HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Santa Claus at Carnival

Santa Claus has been added to the number of attractions at the P-T.A. indoor carnival. Parents may have their children's pictures taken with Santa for a nominal sum.
The carnival will be held on Friday and Saturday, December 9 and 10, from 7:00-11:30 p. m. on the school's first floor for the purpose of raising money to purchase water coolers for the school.

At the carnival there will be a variety of entertainment for both young and old. The skits, movies, and home talent show will be repeated at intervals throughout the evening.

There will be no general admission at the door; you pay only for what you want to see or do. The prices for all things being exhibited or sold will be kept as low as possible so an evening of entertainment may be enjoyed by all for a small cost.

The three skits, which are being presented by the students, are entitled, "Henry's Mail Order Wife", "And the Lamp Went Out", and "Folly of the Trolley".

It has been arranged that the youngsters may view two short movies, "The Night Before Christmas", and "Dreamland", while their parents are attending other events; however, adults are invited to attend the movies also.

The home talent show will consist of musical selections, a roller skating act, tap dancing, and a magician.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The United Lutheran Church Women of Keysville will hold their annual Christmas Worship program on Tuesday evening, Dec. 13 at 7:30.

At this time a play, "What Do The Christmas Carols Say," will be presented.

The play, narrated by Mrs. Chas. Trout, is the story of Mrs. Stime, caught in the rush of Christmas preparations, who discovers she does not know what to tell little daughter, Roxann, when asked by her, "What Do The Christmas Carols Say?" Like most of us, she finds too little time has been spent in preparing our hearts and minds for the Birth of Christ.

When she tries to reconstruct the first Christmas in her mind the Nativity scene comes to life in her living room. Mary is portrayed by Mrs. Carroll Wilhide, Joseph by Mrs. Roy Baumgardner and the Angel by Mrs. Mark Baumgardner, the Shepherds by Mrs. Edward Coshun and Mrs. Ralph Shoemaker and the Wisemen, Mrs. Clyde Wilhide, Mrs. Robert Stine and Mrs. John Harner, endeavor to explain, "What The Christmas Carols Say." Unseen vocal numbers by Mrs. Dixon Yaste, and Mrs. Carroll Dougherty and Mrs. Charles Trout. The leaders for the evening are Mrs. Gregg Kiser and Mrs. James Unglesbee.

Mrs. Edward Coshun and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide have prepared the White Gift Service which is as follows: musical reading, "Christmas If," by Mrs. Carroll Dougherty; poem, "When Christ Was Born"; prayer by Mrs. Harry Clabaugh.
Gifts will be sent to Rocky Boy Mission in Montana, where warm clothing for men, women and children, sheets, pillow cases and towels, educational material, quilting materials and sewing supplies are needed.

The public is cordially invited to attend this Christmas program at the Keysville Lutheran Church.

A WORD OF COMMENDATION

Anyone who last Thursday or Friday saw "Bolts and Nuts" could not help but be greatly impressed. This was a stellar performance given by our own local actors and actresses.

Taneytown can proudly boast of its fine stage performers. They have the innate ability and stage freedom to become so filled with the parts they play that they are actually transformed into those personalities. Actually one can't see any evident artificiality in their portrayals.

Were it not for their love of the home community and family life and their devotion to their vocation and calling, one can imagine that many of them would be on the metropolitan city stages of our nation. If this splendid cast of characters could take "Bolts and Nuts" or other plays to Broadway, there is no doubt that they would play to a packed house having a long run of performances.

The interest in local production of plays should never die. The fine talents of adult and youthful stagers should not become dormant or lost. It is possible that those interested in the stage might form some kind of theatre guild? Why shouldn't we have "The Taneytown Thespians" or "The Community Players" in our town?

They would serve the community in a unique way by giving several plays a year to large, appreciative audiences. Such plays could be for some worthwhile civic projects or just for the sake of satisfying the 'layers' own interests in good and wholesome fellowship which common producing such dramatic performances.

P. O. HOLIDAY RUSH GETS UNDER WAY

"Mail Early" is Advice of Postmaster Burke

The Post Office Department predicts that the 1955 pre-holiday season will be a real record breaker as noted by the mounting flood of Xmas cards and gift packages.

Last year the local Post Office handled a total of approximately 80,000 pieces of mail between Dec. 1st and the 25th. This year we have already noticed the increasing flow of Christmas cards, letters, and packages in response to the "Early Mailing Pleas", and the real rush is just starting.

The local postmaster went on to say that the mounting volume of Christmas mail makes it doubly important for everone to help on the "Mail Early for Christmas" program. He warned that packages mailed to out-of-state points after this week may not be delivered in time for Christmas. He said that the flow of Christmas cards is running about normal but parcel post is definitely behind schedule and suggested that all out-of-state parcels still to be mailed should be sent by air parcel post, and pointed out that Christmas cards addressed to the most distant points should also be air mailed.

When you use three cent stamps on your Christmas cards, you get first-class mail service; "first-class friends deserve first-class mail", thus affording many advantages over the two-cent cards which cannot be sealed or contain any written message. Keep in mind that gift packages may not be sealed, unless the return address and this notice appears: "Contents, Merchandise—May be opened for postal inspection." Christmas seals and "Do Not Open Until Christmas" stickers may be used but always place them on the back of your gift parcels or Xmas cards, leaving the address easy to read.

All patrons including those residing on rural routes having a quantity of cards are asked to tie them in bundles with addresses all faced one way so as to facilitate their expedient handling in the Post Office. The Post Office will be open all day Saturday, December 17, with money order service to discontinue at 12:00 noon. Rural patrons are urged to request to cooperate with their rural carriers by purchasing their stamps well in advance and assuring themselves that all letters have postage stamps affixed thereon before placing them in the rural box for collection by their carrier. The practice of placing money with letters in rural boxes expecting carriers to affix the proper postage will not be tolerated, particularly during this rush season of the year.

Your cooperation with the above suggestions will be greatly appreciated by your local postal staff, and at the same time, giving your mail the very best of service.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Viewing Macy's parade on Thanksgiving morning in New York City along Broadway was a treat for both the youngsters and "Oldsters" as it was their biggest and best parade and greatest in the 29 years. There were over 2,000,000 spectators. There were four blimps in huge and monstrous shapes floating over the paraders ten bands dressed most colorfully playing Marches. The day was ideal and it all was enjoyed so much that many expressed it should have been longer!

Immediately after, all restaurants and hotels were jammed with the throng for the big turkey feast.

There really is only one New York City, no other place just like it with Uncle Sam's Melting Pot. Humanity in all walks of life rubbing shoulders especially and more so on this very special holiday. It was a day full of joy and I wondered why all other countries were not at peace with each other. There were the roasted and delicious chestnuts as in all down the years being sold by the Italian, a few steps further were those wonderful and big pretzels (as I used to buy in Hanover) and which I never can resist, there was the gardenia man selling those delightful flowers with the heavenly scent for the price of 35 cents and of course the newspapers from any city being sold on each corner!

Stopping as always at the Times Square Hotel is another big treat where the nice manager and all the help makes one feel they are very much at home plus the very comfortable and nice furnished rooms. There is an air of southern hospitality right there and the nice part it is just around the corner from Broadway within the walking distance of everything, studios, movies and theatres! When next you visit old New York be sure you make that your stopping place as that hotel will really make you want to remain longer! There is a garage adjoining the hotel so that means you do not have to run around to park the car. Drive straight through the Lincoln Tunnel to 43rd and there you are!

"Queen Bee", the intense drama with the delightful star, Joan Crawford opened that day. Never have I seen Miss Crawford in any play appearing so beautifully gownned. The story was most unusual yet Miss Crawford wrote me stating it was really her favorite! Of course, the acting was perfection and carried out in every detail. It was tragic all the way through and deep to the very end. Miss Crawford is my favorite actress as all of you know by this time and after seeing the acting in this story, you, too, will agree with me that there is truly only one Miss Joan Crawford!

There was a movie out (and the place was jammed) called, "It Happened Yesterday." It showed movies since 1895 beginning with Teddy Roosevelt and much more of interest which was fascinating to see and learn in comparison to the present. There were pictures too numerous to mention such as World War I, the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, the ride up Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, D. C., the beginning of the airplanes. No doubt it will be brought to Baltimore. There was really standing room which convinced this Observer that the public is still

CHANGE ON THE LAND

Fifteen years is a short period of time. Yet, in the past 15 years vast and often revolutionary changes have taken place in this country. And nowhere has change been more marked than in agriculture.

In those 15 years, the farm population declined by 2,500,000 people. In those same 15 years, the country gained 30,000,000 in population. There are 30,000,000 more mouths to feed—and they are being fed, better than ever before.

How can 2,500,000 fewer farmers take care of the wants of 30,000,000 more people?

The biggest part of the answer to that question can be provided in one word—and the word is mechanization. Agriculture not only has more farm equipment, but it is better equipment—more productive, more economical to operate, more trouble-free, more versatile. So every farmer and farm worker can get out more produce—and get it out with less waste and less labor.

The significance of this will deepen as time wears on. Our population continues to soar, and people continue to demand higher living standards. It seems certain that time and tide, if nothing else, will solve our current farm surplus problems. The machine is the assurance of plenty.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BALTIMORE, MD., DAILY RECORD: "Every merchant and manufacturer knows that there is a point of diminishing returns in the process of raising prices. They know too that it is possible to price an article completely out of its potential market. This is a point which a few labor leaders might well take to heart, for labor too can price itself out of its market."

PLAINFIELD, IND., MESSENGER: "If reports of the government's indebtedness make you sick in the pit of your stomach, just stop and think what causes much of it. We're not beyond the reach of the doctor. We've been asking for too much from the government—a habit acquired by 20 years of a 'do everything' regime in Washington. Just ask for less—it's that easy."

SAN MARINO, CALIF., TRIBUNE: "Democracy, freedom, equality of opportunity, justice, enlightenment, are precious gifts that must be wanted so badly that life itself is not too high a price to pay for their defense. We must be alert to the threat posed by those among us who would barter these gifts for the security they think will be found under a despotism they hope will be benevolent."

ARMY GIVES GUARANTY OF CHRISTMAS AT HOME FOR ENLISTEES

Major John H. Miller, Commanding Officer of the United States Army Recruiting Main Station in Baltimore, Md., announced that in accordance with plans outlined by the Department of the Army, to encourage enlistment and reenlistment in the Army during the holiday season, those who request leave will be granted the leave immediately upon their enlistment in the Regular Army.

This applies only during the period of December 15 to 31, and the leave will not extend beyond the third of January, 1956. Major Miller pointed out that those who avail themselves of this opportunity to enlist during the period of December 15 to 20, will, under a normal 3-year enlistment, be separated from the service prior to Christmas in 1958, thus getting an additional Christmas at home.

W. H. DAVIS COMPANY DISTRIBUTES BOY SCOUTS CALENDARS

For the twelfth year the W. H. Davis Company of Westminster has distributed the Boy Scout Calendar to the Cub Scouts and Explorers of Carroll District. The Norman Rockwell painting on the face of the calendar gives recognition to the Scoutmaster for his service to boyhood.

"There isn't any pay for you, you serve without reward. The boys who tramp the fields with you but little could afford; And yet your pay is richer far than men who toil for gold. For in a dozen different ways your service shall be told".

The picture is an open book of the typical Scoutmaster anywhere in this great land of America.

In presenting the calendars to the leaders of the various Scouting units in Carroll District, Mr. Ray Hollinger, a member of the Carroll District Committee and manager of the W. H. Davis Company stated: "During these times when we are threatened from within and without by those who would like to alter our American way of life, one of our prime objectives should be instilling the basic principles of our democracy in our youth. One of the most effective forces in this direction today is the Boy Scouts of America. We are proud to have a part in this program in Carroll County."

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Continued from first page) interested in "What Happened Yesterday!" Then, there was the delightful Rodgers and Hammerstein, "Oklahoma!" with Todd-A O! What is Todd-A O? It is the perfected film process that gives you, the audience, a sense of participation in the action, the feeling of presence in every scene. Todd-A O is a practical scientific system developed by American Optical Company engineers under the direction of Brian O'Brien, to bring into being an idea envisioned by Michael Todd. It is wide, made with one camera on a very large screen in which the audience appears to take part. Therefore this movie cannot be shown in any local picture house. It all is truly a part in motion pictures.

Then, there was "Louie" of Lowe's theatre, who was the door man for thirty-four years whom all the stars loved. Rather than dispense with Louie Saelson's services entirely, he now is "Coat Checker" and handed me a book of articles which were published about him in all the New York City newspapers. He spoke highly of the movie actress Jean Harlow and also stated the last time Miss Joan Crawford appeared in the theatre in person for her movie, "Sudden Fear" they mobbed her and he had to come to the rescue!

Then, there is the attractive "Orchid" shop most glamorous with the black velvet background at 1583 Broadway between 47th and 48th street plus the wonderful perfumes! Kenneth Henderson, an orchid grower from Connecticut is really making his dreams come true amid color and beauty right there. He brings the orchids fresh from the greenhouses (Green Farms, Connecticut) directly to New Yorkers at prices that are delightfully reasonable. Orchids do have fragrance which I immediately noticed as I never pinned on my coat (which I never knew before). Mr. Henderson has captured their fragrance in his lovely perfumes which are sold right there. The oils compounded according to French traditional skill has secured the perfection of their fragrance. In the show window right in front where the passerby can see the growing orchids in pots, he stated they were twelve years old. The white orchid tinted with lavender is also a thing of beauty.

Interviewing Jack Sterling of Big Top T. V. on his radio program for "Wonder Bread", he said he was from out west but now resides in Connecticut with his wife and two children. He is quite handsome and a most domesticated man with no airs about him at all, just a lovable fellow. Everyone respects him. The radio show only lasts 15 minutes but Big Top is one long hour. The next Saturday you are looking at him, remember he is truly a wonderful and real guy. So long, folks, until next week end. D. V. Be careful when you drive and remember to keep S. D. Day a permanent affair for 364 days thereafter. I am, Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER Really was appreciated and would like you to continue the service to our new duty station, which at present is at Fort Knox, Kentucky. There's no better way to be so close to home than to relax weekly with the Carroll Record home town news, when you're so many miles away. Our stay home was shorter than we wanted and we didn't get all around due to my wife's emergency trip to Fort Meade Hospital for 4 1/2 days and one week in bed with no traveling afterwards. At present I am assigned to the Hq.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27—Franklin Burrier of Union Bridge, Md., is in Chicago this week attending the 34th annual National 4-H Club Congress where he is being awarded a $300 scholarship as one of the 12 national winners for his outstanding record in the 4-H Tractor program this year.

The 19-year old Frederick county youth, son of Mrs. L. I. Burrier, received an all-expense trip to Chicago on the basis of his 4-H Club activities for the past six years, and in particular his accomplishments in the tractor program.

Young Burrier and winners from 43 other states will be guests of honor at the annual awards banquet on Tuesday night, (Nov. 29). The 4-H tractor program is conducted by cooperative extension services with 8 oil companies providing funds for awards and training of local 4-H Club leaders who in turn teach 4-H youths to maintain and operate their tractors safely and economically.

Franklin's host is The American Oil Company, which sponsors the 4-

H Tractor Program in 17 eastern states from Maine to Florida.

Franklin has participated in seven different 4-H Club projects and seven tractor program projects. He has served as an officer in 4-H Club groups including three as president. He has given seven tractor demonstrations and six talks before 4-H groups.

Franklin, a senior in high school who ranks in the upper half of his class, is a member of the high school band. He also is a square dance caller and a member of his church choir.

Franklin's father died when he was 10 years old and he now operates his mother's 161-acre farm with his younger brother.

Nearly 1,300 4-H youths from all over the nation are in Chicago this week seeing this great city and are busy attending banquets, appearing on radio and television, talking earnestly with newsmen and photographers who send reports on their activities back home, and visiting the National Stock Show at the Stockyards.

My Neighbor

Lesson for December 11, 1955

TWO cart-drivers in China were trying to get up a muddy hill. Each driver's cart was stuck in the mud, almost side by side. Each man was beating his own scrawny horse, but the wheels were stuck fast. Along came an American. "Why don't you unhitch one horse," he said "and hitch him to the other cart? Then the two horses might get the cart out of the mud." The carters were astonished. They had never thought of that. But they did as the stranger said, and sure enough they both got to the top of the hill. That true story, told by a missionary, shows two things at once. One is that in countries where Christianity has had a chance to get around, some simple Christian ideas get taken for granted, such as helping your neighbor when he is in trouble. The other is that where Christianity is unknown, even so simple a thing as getting together to pull out of the mud, comes as a strange new idea.

Dr. Foreman story, told by a missionary, shows two things at once. One is that in countries where Christianity has had a chance to get around, some simple Christian ideas get taken for granted, such as helping your neighbor when he is in trouble. The other is that where Christianity is unknown, even so simple a thing as getting together to pull out of the mud, comes as a strange new idea.

Who Is My Neighbor?

Now if those two Chinese carters had been father and son, or brother and brother, they might have thought of helping each other, for in China nothing is too good for members of your family. But we have no great right to make fun of the Chinese. All of us are inclined to draw pretty hard lines and to think—Outside those lines I have no neighbors. Inside the lines, yes, we understand pretty well what neighborliness is. "Love thy neighbor as thyself" is a commandment not too hard to understand, for we know what it is to love ourselves, that comes all too naturally. We like to get ahead, to cushion ourselves from danger and if possible from discomfort, we consult our own interests. Loving one's neighbor as oneself just means looking out for him in the same careful ways, thinking ahead for him, promoting him. We understand what neighborliness is, yes. We do not confuse it with being meddlesome. If you want to know as much about your neighbor as you do about yourself, you aren't being a neighbor but a nuisance. If you do for your neighbor what he can very well do, ought to do and maybe wants to do for himself, then you are not treating him like a neighbor

Neighbors Out of Sight

Jesus' famous parable of the Good Samaritan shows that having neighbors is easy, in fact you can't help it; but that the important thing is being a neighbor. It means more than living in "peaceful co-existence" and not bothering each other. It means active co-operation and help, of those who need help. Wherever there is a person in trouble whom we can help, there is a neighbor. In our time the world has grown closer together than it was in Jesus' time. If there had been a famine in India, the good Samaritan would never have known it, or if he had, he could have done nothing about it. Now if there is a famine in India we hear about it as soon as the Indians can; and we can do something about it too. When farmers in a church in Iowa, for instance, send a heifer to a farmer in some out-of-the-way or devastated part of the world across a wide ocean, that is being a neighbor, modern-style for a modern world.

What We Haven't Figured Out

There are many problems we haven't worked out yet, in this business for acting as good neighbors. For example: What is the wisest way to be neighbor to people of different race from our own? How can a mill-worker be a neighbor to the stock-holders, or how can the stock-holders be neighborly to the workers? When a corporation, in the process of expansion, throws 500 persons out of work at one time, is there any way in which those who are employed by the corporation can be neighbors to those who have lost their positions? How can we be neighbors to people who resent us? How far can we go in helping people without turning them into "moochers" and beggars? How can Christians in one denomination be neighbors to those in another? And one more question: Is it possible for non-Christians to be as good neighbors, in Jesus' sense of the word, as Christians can be?

KIWANIS CLUB DEDICATES BUILDING

An Odentown housewife felt a glow of satisfaction, the Odenton Kiwanis Club felt a sense of accomplishment and the entire community was proud last Saturday when they assembled formally to dedicate their new Community Center.

Set as a "brief and formal affair", dedication of the $45,000 building took place at 2 p. m. at its location, First Street and Watts Avenue.

The housewife is Mrs. Mable A. Whitmore, who a little over a year ago asked very matter-of-factly, "Why not build yourselves a building?" when her husband and a friend were discussing Kiwanis Club housing problems in the area.

Her husband, then club president, took the question to the next meeting. Before a month had passed the local service group had the project going—but, instead of a "club only enterprise" made it a community project.

Help was volunteered from all quarters and a Give a Buck campaign, which is being renewed now, was launched. It has proved the main source of income in financing the structure.

The need for the building is evidenced by an expected population increase in the next ten years that will triple the present census. Already, in the post war years Odenton has outgrown its hitches. Its shoes are too small and it is still growing up.

The firehouse and church halls, adequate for supper gatherings in the past, are too small now to serve the sprawling community.

The school age, or teen-age, youngsters who are residents of Odenton have had no teen center or other recreational facilities to speak of and the citizens of this Anne Arundel county town have done something about it.

When the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, D. D., Bishop of Maryland, made the dedicatory address Dec. 3, 1955 he dedicated more than a building—he dedicated a monument to the American principle of united effort.

Following the ceremonies, visitors and guests were afforded the opportunity of inspecting the new structure, according to James Salyers, Kiwanis president. Besides the large auditorium and stage, kitchen and dining areas, the center features dressing rooms, a club room, office and rest rooms.

The kitchen is a cook's paradise with three coffee urns, stainless steel equipment, a 10-burner gas stove and facilities to serve up anything from a peanut butter and jelly sandwich to a full-course dinner.

The building itself is of one-story granite block construction, about 100 by 70 feet, and has steel windows, doors and roof supports.

And, if any doubt remains as to the need for the immediate use of this new addition to the community, it might be noted here that the first events, a supper is slated for Dec. 10.

Also, the Odenton Elementary School will stage a Christmas pageant at the center. For several years now there has been no place for such a play since the school auditorium is in use as an emergency classroom because of overcrowded conditions.

Gas Mileage goes up AGAIN

And so does the thrill — with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo!

WITH ALL the big excitement of Buick's 1956 styling and power and ride and handling—it's easy to overlook this fact: Gas mileage in the '56 Buicks takes a big step upward. One reason, of course, is the new power plant itself. Every new Buick cradles an advanced 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with the highest horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. Yet every engine delivers more efficiency, and more usable power to the rear wheels—because each one has a new double "Y" manifold, and a new high in compression ratio.

But the major reason for the happy news in gas mileage—and for the new step-up in safety and thrills—is Buick's latest version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

In this airplane-principled transmission, you always had a gas-saving cruising range—and, at a switch of the pitch, a full-power getaway range.

Now Buick engineers have brought to this cruising range what they call "double regeneration." It simply means a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity to build up driving force.

EXPERIENCES OF GERMAN BRIDE'S ARRIVAL IN AMERICA

The Travelers Aid Society, the Maryland State Police and the passenger terminal staff of Friendship International Airport Monday co-operated to change a young German bride's tears to smiles.

Mrs. Helga Foreman, from Bad Hersfeld, left Germany last Saturday to join her ex-G.I. husband, Robert W. Foreman, of Taneytown, Md. The couple were married last spring and Mr. Foreman left for home seven days later.

Arrangements were recently completed for Helga to come to the United States before this Thursday, when her first child is due.

She was supposed to meet her husband at Friendship on Sunday, but her plane was grounded at Boston by fog and she did not arrive here until Monday morning.

And when she finally did arrive her husband was not at the airport. Attempts to explain her plight to airline officials did not help much, since Helga does not speak English.

Finally, someone happened to remember that Mrs. Irene Michaud, who works as a saleswoman at the Friendship merchandise mart, had also come to this country as the bride of an American soldier several years ago, and speaks fluent German.

Mrs. Michaud was born in France but spent many years in Germany. The saleswoman found Helga drinking a mixture of coffee and tears in the airport luncheon room.

"Sprechen sie Deutsch?" Mrs. Michaud asked. "Kaun ich ihnen helfen?" ("Do you speak German? Can I help you?")

Helga said later they were the most welcome words she had heard since leaving home.

The two women chatted a while. Then Mrs. Michaud explained the problem to the airport police.

State police were notified by teletype, Trooper G. Nelson Sensabaugh was dispatched from Randallstown to try to find Mr. Foreman. The trooper learned in Taneytown that the missing husband had left home at 11 a. m.

Meanwhile, Mr. Foreman was sweating out train after train at Pennsylvania Station, in Baltimore. No Helga.

When he told his troubles to the Travelers Aid Society at the station the society telephoned Friendship and the two sides of the story were soon properly correlated.

At the airport at 6 p. m., the Foremans were united.

Through the interpretation of Mrs. Michaud, Mrs. Foreman expressed her thanks for all the efforts that had been made to help her.

If her new neighbors in Taneytown prove as friendly as those she has already met, she said, life in America should be happy indeed.—The Baltimore Sun.
