WHERE CAN WE FIND A MOTHER?

This is the cry of 18 young boys in Taneytown. Have you heard that cry? These boys have found that they can These boys have found that they can not be part of the community, that they must idle their time away in alleys, that the friendly hand of comradeship will never be extended to them, and that no one cares, really cares, whether they grow up into men or delinquents. At first glance, this doesn't seem possible in your community, but rather something that happens only in the world's large cities or in war torn countries abroad. Howor in war torn countries abroad. However, here in your community, this number of boys and probably more miss the clean and decent fun of con-

But you ask, "Who are these boys"? They are your boys and they come from every station of life. They are all future citizens of your community, yet few people seem to care whether they grow to fulfill the promise in them. Again you ask, "Can I do something for them?" Yes, you can! You need not take these boys into your homes and raise them as foster. your homes and raise them as foster children. You need not spend every passes all worldy gain; a reward of the spirit; the bright face of one of these lads looking up into your face and saying, "Thank you Mother". Those of you who feel that you could help these unfortunate boys, when they are sponsoring a skating need do no more than share an hour and a half each week with a group of four, five, or six of them at your home as their Mother. SENATOR'S LETTER FROM ANNAPOLIS

Bills of Local Interest Presented to the Legislature

Child Labor

Two years ago a law was enacted that virtually eliminated the employment of children under sixteen for any type of work. For example, it is now illegal to employ a boy under sixteen to mow lawns, shovel snow, caddy on a golf course or do anything else that most of us did as children to earn spending money.

Although this law was purported to be for the benefit of children it was sponsored and passed by the "labor lobbyists' in Annapolis.

A number of members of the State Senate who believe that it is beneficial, rather than harmful, for children to have the opportunity to get employ-ment have introduced S. B. 275. This Bill eliminates from the Child Labor Laws the restrictive provisions imposed by the 1951 Act and reinstates the law as it was prior to that time.

Senate Bill 224, would impose a speed limit on all trucks weighing ov-4000 pounds. Under this Bill such vehicles would have a speed limit of 10 miles per hour less than the rated speed permissable on any State high-

Bi-Partisan School Board S. B. 200, providing that the Carroll County Board of Education shall be composed of three members from each of our major political parties, has been passed by the Senate.

Public Health Levy

In 1947 a Bill was passed requiring the County Commissioners of Carroll County to levy 3c on each $100 of as-sessment for Public Health and for the maintenance of the War Memorial Medical Center. Since that time the assessments in

Carroll County have increased materially and State aid toward the upkeep and maintenance of the Medical Center has been greater than was anticipated.

For those reasons S. B. 146 has been introduced eliminating the man-datory levy of 3c for these purposes and giving the County Commissioners authority to levy "such sum as they may deem necessary" to support the county public health program.

There is "A Difference" and I mean There is "A Difference" and I mean quite a decided difference of trains for the public. The Baltimore and Ohio or just (B & O) as we say tops them all. Years ago, having traveled these United States twice around have ridden in many trains of various companies, I still say it is B & O for me!

The B & O has always been known. The B & O has always been known for the best service and I am thoroughly convinced of the fact. Residing now in Harford County and that little town of Aberdeen being so close, board the B & O right there. It had been a few years since I used the B & O and Your Observer was most pleased to find nothing has changed only all the modern improvements. There was first of all, the very gracious agent selling the tickets, then as the train stopped, there was the colored Porter—you know, Folks the kind chucked full of that Southern atmosphere and I think you know just what I mean.

I was not permitted to carry even the very small overnight bag as the Porter carried it to my seat. Each train is assigned as to passenger trains to one Porter and he in turn is responsible for the immaculate con-

All the seats are of a light blue damask with plastic head rests which are most sanitary and the nice part the seat in front of you is a grand

the seat in front of you is a grand distance that one can relax beautifully without being crowded in the least. The meals are simply Super-Duper in the Dining car and I have read somewhere or other that this company does not make money on these meals which are served in other words as a duypry for the passenger's satismeals which are served in other words as a luxury for the passenger's satisfaction and convenience! That old (Finger Bowl) was in evidence and that pleased me. Nothing tops the meal in traveling as does this service.

I observed the windows were beautifully kept too and as to the seattifully kept, too and as to the seats which I stated above—they were most comfortable that I felt as though I was in a deep seated luxury one right in my own living room.

Since riding again on the B & O even if it is only one hour and a half ride—I do not care to drive the car to Philly or New York. One can relax completely and after all that is what all desire than the rush-rush

There were a number of service men who boarded the train at Aberdeen and then I did Observe how beautifullly the Porters took care of them which pleased me all the more. Then came the Navy—Folks—that does tickle Your Observer—quite a few got on at Bainbridge and I could not suppress a little laugh which escaped my lips for somehow the Navy feels just one bit more important than the ting directly in back of me handed me a magazine when she saw that I was finished reading the morning paper! You meet such nice people traveling by B & O which you cannot do as you drive along the car! Upon reaching 24th and Chestnut, the Porter returned quickly to me and taking up my things bowed and said, "Madam, Philadelphia is next!"

Just like the old days, Folks! Something grand about it all! Just go B & O the next time and you will see just what I mean. B & O IS TRULY THE ROYALTY OF THEM ALL!

You won't want to drive that car of yours and you will say, "This is truly it!"— as you sit there and relax in that beautifully equipped car with the decoration of Pastel Blues of that Baltimore and Ohio!

Returning late one evening, as I rushed from the cab in Philly to the train which was standing there for the South, I had left my umbrella and was running to get it when one of the Red Caps held aloft his hand saying, Dog License Law "No rush, Madam take your time, A House Bill has been introduced I'll see that you get the umbrella". In a very few minutes, the umbrella was in my hand and I was in my seat! And to think one hears this-"Ohthat is in the days of long ago-not poultry caused by dogs. Until next these days of rush when everyone is week, I am Sincerely, just for themselves"! That is the big thing in any business when it does not change nice customs and routines -it really makes the public want to go back and deal again and again! Congratulations to the President of the B & O-Mr. R. B. White!

Now, here's one that we are hearthem. Why not? There are many young men who have never tasted beer until they entered the Army! How can any man realize what he is doing when his brain is numb? There is a beer advertising constantly that DRY BEER! How could it be wet and dry, too? That's a laugh!

Very little time, Ladies is left for that special Holiday hair-do and be sure that you keep it that way by regular visits to that favorite Beau-tician for you know just like the name she can BEAUTIFY YOU AND YOU AND YOU!

Your Observer will view the Easter Parade on North Charles Street again and this time "Button" that precious Boston Terrier will be dressed, too with a big plaid bow tied in the ring upon her collar. Have a grand week-end, Folks. Drive carefully when you go to church and remember always that favorite motto-"Do unto oth-

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELE-GRAPH: "The Eisenhower Administration is removing the burden of wage and price controls from us. We will be expected to exert some self-control.

BARBOURVILLE, KY., ADVO-CATE: "We admire any man who will speak out—and in every case we wholeheartedly give way to his opinion as one of his own, not necessarily one that this paper might endorse, but as an individual opinion. These individual opinions can rule this country, just as effectively as any ruling or governing body ever assembled. There is no better way in America, under the American way of freedom, for a group of citizens to express themselves than through the column of the local newspaper.

ARCATA, CALIF., UNION: "We have learned by now that government costs on either the Federal or State level cannot be cut by creating more bureaus. So top heavy has government become that every effort should be toward eliminating governmental services which can be handled on the local level both more efficiently and inexpensively." ROSEBURG, ORE., NEWS-RE-VIEW: "Putting together all of the taxes imposed by federal, state and local governments, the U.S. 'Chamber of Commerce says, the sum comes to about $90 billion, or 30 percent of the national income, which is another way of saying that we will work the entire first third of the year to pay our tax bills.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

Among the very important matters now being studied by the Senate is one which has received, so far, very little public attention—but which is of vital importance to the entire Nation.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is currently holding hearings on Senate Joint Resolutions No 1 and 43 which would amend the Constitution of the United States—63 other Senators and I are sponsoring S. The proposed amendment would prohibit a treaty with a foreign govern-ment from being effective as internal law unless such provisions were enact ed by appropriate legislation by Congress; it also would prohibit any treaty from denying or abridging any rights protected by the Constitution.

Recently attention to this Constitutional loophole was directed by the government's argument in the steel seizure case when it cited our association in the United Nations as one of the powers the president had to seize the steel industry.

No one argues that our country

No one argues that our country should not have relations with other countries and to do this we must enter into treaties and other contractural relationships. It is most important, however, that we not forsake the rights of American citizens.

Hearings on this amendment are extremely interesting and it should be favorably reported out of the Judiciary Committee at a nearly date. I believe it will be adopted by the Congress and there is a possibility that it may be presented to the Maryland Legislature for ratification at their Legislature for ratification at their

SANITATION

The rural and small town home owner might well consider at this time his own private home refuse storage and disposal system. Sanitary and economical refuse storage, collection and disposal is one of the more important public health problems of the day. Where unsanitary practices are followed, the possibilities for disease transmission are obviously heightened. Unsanitary practices also give rise to various nuisances that are objectionable to people who are subjected to them.

The food content of garbage constitutes an attraction for rodents and Mrs. J. B. Mowbray-Clarke and insects and furnishes a habitat in which insects may multiply and spread. Rubbish will furnish harborage for rodents. Thus, in refuse, rodents and instects find both food and harborage which are the essentials necessary for living and reproduction of any species. Rats are important agents in the spread of diseases, such as Salmonella food poisoning, bubonic plague, Weils disease, lymphocytic choriomeningitis, murine typhus fever, rat-bite fever and others. The relationship of flies to the transmission of intestinal diseases such as typhoid fever, bacillary dysentery and diarrheal disease is recognized. Recently, it was clearly shown that the infection, disease and death caused by the organisms of bacillary dysentry were materially reduced by fly control. Flies transmit or are suspected of transmitting more than 20 infectious dis-bage usually result in widespread Strout, Realty Agency, Inc. sources of fly breeding. Uncovered garbage cans attract large numbers of flies and afford an excellent medium for larval development. Residues of wet garbage left in the containers after collection may provide sufficient nutriment to permit the continuation of larval breeding; thorough cleaning of garbage cans is imperative. Leakage from garbage cans, provided that they are not water-tight, may so saturate the underlying ground with liquids of high organic content that the soil becomes sufficiently rich in nutrients to sustain larval development.

Adequate refuse storage, collection and disposal constitute the most effective measures available for controlling rats. In a given area it is useless to try to reduce the rat population if refuse is everywhere available to the rats. Good refuse storage and collection will comprise from 50 to 75 per cent of the activity required to free the area of rats.

All garbage must be kept in rust-resistant, tight, nonabsorbent, and eas-ily washable receptacles which are covered with close-fitting lids. These containers must be adequate capacity and provided in sufficient number to hold all garbage that accumulates be-the premises at regular intervals and ent. at least twice weekly during the summer months. Rubbish may be collected M less frequently. The removal and disposal of refuse from a community are services that must be provided in the interest of public health and good housekeeping. In the collection and disposal of refuse certain principles must be observed for the protection

In the Shadow

Lesson for March 22, 1953

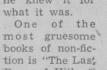

SUPPOSE Jesus had died five seconds after he was born? What difference would it have made to the Christian religion? One of the most ancient Christian creeds says that the Son of God 'was made man." Some theologians have supposed that the Christian religion would be no different if all we knew was that for one single instant the Eternal became man; that if Jesus had died five seconds after he was born, he would still have meant to us all that he can ever mean.

This is surely a grotesque mistake. The New Testament declares that the "word became flesh," that is, was made man; but that is only the start of the story. The four Gospels are there to tell us that the Word became Jesus. It makes all the difference in the world what kind of man God-inthe-flesh is.

Last Days Of Hitler

Adolf Hitler was one of the false leaders of men, as Jesus is the true one. They had nothing in common except that when each passed into the shadow of death, he knew it for' what it was.

Dr. Foreman Days of Hitler,05 by H. R. Trevor-Roper (Macmillan 1947). The author, a British Intelligence officer, was sent to find out, from evidence fresh on the spot, what actually happened to Hitler in those last days in Berlin. The story is a terrible one, and the more so for being true. In the days of his glory, Hitler had seemed to millions of people to be a great man. But when the shadows fell, and his "thousandyear empire" was being crushed to powder by the armies of the free, then in the darkness of his underground bunker the real Hitler came out-great only in madness and in evil.

Three monsters stalked his soul in those dark hours. One was indifference to others, even cruelty; nothing disturbed him so much as his own fate. Another was revenge; aming at the mouth, he ranted about the terrible things he would do to all who were against him. Ugly mother of these other two was Fear. He spoke of glory, but his heart was not in it. His words and acts were proud and cruel, but his mind's eye must have seen already the red flames over his forsaken corpse.

How Was It With Jesus?

How different with Jesus! The light that was in him shone more than ever brightly when the shadows came. Jesus, far from being indifferent to others, was sympathetically aware of them. He appreciated, as others did not, the devotion of the woman who broke over him that flask of perfunde.

When the disciples fell asleep in Gethsemane, he was not harsh with them, for he knew how weak the flesh can be. Jesus was aware, too, of his friends' weaknesses and sins. He rebuked the quarrelsome disciples at the supper table. He foretold how they would all forsake him and flee. He knew how much fear there was beneath Peter's brave bragging. Yet he did not spend a single word condemning others, not even Judas. The loving and the unloving, the loyal and the uncaring, they were all on Jesus' heart in those dark hours. He lived for others then, no less than in earlier days.

Aware Of God

If ever a man had an excuse for bitterness and revenge, it was Jesus. But his lips and heart were free of both. Fear did not despoil him, because he kept on believing in the Father on high. The shadow of death did not conceal the face of God.

It would have been easier, you might think, to believe in God's coming Kingdom during the days of success in Galilee than in the Upper Room with death breathing over his shoulder. But even there he was as certain of God's Kingdom as if it had already come. Prayer had surely not always been the agony it was in Gethsemane;

but he keeps praying even there. That God is and will be the final Judge of all, is not easy to believe in a Pilate's courtroom; but Jesus' faith never trembled. It is this Jesus, the Jesus of the lighted soul, whom Christians honor and serve as Saviour and Lord.
