TANEYTOWN HIGH PLANS ORCHESTRA AND BAND

Mr. Joseph Jodl, instrumental music instructor at Taneytown, has planned for this year's musical activities not only an orchestra but also a band.

Musical training opens the door to a life-time of pleasure, relaxation, inspiration and self-expression. It fosters wholesome companionship and constructive activity.

However, Mr. Jodl says, "Along with the problems of inciting a band program is the necessity of having proper instrumentation or equipment. Our music department at THS is at this time inadequately supplied. Several years ago many of these needed instruments were in the school along with a fine band. These instruments may still be in town very inactive. Your school director would like to know if these instruments not being used could be acquired by or for the school."

Many pupils are looking for inexpensive instruments and this is the opportune time to sell them.

If any instruments are available, notify the school principal, Mr. Andrew Mason.

LESTER KOONS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

One man was killed and another injured when a panel truck collided with a car Thursday, Sept. 25, 1954, at 2:15 p. m. about a mile south of Taneytown on the Keymar road.

Lester Samuel Koons, 51, Taneytown, died instantly of a fractured skull, according to Dr. James T. Marsh, Carroll County medical examiner. Injured was Thomas P. Robertson, 28, Taneytown R. D. 1M, who was treated for a broken right hand at Annie M. Warner hospital, Gettysburg.

Both men were riding in a panel truck driven by their boss, Raymond J. Ohler, Taneytown R. D. 1, plumber. His truck and a car driven by John Harvey Getzendanner, 60, Taneytown R. D. 1, sideswiped on a straight stretch of road, according to State Trooper 1/C V. C. Boose. Annabelle M. Mercer, 17, who lives with the Getzendanner family, and was a passenger in his car, was treated for a cut left arm by Dr. R. S. McVaugh, Taneytown.

Trooper Boose said that Koons was seated next to the right door of the truck and was thrown out of the vehicle by the impact. He said that it is believed that the truck rolled over Koons' body when it upset.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $500 and $200 to the car. Trooper Boose said that charges are pending completion of his investigation.

Mr. Koons was the son of the late John and Jennie Gilbert Koons and was the husband of Mary Stonifer Koons. He had served several terms as a deacon of Baust Reformed Church. In addition to his widow, he is survived by a stepmother, Mrs. Catherine Wade, Canton, Ohio; son, Marvin, at home; stepson, Charles Young, Taneytown; two step-grandchildren and three brothers, Howard, New Windsor; Harry, Union Bridge, and Raymond, Baltimore.

FLORIDA IN SUMMER

Rev. Owen Reports Trip to the South

Many people seem to feel that one of the necessities of life is a trip to Florida. Usually it was looked upon as reserved for those of leisure and privilege. Heretofore it was regarded as a kind of winter paradise where the more fortunate could escape the cold weather of the north. Accordingly it was assumed that the winter season was the only time to go. This is no longer true. Florida is now becoming a year-around attraction.

Our whole family at home left Cochocton on July 28 and traveled about 5100 miles including a visit to Key West. We wanted to see the main points of interest in the state as a whole. There are real advantages in taking such a trip in the summer. For one thing it is much less expensive. At no place did we pay more than $5 at a cabin or motel for an elegant room with two beds, usually air conditioned. Rooms with one bed were cheaper. In the winter season such quarters would be two or three times as much. Also the climate is not much warmer than here in the summer. It is tempered by the cooling sea breezes. If one wishes to further cut down expenses he can save much on meals by renting a cabin with a kitchenette. These were available in many places for a slight additional cost. Of, if you prefer, you can prepare your own picnic lunches and use the picnic tables along the way. Frequently we saw advertised ice cold orange juice "all you can drink for 10 cents." (They lost money on us.) It was much better orange juice than you get at home. With all this two meals per day is about all one can handle.

More tourists are visiting Florida now than in any state of the union. Many of these are coming during the summer. Also it has more miles of sea coast and attractive beaches than any other state. If you don't like the seashore lakes on the interior. Business and industry are likewise moving to Florida at a rapid pace for the year round business purposes. These are some of the reasons that make Florida the fastest growing state of the union in population. Everywhere evidence was seen that Florida is already a year-around vacation land. Advertising to this effect was widely seen.

Florida does not seem much like a southern state. Climate, business and people, seemed a little different from the other southern states. Most of the business people I talked to said that they had migrated from the north or west and come for health or business reasons. They all seemed to like their adopted state and told fabulous stories of how the sick had come to Florida and regained their lost health.

I asked one of the motel men why his rates were so much higher in the winter than summer. He replied that the purpose of the Floridians was to skin the alligators in the summer and the Yankees in the winter. Later I asked another motel man if the statement was true. He replied that it was true except that the state had passed a law against skinning the alligators. Another man who had come to Florida for his health and was running a motel on the side, said that he did not believe in skinning either the alligators or Yankees. So his policy was to charge the same rates in winter as summer. Now and then you find motel men like this.

We made the trip in a four-year old car. Before leaving we had it checked carefully. On the trip we had no car trouble, not even a flat, or narrow escape, or tight place, the driving was done with the deliberate purpose of avoiding the mistakes that causes accidents. Before leaving we were advised to avoid the necessity of having any work done on the car in Florida because of the extravagant costs. In Winter Haven, however, we did have a grease leak fixed in the rear wheel. This was done on Saturday late afternoon after closing hours as a special favor to a tourist. The cost was no more than it would have been at home.

We went down the east coast of Florida where the highway runs along the Atlantic Ocean much of the way. In some places like the Jacksonville Beach and Daytona Beach you can drive for miles on the hard sand along the shore. From Miami we took the Overseas Highway to Key West, America's most southern city. This highway runs more than 100 miles out to sea between the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean. Next week I hope to tell about the visit to Spanish City of Key West.—Valley Times, Cochocton, N. Y.

"SPICE 'N EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer you.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It was nice to know that the big T.V. and Radio Personality, Arthur Godfrey was given back his "WINGS" Eh? Who deserves them more than he due to the fact that he boasts traveling by Plane?

Did you see and hear the Ed Sullivan show on Sunday night—strictly Navy and grand talent, too! And Martha Raye in "This is Your Life!"

Now, our President of these United States after disposing of the Presidential Yacht due to expense has two—each named after his Grand Daughters!

Did you know that the Boardwalk in Atlantic City is the first ever built this world over—reads the bronze Place down on the rail on the boardwalk near the Marlborough Blenheim Hotel and that in the year of 1870?

Ladies, the Tuxedo style coats in cloth materials are coming in fast, which means you will see them in fur, too after awhile. Those "Teen Top" hats are very cute which are shaped as a Juliet Cap heavily crocheted plus the imitation plaits or braids of a contrasting color. Many styles in shoes are being shown and more to—less than ever!

Miss Mary McCrea, 32 weighing 148½ pounds won in the Nationwide Rinsol Blue Contest as the first prize winner in San Francisco to the sum of $75,158.84. (her weight in gold.) She was an unemployed stenographer and resides with her Grandmother! Nice?

The "Home Dry Cleaning Machine" is now on the market at Hochschild Kohn Co. as to "do-it-yourself". Many ladies like myself would not bother and prefer the Dry Cleaners everywhere.

When next you are near the "Penn Food Co" Market, Mrs. Housewife be sure and purchase the grand Marmalade which is made of pure sugar and fruit by Clement Faugier since 1882 in France. It comes in a can instead of the glass container and it is the very best I have ever tasted. Ummm good!

At the Bel Air Firemen's supper of fried chicken and ham last Saturday night, 700 guests were served which meant waiting but it was well worth while to wait!

Can almost hear you say when that one hour was given back to us, "Old Time is best!" And that especially from the Farmer and his Spouse!

This past week was "National Dog Week". I hope you did something very special for the big favorite Pet around your house! A Beauty, Cocker Spaniel strayed there and hope the owners claim him as he is grieving for his Master!

Visited the Fifth Regiment Armory where the National Home week Exposition was fully displayed and sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Maryland. (Hope you did not miss that one). There were 144 exhibitors and the place was crowded with interested spectators and buyers.

The one big thing I was interested in and where I sat for fully an hour was the grand Hammond Organ being played beautifully by a "Lea" born gentleman who played entirely by ear! He could play anything from memory and you just had to name it as to a request number!

Another thing was brick laying—something I have always desired to do. Once, I laid a walk of bricks placing the bricks in a most attractive design or pattern—that was my first experience and they are still there up in Breton Woods. To learn this master trade costs plenty in which I investigated right there. Somehow, it has always fascinated me and some day I hope to build a grand "Barbecue". I learned the secret of good brick laying right there from the demonstration. It is not to move a brick when once it is set in place. Care in placing the brick in the mortar pays big dividends in a better wall!

Returning home after a delightful and interesting evening and learning much, I was passing the crowded Stadium with the flood of lights all over 33rd Street. I saw large letters upon the Stadium wall and quickly read the following as I slowed down

"TO ALL WHO SO VALLIANTLY FOUGHT AND SERVED IN THE WORLD WARS. Then this was added "TIME WILL NOT DIM THE GLORY OF THEIR DEEDS!" That building is Super Duper and something that Baltimore really can crow about!

So long, Folks. Have a grand week end. Ladies, don't forget to pick up the Geraniums right now and place them on the window sill in the kitchen which will bloom all winter when placed in the sun. Paint the pots white a few days before you pick them up. The bright flower in the white pot will add much color and life right in that room giving it a "homey" atmosphere. Until next week D.V., I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

"As Maine goes, so goes the nation" is one of those catchy sayings that seem to have taken on immortality. The trouble is that many a Maine election hasn't shown much of anything that could be called definitive and that was true of the recent one. In the two most publicized contests, a popular Republican Senator won, and a Republican Governor who had alienated many members of his own party was beaten. From this, as was to be expected, both Republican and Democrat spokesmen claim to have found hope and solace. A more objective view was expressed by the Portland Oregonian when it said: "Neither party can reasonably say the Maine election indicates victory in November. The results do show, however, that Republican candidates elsewhere had better run scared."

The "run scared" theme was emphasized by Vice-President Nixon in a very frank talk. What it means is that over-confidence must be outlawed, and that the most intense possible campaign be conducted for every seat in House and Senate. It means also that every effort must be given to getting out the vote—often, in these off-year elections, a disgracefully small proportion of qualified voters actually goes to the polls. And "running scared" is not confined to the Republicans. Democratic strategists favor it just as strongly. For the truth is that neither party is honestly certain of controlling the next Congress.

At the moment, the House looks like a toss-up. Forecasts are made all the more difficult because of the fact that in many instances local issues overshadow national issues in electing Representatives.

The Senate race is getting maximum attention. U.S. News & World Report recently offered a review of the prospects, based on the best data and opinion available now. It amounts to this: There are 33 Republican and 26 Democratic holdovers who will be back next session (Senator Morse, the one-man Independent Party, is included among the Democrats for the purpose of this summary). Of the contested seats, it looks as if seven Republicans and 12 Democrats are certain to win. It looks also as if three members of each party probably will win. So the total, thus far, comes to 43 Republicans and 41 Democrats. That leaves 13 close-contested seats, and the Democrats must win eight of these and the Republicans only five to achieve control. Thus, the GOP is given a very slight edge. The figures certainly show why the "running scared" idea is current in both parties.

The President isn't running this time, but it is obvious that his standing with the electorate is a very vital factor. According to a Gallup Poll, Mr. Eisenhower has approved by 74 per cent of the voters three months after taking office, and was still approved by 70 per cent 18 months after. This represents a remarkable constancy. By comparison, Mr. Truman was endorsed by 87 per cent of those polled three months after taking over—but his popularity had sunk to 32 per cent at the 18-month stage. There can be no question that, whatever they think of other Republicans, the majority of the people certainly do like Ike.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MARENGO, ILL., REPUBLICAN-NEWS: "This year, the electrical industry celebrates its 75th anniversary. In fact, the week of August 23rd was Diamond Jubilee Farm 'Week' which was celebrated on nearly five million wired farms."

PETALUMA, CALIF., ARGUS-COURIER: "The Argus-Courier could produce a lot more papers than it now does, but it would have difficulty selling them. Why shouldn't we continue to produce more papers and let the government pay us to store the surplus? Such a program would make just about as much sense as a continuing high price support program for the farmer."

GARNER, IOWA, LEADER: "Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York is a man of God, and being a man of God, he is a man of peace. Hence, when Cardinal Spellman tells the American Legion convention in Washington recently that the theory of peaceful co-existence with the Communists is not only impossible but a fatal illusion, we may be sure this man of peace tested his words in his heart and mind before uttering them."

AMBRIDGE, PA., DAILY CITIZEN: "Frequently the remark is made that 'Communism is not bad, it is what the Russians have done with it that is bad.' People who make such statements are naive. They have not read the works of the men who created the Communist movement. Whatever merit it may have had as a utopian scheme is outweighed by the fact that it offers men something for nothing and revolves around the proposition that the end justifies the means."

P. E. EMPLOYEES

Eugene Gordon, Henry H. Startzman, and S. Sydney Bradford were elected Vice-Presidents of the Potomac Edison Company at the meeting of the Board of Directors held in Frederick, Md., on September 24th.

The announcement was made by Potomac Edison Company President R. Paul Smith and followed the action of the board on the retirement of Vice-President George S. Humphrey.

Mr. Gordon will serve as Vice-President in charge of power stations and power generation; Mr. Startzman will be Operating Vice-President; and Mr. Bradford will hold the post of Commercial Vice-President.

Mr. Gordon has been associated with the Power Department since 1923. He began his employment in that year as an assistant chief engineer at the R. Paul Smith Plant in Williamsport. In 1924 he was appointed to the post of chief engineer at that station, serving in this capacity until 1936, when he was promoted to the post of plant superintendent, also at the Williamsport station.

He was transferred to the Hagerstown General Offices of Potomac Edison in 1938 to serve as superintendent of power production. In 1951 he was made superintendent of power stations for the Potomac Edison System. He also assumed additional duties in connection with the West Penn Electric System generating facilities.

Mr. Gordon is presently serving on a temporary loan basis with the West Penn Power Company as acting manager of their Power Department.

Mr. Gordon is a native of Baltimore, Md., and received his education at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute and Johns Hopkins University.

Potomac Edison's new Operating Vice-President H. H. Startzman began his career with the company as retail sales manager in Cumberland, Md., in 1928. Later in that same year he was transferred to the Hagerstown offices in the post of industrial engineer. He held this post until 1936 when he was promoted to the position of manager of power sales and engineering.

Mr. Startzman served in this capacity until 1948 when he was made assistant chief engineer at Hagerstown. In 1951 he was elected to the post of assistant vice-president and chief engineer. He held this post until he assumed his present duties as operating manager and chief engineer.

Also a native Baltimorean, Mr. Startzman received his education at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute and was graduated from Johns Hopkins

HENRY H. STARTZMAN

University in 1919 with the degree of Bachelor of Engineering.

Commercial Vice-President S. S. Bradford has been associated with the

S. SYDNEY BRADFORD

Potomac Edison Company's Promotional Department since 1934 when he took the post of promotional manager.

He came to PE from the C & P Telephone Company where he held the post of general sales manager for the state of Maryland. During his employment with that company he served as training supervisor and commercial manager before taking over the position of general sales manager.

He was appointed to the post of promotional manager for Potomac Edison in 1935 and held this post until 1953 when he was made general commercial manager, the post he held at the time of his recent promotion.

Mr. Bradford was born in Fredericksburg, Virginia, and attended private schools there. He is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute where he received the Bachelor of Science Degree in Electrical Engineering.

The above appointments became effective at the time of the announcement.

Potomac Edison System President R. Paul Smith has announced the resignation of Mr. George S. Humphrey, Vice-President of the Potomac Edison System. The announcement was made following the acceptance of the resignation by the Board of Directors at their regular meeting on September 24 in Frederick, Md.

Mr. Humphrey will continue to serve as a director of the company and chairman of the West Penn Electric System Engineering and Construction Committee pending the completion of a number of large power plant projects throughout the system.

Mr. Humphrey had served as Vice-President in charge of Operations and Engineering for the Potomac Edison System since 1928.

A native of Belleville, West Virginia, Mr. Humphrey received his early education at the local country school there and later at Marietta Academy, in Marietta, Ohio. He graduated from Marietta College in 1907 with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy.

Among the leaders in his class, he received the distinct honor of being awarded a Phi Beta Kappa key, symbol of scholastic leadership.

Following his graduation he taught mathematics and coached athletics at Marietta High School. In the fall of 1908 he entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he acquired a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering.

Mr. Humphrey's first association with the electric industry came in 1910 when he joined the Telluride Power Company at Provo, Utah. In 1913 he became assistant engineer of the Knight's Consolidated Power Company in Provo, and in 1914 when this company was absorbed by the Utah Power and Light Company, he was appointed to the post of distribution engineer and was transferred to Salt Lake City, where he remained until 1918.

It was in this year that he first joined what is now the West Penn Electric System. He accepted the post of electrical engineer for PE's sister company, West Penn Power Company in Pittsburgh.

In November of 1928 he came to Potomac Edison as Vice-President in charge of Operations and Engineering.

His years of service with Potomac Edison have been the "growing years" of the company. Since his first association with this company in 1928, the generating facilities of PE have increased to meet customer demands that have grown five and one-half times over that same period.

Mr. Smith stated, "Mr. Humphrey's good judgment and engineering skill has made a major contribution to the sound development of the Potomac Edison System."

Major additions to the PE System during Mr. Humphrey's term of employment were: the Riverton Power Station near Front Royal, Va., the first major generating station built in the Southern area of the PE System; Units number 2 and 3 at the Millville Hydro Plant near Charles Town, W. Va.; the High Pressure unit at the Cumberland, Md. River Plant; the number 3 unit at the R. Paul Smith Plant at Williamsport, Md.; the Celanese Unit in Cumberland, Md. and the big 79,000 kw generating unit at the new Albright, West Virginia station.

In addition to his many duties with the West Penn Electric System and Potomac Edison, Mr. Humphrey has been actively associated with various civic clubs and organizations. He is a past president of the Hagerstown Rotary Club, and elder in the Presbyterian Church and for many years a teacher in the Men's Bible Class there. For 15 years he has served as a member of the Board of Directors and Treasurer of the Hagerstown Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Humphrey has for some years been interested in raising orchids and has now become an authority on this subject. In connection with this hobby he is a member of the American Orchid Society.

In complete retirement Mr. Humphrey plans to live in Hagerstown and give his time to his community, his friends, and his grandchildren.

Mr. Humphrey presently resides with his wife, Mrs. Florence Noon Humphrey at 937 Oak Hill Avenue in Hagerstown.

For a Presidential campaign, Taneytown district is unusually quiet. Not a single club has been organized, nor is one even talked of. Probably the enthusiasm will come after the election?

FEESERSBURG

Fall is surely with us. The cool and gaudy sunsets warn us not to dally too long in completing our last minute summer chores. The crisp morning whiff about us like the breathings from a northern glacier and the mountains in the distance are dimmed with a haze that only comes from the autumn doldrums. Nature not only heralds a change in the seasons, but man feels the change in his desire for certain things. This is the time for pumpkin pie, for ginger-bread and cider, for a fire in the fireplace or the kitchen range. This is the time to walk through the woods and mark the best walnut trees or shell-bark trees and to taste prematurely the persimmon fruit. This is the time of year to stand on any hill in Carroll County and look out across the landscape and drink in the awe-inspiring beauty of sloping fields, of cluttered patches of woods, of silent and singing streams that wind and re-wind about the brown and green hills. This is the time of year to feel and hear the goodness and greatness of Nature and to be reassured. This is the time of year to treasure life and to hope that tomorrow will be as lovely as today.

The next time you ask your husband for a new hat and he jumps up and yells: "Where is the one I bought you three years ago?" just sit calmly by until he and his blood pressure comes back to normal and then present him with a few facts and figures such as these: If the average house-wife was paid in proportion to the amount of work she turns out in a week her salary would be one hundred and twenty dollars per week. You don't believe it? Just read on. Most wives are good cooks and the average salary for a cook in the city in a private home is two hundred dollars a month with maintenance. Then there is the laundry which in an average home would cost about thirty dollars per month if sent out, and this is a conservative estimate. Besides being cook and laundress, a wife is also nurse, plumber, garbage collector, gardener, book-keeper, chauffeur, baby-sitter, seamstress, electrician, interior decorator, painter, a shoulder to cry on, a Dorothy Dix and the family psychiatrist. By the time you have read off half this list you have had more than half the price of a new hat in his hand but also enough to buy a new dress and a pair of nylons.

If your child goes to public school, the chances are that he's getting poorer education and less of it than if he had gone to school in the 1940's. He'll get less and less from now on. If he's headed for high school, the situation will be worse for him. And if he lives in a small town or rural area, his schooling outlook is darkest of all. The reason: American elementary and high schools are hit by the worst teacher shortage in history. Here's the heart of the problem. First, the birth rate has been booming for at least ten years, as a result more pupils are entering school each year than ever before. . . . 23 percent of the entire U. S. population is now in school. But the birthrate in the 1930's was low due to the Depression. So there haven't been enough recent college graduates to supply the needed teachers. Second, the teaching profession isn't attractive enough to compete with other professions and industry for recruits. Third, over seven percent of the nation's teachers drop out yearly, compared with three percent loss, for example, in the medical profession. This adds up to a shortage of from fifty thousand to one hundred thousand teachers each year from now on. The only solution, say educators, is to bolster the teaching profession by raising salaries, standards, and prestige. There is also another reason why good teachers are leaving the profession, one which is hard to admit here in the U. S., where liberal education has been one of the highlights of our Democracy—it is that pressures from self-appointed censors are making some teachers feel that they cannot do an honest job of teaching.

Leave it to a small boy to learn the truth. Recently a lad of ten went to the dentist for a check-up. His mother promised him faithfully that the dentist wouldn't hurt him—that he was a painless dentist. When the boy returned from his appointment he was highly indignant and told his mother in hurt tones: "He wasn't painless at all. He put his finger in my mouth and I bit it and he yelled just like anybody."

The colony of bees that located in the Wren house two weeks ago are still in residence. In fact they are busy gathering honey. I didn't give the Queen credit for having good judgment, but she was plenty smart. She must have seen the flower garden and just ten feet from the Wren house and decided she could save her what the honey will taste like coming from Marigolds, Zinnias, Petunias, dahlias, asters and a few odds and ends.

THE NEW MAUSOLEUM

A preliminary survey is to be made of the Taneytown area starting in the next few days for the Community Mausoleum to be constructed at Taneytown as explained in detail elsewhere in this issue of the newspaper.

The mausoleum will be available to those of all faiths in and near Taneytown who prefer that type of burial.

The Reformed Cemetery was chosen for the site because more space appeared to be available there than in the other beautiful Taneytown cemeteries. The mausoleum is not a Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church project but will be organized and constructed by Charles W. McGeehan of Baltimore.

Mrs. William B. Hopkins, is the local representative for the project. They will make a canvas of the entire community, and gives to each individual. This survey is necessary first because few people understand the important aspects of this type of burial, and second, because, in this type mausoleum, only space is included in its construction for those desiring it. After seeing the pictures and other explanatory data which gives each person a full knowledge of its many points, then an intelligent decision can be rendered. Those inquiring about or those having the mausoleum explained to them are under no obligation whatever. Your cooperation in helping in this part of the survey will be greatly appreciated. The sooner it is completed, the sooner construction can begin on the mausoleum.

WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Taken into consideration are the performances of ships in the fleet, individual ship and type commander exercises, the results of various inspections of crewmen and material by unit and staff inspectors, gunnery scores, engineering performances and other factors.

The hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Leland Jordan, Miss Virginia Stoner, Miss Catharine Stoner, Miss Eleanor Ebaugh. The public is invited. All education should contribute to moral and physical strength and freedom.—Mary Baker Eddy. TWO SIDES TO A COIN PSALM SEVEN The occasion for the lament of the individual in Psalm Seven was personal enemies. In some respects Psalm Seven and Psalm Three are alike. The singer of Israel, in verses 1-2, cries to the Lord for protection. He represents himself pursued by enemies as a hare is pursued by hounds. The hare hastens to a hole in the ground, or to a crevice in a rock for safety. So the Psalmist for the same reason—protection—seeks the Lord as his refuge. He seems to say, unless the Lord saves me from my pursuers, they will drag me away and rend me as a lion rends its victim. The succeeding paragraph (vs. 3-5 RSV) protests the innocence of unfair dealings toward his pursuers. If there chance, however, to be any wrong on my part, says the singer, I am prepared to suffer the consequences. If I am guilty of any wrong, or any evil, or have plundered even an enemy without cause, let the enemy pursue me and overtake me. I am willing to pay a just debt—even to the trampling of my life to the ground. But in a spasmodic moment of anguish, the pursued one appeals to God to "arise" and to "awake." The fury of the enemies seems to be too intense for his spirit to withstand. Therefore, in an impatient moment there is an outcry: "Arise O Lord, in thy anger, lift thyself up against the fury of my enemies; awake, O my God; thou hast appointed a judgment." In his anguish, you can feel the heart-beat of the Psalmist. In his fright he urges God to hasten to his rescue. Assemble the people about thee. Sit thou on high in judgment. Judge me, also, but be careful not to make any mistake. Judge me according to my righteousness. Will the Psalmist be as mistaken about his own righteousness as was the Pharisee who went into the Temple to pray? The Pharisee began to boast about himself. He told the Lord how good he was, and how much more he paid into the treasury than others. There is a danger of being self-deceived. The Lord said, he (the Pharisee) went out of the Temple unblissed. In verses 14-16 is given a picture of the evil doer and what befalls him. "Behold, the wicked man conceives evil, and is pregnant with mischief, and brings forth lies. He makes a pit, digging it out, and falls into the hole which he has made. His mischief returns upon his own head, and on his own pate his violence descends." The evil which the wicked tries to do to others boomerangs. It reacts and produces results in and upon him which he had tried to bring upon others. He digs a pit for others; he falls into it himself. The New Testament teaches the same lesson: "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap." The experience has brought the Psalmist to a new realization. It has given him an opportunity to look at himself as he really was. And out of this experience came a new resolve on the part of the Sweet Singer of Israel: "I will give to the Lord the thanks due to his righteousness, And I will sing praise to the name of the Lord, the Most High".

Man's Eternal 'Why'

Lesson for October 3, 1954

DURING the next three months the Sunday school lessons in the "uniform" series dealt with in this column, are drawn from the wisdom and the worship of the ancient Hebrews, as found in those four not too well known books, Job, Proverbs, Psalms and Ecclesiastes. Parts of all but the first of these are known by heart everywhere; but much of them is unfamiliar territory. It would be a good idea during these three months to read these four books from start to finish. An average of two and a half chapters a day would do it. Why not?

Dr. Foreman

More Questions Than Answers

It is a sort of well-worn saying of preachers that the Bible has the answers to life's questions. But there is one book in the Bible that has more questions than answers: the book of Job. It is one of the greatest books in the world, and it will always appeal to men everywhere, because it puts in a powerful way the very questions that the best people ask. Job himself was one of these "best people." He is called "blameless and upright, one who feared God and turned away from evil." God even speaks of him with some pride. But Job did not have all the answers, though he had most of the questions. His best friends thought, and no doubt he himself used to think, that suffering is always a sign that God is punishing the sufferer. This idea is still a common one. But Job felt there must be something wrong with it, for he fell a victim to disasters he would not have wished on his worst enemy. He lost his fortune (which was in cattle), his workmen, and his family, all within a few days, and finally he lost his health.

His friends thought they understood this. Suffering, they thought, was a sure sign of sin, so Job must have been a great sinner. In his intentions at least. But Job knew better. He knew he had not been a great sinner. So he raised the great "WHY?" that men before him and after him have raised. Why does God let good people suffer?

"But There Is No Justice"

It is not the mere painfulness of the world that weighs on us. It is the apparent unfairness of things. Pain and affliction that is "coming to" people does not bother our minds much, not even when it hits us ourselves. If you have a toothache and you know it is because you have indigestion in too much candy and soft foods, you may cry about the toothache but you know, all the same, that you have nothing to cry about. You had it coming. If a cruel and murderous kidnapper dies in the gas chamber you do not feel greatly upset about it. You may even feel that no legal punishment can hurt him as much as he has hurt others. But if a good friend of yours dies of cancer, you do feel keenly distressed, because you cannot believe that your friend has earned such pain. And if you lift your eyes and look out over the world, especially if you know something about history, you will see so much frustration of the good, so much frustration of evil, down through the centuries, that you wonder sometimes how men can believe there is a God.

"I Seek . . . But I Cannot See"

If the woes of the world give us slight concern, selfish as we are by nature, we do wake up when trouble walks through our own doors. There must have been a good many people in trouble whom Job had known, but it took his own calamities to jolt him awake. We gather from his friends' remarks that he could speak cheerfully to those in distress, but when he was in trouble, he sang a sadder tune. Just when he needed most to talk with God, God did not seem to be anywhere near. The world is a puzzle to every man, but the good man, the believer in God, can sometimes be more puzzled by it than any one else. Because the believer feels that the world ought not to be like this, he is all the more distressed by what he sees. The better he is, the more he believes in God, the more distressed he is. It was Job who asked the terrible questions, not his weakly pious friends. Yet—Job did not "fold his hands and acquiesce."

A Place of Permanent Above Ground Burial

A COMMUNITY MAUSOLEUM

THE REFORMED CEMETERY, TANEYTOWN, MD

Charles W. McGeehan, Baltimore Clifton 4-5196
Mrs. William B. Hopkins, Taneytown Tel. No. 4131
Organizer Local Representative

THE MAUSOLEUM

Final arrangements have been completed with the Reformed cemetery board for the construction of a Community Mausoleum in this city. The building will be as fine as money, art and science can build. The exterior walls will be of time defying smooth gray Indiana Limestone; the inner walls of reinforced concrete. The front will be finished in stone and marble. Since the first mausoleum was built in 353 B. C., for King Mausolus (from whence we get the word Mausoleum) such improvement in building materials has been made, that a double walled structure such as this is almost indestructible. It is of such strength that after a few hundred years when present cemetaries are obscure and present grave markers are lost, leaning or fallen, this building will stand out little if any the worse for the time it has stood, as stone becomes harder with time.

PROGRESSIVENESS

A growing demand for the Community Mausoleum is shown by the fact that so many such structures have been and are being built. While this particular section of the country have a few at the present time, in many sections of the United States they are predominant. In the past the excessive cost has made this type of burial out of reach of the average man but now it is actually less expensive than the average ground burial.

OUR DUTY TO THE LIVING

Since the beginning of time it has been man's custom to reverence his dead and it becomes a comforting thought in any age to know that one has done all possible and has given his loved one the most suitable resting place which the present time has to offer. This building provides a place where families may lie side by side in snow white compartments, high and dry above the ground, where neither water, dampness nor cold can enter. Embalming has reached such a high state of perfection that if a body is kept dry it will retain its present condition for centuries to come. This was true in Egyptian burials because they buried where water and dampness was non-existent, however, water or moisture quickly nullifies all of this.

To make provisions for a final resting place, which will be secure, ready, and one which cannot be molested, is not only a duty owed to our dead but evidence to the living of our desire for their well being is no better business than omitting other business transaction until the last moment.

In the case of death the grief is so great and decisions so numerous that many regrettable and unchangeable mistakes are made.

THERE IS A BETTER WAY

From time immemorial it has been customary in Europe for families to select a final resting place for their members in advance of actual needs. This sensible practice has now become the custom in America among thinking men and women.

Death is no respecter of person or persons, and sooner or later every family must face bereavement. The average death follows a period of heavy expenses, often accompanied by loss of income. The insurance that was in-pleted for the care of the loved ones or the education of the children is depleted and the family left in debt.

A final resting place must be selected within a limited time, regardless of finances, weather, mental anguish or personal inconvenience. Frequently the choice has necessarily been left to a disinterested outsider and too often have such hasty arrangements been the cause of everlasting regrets. It is often true that these sad but absolutely necessary arrangements are hampered by lack of adequate funds or lack of time and mental poise for the exercise of one's best judgment. We consign the mortal remains to a shallow earthly grave over which we have scant control at present and probably none in the future. A drive through a cemetery which is no longer in use will show quickly earthly burial is blotted out, the grave and stone obliterated.

Only when the mind is undisturbed by grief or financial uncertainty, can this important duty be disposed of calmly and intelligently. Every family deserves the protection which the ownership of Mausoleum space offers.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD SECURE SPACE

Because: The same business judgment demands it, that prompts you to save money, to carry life insurance and to make your will. Now in the calm of health you can consider and choose that which you think is best, an almost impossibility when a death occurs and the family's mind and judgment is racked with despair.

Because: Mausoleum entombment is a scientific and civilized, as well as a sentimental mode of caring for the dead. The only way to keep a body perfectly preserved after it has been embalmed is by keeping moisture and dampness away from it.

Because: At present the cost is no more and in most cases not as much as ground burial when a lot, monument, steel vault and other cemetery expenses are considered. The Building is the monument, far surpassing in size and beauty any other form of monument or memorial.

Because: This mode of entombment is both reasonable and scriptural. Our Lord was laid in a rock hewn crypt and early Christians followed this custom. The wealthier classes of people have used this type of burial almost exclusively for many centuries and most of our national heroes have been buried in stone tombs or mausoleums. Some of which include Grant, Lincoln, Garfield, Washington and McKinley. Modern mausoleums now make this type of burial in reach of almost everyone.

Because: When you place the familiar form of any of your loved ones in this memorial, it will be a great comfort to know that they are at rest in a clean, dry, place free from the disagreeable features of ground burial.

Because: Preparation is wisdom's cure for worry—the only cure. Insuring the house does not prepare it to burn, but prepares us to live without worry as to the ever present possibility of its burning. Providing for mausoleum protection is not preparing to die, it is preparation to live without worry as to the ever present possibility of loved ones dying and being placed in damp cold graves.

Because: It is an investment. It cannot be damaged or destroyed and will be worth more in later years than it is now. Due to the fact that when a Community Mausoleum is built in a town this size, all space is contracted for before it is built; therefore space is limited to those who have bought, and cannot be used except by those, unless one of the owners desires to sell his or her interests.

THE INEVITABLE—FOR WHICH WE SHOULD PREPARE

If you desire to be prepared and assure yourself and family a permanent and clean resting place, you should inquire for particulars about the mausoleum to be erected in your city. The cost now is in most cases not as much as made early because the amount of space is limited. In the event of death between the time of securing space and the completion of the Mausoleum, the expense of renting a receiving vault will be borne by the builder. In the event anyone has relatives already buried in the ground and desires them space, arrangements can be made for the transfer.

WHERE WILL YOU PLACE YOUR LOVED ONES

You have the choice of only three modes of burial. Ground burial which forms a cold, black, damp grave. Cremation in which fire blots out name, form and memory. Burial in a mausoleum with its dry snow white compartments of stone and marble. Which shall it be? Eventually you must decide.

This project is being financed and supervised by Charles M. McGeehan, 5405 Hillen Road, Baltimore 12; Maryland, Clifton 4-5196. Anyone desiring information, photographs, etc., please contact either Mr. McGeehan or Mrs. William B. Hopkins, York St., Taneytown. Telephone No. 4131 who is the local representative for the Community Mausoleum. There will be no obligation whatsoever on your part for a detailed explanation of this subject. The Mausoleum will be an asset to you, to the cemetery and to the community.

HENS EATING

500,000 more hens here in the East are being fed Purina since we introduced our HIGH EFFICIENCY formula two years ago.

We think the reason for the big shift is very easy to see. Many poultrymen, large and small, have found that Purina HIGH-EFFICIENCY CHOWS made eggs on less feed and less cost per dozen than the lower-efficiency rations they were using.

A test will soon show you the money you may save on Purina's outstanding new formulas. Call us.
