The teaching staff of 1952-53 is expected to include approximately forty-four teachers new to the county. This number is considerably less than the number of new teachers for 1951-52.

The large increase in county enrollment will be due to continued high enrollment for beginners. The number has increased from 516 first graders in 1943 to approximately 900 in 1952.

County school buildings will be taxed to capacity in practically every location. Special difficulty in accommodating the enrollment will be encountered especially in Westminster, Sykesville, Manchester, Hampstead, Mt. Airy and Taneytown. Present building operations at Manchester will afford some relief when ready for occupancy. Proposed building additions at Sykesville will partly relieve the situation at this school but are not expected to be completed before summer of 1953. The Board of Education hopes for increased financial support during the coming year to bring about improvements at other county centers.

The number of teachers who will be assigned to positions in the county for 1952-53 will be 321 and are as follows: Taneytown High School—John Manspeaker, Principal; Mrs. Urith Shipley, Vice-Principal; Helen Bankard, Mrs. Marceline Berchok, Mrs. Esther Bowling, Charles Ecker, Donald Feiser, Mrs. Jacqueline Hering, Robert Kersey, Robert Leiter, Mrs. Adelaide MacDonald, Ned Musser, Mrs. Catherine Myers, Bart Norman, Mrs. Virginia Sanders, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright and Mrs. Estella Yingling, Taneytown Elementary; Stanley Stahl, Principal;

A recent House Armed Services Committee report said that we may be spending ourselves into "a bloodless victory" for Russia, because continued defense spending at the present rate could bankrupt the nation.

BLOOD DONORS RESPOND TO CALL

Bloodmobile Was in Taneytown Tuesday

The visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Taneytown last Tuesday proved a very successful operation under the leadership of Ernest W. Dunbar. According to Mrs. Ruth Buffington, Executive Secretary of Carroll County Chapter, American Red Cross, there were eighty-five pints of whole blood collected for the Armed Forces Blood Program.

Much credit for organizing the donors who came, and arranging for the use of the Taneytown High school for the bloodmobile set-up goes to Ernest Dunbar and his able assistants the local members of the Chapter's staff aid group. The Richardson Motor Company, Washington Road, Westminster furnished motor transportation for many of the donors.

It is gratifying to learn of the many citizens of the Taneytown and Uniontown areas who have not forgotten the men now in service, or who may enter later, and whose lives may be saved by the thoughtful generosity of those who come to the high school Tuesday. Dr. Riesman, the bloodmobile physician, expressed deep satisfaction over the splendid response of the people of Taneytown and vicinity.

The next visit of the bloodmobile to Carroll County in the interests of the armed forces will be September 8 at Mt. Airy, Md.

KIWANIS NEWS

The regular Wednesday evening meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Taneytown held at Taney Inn was called to order by President, Howell B. Royer. Prayer was offered by Raymond Wright. Group singing was led by Raymond Wright with Mrs. Wallace Yingling as piano accompanist.

Mr. Raymond Selby member of the Mt. Airy, Md., Club and his wife were present.

Judge William Anderson member of the Pikeville Club, who was presented to the assemblage by Carel E. Frock, who had charge of the evening's program, was the guest speaker. The day happened to be the Judge's birthday and a large birthday cake with lighted candles graced his table. He selected and read the speech given by International President, Claude B. Hellmann at the Convention of Kiwanians at Seattle, Washington in June.

John H. Skiles will have charge of next week's program.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

The Keysville Evangelical Lutheran Missionary Society began its meeting Tuesday evening by singing, "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past." The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Vernon Schaeffer and prayer was offered by Mrs. Ralph Shoemaker. The topic "Of One Blood" was discussed by the leaders. Mrs. Schaeffer and Mrs. Shoemaker and eleven members discussed Christianity and Human Relations, The Christian Approach, Negro Lutherans, and Interracial Service in New York City. It is hoped a christian fellowship across racial barriers was developed by the group.

Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide and Mrs. Floyd Wiley had as their special numbers two selections by little Wayne Wilhide accompanied by his sister, Evelyn. He delighted the audience by singing, "It Is No Secret" and "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown."

The thanksgiving service was conducted by the Thankoffering chairman, Mrs. Clyde Wilhide. The meeting was closed by singing, "Now Thank We All Our God", and the Missionary benediction. The regular business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Gregg Kiser after which the social committee consisting of Mrs. Russell Stonesifer, Miss Vallie Shorb and Mrs. Chas. Cluts served cake, cookies and iced tea.

There were thirty five members and visitors present, an indication we are having cooler weather. Glad to see you out and come again. Will be looking for you next meeting.

TRIP TO MIDDLE WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baumgardner, near town and Mr. and Mrs. Lake Baumgardner and son Harry of Baltimore returned home from a trip that covered 2646 miles. The party was gone nine days and traveled through Maryland, W. Va., Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Pa.

Visited Mr. Ridge Claybaugh, formerly of Taneytown, who now lives in Sandwich, Ill. Went to county fair in Wapakoneta, Ohio. 4-H CLUB WEEK

Annual Event Held at University of Maryland

4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland is over, but it will not soon be forgotten by the eighty-two 4-Hers representing Carroll County who attended it. Those "Five Glorious Days" were filled to the brim with classes, activities, and just plain fun, providing a year's supply of memories to each 4-Her present.

Club Week is an annual event in the Maryland 4-H program. Winners in the many different county 4-H activities compete in state contests during Club Week, meeting stiff competition from all over the state. Classes are held throughout the week on all phases of club work, in which state experts teach club members the latest developments and procedures in the different fields.

But Club Week is not all work! Afternoons and evenings are filled with guided recreation, classes in arts and crafts, chorus singing, square and folk dancing, and many other interesting and informative activities. One afternoon was spent on tours to Washington; one tour went to the Zoo, one to the Washington Monument and the Capital, and the third covered the baseball game, Washington Senators vs. New York Yankees. An exciting way to spend an afternoon.

Some of the highlights of the week's events included speeches by Dr. H. C. Byrd, President, University of Maryland; Mrs. Florence Low, Home Demonstration Agent Leader, Maryland Extension Service; and Dr. Gordon M. Cairns, Dean of Agriculture, University of Maryland. Another major event was the State Style Revue—"Riches from Stitches"—a professional looking fashion show featuring county dress revue winners modeling their blue ribbon garments. During the impressive All-Star consecration ceremony, Nancy Devibiss, Shirley Hoff, Margaret Ann Young, and John Arbaugh were accepted as new members.

Many honors and prize ribbons were brought back to Carroll county by its representatives. In the girls division Carroll county was outstanding, leaving a high record of excellent work. In the state judging contest, Barbara Myers of the Meadowbranch Club won the champion ribbon for the best judging, while she and Anita Forward of the Smallwood Club took the champion ribbon for top team judging in Home Management. Nancy Lee Brehm, of the Hillsdale Club, and Armita Dell, of Smallwood Club, received champion ribbon in the food judging class. Mary Lou Jackson of Bachman's Valley Club and Joan Stansbury from the Hampstead Club won a blue ribbon in clothing judging. Loretta Leister of Hillsdale club received a red ribbon and Julia Ann Lockard of Sam's Creek received a blue ribbon in judging home furnishing.

Carroll county girls did as well in foods demonstrations as in judging. Barbara Myers again won champion, this time for her individual Dairy foods demonstration. The team Dairy Foods Demonstration done by Corinne Hoff and Nancy Lindsay, both of Sam's Creek Club, won a blue ribbon. Joan Stansbury, Hampstead Club, won a blue ribbon for her individual cake demonstration, and received the champion placing in the cake exhibit. Freda Davidson, also of Hampstead Club, took blue ribbon placing in her cherry pie demonstration, doing so nicely that she has been chosen to do her demonstration over television, channel eleven, Tuesday, August 12, at 1:15 P. M.

In the state Style Revue, and in the clothing contest, Carroll County claimed one top winner—Ruth Ensor, from the Sam's Creek Club, who was not only one of the top five state winners chosen, but is First Alternate, or second to the winner! She modeled the beautiful winter coat she had made, Nancy Lindsay, also from the Sam's Creek Club, won a blue ribbon for the construction and modeling of her party dress. Marie Andree Summers from Hillsdale Club received a red ribbon for her wool tailored suit.

Carroll County can be proud of its winners! It was well represented at Club Week, and despite heat and rainy weather the twenty boy 4-Hers and the sixty-two girls club members enjoyed every minute of it. State 4-H Club Week is an invaluable experience for those who attend.

LION NEWS

On August 6, 1952 a number of members of the Taneytown Lions Club and their guests attended a ball game in Washington, between the Senators and the Yankees.

The Taneytown Lions Club met in regular bi-monthly session Tuesday evening, August 12, 1952 at Taney Inn, with President Singleton Rensburg, presiding.

Following the opening ceremonies and dinner a panel discussion concerning the duties of the various committees and their duties for the present year was held and the members received some very valuable information on Lions duties to their Club and their community.

"Confiscating all taxable income over $8,000 would yield only an additional $420,000,000 — or just enough to run the government for 22 days."—Senator George of Georgia.

HERE'S A KNOTTY PROBLEM

The President customarily submits his new budget to each session of Congress about the middle of January.

If we have a new President—from either party—next January, he will find the new budget already prepared. Work has been proceeding on this complicated business for many months already.

The new President, if any, will take over on Jan. 20. In the past, the budget has always been submitted before that date. Presumably, a new President will want to take a look at the budget before he supports it.

Will President Truman submit the budget, and if so, will the new President recall it to look it over? Or will the new President submit the budget, and if so, how long will it take him to review it?

There is no precedent for this situation. No new President has taken over at inauguration time since 1933—and back in those days, the inauguration was on March 4, when budget work by Congress was already well under way.

Anyway, here's the answer, as given by the Bureau of the Budget:

Congress is supposed to convene on Jan. 3, unless it sets another date. The law requires the President to submit the budget within 15 days of that date, which means that the latest date for budget normally would be January 18, two days before the inauguration of the new President. Therefore, the Bureau expects that President Truman will submit the new budget.

The new President presumably would not recall the whole budget, but it is quite likely that he would submit special messages to Congress recommending changes in specific parts of the budget. This was done in 1933 by President Roosevelt. Just how much budget reshuffling will go on next year, no one knows.—National Chamber of Commerce.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y., TIMES: "The greater the amount of aid, the greater the control exacted by the Federal and State governments, and the greater the amounts levied in taxes. It is all part of the super-spending program and part of the program that is constantly exerting pressure on the people to become wards of the government.... This creeping paralysis is the curse of the nation today fostered by men greedy for power who know that nobody ever gets anything for nothing, unless it is obtained through direct theft, or other forms of dishonesty."

DES PLAINES, ILL., SUBURBAN TIMES: "Mull over this one: In one month a certain meat packing company paid out $200,000 in overtime to clerical workers sorting over OPS records, although 90 per cent of the plant's products were selling below ceiling prices. Is it things like this that make prices stay up?"

VASHON, WASHINGTON, NEWS-RECORD: "Confident that it can meet no effective opposition, Big Government invariably grows reckless. The steel crisis furnishes a good example. First the steel industry's executives were denounced. Then they were informed that the government would raise the steelworkers' wages unless the industry settled the dispute promptly—and obviously, on the union's terms. Only the timely intervention of the Supreme Court's injunction proved that we still have a government of laws—not a dictatorship. Let's keep it that way!"

HANKINSON, N. D., NEWS: "The newspapers of the United States welcome the long awaited court decision completely vindicating the Lake Charles, Louisiana, newspapermen who were charged with and tried for allegedly defaming the characters of known gamblers and public officials who were in cahoots with them....

Newspapers have been bucking a quiet though persistent trend of officials throughout the country, from the President clear down to village halls and school board meeting places, to do business behind closed doors without public scrutiny."

SOMERVILLE, MASS., JOURNAL:

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance! Thus the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, indicted King George III, citing these 'tax-eaters' as one of the causes of the Revolution. Even in 1952, one might say that the plaint of the Colonists has a familiar ring."

CENTRAL VALLEY, N. Y., ORANGE COUNTY COURIER: "The American public has... invested a billion dollars in the TVA and is still contributing through taxes each year to sustain its various activities. The public is gradually getting wise to the fact that slightly lower rates from government-owned utilities are only made possible by paying the difference out of taxes—so, 'what we make on the peanuts, we lose on the bananas.'"

A RIGHT AND A DUTY

The non-Partisan Retailers' Nationwide Get-Out-The-Vote Committee has come up with a catchy and excellent slogan this year. It is "Vote As You Please—But Please Vote."

The coming election is of tremendous importance—it will determine the fateful courses that this nation will take in domestic and foreign policy. On both sides, the candidates, their managers, and their partisans have promised driving, fighting campaigns. Far-reaching and opposed philosophies of government are the real stake in this election. It will be a tragedy if the decision is made, as in the past, by a minority of our people.

Over the centuries, rivers of blood have been shed in the fight for the right of franchise—the right to a secret ballot. For this is the first and the last defense against tyranny. Without the right to vote as conscience and mind dictates, men are slaves—the servants of ruthless masters whose powers know no limit.

We have the right—yet it is common in this country for but half or less of the eligible voters to go to the polling booth on election day. One vote doesn't matter, they say: Yet a bare handful of votes can determine crucial contests—as recently as 1940 a U. S. Senator was elected by a margin of just 20 votes in the huge state of Texas. And when the "my vote doesn't matter" attitude is held by millions of people, we have government by the minority, and no one can say that the will of the people is dominant.

Vote As You Please—But Please Vote.—Industrial News Review.

All that is worth reckoning is what we do, and the best of everything is not too good, but is economy and riches.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Can you recall the name of the most flamboyant soldier, poet, historian and explorer of the 16th Century? If not, it might help to know he is the man who laid down his cape to keep Queen Elizabeth's feet from getting wet. That's it, Sir Walter Raleigh! Despite all his great achievements, Sir Walter is best remembered for a single act of courtesy. Others will remember, too, if you are courteous and co-operative on the party line. Because courtesy is contagious, it helps everyone get better party-line service.

The first TV star was former President Herbert C. Hoover. On April 7, 1927, Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, was viewed in New York as he talked on the telephone from Washington. At the other end of the line was Walter S. Gifford, then president of A. T. & T. This was the world's first demonstration of television over a telephone line. It was the forerunner of today's great television industry, which operates over Bell System's Radio-Relay and Coaxial Cable facilities.

BUICK'S POWER STEERING?
It's the big NEWS of the year

THERE is a host of things that endear a ROADMASTER to anyone who loves to drive.

There's the might of its Fireball 8 Engine—most powerful ever put in a Buick.

There's the thrift of its Airpower carburetor—a four-barrel automatic that literally brings increased power right out of thin air.

There's its hushed and luxurious silence—its poised and level ride that cost a million dollars to develop—and the infinite smoothness of its Dynaflo Drive.

But the thing that has brought the most cheers for this big and obedient beauty is Buick's version of Power Steering.*

Gone is the tug of turning, parking, maneuvering in small space.

Power Steering takes over the effort of turning the front wheels—makes it a one-hand operation.

Do you have to learn to drive all over again if you have this new Buick feature?

You definitely do not. On the open road, you have that same sure sense of command that you've always had. Coming out of a curve, you can loosen your grip, and the front wheels right themselves just as they do on every Buick.

But you'll notice this: When you suddenly hit loose dirt or sand—or a stretch of rough road—Power Steering smoothly goes into action—helps take up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and driving safer.

Wouldn't you like to try out this newest wonder—on a ROADMASTER or a SUPER? You say the word, and we'll do the rest.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

Well your correspondent and the weather man got things a bit mixed up for the Rev. Held 62nd birthday party, but the group of about 40 found him in his corn patch and as his wife planned for him it was a complete surprise for him and those who ventured out went to the Mt. Joy Parish House with their refreshments and all report a very pleasant evening. The affair was sponsored by the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's church here and they wish for him many more birthdays here in their midst.

W. and Ladies Auxiliary, Harney. One of the big prizes to be given will be television. Meats will be served and refreshments of all kinds on sale, fish pond, etc. Come help the good cause along.

Before the thoughtful voter goes to the polls this coming November, he owes it to himself to read the "Incredible Tale" by Gerald Johnson. Whether he is a Republican or Democrat, this book will help him understand fully what the real problems are that this country of ours must face in the future. This book is just not full of statistics, but full of facts that read like a glowing tale of adventure. Gerald Johnson is one of the shrewdest writers of our time. In the 294 pages of "Incredible Tale," Mr. Johnson writes of the 20th Century American as a man of sense, with an enlarging awareness of democracy and his responsibility to make it work. This sense has been acquired the hard way, in a series of decades complacent, rich, poor, and supremely critical. In these pages the average American appears in his triumphs—and in his moments of absurdity, hypocrisy and ignorance, in his struggles with normalcy, depression, prohibition, the New Deal and the Fair Deal. It has never for a minute been dull and Gerald Johnson, re-creating an era, has set down all the abundant and fascinating proof that Americans have escaped "the most deplorable of all fates—to die without ever having lived."

The Mt. Union Lutheran Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting in the parish house Monday evening. There were ten members present with Mrs. Ruth Bair presiding. A bake sale was planned for the near future. Linda Miller and Mary Royer entertained the members each with a piano solo. Several of the members were absent due to illness.

Ardel Roberson who was operated on last Tuesday for double hernia at the University Hospital has been seriously ill, but is slowly improving now.

The farmer and his wife are the leading citizens in any country, whether they live in America, Europe or Asia. This must be true for come drought, disaster, war or peace they cling to this land. From the acres they love, they wrest from it their livelihood and the food that is needed to keep the people in the cities from starvation. Unlike the city, they toil long hours, for not yet has the 40 hour week come to the farm, although it will in time. The farmer and his wife are seldom wealthy, though they produce wealth in the form of rich green farmlands, fat cattle and growing crops. They develop along with their crops a philosophy too, that sustains them through the flowers and the weather falls them, or the insects invade them or the turn of events goes against them. They possess a faith in nature and themselves that keeps their eyes on tomorrow and their hopes to eternity. Governments rise and fall, kingdoms pass in decay, but the keepers of the soil will plow and reap to the end of time itself.—Ruth Roelke.

Did you ever see a rainbow on the ground? I did Tuesday when I walked down the garden path belonging to the William Brickers of Taneytown and saw a brilliant display of Portulacas or Rose Moss as so many people call them. There was every color of the rainbow except along the path and a more striking picture of color is hard to imagine. The flowers are like little roses and the plants will grow in any well drained soil exposed to the sun.

Governor McKeldin was wrapped sharply across his knuckles in a rebuke by the Washington Post for his unstatesman-like criticism of Gov. Stevenson. It was a justified rebuke, because our Governor is in a position to know how desperate is the need of our government for high class men. There isn't a mortal living that doesn't have some flaw in his make up or made some mistake in his youth. If we are going to subject every man seeking public office to a microscopic inspection, or hold against him every minor offense he has ever committed, then indeed no one will seek public duty. Governor McKeldin should remember that the Book he can so ably quote says: "He that hath not sinned may cast the first stone."

Some people like elephants never forget. The trouble is they remember the wrong things. For instance, some time ago a friend of mine poured out a tale of woe. It was a justified grievance—the catch was it had happened 10 years ago. All of us clutter up our minds and hearts with cobwebs from past mistakes and errors. It would be a different kind of world if each night before going to bed we could throw out with the trash and garbage all peevish, fancied insults, fears and guilts we harbor during the day and start the new day with a clear mind and a happy heart. It is a dream of course, but a nice dream that may in time come true.

A good many people must find themselves in the same spot I was in last week. I became suddenly ill with chills, nausea and a feeling that things were not quite right. The family suggested a doctor. I began to do some figuring. Was I ill enough to spend 8 dollars for a night call? I decided I wasn't. Maybe that is the reason the doctors put up their prices. They figure the patient will use his arithmetic before calling them and all will profit. The patient saves his money—the doctors saves their time.

Roland Forney was given a surprise birthday party Tuesday evening by his family and friends.

Miss Marlene John is visiting her aunt and uncle, the Cleon Wolfes this week.

The local canning factory at Key-mar reports that all crops are far below normal this year due to the dry weather. The pea crop yielded about one fourth of the average with corn and tomatoes also below the average. According to reports from all sections of the country the housewife is in for a rough time as far as prices and quantity of fruits and vegetables are concerned. One bright note is that a plum tree planted eight years ago at Merry Knoll bore fruit for the first time this year and produced one bushel of perfect red plums.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Wolfe attended the wedding of Miss Lois James and Robert Rameburg at the Brethren church in Frederick Sunday afternoon. A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orner and son Robert Craig, of Emmitsburg, were dinner guests of Mrs. Margaret Orner Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Orner and son Larry and daughter, Beverly, of Gettysburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Koontz and daughter, Jane, Emmitsburg, were visitors of Mrs. Orner Sunday eve.

Well your correspondent and the weather man got things a bit mixed up for the Rev. Held 62nd birthday party, but the group of about 40 found him in his corn patch and as his wife planned for him it was a complete surprise for him and those who ventured out went to the Mt. Before the thoughtful voter goes to the polls this coming November, he owes it to himself to read the "Incredible Tale" by Gerald Johnson. Whether he is a Republican or Democrat, this book will help him understand fully what the real problems are that this country of ours must face in the future. This book is just not full of statistics, but full of facts that read like a glowing tale of adventure. Gerald Johnson is one of the shrewdest writers of our time. In the 294 pages of "Incredible Tale," Mr. Johnson writes of the 20th Century American as a man of sense, with an enlarging awareness of democracy and his responsibility to make it work. This sense has been acquired the hard way, in a series of decades complacent, rich, poor, and supremely critical. In these pages the average American appears in his triumphs—and in his moments of absurdity, hypocrisy and ignorance, in his struggles with normalcy, depression, prohibition, the New Deal and the Fair Deal. It has never for a minute been dull and Gerald Johnson, re-creating an era, has set down all the abundant and fascinating proof that Americans have escaped "the most deplorable of all fates—to die without ever having lived."

The Mt. Union Lutheran Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting in the parish house Monday evening. There were ten members present with Mrs. Ruth Bair presiding. The farmer and his wife are the leading citizens in any country, whether they live in America, Europe or Asia. This must be true for come drought, disaster, war or peace they cling to this land. From the acres they love, they wrest from it their livelihood and the food that is needed to keep the people in the cities from starvation. Unlike the city, they toil long hours, for not yet has the 40 hour week come to the farm, although it will in time. The farmer and his wife are seldom wealthy, though they produce wealth in the form of rich green farmlands, fat cattle and growing crops. They develop along with their crops a philosophy too, that sustains them through the flowers and the weather falls them, or the insects invade them or the turn of events goes against them. They possess a faith in nature and themselves that keeps their eyes on tomorrow and their hopes to eternity. Governments rise and fall, kingdoms pass in decay, but the keepers of the soil will plow and reap to the end of time itself.—Ruth Roelke.

Did you ever see a rainbow on the ground? I did Tuesday when I walked down the garden path belonging to the William Brickers of Taneytown and saw a brilliant display of Portulacas or Rose Moss as so many people call them. There was every color of the rainbow except along the path and a more striking picture of color is hard to imagine. The flowers are like little roses and the plants will grow in any well drained soil exposed to the sun.

Governor McKeldin was wrapped sharply across his knuckles in a rebuke by the Washington Post for his unstatesman-like criticism of Gov. Stevenson. It was a justified rebuke, because our Governor is in a position to know how desperate is the need of our government for high class men. There isn't a mortal living that doesn't have some flaw in his make up or made some mistake in his youth. If we are going to subject every man seeking public office to a microscopic inspection, or hold against him every minor offense he has ever committed, then indeed no one will seek public duty. Governor McKeldin should remember that the Book he can so ably quote says: "He that hath not sinned may cast the first stone."

Some people like elephants never forget. The trouble is they remember the wrong things. For instance, some time ago a friend of mine poured out a tale of woe. It was a justified grievance—the catch was it had happened 10 years ago. All of us clutter up our minds and hearts with cobwebs from past mistakes and errors. It would be a different kind of world if each night before going to bed we could throw out with the trash and garbage all peevish, fancied insults, fears and guilts we harbor during the day and start the new day with a clear mind and a happy heart. It is a dream of course, but a nice dream that may in time come true.

A good many people must find themselves in the same spot I was in last week. I became suddenly ill with chills, nausea and a feeling that things were not quite right. The family suggested a doctor. I began to do some figuring. Was I ill enough to spend 8 dollars for a night call? I decided I wasn't. Maybe that is the reason the doctors put up their prices. They figure the patient will use his arithmetic before calling them and all will profit. The patient saves his money—the doctors saves their time.

The local canning factory at Key-mar reports that all crops are far below normal this year due to the dry weather. The pea crop yielded about one fourth of the average with corn and tomatoes also below the average. According to reports from all sections of the country the housewife is in for a rough time as far as prices and quantity of fruits and vegetables are concerned. One bright note is that a plum tree planted eight years ago at Merry Knoll bore fruit for the first time this year and produced one bushel of perfect red plums.

Summer Danger Time For Farm Residents

Rural Accident Rate Is 33 Per Cent Higher

Summer is the most dangerous time of the year for farm residents, accident records reveal. During the months of June, July, August and September the rural accident rate is about 33 per cent higher than the average of the other eight months of the year.

On the basis of past experience, it is expected that approximately 6,200 American farmers or their wives and children will be killed and another 520,000 injured in accidents during the coming summer months.

That is an average of at least 50 killed and 4,260 injured every 24 hours from June through September.

In contrast to this summer slaughter, the average for the other eight months of the year is 38 killed and 3,200 injured in accidents in every 24 hours.

A tipped-over tractor—driven into a ditch through carelessness—can cause a farm tragedy. The careful farmer is the prosperous farmer, since accidents cost in time and money.

The big increase in accidents in summer is explained partly by the fact farmers work harder and longer, are exposed more to hazards, such as working in fields with heavy machinery, and a trend to be more careless when fatigued. One of the main causes of farm accidents is the "short cut" to get a job done that many farmers will take only after they are tired.

Figures cited above include all accidents involving farm residents such as those occurring in the fields, in barns and out-buildings, in the home, away from home or while driving.

It is reasonable, then, in view of the approaching danger season, that farmers should be especially on the alert to avoid accidents. Accidents kill and cripple, and deprive the farmer of his means of livelihood.

Accidents are a waste of valuable manpower.

Summer Is Ideal Time To Plant Cover Crops

Summer is an ideal time for planting soil improvement crops—green manures for enriching the soil. Gardeners who have confined their efforts to a fall planting of such cover crops as winter rye and ryegrass are missing real opportunities.

Crops available for soil improvement in the spring and summer not only provide a lush growth of organic matter than the usual fall cover crops, but in some instances they add tremendously to the store of nitrogen in the soil, lowering fertilizer needs for the vegetables, fruits or flowers that follow.

Many crops contribute little actual organic matter on a dry weight basis. Most generous in this contribution are probably corn, sorghum and sunflower, all heavy summer growers. Among the quickest to grow, a consideration where space is limited, are sudan grass, millet, and buckwheat.

But best of all green manures for average conditions are the legumes, which take nitrogen from the air and hold it in the soil even over winter. A wide range of these plants are suitable for soil improvement planting, including soy beans, the clovers, lespedeza, lupines and vetches.

CHANGE IN ORGANIZATION OF THE C. & P. TEL. CO.

Changes in the organization structure of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City designed to further improve the effectiveness of the utility's operations by providing greater local authority and substantially broadening the responsibility of officials in charge of the Maryland Company were announced today by H. Randolph Maddox, C. & P. president.

Under the new plan of organization, W. Griffin Morrel has been elected vice president of the C. & P. of Baltimore City by the board of directors, effective August 15, and will report to the president. The title of vice-president and general manager, formerly held by Mr. Morrel, has been discontinued.

Mr. Morrel was elected a member of the board of directors effective the same date.

In another change, the position of auditor has been discontinued and E. R. Koogle, formerly auditor, has been appointed to the newly-created position of comptroller of the company and will report to Mr. Morrel.

According to Mr. Maddox, the change in the form of organization is being made in order to place under the new vice-president the responsibility for all of the company's operations in the state, including the accounting functions together with all other departments. At the same time the new position will carry increased authority to go hand in hand with the enlarged responsibilities.

Maddox said the change would enable the company to better serve the telephone users of Maryland by providing the organization at all levels with greater freedom of action in meeting day-to-day problems.

Morrel began his telephone career in 1930 as a traffic clerk for the C. & P. of Virginia. After holding positions of increasing responsibility in the traffic department, including general traffic manager, he was transferred to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1946 as traffic employment engineer. He returned to the C. & P. group of companies in May 1948, when he was elected vice-president and general manager of the C. & P. of Baltimore City.

Morrel is active in civic affairs and holds directorships in the Baltimore Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Baltimore Association of Commerce. He is a trustee of the South Baltimore General Hospital and the Second Presbyterian church, a director of the First National Bank of Baltimore and the Provident Savings Bank. He is a incorporator of the Savings Bank of Baltimore and a member of the Newcomen Society of North America, V.M.I. Alumni Association, National Defense Transportation Association and the Rotary Club.

Folding Step

When a closet shelf is so high that a stool or chair is required to reach it, this step will be a great convenience. One end is nailed or screwed to the wall and is hinged so that it can be folded against the wall and held with a hook when not in use. It could be used in a pantry or fruit cellar.

Dead Letter Office

The dead letter office is one of the liveliest departments of the post office. It handles in excess of eighteen million letters, undeliverable because of lack of return address or illegible handwriting, a year. Annual sales are held for unclaimed parcels.

SHORT STORY
The Nagging Husband
By R. H. WILKINSON

JACK and Grace Baker were the happiest couple in Fairmount for almost a year. Then Jack began discovering certain qualities in his wife that he hadn't dreamed existed. They weren't minor idiosyncrasies that could be easily overlooked.

3-Minute Fiction

Chief among them was Grace's habit of forgetting. Forgetting to mend Jack's socks, to sew on his buttons, to keep appointments. Going out and forgetting her latch key, forgetting to bring her glasses to the movies. After a year it began getting Jack down. The payoff came when he received a bill from Grace's dentist. "Charges for appointments made and not canceled with due notice."

"There's no excuse for it!" he raved to Grace. "Dang it, it's downright negligence. It's costing me money. You've got to improve!"

Surprisingly Grace was contrite. "I know it, darling. It's a habit I've always had and can't seem to break myself of. I'll try to do better."

And for a while she did. Jack noticed the change and was pleased. But it didn't last. Before a fortnight had passed. Grace had forgotten she'd promised to try not to forget. Jack spoke to her about it again, and again she promised to do better. But the same thing happened all over again, and it happened a third time.

Jack began to get desperate. He found himself speaking sharply to his wife when the situation didn't warrant it. He sometimes hated himself for reprimanding her, yet at the same time he was slowly breaking her of the habit.

"Stop nagging me, you—you paragon!" she snapped.

It wasn't until the second year was nearly over that Jack sensed a change in his wife. She began to look haggard, became irritable and not so ready with her usual bright repartee when he made a wisecrack. At first he was puzzled, would probably have never guessed at the cause if one night she hadn't returned home from her club and left the ignition key in the car. Jack began disgustedly: "Well, for heaven's sake —" But stopped when she whirled on him, her cheeks white.

"What difference does it make? No one's going to steal the old car! Stop nagging me, you—you paragon!"

Jack didn't say a word, but that night he thought things over and suddenly he understood the cause for the change in his wife's disposition. He had become a nagger. He was getting on her nerves. Lord! He hadn't meant to.

THE next day he called up from the office and suggested that she come in town for dinner. They could go to a theatre afterward, he said. He'd meet her at the hotel at 6 o'clock.

Grace was delighted. She was already sorry for her sharpness on the evening before. She decided to be especially nice.

She reached the hotel 15 minutes before the appointed time so there'd be no cause for friction because she was late. But at 6 o'clock Jack wasn't there, which was unusual for punctual Jack. In fact he didn't arrive at 6:15 or 6:30. Grace began to get alarmed. The awful feeling beset her that she had misunderstood where they were to meet. No matter what she said by way of explanation, Jack would think she'd forgotten again.

Another 15 minutes passed and Jack didn't appear. She stood up and strolled about the lobby. She considered calling his office, but remembered that he would have left. She cudgled her brain, trying to think of his exact words when making the appointment. She felt sick and upset. At 7 o'clock she decided dully there wasn't any use. She'd forgotten again and might as well go home and take her medicine.

About to leave, she saw Jack coming toward her through the crowds. There was a worried look on his face, distraction in his eyes.

"Gosh, honey! I'm terribly sorry. I was so darned busy this afternoon, I forgot all about our date."

"Forgot! You?" Grace's eyes grew wide. Her mouth fell open. And then suddenly she smiled. Into her face there came a look of vast relief, a sense of equality. "Forgot? Why, Jack, that—that's wonderful! That's the grandest thing you've ever done!"

Jack smiled broadly. He understood—perfectly. He wanted her to feel that way. That's why he had

Smithsonian Has Fantastic Collection of Serpents

Fantastic and deadly serpents of the Egyptian desert form a considerable part of a collection of 1,100 museum specimens of reptiles and amphibians at the Smithsonian Institution.

Many of the creatures included in the collection not only are weird and curious in themselves but have a place in classical folklore. This is particularly true of the snakes. The poisonous ones belong to two major groups—the cobras and the sand vipers.

Of the cobras perhaps the best known is the so-called spitting serpent, or "Libyan asp". It supposedly has the ability to spit in the eyes of its enemies, such as dogs, and its saliva temporarily blinds the victim.

The term "asp" was generally applied to the cobra, a sacred snake in ancient Egypt. There were said to be 16 varieties known to the ancients. Its form was included in the crowns of kings and queens. There is a fair possibility that one of the cobras found embalmed at Thebes was the snake that bit Cleopatra, although this may have been an even weirder and nearly as deadly creature, the horned viper.

New Insecticide Kills Mites That Are Harmful to Fruit

Might against mite has brought one of the major rubber companies into the fight. It's a special biological warfare with a red enemy. The enemy is a tiny red mite, about the size of a pinhead.

Fruit farmers report that the red mites have multiplied tremendously since the introduction of organic insecticides. Until now agricultural interests never realized the importance of our insect allies that prey on and devour our insect enemies. It was discovered that the predatory insects were destroyed by insecticides.

Out of the research laboratories has come a new insecticide that is distinctly a mite killer. During the past year agricultural experiment stations from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic have given this new mite destroyer thorough tests. The red mite disappeared from the tested citrus groves in the West, and the apple orchards in the East. The insecticide is declared harmless to honeybees and other useful insects, as well as animals.

Mimosa Is Aptly Named

The mimosa is a sensitive plant. If the pot is gently shaken, or if the leaves are lightly touched, the leaflets fold up and the leaves immediately bend downwards as if the plant were dying. The fumes of many chemicals, or even sudden changes in temperature or illumination, produce a similar effect. If the disturbance is brief, the plant returns to its normal condition in a few minutes, while if it continues, the plant may recover in spite of it. Then, however, the plant may collapse again when the disturbance is removed so the effect seems due to sudden changes in the condition rather than to the condition itself. The response of the plant is caused by the temporary removal of sap from certain cells at the base of the leaf stalk, where the presence of the sap normally keeps the stalk stretched out and rigid.

Search for Sulphur

Sulphur exists in almost every country, but deposits of the purest and cheapest kind are becoming more difficult to find. The industry has spent millions of dollars in a continuing search.

Breakfast

When young college women were used as guinea pigs, it was found that after they skipped breakfast, their work output decreased, they were slower in their reactions, and they showed less muscular steadiness.

Uncle Sam Says

There is a job to be done and every American citizen has been asked to do his share. Our boys now going into the Defense services need your all-out support and in every possible way, from the manufacture of armament to helping finance our huge defense program. Volunteers are needed to help in a vital part of the country's struggle for existence. Whatever your job you can help in this great program, both by the purchase of Defense Bonds to the limit of your ability and by asking your friends and neighbors to invest in U. S. Defense Bonds.

Why He Failed

Lesson for August 17, 1952

THERE IS NO such thing as a "nation" apart from the people who compose it. Destroy the people, destroy the nation; build up the people, build up the nation. Some people are, of course, key persons. What they do and are affects a vast number of people besides themselves. Such persons can make the difference between failure and success for an entire nation. Their tragedy or triumph is their nation's tragedy or triumph. Suppose Napoleon and Hitler had been at last successful? Suppose Alfred the Great and Abraham Lincoln had failed?

Dr. Foreman

A Double-Minded Man

SAUL, first king of Israel, is a tragic illustration of all this. He was a big handsome man with a creditable war-record; so the people elected him as their first king. It was not the first time, nor the last, that a man's military record has misled people to believe that he was good in other respects as a leader.

Saul had some serious defects in his character, so serious that they led to his personal failure. One of these faults was a general instability. He would make promises and not keep them.

You could not be sure whether he was friend or foe. He turned against members of his own family. He professed to want to know God's will and yet he would not do it. He officially stamped out witchcraft and yet he consulted a witch when in trouble. He would make vows and then back down from them. "A double-minded man is unstable in all his ways," it would be written many centuries later. Such a man makes a poor follower, and a fatally bad leader.

A Jealous Man

JEALOUSY is a word too often limited. It should not be confined to the way a boy feels when another one is stealing his girl, or vice versa. It refers to the mean feeling people have about any one who in any way, as they think, is out to "do them in."

Now this King Saul was a jealous man, as most dictators are. One of the great kings of Egypt could not bear to think of any other king as having built better buildings than he; so he employed the royal chiselers to remove from every public building the name of any other Pharaoh and replace it with his own.

King Saul could not be jealous of the kings before him; for there were none. But he could be insanely jealous of any one he thought might be more popular than himself.

So we find him pursuing David vindictively, relentlessly, first making an outlaw of him, then a fugitive among Israel's enemies.

A Superstitious Man

THE FAMOUS STORY (Chap. 28) of Saul and the witch at Endor raises a number of questions to which nobody has the guaranteed answers. One thing, however, is clear from that story; Saul was a superstitious man. He thought that the dead could be conjured right out of the ground.

Whether the woman of Endor actually conjured Samuel up, or only induced Saul to think she did, the reader must judge for himself. The point is that Saul, who paid small attention to Samuel living, was very eager to talk with his ghost.

Superstition marks a man as full of fears, for fear is the food of superstitions. Fear also was the root of Saul's jealousy; and fear at last drove him to suicide. True leaders must be made of sterner stuff.

A Disloyal Man

SAUL FAILED not only because he was shifty, jealous and a coward. He failed because he was disloyal to God.

His public career began by his recognizing in Samuel a prophet of God, and in Samuel's instructions the will of God. But as time went on he took counsel only with himself; he listened to Samuel only when it was convenient. And so God rejected him.

Whatever a man's qualifications may be, if he compromises his own ideals, if he will not live up to what he recognizes to be best, if he will not listen to men of God, if he sets his own will above the will of the people, even above the will of God, then he is not only not a wise leader, he is a very bad one.

FALSE BARN FLOOR
A false barn floor made of wooden slats solved a tough calf raising problem for one Ohio dairyman. Two years ago this farmer was plagued with pneumonia that was taking a heavy toll of his purebred Jerseys. To reduce drafts and improve sanitation, he and his partner nailed one by three inch slats three-eighths of an inch apart to form the false floor, then fixed tongue and grooved walls between the pens. A concrete ledge around the pens stopped air currents from coming up between the slats. Since installing the new wooden floor, this farmer reports that he has had no cases of pneumonia, and has noted a general reduction in scouring and better thriftiness in all his calves. He cleans the pens once every three weeks and the space between the false floor and the concrete barn floor three times a year.

Livestock Bruises

American livestock producers are being penalized a fortune every year because of careless handling in shipping livestock to market. According to figures compiled at 51 key packing plants, the toll of shipping bruises sustained by hogs and mature cattle alone is nearly 20 million dollars annually. Even this heavy loss does not include bruise losses to calves and sheep. Packers point out that these losses can be reduced by exercising greater care in handling and shipping animals. Proper loading equipment is especially essential if bruise losses are to be reduced.

New Type Mastodon

A University of California scientist has identified a new species of mastodon that roamed the North American continent some 15 million years ago. The mastodon, represented by a pair of jawbones and tusks, was found in a stream near Baker, Oregon, about 25 years ago. The species looked something like an elephant, but had tusks pointing up as well as down. It had a trunk and was a plant eater, the scientist reports.

Coffee Used as Fuel

With the present-day cost of coffee, it is hard to imagine locomotives being fired with coffee bricks. That was exactly what happened in Brazil several years ago when the bottom dropped out of the low-grade coffee market. Thousands of tons of inferior coffee were on hand and no one wanted it at any price. The government-owned Central Railroad of Brazil solved the problem by buying the coffee at a cost lower than it could buy wood or coal. The coffee was compressed into bricks and served nicely as a fuel.

Preparing Paint Brush

To get the best service from a new paint brush, treat it with oil before using it. If you put it directly into paint or enamel the paint pigment adheres to the bristles and is difficult to remove. Before putting the brush into oil, however, remove any loose bristles by rolling the handle of the brush between the palms of your hands. Then beat the bristles lightly across your fingers. Before using, suspend the brush in linseed oil. Be sure that the ends of the bristles do not rest on the bottom of the container. When you're ready to use it, remove the surplus oil by laying the brush on its side, then pressing a wooden strip heavily across the bristles, starting with the ferrule and working downward toward the tip of the brush until most of the oil has been removed.

Famous Corsair

One of the most famous, or notorious, corsairs was Dragut, who fought for the Turkish empire and burned a Spanish fleet sent against him in 1560. At the same time Dragut leveled a Spanish fort on the Tunisian island of Djerba—Ulysses' land of the lotus eaters—and massacred the garrison.

Magnet Attributes

If a permanent magnet in the shape of a bar is hung by a string at the middle, one end, called the north pole, will always point toward the north, while the other end, the south pole, will be directed southward. If another magnet is brought nearby, the south pole of one will attract the north pole of the other.

World's Largest Trees

Measured in volume, the largest trees are the giant sequoias, which grow in central California on the western slopes of the Sierra Nevada mountains.

American Monkeys

The best known American monkeys, the little capuchins, are so called because of the peak of hair upon the head, suggestive of the hood worn by the Capuchin monks.

Excellent Salad Hint

An excellent salad mayonnaise can be made by adding to regular mayonnaise 1/3 cup of chili sauce and 2 tablespoons of chopped green pepper.

No In-Between

If your coat is a little coat it must be very short to be smart. Long coats are definitely full length, and there's no in-between types this season.

Synthetic Sow's Milk Is Used Successfully

3,000 Piglets Raised On Experiment Formula

The development of a synthetic sow's milk, made possible by the wonder drug terramycin was announced recently by Herbert G. Luther, research scientist associated with the Pfizer & Co., laboratories of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The formula, called Terralac, was tried on 500 piglets at the company's laboratories. In addition, 3,000 piglets have been raised successfully without sows on several large pig farms which cooperated in the testing of Terralac.

Luther contends the formula may revolutionize the swine-raising industry. In the first place, his experiment reduced infant pig mortality to an astonishing 5 per cent, as contrasted with the national average of 21 to 33 per cent. It also largely solves the problem of the runt, long a bane to hog-raisers, by making growth-stimulating terramycin and milk equally available to all pigs in the litter.

Luther emphasized that good pig farm management is essential for the successful use of Terralac. Constant temperature must be maintained, either via the use of heat lamps or by blowing warm air. And it must be prepared properly and fed at regular intervals.

Average U.S. Farm Bigger As Number Falls

The Bureau of the Census reports a decided trend toward fewer but bigger and better equipped farms between 1940 and 1950.

The number decreased by 713,000 in the decade, the bureau reports, but the average size unit grew from 174 acres in 1940 to 210.5 acres in 1950. There were 5,384,000 farms in 1950, against 6,097,000 in 1940.

The sharpest decrease came in the five years between 1945 and 1950, when the number of farms dropped by 475,000.

Other statistics in the report included: About 370,000 fewer persons were working on U.S. farms in 1950 than in 1940.

Less than one-third as many horses and mules were on farms in 1950 as in 1920.

In 1950 there were 59,764,000 cattle and calves more than 3 months old on farms as compared to 60,674,736 in April, 1940.

The number of chickens on farms was 2,500,000, or 0.7 per cent more than in 1940.

Plenty of Pull

One of the newest aids to farmers is the power curve tire developed by B. F. Goodrich engineers to provide maximum traction and prevent bogging down of heavy tractors and combines in the sticky mud or sandy soil of rice fields. The tire is reported to be the first suitable for use in all types of soil used for growing rice.

Veterinary Group Sets Up New Defense Committees

A nation-wide network of defense emergency committees has been set up by the veterinary medical profession to help safeguard this country's livestock health and food production in case of war, the AVMA reports. The committees will assist on defense measures in case of biological warfare, atomic warfare, atomic blasts, or other wartime emergencies concerned with the nation's animal population.

HERE'S WHERE YOUR MONEY GOES...

WITH SO MUCH MONEY NEEDED FOR DEFENSE, IT'S IMPORTANT THAT NONE OF YOUR TAX MONEY GOES FOR WASTEFUL, SOCIALISTIC PROJECTS. HERE ARE A FEW EXAMPLES OF GOVERNMENT SPENDING THAT IS UNNECESSARY.

BARRELS OF TAX MONEY

OVER $350 MILLION—WOULD BE NEEDED FOR THE POWER PLANT IS PROPOSED THE GOVERNMENT BUILD AT NIAGARA FALLS. FIVE LOCAL ELECTRIC COMPANIES HAVE OFFERED TO DO THE JOB WITHOUT SPENDING ONE CENT OF TAX MONEY.

DIG DEEPER!

WHEN THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT UNDERTAKES AN ELECTRIC POWER PROJECT THAT ELECTRIC COMPANIES COULD DO, YOU PAY TWICE—NOT ONLY FOR THE COST OF THE PROJECT, BUT TO MAKE UP FOR LOCAL, STATE AND FEDERAL TAXES THAT ARE LOST.

It is expected that the school year 1952-53 will be one in which the fact of increased enrollment and lack of funds for buildings may result in less adequate educational service to Carroll county children. The county administrative staff has been working diligently to anticipate problems and to work out solutions. Cooperation and forbearance on the part of parents will be greatly appreciated.

The Board of Education of Carroll county met in regular session, Aug. 12, 1952 with President Clyde L. Hesson presiding. The Board approved the minutes of the previous meeting and gave approval to the bills listed for approval at the meeting. Consideration and approval was given to the contracts for the transportation of school pupils during the coming year which may become necessary due to over-crowding or changes in routes. The Board approved a plan for the schools of the county to participate, if they desire, in a group insurance program offered by the Pilot Life Insurance Company of North Carolina. This proposition had been presented to the county superintendent prior to the meeting and was directed by the Board to proceed with plans for taking advantage of the plan if the sentiment of the parents and school principals indicated such action to be proper and feasible. By this plan parents of pupils attending school will be able to secure protection for their children against accident and against medical or hospital charges resulting from accident by the payment of a nominal fee through the school administration.

The Board directed that a list of substitute teachers be prepared and made available as completely as possible to the schools of the county. This list will be extremely limited this year.

The Board heard a report on progress in building maintenance and building improvement at several of the county locations including the installation of a heating system in the Taneytown High School, and continued progress on the completion of the Manchester building and the modification of the old building to accommodate the vastly increased enrollment at this school.

The Board approved the appointment of John Nelson Yingling as custodian of the Sandymount School for the coming year.

Resignations were received and accepted from the following people: Bruce Goyt, Hampstead High School; Mrs. June Hale, Westminster High School; Michael Baron, Hampstead High School; Thomas Albright, Manchester High School; Mrs. Anna Motter, Elementary School music teacher; Mrs. Margaret S. Brady, Elmer Wolfe Elementary School; Mr. Frank Salley, Mt. Airy High School; Mr. James Brammer, Taneytown High School. The Board gave approval to several new contracts for teachers who had been interviewed prior to their employment as teachers for the coming year.

The Board also listened to a brief report on teacher procurement problems from the superintendent indicating that the teacher supply was extremely limited and that it may be necessary for schools to be subject to staff changes and staff restrictions for the coming year.

The Board considered several communications and directed that appropriate replies be made to these communications in connection with problems of transportation and school facilities in various county locations. Consideration was also given to miscellaneous emergency repairs which must be completed before the schools are ready for occupancy for the new session.

The Board also considered a brief report on information related to the State School Report recently received including comparable statistics for Carroll County and corresponding counties within the same area of the state. Statistics included comparative figures for the births in several of the counties and the number of resident births in Carroll county were submitted as follows. In 1951 there were a total of 650 registered births compared with a total of 978 registered births in the year 1947. Carroll county schools during the school year ended June 30, 1950 had an average attendance of 94.5 compared with the State average of 92.6. These teachers have been recruited during the spring and summer and will report for duty at the regular meetings as already announced. There will be a total of 321 teachers employed in Carroll county and of this number 27 now hold the master's degree, and a total of 274 hold a bachelor's degree.

The Board adjourned at 3.30 to meet again in September for a regular session.

A MARINE'S OPINION

'Tis the opinion of this Marine Who is serving in Korea That the labor situation at home Is worse than —

It's sickening and it's painful To all the men out here, That workers quit and plants will close While there's yet so much to fear.

If we should ever desert our cause In the least or minute way We'd surely be court martialed And pay, and pay, and pay.

To say that we're not complaining Would be a bald-faced lie We deplore your attitude back home While your fellow-men here die.

We understand the right of man And freedom desired by all, But with the lack of help at home No wonder the peace talks stale.

We ask no sympathy or heartfelt thanks From you lucky people at home, But let us remind you that history repeats— Remember the fall of Rome!

Throughout the history of this world Great powers rise and fall, Because of greed that comes with wealth Some people want it all.

If you men at home must squabble And void reasons for which we fight, How in the h—can we convince The rest of world we're right?

Yes, it's sickening and disgusting To read the news of oil and steel, Creating the shortages of our needs How proud you all must feel!

If we were asked to salute your cause, Our salute would be rendered in gas From a source where there is no shortage—

TEACHERS' SALARIES INADEQUATE TO MAINTAIN A FAMILY TODAY

One of the questions most frequently asked of the Carroll County Teachers' Association is: What is the average salary of the teacher? According to Superintendent of Schools, Samuel Jenness, the average salary for the next school year will be $3390.

This figure falls far below the estimated cost of maintaining a family at the present time. According to the Heller Committee of the University of California, which estimates the cost of a four person budget, an income of $5725 was needed for the white collar worker, of which the teacher is a representative, to maintain his family last year. 142 teachers have dependents to support and this budget would apply to them. The cost of maintaining a smaller family would be somewhat lower but there are no figures for this smaller group. Using $5725 as a basis, the average salary for next year would fall $2335 short of meeting requirements for last year's budget. Since the cost of living has gone up since that time, the deficit would be even greater. If the proposed $400 increase were granted, those teachers receiving the minimum salary would fall $2725 short, and those receiving the maximum salary would fall $1125 short of operating on this budget. It is for this reason that 96 teachers are forced to supplement their salaries with part time employment.

The teachers of Carroll County will receive for next year, a salary approximately one half that received by other professional people four or five years ago. The average net income of the non-salaried dentist in 1948 was $7122; of salaried dentists, $5358; of non-salaried lawyers in 1947, $6871; of salaried lawyers, $7560; of independent physicians in 1947, $10,680. These figures are for the state of Maryland. Comparable figures for the county were not available.

The teachers of the county need a raise in salary in order to support their families properly. They need an increase to shorten the enormous gap between their salaries and those of other professional people.

Odd Bones

Fossil hunters dug up near Manchester, Ohio, the remains of giant "sea scorpions," some of them six feet long, locked in volcanic ash in the bed of the ancient salt sea which once covered Ohio. A pair of fossilized dinosaur eggs were discovered in southwest Tanganyika, first such ever found in Africa.

Deep Green Lends Richness
Walls and woodwork painted deep green, beneath a white-coated ceiling, provide an effective setting for a living room furnished in Early American style. The richly finished maple desk, doughtray and coffee tables show to exceptional advantage against the dramatic wall color.

Short Supply Metals
Uncle Sam is particularly anxious to grubstake prospectors who are on the trail of certain of those minerals for which this country is virtually dependent upon foreign sources. Last year, the U.S. produced only about eight per cent of the manganese needed in the making of steel.
