I selected them in two colors—purple and white and purchased them from the Five and Dime. The Hydranga bushes are just loaded with many buds. This time of the year is the best time to take your vacation. There are many places to visit in Maryland and Pennsylvania so you do not have to go far. On Route 1—Kingsville just below Bel Air is truly a grand place to visit and dine. As to the building which is called, "Kingsville Inn" is a history plus the delicious food-Mmmmmmm

There is a charming atmosphere throughout with an air of Southern Aristocracy! The colored waiters appear as days of long ago and you will think you have visited a place of Colonial Days.

will think you have visited a place of Colonial Days.

Kingsville Inn stands on part of an original tract of land of about 200 acres named, "William The Conqueror". The original charter was issued by Lord Baltimore and was surveyed May 24, 1855 for one William Ramsey. Approximately 150 acres of this land were taken over by Nicholas Day, Sr. who died between 1705 and 1710 leaving the property to his son, Nicholas, Jr. The son died in 1740, leaving the property to his widow who lived there property to his widow who lived there until 1742. Between 1740 and 1754 it passed to the Rev. Hugh Dean. In some way this house and its owner were involved with the freeing of the slaves during the Civil War. The Rev. Dean resided in the Kingsville Innuntil his death in 1777. The center dining room and the panelled room were completed in his time. The son-in-law then acquired the present H. in-law then acquired the property. He was a Quaker from Pennsylvania and his name, John Paul lived here during the Revolutionary War. He suffered much hardships in fact to escape being hung he was forced to leave his home and hide on the Harford County side of the Little Falls about one mile from Franklinville. In order to avoid from Franklinville. In order to avoid confiscation of the property by the authorities, John Paul eventually made over the property to Judge Thomas Kell of Lellville, Harford County. It was then sold to Abraham King in 1815. The property was "besieged with mortgages" at the time King purchased it but he satisfied all his creditors before he died in 1830, at the age of 76. On or about March 16, 1845, the Inn was offered for sale in the Baltimore American newspaper by Doctors George and David King who represented the "Kingsville Estate" consisting of 250 acres of land, a large mansion with 16 rooms, 2 kitchens and 2 pantries, numerous out houses and a large new building suitable and under the sale with the sale and a large new building suitable and under the sale and the sale a houses and a large new building suitable and under lease for stores and tavern. This had been destroyed by fire seventy or eighty years ago. During the recent restoration of the Inn the rough plaster along the full length of the porch was removed and replac-When this work was being done it was observed that the front portion of the building was in three sections. The first and oldest section includes what is now the large and interesting dining room at the north of the building. This present room was at least two rooms. A huge fire place at the south end was sealed off many years ago when two rooms were converted into one big room. The floor in this room is about 10 inches above the original floor. In olden days of course the fireplace was the center of activi-ties. There is still some evidence of the oven on the side which has been covered up. It is interesting to note that the panelled room which is now the middle dining room and the hall that the plaster ceilings are supported by hand split letter and form ed by hand split lathes and fastened with hand forged nails. There is a built in cupboard. The main portion of the Inn has been completed well before 1800. The three windows on the Bel Air side of the panelled room seem to be the only original windows in this room. Kingsville was named for Abraham King. George Washing-ton slept here and General Lafayette was a frequent visitor. It surely is Colonial throughout and you will enjoy every minute of it all. See you next week. D.V. Have a grand week-end. Until next week. I Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

EMPORIA, KAN., GAZETTE: "In this great land of the free and home of the sucker there always is the desire to get something 'at wholesale'. Recently many Kansas towns have been flooded with so-called 'wholesale' catalogs. These 'wholesale' houses . . are . . . trying to bamboozle the public into thinking they are offering something for nothing. You get just what you pay for Moreover the merchandise is likely to be cheap 'seconds."

NASHVILLE, ARK., NEWS: "The Chattanooga Times showed that Tennessee since TVA has skidded in population, farm production, retail sales, payrolls, manufacturing output, where her neighbors without the burden of such fraud, have pushed ahead in economics. In effect socialism damns the giver and the taker".

DILLON S. C., HERALD: "Karl Marx has been dead nearly seventyfive years, but his warped mind and irregular life are responsible for many of the ills that have afflicted the world for the past half century. His false teachings have cost millions of lives".

MANHEIM, PA. SENTINEL: "It would be a great blessing to humanity and to civilization if governments were under the same compulsion to cut costs as is private enterprise. No matter how large a private business becomes, it is faced with oblivion the moment management becomes lax and inefficient."

"Investment is the heart and soul of the free enterprise system. And if that system ever collapses, all the other freedoms will die with it." -Montpelier (Vt.) Argus.

There are a great many citizens of Carroll who shudder when they drive past a heap of garwonder how long it will be before re sponsible citizens rise up in anger and do something drastic to get some action against offenders of public decency. Catching just one "Litter Bug" and making an example of him would be one way of stopping the litter menace. this meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Coshun at Redland—I think the Did you know that at the last sesof gas, electricity and fuel for heating? Where is this trend in taxation going to end. Some of us are bound to wind up in the County Home if more citizens don't take an interest in their government and how its being conducted. The general attitude of not being bothered or let George do it is certainly making it easy for the politicians to have a field day. Miss Gretchen Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reese, Union Bridge won a three year scholarship to the Peabody Conservatory of Mus-ic in a competitive examination last Saturday. Gretchen, who will be grad-uated in June from the Elmer Wolfe School plans to make music her career. For the past several years she has generously shared her talent with the community, often putting aside her own plans to perform at some public function without charge. Talent, of course, is a gift which very few are granted and sometimes it is wasted or commercialized. It is therefore inspiring to find a young person who not only makes use of her gift but shares it so unselfishly with others. May the future hold rich rewards for Gretchen.

We had an interesting letter this week from a reader who tells us that she has a hobby of collecting inscriptions from public buildings. Each tin she goes sight seeing in a city she jots down all the inscriptions she can find on public libraries, museums, government buildings and railroad stations. She writes that most of them are taken from the Bible. For exam ple, at Union Station in Washington there are three inscriptions over the three main arch ways. They include "Thou hast put all things under his "The truth shall make you free." "The desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose Miss Sylvia Roelke and her horse Gypsy attended a horse show in Walkersville Sunday and came home with three ribbons. And while we are writing of horse shows we might say that the riding horse is growing in popularity everywhere. Horses and dogs have always been man's favorite pets with cats and birds next. There are lots of exciting things that happen on a farm, but

Mr. and Mrs. James Booher are on a trip to Tennesse to visit relatives. They will be gone several weeks.

Mr. Donald Lambert was busy for two days soliciting our community for the Union Bridge Volunteer Fire Co. The Firemen are holding their annual carnival next week with parades, suppers, prizes and fine entertainment. No one needs to be reminded to help the local firemen for in helping them we are really only helping ourselves. Not so long ago a woman was faced with an emergency when she saw her husband being attacked by the farm bull. She and the dog went to the rescue but later she told me that while she was doing what she could she was thinking that if only she had called the Union Bridge Firemen before she ran out of the house. So, in any kind of an emergency one thinks of the firemen. And in any kind of an emergency they respond so now its our turn to respond to their carnival.

This year the X-ray unit of the Tuberculosis Association of Carroll County will visit Keymar, Detour and Middleburg on June 13th. Every adult who has never had their chest X-rayed is urged to take advantage of this public service. There is no charge, the results of the X-ray is confidential and there is no inconven-ience what so ever to the person being X-rayed. Carroll County has been commended upon its efficient technicians who handle the X-ray unit and every person should avail themselves of this excellent service.

The members of the Mt. Union Missionary Society will hold their annual covered dish supper, June 6th., at 7 p. m. in the parish house.

Mrs. Ed Caylor returned to her home Sunday from the Frederick Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient for a week.

While a starling may be a reasonable facsimile of George Gobel's dirty bird it still has as much maternal instinct as a robin red breast. The other day we watched one carry food to its young and it made 15 trips with worms while we watched. And if I don't stop writing about birds some-one will be giving me a Audubon bird call and I will be like the woman whose son gave her one. She tried it out with a series of chirps and twit-ters. But instead of her calls being answered by birds-two hungry cats

We have not lost faith in the Salk vaccine, only in those who in the Public Health Service were to administer the distribution. The public deserves the full story of why the program has been so badly bungled in Washing-ton. After all the American people were the ones that gave 18 million dollars toward research and helped make possible the vaccine. If there has been political haymaking out of serum the American should know the truth and if there has been shame on any party who would gamble with our children's safety for political prestige. And the guilty people should feel the wrath of

The art of acceptance is the art of making someone who has just done you a small favor wish that he might have done you a greater one.

The Babe Ruth Baseball schedule opens this week. Watch the schedules and attend some of the games. Last year Union Bridge team won the Frederick-Carroll League Pennant. RETAIL SALES TAX AND USE TAX CHANGES ARE EFFEC-TIVE JUNE 1

State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, has just released a statement in con-nection with certain changes which have been made in the Sales and Use Tax Act.

During the last session of the General Assembly, while considering various revenue producing measures it was decided to make two important changes in the Sales Tax Act which were estimated to produce two and one-half million dollars.

Under the latest amendment to the Sales Tax Act rental become sales

Under the latest amendment to the Sales Tax Act rental become sales for sales and use tax purposes. The legislature thanked the law by including rental, lease or license to use tangible personal property in the definition of "sale" and selling".

Beginning on June 1, 1955 the sales tax must be collected and paid on rentals and leases of personal property. This, of course, means that many rentals and leases of personal property. This, of course, means that many transactions and businesses will for the first time be subject to the tax. There are innumerable items which are rented including automobiles and trucks, contractors' equipment, bus tires, movie films, business machines, dress suits, row boats and other sporting equipment, floor sanders, suray ing equipment, floor sanders, spray guns, etc. On all these rentals and more the tax must be collected.

The rate of tax and method of payment is the same as on ordinary sales. Persons who rent personal property and who are not now registered with the Sales Tax Division must obtain a sales tax license prior to June 1, 1955. The Comptroller stated that the Sales Tax Division has held many con-ferences during the past month with representatives of various businesses and industries to discuss the problems which the changes in the Act will create. The exchange of these views which the changes in the Act will create. The exchange of these views at these conferences has made it possible for this office to better formulate Rules and Regulations to govern the administration of the law and these Rules and Regulations are available for inspection at the Sales Tax Division and will be ready for distribution within the next few days.

A new booklet embracing the Sales and Use Tax Acts and the Rules and Regulations is in the printers hands and it should be ready for distribution before the end of May.

The sales tax has always applied to the charges for any room or rooms, lodgings, or accommodations to transient guests. No change was made in this provision.

Another important change by the General Assembly was the repeal of the exemption for property not readily obtainable in Maryland, a section of the law which formerly gave a limited exemption to certain purchases.

of the law which formerly gave a limited exemption to certain purchases by persons engaged in the business of manufacturing or compounding and rendering services.

The effective date of both of these changes is June 1, 1955.

Resources Of God Lesson for May 29, 1955

CRIPPLED American carrier A after the battle of Leyte was zig-zagging its way to what looked like certain death. Faster Japanese craft were after it, their shots were coming closer. The only hope any one on board could have was that by shifting course and speeding again and again, they might be able to put off the inevitable end. Finally in mid - afternoon, just when drowning seemed closer than ever, for some reason the Dr. Foreman Americans never understood, the enemy ships gave up the chase and pulled away. The chaplain gathered the men on deck and there read the 124th Psalm (our devotional reading for the week) as if it had been written for the occasion: "If it had not been the Lord who was on our side, when men rose up against us, then they would have swallowed us up quick then the waters had overwhelmed us."

The Resources of God

God (said Napoleon) is on the side with the largest battalions. Napoleon was not acquainted with God or he would hardly have said that. There have been to many occasions when the biggest battalions, the best military material (sic), the ablest generalship, did not turn the trick. God has sometimes appeared to be on the side of very small battalions. Sometimes it's a kind of mystery how it's done. But history carries the record. There was the time when the Hebrew slaves left Egypt in spite of the best army in the world. There was the time described in the Bible reading this week, when the God-fearing King Hezekiah and his people,—a much smaller little country than many another that had fallen to defeat by mighty Assyria, - was saved by a miracle. There was the time later in Hebrew history (between the Old and the New Testaments) when the little army of the Maccabees stood off the great armies of the Seleucid kings; the astonishing day when the "invincible" Armada, the enormous naval expedition of Spain, which could never have been beaten by English arms at that time, was smashed by a hurricane on the rocky coasts of the islands the Spaniards intended to enslave. Say what you please, some victories cannot be explained unless you can see "God within the shadows, keeping watch above his own."

Victories of the Spirit

There have been victories of the spirit, too, which can hardly be explained unless you can see God in the picture. When John Woolman was born, slavery was taken for granted everywhere in the civilized world. You would not have thought Mr. Woolman could make a dent in so well-established a custom. He had no money, no prestige, not much education. But the Lord laid on his soul a burden, and he went from one Quaker meeting to another, sharing his burden of concern for slaves; and out of his one-man crusade came the Quaker opposition to slavery and the gradual awakening of the Christian conscience everywhere. So, nearer our times, when Walter Rauschenbusch was a boy, religion was generally supposed to have to do only with a man's soul, not with his business or his politics or anything outside his church and home. Rauschenbusch became a new sort of prophet-attacked, of course, as prophets are; but what seemed to be heresy in his day is preached today in all churches, that the Christian religion is concerned with every side and every interest and relationship of life, public and pri-

Not the Lazy

It is a serious mistake to suppose that God always rewards the weak, or that he will do for us what we are expected to do ourselves. The story of Hezekiah brings this out. He felt, and the whole country felt, that God had saved them in their time of need; and this was true. But it should be noted that Hezekiah, faced with invasion, took intelligent (and expensive, measures for defense. He secured a reliable water supply for use in case of siege, he diverted water away from the places where the besieging army was sure to be. He built up the army, he manufactured new equipment. If he had radar screens he would have used them. (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christian the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)
