A delayed explanation. The article I wrote for The Record telling about our Christmas at Leesburg Florida, turned out very disappointing. I wrote two pages, the first page printed just led up to Christmas. The second page lost, just how no one knows; told of our real Christmas. Christmas Eve and Christmas Day were high lights for us. LIONS CLUB NEWS

The Taneytown Lions Club met at Taney Inn on Tuesday evening, at 6:29 p. m. for their regular bi-monthly meeting. President Raymond J. Perry conducted the meeting with Lion Wilbur O. Thomas giving the invocation.

Mr. Robert Hilke, Manager of the Frederick Branch of The Alban Tractor Co., gave a very interesting talk on "Safety" and presented a very effective movie entitled "The Perfect Crime" which had to do with the real cause of accidents on our highways. Speed. The fact that a fatality, injury or bad automobile accident is usually nothing but a statistic, or a name, until we become involved ourselves. Yet we, individually, are each responsible, thru our gasoline tax which go into improving our highways and our insurance premiums which pay for death benefits and the tremendous expense accidents amount to.

We, as taxpayers would insist to the proper authorities, improvements, regardless of cost which would be less expensive than the millions of dollars and thousands of lives accidents cost us each year.

Lions Ralph Stoniesifer and Carroll Wantz arranged the program and Lion Merle Ohler graciously furnished his equipment for projecting the movie.

The universe begins to look more like a great thought than a great machine.

C. E. NEWS

A cabinet meeting was held at the First Church of God, Westminster, Tuesday evening. Mr. Charles Heyward, Field Secretary, and Rev. Cronise H. Barr met with us. Five Societies were represented, with 13 members attending.

Final plans for the "75th C. E. Birthday Banquet" were made. The banquet to be held in the new Firemen's Hall, Reese, Md., (3 miles beyond Westminster) Feb. 2, at 7 p. m. A turkey dinner will be served for $1.25 for adults and 65c for children under 10 years. Send names for reservations to Miss Mabel Albert, Westminster, Md.

With the spirited motto, "For Christ and the Church", C. E. focused attention for the first time on the importance of the young people in the local church, and laid bonds of friendship and fellowship across until—then unprejudiced denominational boundaries. It is not extravagant to characterize this Christian Endeavor as a principal forerunner of the ecumenical movement of today.

Mrs. Roy B. Kiser, Alumni Supt., cordially invited all C. E. Alumni (former C. E. members) to make reservations for the banquet at Reese, Feb. 2, at 7 p. m. Especially wants names of those who joined C. E. 25 years ago, for the "Quarter Century Club" for the Christian Endeavor World. A fine program has been planned with Rev. Baker as speaker. Rev. Barr toastmaster, James Evans, games; Glenn Couenhaver, song leader. Come and join this Interdenominational fellowship. (Deadline for Reservations Jan. 30.)

MEETING OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Carroll County Children's Aid Society was held in the Methodist Social Hall on Monday, January 9, at 2 p. m. Mr. Richard Steinman, the County Executive of the Kent-Queen Anne's Children's Aid Society, came from the Eastern Shore in the icy weather to speak to the Carroll County board members and their guests.

Mr. Steinman began his talk by discussing change in services which the country have been making in the past decade. In all of the branches of the Maryland Children's Aid Society there has been a shift from long term to short term boarding foster home care as the agency feels the long term care is the responsibility of the public department rather than the responsibility of the private agency.

The Children's Aid Society now offers, in addition to the foster family care, Counseling Service, Protective Service, Service to unmarried mothers and has extended its adoption program.

Mr. Steinman emphasized the PAREN-CHILD COUNSELING service offered by the Children's Aid Society pointing out how it strengthens family life, keeps a home together and the children with their own parents and thus results in a financial saving to the community when the children do not have to be placed in foster homes. He stressed the need for more homes in which to place children for ADOPTION. Contrary to the situation existing in cities, the counties have more children for adoption than there are suitable homes. He said in order to do good adoption placement the agency should have many more adoption homes than children. This ratio should be at least five or six homes to one child.

The next meeting of the Carroll County Children's Aid Society will be held on Monday, February 13, at 2 p. m.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It truly was "Fairy-land" all over Baltimore during the week of the Holiday and it all ended too soon. Such rare beauty and all of a sudden. The most colorful street was Walther Avenue! Every house was brilliant with all the colored lights for decoration and the parade of autos was amazing for the sightseers.

Visiting the lovely home of Rosa Ponselle the Operatic Star for "Open House" to the public for the benefit of The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra which is situated in the Green Spring Valley made me think of a wonderful Opera scene. Jerry Gary was the decorator and florist and that man sure does know his business. The admission charge was $1.00. As the front door was opened to allow the visitor to enter, a big Santa Claus greeted one at the top of the outside door singing, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!" and then a real hearty laugh like the one in Hochschule's window in Baltimore.

How nice it was on the part of our Governor to suggest money for the Baltimore Symphony from the State. Wise man if you ask me!

At last I really heard a little Parakeet talk and when he did say, "Merry Christmas" to me as I sat down in the living room of a very special Godmother, he then continued, "Praise The Lord!" There were many other favorite sayings which startled me but I think they are miniature parrots. From all I hear from those teaching these little birds they have said, "It only must be one individual to teach them!" So if you are "Parakeet Minded" be sure you are alone with the feathered pet all day long and suddenly he will start to talk.

Such a lull and a decided one suddenly in the department stores these days after the exchanges of gifts! However, the windows are beautifully decorated for the sunny South with all kinds of dresses and to show what is going to be worn.

As I sit and type this Column "Spice 'n' Everything Nice!" my pet cat is right beside me with his new collar of red.

Many Columnists have simply raved with the two wild shows of "Guys and Dolls" and "Artists and Models"! No so with this Observer as I walked out before either one was half through! I was disgusted!

A fine Drama with a fine moral is always my favorite. Going down to see the show was just about the most happy Taxi-driver I have ever ridden with for he was humming a tune all the way. Paging Mr. Sub Cab & Company—Number 378 Cab.

Now, "Zenith" has a wrist watch alarm for the Deaf! It tickles the wrist as the alarm goes off! Cute?

Believe it or not, Folks, "Buttons" my very special Boston Terrier is really smart enough to go in the Movies—she now holds a lolly pop in between her toes and then places her paws together for added security and eats that candy like a child! (And I did not teach her that one either!)

By the time this Column goes to Press—there will be many of the Gardenia buds bursting into bloom right in my kitchen, too! How could any one doubt the Wisdom in back of it all?

Did you see the little chap from Korea and the story called, "I Walk to America" on T.V.? It was a true one and I hope you did not miss that. Then on "This is Your Life" to see the actor Lew Ayres was a treat and he was quite startled himself. Eh?

Thinking of Stars that nice Miss Kelly is really engaged to the French Prince!

And now this from Boston—for the teen-ager!

Ten "COMMANDMENTS!" Don't let your parents down. They brought you up.

Stop and think before you drink. Be smart, obey. You'll give orders yourself some day.

Ditch wrong thoughts fast or they'll ditch you. Show-off driving is juvenile. Don't act your age.

Pick the right friends to be picked for a friend.

Choose a date fit for a mate. Don't go steady unless you are ready.

Love God and neighbor.

Live carefully. The soul you have may be your own!

So long Folks. Have a grand weekend. Will be seeing you around the town soon and also at the Auto Show. Until next week, D.V. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1956

IN THE SAME IMAGE

World Religion Day, observed this year on January 15th, reaffirms a principle for all of us to live by—the basic need for unity of all mankind under one God.

Science in its progress has shrunk the world—through speedy transportation and communication—but terrifying weapons have made it easy to destroy. Universal peace cannot be only a dream—it has become a necessity, and the ultimate goal to be achieved by the true unity of man. The alternative is devastation.

World Religion Day, founded by the world-wide Baha'i religion in 1950, has consistently pointed the way to this goal. The Baha'is believe that man's steady growth to full religious unity becomes apparent when we perceive that Revelation has been progressive; first of God of one people, then the God of nations, and now the God of mankind.

Such unity is not possible without religious liberty. This crucial issue of our time is the theme of World Religion Day, this year observed by Baha'is in 1500 American communities as well as in countries all over the world.

In the usual sense, religious liberty means the right to worship without state interference. For the Baha'is, this definition is a timely one; for although this Faith is recognized and respected throughout the world as an independent, major religion Baha'is in Iran are sorely oppressed.

The Baha'is, however, have expanded this narrower definition into a call for the religious freedom of mankind to recognize the oneness of God and the truth that all human beings were created by Him.

In their statement, the Baha'is National Assembly called for the use of "all the resources of truth to bind together in one humanity the fragment we call nations, races, classes and creeds."

The spirit of consecration is one that should stay with all of us throughout the years.—U. S. Press Association.

ROOM APLENTY

As is generally known, the farm population has been declining while the size of the average farm has been increasing. The agricultural economists seem virtually unanimous in believing that this trend will continue, with fewer farmers and bigger farms.

The reason for it, of course, is the technological revolution that has resulted from mechanization, electrification, and other gigantic forward steps that farming has taken in a comparatively short period of time.

Some people, however, fear that all this progress involves a serious danger—a danger that the family farm may be on the way out, and that the future of farming lies in huge, corporation-type enterprises.

The weight of evidence is against that view. Modern farming techniques should and do strengthen the family farm. Mechanized equipment, starting with the tractor and going all the way down the long list, is an example. It makes it possible for the small operator to handle a larger acreage and to produce more with less cost and physical effort. Not every farmer, obviously, can individually buy all the machines and attachments that are desired. But groups of farmers, acting cooperatively, can do that—and the cost to each is moderate indeed in the light of the results.

This country has room aplenty for big farmers and small farmers—just as it has room for big and small business.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BELLINGHAM, WASH. HERALD:

"Crawford Greenwalt, president of the duPont company, told a congressional hearing that Uncle Sam took 91 per cent of his $569,000 pay last year. He expressed the fear—citing this example—that high taxes will make it increasingly difficult for young men to enter industry, with a resulting loss in industrial efficiency and consequently, a decline in the nation's economy. There are, of course, relatively few men who turn 91 per cent of their take over to the federal treasury alone. They cast few votes. But the economic issue involved cannot be dismissed lightly."

HOLLYWOOD, FLA., HERALD: "If union membership is made a condition of employment, it is terrifying to think of the power the unions would wield over the worker himself. If he refused to vote or act in a manner prescribed by the union, it would be a simple matter to lift his union card and thus make it impossible for the offending member to obtain work anywhere."

PRESTON IDAHO, CITIZEN: "... Unless businessmen who can't be bothered with politics start smartening up and speaking up and fighting for our economic system, the rising curve will meet the reward curve coming down—and there goes a free enterprise! We shall then have the 'welfare state', for which we shall all be working."

"Our greatest problems in the years ahead may well lie in developing a better understanding of the benefits that accrue from our economic system."—Clifford F. Hood, President, U. S. Steel Corporation.

Clear the track for express production—switch off flock colds with Ar-Sulfa. Mix in drinking water at first signs (sneezing, watery eyes, off feed) of colds. Ar-Sulfa is a control for infectious coryza (commonly called colds). To clear up cold-clogged nostrils and throats, spray Can-Pho-Sal over the flock a few times daily. Helps ease difficult breathing. Now, cut egg losses, protect profits—use Ar-Sulfa and Can-Pho-Sal to clear up common colds quick.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

RING-NECKED PHEASANT

(Phasianus colchicus torquatus)

RANGE: A valuable naturalized American citizen—a native of Asia; successfully introduced in eastern states north of the Mason and Dixon Line and in the Dakotas and other mid-western states, also in Oregon, Washington, and Canadian Provinces. Does not thrive in Maryland excepting along the Maryland-Pennsylvania line; all efforts to introduce them in Maryland south of this line have been a costly failure.

DESCRIPTION: The cock is a gaudy, stately many colored bird; the hens are smaller and more sedately colored, mostly brown; length of male 33 to 36 inches including a very long tail; weight an average of 3 pounds, hens around 2 pounds; more or less complete white ring around neck of male, from which its name is derived.

BREEDING: Polygamous; nest of grasses on ground made by hen; lays 6 to 12 olive-buff eggs; incubation by hen only takes about 23 days; only one brood annually; roosts in trees sometimes in autumn and winter, especially when ground is covered with snow, thus escaping such predators as foxes. Readily reared in captivity and reverts quickly to wild when liberated.

HABITS: Cock flushes with loud cackle; both sexes hide in cover and cannot be seen until flushed; aggressive; a fast flyer.

MANAGEMENT: Hens are protected in most states as in Maryland, as the male mates with a number of hens; if hens are shot the establishment of the species is prevented; improvement of environment, such as cover and food, will result in an increase; necessary to check predators in some places at certain times.

VALUE: Destroys numbers of insects; valuable as a game bird affording sport and food to many persons; destroys some corn at times which can be prevented; that it drives away native wildlife to any extent is doubtful; it is a valuable addition to our list of native game birds wherever it thrives.

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The week of prayer services have been well attended and interesting, during this week.

Wm. H. Flickinger and wife, of this district, have joined the Union Bridge Farmer's Club, probably the oldest organization of the kind in the county.

For the first time in fifty-six years, there is no Reindollar dry goods firm in Taneytown. As will be seen by advertisement on another page, Mehring & Baschoar have purchased the Reindollar interest in the old firm, and will hereafter conduct the business.

Brower-Null.—On Thursday, Jan. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Null, of near Taneytown, was the scene of a large gathering of neighbors and friends to witness the marriage of their daughter, Grace Virginia to Mr. Walter C. Brower, of this place. Promptly at noon and to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, the happy couple entered the parlor where they were soon pronounced man and wife by the bride's pastor, Rev. Wm. E. Wheeler. The music was furnished by Mr. Edward P. Zepp from one of the latest Victor Morning Glory Graphophones and added to the impressiveness of the marriage ceremony. She was attended by Misses Leila Brower and Gertrude Harman. The groom was attended by Messrs. Howard Null and Daniel W. Bowersox. The ushers were Harry L. Bushey and John W. Crabbs. A reception followed, after which the happy pair left for Baltimore and Washington.

Petry-Fritze.—At the home of the officiating clergyman, at Meadow Branch, near Westminster, Md., a quiet but very interesting wedding occurred, Tuesday evening. The contracting parties were Mr. Harry M. Petry, son of Mrs. Annie Petry, of near Frizellburg, and Miss Annie R. Fritze, of near Westminster. The ceremony was performed by Elder W. E. Roup.

The following officers of the Taneytown Vol. Fire Company were elected last Friday night: President, C. O. Fuss; Vice President, Ulysses H. Bowers; Secretary, Samuel H. Little; Treasurer, J. S. Fink; Foreman, Robert S. McKinney.

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

STRIPED BASS
(Morone saxatilis)

In Maryland better known as rock or rock fish. It is a true bass.

RANGE: From St. Lawrence River down the coast and around Florida to Louisiana; more plentiful from Cape Cod to North Carolina; successfully transplanted from New Jersey to California about 1880. Found in nearly all of Maryland's tidal waters, the Chesapeake Bay and tributaries being one of its main spawning grounds.

DESCRIPTION: Greenish on back, silvery on sides, white underneath; seven or eight black stripes on the sides from which it receives its name. Most striped bass are less than 15 pounds, but individuals have been taken in nets over 100 pounds; a handsome, gamey salt water fish.

BREEDING: Migrates to fresh waters to spawn from April 1 to early June in Maryland. It has been said a 2 pound female will lay about 14,000 eggs. Chesapeake Bay area is probably the most important breeding grounds of this anadromous fish; its spawning area, however, has been reduced by pollution, and the dam across the Susquehanna River at Conowingo. Some years breeding is more successful than others.

HABITS: Travels mainly in Maryland waters in schools; large numbers frequently surface and break, attracting many seagulls, and hook and line anglers who successfully troll through the surfacing fish. Many migrate from Chesapeake Bay and travel north as far as Massachusetts.

MANAGEMENT: A difficult problem about which there are many different opinions. Maryland has afforded this valuable species protection by a system whereby the number of nets is restricted; also by establishing a size limit below which the fish must be returned to the water, and a maximum size limit of 15 pounds in tidal waters. Some commercial fishermen and others are of the opinion that striped bass are at least holding their own in Maryland waters. The abolishment of the purse net some years ago is thought to have been a benefit to this species.

VALUE: A very valuable food fish in Maryland both commercially and for sport; commands a good price throughout the year and stands second in value of all species commercially; the number taken by sportsmen can only be estimated; because of a long fishing season it supplies a steady income to market fishermen, who claim the hook and line men catch as much in volume as the commercial men. In any case it is of inestimable value to the State.

The bride's pastor, Rev. Morgan Andreas, performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of white mums, poinsettias and lighted tapers.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Glenn Groshon, Keysville, the bride wore a ballerina-length white gown with fitted lace bodice. The gown featured long pointed sleeves with a row of tiny buttons, a bouffant skirt with tiers of nylon net ruffles and bands of satin on the overskirt. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a band of iridescent sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with white rosebuds from which flowed white satin streamers and tiny sprigs of lily-of-the-valley. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor, Miss Thelma Motter, Taneytown, wore a light blue strapless gown with tiers of lace over the full taffeta skirt. Her headdress was a blue feather effect with rhinestones. She carried a colonial bouquet of white mums, roses and pink carnations and pink satin streamers.

Mr. Dean Nusbaum, Taneytown was best man and the ushers were Mr. Paul Roop and Mr. Ernest Stoner, of near Taneytown.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Miriam Duble, church organist, gave a recital of nuptial music and played the traditional marches. Mrs. Arthur Spangler, Thurmont, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly". She was accompanied by Miss Margaret Fogle, also of Thurmont.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dinterman selected a slate blue taffeta dress and a corsage of multi-colored carnations. The groom's mother wore gray lace over dusty rose taffeta and a similar corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parish house where the bride and groom cut the four-tier wedding cake, after which they left on a short wedding trip to points of interest in the South.

For traveling, the bride wore a navy dress and hat, red coat and the roses lifted from her Bible. Upon their return they will reside at the home of the bride.

The couple graduated from the Taneytown High School, Class of 1955. The bride is bookkeeper at the Taneytown Manufacturing Company. The groom is employed by the Windsor Shoe Company, Littlestown, Pa.

HEIFER PROJECT RECORD FOR 1955

Heifer Project, Inc. of New Windsor, Maryland shipped 895 cattle, 231 goats, 62,550 chicks, 63,430 hatching eggs, and 150 pigs to 13 different countries during 1955.

Donors in Canada, Holland, Nova Scotia, Panama, Switzerland, and the United States contributed the funds or livestock to send these gifts to war ruined or underdeveloped countries.

There were a number of unusual shipments during the year. Two were "outside USA" projects.

60,120 duck eggs were contributed by the people of Holland. These Kaki-Kampbell eggs were flown to Korea for hatching. This breed of duck is hardy, lays a large number of edible eggs and can find feed in the marshy regions of Korea.

Another similar shipment was completed when Swiss churchmen sent 50 purebred milk goats to refugees now living in Northern Greece. These goats will live and produce milk in mountainous regions where cattle would be unable to survive.

An "inside USA" project consisted of cattle to Mississippi to help Negro and white farmers. These former sharecroppers had become owners of small cotton farms. They are now in danger of losing their land because of a reduction in income caused by governmental cotton controls. Under the direction of Prentiss Institute, a negro school, the farmers are now changing over to general farming.

Young future farmers in Puerto Rico are raising calves because of unusual cooperation with Methodist Seminary students at Westminster Md. The boys saved enough money to provide the shipping expenses and the ministerial students secured the contribution of calves from members of their parishes.

Six Jersey bulls were shipped to India to use in a nationwide artificial insemination program. The bulls will be crossed with native Sindhi cattle. This breeding plan was first completed successfully in Beltsville, Maryland and resulted in an excellent hot weather milk producing cow.

Financing of the ocean or air freight for these shipments comes from funds supplied by the U.S. government, the United Nations, the recipient government or individuals.

This is the first year that any shipments were made to Angola, India, or Pakistan.

Distribution of the livestock or poultry is made on the basis of need, ability to give proper care, and the promise to pass on the first born offspring to someone else in need.

A total of 37 shipments were made during 1955. The year's report shows 9 goats and 50 chickens to Angola; 109 cattle to Austria; 1,000 chicks to Ecuador; 606 cattle to Germany, 35,000 chicks, 57 cattle and 50 goats to Greece; 6 bulls to India; 25,000 chicks to Italy; 59 cattle to Japan; 60,120 duck eggs to Korea; 1,500 chicks to Italy; 59 cattle to Japan; 60,120 duck eggs to Korea; 1,500 chicks and 170 goats to Mexico; 3,000 hatching eggs to Pakistan; 360 hatching eggs, 150 pigs, and 17 calves to Puerto Rico, and 41 cattle and 2 goats to the United States.

Since 1944 Heifer Project has shipped a grand total of 8,445 cattle, 6,859 goats, 15 sheep, 47 horses, 530 rabbits, 200 packages of honey bees, 3,000 turkey poult, 215,260 chicks, 230,560 hatching eggs, and 1,060 pigs to 37 different countries.

Heifer Project, Inc. is guided and directed by the American Baptist Home Mission Society, Brethren Service Commission, Church World Service, Congregational Christian Service Committee, Evangelical and Reformed Church, Evangelical United Brethren, Fellowship of Reconciliation, Koinonia Foundation, Mennonite Central Committee, Methodist Church, National Catholic Rural Life Conference, Rural Life Association, and the Department of Social Welfare of the United Christian Missionary Society.

The Comfort of Infinite Love

HOLDING her child tenderly in her arms, the human mother assures him of security and love. With gentle care she supports his first uncertain steps and removes the obstacles before his feet.

This picture of pure affection, the highest human expression of unselfed love, is used in the Bible to illustrate the nature and qualities of God and His tender care for all His children. "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you" is the way Isaiah put into words his vision of divine Love (Isaiah 66:13). The embrace of God is everlastingly strong. In God's care we find guidance in the paths of life, protection from harm, and the warmth and comfort of infinite Love, which destroys all human fears.

Through many centuries, ignorance of God has given place to the gradual unfolding of the Christ, which reveals God's true nature and man's relationship to Him. Jesus was the first to comprehend fully and then to demonstrate the understanding of God's love for His child and to claim for himself the special relationship of a son to the Father. His recognition of God as the Father of all was a basic factor in his teaching.

Christ Jesus was always in communion with the Father, always conscious of His presence, and always turning to Him for help and guidance, just as naturally as a child turns to his human parent. He trusted God implicitly and was confident of His immediate aid. Jesus did not claim this intimate relationship for himself alone, but he urged his followers to avail themselves of its comfort.

This spiritual consciousness of divine Love's all-encircling arm is manifested in a comfortable sense of security, warmth, and well-being, and a fearless confidence in the presence of good. It lifts the suggestion of inadequacy and helplessness and brings in its place a conviction that all things are working together for good.

Understanding this divine embrace destroys fear as Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, well knew. Through devoted study of the Bible, upon whose teachings she based Christian Science, Mrs. Eddy discerned the importance of Jesus' teaching regarding man's relationship to God. In the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" she writes (p. 332): "Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation. As the apostle expressed it in words which he quoted with approbation from a classic poet: 'For we are also His offspring.'"

... Responding to the Father's ability to do all things well, the follower in the Christian way of life will find his problems solved. When he sheds his own personal burden in acknowledging God's ever-operative law of harmony, he finds that problems of home and of business resolve themselves respectively into peaceful affection and prosperity. Disease of every name and nature will also be healed through the same mental purification, just as it was nineteen centuries ago.

The spiritual universe is safe in the divine embrace, which cannot be moved and will remain forever. ... Mankind will enjoy the promise in proportion as the fear and false beliefs of material power and energy are given up.

Safety, security, comfort, and peace are the fruits of placing full confidence in the omnipotence of God. Availing ourselves of these priceless gifts, we understand the blessing of Moses when he said (Deuteronomy 33:27), "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms."—The Christian Science Monitor.

...AND THERE I WAS, IN THE BASEMENT!

"Last month, my husband came home early one Monday, and there I was, in the basement, doing my regular weekly wash.

"Of course, there was water all over the place, wet clothes were piled in the baskets and I was looking like anything but a sweet young housewife.

"Well, after he saw what I went through every week, I asked him to carry the clothes up the steps and out to the line—just like I usually have to do. That did it!

"Next day we saw the new electric washers and dryers, and the following Monday I used them to do my laundry.

"What a blessing! Try to get your husband to come home early some washday . . . maybe he'll understand then why you dread Mondays and get you a wonderful automatic washer and an electric dryer."

How to Repent

Lesson for January 15, 1956

ONCE upon a time, so the story goes, there was a young man who had just come to a church as their preacher. He was barely out of the seminary, and his notebooks and his head were well filled. He started out one Sunday morning with a sermon on Repentance. He analyzed the meaning of the word, he traced it through Scripture, he examined it theologically and psychologically,—in short, he laid down the Doctrine of Repentance, as he had been taught it. When he sat down, an old minister in the congregation got to his feet and up to the pulpit as fast as he could make it. "Young man," he said, "you quit just before you got to the point. You told these people what repentance is: now stand up there and tell 'em to repent!"

Substitutes for Repentance

So, nothing in this column should be taken to mean that knowing what repentance is, can be a substitute for repenting. Knowing what fishing is is not fishing; knowing what a doctor does will not make one a doctor. So knowing what repentance is, is not repenting. And still it helps. You can't fish if you've no idea what "fishing" means. You can't be a doctor if you don't know what doctors do. Some people never really repent, only because they have got into the habit of doing something else they call repenting, but is not really that at all. Repentance is not just being sorry for something you have done. You may be sorry for the wrong reason,—because you have been found out, or because your sin has caused you trouble, or because your pride in yourself has been dented. Repentance is being sorry but it is more than that. Repentance in the Bible sense of the word also is more than regretting particular sins. I may be truly sorry I was harsh to a loved one; but next day I may be just as harsh and unkind. The harshness and unkindness are symptoms, they are not the disease; I need to repent of what it is in me that causes me to mistreat others.

Repentance Is Changing the Mind

Don't let any one tell you that Christians do not need to repent. Only those who argue that Christ's commands are not for us can suppose that repentance is not our own duty. As for Paul, he made it about as plain as words can make it: God calls on all men everywhere to repent (Acts 17:30). Beware of "Bible students" who try to evade the plain teaching of Jesus. He certainly taught repentance as well as faith. Now the Greek word used to translate Jesus' word (which no doubt was in Aramaic, the language of Palestine in those days) is "metanoeo" which literally means to change the mind. This is much deeper than changing your mind about what to take at a cafeteria or when to do the washing. It means, as Jesus' whole teaching shows, that total change of outlook,—loving what one hated, hating what one loved,—which changes the whole person from within. What is the center of your life? Is it yourself? Then no matter how many sins you may regret having committed, you have not repented in Jesus' sense of the word. Your life must be shifted over from love of yourself to love of God and your neighbor. Repentance is the outworking of the new birth. A person who professes to have been born again but who still looks at life from a self-centered standpoint, has probably not been born again. Repentance, in this deep and real sense of a radical change in attitude, aims and desires, is not something you can do in a flash and be done with forever. In 2 Peter 3:9 (a little book written to Christians) it is said the Lord wishes all to "reach repentance." It is actually a continuing life-long process.

How It Works

But this profound inner change of the mind (which in the Bible is inseparable from the heart) will work out in repentance for particular sins. Some people, perhaps most people, find it easier to repent of "sin" (or what they call repenting) than of particular sins. But true repentance is both profound and particular. In false repentance, a person is "sorry" for a sin but goes on doing it. (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO—

The young often ask, and are curious to know, About the games and customs of 100 years ago; You may think I am fibbing, but let me say Things were quite different from to-day.

Then labor was cheap and traffic was slow; Six miles per hour was as fast as they could go; And one dollar a day, from sun to sun Was the average wage of everyone.

This may sound trivial, but let me also say Those fellows made America what she is today; To make her great old Dobbin did his best, And for the reason deserves a good rest.

Concerning the games the young used to play, The most refined was the game called "Croko," On every campus and lawn around A red and yellow croquet set could be found.

Playing marbles was another popular game— If a boy "shot" one, he would claim the same; And at Easter, egg-picking was all the rage, A game in which youngsters would engage.

Skating and sledding took up most of our time When, on the creeks and up the hills we would climb; To go skating and sledding was a great delight On a beautiful moonlight winter's night.

In those days such a thing as buggy was known, When a fellow went sparking he went alone; Old Dobbin would take him right up to the door Then, stand and eat grass, as he did before.

I knew of some who went sixteen miles away Who never reached home till break of day; Their horses jumped the tollgate if the keeper slept So, in that way, many a dime was kept.

Such a contraption as a bike was only a dream Of the boys with whom I used to team; To build them of wood, the hub was too big To make them a practical sort of rig.

The people all lived in a primitive way They had no buggies, not even a sleigh; Either on "Shank's mare" or horseback they went— In that way many a whole life was spent.

Some went barefoot six months of the years— (Never wore shoes unless company was near!) When a girl went to town in that early day She used to go barefoot part of the way.

When she entered the town, she would put on her shoes, And keep them on till she heard the news; But, when she returned, at the foot of the hill, She took them off, a parental mandate to fill.

The tallow-candle and the old cook-stove Furnished light and heat for all who would rove; And the games of old all were played By the light which the tallow-candle made.

Of the round-bellied coal stove with its rosy glow The country people did not know; Wood was the fuel used in days of old To cook a meal or give heat to the cold.

Sugar was another commodity hard to be found The first to arrive was sold by the pound; With a hammer and chisel the merchant would thump When cutting a pound from a 100 pound lump.

Soap, the modern detergent of our day, Like some other things, had not come our way; Neither had cleaners yet reached the land; On every sink stood a box of silver sand.

The soaps of those days were all made of lye, So, at bathing time, the kids used to cry; That burning sensation would cause great fear And much lamentation we used to hear.

The water was heated by the sun in a tub; And, to remove grime the mother would rub; The harder she rubbed the more kids would cry, Because of that horrible soap made with lye.

Great ash-hoppers holding ashes of wood At every place in the country stood; They were out in the open to catch water from the sky, And from them the people got their lye.

Then, too, the round bakeoven was a familiar sight, Some were kept going day and night, They used to gladden both nose and eye When, from within, came a big apple pie.

There were few factories of any kind, Except the old mill in which used to grind The wheat from which we got our bread; And it, by water power, was fed.

The cannery was an innovation far and wide; Before its advent, all fruits were dried; In every yard tables of fruit could be seen Covered with mosquito-bar, red, pink, or green.

They had on paper money, matches, or lamps in that day, Not even a lantern to light the way In the spring, when the mud was ankle deep; And, out of which one tried to keep.

That is how people lived about 100 years ago, When the old horizon was hanging low; Nothing new ever seemed to appear, So they lived the same way from year to year.

But, up in Philadelphia in 1876, A new horizon, men started to fix; They raised the old one many miles high, And a new panorama greeted each eye.

That event took place 80 years ago— What it did for America we all know; Right on its heels things started to go, And all of her cities began to grow.

The Philadelphia Centennial of 1876 Was the curtain which hid old customs and tricks A new world was seen by the physical eye When the old horizon was lifted high.

Old Horace Greely, along with the rest, Shouted: "Young men! Young men, go west! Men took advice; and, to-day, they say, The west is a model in every way.

Forty, a Bible number, is known to be, And it seems to be true of America; For in forty years this country was made, It was then her foundation for greatness way laid.

From 1874 to 1914, this great land of ours, Grew to be the mightiest of all the powers; The Bible predicted such would be the case; It can be said of no other place.

Incredible! You say? Not by any means; It is only a part of God's plan, it seems; Men have tried to make this a Democracy, But it has always been a theocracy.

God still rules to-day, as in the past, His treasures her are costly and vast, This is called the granary of the world Because in this country His flag is unfurled.

In every move which we move to-day, Whether we ask Him or not, God has a big say; He controls men's mind, as in days of old, And they always do what they are told.

This statement is backed by the book of books; We see it in practice, wherever on looks, God handled Pharaoh as a potter does clay; And, just so He works with our nation to-day.

God has always had places where people could go, To escape the anarchists' fatal blow; And this great El Dorado is just such a place And her doors are open to every race.

Wm. McKinley once asked: "What right have we To deny entrance to those who flee From persecution, and would like to come here To worship God in safety from year to year?"

God knew what it is to be an emigrant (As a child many years in Egypt He spent) So He made this great country, the land of the free, A refuge for all who from tyranny flee.

America is a land of opportunity Because God intends that so it shall be; Then let us cease wondering, and knowing that He Made her, just what she is, "A land of the free."

WOMAN'S WORLD

Let Pork Roast Be Star Attraction On Christmas Menu

IN the hustle-bustle of holiday shopping and gift wrapping, you'll undoubtedly have to plan a Christmas dinner, too! What would be a simple but festive dinner? Roast pork, of course!

Building a menu around the roast pork, modern version of the old-fashioned roast suckling pig, is simple. Start with cranberry juice cocktail, so colorful and refreshing. The roast pork has fluted nests of duchess potatoes with green peas. Serve with spiced applesauce, assorted relishes, hot rolls and the traditional pudding.

Pork Loin Roast

(Serves 6-10)

3 to 5 pound pork loin roast

Salt

Pepper

Have the backbone removed from the pork loin. Place fat side up on rack in roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer until bulb reaches the thickest part, being careful it does not rest on fat or bone. Do not cover. Roast in a moderate (350°) oven until the meat thermometer registers about

A loin of pork makes a beautiful roast for Christmas dinner. Nests of duchess potatoes with green peas add the traditional touch of green as well as an effective garnish.

180°. Allow about 30 minutes per pound for roasting.

Duchess Potatoes

(Serves 5)

2 cups hot rice potatoes

2 tablespoons butter

½ teaspoon salt

Your Home Can Say 'A Merry Christmas'

How do you feel when you step in your own home right about holiday time? Does it say "Welcome" and "Happy Holidays" to you in an intimate, warm fashion?

It can and should do this, not just for you but anyone who may come to the door during this gay season. It can and will do this if you give some thought and planning to home decor.

Some decorations are a part of this warm and friendly holiday feeling, but most important is the fact that they be personalized so they reflect those who live in the home. If you plan and design the decorations, chances are that your home can easily say, "Merry Christmas."

Youngsters Can Decorate

Get the whole family in on the fun! Everyone from toddlers to teens and up can make decorations, and here are a few ideas with which to start off.

Cut stars from metallic paper in red, green, silver or gold. Trace the edges with sequins bought from the notions department, applied to the star with household cement.

Plastic foam is now available in all sorts or shapes, either to be cut or used as is. You might select balls and stars to make your own tree ornaments. Wrap balls, for example, in gold mesh, then pin sequins on them.

Strips from tin cans can be twisted into small trees or balls. Glue sequins on these to hang from the tree.

Greenery Does Wonders

Get yourself an assorted collection of greenery or use branches which you've had to trim off the tree. These can be utilized for all sorts of seasonal decorations.

Greenery can be wired to make a wreath for your front door. Enclose small cards from previous Christmases in cellophane envelopes and attach with pins to the wreath. This can be hung on an outside door and it won't hurt the cards.

Mass greenery to use on a hall table, mantle or a sideboard. Balls in different colors may be used amongst the greenery for a seasonal effect. Or, you might buy a small plastic reindeer with a sleigh and fill the sleigh with small ornamental balls. Set this in front of the greenery.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 1

How to Save on Your Income Tax

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Maryland Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

The eve of April 16 will see a mad scramble in many households to put together the necessary facts and figures for the federal income tax returns due on that date. (April 15 falls on a Sunday this year, making April 16 the deadline.)

The last minute rush produces not only long lines at Internal Revenue Service offices, but also many careless mistakes by taxpayers.

Most of the errors are very simple. For example, about one million returns are filed every year with signatures missing. (This includes joint returns with only one signature and individual returns with no signature at all.)

Little slips in arithmetic last year resulted in overpayments by taxpayers of $18,000,000. Taxpayers got back these overpayments eventually, after the government discovered the mistakes, but the taxpayer cannot rely on the government to save him from all his errors.

The mistakes of arithmetic favoring the taxpayer were even larger—perhaps not entirely by coincidence. All returns are checked, and when an underpayment is discovered the government not only collects the difference, but also charges interest.

Opportunities Overlooked

Apart from obvious mistakes, many taxpayers overlook opportunities to claim exemptions and deductions, and other ways to reduce their tax.

In order to help you avoid such pitfalls, this newspaper is publishing a series of articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants. These articles — if you save them and use them along with the official instructions that come with your tax forms — may save you money.

Your first step is to consider whether you should file at all, and then what kind of a return to file. For income tax purposes you are not required to file a return if your gross income in 1955 was less than $600, or if you are 65 or older and had less than $1,200 gross income. But if you had income from self-employment of $400 or more, the return must be filed for social security tax purposes.

Don't forget that tax on salary or wages may have been withheld during the year by your employer, even if your income was less than $600, and the only way to get it back is to file a tax return.

Advantage of Joint Returns

A separate return is the filing of a common mistake by a wife who had a small income. If the wife files a separate return, she is not permitted to file another return jointly with her husband, nor is her husband allowed to claim an exemption for the wife on his separate return.

Most married couples will save money by filing a joint return, as this "splits" their income to put them in the same bracket as though each of them had received half the total income.

There are unusual cases, however, such as those involving capital losses, in which separate returns might result in a saving. If this is a possibility, it is best to figure both jointly and separately before deciding which way to file.

The instructions that come with your tax forms give further information. Help is also available from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you need outside assistance.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie For the Man in Your Life

IT IS AN AXIOM THAT THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART is through his stomach. Taking advantage of a package of quick-frozen rhubarb, sweetened condensed milk and pie crust mix off the pantry shelf, you can whip up a delectable rhubarb meringue pie in jig time.

The recipe for this creation shows how easy it can be. Frozen rhubarb is always in season and needs only a few minutes cooking. The 15-ounce can of condensed milk, lemon juice and rind are blended thoroughly; then add the egg yolks and spices. Once the rhubarb is cooled, combine with the condensed milk mixture. Presto! The filling is ready for the baked pie shell. On top goes a cloud of meringue and the pie is whisked into the oven for a brief browning.

RHUBARB MERINGUE PIE

1 9-inch pie shell, baked and cooled
1 package frozen rhubarb
1½ cups (1 15-oz. can) Eagle Brand sweetened condensed milk
½ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar

Cook rhubarb according to package directions. Drain well. Cool. Blend sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and rind until mixture thickens. Add slightly beaten egg yolks, cinnamon and nutmeg; mix thoroughly. Fold in rhubarb. Pour filling into shell. Beat egg whites and salt until soft peaks are formed. Add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, continue to beat egg whites until smooth and shiny. Cover filling with meringue attaching well to shell edges to prevent shrinking. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) about 15 minutes or until meringue is lightly browned. Cool about 2 hours before serving. (ANS)

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE FOR FUNDS

The March of Dimes Kick-off held Saturday night by the Older Youth Group of the Carroll County 4-H Club, marked a successful square dance held at the new Carroll County Agriculture Center. The attendance was good despite the weather conditions. Joseph Haines was in charge of the dance assisted by Robert Munier. They worked with Mrs. Helen Reese, chairman of women's activities.

The dance realized $159.97 which was made up of $87.69 of contributions from the clubs in the county and $72.10 door receipts.

Mrs. Reese thanked the 4-H'ers for their support and commended them on their success. Each club contribution will be credited to the respective district chairman. Mrs. Ruth Wagman, campaign secretary, also attended.

The Westminster Loyal Order of Moose Lodge conducted Blue Crutch Day Friday. Dale Weaver and his assistants were on the streets and gave each donor a miniature blue crutch in recognition of contributions. They turned over $50.00 to the campaign director, Mrs. Gladys M. Wimer.
