THE SOCIAL SECURITY SWINDLE

I never thought I would live to see the day when the government of the United States would become a racket. Politicians, yes! There is always a good deal of racketeering in that second oldest profession. But for our government-Uncle Sam-to adopt that line is a little disillusioning.

The federal government is in several rackets. The one least excusable is the Social Security racket. This provides for old age and other pensions for workers in private industry. It does not apply to all workers, but it does to many, many millions. Here is how it is worked. The boss takes out of the protected employee's pay envelope each month a certain percent-age of his wage and sends it to the United States Treasury. The Boss pays a corresponding amount and this, too, goes to the Treasury. Thus the covered workers are provided with pensions.

This is supposed to be a mutual system. The funds collected go into a great trust. Thus the workers who are working, and their bosses, pay benefits to those who retire and dependents of those who die. The whole operation is handled by Uncle Sam, as it should be. But the government has fixed the rate so high that each month the take of the Social Security Board is enormous. This very year the government will collect in these security taxes and taxes of other similar government plans something like ELEV-EN AND A HALF MILLION DOL-LARS. The rates are fixed so high that the various social security funds same socialistic philosophy we now in the government's hands have ac- know that as we lean upon the govcumulated on a fantastic scale. At the present time these funds-old-age, unemployment and other federal pension funds-have accumulated until they amount to some 43 BILLION DOLLARS. Now what has become of these 43 billion dollars? The government has been paying benefits as they come due, but there is left some 43 billion in the government's hands. Where are these fabulous billions? Why your them. Of course, Uncle Sam does no borrowing in fact. The government in Washington borrows these millions. This means that the politicians borwhich help them to stay in power. If you have a policy in a private insurance company, your premiums are invested by the company not in its own stocks and bonds, but in the stocks and bonds of other corporations and governments. If at any time the private insurance company can convert its investments into cash. But if the federal government needs money to meet its social security payments, it would have to go back to again. The so-called security funds amounting to 43 billion dollars are all invested in federal bonds. The government has spent the money. To use have to go back and tax the people all over again to get the money. Who would be taxed? Who but the employers and their workers who put up the money in the first place? Back in the early New Deal days when all sorts of fantastic government enterprises were suddenly pop-Security was among them. Competent students at the time warned against these fantastic funds. politicians who were running the government to borrow these funds and spend them on all sorts of boondoggles was too powerful to be resisted. The course now is quite clear. Congress should put an end to the accumulation of any more such funds. It should then enable employees and bosses alike to reduce the take. And it should set up a congressional commission to investigate and study this whole indefensible policy. It should subject the system to a complete reorganization and thus save workers and their employers hundreds of millions of dollars every year.-By John T. Flynn.

WHAT COST SAFETY?

Reflectorized license plates, first issued by Connecticut in 1948 and now used in five states, have come into the news after a sharp verbal blast at Connecticut's plan to drop the plates next year. Some safety officials have said these plates, which glow brightly in the headlights of approaching vehicles and provide a much-needed margin of safely at night, may shortly become the national standard.

J. W. Darley, former deputy motor vehicles commissioner whose efforts and experiments over several years led to Connecticut's adoption of the plates, said his state's plan to revert to a non-reflectorized plate in 1957 is a "long step backward in highway safety"

A spokesman for Connecticut's motor vehicle department says the move is an economy measure that will result in a "substantial saving" to the state, which has a crimped treasury after last year's disastrous floods. Darley says the saving will be approximately $75,000 this year-or only 3 3/4 cents a person! Darley called Connecticut's plan to save these pennies a "foolish kind of economy' that "tinker (s) around (with) human lives".

There is convincing evidence of the truth of Darley's claim that his state is putting money ahead of human lives. Minnesota, which this year issued reflectorized plates for the first time, had a 45.1 percent drop in nighttime accidents between January 1 and April 30 of 1956. Earl Larimer, Minnesota's director of highway safety, said his state's reflective license plates are a factor in this important reduction.

The issue seems to be as plain as the difference between daylight and darkness-and darkness is known to be deadly, particularly on the high--U. S. Press Association way.

THE CARROLL RECORD, TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND

A GENERAL HOSPITAL FOR CARROLL COUNTY

It was the unanimous opinion of the several hundred persons that attended the meeting in the auditorium of the Westminster High school, Monday night, June 11. that a general hospital is needed for Carroll County. Due to the large anticipated attendance, the meeting was changed from the court nouse to the high school

The meeting was called to order by former state senator and counsel to the County Commissioners, A. Earl Shipley. He explained the purpose of the meeting and gave a resume of building expenses in the county by the County Commissioners over the past several years. From monies given toward a hospital with the match-ing funds by the commissioners, the amount towards a hospital stands at $93,129. The largest donor is Scott S. Bair

Mr. Bair was called to speak on information concerning costs in build-ing a hospital and he stated that a hospital could be built with Hill Bur-ton federal funds in the amount of 33 1/3 percent, to build a 50 bed hos-

With the Carroll County Medical Association working with the County Commissioners, this public citizens' committee meeting was called. The Commissioners cannot spearhead the movement nor have they the authority for building a hospital. Attorney Charles O. Fisher represented the medical association and speaking for the doctors, said the as-sociation stands ready to provide all facts and information which they have compiled, and they are available to a committee at any time. The doc-tors are in favor of a hospital.

An optimistic note crept into the meeting when James Billingslea, on a three minute privilege from the floor, felt that the people of Carroll County would support its own hospital. Other short talks were made by Paul Beck-with, Horatio Fox, Dr. C. L. Billing-slea, with wholehearted support by Senator Sherman E. Flanagan.

Atlee W. Wampler was named temporary chairman by Mr. Shipley and he called a meeting of the members who represented organizations with several additions, which make up the general committee. It will be panded from time to time. James Billingslea was named temporary vice president; Mrs. Margaret Price, temporary secretary; and John Bankert temporary treasurer, temporary pub-lic relations, Ray Hollinger, Jr. and Gladys M. Wimert. This committee's purpose is to de-termine if the people of Carroll County want a hospital; how would the funds be raised; the kind of a hospital to be erected and who will operate the hospital.

A nominating committee was nam-ed for permanent chairman,vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer, with Charles O. Fisher as chairman, assist-ed by Hallet Baile, Daniel Stoner, Dr. dore Whitfield and Rev. Harold R. Hodgson

The next meeting will be announc-ed, pending the action and results of the nominating committee. Seated in the stage were County Commissioners John D. Young, James E. Shilling and Edmund Carr; Sena-tor Flanagan, Members of the House of Delegates Joseph Hahn, Carroll Myers, and Donald Six; Mr. Bair and Mr. Fisher.

Macaroni Makes a Meal Try It With Instant Cream

FOR A SUMMER LUNCHEON, on a really hungry day, remember macaroni and cheese makes a very hearty dish. Served with a few greens it also makes a delicious and well-balanced meal.

The new recipe we are giving for macaroni has a particularly good flavor. It calls for the instant cream that is so easy to use and gives such satisfactory results. Try it plain or with variations

INSTANT CREAM MACARONI AND CHEESE

4 cups water	1/2	cup instant cream
1 teaspoon salt	4	tablespoons flour
1½ cups elbow macaroni	1	cup cubed sharp chedd

Bring water and salt to a boil in a 2 quart pan. Stir in macaroni and cover. Reduce heat and cook about 15 minutes stirring once or twice. Do Not Drain.

ar cheese

Mix instant cream with flour and stir into macaroni and water. Add cheese and cook and stir until mixture comes to a boil and cheese melts. Makes 4 servings.

VARIATIONS:

- 1. Place macaroni and cheese mixture in greased heat proof casserole. Top with 3 slices bacon cut in half. Place under preheated broiler and cook 5 to 8 minutes or until bacon is crisp.
- 2. Place macaroni and cheese mixture in greased heat proof casserole. Sprinkle with 1 cup dry bread crumbs buttered. Place under preheated broiler and cook 5 minutes or until crumbs are lightly browned.
- 3. Add 1/2 cup chopped cooked ham with cheese. Heat thoroughly. (ANS)

MUSIC-IT CURES

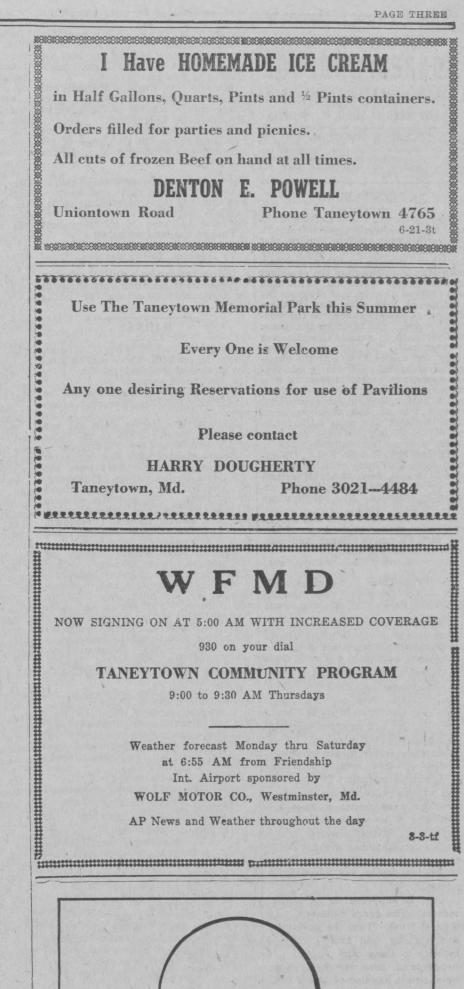

There has been much contention about Mother Earth Why God made it the place of our birth? But all men know is what little they see, So many secrets continue to be,

This earth is a product of "music", it is said; So, where harmony reigns, there is nothing to dread; All life is rhythmic; even leaves on the trees Hum fairyland ditties in the evening breeze!

- We live in a world of ceaseless vibration,
- It is universal, in every nation; Its laws control light, heat, and sound,
- So, harmony everywhere is found.
- To the Nature lover, no voice is so fine As the babbling Brook or the murmuring Pine; It is called the music of the spheres, And it soothing to his ears.
- Music shapes plastic substance into changeable forms, Works in times of peace as well as in storms; It is said that to everything it gives birth, That it even helped to make the earth.
- The term musical theraphy is of recent date; Though, in their story books, the Greeks relate How people of old were made well and strong Just by the strains of a catching song.
- Music is harmony; so your health demands The musical strains often played by bands; It affects the emotions, the glands and the heart; And, makes people stronger right from the start.
- Just notice the horse when a band starts to play;
- It affects the dog in a similar way; And the wolf and the lion give up their prey When a tune from the violin goes their way.
- In this age of discord, the papers all say Half of our ailments are mental to-day; So, why not give this treatment a try Since there is no risk and nothing to buy?
- The strains which emerge from the flute or a fife, It is said, will help to extend your life; If it did, for others, what men say it will do, It will surely act the same way on you.
- It has been predicted that doctors will use
- Music and sunshine to dispel the "blues"; David used the harp King Saul's life to save, And the Bible says, "Brought him back from the grave".
- Plato sand, the flute and the harp a cure would be For all nervous diseases and insanity, So don't put all your trust in the drugs now sold, Try the remedies used in days of old.

1957 CARS-BIG CHANGES

Get set for some real surprises in the 1957 cars. Bodies will be lowerslung and smaller wheels will give a smoother ride. More extravagant use of glass will mean thinner body posts. Car interiors will stress comfort and class and swivel seats will add luxury. Motors will be even more power-ful with automatic transmissions standard equipment on even the lowmodels. Gadgets will er-priced abound: hi-fidelity phonographs, pintsized radios, electric locks that secure all doors, built-in sanders for icy roads. Radical innovations, reserved for luxurious models, may include disc brakes, fuel-injection motors, and maybe air-cushion suspensions that eliminate springs.

If a worker in your family dies, ask if survivors benefits are payable. Franklin M. Barnes, district manager of the Baltimore (North) social se-curity district office states that each year there are some benefits that are not claimed by the survivors of in-sured workers. This is particularly true when the deceased worker is a female or when a male worker is not. .778 female or when a male worker is not survived by a widow or close relative. The Social Security Act provides that a lump-sum death payment can be made in every case if the worker was insured at the time of his death. An application for this payment must be filed within two years after the wage earner's death. The lump-sum death payment is

In addition to the lump-sum pay-ment, monthly benefits may be pay-able to the deceased wage earner's children under 18 years of age; and to his widow, regardless of her age, if she has minor children of the wage earner in her care. When the last child reaches age 18, if the widow is still under 65 years of age, her benstill under 65 years of age, her ben-efit is stopped—to be resumed when she becomes 65, provided she has not remarried. Under some conditions, monthly payments are possible to dependent widowers, at age 65. In cases where the wage earner

Mr. Barnes explained that social Mr. Barnes explained that social security benefits are not automatic. Applications must be filed for all types of benefits. He urges that in the event of the death of a worker, soon afterwards someone should con-tact the nearest social security office and find out whether survivors benefits are payable.

More Pine Posts From 18-Year Stand

But Farmer's Needs Dictate Cutting Time

Your own needs will tell you when to start cutting in your pine plantation.

But foresters at the Dixon Springs, Illinois Experiment Station cut three times as many fence posts from the first thinning of an 18-year-old pine plantation as from a 13-year old stand.

F. W. McMillan, assistant in forest research at the station, says the greater returns from the 18year-old plantation in terms of labor involved in thinning the stand. However, total wood production may not differ greatly between the two, he says. The 13-year-old has already been thinned a second time and will soon be ready for the third cutting.

Most profitable thinning method is the one which provides the best trees with ample growing space, despite fact that most farmer's needs dictate time of cutting.

These two shortleaf pine plantations were established at the station in 1937 on Grantsburg silt loam soil. The plantation thinned when it was 13 years old in 1950 yielded 150 posts an acre. This year the first thinning from the stand that is now 18 years old yielded nearly 500 posts an acre.

McMillan says, the 13-year old stand yielded less because those trees produced only one 7-foot post per tree, while those cut five years later produced at least two posts. Post quality was better in the later thinning than in the earlier one.

Blind Veteran Helps Sightless Renew Confidence

PLCD FIVE

CHICAGO-Newly blinded veterans and servicemen are learning to walk, work, and play again under the leadership of a man just as blind as they.

Serving as a constant example of success and adjustment to the newly blinded men at the VA hospital, Hines, Ill., is Russell C. Williams, himself a blinded veteran. He is chief of the blind rehabilitation section at Hines.

Assisting Williams are specially trained sighted therapists who work "seven days a week, 24 hours a day" on an individual basis with the patients.

The program participated in by the patients, who come from throughout the United States, is not vocational training but a way of making the emotional and physical change needed for "a fresh launching into society." Underlying all the activities is the aim of showing blinded men that they can adjust and succeed in everyday life.

The activities begin with simple projects and progress to harder ones.

As patients conquer each new situation, they move to the next, always gaining confidence in their ability to succeed. Each patient progresses at his own rate under the supervision of his own therapist.

In shop units, patients begin with leather work, move to weaving, then to the use of hand tools and, finally, to power equipment. The men are taught to walk with a cane in simple situations in the hospital.

Nation On Mass Prospecting Binge

NEW YORK - The American public is on a mass prospecting binge. It used to be gold, silver or a new railroad that would set a town rocking, but in this atomic age, it's uranium. As a result, amateur prospecting has become one of the biggest of all U.S. hobbies and a booming multi-million dollar Geiger counter business has sprung up.

The "new" prospector is offered a remarkably broad selection of instruments and books, radioactive ore samples and other accessories peculiar to uranium hunting. A free quickie education on how to prospect is usually thrown in as a bonus. One New York City supplier sells everything from geogolists' picks at $4.98 apiece to scintillation counting systems for airborne surveying at $4500.00.

Has the prospecting boom reached its peak? No one think so, least of all the prospectors and with one being born every minute, they should know. As a sport, it is gaining innumberable fans and as a business, well . . . even the beginning of the end is a long way off, according to the experts.

and Johnson grass-is reported by cooperating scientists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station. If this year's field tests demonstrate the value of one or more of the selected crosses, they will be considered for release to growers as soon as seed supplies can be built up. These crosses, some of which yield more than 30 tons of forage per acre, combine the valuable carbohydrates of sorghums and the perennial growth habit of Johnson grass.

Especially important, they produce good forage during August and September, when most Southern pasture crops are on the wane. According to H. W. Bennett, State-USDA agronomist at State College, Miss., who has directed this research ,three important types of plants have resulted from thousands of crosses; plants resembling sorghum, plants resembling Johnson grass and intermediate plants.

Each has its advantages, Dr. Bennett explains. The sorghum types, growing as high as 18 feet and producing as much as 32 tons per acre, make excellent pasturage. Cows break over and eat nearly all of the above-ground portions of the plant. The intermediate and grassier types, which produce as much as 14 tons per acre, are suitable for grazing and for silage.

All crosses have been made by applying the pollen of Johnson grass to sorghum flowers. Plants were selected for compact rhizomes in contrast to the type of root growth of Johnson grass.

If space is a problem, you can hinge hay mangers at the bottom, hook chains at top, then adjust or draw them up out of the way when not in use.

Collector's Coincidence In Illinois, Canada

CHICAGO-A collector's coincidence was uncovered recently when it was learned that a man in Illinois and another in Winnipeg, Canada who happen to work for the same company, also happen to have the same hobby-collecting, or rather saving their old license plates.

Both collections date back to 1912 and, not entirely by coincidence, each man has managed to get the same license number year after year. Since 1912, Elmer W. Rietz, of Highland Park, Ill., has each year received and saved license No. 2398. For the same number of years, Paul Charles, who works for the same company Rietz does, has had Manitoba Province license No. 179.

Rietz states he has never had to pull any political strings to keep his low digit number intact despite the fact some 68,000 license plates were issued in 1912 in Illinois, and more than 2.5 million issued in 1954. He merely applies early every year, requesting number 2398 from the Illinois Secretary of State.

Egypt's Women Making Progress Says Journalist

NEW YORK - Times have changed in the new republic on the Nile, says Egypt's well-known journalist, Mme. Amina el-Said. In 1930, the first group of girls were admitted to an Egyptian University. Today there are 1,000,000 girls attending Egyptian schools.

Mme. el-Said disclosed that while the Egyptian feminist movement originated a long time ago, it had become more coherent and articulate during Egypt's 1919 revolution. In that revolt, she said, women played their part in the underground and used their veils to conceal supplies needed in organizing the Egyptian boycott of British goods.

The feminist movement was begun as a drive, not only for the political emancipation of women, but also for their education which would raise their standards of living and further improve their lot. The result exceeded expectations, she says. Today women comprise 40 per cent of the personnel of Egypt's Ministry of Education, 30 per cent in its Ministry of Health and 20 per cent in Social Affairs.

Mme. el-Said described the work of Egypt's 150 women's organizations and said what has been accomplished so far represents only a "drop in the bucket" in comparsion with the changes that must be made.

Type Face Affects Reading Ability

NEW YORK-It's generally conceded that the type and arrangement of reading matter have a decided effect upon the ease with which it can be read. Different authorities vary in their statements on the subject, but here are some conclusions from a recent study.

Type face is a factor in speed of reading. The same copy set in 10-point Garamond, Scotch Roman, Antique, Bodoni, Old Style, Caslon, Kabel Light, Cheltenham, Typewriter, and Cloister Black was found to bring a progessively slower rate of speed, in that order.

Italics are 2.7 per cent more difficult to read than roman type. Capitals are 11.8 per cent harder to read than lower-case type and in headings, lower-case letters get more attention.

Bold face and regular type can be read with practically the same speed, but people seem to prefer regular. On the average page, type takes up only half of the total area. Marginal space could be done away with, since it doesn't affect LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Gettysburg Gets Back in Spotlight

WASHINGTON — Gettysburg, a southern Pennsylvania town where big news was once made, is getting back into the spotlight.

On July 1, 2 and 3, 1863, General Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia and General Gordon Meade's Army of the Potomac fought one of history's decisive battles there.

Four months later President Lincoln uttered "A few appropriate remarks" at a battlefield cemetery there which the world has noted and remembered ever since.

Now a president who is also a general is again bringing the nation's attention to Gettysburg by converting a century-old farmhouse into a modern country home only a short distance from the battlefield and 65 miles from the White House. More and more, President Eisenhower is turning to this estate to find privacy and peace.

WANT SOME QUICK FACTS on the big news in automobiles today -news that can guide you to a smart move and a real smart buy?

Then listen-it won't take long.

The 1956 Buick has so many new developments-in styling-in power -in performance-in ride and handling-that it is, literally, the best Buick yet. That's Fact No. 1.

And Fact No. 2 proves it: Buick today is more strongly entrenched than ever in the top three of the nation's best sellers-outselling all other cars in America except two of the well-known smaller cars.

One big reason for this success is the strapping new Buick SPECIALlike the one pictured here.

It's priced right close to those smaller cars-but, like every '56 Buick, it's a whale of a lot more new car for the money.

WEST MAIN STREET

It cradles a big, new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that's record-high in power and compression, and crammed with engineering news even the costly cars can't claim.

It makes the most of every bit of power with a new version of Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that's the most efficient yet. With a new development the engineers call "double regeneration," Dynaflow gives you great new acceleration from the first thrifty inch of pedal pressure. Even before you switch the pitch.

And this '56 Buick cushions you in the softest ride ever. Shows an uncanny sense of direction on every curve and turn. Puts a whole new AIRCONDITIONING at a COOL NEW LOW PRICE It cools, filters, dehumidifies. Get 4-Season Comfort in your new Buick with genuine FRIGIDAIRE CONDITIONING feeling of safety, security and solidity into every mile you drive.

So before you buy any car-catch up on the latest news. Come try a '56 Buick. When you see how much new automobile your money can buy, we don't think you'll ever settle for less.

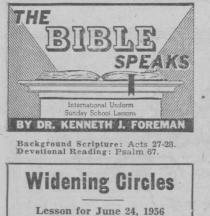

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century-optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

THE doctor who wrote what we call the book of Acts must have known that his story was not the whole story. He throws his spotlight first on one leader, then on another; occasionally on a whole church. During more than half his book he follows one man, Paul. Luke could not 💹 have supposedfor his friend Paul would not have Care State let him make such a mistakethat the story of Paul was the whole story of the church. But he knew that it is men who make Dr. Foreman history. Paul was both outstanding, and typical. He was outstanding in that there is no record in the New Testament of any leader as great as he. He was typical in that for him as for others, Christianity is not a quiet stand-still religion; it must move

Pioneers

In the book of Acts the reader sees Christianity moving always in one direction: west. It has been going west ever since. But there were already pioneers in other directions. To the north went missionaries into the countries now known as France, Holland, Scandinavia, Great Britain. To the south went the pioneer Christians who founded the churches along the southern side of the Mediterranean and even penetrated up the Nile. To the east went pioneers who brought the Gospel to what is now Iraq. It was not long before there were Christians as far away as India. The Book of Acts closes with Paul in the world-capital of Rome. But the story of the Acts of the Holy Spirit through the Christian church is still being told. It is an unfinished story. It will always be an unfinished story so long as there are persons yet to be won. Life Magazine carried a story about the martyrdom of some young missionaries to the Aucas, a tribe of Indians in darkest Ecuador. It is safe to say that most of the readers of Life had not heard of the Aucas before. Indeed most American church members had never heard of them. But the point is, some Christians had, and to hear was to want to go and tell them the story of Jesus. Now there are five dead missionaries,

Fret not yourself because of the wicked, be not envious of wrongdoers! In all ages there have been those who envied the material success of wrongdoers. And they are still among

The Psalmist is persuading patience and confidence in God. He assures security to those who trust in Jehov-ah, while the wicked are insecure. The author also deals with the ques-tion of how God punishes the evil and rewards goodness. That was a matter of great importance with the wise men of ancient Israel. The Psalmist holds that even in this life, sooner or later the wicked is nunished and the later, the wicked is punished and the good vindicated. Emphasis is placed on the stability of the righteous per-son. There is nothing about the in-stability of the wicked which one should emulate should emulate. The clarion call of the Psalmist is:

Trust in the Lord; take delight in the Lord; commit your way to the Lord; be still before the Lord.

The righteous has the help of the Lord I have been young, and now am old; yet I have not seen the right-eous forsaken or his children begging bread. There were many beggars in Pal-estine when the Psalmist spoke these words.

In contrast to the foregoing, the Psalmist pictures the end of the wick-

I have seen a wicked man over-bearing, and towering like a cedar of Lebanon.

Again I passed by, and, lo, he was no more;

though I sought him, he could not be found. Salvation is from the Lord. No man is saved of himself. And God can save only those who are willing to be saved. The mission of the Son of God to earth was to seek and to save the lost. Salvation is a twofold process— Christ seeks, man yields. There is nothing arbitrary about salvation.

God gives, man must receive. The Lord helps them and delivers them; he delivers them from the wicked and saves them, because they take refuge in him.

A world religion

Why has the Bible been translated into so many hundreds of languages? Not for fun. They don't first translate the Bible into (say) Mayan, and then start looking for some Mayans to try it on. It is the other way around. First some missionaries go to the Mayans, and they win some to Christ. And then both the missionaries and the new Christians want a Bible in the language of the land, so some one starts to translate it into Mayan, and after some years of hard work there appears a Mayan New Testament. Some day the Old will appear too. Every translation of the Bible is evidence that missionaries have been at work. If the Christian religion had stayed where it started (it would have died, but let's suppose it lived) there would be no English Bibles, no Latin, no French, only some obscure dialect of Hebrew. The existence of Bibles in English points to the work of missionaries centuries ago who brought not only culture but religion to our wild ancestors.

Miles are made of yards

We talk about the spread of Christianity, and indeed it has spread around the world. But it never spreads any farther at one time than from one person to one person. Drop a stone into a pond and presently the ripples reach every shore. But the first ripple is hardly bigger than the stone. Every road, no matter how long, is made up of very short stretches. Every mile is made of yards, yards are made of inches. You can't cover ten thousand miles without covering every inch of all that distance. A plain church member calling on a neighbor and saying a good word for Jesus Christ may not feel like a "world Christian"; but that is what he is. If the world is ever won for Christ it must be man by man. No less a person than Billy Graham has said that the most effective kind of evangelism in the world is visitation evangelism: one plus one plus

Modern Glasses Offer Protection From Eye Injury

CHICAGO — In these modern times eyeglasses are used not only to correct visual errors, but also to protect eyes from damage.

One of the newer type inact-resistant lens is "case hardened" by heating and chilling with an air blast under rigid temperature controls. This lens is thicker than a regular one (3mm. minimum), and has to pass a test in which a γ_{8} -inch steel ball is dropped from a height of 50 inches onto its front surface. It is good for industrial workers.

Another type is heated and cooled under special stress. It isn't unusually thick, but must remain intact when a 5%-inch steel ball is dropped from a height of 50 inches onto its front surface. In other words, it has about twice the impact strength of a regular lens of equal thickness. And it's approximately five times as resistant to breakage when dropped on the floor. This lens is helpful to children or adults who want some protection, as it provides considerable extra strength at moderate cost.

Still another type is the laminated lens, which is made in the same way as an automobile windshield and has the same "shatterproof" quality. This costs more than the above types and is more apt to crack, but, on the other hand, it affords greater safety. So it's recommended for accidentprone children, one-eyed people, athletes, and certain industrial workers.

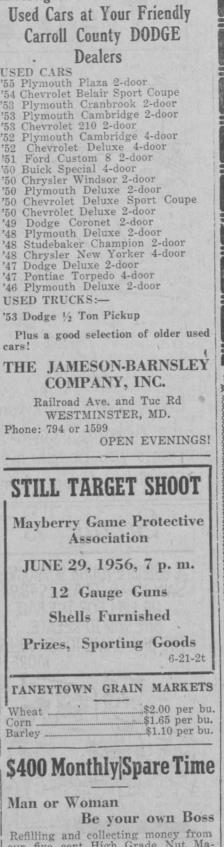

Skeletal Criteria Determines Age

WASHINGTON—How old was a dead man? How old, for that matter, is a living man?

There are numerous skeltal criteria for determining age, none by itself completely conclusive but a combination of which has a high reliability. Such an agemeasuring rod often is an important requirement in crime detection, positive identification of war dead, validification of wills, and many other fields.

A little-explored subject is the relation of the soft parts of the body to the underlying bones. From a skull a thousand years old, for example, it probably would be possible to construct a quite realistic portrait of the living individual. In establishing identification, scientists say, accurate impressions of the teeth, in which all contours of the original teeth are recorded, can be as valuable and as reliable as fingerprints. The

'Advertised' Husband Leaves 17 Applicants

SYDNEY, Australia—A sister's worry over a bachelor brother brought about the case of 17 prospective brides.

Mrs. Jean Fox worried that her 37-year-old brother, Roy, was not married, so she advertised for a wife for him, she revealed.

Now she has 17 prospective prospective brides, but Roy is not to be found.

Mrs. Fox advertised, "Good husband material going to waste," and pointed out her brother had a car and a good job. She received 17 applications.

Her brother, however, left town, leaving a message, "Don't try to find me."

Mental Health No Worse Problem

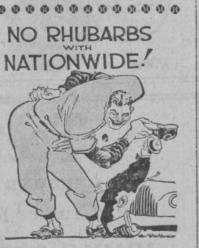

NEW YORK—Although the mental health problem in the United States has been growing in magnitude over the past 20 years, certain features of the problem appear worse than they really are, says a life insurance company's recent report.

Although the number of first admissions of psychiatric patients to hospitals for long-term care has increased more than 60 per cent over the 20-year period, and the number of patients under care has risen almost as rapidly, a substantial part of the rise reflects merely the increase in population and the growing proportion of people at the older ages.

In New York State, for example, about 30 per cent of the increase in first admissions of women to mental hospitals during the past two decades is accounted for by these population factors.

Delayed Action

SPOKANE, Wash. — George Crispin put out a rubbish fire that threatened his garage and congratulated himself for having saved the fire department a run. But a few minutes later he called firemen. He had hung the sweater used to smother the rubbish fire in the garage. Sparks from the sweater set the building ablaze.
