HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Fred Stonesifer Reports Activities

The 7th grade postponed their assembly which was to be held this week at the High School. This postponement was made for the convenience of the speaker, Miss Elderdice, of Westminster. The assembly will be rescheduled for the near future.

Another postponement was made by the Senior class. The Seniors had planned a dance in April but have called the dance off for the orchestra was not available on suitable dates for the dance.

On April 22 a card party will be held in the High school auditorium for the benefit of the High school. Many prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be on sale. Everyone come and enjoy an evening of relaxation with your friends.

We hope that April 8th will be a happy day at T. H. S. for all students. On this day students will receive their report cards for the past term. This will be next to the last time the reports will be given out this year.

Key Clubbers of T.H.S. who attended the Fifth Annual Capital District Convention of Key Clubs International arrived in Old Point Comfort, Virginia, at the Hotel Chamberlain about 7:15 p. m. The first thing of interest they attended was an informal social from 10:30 to 12 p. m. Saturday was devoted to the regular work of the convention—reports, speeches, and election. Wayne Baumgardner, past Lieutenant Governor of District 6 gave a division report and also introduced Sylvia Kooztz, sweetheart of the sixth division. James Sell and Crawford Banks were the delegates with voting power from the sixth division.

The annual County Band and Orchestra Concert will be held Friday night, April 2, at Westminster High School. Sandra Welker, Nancy Baker, Allen Baumgardner, Jr., Wantz, James Wantz, John Skiles, Kenneth Reifsnider, Robert Royer and Robert Simmons will represent Taneytown High School by participating in this concert.

"Cheaper by the Dozen" will be shown at T. H. S. on April 8. This movie will be sponsored by the F. H. A. and will begin approximately at 1:05 P. M. in the auditorium.

Mrs. Shipley took Sandra Welker and Fred Stonesifer as guests to the Spring Rally of the Marcelene Keafer Club FTA at Frederick High school on Monday. The FTA is a club for high school students who are future teachers of America. The highlights of the rally were an address by the President of Towson Teachers College, Dr. Earle Hawkins, and a movie entitled "Skippy and the Three Rs".

Another interesting and educational "News Magazine of the Screen" was shown to the student body on Tuesday morning. One of these movies is shown in the school each month.

Donations of trees and shrubs are being accepted by the school for the purpose of improving the appearance of the north side of our building. This project was started by our Principal and is being carried on by the students.

The Guidance Counsellors of Carroll county are having an all day professional meeting in Baltimore, Thursday. Our counsellor, Mrs. Shipley, is attending the meeting.

A state shop meeting will be held at the University of Maryland on Friday and Saturday. Mr. Flora, our shop teacher, plans to be at the meeting on Saturday. Mrs. Herring will attend a meeting at Charles Carroll at 2 o'clock on Thursday for the promotion of the work of the home economics teachers of the county.

YE OLE HARNEY 4-H ACTIVITIES

Hear ye! Hear ye! Ye Ole Harney 4-H held their fifth tractor maintenance meeting at Crouse Implement and Tractor Company, at Kingsdale, Pa., at 7:30 p. m. on the date of March 24th.

Mr. Earl Crouse was gracious enough to show the first year boys how the carburetor and fuel system works on a tractor.

After firing questions at Mr. Crouse about the system works. All over again, Mr. Crouse answered the far flung questions. The group then rushed over to the next tractor to find Carl Weant on the underside of a tractor tugging with a bolt with a wrench and explaining about the transmission and final drive. His first try with the wrench struck water or oil. But on his second try poured right in his face. Which only goes to prove, "if you don't succeed try, try again."

Last but not least was Clyde Weant, who gave an excellent demonstration on storage and handling of fuels and lubricants.

The next session will be held at Mr. J. H. Ommert, Massey-Harris dealer in Taneytown, on March 31, at 7:30 p. m.

PARENT STUDY GROUP

All interested parents are invited to the regular meeting of the Taneytown Elementary School Parent Study Group, which will be held April 7, 1:15 p. m., in the school auditorium. The speaker will be Miss Dorothy Shires of the State Department of Education, Baltimore, and Dr. Ira S. Gordon, Child Study Center, Baltimore. Following brief remarks by the speaker, a group discussion will follow. Parents from the Union Bridge, New Windsor, Uniontown and Charles Carroll schools have been invited to participate in this meeting. We urge all patrons of our school and community to be present. Light refreshments will follow the discussion.

PLANS OF THE BI-CENTENNIAL

Progress Is Reported by Committees

The Executive committee of the Bi-Centennial organization met on last Thursday evening at the home of the chairman, Edward Reid. At this meeting, the main item of business was the additional names to be added to the advertising committee. They also discussed the item of food stands along the parade route and at the park during each evening of the presentation of the pageant.

The Pageant is nearly completed being written, as Miss Elderdice is working hard to bring the last few scenes together in order that casting and other arrangements can be made that will leave way for rehearsals during early summer.

The Parade committee met on Tuesday night of this week with Jas. Fiscus as chairman. They spent considerable time in the discussion of what will be needed to build up a parade that will be one that Taneytown will not only be proud of, but one that will be remembered for many years to come. They set up a tentative prize list, and amounts they think could be offered to encourage bands, drum corps, floats, and marching units to participate.

The executive committee will meet on this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 at the Firemen's building. The chairman of the parade committee is to meet with them to present their request for funds for the prizes. The program chairman, Harman Albaugh, and member of his committee are also to be present to present the bids that have been received for the printing of the program. The members of the finance committee will also be present and assist each of these committees in establishing their financing.

The first of April is now upon us, and looking back over the months, they feel that progress has been made, but much more work will be done during the next four months. For instance, attention is called to all presidents of organizations, chairmen and ministers of our town. Have you made arrangements with some one in your group to write a history of your organization. The program which will be made up will carry a history of Taneytown, and along with that they hope to see a summary history of the organizations which have contributed towards making the town progress as it has. This history should be ready by the 15th of May, just 6 weeks to complete—so let's get started.

CUB PACK TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Cub Pack 714 will meet Tuesday evening in the Firemen's Building, at 7:30 p. m. A very interesting meeting is planned featuring a model "Shoep Stumpers" show. All parents and friends are urged to attend, and especially all Dads are invited. Parents or any other interested adults who can attend are asked to make their reservations for the annual Scout's banquet by the payment of $1.50 at or before this meeting. Den Mothers or Mr. Archie Conner have tickets for this affair. It will be held this year Monday evening, April 19, at 7 p. m., in the Manchester High school.

The four panelists to appear on WBAL-TV's "Shadow Stumpers" will be chosen Tuesday also. The Cubs will appear on TV on Monday evening April 12th. Any person who could furnish transportation are asked to contact James Fair.

It was noted at the Pack Committee's meeting of March 30, that the unit is growing by leaps and bounds and that there is a waiting list of boys awaiting more volunteer Den Mothers.

Some people sing after a fashion; others after an old-fashioned.—H. G. Hutcheson.

Taneytown Fire Company will Make a Drive for Funds

One of the most worthy drive for funds will be made by the Taneytown Fire Company, April 15 to May 1. This local solicitation should concern every person living in Taneytown and community and contributions should be made by everyone, liberally. The importance of an effective and willing fire-fighting organization cannot be estimated. It is an essential and inseparable part of our community.

Your contributions help to make it possible to have ready at all times, day or night the best in life-saving and fire-fighting equipment.

The Fire Company is always alert to secure the best and most modern equipment that a efficient life-saving and fire-fighting organization should have. Recently an R.C.A. 2-way radio equipment was installed in all three trucks and the ambulance at a cost of $3200.

In August 1941 an ambulance was purchased and put into service at a cost of $9000. After thirteen years of service this machine made 1123 calls and travelled 54,322 miles. Having served its usefulness the Fire Company will replace this ambulance with a new one at a cost of $8995. This Packard ambulance will be equipped with dual Emerson Resuscitator complete for two patients, two stretchers and all of the first-aid equipment that can be put into ambulance use. It will also be equipped with a 2-way radio. Delivery will be made about May 15th.

George Kiser will serve as general chairman of the drive for funds assisted by Eugene Eyer and Charles Smith. Other committees for solicitation will be: East Baltimore St. from Square to George St.; George Kiser, Thomas Eckenrode and Augustus Shank; E. Baltimore St. from George Street to Fairground Ave.; Delmont Koons, Roy Smith, Mervin Conover and Charles Cashman; W. Baltimore St., from Square to M. S. Ohler's Home and Lutheran Church Alley, Edwin Baumgardner and Doty Robb; Frederick St., Hyser's Alley, Eckenrode Building Apts. and American Store Apts., David Smeak and Maurice Parrish; York St. from Square to Chenoweth's including Commerce Street, Donald Tracey and David Smith; Middle St. and Fairview Ave., Howell Royer and Harry Dougherty; Broad Street, Antrim St. and Breth's Street, Charles Smith and Clifford Ott; George Street and Mill Ave., Clarence Wilson and Roy Hailey; for the county, Eugene Eyer, Chairman, Kenneth Hawk, David Smeak, Elwood Frock, Maurice Parrish, Russell Rodgers, Thomas Smith, Thomas Eckenrode, Charles Baker, Donald Clingan, Augustus Shank, Charles Smith, Raymond Feeser, Edwin Baumgardner and David Hiltbrich.

PINEY CREEK 4-H

The Piney Creek 4-H Club was held at the home of Sandra and Eddie Koons on March 24, 1954. The meeting was opened by the president, David Gunther. We repeated the pledge. The minutes were read and dues collected to which we named different kinds of flowers.

We had a demonstration on Treating a Hog of Lice by Eddie Koons. There was a discussion on Hog Management.

We had a report from a Music meeting which was attended by Mildred Bowling and Veronica Forney. David Gunther gave a report on the Southern States building which he visited.

We enjoyed games and refreshments after the meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Shirley Miller on April 28, 1954 at 7:30.

Sec. Sandra Koons

HISTORY OF TANEYTOWN

As It Appears in the 1894 Files of the Record

The breaking out of the war of the rebellion found the same confusion among the political parties as prevailed throughout the country. Most of the Whigs had voted for Bell and Everett; there were very few Douglas Democrats, and I believe only one vote cast for Mr. Lincoln. A very large majority of our people were thoroughly loyal, but did not know which way to turn; living in a slave state they naturally mistrusted the Republican party and very few of them knew anything about Mr. Lincoln. Even his celebrated contest with Stephen A. Douglas, and his Cooper Institute speech were known to comparatively few people here.

The passage of the ordinance of secession and the firing on Fort Sumter however, obliged every one to take sides, and while we had some peace at any price" men, the most of our citizens were willing to fight for the Union. Taneytown district furnished quite a number of men to the Union army, but it did not, so far as I know, furnish a single man to the Rebel army. Before the war the builders at Carlisle, Pa., which are now used for an Indian school were used as a garrison. When the war began the garrison consisted of a regiment of regular cavalry. I do not know what regiment it was, but they were known through the country as Texas Rangers. Shortly before the war began they were ordered to Washington and marched through Taneytown. At that time there was a flag pole in the square near the public well, and when the citizens heard of the near approach of the regiment they ran the flag up on the pole and taking another flag headed by Mr. Tobias Russill, who carried it on horse sash, they went down and met the regiment at Sandy Lane. The troops saluted, the citizens cheered, and the officer in command expressed his great pleasure in receiving such a loyal welcome to Maryland, where they had expected to find rebels.

Taneytown being within sound of the guns of the battle of Antietam, and directly in the route of the Union army as it passed to the battle of Gettysburg is historic ground, and no one who was not present can well imagine the excitement that prevailed at that time. I believe it was only because Gen. Reynolds came in contact with the rebels rather prematurely that the battle was fought at Gettysburg and not along Pipe Creek as was first intended. Even before the battle of Antietam, as Lee and Jackson came up the Valley of Virginia, and their troops raided across the Potomac, our town would be crowded for several days at a time with fugitive sharing with them their families and all the worldly possessions they could carry. They of course brought all sorts of rumors and many of them believed the rebels to be in close pursuit, but so far as I can recollect there was never any rebel troops in the town, (Continued on 6th page)

COUNTY PRINCIPALS GUESTS AT STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING

Several Carroll county elementary school principals and two visiting teachers from Germany were guests at the regular monthly meeting of the Taneytown Elementary School Student Council Tuesday afternoon. Following the call to order by President Sandra Shorb and reading of the minutes by Secretary, Etta Bell, the Council held a panel discussion on the subject, "Safety at School." Five members set up guide-posts for successfully conducting a safety campaign within the school. These included inspiration by Jackie Myers; Consultation, Douglas Gunther; Focus, Cynthia Lawyer; Coordinate, Sandra Baker, and Publicize, Sandra Remsburg.

Nine members of the Council spoke on specific safety practices to be followed within the school. Topics and speakers were: "Safety Within the School Building," Jean Howarth; "Play So as not to Endanger Self and Others," Barbara Rinehart; "Horizontal Ladder," Donna Eckard; "Sawsaws," Cheryl Lane Stahl; "Jungle Gym," Martha Garrett; "Swings," Terry Bell; "Slides," Shirley Miller; "Games," Victor Welty; "Playground Leaders," Vicki Lambert.

Adjournment followed the announcement that Vice-President Bonnie Bair would likely preside at the following meeting. Miss Marjorie Case is faculty sponsor of the Student Council.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The Taneytown Agriculture 4-H Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Franklin Feeser, at 8 o'clock, March 22. The meeting was called to order by vice-president, Harvey Dickenson. The roll response was to name a garden seed.

We discussed having a bake sale sometime in the month of May. Howard Klein, gave us some points on how to prepare a hot bed. We also talked of practicing a judging team for the next two months to try and build up a club judging team. Our meeting was adjourned and delicious refreshments were served and enjoyed by all.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Vesta Null and we will start our judging practice.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

From the kitchen window in the parsonage, I can look out upon rows of Jonquills which are beautifully blooming which would please any house wife. Soups on and this time it is "Barley" (instead of the usual Vegetable kind) which was served to me most any day of the week for lunch when a little school girl in old (Philly)!

Ladies, do keep hand lotion in your kitchen ready for use when you are finished the dishes. That way by continual using your hands will be glamorous! And thinking of hands—"Shorty" gloves from Paris is all the rage. I remember for many years most all fine gloves came from abroad especially the "Kid" ones. These gloves today are truly for the young-in-heart and all spanking white in washable glaze kidskin!

As to dresses—so many circular skirts are coming in for the summer and that means you must have a tiny waist. Start bending down, Sister every night! It really is "Ginger" as to the color of Milady's shoe which will mean compliments and many glances!

Am glad those awful red finger nails are passed that remind me of the days when visiting the Doctor regardless of what ailment you—would immediately take a look at your finger nails! Remember?

Keep stirring your face powder. Ladies and use cotton instead of a puff to make your skin have a fine texture (or else purchase a new puff every now and then). If you are in need of cooking utensils, "Bride to Be" (or any housewife) be sure you see "MAGNOLITE" before you purchase as they are not alone the most beautiful of all cooking utensils but they have special features which any cook will love such as every sauce pan and fry pan—strains as it pours—turn the cover to any desired opening! All Magnalite handles and knobs are Oven-Proof and any can be used as a casserole baking dish or roast pan in the oven, too.

You actually save the heat in using Magnalite because they retain the heat so that means less money on the bill monthly of fuel. They truly will last from generation to generation. There are 15 to the set. Your Observer purchased five to begin. They truly are glamorous. The purchase was made from that nice store of Hochschild's (where the customer is always right)! Wagner Magnalite cooks from its thick sides, cover and bottom! This ware should be a first in every home!

That old song, "Annie Doesn't Live Here Anymore!" makes me think of our cow "Nellie". Mr. Farmer as feed and hay were soaring in price and when there are just a few in the family it does not pay one to hold onto a cow.

There are many who hesitate about purchasing a T.V. set due to all the talk in color. T.V. the cheapest set as I stated in a previous column of last year will be $1200, and that is when they do come out which will not be for some time. So go ahead and invest with the best investment anywhere and enjoy life as it should be.

I have a brilliant nephew (graduate of the University of Penna.) who stated most emphatically that he would not own one. Finally, he bought one last year, and in every spare minute he is absolutely glued right there before that T. V.

The other night Your Observer was the only lady present at a plumber's meeting to learn about "RADIANT PANEL HEATING" with copper tubing so as I could give it to you in this column. Two movies in Technicolor were shown. This kind of heating, was installed in 1907 and the success of Radiant Heating on the Continent and England aroused interest of engineers in the United States and thousands of Radiant Heating systems have been installed throughout this country in the past thirty years. If you are building a new home investigate this immediately or if you are doing over your home and require heating. It really will be the only heating in years to come as soon as the public realizes. One house constructed with this heating just means a dozen more after the builders take a good look. There is so much comfort for and in the home. More floor space eliminating those radiators which are unsightly, more attractive interior decoration as to the furniture arrangement, the added plants and flowers which do not wilt with such heat as Radiant Heating, no streaking of dust on walls and ceilings, no air currents, less fire hazards, does entirely away with cold floors and much lower operating costs and a hundred more reasons. Remember with Radiant Heating the tube is placed in either the floors or the ceilings. The best known church is the famous Liverpool Cathedral which employs warm air circulated below the masonry floors as the heating system. For a free booklet on "Radiant Heating" write to "Chase Brass & Copper Co., Waterbury, Conn.

Have a grand week end, folks. Be very careful when you drive even if it is just "for a dog". My precious "Sugar" was killed by a speeder last week right in front of her home. She did not have one little chance to save her own life. So long until next week. D. V. I am,

Faithfully,

HOW MUCH IS AN EDUCATION?

Editor's Note:

We wish we could tell you the name of the author of this piece who signs himself 'A Citizen', and whom we think is likewise 'A Friend'. But we swiped this gem from the Western New Yorker, of Warsaw, N.Y.

"Dear Sir:

"Our ancestors had a great respect for learning. They thought everyone should be able to read, write and figure. That's why they decided everyone should have a 'free education.' But they made one awful mistake. Nobody stopped long enough to decide how much is an education.

"They can measure most everything else. They measure lumber in board feet, hay by the ton, time by minutes, air in pounds, and beer comes in bottles.

"But nobody knows the answer to—'How much is an education?'"

"After our ancestors decided on a 'free education', they built the little red schoolhouses of song and story. The kids walked to school. This made them healthy so they didn't need any physical training. It also eliminated the need for buses which weren't invented yet, anyway. The kids learned to add and subtract, how to spell 'cat' and enough to read out of the Bible.

"But someone thought maybe that isn't enough education—so they built the schoolhouses bigger and they made the kids go to school more. They learned Latin and Greek and added 'The Ancient Mariner' to the curriculum. But still a few thought maybe that wasn't enough.

"So they built great BIG schoolhouses—and then they REALLY learned them. They learned 'em so much they knew more than the teachers. So then they had to build schools to teach the teachers more to teach. And, naturally, the teacher's schools were free, too, because people had just got out of the habit of expecting to pay for such things.

"But some people still weren't sure if we were handing out enough education to make it a real genuine 'free education'. There were a few kids that hadn't learned anything (and didn't have a job) so it seemed natural to keep them going to school. That got us into the college business (complete with football and similar educational functions) and from there we went on to graduate schools and God knows where we'll go next.

"Mind you, I'm not blaming our ancestors. They didn't know what they were getting into. They must have wanted their kids to know enough to figure interest on the mortgage, read the paper and write Uncle John to come up for Thanksgiving. But they sure started on a trip without knowing where the end was. If they had known they were getting into a contract to send every baby through Oxford, maybe they would rather be stayed ignorant.

"If we're half as smart as all our education ought to make us, maybe we'd better pass another law about 'free education' before it's too late. We ought to pass a law that says—when a man gets to be 35, he either goes to work or has to start buying his own books."

"A CITIZEN"

15 STATES HAVE RIGHT-TO-WORK LAWS

Mississippi is the 15th state to guarantee a citizen's right to work without joining any organization. Governor White signed such a law on February 24th.

The right-to-work laws are in no way anti-union. They simply affirm a fundamental and essential freedom—that a man may or may not join a union, as he chooses, and that in either case has a right to make his living at his trade. In other words, the laws protect the individual from coercion by either the unions or business.

Active right-to-work law campaigns are underway in other states. Labor will not be truly free and independent until all 48 states have passed them.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

LAS VEGAS, N. M., DAILY OPTIC: "The rule that presidents kill themselves on the job has a happy exception in the case of Herbert Hoover who is performing valuable service to the nation 21 years after he left the White House. Earlier Presidents came back for brief periods of service in the executive department and the Congress, but of all the list Hoover has contributed the most in his post-presidential period."

WINDOM, MINN., CITIZEN: "Over in Russia the communists have long been using capitalistic methods to get their production up. The man who produces the most gets the most pay. They have had piece work for years. They have had a wide pay differential. And as now as a means of making an excuse for this use of capitalistic measures they claim to have invented something new. It's just old-fashioned American incentive pay, based on the theory that he who produces the most should receive the greatest remuneration."

MEDFORD, MASS., MERCURY: "A dozen children in the town of Middlebush in New Jersey bragged to police of their vandalism when caught in such acts as breaking windows, slashing automobile tires, pulling up shrubbery. They were told their 'confessions' were tape recorded, but not why. Next, the police brought the parents of the twelve offenders to the station and played back the recordings. They had to hear their own children's voices to believe their deprecations."

COVINA, CALIF., ARGUS-CITIZEN: "Both political parties can do more for the country and at the same time improve their chances at the polls in November by bowing less at each other and working shoulder to shoulder to solve the national problems."

SENATE CLOAKROOM

by J. Glenn Beall U.S. Senator from Md.

The excise tax bill, containing one billion, 34 million dollars in reductions, has now passed the Senate and goes to a conference committee composed of members of the House and Senate.

The Senate version reduced excise taxes by $122 million more than the bill passed by the House, and the conferees must now reach an agreement that will be satisfactory to both Houses of Congress.

Taxes extended for one more year on such articles as liquor, beer, cigarettes, gasoline and automobiles will bring into the treasury a total of one billion, 77 million dollars.

In any Congressional debate on tax reductions, or revenue increases, a great deal can be learned—and in this particular case it became a matter of record, and positive affirmation, that the Eisenhower Administration and the Majority Leadership of Congress is determined to cut taxes judiciously so as to stimulate our national economy and at the same time to hold down the Federal deficit.

It became equally obvious that the opposition, especially that little band of New Dealers who have treated our economy so recklessly and irresponsibly, are still depending on such trick slogans as "trickle down" and "percolate-up" to take the place of sound economic planning.

The reduction of over one billion dollars in excise taxes will reduce prices on such articles as luggage, toilet articles, household appliances, movie tickets, travel tickets and telephone bills.

The cuts on such household appliances as refrigerators, stoves, and other articles, will alone reduce Federal revenue by one hundred million dollars. The reduction of taxes on movie admissions of 60 cents or less will total 65 million dollars.

Now I personally am opposed to excise taxes and would like to see them eliminated entirely. However, we are faced with certain unavoidable facts which make it economically and fiscally unsound to do this.

President Eisenhower, equally concerned with high taxes and high Federal spending, explained recently what might be called the economic facts of life by saying 'Every dollar spent by the government must be paid for either by taxes or by more borrowing with greater debt.'

When Eisenhower and the Republican Party came to power they accepted unpaid bills from the Truman Administration totaling approximately 79 million dollars. These bills were for obligations which the Truman Administration had made but not paid for.

In addition, the government had been borrowing for over twenty years and the Federal debt was almost to the statutory limit. The Federal Government had to continue supplying necessary services to the people and to provide for our national defense. Therefore, the Eisenhower Administration accepted the responsibility of not only raising revenue to meet its own current expenditures but to pay off back debts as well.

It was pointed out recently that if all the revenue the government had received from the time President Eisenhower came into office until the present had been set aside in its entirety, it would barely be sufficient to pay for the unrecorded bills of the Truman Administration—bills which had not been included in the national debt figure.

Tax cuts—if they are to have the desired effect on our national economy and permit the Federal Government to meet its obligations without contributing to inflation or deflation—must be carefully placed.

Right now there is a lot of talk about a down swing in our economy and one way of halting this adverse trend is to stimulate business and consumption. Tax cuts to effect this cannot be delayed for a period of months or a year, as income tax reductions effective in 1955 would be.

Therefore, we can expect these reductions in excise taxes to have a stimulating impact on business activity very promptly. The reductions should become law by Thursday of this week. It is hoped that they will help ward off unemployment and the decline of production.

This Administration's tax and spending program does not rely on any appealing slogans like "trickle down" and "percolate-up" but upon the faith that the huge potential of these United States can be made to work for the general betterment of our people, and the knowledge that our economy is a delicately balanced mechanism that needs precise adjustments—not the irresponsible hand of an amateur mechanic.

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

SILLY DEMANDS

How foolish some parents are! How ridiculous some of their demands! They demand of children what they avow to be impossible with themselves. I have heard mothers say, "now, you must eat this or else you'll have to stay in the house all morning, and not go out to play." Also, "now, if you don't go to sleep, you'll have to remain in bed until supper time and then go back to bed after supper and stay there until morning." In this sound pedagogy? Does it reveal an intellect knowledge of children and how to deal with them? Some children are unfortunate to be born into the homes in which they are. There are children to be pitied, begotten of parents late in life. People in a rut have a difficult time in getting out. Instead they follow the rut at the hazard of the physical, mental, and moral health of their children. Many children become emotionally disturbed. Perhaps before a marriage license is granted, the would-be-parents should be required to pursue a course of study in child psychology to control one's self surely is not best fitted to control and discipline a child.

All children, cannot be treated alike, even in the same family. Each child is a separate personality, a different individual. They are different in temperament, and constitutional make-up. There are more children today than when we were children, therefore, a larger number of dispositions. There is the physically strong child who is able to endure with apparently less harmful effect bumps, bruises, nagging, the innumerable Do's and Don'ts, and unkind treatment. On the other hand, there is the naturally nervous child; alert, nervously active, more delicately and finely constructed, who expands nervous energy more generously until he grows high-strung, and irritable at the least provocation. Would a truly wise parent treat both of these children alike? Improper treatment of children may lead to nervous and mental disorder of a permanent nature, or to hatred of the parents or parents which may last forever.

Do not fail to discipline the child. Learn how to discipline him. Let not your nervous and tired feeling measure the nature and extent of the discipline. "Train up a child in the way he should go, And when he is old he will not depart from it."

Parents who have been trained properly should in turn be properly trained disciplinarians.

REGISTER AND QUALIFY FOR PRIMARY ELECTION

Carroll county's Board of Election Supervisors will endeavor to provide the public with ample opportunity to register and qualify for participation in the primary election on Monday, June 28th.

Those entitled to register will be afforded four opportunities on three different days to register, or obtain service at the Election Board Office in Westminster before the Primary election.

To accommodate the many folks who find themselves free on Saturday, and any others, the Board of Election Supervisors office will be open for the transaction of business on three Saturdays preceding the primary election.

The Election Board office in the basement of the Courthouse will be open for the accommodation of the public on:

- Saturday, May 22nd.
- Saturday, May 29th.
- Saturday, June 5.

from the hours of nine until 4 p. m. Those three dates will be addition to the usual county-wide registration at each and every polling place in Carroll county which this year is scheduled on Tuesday, June 15, 1954. On that date, registrars will be on hand to accommodate the public at each and every polling place in the county from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

The Primary Election will be held June 28th.

The year 1953 ranked as the 10th best for agricultural exports in the nation's history. Farm exports totaled $2.8 billion in 1953 compared with $3.4 billion in 1952 and the postwar record of $4 billion in 1951.

Money, however, is the jack of all trades.

The canning factory building will be commenced about the last of April, and will be completed at once. The framing lumber will be supplied by Jonas Harner, and the stone by James D. Haines.

Two gentlemen from Baltimore, interested in Acetylene lighting, are now here, presumably for the purpose of trying to install a plant to light the town. We trust that they may succeed in their effort, as no town in the state needs light more than Taneytown.

They really "GO" together

The new I-block Six-Fordomatic Drive combination is available in any of Ford's 14 body styles. Illustrated is the Customline Six Fordor Sedan.

Ford Six and Fordomatic

The new Ford 115-h.p. I-block Six whisks you along silently, smoothly, economically. Its deep-block build provides rigid crankshaft support for smoother, quieter operation. Low-friction design and high-turbulence combustion chambers mean more miles from less gas. And, thanks to the Six's higher compression and increased displacement, you get extra "GO" power at all speeds!

Fordomatic Drive shifts for you more smoothly than you could do it yourself. It's the only "automatic" in Ford's field to combine a fluid torque converter and an automatic intermediate gear. Should you ever need an extra burst of speed for passing or hill-climbing Fordomatic's intermediate gear takes over automatically when you step down on the accelerator.

You get a double-value power package when you buy a '54 Ford with the new I-block Six and versatile Fordomatic Drive. This brilliant Ford engine-transmission combination brings you all the smoothness and flexibility of the finest no-shift driving combined with the extra economy that's built into the industry's most modern, short-stroke, overhead-valve Six. And, of course, you get the smooth, level riding comfort, the easier handling of Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension, a feature exclusive to Ford in its field.

Remember, too, a Ford Six with Fordomatic Drive is automatically worth more when it comes time for you to sell!

FEESERSBURG

Rarely does one meet these days a person that says he is bored to death because he has nothing to do. Usually it is the other way round and the complaint is that there isn't enough time to do all the things one wants to do. But once in awhile we come across a person—usually female, whose chief complaint is that life is passing them by and they have nothing to live for. This kind of person deserves no sympathy for it isn't life that is passing them by, but they themselves are allowing it to slip by without reaching out to grasp a part of it. For there is a spot for every individual in this teeming mass of humanity. If one's talent is nothing more than darned little boy's socks, reading a newspaper aloud or making dolls dresses, there is a spot for you in a hospital, an orphanage or home for the aged. Never before has the need for volunteer services been so great and the demand will continue to grow. Any woman who has seen her family grow up and depart to make homes of their own, need not feel lost and neglected, for a brand new world can unfold for her if she joins a volunteer group and works for the pleasure of others, less fortunate than herself. One local group that does this sort of work is the "Gray Ladies" and it is always in need of volunteers. They visit Fort Howard one day a week and Springfield State Hospital one day a week. The volunteer service has become so important that all hospitals are welcoming volunteer workers for any length of time, from one hour a day to half a day. The important thing in this work is that the volunteer is giving something of herself and receiving in return the deep satisfaction of serving without monetary reward.

The Spring Fashion show was presented by Mrs. Shauck, Home Economics teacher at the Elmer Wolfe school, Monday evening, to an appreciative audience which filled the auditorium. A one-act play was given before the fashion show tending to prove what a little knowledge and interest in home decoration and meal planning can do for an indifferent family. The characters were portrayed by Kay Luttrell, Jeanne Bohn, Deanne Crouse, Mary Schue, Frances Bohn, Geraldine Graham. The girls from the seventh grade sang, "Song of Springtime"; Susan Crumpacker took the part of "Spirit of Springtime"; the commentator, Patty Abbott; pianist, Nancy Roelke; technical assistants, Danny Zile, Bob Pfutz; Lights, Barbara Nusbaum, stage crew Marlene Bohn, Deanne Warner. The refreshment committee, Ann Crumpacker, Audrey Hahn, Louise Stumpf, Alice Blessing, Esther Martin, Francis Bohn, Judy William, Geraldine Graham, Mary Scheu, Jeanne Bohn. The high school girls modeled the dresses and outfits they made this school year, which varied in design and material to fit any occasion. The dresses were smart in appearance, yet practical in usefulness. If the fashion show was an index to the girls sewing ability then there are some Claire McCordells in the embryo stage at our local school. Since homemaking and dress-making have become not only big business but also quite a glamorous profession, parents should encourage their daughters to develop their ability along this line, if they possess the least bit of talent. More and more it is being proven that the Home Economic Department in the high schools is a very important one, for it is both creative and practical. Since homemaking is a natural instinct in all girls what could be better for them than to teach them in public school the correct way of feeding a family, making a home attractive and keeping one's self attractive? If our daughters learn no more than this, in their high school years, then they have learned a great deal.

Friday of last week we thought the storm along the Eastern seaboard had blown some seagulls our way but we learn that they were whistling white swans on their way to Alaska and the Hudson Bay region. The swans in flight make a whistling sound with their wings. We have been told that a grandfather's clock at a sale in Uniontown last week brought a bid of 1200 dollars. Among the other requirements for being a public school superintendent are a chronic low blood pressure and an ulcer pro stomach. Also the hide of a rhinoceros would come in handy. It seems that the average superintendent is being pressured from all sides, by parents in particular but also by many other groups too. What do the parents want? Well, most of them want more emphasis placed on the three "R's", while other groups demand something else. The answer? There doesn't seem to be one, as the pro and con educating our children will go on forever. There is no stock solution to the problems and it takes a brave person to become a school superintendent and even try to steer a clear course through all the pressure groups. Mrs. Samuel Keyton spent a week in Washington looking after her 7th and latest grandchild. If nothing else will take a farmer's wife away from the farm, the coming of a new addition to the family will do the trick. A baby has more pulling power than the moon, for sometimes one can lure the grandparents all the way across a continent. He hadn't been much of a father to a dozen children nor a good husband either. He had even been called the town's bum. But when the minister began to preach his funeral sermon, the late husband and father grew in stature. "He had" the minister declared, "been likeable, friendly, helpful, devout, generous, and industrious." At that point the widow got really worried. Leaning close to her older son, she whispered: "John go peek in the casket, I think we are at the wrong funeral". It is reported that the most serious hidden casualty of the Puerto Rican shooting in the House of Representatives is speaker Joe Martin. His intimate friends say he is still very nervous and shaken over the affair.

The Golden Rule is still the best rule to live by whether it is used in social life or the business world. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" is not only a fine moral rule but a good practical one too. It is the basic rule of all religions and the rule adopted by all farsighted business men. This eleven word rule contains more potential power for good and for peace in this world than all the "A" and "H" bombs stockpiled together.—Ruth Roelke.

REPORT OF RED CROSS FUND DRIVE

Three districts in the county have reported they have succeeded in reaching the suggested quotas for the 1954 Red Cross Fund Drive campaign for membership and funds. The districts "over the top" are: Uniontown, New Windsor and Hampstead in the order in which they finished. Other areas in the county are doing very well even though the weather has been inclement most of the month of March. Woolery's dist has collected 98% of its suggested quota; Taneytown-Middleburg has 85% of the amount they need collected; Myers district has raised approximately 70% of the amount they hope to get; Westminster district has reached the 60% mark and Berrett district is well past the halfway figure. There is evidence in the other districts that everyone is working. However, some of the solicitors have not reported to their respective chairmen. Everyone is urged to complete their solicitation as soon as possible and send in their reports and funds. Mrs. R. S. Farley, Sr., county chairman for this year, commends all volunteers on their untiring efforts to plete their territories in spite of bad weather and a great deal of illness.

MARRIED

RUPPERT-FROUNFELTER WHALEN-HAHN Double nuptials were solemnized on Friday evening, March 26, 1954 at 6 o'clock in the Taneytown Presbyterian Church when Miss Dolores Mae Frounfelter, daughter of Mrs. Bernard O. Bowers, of near Taneytown, and Mr. Bernard Augusta Ruppert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Ruppert, Westminster, were wed; and when Miss Joyce Eileen Hahn, Westminster, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Shildt, of near Taneytown, and Mr. Ervin David Whalen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whalen, of near Sykesville, were united in marriage.

Double ring ceremonies were performed by the Rev. Gideon E. Galambos, amidst a setting of spring cut flowers. The couples respectively acted as honor attendants for each other.

Mrs. Ruppert wore a powder blue dress, with navy and white accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Whalen wore a navy blue suit-dress with navy and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the wedding, the couples left on a honeymoon trip to the Poconos.

Mrs. Ruppert is employed as secretary by The Carroll Record Company.

GROSS - KEENEY

The wedding of Miss Gloria Christine Keeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Keeney, Keymar, and Guy Elwood Gross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Crouse, Ladiesburg, took place Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock in the Lutheran parsonage, Taneytown. The Rev. Glenn L. Stahl, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. The bride was attired in a navy blue suit with red accessories, and a corsage of red rosebuds. Raymond Smith, the maid of honor, wore a navy blue and white checked suit with red accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride was a '53 graduate of Taneytown High school and is now employed by the Cambridge Rubber Co. The bridegroom attended Walkersville High School, and is now employed by the Model Steam Bakery.

After the ceremony a small reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. Those attending were the immediate family of the bride and groom and a few friends. After a short wedding trip, they will reside at the groom's home.

DIED

WILLIAM LOOKINGBILL William Lookingbill, 51-year-old workman, died Thursday, March 25, 1954 when he was partially covered by a shifting pile of fertilizer near here.

State Trooper P. M. Hahn said Lookingbill was trying to loosen the 30-foot pile with a long bar when the slide occurred, covering most of his body.

Dr. James T. Marsh, Carroll County medical examiner, said the man's head remained exposed and the cause of death was not immediately determined. An autopsy was ordered.

The incident occurred at a fertilizer plant at Keymar, Md., 17 miles west of Westminster.

The victim was a son of Mrs. Margaret Grinder Lookingbill, Bruceville, and the late Wm. Lookingbill. Surviving are two brothers, Russell L. Taneytown and Vernon G. Lookingbill, Bruceville; three sisters, Mrs. James Glacken, RFD, Union Bridge; Mrs. Chas. U. Mehring, Keymar, and Mrs. Ray Miller, Bruceville.

Funeral last Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the C. O. Fuss & Son funeral home, conducted by Rev. Ernest Colwell. Interment in Pipe Creek cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my neighbors, friends and relatives for their kindness and help and cards of sympathy shown us in the illness and death of my husband; also for the floral tributes. Again I say many thanks.

MARYLAND DAY OBSERVED BY FIFTH GRADE PLAY

"Maryland Day", March 25, was celebrated at the Taneytown Elementary school by a program presented by pupils of Mrs. Alberta Lanier's 5th grade class. Following the Bible reading by Linda Bowers and singing of the Star-Spangled Banner accompanied by Mary Spangler, several scenes with dialogue were presented depicting important events in the history of our state beginning with the landing of the first colonists on St. Clement's Island in 1634. A scene describing planning for the colony included Judy Kooztz, Emma Jane Formwalt, Mike Wildasin, Ray Jordan, Vicki Lambert, Ronnie Dayhoff, Darlene Shaffer. Jacqueline Myers described the voyage of the two ships Ark and Dove and their landing at the tip of what is now St. Mary's county.

A scene showing the purchase of land from the Indians included as colonists: Richard Hahn, Mike Wildasin, Ray Jordan, Ronnie Dayhoff, and as Indians Delmar Feesser, Carroll Fox, Richard White, Donald Shoemaker, Ollie Paine, Robert Leister, Wayne Drabic. Linda Bowers described games and early occupations in Maryland.

A square dance followed members of which were: Judy Kooztz, Jackie Myers, Vicki Lambert, Emma Jane Formwalt, Darlene Shaffer, Billy Henshaw, Mike Wildasin, Richard Hahn, Ronnie Dayhoff, Ray Jordan. Descriptions of many of present-day Maryland's vacation spots were given by Lydia Schott, Robert Keefe, Frances Shoemaker, Jean Rummel, Shirley Pittenger, Donna Deal, Merle Weant, Audrey Singel, Fred Garner, and Myrna Mae Myers. The assembly closed with the singing of Maryland, My Maryland by the entire class.

Another demonstration was "Adjusting a Carburetor" given by Jim Saylor and Bill Ridinger.

The last demonstration was given by Dave Gunther on "Cleaning a Tractor's Radiator." Books were checked and assignments made.

Mr. Ommert treated everyone to refreshments.

The next meeting will be held at Crouse Implement and Tractor Company, at Kingsdale, Pa., on March 24, at 7:30.

JACK MOONEY, Club Reporter.

FARM BUREAU PLANNING GROUP MEET

The Taneytown Farm Bureau Planning group held its monthly meeting on Friday, March 26, at 8 p. m., in the United Brethren Church Social Room. The Uniontown Group had been invited to meet with us, and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Spoerlein, graciously consented to show pictures they had taken on their trip to Europe. We were fortunate in being able to have Mrs. Leonard Reifsnider and David favor us with instrumental and vocal music.

A very short discussion was held on "How the Problems of the World Affect the Farmer". Refreshments of cake, candy, potato chips, ice cream and coffee were served.

The next meeting will be held April 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Myers.

DR. GEORGE T. PACK BUYS GUERNSEY SIRE

Dr. George T. Pack, Wrightsville, Pa., has just purchased the young Guernsey sire, Riegeldele Max's Plutocrat, from William A. Fouché, Taneytown, R. D., Md.

This richly bred young bull is out of the well-bred cow, Riegeldele Phador's Catherine, that has once been classified Very Good for two years.

He has two production records of 12,203 pounds of milk and 597 pounds of butterfat made as a senior three year-old, and 14,545 pounds of milk and 704 pounds of butterfat made as a five year-old. He is sired by Riegeldele Melba's Maxim.

In the Harrisville section of western Pennsylvania during March there has been both wintry and spring weather. This morning one found the trees covered with a sheet of ice. It was a beautiful sight. The ice is still thereon at noon, Tues., March 30. The trees were budding. Robins have returned in large numbers and they look plump and fat. Frogs by their croaking have made us feel that spring was here. Have all of these creatures been deceived? Could an investigating committee give more favorable assurance?

but once, when a small squad of cavalry came through leaving Mr. W. W. Dallas, who then owned the Trevanion Mill property, with them. They were in a hurry and I believe did no damage. Once, at least, some of our own citizens took their horses and skedaddled into Pennsylvania, but most of them did not care to repeat their experience, and after one trial staid at home. The rebels never got any horses, but a few were pressed into the Union service at the time of the battle of Gettysburg.

One day a report came that a company of Confederate cavalry was encamped at Trevanion Mills; Captain Gunthrie and another person were appointed to reconnoitre, and in the meantime teams were seen coming to take away some of our prominent citizens. In a short time the captain and his command were seen coming back at full speed and many were certain the rebels, were at their heels, but it proved to be a false alarm and the excitement quieted down for the time.

The centre of the army of the Potomac passed through Taneytown on the way to the battle of Gettysburg; the right wing through Westminster and the left through Emmitsburg. The first troops to reach Taneytown were the 3rd corps, commanded by Gen. Daniel E. Sickles. They arrived on the 30th of June, passed through the town and encamped on the farms of Jacob Null, John Thomson, and Benjamin Shunk. General Sickles stood on the porch of the stone tavern and reviewed them as they passed.

The 2nd corps commanded by General Hancock passed through town on the afternoon of the 1st of July. It was while halting on Dr. Swope's farm for a rest, that General Hancock received the order from General Meade, announcing the death of General Reynolds, and commanding him to turn over the command of his corps to General Gibbon, to proceed at once to Gettysburg and take command of all the forces there.

Messrs. John W. Jones, James Kridler, John Bishop and Thomas D. Thomson were pressed into the service as guides and taken to the camp in Thomson's meadow, (the farm now occupied by Joshua Koutz). They remained in camp until evening, when Messrs. Bishop and Thomson got permission to go home subject to a call at any time. About 10 o'clock at night the call came ordering them to lead the troops so that they would be within two miles of Gettysburg at sunrise. General Sickles' corps moved first, taking Messrs. Jones and Kridler; they were dismissed and came home without seeing much fighting.

Mr. Thomson says he and Mr. Bishop were taken to a position on what is now Hancock Avenue, about midway between Little Round Top and Gettysburg where they saw all the maneuvering of that day, the marching and counter marching of the rebel army, the picket firing, and finally General Sickles' advance across the wheat field, where his corps was so severely handled. They remained in this position from 6 o'clock in the morning until 3 in the afternoon, when they were ordered to General Meade's headquarters, the old one story log house on the Taneytown road, now so well known. While Mr. Thomson was standing at the yard gate a cannon ball came crashing through the gable end of the house and passed within a foot of his head. At this time they lost their horses, and being of no further use as guides were allowed to go home. As night came on the firing ceased and they started on foot, reaching home about 1 o'clock in the morning.

During the battle of Gettysburg there was a signal station in the tower of the Lutheran church; all day long signal flags were in motion and at night the glare of rockets could be seen, answering signals being made from a station on Round Top. I am indebted to Mr. Thomas D. Thomson for most of the facts in this article.

The following is the roll of honor for Taneytown district; it shows that we sent 75 men to the Union army out of a voting population of about 500, making one of every 5 men liable to do military duty. It was furnished by Mr. John T. Reck, who was a member of Co. G, 3rd Regiment Md. Inf. Vol. P. H. B.

1st. MD. REG. INF. VOLS. Co. (not known). George Burke, private, died since the war.—Joseph Six, orderly for General Kenley; shot in the arm, and arm amputated below right elbow.

2nd. MD. REG. INF. VOLS. Co. (not known). James H. Picking, private, wounded in 2nd. battle of Bull's Run, Va. by a minie ball passing through the neck, within one-fourth of an inch of the windpipe, and coming out of the right shoulder. He was captured, while unconscious and sent to a Confederate hospital. Died since the war.

3rd MD. REG. INF. VOLS. Co. G. Henry Aulthouse, private, slightly wounded near right ankle in the battle of Chancellorsville, Va. He is now blind, caused by two sun strokes which he received during the war. One of the strokes he received on the march to the battle of Gettysburg.

6th MD. REG. INF. VOLS. Co. A. Joseph M. Thomson, five major, captured at Winchester, Va., June 15th, 1863, nine weeks in Belle Isle and Libby prisons, Va.—John Miller, private, killed near Petersburg, Va., June 22nd, 1864. Shot in head above right eye.—George W. Miller, private.—Emanuel Shoemaker, private, killed in the battle of the Wilderness, found lying across a log with eight bullet-holes through his body.

Co. C. John E. Buffington, enlisted as a private in August, 1862, was one of the best soldiers in the regiment and at the close of the war was a Lieutenant of his company. He was offered a Lieutenantcy in the regular army.—John Wolf, private, wounded in the battle of the Wilderness and died on the way to the hospital.—William Crouse, drummer, captured at Winchester, Va., and paroled on the field.—Samuel Rinaman, private killed in the battle of Locust Grove, Va.

Alfred S. Rowe, enlisted as a private, promoted to sergeant, wounded in the battle of the Wilderness and died two days afterward. He was shot in the side, the ball cutting off one corner of a memorandum book which he had in his pocket.—Jacob Ocker, private, killed by an explosion of ammunition on Maryland Heights near Harper's Ferry, June 30th., 1863.—John T. Bishop, private, died in camp.—Jacob Royer, private, wounded in leg.

7th. MD. REG. INF. VOLS.

Co. F Emanuel Hawk, listed as private, promoted to corporal. He was one of the color guards of his regiment for sometime. He received nine wounds but only one is now painful. This is a wound in the neck, which he received in the battle of the Weldon Railroad, August 18th, 1864. The ball entered just below the right ear and came out back of the neck, near where the skull rests upon the spinal column. He lay unconscious about 2 hours, on the field, between the two lines. At one time the Confederate lines were only about eight or ten feet from him. The Union forces finally charged over his body and he was recovered by some men of his own company.—W. Frank Clingan, enlisted as a private, promoted successively to corporal, to 4th sergeant and finally to 1st sergeant of his company. He was captured April 5th, 1865, near the South Side Railroad, and paroled at Richmond, Va., and sent to Camp Parole, Annapolis. He was wounded at the Weldon Railroad, Aug. 18th, 1864 in right breast and in the battle of the Wilderness May 5th, 1864 in left hip.—Abram Fleagle, private, killed in the battle of the Wilderness.—Jeremiah Fleagle, private, wounded.

8th MD. REG. INF.

Co. I James Shildt, private.—John Newcomer, private, promoted to sergeant.—Tobias Reid, private, promoted to corporal.—Joseph Angell, private.—Nathan Angell, private. He served several months in the 3rd. Md. Reg. P. H. B. Inf. Co. G., about the close of the war.

COLE'S MD. CAVALRY Co. C. Charles C. Currents, private, captured near New Market, Va., 13th of May, 1863, and was seven months in Andersonville, Ga., and Florence, S. C. prisons.—William N. Currents, enlisted as private, promoted to commissary sergeant, wounded by accident.—Alfred N. Fitchey, private, captured at Rectortown, Va., and was seven months in Andersonville, Ga., and Florence S. C. prisons.—Dayton Kehn, private, died since the war.—Henry Reaver, private, died since the war.—Leander Bowers, private.—David Shildt, private.—Alonzo Benner, enlisted as private, promoted to corporal, slightly wounded near New Market, Va., in cheek and ear.

Co. A. Harvey T. Null, private, killed at Loudon Heights, Va., in a night attack. Co. D. Joseph Good, private.—William Reinollar, private, captured at Rectortown, Va. and died in Andersonville prison, Ga.

Co. E. Elias Reck, private, captured. Co. —. Isaiah Kreglo, private, wounded in a night attack on Loudon Heights, Va.—Vincent Valentine, private, captured at Rectortown, Va.—John H. Ocker, private, died at home during the war.—Samuel McGuigan, private, captured at Rectortown, Va., and died in Andersonville prison.

1st. MD. EASTERN SHORE REG. Co. I. Samuel Clingan, private. 3rd. REG. P. H. B. MD. INF. VOLS. Co. C. Uriah Heltbride, private, died since the war.—Christian Dayhoff, private, died since the war.

Co. G. Thomas Eck, enlisted as a private, promoted successively, to 8th corporal, to 2nd Lieutenant and finally to captain of the company, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th, 1862 and paroled on the field.—Jesse H. Haugh, enlisted as a private, promoted to 2nd sergeant and afterward to 2nd lieutenant. He was at one time color bearer. He was captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th, 1862 and paroled on the field.—William Eck enlisted as a private, promoted to sergeant, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th, 1862 and paroled on the field.—Thomas Angell, enlisted as private, promoted to corporal, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15th, 1862, and paroled on the field.—Joseph Shoemaker, private, died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Annapolis, March 28th, 1863, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va., Sept. 15, 1862, and paroled on the field.—James T. Kreglo, private, killed by the accidental discharge of his own gun, while on guard at Opequan Bridge, Va., July 2nd., 1862.—John Clabaugh, private, wounded in the index finger of left hand, in a charge, in the battle of Monocacy Junction, died in the hospital at York, Penna. He was captured at Harper's Ferry, Va. Sept. 15th, 1862 and paroled on the field.—David Six, private, captured at Harper's Ferry, Va. Keeping Ownership Of Farm in Family Transfers Should Be On Definite Basis

The farmer who keeps a farm account record finds that the benefits received make it well worth the time involved. Keeping a record of farm activities does not have to be a complicated affair. A satisfactory record might include a property inventory, including feed and supplies, made at the beginning and end of each year, the numbers of livestock kept, a record of crops grown and yields obtained, and a record of receipts and expenses together with the quantities of the different items bought and sold during the year.

It's the wise farmer who makes his crop plans carefully. He is just as careful in managing the farm's business matters, particularly where farm ownership or father-to-son transfer is concerned.

Such a record, together with inventory changes, provides the figures essential for calculating labor income, which is what the farmer gets for his year's work above interest on his investment and all farm expenses, in addition to having a house to live in and farm products to use in the home.

The farmer who keeps adequate records will find that he not only has at his command the basis for improving farm organization, but also has at hand information needed for other useful purposes, such as preparing income tax returns or furnishing information in case of fire or theft and in borrowing money.

Each year, farming becomes more complicated and complex. The farmer who keeps up with changes in machinery and farm techniques and neglects to keep an adequate check on his business affairs is probably losing money that he doesn't know about. Guesswork isn't good in any business and farming is an important business since a number of people depend upon farm prosperity for their livelihood.

Keeping the type of records described here does not require the farmer to be an accountant. A system of simple bookkeeping is enough to do the job. The important thing is to have needed information readily at hand.

Content Chicks

The chickens shown above are warm and content in a brooder room with radiant panel heating system. Getting proper ventilation at this time of year is often a problem for small-scale poultry raisers. Extension specialists warn that, although days may be warm, nights are often too cool and chickens forced to sleep in drafts and cold winds are susceptible to colds and respiratory diseases. Cross drafts should be eliminated by leaving back and end wall closed if front windows are partially open.

Bruise Loses Kicking hogs cause bloodshot bruises which packers must trim away, a U. S. packers' association reports. National surveys show that nearly half the bruises occur on the ham.

Ventilate Stalls Veterinarians report that high humidity causes most dairy calf pneumonia. The calves should be kept in clean, well-ventilated stalls to prevent the disease.

BAILEY GOSS-ips ON SPORTS by BAILEY GOSS

EN ROUTE HOME—Wherever our Orioles play, in the Cactus country of Arizona, in California and Texas, the attention of the fans is attracted to our colorful, scrappy shortstop—BILL HUNTER. Bill plays the game (and in practice workouts, too) as though he's having the time of his life. Baseball is his business and he enjoys it.

Reaching skyward six feet and tipping the scales at about 175, Bill nevertheless gives the impression of being a spry, little guy. He moves gracefully, quickly and with cat-like motions. He handled more chances at shortstop last summer than any other American League short fielder. Averages are of some importance, but total chances accepted are the most important criteria of an infielder's value.

When our Orioles play the Detroit Tigers the first home weekend of the season—(on Saturday and Sunday afternoons—April 17 and 18), you'll have a chance to compare Hunter with HARVEY KUENN, Detroit's 1953 American League "Rookie of the Year."

No doubt about it, Kuenn is one of the best young natural hitters to come into baseball since the war, but he's not Bill's equal as a defensive player. Quite a clown—quite a kid—quite a ball player is Bill Hunter!

Despite a little slump toward the end of our stay in Arizona, it appeared that our Birds would win the pennant! Premature, you say? No, the championship club training in Arizona is to receive a "trophy" from TIMOTHY R. KING of Tucson, American Legion Dept. Commander. The best exhibition record when camp is broken by each of the four teams (Orioles, New York Giants, Cleveland and the Chicago Cubs) will decide the winner. If the "champion" is not known before all four teams start their tour home, the award will be made during the season in the major league park of the winner, according to the SPORTING NEWS. The Giants were still in the battle to overhaul our Birds as this was written Baltimore's battling backstop, CLINT COURTNEY plays the game hard, as you've been reading in your newspapers. He does everything with a vengeance. Sometimes he fires the ball back to his pitchers harder than they threw it to him. After a recent mound stint, little southpaw JEHOSIE HEARD came out of the game with his gloved hand looking like a well stuffed bean bag. You're right, Clint was catching.

What has the hurlers worried is that Clint has had a sore arm. What happens when he's healthy, they ask.

LINE DRIVES—Outfielder DON LENHARDT seems to be taking up this spring where he left off with the St. Louis Browns last fall. Don led the Browns with a .317 stick mark in 1953 and was leading the Flock with a potent .591 average as this was written. . . . The team batting average currently is .300. . . . Speaking of Bill (he doesn't like to be called Bill-Y) Hunter and Harvey Kuenn, another pretty good looking young shortstop became a regular last year (his first in the majors) in the person of Boston's MILT BOLLING. Three top-flight shortstops breaking into the American League in one season is quite a novelty. . . . Giant's manager LEO DUROCHER can't stand cigar smoke. It may be an allergy or just a dislike for stogies. Naturally, Oriole manager JIMMY DYKES cooperates. A chain smoker, Jim normally puffs about two dozen a day—unless he's in the Lip's company, then he ups the count to about 30. Just pals!

Our Orioles may have been the poorest hitting team in the league last year as the St. Louis Browns, but they were first division in power, having slammed out 112 home runs to rank right in back of Cleveland, New York and Philadelphia in the round trip department. . . . Jur games this coming weekend with the Cubs will be aired in Baltimore over station WCBM from Ponchatoula, Louisiana on Saturday and from Mobile on Sunday. Hope you'll be listening when ERNIE HARWELL, HOWIE WILLIAMS and I bring you every play. . . . That's all for now. Dykes is waiting for me—Comin' skipper!

Forest tree planting in the United States in 1953 was a record 715,548 acres. This was 37 per cent over the number planted in 1952, which was the previous record year. The big increase in plantings on private land was particularly encouraging, foresters say, because about 80 per cent of the reforestation work to be done is on private owned land. Forest plantings in Maryland for 1953 were 3,269 acres.

Consumption of red meat per person increased to 154 pounds in 1953, the highest rate since 1908. Beef consumption set a new record of 76 pounds, but consumption of pork was down to 64 pounds, an 11-year low.

Standing under a tree, a Tennessee was conked when an ear of corn fell from above. Squirrel dropped it.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: John 17.
Devotional Reading: I Timothy 2: 1-8a.

Pray for Others

Lesson for April 4, 1954

WHAT Christ prayed for, we have a right to pray for. This is not to say that we can, so to speak, simply quote his prayers after him and sign our name in place of his. He prayed for objects for which we need not now pray, as when he prayed for Simon Peter. But the kind of thing for which he prayed is the kind of thing for which his followers can boldly pray. For no one has ever known the mind of God so well as Jesus. To pray against the mind of God is to pray in vain; to pray with God's mind is to pray with success. One point is clear from all Jesus' prayers, but especially from the great prayer in John 17; it is that the blessing of God rests on sincere prayer for others.

Dr. Foreman

They Should Know It

Let us hope it is not impertinent to pass on a few thoughts suggested by this prayer of Christ, especially with regard to praying for other people. Intercessory prayer in the true sense is always unselfish, though one may literally pray for other persons with a selfish motive. For instance, if a woman whose husband is a candidate for office prays for his election, that is praying for some one else, right enough; but maybe she is saying one word for him and two for herself. So an ambitious mother might pray that her child would make good in Hollywood. (—and bring home the bacon.) This is not intercessory prayer in the Christian sense. Christ's prayer for others shows that he deeply and completely desired their highest good. But he does not offer this prayer in silence and solitude. He prays in their hearing, they knew they were on his heart. We cannot always pray in the presence of those for whom we pray, but it does them great good to know we are carrying them on our hearts before God. No service of friend or loved one is more cherished than the simple yet sublime service of intercessory prayer.

It Should Be for the Best

Prayer for others should be for the best—and this in two senses. It should be in line with God's best purposes, and it should be for the best things. When Christ prayed in Gethsemane that the cup might pass from him, the prayer was not granted, because what God willed would not be possible, or would not have been possible, if Christ had not been willing to drink that bitter cup to the dregs. God will not grant requests that upset his plans, no matter how earnest and apparently right the requests may be. But prayer for others ought to be for the best things. Not that we should not pray for lesser things. It surely is not wrong to pray that mother may find her wedding ring that got lost in the laundry, or that Uncle Harry may get over his cold. But surely as we grow more mature in the Christian life we can begin to appreciate the kind of prayer that Christ offered for his friends. He did not pray there at the Last Supper for their health, long life or "prosperity." He prayed for their inner spirits, he prayed for their unity of heart, for their vision of God. How often we pray for something to happen to our loved ones, how seldom do we pray for them! When a child lay dying of rabies, hundreds of prayers went up for his recovery. These were not granted. But other prayers were offered for his parents' faith; and these were granted.

Nothing You Ask—?

"Nothing you ask will be denied," a popular hymn says. But the Bible does not promise that. Jesus never promised it. What is promised, and what is true, is that the more our prayers harmonize with the will of the God of Love, the more surely they will find answer. Now we often pray for our friends, as we do for ourselves, that God will help them do what they want to do, or get rid of what depresses or pains them. Give them what they want! is our cry. (Many of us are too selfish even to get that far in praying for others.) But there is no guarantee that God will give all men, or any man, exactly what he wants. This poor world would be in a much worse mess than it is, if God simply acted at everybody's dictation. The best we can ask for those we love is that they may learn to desire what God himself desires.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THIS FELLOW?

"In almost every neighborhood where respectable people live there dwells a certain type of scallawag, seemingly devoid of any trace of conscience or principle, whose conduct makes him the subject of a lot of gossip, especially among the women.

"You probably recognize his counterpart in your neighborhood from the following description of him. Here are the words that best tell the story: "Morals don't mean a thing to him. He's unmarried and lives openly with a woman he's crazy about and doesn't care what the neighbors say or think. He has no regard for truth or law.

"The duties of the so-called good citizen are just so much bunk so far as he is concerned. He doesn't vote at either the primary or general election. He never thinks of paying a bill.

"We have seen him take a two-dollar taxi ride without giving the driver so much as a pleasant look. The driver only stared at him and muttered something silly.

"He won't work a lick; doesn't go to church; can't play cards or dance; or fool around with musical instruments or the radio. So far as is known he has no intellectual or cultural interests at all.

"He neglects his appearance terribly. He's so indolent he'd let the house burn down before he'd turn in the alarm. The telephone can ring itself to pieces and he wouldn't bother to answer it. Even on such a controversial subject as the liquor question, nobody knows exactly where he stands, because one minute he's dry and the next minute he's wet.

"But we say this for him, in spite of all his faults, he comes from a darn good family and is loved by everyone who knows him.

"He's the NEW BABY."—Avon Park, Paper, Florida.

15th ANNIVERSARY MEETING

The 15th anniversary dinner of the Historical Society of Carroll county held in the social hall of the Westminster Methodist church was attended by one hundred and fifty members and friends of the organization. Mr. J. Harry Koller, the president, in his address of welcome stressed the fact that one need not have been born in Carroll county in order to be eligible for membership. The society belongs to the newcomer as well as to the oldest resident. Mr. Koller then turned the meeting over to past president, A. Earl Shipley, who in turn called on various people who have played an active part in the society throughout the years.

Mr. J. Walter Eckenrode of the Carroll county Society of Baltimore gave an interesting reminiscence of events which led to the movement in 1939 and paid special tribute to the pioneer work of Miss Lillian Shipley and Mrs. Harry M. Kimmey. Mr. Eckenrode emphasized his impression that the Historical Society has carved for itself a niche formed on tradition and sentiment. As long as its present ideals continue, its success is assured.

Miss Pauline Fuss, representing Union Bridge District, recalled the highlights of the Western Maryland Railway anniversary meeting in 1952 and reminded listeners that the $1,000 contribution of the Western Maryland enabled the Historical Society of Carroll County to burn its mortgage.

Treasurer T. K. Harrison gave an interesting financial summary of the fifteen years. The receipts have amounted to a total of $30,000 in round number and the expenditures to a total of $27,000. Mr. Harrison gave a spirited appeal for the preservation of old documents and historic items of various kinds.

Miss Amelia Annan focused attention on the contributions of Taneytown District to the society, recalling exhibits of teapots and boxes, the reading of early diaries, and the meeting which featured Eli Bentley clocks. In 1940 Taneytown District contributed the marker for the home of the Society. Miss Annan acknowledged the help of Middleburg District in the meetings and projects.

Dr. Theodore M. Whitfield gave a brief summary of the restoration work done on the Shellman Houses throughout the fifteen years. In the early days much of the repair work was done by volunteers, but in recent years professional help has been necessary. Special mention was made of the restoration of the kitchen and the means by which modern conveniences were introduced without destroying the look of antiquity. Reference was also made to the complete repairing of the second floor and the restoration of the old Zuer scenic wall paper in the front hall.

Mr. A. Earl Shipley paid high tribute to pioneer workers of the Society, mentioning them by name and giving detailed accounts of their contributions. Of especial note is the work of Dr. Arthur G. Tracey, past president and chairman of the history committee. After years of painstaking effort, he has been able to secure copies of all original land grants in Carroll County, an achievement accomplished by no other Maryland county. One set of these is now the property of the Carroll County court.

Mr. Shipley concluded his address with quotations from the address of Col. William P. Maulsby in 1887. The occasion was the combined celebration of the centennial of the formation of the Constitution of the United States and the semi-centennial of the birth of Carroll county. Originally the address was printed in the American Sentinel April 16, 1887 and then it was reprinted in the Bulletin of the Historical Society of Carroll County April 1948. Mr. Shipley commented that the following observation made by Col. Maulsby in 1887 applies just as readily to 1953.

"A characteristic of the population of this county is, and has been, its fixedness and steadiness in the occupation of the original homes. I think that a larger proportion of the families, first planted in homes on this soil, remain to this day amongst us, by their representatives, than perhaps any other county in the state."

CARROLL COUNTY HOLSTEIN BREEDERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The Carroll County Holstein Breeders Association held their annual dinner, Monday evening, March 22nd, at the American Legion Home, with 55 enthusiastic breeders present.

Gary Brauning, president, presided at the annual meeting, and pointed out the fact that Carroll county has more registered Holstein cattle than any county in the state. Five hundred and seven breeders in the county had registered cattle during the past calendar year. This is 133 more breeders than the next highest county.

The Holstein breeders demonstrated real genuine enthusiasm for their breed and elected the following officers and directors to serve for the following year: President, Gary Brauning, Finksburg; Vice-President, Raymond Armacost, Upperco; Secretary-Treasurer, Donald Dell, Westminster; Members of the Board of Directors were: Charles Smith, White Hall; C. A. Long, Ellicott City; Harold Thomas, Keymar; Frank Hull, Westminster, and Gerald Ensor, Cockeysville.

The directors pointed out that now is the time for all breeders to check on their herds in order to get the most efficient production possible. This can be done by the elimination of low producers in the herd and by using the most efficient management possible during these days of slightly over production.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing will help greatly to determine the low producers in the herds. Many of the breeders testing regularly have herds producing 375 pounds to 425 pounds of butter fat, which is well above the county average.

Now is the time, according to Holstein breeders, to get maximum production in their herd at minimum costs.

CARROLL COUNTY D.H.I.A. HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The Carroll County Dairy Herd Improvement Associations held their annual banquet meeting recently at the Sandymount school with 125 members and guests present. The Sandymount P.T.A. served the banquet.

Dr. Glenn Beck spoke briefly on the Maryland Dairy Herd Improvement Corporation before the business meeting. A committee consisting of R. H. Richardson, Earl Beard and J. Herbert Snyder was appointed to further investigate the possibility of the Carroll Association joining this group.

Mr. Roland Pool presided at the business meeting, where the following officers and directors were elected: Ira Albaugh, Union Bridge, President; Roger Myers, of Westminster, Vice-President; and Vernon Wolfe, R. 3, Westminster, Secretary-Treasurer. In addition, the directors for the four Associations were elected: Isaac Saylor, Association No. 1; Earl Wilhide, Association No. 2, Donald Dell and Hubert Hull, Association No. 3, and Henry Rosenberger, Association No. 4.

Dr. Beck presented 15 certificates for herds over 400 pounds of butterfat. David Hoff and Sons had the high herd in Association No. 1, with 58 cows averaging 435.6 pounds of butterfat; Frank Hull, Association No. 2, with 21 cows averaging 437.1 pounds of butterfat; Frank Peasman, Association No. 4, with 34 cows averaging 433.4 pounds of butterfat; while R. H. Richardson's herd of 58 cows topped all herds with an average of 487.4 pounds of butterfat.

Attention was called to several of the outstanding individual cows in the different associations. Andrew Hoff's registered Guernsey beauty topped Association No. 1 with 636 pounds of butterfat; Carroll Wilhide's registered Holstein Goldie topped Association No. 2 with 621.0 pounds of butterfat; Association No. 3 reported four cows over 600 pounds, with John Borchers' Holstein Pam producing 756 butterfat, closely followed by R. H. Richardson's Holsteins Educator and Eva producing 673 pounds and 672 pounds, and Borchers' Blossom with 601 pounds of butterfat; Fairhaven Farms registered Holsteins Nos. 85 and 103 produced 695 pounds and 692 pounds of butterfat to top Association No. 4.

Mr. John Magruder, County Agent leader for Maryland spoke to the members and their wives on the importance of education in modern farming.

HARNEY 4-H CLUB

The March meeting of the Harney Boys 4-H Club was held at the home of Albert and Earl Angell on March 22nd.

A demonstration was given by Albert Angell on repair of farm machinery.

The meeting was called to order by the president at 8:00.

The 4-H pledge was given and roll-call was given by naming a piece of farm machinery. The minutes were read and approved.

The treasurer's report was given. Due to the absence of the treasurer, Walter Plank acted as treasurer.

The club voted to take some money out of their checking account and put it in their savings account.

The club also voted for a new dues system. The way of collecting dues will be "passing the hat". This act will go into action in April.

A new office has been introduced to the club. The new office is a "Sentinal." His duties will be to keep order, welcome visitors, etc.

The club has a new member. His name is "Ronald Welty." The club welcomes him.

A committee has been selected to write up a program for a "Candle-light Service." The committee consists of William Ridinger, Clyde Weant, Robert Rock, Walter Plank, Charles Poole and Jack Mooney. The committee will meet April 6th at Charles Null home.

Meeting was adjourned and refreshments were enjoyed by everyone. The next meeting will be held at Walter Plank's and the demonstration will be judging beef.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The regular meeting of the Girl Scouts Troop 723 was held on Monday evening in the Auxiliary's room of the Legion Home. The meeting was opened by the president, Betty Ann Fowler with the pledge to the flag and the Girl Scout Promise. The minutes were read and approved, and the treasurer's report was given.

The girls filled two of their second rank requirement, one was that each girl brought a pot with ground and planted a seed. The second was that they entertained a guest from Germany, Miss Anke Kruse, who gave the girls a very interesting talk on Scouting in Germany. The meeting then adjourned until the 5th of April. The meeting closed with Taps and Silent Handshake.

Respectfully submitted, Patricia Fowler

The Trinity Gleaners Sunday School Class met at Mrs. Hilda Hopkins' home last Thursday evening. Several hymns were sung followed by reading of scripture and prayer. Mrs. Lulu Shink read a poem entitled "Modern Psalm of Praise". Mrs. Hopkins, president, presided at the business session. Seven members were present. The hostess served refreshments and the meeting adjourned to meet again in May at Mrs. Ruth Rohrbauhs' farm home.

Cash received by Maryland farmers for their products in 1953 were slightly higher than cash received in 1952. Figures released by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture show 1953 receipts were 2 per cent above those of the previous year. For the United States as a whole cash farm receipts in 1953 were down to 96 per cent of the 1952 figure.

"Research and education are the golden keys to progress", says Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. "They unlock the door of opportunity to the further development of the Nation's resources—to new products and new uses—to greater efficiency and larger income—in short, to a more abundant life".

Your name and your father's name may be the same, but the social security number is the important clue which helps to credit wages properly to your accounts. Be sure your employer reports your name and social security number exactly as shown on the account card.

To insure proper reporting to social security accounts, new employees should present their social security number cards to the employer so that he can record the name and number correctly.
