STASSEN NOMINATES NIXON?

Insofar as anything can be certain in politics, Harold E. Stassen, disarmament adviser to the White House, appears quite unintentionally to have clinched the renomination of Richard Nixon for Vice-President. At least, this is the interpretation generally given to the fact that Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, the man Stassen endorsed, will himself place Mr. Nixon's name before the Republican National Convention.

Mr. Stassen acted in the face of the fact that President Eisenhower had been described as pleased at the prospect of having Mr. Nixon again as a running mate. And in the face of the wishes of the old-time party leadership, as evidenced by the far from impartial maneuverings of Chairman Leonard Hall to press Mr. Herter into the sacrificial role.

The candidate for whom Mr. Stassen declared his support is certainly one of the ablest public men in the nation today. He has shown himself to be not only an informed specialist in foreign affairs but an extremely capable administrator of the government of one of the larger states. His policies and temperament are directly in line with those of President Eisenhower.

But the tradition of vice-presidential nominations is that they have generally been used, however questionably, to "balance" the ticket—that is, to give representation to the wing of the party left out in the choice of the standard-bearer. The conservative wing of the Republican Party, though it extends far to the right of Mr. Nixon, at least considers him a bridge between itself and the progressive wing.

The Stassen statement in behalf of Mr. Herter at least serves notice that numbers of Republicans would like to have Eisenhower moderation and internationalism represented on both ends of the ticket and believe such a ticket would appeal best to independents whose votes are needed.—Christian Science Monitor.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

GREAT FALLS, MONT., LEADER: "The long controversy over the damming of the Snake River in Idaho to produce power continues on. A bill in Congress to build with public funds a high dam is still pending. . . Private development of the Snake River is feasible and at a great saving over what the proposed high structure of the Reclamation Bureau would cost."

ARLINGTON, TEX., CITIZEN: "If Arlington can meet its obligations in the matters of education without neglecting its responsibilities, we think there are few other communities in the nation who cannot meet their obligations without the benefit of government doles."

CLARKSDALE, MISS., PRESS REGISTER: "The cost of all government in the U. S. averages, per person, $575 a year. That would make the average family tax bill about $1,900."

ELSINORE, CALIF., LEADER-PRESS: "A very long time ago England's George III was having a terrible time of it with us Americans over taxes. He laid a tax on tea. We not only wouldn't pay it but we dumped the tea overboard in Boston harbor. We even rebelled - treason it was! . . . But hold! - we don't want to get into the position of seeming to advocate armed insurrection all over again. It can't be treason, however, to think that George III, if he could come back and see the tax picture of today, would have his reason scrambled worse than it ever was!"

EMPORIA, KANSAS, GAZETTE: "Emporia is doing its bit in urging more young people to learn how to swim . . . There is alarm over physical fitness in the U. S. and swimming beats hot-rodging forty ways from Sunday."

sical fitness in the U. S. and swimming beats hot-rodging forty ways from Sunday."

Republican primaries will be held on Saturday afternoon and the County Convention on Monday.

The apple crop in this section is decidedly short, this year and cider making will not be anything like the business it is some years.

Judge Clabaugh is very quietly enjoying his vacation at "Antrim" but has had a shoulder to shoulder battle with a new enemy—muscular rheumatism. He has very kindly donated a fine piece of ground, adjoining Dr. Birnie's, for a Tennis court, to a number of our young ladies and gentlemen, for their use this summer.

The fire bell sounded, on Tuesday afternoon on account of a slight blaze at Harry L. Koontz's on Emmitsburg St., due to an oil stove setting fire to a newspaper which came in contact with it. There was practically no damage, and the firemen, who responded quickly, had nothing to do.

WATER

The chemical symbol for water is H₂O. Without it, nothing on earth could grow. Next to life it is God's greatest gift to man. So it has been since time began.

Without water no clouds would cool the land. This earth would be dry and worthless sand; Like the moon, a dead planet it would be Without a man, a flower, or a tree.

As I have said, without water nothing could be. There would be no oceans, no fish in the sea; H₂O makes water, this we all know; It is God's greatest blessing wherever you go.

At first, the oceans were up in the sky. A raindrop was never seen by the physical eye; So, the water which fell in Noah's day Made what we call the oceans they say.

When the mountains arose holes were made in the ground, Which, even today, by men may be found; Wherever you see a lake or a sea There a depression was said to be.

It was then the channels of the streams which flew by Were formed by the water which fell from the sky; They drained the whole earth as well as could be, And formed the rivers which run to the sea.

Over 72 million sq. mile the Pacific ocean is spread By countless rivers and rivulettes it is fed; God sends the water there to purify After which the sun draws it up in the sky.

On reaching there it is purified again And comes back to earth in the form of rain; Were it not for God, and His Provident care, Disease and infection would exist everywhere.

About the time of the Rainbow's birth, Wickedness, they say, was rampant on earth; But that was not the cause of the flood alone; Before then, the Sun had never brightly shone.

The earth was not yet what God wanted it to be; It lacked both the mountains and the sea; The mountains direct the winds which blow; And, send the raincloud where it should go.

While the flood destroyed the old world in 40 days, It did much good in many ways; It gave to us the mountains and the sea, Which now serve and bless humanity.

We no longer are forced to drink the dew, As people of old were compelled to do; The Sun draws the water from the sea, And the winds send it here to you and me.

Second Series Of OLD SCHOOL PICTURES

Beginning next week we will publish the first picture in the last of a series of old school pictures in a different form. The first insertion will be just the picture, leaving it up to our readers to identify the school and the pupils and teacher.

The following week we will publish the picture again but with the correct caption and pupils' names and teacher's name added.

We will continue this plan until the supply of school pictures dating before 1900 is exhausted.

We hope our readers will get some enjoyment and entertainment in trying to identify the pictures as they will appear, as described above, in the future issues of The Carroll Record.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

In Two Ways

Lesson for August 5, 1956

THE United States now has more drug addicts than all other western nations combined—sixty thousand. In the past three years the Federal Bureau of Narcotics has compiled a list of names and addresses of 30,000 known addicts, and the list is growing at the rate of a thousand every month.

Dr. Foreman

These and other facts were brought to light last January by a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee after seven months seeking the facts. Illegal dope traffic, they found out, has trebled since World War II. Whereas at the war's end there was one addict to every 10,000 persons, now there is one to every 3,000. Approximately 50% of all crime in our cities, and 25% of all crime in the nation at large, is traceable to drug addiction.

How Does It Start?

The narcotics evil, like the alcohol evil, like most social sores, begins with the young people. If for one generation you could bring up children and young people with no knowledge of such things and no temptation to indulge, you would have dealt a heavy blow to those who traffic in these things. Nobody, no healthy boy or girl certainly, wants to be the sort of wretch Frank Sinatra played in "The Man with the Golden Arm," or the kind of persons you may find in the hospitals that try to do something with narcotics victims. But young people the traffic must have. Thirteen per cent of all dope addicts in the country are under 21. (These figures from TIME magazine for last Jan. 16.) Now, how does a boy or girl get started on the dope habit? How do they get started drinking? The other night a boy in his second stolen car for that night knocked in two store fronts and woke up in the hospital. His girl friend woke up next morning in jail. Both were about sixteen, both had been drinking—beer, she said. The question is, Why do they do it? What starts them off?

Letting Yourself Go

One answer given by young people themselves is that they are after thrills, "a kick." Just being young is not thrill enough, they have to jazz it up with alcohol or narcotics. Let yourself go, they say to themselves. Go on, faster, faster; when all the thrill nature provides are stale, then go after the artificial jolts you can get from a bottle or a hypodermic syringe. This is not all the fault of young people. Older people often lead them astray. Even teachers may do it, for there is a philosophy of education that says, in effect, that a child must never be made to do what he doesn't want to do. "What I want" is supposed to be the key to happiness. Now this is precisely the opposite of the Christian way of living. Self-control, not letting yourself go, is always a mark of the Christian life in every New Testament description of it. Life without inner control is not only a weak life, it is headed for a crash.

Who's to Blame?

Sometimes the blame for young people's downfall is not to be laid at the door of the traffickers in drugs. Parents themselves who have never said "No" may be to blame. Some years ago a school for girls received this letter from a wealthy woman: "My daughter has always been spoiled and given as much money as she could spend. She is sixteen years old and I'm afraid has the wrong view of life. . . I don't think her companions are just the right sort either. . . I shall try very hard to have her wardrobe proper although it will be extremely difficult because she has always had very expensive and extremely fancy clothes. . . Please advise as to what subjects she had better take up. If either Latin or domestic science can be taken I prefer D.S. because she knows very little about cooking. I am very glad the girls are requested to keep their rooms in order. . . It is my wish that my daughter becomes what a real American girl should be, a perfect wife and mother, and under your care I hope she will come home to us a different girl." Do you think she did? Do you think she could have? If you had been in charge of that school, would you have accepted this girl? If she finally turned out to be an alcoholic or a narcotic drug addict, whose fault would it have been? The Christian Way is the harder road—till you get to the end!

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

A person who cannot be bought is the person who is not for sale.

The person who was for you yesterday and against you today is one on whom you cannot depend.

The only platform several presidential hopefuls have to offer the American people is criticism of the present administration.

They who criticize most are they who are most fearful of their chances.

A letter from son or daughter tends to drive loneliness from the hearts of dad and mom.

"Home, Sweet Home!" Home is not sweet because one says so, but because somebody makes it so.

Growing-up is more than an outside growth. It is also an inside development.

"Kremlin Chiefs Declare They Want Peace." We believe the kind they want is the "piece" type.

The nearer we arrive to Washington, the more we pay for gasoline. Since this is election year could it be that "extra" gas is put in the line!

Mileage on a speedometer does not indicate the rate of speed. Nor does the years of one's life suggest the good one may have done.

In front of a house in Troutville, Virginia, stands a sign which reads—Fore Sale.

What won't they do in Alabama! A farmer before he would sell his cantaloupes at the Birmingham Farmers Market, after the price had dropped from 50 cents to 25 cents a bushel, parked his truck downtown and gave them to passersby.

"I believe in selling things, but selling them for two bits a bushel just wouldn't be selling," he is reported as saying.

Taking humor out of life is closing an avenue of strength.

MULLING WITH MULLER
By Edna M. Muller

Although Saturday usually finds the man of the house busily washing and shining the car, chances are that if you take a close look at the car's upholstery you'll agree that the inside got only a fast brushing! Guess this is where the ladies must come into the picture. Sooooo, before you start putting away your cleaning equipment after that annual spring bout with the house how about slicking-up the family car.

Remember to go easy with the whisk broom if the upholstery has a raised tapestry pattern so that the fine threads in the design are not damaged. And, if the vacuum cleaner doesn't get all the dirt out, try using a moderate application of a volatile type cleaner. . . using only a minimum amount of pressure on the cloth — the cleaner will do the work. Lukewarm water and neutral soap is the best cleaner for leather upholstery.

I don't wish to sound like a cleaning expert by any means — but I got some excellent tips from our Buick dealer who was more than helpful with suggestions, even how to remove a stubborn tar stain on the rug, and traces of Junior's last battle with a bloody nose! What little effort it took to clean up the interior was more than made up by the joy and satisfaction we've had with a matching "new" inside and outside look!

Do certain "spots" in the house annoy you because of squeaks in the flooring? We found that minor squeaks could be eliminated without making the job a big project by merely thinning a four-pound cut of white shellac with denatured alcohol and brushing it between the noisy floor boards. In a few instances we had to repeat the procedure — but it worked!

Parting shot . . . Yesterday is a cancelled check, tomorrow is a promissory note. Today is ready cash — spend it wisely!

Pitcher Full of Pleasure

"LITTLE PITCHERS HAVE BIG EARS," all of us were told. We used to know exactly where the cookies were, and how much cake was saved in the tin!

When your youngster's hearing becomes acute around refreshment time, let him in on the sound of soda combined in a pitcher with tinkling ice cubes, water and a soft drink powder, and he'll spread the good news to all the gang.

This recipe for Carbonated Lemon-Lime appeals to the youngsters, and is appreciated by alert adults too. Inexpensive and easy to make, it hits the spot now that warm weather makes us all call for a cooling summer beverage.

CARBONATED LEMON-LIME

1 1/2 tablespoons (1/2 package) lemon-lime Kool Aid
1/2 cup sugar
1 large bottle (28 or 29 ounces) carbonated water or ginger ale, chilled

Dissolve soft drink powder and sugar in carbonated water or ginger ale. Serve iced. Makes 4 or 5 servings. (ANS)

Summertime Is Picnic Time

SUMMERTIME IS PICNIC TIME. Family picnics are fun, but there are times when the small fry like to go off on junkets of their own. Whether it is an outing with a best friend or just a walk alone through country meadows, youngsters love the feeling of independence a solo trip gives them.

This feeling of independence can be fostered, too, by letting the kids make their own picnic lunches. A handy can of inexpensive, high protein sardines from Maine provides a hearty sandwich which the youngster can make herself. The keyless quarter can opens easily and smoothly and there is no danger of cutting little fingers. The young chef can add sliced hard-cooked eggs or cheese if she wishes, or just a dab of mayonnaise. An apple, a handful of cookies, and the simple meal is complete.

How Advertising helps you

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

The 160 Million
SOME years ago there was a group of citizens in New York City referred to as "The Four Hundred." They were the rich, the socially prominent, and, in a vast city of several million, they numbered only four hundred.

Then came a bright and wise and witty writer by the name of O. Henry who said that there were not just four hundred important people in New York City, there were four million. That was the population of America's first city then, about half a century ago. So he wrote a book with the title of "The Four Million."

Nowadays we place no such limits on important Americans, because, thanks to advertising, all Americans are important, and there are 160 million of us.

Thanks to advertising? You ask. Yes, for it was advertising that welded us into a common nation, that gave us prosperity, that gave us solidarity, that gave us union.

In America there are no underprivileged classes, in the sense of other lands, where a few persons are well-educated and informed and the masses ignorant. To be sure, there are some Americans with more money than others, but there are no vast areas of ignorance as exist elsewhere.

And there is no stagnation here, as there is in other lands. And there can never be stagnation as long as there is dissatisfaction with the way of life. By forever setting up new goals for us to strive for, by forever showing us new products we want in our lives, advertising acts as a gadfly to prevent our lapsing into a state of complacency. It keeps us striving. Yes, it keeps us dissatisfied.

The late F. G. Bonhls, whose Denver POST made history for many years, used to say in his paper: "There is no hope for the satisfied man."

Then there will always be hope for 160 million Americans, for the power known as advertising will never permit us to be satisfied. Each year we will greet new ideas, new products, new improvements in old ideas and products. And we will want them in our lives.

There have never been 160 million persons on earth who had as much as we Americans. Give advertising thanks.

FROCK REUNION

The 8th annual reunion of the late Jacob and Rachel Frock clan was held at Pine-Mar, near Taneytown, Sunday, July 22. There was an attendance of 110.

Following basket lunch at 12:45 p. m., the business meeting was called to order at 2:15 p. m., by the president, Mrs. Margaurite Ervin. She brought greetings and led the group in praying the Lord's Prayer. Minutes of the previous reunion were read by Mrs. Ellsworth Lambert, secretary and were approved. Mr. Orville Frock, Westminster, treasurer, reported expenses and current balance and report was accepted. Mr. Jennings V. Frock, Sr., historian, reported 4 marriages, 2 births and 10 deaths during the past year. He also urged clan members to forward any such information to him during the year, so an accurate record may be kept.

The president named the program committee for 1957 as follows: Mrs. Raymond Weant, Mrs. Albert Hahn, Mrs. William Stambaugh and Mrs. Franklin Baker. The soft drinks will again be secured by Mrs. Jennings V. Frock, Sr. The children's game committee will be named later.

The presentation of awards was as follows: oldest man and woman, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Frock, Taneytown, R. D., 77 and 76 years, respectively, and they also received the prize for being the couple married longest, 56 years, 6 months; the most recent married couple was Mr. and Mrs. L. Thomas Geasey, Jr., Frederick, R. D. 3, 1 month; youngest member, Debra Lynn Fraley, Thurmont, 3 months; largest family, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings V. Frock, Sr., 7 children present; person traveling farthest, Mr. Robert L. Ervin, 44 miles.

Mrs. James Fair and Mrs. L. Thomas Geasey, Jr., arranged and presented the following program. Mrs. Carroll Beard and Mr. James Fair served as piano accompanists.

Hymn, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus"; piano solo, "Dixie" and "Riding On A Mule"; Diana Fair; readings, "Handshakes" and "Ma and Pa"; Mrs. L. Thomas Geasey, Jr.; vocal solos, "A Tear Fell" and "Open Up Your Heart"; Miss Alice Weigate; violin solo, "Gold and Silver"; Miss Nancy Baker; vocal solos, "Hand In Hand" and "Mr. Wonderful"; Miss Rosa Moberly, Walkersville, who plays her own piano accompaniment.

The following took part in a "Womanless Wedding" which brought forth much laughter: soloist, James H. Fair; bridesmaids, Bobby and Gene Frock; flower girl, Barry Dayhoff; bride, Ellis G. Frock; bride's mother, Stanley Frock; bride's father, Karl Austin; groom, Jennings V. Frock, Jr.; minister, Harris Frock.

The program concluded with everyone singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again".

The reunion will be held in 1957, at the same place, the fourth Sunday in July.

AWARD GIVEN WASHOE CIVIL DEFENSE CHIEF

A. E. Holgate, Washoe County, Nevada, Civil Defense director, this week became the first Nevada resident to be honored with the Air Defense Command's distinguished achievement award. A framed certificate was presented to Director Holgate, Tuesday, by Brig. Gen. Monro MacCloskey, commander of the 28th Air Defense Division, in ceremonies at Hamilton Air Force Base, California.

The distinguished achievement award is presented to those members of the civilian Ground Observer Corps who have served in an organizational, administrative, or supervisory capacity with extraordinary effectiveness. In order for an individual to be eligible for this award, his activities must have materially contributed to the over-all strength and efficiency of the GOC in a given area. The recipient must have served the GOC in an outstanding manner for a minimum of one year. The number of Distinguished Achievement Awards is therefore limited, to maintain the high prestige associated with it.

"It is indeed gratifying to know," General MacCloskey said, "that we have such defense-minded citizens as Mr. Holgate in our Ground Observer Corps. All of us can be proud of his outstanding contribution to the defense of our nation. I wish to express my sincere appreciation to Mr. Holgate for his inspiring accomplishments and contributions to our national defense."

Through the personal efforts of Mr. Holgate an efficient GOC program was developed and is presently being maintained in Washoe county and the cities of Reno and Sparks. Officials at the Reno Filter Center said that Mr. Holgate has been extremely active, assisting in every conceivable method to help build a stronger GOC program. Large parts of his time are donated to these activities, and he has traveled extensively to coordinate the GOC activities in other locales. Many hours of his donated time are spent in personally accompanying the military representatives of the GOC on their visits, introducing them to persons who may assist in the recruiting program of the GOC.

—Reno Evening Gazette, July 20, 1956

P. C. W. Y. F.

Walter Plank opened the meeting of July 30th with the reading of the Scripture. He then explained it and led the group in prayer. The minutes were read and approved, followed by the treasurer's report. The meeting was adjourned with seven members present.
