HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Meeting Held Thursday Evening at Terra Rubra

The Historical Society of Carroll County held its meeting on Thursday evening, June 21, at Terra Rubra, the ancestral home of Francis Scott Key, now owned by Roy E. Baumgardner. The original house in which Key was born no longer stands on the site, it having been so wrecked by a great storm in 1858 that restoration was considered impossible. The present house, built in the following year, does, however, include many details of woodwork and interior trim from the original building, and most of its bricks came from the two brick wings of the original frame house, while the old stone spring house, which also collapsed, furnished material for several of the present-day outbuildings. The house stands in the Middleburg District between Pipe Creek and the Monocacy River, on a commanding height with an extensive view in all directions.

The Society's meeting took place in the barn, after Mr. Baumgardner had conducted the members on a short tour of the place. The program was opened by the salute to the flag, followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, led by the horn of David Reifsnider, and then prayer by the Rev. S. R. Weyright. Mrs. Lloyd Whitfield then introduced Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide, who read a letter of greetings from Victor Weybright, who was unable to be present. Mrs. Mervin Conover then gave a selection of sketches of Francis Scott Key obtained from old documents, and David and Kenneth Reifsnider played several duets. The next speaker, Mrs. Gregg Kiser, read a brief outline of the early history of Terra Rubra, which was patented to Philip Key by George II in 1753, and of the piece of ground donated by Francis Scott Key in Keyville in 1823, to be used for church and school purposes, which served four congregations and the local schools for more than forty years. A monument, erected in 1916, commemorates this gift. President Whitfield then returned to present day matters by saying that the telephone company is considering the name of Tilden for the new telephone exchange, and asking the society to suggest other possible names more nearly connected with county history. The meeting then closed with the first verse of America, led by Mrs. Conover, and refreshments were served by the committee from the Middleburg District: Mrs. Roy E. Baumgardner, Mrs. Charles R. Cluts, Mrs. E. Gregg Kiser, Mrs. Ruth Roelke, Miss Nancy Eaton Roelke, Mrs. Donald Six, Mrs. John E. Smith, who came from New York to attend the meeting, Mrs. Carroll Wilhide, and Mrs. Lloyd B. Wilhide.

On display during the evening were a number of items of Key interest, lent from the Society's archives and by private owners. These included letters by Francis Scott Key and members of his family, family silhouettes, including one of his mother, Anne Phoebe Penn Dagworthy Charlton, wife of John Ross Key, and photographs of the original house, a frame building with brick wings and a double gallery, with a frontage of ninety-six feet, and also of the old stone spring house.

TANEYTOWN CHILDREN TO BE ENTERTAINED

Jaycees are Planning Fishing Rodeo for July 28

The Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening at 8 p. m. in the American Legion Home. At this time final plans were completed for the fishing rodeo to be held at the Taneytown Rod and Gun Club pond from 7 a. m. to 12:00 Saturday morning, July 28. This is the first time that an activity of this type has been held in the community and it is hoped that the children will turn out to make it a success. Children up to the age of 14 years are eligible to participate. The Jaycees want to express their desire to have the parents accompany the boys and girls if at all possible. The Taneytown Boy Scouts have been asked to be present to watch the children constantly as a safety precaution. All participants must have an application signed by their parent or guardian in order to enter the rodeo. These applications may be obtained at most public business places in town. There will be transportation furnished from 7 a. m. until 10 a. m. Children will be picked up at the Mid-Town Electric Co. and the American Legion Home every half hour during this time so they can leave at their convenience. Each child must furnish their own tackle and bait. There will be prizes awarded for the first fish caught and for the largest fish of each type. Also prizes will be given for the second largest, third largest, etc. Among the prizes will be rods and reels, fishermen creels and bait containers. Another attraction during the rodeo will be free pony rides. At 11 a. m. there will be a casting exhibit. Refreshments will be on sale by the Rod and Gun Club.

The Jaycees will have a bow and arrow concession at the Harney Carnival in July. This will feature actual bows and arrows with which to shoot balloons placed a distance away as targets.

It was announced that Elwood Harner was elected as a representative of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to serve for three years on the Taneytown Memorial Park Board.

There was also some discussion on the idea of erecting a welcome sign with the organization's name on it at each entrance to Taneytown. This will be done in the near future.

The next meeting will be on July 21 when the members will attend the Baltimore Orioles game in Baltimore.

Three calves, 35 tons of hay, farm equipment and a quantity of seed were lost when fire destroyed a 40x60 foot barn Sunday at 1:30 a. m. on the DeGroff farm at Menges Mill, Littlestown R. D. 1.

Firemen from Kingsdale, Littlestown and Taneytown battled the flames and managed to save a milk house, wagon shed and several nearby small buildings. Total damage was estimated at $16,500.

The fire is believed to have been started by a bolt of lightning. It leveled the barn and badly damaged the silo. Firemen pumped water from nearby Plum Creek, combining their lines. They remained at the scene until 7 a. m. Sunday.

The farm is owned by Harry DeGroff and tenanted by Homer DeGroff in Germany Township.

SAFETY RECORDS FOR MARYLAND TOWNS

Taneytown will be on Honor List

Eighty Maryland towns will be honored for their outstanding traffic safety records on June 28 at a luncheon at the Plimhimon Hotel, Ocean City, Maryland. The representatives of these communities will be attending the annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League. A plaque will be presented by the National Safety Council and the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. The mayors of these towns will receive these awards for having gone from one to five years without a traffic fatality.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will present these awards for the National Safety Council and the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. One of the Maryland communities that has a long record of no traffic fatalities from automobile accidents is Accident, Maryland. Accident, Maryland is one of the safest communities in the entire United States in which to live insofar as automobile accidents are concerned. This community, located in the western part of Maryland in Garrett County has completed five years without experiencing a fatality as a result of any automobile collision. Neither has there been a pedestrian death.

Governor McKeldin stated that the success of any traffic safety campaign in the State depends upon the cooperation such as was demonstrated by these communities. Had it not been for the wonderful cooperation of all these towns with the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission's program to reduce the death toll, it could not possibly have succeeded. He praised the work of the mayors and police chiefs and other interested citizens in these towns who have cooperated with the Governor's traffic safety program.

Governor McKeldin also stated that the Maryland death toll had been reduced each year since he activated the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission in 1951, despite the increase of over 300,000 more vehicles since then, and the fact that the nation as a whole has shown an increase. The Governor views with alarm the present trend in the Maryland death toll which is 228 so far this year as compared with 231 for the same period last year.

He remarked that the increased exposure has been causing pedestrians and motorists to be even more alert and he calls on all our citizens to go "Fourth" safely on the coming 4th of July. He pleaded with motorists and pedestrians alike to "Slow Down and Live" so that death will not take their holiday.

The towns to be presented plaques by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin are as follows: Accident, Barton, Brunswick, Chevy Chase Village, Colmar Manor, Eagle Harbor, Fairmount Heights, Friesville, Glen Arden, Greenbelt, Hebron, Keedysville, La Plata, Luke, Midland, Mountain Lake Park, Ocean City, Pocomoke City, Preston, Rising Sun, Rockville, Sharpsburg, Snow Hill, Sykesville, Thurmont, Vienna, Westport, Barclay, Betterton, Burkittsville, Church Creek, Denton, Edmondsville, Federalsburg, Frostburg, Glen Echo, Greensboro, Hurlock, Kitzmiller, Leonardtown, Manchester, Millington, New Market, Oxford, Poolesville, Princess Anne, Riverdale, St. Michaels, Sharpstown, Somerset, Taneytown, Trappe, Walkersville, Williamsport, Barnesville, Brentwood, Chestertown, College Park, District Heights, Emmitsburg, Forrest Heights, Funkstown, Grantsville, Hancock, Indian Head, Landover Hills, Loaconing, Middletown, Mt. ## "SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help
to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The following is from "The Methodist Woman" which I have read and know you will enjoy it, too. It is by Edith S. Steketee and is called—

MEDITATION

Here is Your day back again, God,
The beautiful day You lent to me this morning
When I awoke;
That 'clear unblemished day that was mine alone
To use as I wished.
And I'm ashamed as I hand it back to
You, God!

It is not beautiful anymore.
That smudge I made this morning—
I was hurried and hurried
And I let my children go to school
Without a smile or a cheerful word
That might have helped them a little during the morning.

And that smeaery place a little before noon—
That was a salesman at the door
I was annoyed at being interrupted
Because I had so much to do
And I didn't want what he had to sell.
But I could have been a little kinder.
He had his job to do, too.
It wouldn't be quite so smeaery
If I had been a little more polite.
I don't know why it gave me so much pleasure to be so curt to him.
And it did make such a smeaery place
in my day.

I guess that black streak there in the afternoon
Is the worst of all
You see, my neighbor came to call
And that other neighbor,
The one we don't try very hard to love—
Well, the gossip I had of her was so much fun to tell—
At least I thought it would be fun—but
After I told it
I was ashamed.
And I wished that I could call the words back
Because that gossip will spread now—
And I'm not even sure that it is true.
Does it make that streak a little less black
Because I was ashamed afterwards,
God?

Then, there's another place with a dark blot on it.
That was when my husband came
home tired from work,
But I was tired, too,
And so, I didn't show him that I was glad to see him
When that was what he needed.
And then the quarrel followed.
It so easily could have been prevented,
I could have passed off that first remark of his with a laugh
And that would have been the end of
it. But I didn't.
The quarrel marred the whole evening.

I could have been so pleasant.
And there are a lot of little spots—
Here and there—
Just little spots
But the day would have been so much brighter—without them.
Mostly they are things that I neglected
to do
Like calling my friend
And wishing her a happy birthday.
It wouldn't have taken very long—or telling my husband that I love him.

I would have liked the smile he would have given me—and he probably would have kissed me, too.
Or, I could have given the paper boy
a "thank you"—He puts the paper
where it won't get wet
when it rains.

But—I didn't do these little things
I was too busy
Or too thoughtless
So many little spots on such a pretty day.

There are a few clean places in my day, God—
A few that I made a little brighter.
Tonight, for instance, when I heard
my children's prayers
And we all felt so close together. And then
The fun we had when they were getting ready for bed
And how we laughed when Jimmy got his pajamas on backwards
And then Bobby wanted his on backwards, too.
So we could laugh again.
Maybe my day would be prettier
If there had been more laughs in it.
There weren't very many.

I guess if You were a different kind of a God
You'd give me a soiled day to begin with tomorrow.
Then my blots wouldn't show up so much
But You aren't that kind of God.
Tomorrow it will be a beautiful clean day again.

Please, God,
Help me to be a little more careful
With these days You lend to me.
So long, Folks. Hope to be seeing you next week D.V. Have a grand week-end and be—oh—so careful when you drive. I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

DO YOU WANT LOWER TAXES?

It would be possible to reduce income taxes by 25 per cent for everyone—without eliminating or weakening any necessary government service or activity.

How could that be done? The Town Journal explains it succinctly in these words: "Here are the figures: the personal income tax takes from the people's earnings about $30 billions a year. The Hoover proposals for shaking out the waste and inefficiency would cut the cost of Government by $7.5 billions. The amount, $7.5 billions, is 25 per cent of $30 billions. Save that much and taxes could come down 25 per cent."

That $7.5 billions could, instead, be applied to reducing the national debt, which many think should precede tax reduction. Or part could be used for debt reduction and part for tax reduction.

Some of the Hoover Commission recommendations have gone into effect. The prospect for others seems good. But many of them—including the most important, from the standpoint of saving money and making government more efficient—are dormant at this time. They can be brought to life by public interest and public demand for reform.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

PINE BLUFF, ARK., COMMERCIAL: "Aroused and horrified at the Senate revelations of the black market in babies, the American public may be expected to demand federal intervention. But the people should consider well whether Washington bureaucrats can or should replace the devoted, long-experienced workers of our religious groups, local organizations and the state and local judiciary in this specially individualized field of human welfare."

WASHINGTON, D. C., AFL-CIO NEWS: "AFL-CIO President George Meany underscored his emphasis on high standards for union officials when he endorsed ILGWU President David Dubinsky's criticisms of those few labor leaders who somehow combine their union work with highly profitable private business connections. 'Trade unions,' he pointed out, 'were created for one very simple purpose—to build up the standards of life and work of the members.' Leaders serve this purpose best when they stick to that one very simple objective."

SYLACAUGA, ALA., NEWS: "We suppose that remaining calm and being unexcitable was one of the topics discussed at the National Traffic Safety Conference in Miami. . . . Anyhow, Leon Archer, one of our local representatives, brought this story back. It seems that a fellow, sleeping out in the open, awoke one morning to find a huge rattlesnake coiled up on his chest. After taking a good look to make sure that's what it was, he went back to sleep."

HAMLIN, W. VA., REPUBLICAN: "We should never take our government for granted. . . . Good government is everybody's business. Every Smith, Jones, and Brown should at least be somewhat interested in who spends his tax dollar and how it is spent."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor, A recent piece by Editor L. F. Cornell in his "This is Fulton" column in THE CORNELL (N. Y.) PATRIOT roused the dander of a couple of teenage readers. In commenting on a gang war between two nearby towns, and how the young Galahads rushed to battle with one another by car, Mr. Cornell offered a simple solution (we thought). "Take the cars away," he counseled. "If they want to fight, let them walk." More specifically, he urged a 21 year age limit for drivers, by which "half of our troubles—and worries—would be eliminated."

Editor Cornell congratulated the two boys who had "got their chowder up enough to write about it." He also published their letter as they requested. In it, they asked him to withdraw his statement about teen-age driving.

"Okay," responded the Editor, "I'll withdraw the statement that automobile driving should be restricted to those 21 and over. Let's make it 20."

Disturbed over appearing too arbitrary, Mr. Cornell suggests a printed card that parents might hand a youngster who wants to drive the family car. It would be entitled, "Can You Pass This Driver's Test?" he says, and "would read something like this:

- 1. Has the lawn been mowed?
2. Where you going?
3. Who you going with?
4. Do you have your money for gas?
5. Do you know how to fix a flat tire or repair the car yourself?
6. Have you washed the car this week?
7. Have you waxed the car this month?
8. Is your homework done?
9. Are your shoes shined, your nails clean and do you have a handkerchief in your pocket?
10. Is this trip necessary?"

It strikes us as entirely possible that, since he wrote this piece, Editor Cornell has persuaded his back-shop to print some of these cards. If he hasn't, he should. The market should be colossal!

Sincerely, BOY TAYLOR.

NEW PRESIDENT NAMED FOR KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL

Reed C. Culp, Salt Lake City businessman, has been named President of Kiwanis International. He was elected to the number-one Kiwanis post Wednesday, June 20th, by delegates attending the 41st annual convention of Kiwanis International at San Francisco, California. News of Culp's election was received by officers of the Kiwanis Club of Taneytown today.

As head of Kiwanis International, Culp will be official spokesman for a quarter million Kiwanians in 4200 clubs located throughout the United States and Canada, and in Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands. He succeeds Dr. J. A. Raney, Director of the Indiana State School for the Deaf, in Indianapolis, who has held the Kiwanis post since August of 1955.

Culp, who is a life-long resident of Utah, operates a wool-livestock brokerage firm. He is a member of the National Woolgrowers Association, the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce, and all Masonic bodies. He is currently a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Utah, where he serves on the executive committee and as chairman of the buildings and grounds committee. He has served also as a member of the Mayor's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency in Salt Lake City, and as former state chairman of the Advisory Council, Civil Defense Committee. He attended the University of Utah, and graduated from the University of Michigan.

Kiwanis' president-elect has been a member of the organization since 1937. Immediately prior to his selection to the number-one Kiwanis post, he was treasurer of the organization. During his career, he has risen through the Kiwanis ranks, holding the positions of club president, governor of the Utah-Idaho Kiwanis District, and as a member of a number of district committees. He has served two terms as a trustee of Kiwanis International. In 1946, and again in 1947, he was chairman of the International Committee on Vocational Guidance. In 1951, he was chairman of the International Committee on New Club Building for the United States.

Delegates to the San Francisco convention, Kiwanis' 41st, numbered approximately 14,000 to make the convention the organization's largest. In addition to naming Club president, the delegates chose two vice-presidents, a treasurer and six international trustees. They are: H. W. Driver, Cleveland, Ohio; and Kenneth Loehnd, Toronto, Ontario, vice-presidents; H. Park Arnold, Glendale, California; treasurer; Harold Doolen, Billings, Montana; Hal J. Fraser, Prince Albert, Saskatchewan; Cecil L. Morris, Springfield, Illinois; and Armand J. Rodehorst, Sr., New Orleans, Louisiana; J. O. Tally, Jr., Fayetteville, North Carolina; and I. R. Witt-huhn, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

COUNTY ASSOCIATION OUTLINES PROGRAM FOR ERADICATION OF TUBERCULOSIS

In the annual report of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, the program for the prevention and eradication of TB was outlined as follows:

THE PROBLEM—TB is still a wasteful destroyer of human life. Last year about 16,000 people died of TB in the United States. In the next year, 100,000 more Americans will be discovered to have TB. The association seeks to solve the problem in the following ways:

X-RAY PROGRAMS—A total of 7553 persons were X-Rayed during 1955 in the Mobile Chest X-Ray Survey which is conducted with the cooperation of the State and County Health Departments.

DIAGNOSTIC CLINICS—A bi-monthly chest clinic is supported at the Carroll County Medical Center where anyone may get a free chest X-ray upon referral by his physician or the health department. The salary of the clinician, Dr. Elmer P. Sauer, Medical Director of Maryland TB Hospitals, is paid. Also part support for the X-ray technician. During 1955 354 persons visited the clinic and a total of 1177 X-rays were taken. This year's results showed 10 active cases of tuberculosis diagnosed. The extended schedule for chest X-rays at the Health Department located in the Medical Center is as follows: Mondays, 8-4 P. M. Tuesdays, 9-10 A. M. and 7:30-8:30 P. M., Wednesdays, 3-4 P. M.

HEALTH EDUCATION: To help people recognize TB's signs and symptoms your association is bringing the facts about TB through community health education programs, films, talks, pamphlets, posters, an annual school press project and the newspapers. Film strips were placed in school libraries in Sykesville, Westminster and Taneytown by the Rotary Club of Sykesville, the Lion's Club of Westminster and interested persons.

PATIENT SERVICES: 4% of the gross Seal Sale is allotted to Social Service and Rehabilitation. According to Health Department records there are 20 persons from Carroll County in TB hospitals in Maryland. This association is providing needy patients with a small monthly allowance. Clothing, dental services, a patient library service and occupational therapy are also provided by Christmas Seal funds. Through the cooperation of the Council of Homemakers Club, the Senior Girl Scout Troops of Mt. Airy, Manchester and Westminster, the Loyal Social Club, the Ladies Social Club and the Service and Pleasure Club of Westminster, "Operations-Christmas" was carried out at Henryton State Hospital. 75 bedside table decorations, 75 window sill decorations and 15 gift packages were provided.

COOPERATION: Last year over 100 volunteers gave their active cooperation. They staffed X-ray units, prepared Christmas Seals for mailing, decorated windows, distributed posters and literature and helped in other ways to cut expense. For the third consecutive year the Civinette Club of Westminster assisted in the preparation of over 11,000 Seal Sale letters. The Senior Girl Scout Troop #497 again prepared the reminder cards. 31% of the funds go to support state and national program which include research, consultation, and development of health education materials. But—in the final analysis—the continued cooperation of the public is that which is most needed. The purchase of Christmas Seals will guarantee the kind of success needed in the long battle against TB and on to better health for everyone.

The 22-year-old soldier was graduated from Frederick High School and was employed by Allen G. Quynn and Company, Frederick.

Geneva Longtime Convention City For Entire World

WASHINGTON — Traditionally hospitable to international negotiators, Geneva, Switzerland, has witnessed the fruition of ideas and ideals affecting all mankind.

The International Red Cross was founded in Geneva 91 years ago. In 1920 Geneva became headquarters of the League of Nations. A few years later came the Geneva Protocol on regulating international disputes. A world disarmament conference was held from 1932 to 1934 at the League headquarters.

The city is now the seat of the Economic Commission for Europe, the World Health Organization, the International Telecommunication Union, and the International Committee for European Migration.

The city has so frequently been a conference center that the term "Geneva Convention"—rules for international conduct—is as familiar around the world as "Swiss watch," an important Geneva product.

Geneva visitors delight at the thousands of watches that gleam in shop windows. One company keeps a case history of every watch it has made. Each time-piece is assembled then taken apart and reassembled three times before being oiled. Such painstaking attention to work reflects the Genevese love of precision.

Besides international conventions and watches, Geneva boasts many products: precision tools, electric fittings, sewing machines, gas and electric stoves, pencils and perfumes.

Happy Secretary Gets Praise With Paycheck

LOS ANGELES—Business men who have trouble keeping a competent secretary should hand out a generous portion of praise with her weekly paycheck.

That's the advice of a former secretary, Dr. Allen R. Russon, now an associate professor of office management and business education at the University of Utah. Dr. Russon says that sincere appreciation from the boss is more important than many other considerations such as salary and working surroundings.

Among reasons secretaries go looking for other jobs are lack of employer appreciation, insufficient salary, grimy office quarters, inconsistent promotion policies, pettiness about vacations and sick leave, in that order, she says.

Dr. Russon sees no end to the present secretary shortage. "After all," she says "you can't tell a machine to run down to the bank with a late deposit or go shopping for your wife's anniversary present."

Not Elephants—But Pink Flamingos

LA JOLLA, Cal.—Anybody got a pet flamingo? If so, you might be interested to know you can brighten up your flamingos by feeding them ground-up shellfish in addition to their usual diet of grass pellets, millet, rice and dried flies.

For the past year, two dozen flamingos in the San Diego Zoo have been fed regular doses of the finely ground shell of the California spiny lobster. As a result, the American species have developed striking pink and vermilion tints in the skin of their legs and bills and in new feathers. Their kin, the Chilean flamingos, have also developed bright pink skin on their feet and leg joints, but their feathers remain, as in nature, mostly white.

Woman Scorned Takes Revenge On Auto

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Police learned the power of a woman scorned, but won't tell her name and her boy friend won't prosecute.

Someone reported a hit-and-run accident. A young woman was lying in the street. Questioning police found out that the woman in question had followed her boy friend, who drove another young woman home in his convertible. While he was saying good night to the other woman, No. 1 picked up rocks and smashed the lights, windows, and instrument panel of his car.

As he drove off, she was pulling on the convertible top and was knocked down, not exactly hit-and-run style.

Finally Fooled

GENEVA, N. Y.—A fisherman trying his luck on Seneca Lake landed an "oldtimer"—a 17-year-old trout tipping the scales at 22 3/4 pounds.

John Kenyon of Geneva pulled in his line and saw a tag attached to the dorsal of the fish. It was dated October 4, 1945. Records showed the fish, when placed in the lake on that date, was 8 years old and weighed 6 pounds.

AMERICA—A 4th OF JULY POEM

Five hundred years ago this day,
A lonely child, called "The New Land", lay;
She held out her arms to everyone,
And, into them, all peoples have run.

Why did God hide this "wonderland" of ours
With such vast treasures and beautiful flowers?
He did it because it is a part of His plan
To make it a model, and a decent home for man.

To-day, no matter where one may go,
Except for road markings, we do not know
If we are in Pennsylvania or Maryland;
Just so, you shall find it on every hand.

On no other spot do you see the faces
Of the people of so many different races;
A modern "Tower of Babel", she seems to be;
For, to her, all peoples yearly flee.

Some come here to get rich and be free,
But that is not the only reason they flee;
In this great El Dorado they are taught too know
How to serve God, and the right way to go.

As a watchman the Indian first guarded the place
Which God has reserved for the human race,
She fed him and the birds, even things which crawl,
For, a garden spot she is meant for all.

And, so it is to-day, none are ever turned away,
God keeps her granaries full, we say;
It just seems as though He Himself stands here
Feeding those who hunger from year to year.

God knew what it is to be an emigrant;
As a child, many years in Egypt; He spent;
So He made this great country, "The Land of the Free"
A refuge for all who from tyranny flee.

Long before she was settled, He made her fair
To attract the disconsolate everywhere;
He made her rich, and from famine free,
So that all who come here contented may be.

Woe be to the nation which seeks to destroy,
This haven of peace which so many enjoy!
Like Gideon of old, with light in her hands,
She puts to flight all anarchistic bands.

Three cheers for our flag!—"The red, white and blue",
That gorgeous banner which protects me and you;
Not only its stripes, but each single star
Tells all the world of her strength and power.

I have said before, and I say it again
From pillage here, let all nations refrain;
For the watchful Guardian of our land
Has many weapons men don't understand.

All who dwell here are lovers of peace;
And destructive weapons are slow to release,
But, her soldiers are trained and know what to do
When arbitration fails to go through.

So, let us hail Columbia, on her noted day!
For she is the light of the world, man say,
Long may our flag continue to be
The flag which protects all humanity;

America is a land of opportunity
Because God intends that so it shall be;
Then, let us cease wondering, and know that He Made her just what she is, "The land of the free".

FEESBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

Middleburg District members of the Carroll County Historical Society were host to the June meeting of the Society held Thursday, June 22 at historic Terra Rubra, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Baumgardner. Over a hundred persons met at the Francis Scott Key birthplace and toured the house and gardens before the business meeting. A unique feature of the evening was that the meeting proper was called to order in the barn. The author of the National Anthem would have been quite happy with the arrangement for according to history Mr. Key loved the farm and all aspects of farming and he would have been right at home amidst the farm machinery and the new mown hay. As it was the members of the Society felt at home too and whether it was due to the informal setting or not the members and their guests appeared to have a very friendly and interesting meeting. The program was kept short so that the visitors could enjoy the beautiful landscape and rolling hills of Terra Rubra. Mrs. Gregg Kiser read a paper describing some of the land once owned by the Key family and which now is known as Keysville. Later in the evening refreshments were served. The table decorations were carried out in red, white and blue in honor of the flag and the antiques dishes were used to hold the refreshments, which caused some amazed comments. Those who served as hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Roy Baumgardner, Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide, Mrs. Gregg Kiser, Mrs. Millard Roelke, Mrs. Carroll Wilhide, Mrs. Donald Six and Miss Nancy Roelke. Incidentally, the Historical Society needs new members. If anyone is interested in the preservation of the social, political and religious life of our beautiful county why not join the Society and lend a helping hand in the promotion of interest in the study and history of our county and State.

For the past week we have been having some old-fashion "Fourth of July" type thunder-storms. The lightning has been steel-sharp and blood curdling; the thunder develops a growl and a German-accent while the rain has been the gullest wassing type—leaving the corn-fields minus some valuable top soil after each shower. But everything is thriving under the steaming jungle type weather. . . . not only the crops but air-conditioning units, electric fans, bathing suits and ice cream business are thriving too.

Nothing pleases me more and raises the stock value of teen-agers higher than to see one of them being kind and gracious to an older person. One of the greatest forms of flattery in the eyes of aged persons is to receive any kind of attention from the young. Going out of their way to speak a few words or rising when an older person enters the room or doing some small favor unasked makes a deep and lasting impression on all that witness such good manners. Many youngsters think any one over forty is senile and it may come as a jolt for them to learn that under gray hair, lines in one's face and stiff joints there is still an acute awareness of life and the ability to appreciate kindness and good manners. Many a young person has smothered some concern and graciousness toward older persons. Furthermore it stamps a teen-ager with the poise and the dignity of maturity to display concern and respect for the older generation.

Most of the speakers talking to the June graduates this month stressed the use of brains and laid little emphasis on the use of hands. Both are equally important. Watch any project in the act of being constructed and you can easily see that while the engineers dreamed and planned the undertaking the men operating the shovels, bull-dozers and the hammer and saw are actually the ones that put the project together. We are quite fond of intelligence but we also have a deep respect for the men and women who use their hands. In truth, it is this group that actually produce wealth in concrete form. Most of us covet hand-made articles and the things we show off most are the fine furniture and glass that was fashioned with hands. Some few of us hoard and admire ideas, too, but ideas without hands to mold them into actual being, would never get off the drawing board. It is a mistake to over-emphasize either brains or hands. Both are needed very much. To give to youth the idea that one can do without either is a fallacy, for one depends greatly on the other. This great Nation of ours was first wrested from the forest with bare hands. Later on ideas helped develop it more rapidly. But the thing that will forever remain a mystery is that man reverts to his primitive state when he is deprived of his hands. Like in so many other things, we have our values mixed. We have the courage to dream that at some future date the laborers, the farmers, the unskilled workers of the world will merit an equal share of the glory and wealth along with the man of ideas.

The Mt. Union Lutheran Church calendar was filled this month with social events. The young people took their annual trip down the bay to Tetchester. Some returned quite peevish over the charges placed upon them for the use of the beach, but after it was explained to them that the beaches could not be operated for nothing, they were less put out. The Missionary Society held its annual covered dish supper and Children's Day services were held last Sunday.

We were surprised to read in the church bulletin the complaint that there was too much loud talking in church during services. This is one complaint that has always been lodged against the Protestant churches but we never thought it would come to the point when it would be necessary to reprimand an entire congregation. Americans are really getting nervous and noisy when one can't even go to church to find peace and solitude.

A modern father was worried about his daughter's boy friend. Finally he found courage enough to ask her if the boy had serious intentions. "Oh! I think so, Father" his daughter cooed sweetly. "He has been asking about your salary, and how much property you own and if you and Mother are easy to live with."

To me, life does not begin at forty, eighty or twenty. . . . it begins each morning that I open my eyes and find that I am still alive. —Ruth Roelke

MARRIED

GEASEY — FROCK Miss Shirley Y. Frock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis G. Frock, Walkersville, became the bride of L. Thomas Geasey, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther T. Geasey, RFD 1, Thurmont, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Grace Rocky Hill Lutheran Church, Woodsboro.

Rev. William Merritt Brown performed the double ring ceremony in the sanctuary which was decorated with candelabra, and settings of palms and white gladioli. The bride chose a full-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over bridal satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The bodice was designed with a V-yoke of tulle outlined in a motif of scalloped lace. The hoop bouffant skirt of lace and net was tier designed. Her illusion veil, edged in matching lace, fell from a shirred baby bonnet of nylon lace trimmed with seed pearls.

She carried a white satin and lace covered Bible topped with a white orchid, satin streamers and baby's breath. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and a miniature pair of pearl earrings. Miss Shirley A. Boone, Walkersville, was maid of honor. She wore a full-length gown of yellow nylon tulle and net over taffeta, yellow bandeau and matching gloves and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Raymond Powell, RFD 1, Thurmont, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Her gown was identical to that of the honor attendant in Nile green. She wore a green bandeau with matching gloves, and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers.

Miss June Frock, Keymar, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a pink-length gown of pink organdy over taffeta and a bandeau of pink flowers with matching mitts. She carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Master Fred Stietel, Union Bridge, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer. Ray Gladhill, RFD 1, Thurmont, was bestman. Ushers were Edward Rice, RFD 3, Frederick, and Norman Stone, RFD 1, Thurmont.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Howard Fisher, sister of the groom, gave a pre-nuptial recital and played the traditional wedding marches. Miss Idella Thomas, of Walkersville, sang, "Because," and "O Promise Me."

During the ceremony she sang "O Perfect Love." For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Frock chose a navy blue lace over taffeta dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Geasey, mother of the groom, chose a dress of green and white orlon with white accessories and a white rosebud corsage. A reception was held following the ceremony in the church social room, with over two hundred guests attending.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to the Poconos, Niagara Falls and northern states, the bride was wearing a black sheath dress with white accessories, and the white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After June 30 the couple will reside near Frederick. Mrs. Geasey graduated from the Walkersville High School, Class of '54, and attended the Frederick Academy of the Visitation. She is now employed in the office of the Frederick Trading Co.

Mr. Geasey attended Frederick High School and served in the U. S. Navy. He is now employed at the Wm. D. Bowers Lumber Co.

Mrs. Geasey is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Frock, Taneytown R. D. and a niece of Mrs. Bruce A. Shirk, Littlestown, Pa., and Mrs. Ellsworth Lambert, who assisted at the reception.

TELLIN' HER The teacher had asked the class to name all the states. One small urchin responded so quickly and accurately that she commended him for it.

"You did very well, much better than I could have done at your age." "Yeah, and there wuz only thirteen states then, too."

New Apparel Makes Pedestrian Night Life Safer

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Since the automobile took over from the horse, a constant problem and source of tragedy has been the nighttime pedestrian—the dim figure that looms up suddenly before the motorist.

Traffic authorities attribute many thousands of pedestrian deaths each year to the failure of man's eyes to keep up with the development of his machines. The driver cannot see in the dark and yet pedestrians walk in the dark streets.

After years of experimentation, scientists have evolved a solution—wearing apparel that looks like just any other apparel and that is being produced in highly styled designs but that reflects light back to motorists when their headlights hit it, making the wearer visible to the driver from hundreds of feet away. Yet, because it reflects light back only to the source of light the garment looks just like any others to people on the street or road. The wearer is not at all conspicuous except to the driver whose headlights are directly on him.

Introduction of these reflectorized garments marks one of the most promising developments in the history of safety and may revolutionize the entire textile industry by leading to incorporation of reflectorized material into all outer garments.

Volunteers Man Needed Mobile Unit

PITTSBURGH—Typical of volunteer fire department units in a small community is the Berryville, Arkansas unit headed by Chief Owen Payne.

When Payne returned from war service in 1952 he led a group of veterans in a drive to provide Berryville with a mobile unit equipped to aid victims of emergencies and disasters.

The response was quick and generous. An automobile agency provided a truck at cost, a tire dealer offered new tires at a fraction of their value. The veterans painted the truck themselves. Stretchers, first aid supplies, axes, shovels and other emergency equipment flooded in as the community rallied to the call for help. Funds were raised for the purchase of an automatic artificial respiration instrument.

Since the rescue unit was established, the life-saving respiratory equipment has been used in emergencies on an average of once a month.

Less Strain On Man Who Works Alone

LOS ANGELES—Though his job may be simpler, the assembly line worker is under more psychological strain than the man who works alone.

In a recent project at Michigan's Research Center for Group Dynamics, Dr. Alvin Zander, of the University of Michigan helped set up two production situations which simulated work of an assembly line nature and that of an individualistic crafts nature. At each worker's foot was an electric button which he was urged to press whenever he felt the urge to stop work and take a break.

The researcher found that in the assembly line situation workers are very much dependent upon the actions of fellow workers and other factors beyond their control. A crafts worker who does each step in production of an object himself is under less pressure from the group.

More Farm Buyers Use Credit Financing

NEW YORK—Credit is playing a bigger role now in the farm real estate market than it has in a number of years.

Figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that more than six out of every ten farms bought in the year ending March, 1954 involved credit financing. The comparable proportion in the mid-forties averaged little more than four out of every ten farms sold.

Average debt per acre also has increased, amounting to around $80 last year, up approximately 100 per cent since the end of World War II. Average valuation of farm real estate per acre rose approximately 67 per cent in the same period. Total farm mortgage debts at the end of 1954 was estimated at $8.2 billions, up 7 per cent over the year before and 72 per cent above the 1946 low.

Thrown By Tree

STOUGHTON, Wis. — Austin Jones, 44, was the accidental victim of an old American Indian torture while helping remove a tree near here.

He was thrown through the air like a missile from a slingshot when the top branches were removed from a tree which was bent double and the tree snapped to an upright position.

Orioles-Bosox in Week-end Series

The Baltimore Orioles return from their second western trip of the 1956 campaign on Friday night, June 29 when they inaugurate a four-game series with the Boston Red Sox at 8 P.M.

Friday night will be Railroad Night at Memorial Stadium and a huge victory bell will be presented to the Orioles by the various railroads of Maryland.

Friday night's game will be followed by a twilight-night doubleheader on Saturday, the 30th, starting at 6 P.M. and the concluding game of the series will be played at 2 P.M., Sunday, July 1. The surprising Birds, playing near-500 baseball and challenging for a first division berth, have taken two of the three games played against "Pinky" Higgins' outfit in Memorial Stadium. On Memorial Day, Baltimore swept both ends of the double-header by one-run margins and in both games, the winning run came home in the ninth inning. Bob Nieman knocked in the winning tally in the opener and Bob Hale followed suit in the nightcap.

Both Bob Nieman and George Kell, the two ex-Chicagoans acquired by Manager Paul Richards last May 21, have caught the fancy of Baltimore fans and the duo are heavily responsible for the Orioles' position in the race today.

Nieman is slugging the ball at a .350 clip since he came from the White Sox and he is now challenging Gus Triandos for the club leadership in both home runs and runs batted in. Nieman's home run smashes are prodigious whallops. Two hit in Baltimore during the last home stand were called the longest seen in Baltimore by many experts.

Kell not only has been lending plenty of help with a potent bat but is taking aim on the all-time major league record for consecutive games played at third base without an error. George began his string back on August 14, 1955 and through June 19 he has played in 60 consecutive games, handling 146 chances without a miscue.

He trails by only 15 games the record of 75 straight errorless games set by Willie Kamm of the Chicago White Sox in 1928.

The sure-fielding Kell already holds the all-time record of fewest errors by a third baseman in a season (150 games or more). In 187 games in 1950, the Swifton, Arkansas native committed only 9 errors.

The Boston Red Sox, boasting heavy-hitting Ted Williams, plus Jackie Jensen, Mickey Vernon, Billy Goodman and others, own the heaviest hitting artillery in the league. In Tom Brewer the Bosox also have one of the league's winningest pitchers. The four-game series shapes up as close battle.

The Birds will not be home again until July 12, following the All-Star game, when they open a home stand against the western clubs. Plenty of seats in choice locations are available for the Red Sox Series as well as the coming games in July.

The Cards Say... June's Got It!

June has an abundance of everything—roses, brides, fair weather and more milk production per cow than any other month! June offers lots of excuses for parties, too. For instance, graduations, since most families have someone graduating from something. So, here's a suggestion for refreshments that'll delight graduates of all ages: a spread of pretty cream cheese sandwiches and a tall pitcher of richly delicious milk shake, made with milk and the convenient new milk-shake mix.

GO 4th SAFELY

Go 4th Safely. This is the highway safety campaign for the full week of July first to the seventh. All Police Departments, state and city officials, plus Military, Safety, Civic and Industrial leaders have joined with the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission's State-wide campaign to materially reduce the traffic accidents which usually occur during the Fourth of July Holiday.

This is part of the nation-wide "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE" campaign running from Decoration Day until Labor Day, but without the cooperation of the pleas made by the Newspapers, Radio and Television stations, the "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE" campaign will be a failure. It must win the all-out support of the individual motorist.

Independence Day will have little meaning if you or your family are involved in a motor vehicle mishap. Governor Theodore R. McKeldin pleads with you "DON'T LET DEATH TAKE YOUR HOLIDAY!"

Humility Is a Stepping-stone

AN OLD English adage quaintly mirrors the sweet virtue of humility: "The more apples the tree beareth, the more she boweth to the folk."

Humility fosters unselfishness, harmonizes human relationships, and keeps one teachable. Indeed it does far more than this, for the Bible declares (Proverbs 22:4), "By humility and the fear of the Lord are riches, and honour, and life."

Christian Science, which is based upon the teachings of the Scriptures, shows that the correct concept of humility, when expressed, leads to dominion. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, makes this significant statement in her book "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 1), "Humility is the stepping-stone to a higher recognition of Deity."

Desirable though humility may be, it is not always so regarded by arrogant human selfhood. The false belief that to be humble is to be weak and servile deprives one of the rich rewards of true humility.

The world has never known a more humble man than Christ Jesus, and he demonstrated complete dominion over all untoward conditions. Sin, sickness, and even death were overcome by him. Yet the great Nazarene disclaimed all personal credit for the wondrous works he performed. He explained (John 5:19), "The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise."

Jesus relinquished all belief in a limited, material selfhood and recognized himself and his fellow men only as the perfect ideas of the one perfect divine Mind. Knowing himself to be forever at one with this infinite Mind, Jesus reflected in fullest measure the divine dominion. Thus he demonstrated the true concept of humility.

The works of Christ Jesus are being repeated today. . . . By the same demonstration of humility the sick are healed, the sorrowing comforted, the sinning reformed. When one lays aside all pride, self-will, and personal desire, and works to gain "a higher recognition of Deity," progress in his human affairs is inevitable.

This was proved in the experience of one who worked in a small town. The office where she was employed offered no opportunities for advancement, and she had for some time felt the desire for progress. But she was at a loss to know what steps to take in order to reach this goal.

Since human reasoning about the situation did not bring a solution, in humility she decided to make spiritual progress her only aim. Resolutely she put aside thoughts of dissatisfaction, uncertainty, pride, and other limiting beliefs and earnestly strove to reach "a higher recognition of Deity." She spent much time in studying the Bible. . . .

The student was encouraged by a dictionary definition of the word "recognition": "The mental process of identifying anything already known." This explanation made it clear to her that knowledge of God is natural to man and that God and His kingdom cannot be concealed from real consciousness.

Little by little, as her awareness of divine Mind's omnipotence and omnipresence increased, she began to feel a sense of dominion over the human situation. Then one day her telephone rang. As a result of that call she accepted a most desirable and unusual position in a nearby large city. Not only was her salary substantially increased, but her opportunities for social, cultural, and professional progress were also greatly enlarged. Gratefully she realized that she had found the one sure route to success: she had begun by using the steppingstone of humility.

"Be clothed with humility," advises the Apostle Peter (I Peter 5:5), "for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble." —The Christian Science Monitor.

HOME HYGIENE HISTORY

Women in Elizabethan times did not realize the value of washing or creaming the face at frequent intervals. Many suffered from ugly skin blemishes. Modern women have smooth, glowing complexions because of excellent skin care.

The first American settlers got plenty of healthy exercise in the outdoors, just by doing their daily work. Many modern men who spend working days in offices, must plan their exercise through work-end and after work recreation.

Early American children were not encouraged to brush their teeth until after their "second" teeth had grown. Dentists today say a child should be taught to brush his teeth at the age of two. Modern brushes for children are treated with an anti-bacterial that destroys or inhibits germs that fall or settle on bristles. Source: Dr. West's Laboratory Survey.

By following the rules of good hygiene, American families are the healthiest in the world.

Nine Letters

Lesson for July 1, 1956

THOUSANDS of Sunday schools for the next three months are going to be studying nine short but immortal letters. These letters are the forgotten parts of the New Testament, for many people. Out of the 27 "books" of the New Testament, all but five are letters. These nine—from Hebrews to Revelation inclusive—make up about 30 pages or one-sixth of the whole Testament. It would be worth the reader's while to make a special study of these letters this summer.

Dr. Foreman

Perhaps all the teachers in a Sunday school could chip in and buy a commentary or two.

Letters from . . .

No two people write quite alike. All letters bear the mark of their writers even when they are unsigned. So it is with these nine. Some of them are signed, some are not. But the writers can be told apart without any trouble. If Hebrews and James were printed together without a break, a high school student should be able to notice the difference between them. The writer of the first letter is plainly a highly educated man, a man who is keenly interested in ritual and in the history of the Hebrew people. The writer of the second is less highly educated, but a more practical man all around. Not that his advice is any better, but he loses no time getting down to particular problems. The first man is greatly interested in theology, the second is so little interested in it that his letter has worried some people like Luther, for example, who wondered whether it really belonged in the New Testament. Or again, comparing Hebrews with the letters of Paul, the reader can see why scholars are for the most part quite certain that Paul never wrote this one. It is obviously written by a different kind of man—one who used a different vocabulary, went at problems differently, constructed a letter differently, quoted the Old Testament in a different way; indeed while all of Paul's letters are carefully signed, Hebrews is not signed at all. . . . So one may go through the rest of these letters seeing the writers through what they wrote.

Letters to . . .

Letters vary according to the persons to whom they are written. A woman writing to her mother, her husband, the tax collector and her boy at school will write four different kinds of letters. So these nine letters were written to different kinds of people. To be sure, some of them were sent to a pretty wide circle of readers (Peter for instance), but even so, that wide circle had something in common: in this case, suffering and persecution. Is it too much to suggest that the Christians John has in his mind's eye as he writes his letters are much more mature than the Christians to whom James writes his plain advice? Now the interesting thing is that the various kinds of Christians to whom these letters were addressed are matched by Christian types today. That is why one Christian will sometimes get more out of one part of the New Testament, while another Christian finds more meat in another part. And yet for all the differences there are some important likenesses, and the noticing reader will find them.

Letters about . . .

Few if any of these letters, or any others in the New Testament, are about "things in general." They usually speak to some particular problem, situation or trouble. The New Testament does not consist of a series of theological essays neatly arranged by topics. Rather, it consists of fairly short letters speaking to certain specific problems that had been distressing the readers. Some of these problems emerged in more places than one at the same time, just as happens today. In the short passages selected for special study in most quarterlies, two problems are highlighted, as the reader will find: false teachings, and persecution. In these times in which we live, with half the world in a ferment against Christianity, and even in the "Christian" part of the world a bewildering jangle and wrangle of sects and "isms" soap-boxing all over the place—the Christian church threatened by enemies without and "crackpots" often-times within, who can call the New Testament's themes out of date?

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

PSALM FORTY-TWO
As a hart longs for flowing streams,
So longs my soul for thee, O God.
My soul thirsts for God, for the living God.

When shall I come and behold the face of God?

The soul thirsts for that which is akin to it. "My soul thirsts for God." The Creator made the soul to be satisfied only with that which is akin to its nature. Apart from God man is restless. Soul contentment is not to be had in riches, houses and land, automobiles and television, clubs and cocktail parties. These are the demands of his physical, coarser, and baser nature. The spiritual eye beholds the beauty of a sunset, the natural eye beholds the sun.

The author of the Psalm compares his thirst for God to the thirst of the deer pursued by hounds, "for flowing streams." Each quenches the thirst and gives protection.

This Psalm grows out of the loss, the deprivation of that which the Psalmist once enjoyed and cherished. This Levite had enjoyed the full activity of the Temple worship. Now, he is detained in the North of Palestine, and beset by enemies, who continually taunt him, saying, "Where is your God?" The insult intensifies the Psalmist's desire to return to Jerusalem and again to take in the Temple worship, and he is confident that God will see his desire fulfilled.

Memories of better days have a two-fold effect upon the Psalmist. First, they add to his sorrow; second, they afford him hope. Memories are like the material that goes into the production of them. Therefore, there are precious memories, and hated memories.

A feeling of relief, a sense of satisfaction is experienced by the Psalmist in his tears, for they are the outpourings of a soul flooded with sacred memories. Some of the us have sweet memories of former years when things of the world had less appeal than they have today. How beautiful are the lives of those aged who are mellowed by precious memories and by golden experiences! And how wholesome is their influence! Like the Psalmist they, too, long for fellowship with God.

The deeps within the soul of man find a correspondence in the deeps of nature about him. The call of one answers the call of the other. Such is drink to the thirst of the soul.

The thirst of the Psalmist is to return to the worship of the Temple to put out his soul in adoration, praise, and thanksgiving.

Does your Christian experience enable you to appreciate the true meaning.

These things I remember,
as I pour out my soul;
How I went with the throng,
and led them in procession to
the house of God,
with glad shouts and songs of
thanksgiving,
A multitude keeping festival
Lest he gives way to utter despair,
the Psalmist twice addresses his soul:
Why are you cast down, O my soul,
and why are you disquieted within me?
Hope in God; for I shall again praise him,
my help and my God.
