HISTORICAL SOCIETY ANNUAL MEETING

Many Interesting Reports Given

The annual meeting of the Historical Society of Carroll County, held at the Westminster Methodist church, November 11 was attended by 140 persons. President J. Harry Koller presided over the brief business session. At this time Mrs. Arthur G. Tracey reported a current membership of 423, representing a gain of 50 members during the past year. Dr. A. G. Tracey, chairman of the history committee, reported increasing interest in the news letters and the summer tours. He also mentioned the cooperation which the history committee had given the Bicentennial committee of Taneytown. The work done by Miss Elizabeth Annan, official historian of the celebration, proved to be of such lasting value that the Historical Society of Carroll County has issued it as the current bulletin of the society. Copies are still available for those who have not received them.

Miss Lillian Shipley reported work done in the filing and publicizing of documents. She acknowledged especially the professional service of Dr. Howard L. Knight who compiled and edited Rural Free Delivery service history for publication in the newspapers of Carroll, Frederick, and Baltimore. From the files of newspapers of the 1940's, donated by Leland Jordan, Miss Carrie Mourer has compiled a scrapbook of human interest stories centering around service men and women of World War II. Dr. Grace Tracey has been compiling a scrapbook of historic souvenirs dating from 1760, while Miss Estie Bosley is indexing the files of the society, the Misses Annan and Miss Beulah Englar are restoring maps and documents. Mrs. A. Earl Shipley is in charge of stationery. There is urgent need for more volunteer help in cataloging and filing the wealth of historic material which is being acquired.

Mr. Erman Shoemaker reported for the nominating committee that the following district directors will be appointed to succeed those whose terms have expired: for Westminster, Harry J. Starr and Miss Lillian Shipley; for Hampstead, Mrs. Homer Twigg; for Manchester, Mrs. G. Maurice Stewart; for Franklin, Mrs. Edgar Pickert.

Mrs. Carroll Rinehart, program chairman, who presided over the reminiscences of Armistice Day, 1918, gave an impressive general picture of the memorable events of the celebration. Mrs. Harry Kimmey, who had played for the Westminster Mass Meeting in 1918, recreated the atmosphere of that time by leading the 1954 meeting in the singing of the well beloved songs of World War I. Then Mrs. Rinehart called on representatives of the different districts in Carroll County to give stories of their various celebrations formal and informal.

As person after person rose to give memories of the day, the group heard echoes of ringing church bells and fire bells, of blowing whistles, and of cheers that made the welkin ring. School children were dismissed from classes to join assemblies of rejoicing, women threw down the surgical dressings on which they were working, men stopped husking corn and cutting fodder, local parades were formed, effigies of Kaiser Wilhelm were dragged around and burned. At night crowds from all over the county came pouring into Westminster for a gigantic mass meeting in the Armory. A detailed description of this climatic event which appeared in the Westminster Times was read by Mr. Harry J. Starr.

In recognition of President Eisenhower's request that Armistice Day be henceforth officially designated Veterans' Day, Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes asked all veterans of World War I to stand. The eleven who were present were invited to give their reminiscences of the first Armistice Day. Russell Shaffer first gave a graphic account of what happened as men fought and died during the last hours of the war. He recalled the weeks of chill fog on a bleak hill near Luxembourg. Mr. Luther Bare enlivened the meeting by recalling how he was overcome by an influenza shot taken the night before that it dimmed any other recollection, except that of the hundred or more shots he had also given Western Maryland College members of the S.A.T.C./the night before. S.A.T.C. was the forerunner of R.O.T.C.

Eltzinger Reifsnider gave an account of the achievements of the Blue and Gray Division both in this country and abroad. He also called attention to the unique history of local Company H, which has survived as a unit since 1898. The old flag which was saluted by the assembly dates from the Civil War. It was originally owned by Nevin Hiteshey of Uniontown. Miss Lillian Shipley has requested that all reports of Armistice Day celebration, 1948, be permanently filed in the archives.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column) With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you always—life's greatest wealth! I wish you health—near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Things that happened during the week. The long distance telephone call from my eldest step-son from Phoenix, Arizona, stating he was so home sick to see me! (Must admit that I shed a few tears, too hearing his voice).

Snow fences being erected on the many farms. Viewing Joey Brown on T.V. on the program, "This is Your Life!"

Seeing "White Christmas" of course with Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney, and Vera-Allen and a glamorous Technicolor panorama of rugged Vermont scenery as background, tells the story of musical comedy teams which gather to save the bacon of an inn keeper. Much dancing, singing, loveliness and War Heroes combine to fill the house and all the Lyrics by Irving Berlin! (You will be proud you belong to Uncle Sam when you see part of the Army!). Getting clothing ready for the Boy Scouts for the collection of the Goodwill! Trying to dig out some costume jewelry to send to and for the request, Mrs. Arthur M. Rinehart, chairman of the Mental Hygiene Society's 1954 Christmas project. For the sixth year, society is striving through its Christmas project to provide individual gifts for patients in the State's mental hospitals. Costume jewelry is considered very helpful to the patients. A bright necklace or a colorful of earrings may, at the right moment, serve as a means of reviving the patient's interest in herself as an individual. (If you have any to discard for this wonderful cause be sure and send to Mrs. Rinehart.)

Placing the colorful plants on a table at the window in the dining room (Sure does add oomph to the room especially while you dine).

Addressing the Christmas cards (and when you do yours be sure you write something instead of that awful engraving of name which is so distant; more of a business affair.)

Boiling the Chestnuts in the salt water (first this year) Ummm Good! Plus the delicious Pomogranite which was the first of the season. (and which I never miss). Tasting the best Apple Butter ever made by the good neighbor! Seeing and talking with an old fashioned M. D. on the Bus in Baltimore—one of those little medicine bags "n' everything! Remember? Happy, happy Thanksgiving, folks across the many miles. I wish that I could stop in on the morning and clasp your hand! Thank God for your many blessings! So long until next week! I am, V. Don't eat too much turkey! I am, Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER

GIVE $50,000 TO YOUR CHURCH

During his lifetime any man can contribute up to $50,000 to his church—in terms of money and service. That striking thought comes from Robert W. Larson, editor of the Union-Republican, Alvia, Iowa, and a Lutheran lay leader.

"If men were to give more time and money to their churches," he went on, "the influence of the Christian philosophy would rise in a dramatic and significant manner in our own community and throughout the world. Some church-goers who shove a five-dollar bill over the liquor store counter for a fifth of whisky just can't seem to shake another five-spot from their fingers into their church treasuries."

If ever a sorry world was in need of a Christian resurgence, this is the time. And that demands both money and manpower.—Industrial News Review.

'BAD' ADULTS

William Hutchinson, chief of the Washington Bureau of International News Service, interviewed Director Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation the other day about the crime problem, inquiring particularly about juvenile delinquency.

Among the questions was this one: "Is juvenile delinquency in many instances adult delinquency?"

Mr. Hoover gave this emphatic answer:

"The parents have the basic responsibility of teaching their children to be good citizens.

"They must see that the child learns to obey the law, respects the rights of others and behaves as a good citizen."

This reminds us of a wonderful man, a gentle priest, who many years ago founded a home for boys in Nebraska, later to become world-famed as Boystown.

Father Flanagan took all kinds of boys into the home, the homeless, the abandoned, youngsters who had committed every kind of crime in the book, including murder.

But Father Flanagan said to his dying day that the one kind of boy he had never taken into the home was a bad boy.

He said there were bad people, parents among them, who let boys down, kicked them around, failed miserably in adult responsibility to the children they brought in the world.

But in all his experience he never once came across a boy who, regardless of what he had done, was instinctively bad.

He proved his point thousands of times over by making useful citizens out of boys reclaimed from the moral gutters of the country.

The tragedy of America, as Father Flanagan believed, and as J. Edgar Hoover now says again, is not the bad children involved in our national problem of juvenile delinquency but the moral blight that is put upon us when "the home becomes merely a place to sleep, eat a few bites or change clothes."—(Baltimore) News Post.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., LINCOLN HEIGHTS BULLETIN NEWS "Free Enterprise" embodies all that brings dignity to the human race. Without this freedom there would be no profit for the individual, no satisfaction in his work, no personal liberty. Compare our personal freedom to work for profit, to own our own home and business, to choose daily jobs, and the satisfaction which we get from them with the rigid control over human activity in the communist world and the fascist world and we know indeed that 'Free Enterprise' is the greatest term in the world." LAMBERTVILLE, N.J., BEACON:

"Former President Herbert Hoover recently said, 'A nation . . . thrives or perishes upon what it believes to be true. If our youth is rightly instructed in the faith of our fathers; in the traditions of our country; in the dignity of each individual man, then our power will be stronger than any weapon of destruction that man can devise. . . . The great documents of that heritage are not from Karl Marx. They are the Bible, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.' These are powerful words, intended for all the people but we think that Mr. Hoover had the parents of this country primarily in mind when he uttered them. Certainly it is upon the basic truths that we teach the youth of this nation, first in the home and then in the schools that will preserve us as a free people."

SOCIAL SECURITY

"The 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act which President Eisenhower recently signed into law have a direct effect upon the survivors of individuals who died between July 1, 1940 and August 31, 1950", L. J. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Baltimore (North) District Office said today.

"We are referring specifically to those cases where the individual died without having an insured status under the Social Security Act at the time of his death. For instance, if an individual died in October, 1943, it would have been necessary for him to have 13 quarters of coverage after 1937 to be fully insured. If he did not have 13 quarters of coverage, we could have used an alternate method of determining his insured status. The alternate method was that he have at least 6 quarters of coverage out of the three years before his death. If neither of these conditions applied to the deceased, no benefit payment could have been made at the time of his death. Under the Amended Law, however, if this same individual has only 6 quarters of coverage at any time after 1936, the survivors would now be eligible to receive benefit payments effective with the month of September, 1954."

"We believe it advisable for the survivors of all individuals who have worked under social security and died in the period from July 1, 1940 thru August 31, 1950 to re-contact our office. We are assuming, of course, that those individuals who do contact us will be the survivors of persons who have worked under the Social Security Law and who have not previously received a benefit payment of any kind with the exception of a possible lump sum payment.

It is estimated that approximately 100,000 cases of this type throughout the country will be reopened and benefit payments made where it was not possible to do so previously.

The Baltimore (North) District Office is located at 3107 Greenmount Avenue Baltimore 18, Maryland. Our field representative may be contacted on the first Wednesday of each month at 10 a. m. at the First National Bank, Taneytown, Md.

FEESERSBURG

(A Voice from Carroll)

"Whoever could make two ears of corn, or two blades of grass, to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before would deserve better of mankind, and do more essential service to his country, than the whole race of spellbinders put together."

The above paragraph was taken from Gulliver's Travels written by Jonathan Swift. It seems a most appropriate paragraph to read and we wish some of the wise men in Washington would read it too, for we are becoming mighty tired of the wretched advice handed out to farmers day after day which makes sense to no one. One week we are told the farmer is inefficient and a poor credit to the farm he owns. The next week he produces too much, and there are just too many of his breed and some of the farmers should get off the land and try something else. Many wise men consider agriculture the very keystone of our national economy and it is true that virtually every depression has arisen when the farmer had not the money to go to town and buy the commodities produced by our industry. But there are many in high places today who believe that farmers are a minority group and as such should receive only a minority of consideration. It is true that by the use of machinery fewer farmers are needed, but it would be well for everyone concerned to face the fact that with all the wonderful inventions nothing as yet has been found to substitute for food nor to put an end to man's need of at least two meals a day. The farmers themselves fail to realize the weapon for power that they hold within their plowed and carefully tended fields. Fail to plant your crops one year, fail to milk your cows, fail to send your produce to the markets and then see how long the farmers are called a minority group. The farmers don't need to look beyond their own resources to solve their difficulties. During the last war we were all given a lesson in how food could be used to conquer the enemy. Today the farmer can use his produce to conquer his economic enemies if he has the courage.

Sounds like a bargain: For sale—156 acre farm on hard road. Electricity and plenty of water. If sold before the next wind storm a barn will be included.

Several weeks ago I wondered out loud in this column at what age should teen-agers be allowed to date. Since then quite a few parents have told me they were troubled with the same problem. Last week I received a letter from a woman who deals with teen-age problems and she informs me that fifteen is considered the earliest that any teen-ager should begin dating and then not singly but in groups. Whenever it does not involve moral problems it is well to let your child do as her group does since group acceptance and loyalty are so important to a teen-ager's happiness. But when it is a question of allowing one's child to find his or herself in situations too difficult for their years because of group pressures, we parents must be willing to draw the line even at the expense of your child being unpopular with the crowd. Parents are urged to encourage their children to bring their friend home and to provide means for their enjoyment in the way of games and refreshments. A houseful of young people takes a toll of one's purse, patience and prayer, but it brings its own compensations.

That old saying "Live and learn" was never so true at it is today. For instance, roasting the Thanksgiving turkey faster and tastier by wrapping it in aluminum foil and roasting at 450 degrees. This method has really cut the roasting time in half and results is as juicy, tender and flavorful bird as the lower temperature. There is an art to wrapping the turkey in heavy duty foil so the first time one tries it an expert teacher should be on hand to demonstrate or watch one on a TV cooking school.

Why are we wasting so much time and energy arguing over the Supreme Court's decision to end segregation in the public schools? The Court has spoken and the decision has been made. Now it is up to everyone to bend their time and talent toward making the decision work with as little friction and ill feeling as possible. The children, if allowed to follow their own inclinations without any pressure from their parents, will make it work, and work to the credit of all concerned. Let us bury our prejudices if we have any, for they are after all only hangovers from bygone generations. And who wants to carry year after year the leftovers of generations long dead and buried. We have too many problems of our own times to solve, problems that were or that will be our own making. Why should we continue to be bogged down with the outdated ideas that were conceived three and four hundred years ago? Let us toss out of the attic of our minds the 16th century rubbish and if we must store any intolerance there, let it be 20th century intolerance, like intolerance of poverty, hunger, greed and war. If we wish to be tolerant let us start with the right things to be intolerant about.

She was a pretty young mother but she was very angry. Just as she got outside the supermarket her shopping bag ripped and apples went spilling in all directions. A handsome young blade came to her rescue and after running down the last apple inquired politely: "Did the bag break, lady?" and with a voice sprinkled with sugar-vinegar, the sweet young thing replied: "Oh, no. I just find it so much fun to roll them home."

A Lost Thanksgiving.

Johnny thought he kept Thanksgiving, but he didn't not at all; Thought he had the finest chestnuts that the old tree bore that fall; Thought the turkey on the table was the biggest one in town.

Tender, juicy, stuffed with oysters. Roasted to a splendid brown. There was jelly-cranberry jelly—tart, yet melting on the tongue; Sweet potatoes and rich gravy, celery white and crisp and young, pies of mince and pies of pumpkins, cake of every kind and sort; 'Twas a most complete Thanksgiving—or at least so Johnny thought.

But that's where he was mistaken; For the day will do to eat. And Thanksgiving—real Thanksgiving—is not made of bread or meat; So it never came to Johnny. Never even passed his way. For he left out his Thanksgiving—so lost Thanksgiving Day.

In Memory of JOHN R. SNIDER, who passed away Nov. 15, 1948

We've missed the sound of your footsteps,
And your voice since you have gone,
And though we no longer see you,
In our minds you still live on.
And so we smile in the daytime,
But some nights our hearts are sore,
As we think of the dear one God took away
To His distant and golden shore.
by his wife MARY.

THE EVERGLADES
As seen by Pastor Owen

Appreciation is expressed for the many favorable comments still being received on "Florida in the Summer". Today's story is about the Everglades in the summertime. Until recently this fabulous mixture of land and water on the southern tip of Florida, remained an unexplored mystery, the last American frontier to be penetrated by the white man. Seven years ago the Federal Government set apart more than 12 million acres of this region as a National Park and sanctuary of native wild life. Now a highway has been built thru the park and waterways have been opened for boat tours.

HUNTERS PARADISE

Some of the sportiest pheasant shooting in Pennsylvania this year will be at Twin Hemlock Pheasant Farm, owned by Daniel L. Yingling, ten miles south of Gettysburg. Over 400 acres of natural cover, just a few miles from President Eisenhower's Adams County farm, will be stocked daily from the long exercising pens holding over 6,000 ring-necked pheasants.

The entrance to the park is just south of Homestead, the most southern city in the State. On our return from Key West we stopped at the park headquarters in Homestead. The ranger told that there were no guided boat tours in summer, only in the winter tourist season. He said that much of the highway was under water at this time, and advised not to go any farther than the Royal Palm Ranger Station 2 and one-half miles in the park.

Added Energy for Football Players EVERY FOOTBALL TEAM HAS SUBSTITUTES... but there's no substitute for a good breakfast for providing energy and stamina needed by football players—young and old. So, if your son hasn't made the team this year, it may be that he isn't eating fruit, crisp, ready-to-eat cereal, bread, butter and a beverage each morning. When he makes that first string team, celebrate by baking a batch of these flavorful Gingerbread Pennants. Made from a simple, wholesome recipe developed in the test kitchens of the Kellogg Company.

GINGERBREAD PENNANTS

1/4 cup butter or margarine	1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar	1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg	1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 cup molasses	1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Kellogg's All-Bran (ready-to-eat bran)	1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup cold strong coffee	1/4 teaspoon cloves
	1/8 teaspoon ginger

2 cups confectioners' sugar 3 tablespoons hot milk 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in molasses, All-Bran and coffee. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices; stir into first mixture. Spread in greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. While cake is still warm, cut into pennant shapes. Combine sugar with milk; add vanilla and beat well. Letter pennants with icing. Yield: about 2 dozen pennants. (ANS)

The motoramic Chevrolet for '55

Great new 8

Two new 6's 6

It's the valve-in-head V8 as only the valve-in-head leader can build it!

You'd expect Chevrolet to out-V8 the field—and it has! Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio that squeezes more pure fun out of a gallon of gas than you ever dreamed possible! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here. Come in and drive the new "Turbo-Fire V8!"

With enough new advances to fill a book!

Chevrolet offers two new highstepping sixes for 1955! There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, higher-rated power—the zippy, thrifty high-compression kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems... new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system for finer performance and faster cold-weather starting. They're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car!

What We Owe God

Lesson for November 21, 1954

AT THANKSGIVING time some people thank God for the wrong things, or they may even not thank him at all. They may sit back looking at the festival turkey, and instead of being grateful to God are being rather proud of themselves. But even thankful hearts may sometimes be a shade wrong. On the one hand, some very high-minded Christians will tell you that it isn't the material blessings that count, it is the spiritual blessings for which we ought to be thankful. Well as we shall see, if it were not for the material blessings there could be no spiritual blessings. On the other hand, as some people seem to look at it, what we are thankful for is "prosperity"—so that if we lost money last year, or barely scraped through, we don't really have anything to be thankful for. Such persons should be reminded that the Psalms of gratitude—and they are many—were not written by wealthy men for the most part but by rather poor ones on our standard. The 104th Psalm is a case in point.

The Gift of Existence

The first point that strikes the reader of this Psalm is that the poet is thinking much more about the world than about himself. He feels himself to be a part of the great world which God has made, so that he feels personally happy over blessings which he shares with all creation. How many persons, on the contrary, are never grateful to God unless for something done for themselves alone! This Psalmist not only feels himself akin to all other men but to animals as well, yes even inanimate things like clouds and wind, "messengers" of God, as he himself is. This Psalmist is singing with joy to God in gratitude for existence, not his own single sole existence but that of all creation. He knows that without the other creatures of God he himself could not be. Another Psalmist thinks of God as creating him "in the heart of the earth." He too was aware that we are related to this earth's crust, the very make-up of the soil determines the physical make-up of our bodies. This great Psalm rejoices not merely that "God made ME" but—what is much more important, God in wisdom made ALL things.

The Gift of Subsistence

Our Psalmist goes further. He sings not only of God's Creation but of his Providence. Nothing could be without God, but also nothing could continue to be without him. He thinks of this in two ways. One is easy to understand—that is, God provides for each of his creatures whatever is necessary for that creature to live, and gives to each creature the impelling desire to keep itself alive. God feeds the lions; but he does not come down in a fiery cloud with lion-manna in his hand. Not at all; the lion goes after his prey. But while other men cover their heads in terror at the lion's roar, not so this poet; he rejoices that lions, like men, "seek their food from God." The other way in which God sustains his creatures—clouds, grass, goats, lions and poets—is more profound and not all can even think about it. But this poet's inspired mind penetrated deeply into the reality of things. He perceives that God's very being, and will, sustain and "keep in being" everything that is. God does not toss off a universe into space and let it spin as it will. He undergirds it at every point at every instant.

What We Owe God

People "exchange gifts" at Christmas time; but no one can exchange gifts with the Almighty. None may give him existence, not all creation can sustain his being, life—in beginning and continuance—flows from him to us, not from us to him. We can never repay the Creator of all. And yet we do owe God something—everything indeed, but something in particular. We surely owe him a thankful heart; not mere words of thanks, but a thankful heart, rejoicing in all the wonders of God. We also owe God at least the careful and wise use of his creation. Waste, such as erosion which we could prevent, or letting stock run down—all waste of natural strength, lime or resources—this is a sin against the God who gives us all things.

MAN'S REFUGE IN GOD

Psalm Eleven
This Psalm is one of trust in the Providence and Justice of God. In the Lord the Psalmist takes refuge.

In verse two, is a vivid description of the wicked's sinister efforts to defeat and persecute the upright. The very foundations of moral life are being weakened and destroyed by the cunning and violence of evil men. They are skillful and efficient in their fiendish maneuvers and maneuverings. Righteousness could seem to be powerless. Therefore, the Psalmist asks the question, What can the righteous do? And he answers his own question.

The Lord is not destroyed. He sits upon His throne, high above the violent and the righteous, raining destruction upon the wicked and attracting the righteous into His protection: "In the Lord I take refuge"; and into His fellowship: "For the Lord is righteous, He loves righteous deeds; the upright shall behold His face."

The victim of Psalm Eleven refuses to heed the counsel of those who urge his fleeing to the mountains to escape the arrow of the wicked who would shoot him down. Not he!

"In the Lord I take refuge;

"How can you say to me,

"Flee like a bird to the mountains?"

"Flee like a bird to the mountains?"

The Psalmist saw no need of one fleeing to the mountains who trusts in the Lord.

RENEWED COMFORT AND HOPE THROUGH THE LORD'S PROMISES

Psalm Twelve

The time is the fifth century B.C. The situation which called forth this Psalm is vividly pictured in Isaiah 59:14-15:

Justice is turned back, and righteousness stands afar off; for truth has fallen in the public squares, and uprightness cannot enter.

Truth is lacking and he who departs from evil makes himself a prey.

The speech and conduct of the thoughtless, false, careless, insincere, irresponsible and sinister produce concern by the righteous. The weapon of wrong doers is still lies, flattery, deceit, and misrepresentation.

Living in the midst of evil, there is danger of one over-looking the good about him. Are there not some today who would say that Psalm Twelve is a true picture of the present world and century.

The Psalmist feels that everyone was out of alignment with righteousness and the spirit of the Lord. He recognizes the source of spiritual help in such a state of spiritual destitution. "Help, Lord." The cries of His children are not unheard. The sighs of the needy and the oppressed touch the great heart of the Father.

The Lord promises to go to the aid of the oppressed against their oppressors.

"Because the poor are despoiled, because the needy groan, I will now arise" says the Lord; "I will place him in the safety for which he longs."

The Psalmist has assurance in the promises of his Lord.

The promises of the Lord are promises that are pure, . . . purified seven times.

That is, the Lord's promises are perfect, dependable.

On every side the wicked prowls, as villainess is exalted among the sons of men.

Peoples' attitude toward evil determines the attitude and deeds of the wicked. Much evil exists today because of a weak public sentiment.

Let our prayer and sentiment be as sincere and strong as that of the Psalmist:

Do thou, O Lord, protect us, guard us ever from this generation.

RED CROSS DENIES SALE OF BLOOD

The American Red Cross has erroneously been accused of charging for blood furnished to hospitals.

Quoting from a statement issued by Dr. David N. W. Grant, Medical Director of the organization, "Throughout the entire history of its blood program, no charge has ever been made by the Red Cross to hospitals or individuals for blood or blood products. The Red Cross wishes to emphasize that no charge has been made in this policy."

Every pint of blood donated to the Red Cross has cost the organization an average of $5.12 which includes its collection, processing and distribution to hospitals. Many refinements and changes in equipment, methods and procedures have taken place.

The present plan of sharing with hospitals a limited portion of this cost, involving supplies which can be used but once, together with blood transportation charges, is an adjustment to meet local conditions which was worked out with hospital authorities. Approximately 10 of the 45 Red Cross Regional Blood Programs have made this adjustment.

The costs of these supplies and delivery services to the hospitals vary from $1.75 to $2.50 per pint of bloods, according to the locality. In most instances, hospitals have absorbed these extra costs without passing them on to the patients. Full cooperation has been received from hospitals taking part in this plan.

The only purpose of the Red Cross in this program is to provide urgently needed blood to the American people. At present the blood program serves about 3,500 hospitals throughout the United States.

In addition to furnishing about 40 per cent of the whole blood used in the country, the Red Cross blood program also provides gamma globulin, a blood derivative needed to fight measles, hepatitis, and infantile paralysis. It also makes available to the public, without charge for the products, other valuable blood derivatives.

What all men are really after is some form, or perhaps only some formula of peace. —Joseph Conrad.

Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater Makes New Thanksgiving Pie

The frost is on the pumpkin, and so is the coffee, according to a wonderful new recipe for Pumpkin Chiffon Pie. Pumpkin flavor is notoriously mild, as witness how heavily pumpkin is spiced when making pie. Now pumpkin pie filling achieves absolute perfection by adding Nescafé right along with the spices. This quality instant coffee is just the right foil for that bland pumpkin flavor. You'll say it's the best of all Thanksgiving pies when you make Pumpkin Chiffon Pie this way in November.

It's quick and easy to add coffee flavor to desserts with Nescafé because you can add this instant coffee dry with the other dry ingredients. No liquefying of the coffee is necessary.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie

3 egg yolks	1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup sugar	2 teaspoons Nescafé
1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin	1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1/2 cup milk	1/4 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt	3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon ginger	9" baked pie shell
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat egg yolks; add 1/2 cup sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt, spices and Nescafé. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thoroughly heated. Sprinkle gelatine on cold water; add to hot pumpkin mixture; stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites; add remaining 1/2 cup sugar gradually, beating constantly; fold into pumpkin mixture. Pour into baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and almonds.

THE 1955 BUICK

New thriller in Style - Power - Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

ABRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower — up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepowers of every Buick V8 engine—a walloping 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflo Drive.*

Up goes performance — and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway. You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflo unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrills to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

ELEMENTARY P-T.A. MEETING

The November meeting of Taneytown Elementary P-T.A. was called together in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by the president, Mrs. Charles Hopkins.

Mr. Murray Baumgardner offered the invocation, the assembly joined in the national flag salute and in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The regular business meeting included the October meeting minutes and the treasurer's statement. It was reported that four delegates attended the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers recently held in Batimore. Mrs. Frank Wargny, a delegate, presented the highlights of that meeting, the subject being, "Today's Challenge: Better Relationships in the Home, School, Church and Community."

Principal Frank Wargny expressed his gratitude to the Civic organizations of the town for providing the wall pictures now displayed in several rooms of the building. He also announced that first grade pupil reports will not be issued until Dec. 1st.

The program portion of the evening, related to National Book Week, was introduced by the program chairman, Rev. Morgan Andreas.

A playlet, "Battle of the Books", written and directed by Mrs. Kenneth Koutz, was presented by her third grade pupils. Various classifications of books—geography, history, fairy tales, music, science, dictionary, and the Bible proved their value through pupil dramatization and musical selections.

Two piano arrangements were rendered by Peggy Kiser, pupil of the seventh grade.

Mrs. J. Montgomery Shroyer guest speaker from the Westminster Davis Library briefly reviewed several children's books. She encouraged the PTA members to learn more about themselves and the world about them through a more extensive use of our public libraries.

Following the program refreshments were served by the social committee.

The December meeting will be prepared by the elementary teachers the pupils participating. A large attendance is anticipated.
