A NEGRO LOOKS AT INTEGRATION

At this time when hare-brained white mobs at Clinton, Tenn., and Sturgis, Ky., have required restraint by the National Guard, and much of the country has gained the impression that racial-mingling is the universal ambition of negroes, we would like to quote Davis Lee, negro editor of a national negro newspaper, THE NEWARK (N.J.) TELEGRAM. The following is from his recent editorial "You Can't Eat Integration":

"This integration-segregation issue has stirred up bitterness, hatred, prejudices, and has destroyed long-standing friendships. But, strange as it may seem, fifty percent of the Negroes are not concerned about it either way.

"The liberals are frothing at the mouth and shedding crocodile tears over the plight of the poor Negro in the South, will gladly give him inte,gration, but won't give him a job or provide his family with clothing or bread.

"The Southerners don't want to have integration, but they will gladly give him a job and help clothe and feed his family.

"The liberals will open their schools to Negro children, but they won't hire many Negroes as teachers. The South won't admit Negro children to its schools, but they will give the Negro his own school manned by teachers of his own race. And all of this is given to him without cost.

"There are forms of segregation that are degrading and humiliating, but to have one's own school and teachers is not one of them. Giving the Negro his own school and teachers is more in keeping with that concept of freedom, justice and equal opportunity that the founding fathers had in mind than is an integrated system of Education."

Mr. Lee pleads for "ample time" for adjustment. He points out that the South has never attempted to tell the rest of the nation how to run its affairs, "and in no section of the country does the Negro enjoy the educational, employment and economic opportunities which he enjoys in the South.

"The labor unions," he notes, "are pouring thousands of dollars into this integration movement, yet Southern Negroes are working at jobs that Northern Negroes can not get, because the unions will not accept them as members. There are more Negro carpenters, brick-layers and building contractors in North and South Carolina that there are in the 33 integrated states.

"Negroes can't eat integration. They need jobs. They need the opportunity to develop their talents. The South is the only section of this nation that offers such opportunities. If these liberals and agitators are the Negro's friends and Southern whites are his enemies, then someone needs to protect him from his friends."-U. S. Press Association.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

ST. LOUIS, MO., LABOR TRI-BUNE: "We are inclined to agree with Mr. Arthur Patzer, youth secretary of the Seventh Day Adventists Columbia Union Conference who recently blasted popular song writers who are cashing in on the current religion revival. The religious 'rock an'roll' we have been getting via the airwaves and juke boxes is as uncouth as it is uncalled for and makes a mockery of all real spiritual values."

ALAMEDA, CALIF., TIMES STAR: "The recent success of American popular musicians who have toured Europe indicate that when our travelers properly typify American life and their fellow citizens, they are understood and welcomed."

ETERNAL LIFE

Life is not such a mystery when we know Our God is with us wherever we go; At birth, He implants Himself, in man; For, to make him perfect, is His plan.

Jesus said "Ye are gods", to the people one day, At least, that is what the Scriptures say, So, it is God's intention that man shall be A god among gods through eternity.

That is one of the secrets of God's great plan—
To make a god of every man;
So, in every mortal, His face we must see
Before he is fit for eternity.

"As face answers to face in a glass"
Is the test our own bodies must pass;
For, to weather the storms of the endless day, One must have a body which shall not decay.

As the tree which stands in the storm clouds' path Must train its roots to encounter its wrath, So man must prepare in every way

To weather the storms of the endless day.

Reincarnation is a part of God's plan To make of you a perfect man; A single lifespan too short would be To learn how to live through Eternity.

So, back to earth you must return,
For, eternal life we all must earn;
It is a gift which only God can give;
And, unless we are like Him, we could not live.

God is our life, the Scriptures say; So. when he goes, we no longer stay; In another body he finds for us a place; That is how He makes perfect each race.

Men have told us that one must die To enter mansions in the sky; But, such deductions are not true; There are other things for us to do.

Then, too, eternal life we all must earn By giving something in return—A kindly word, and a helping hand Is God's imperative demand.

The right to pass the "pearly gate" Shall not be given to those who wait To walk the shining streets of gold; Neither can it be bought or sold.

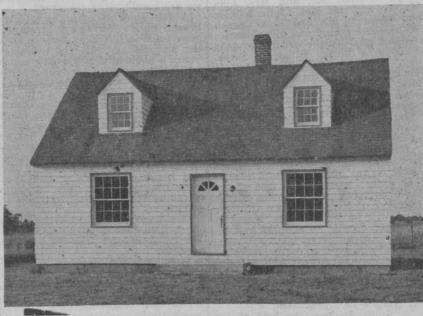

If that Royal passport you hope to win, Your body must be free from sin; Like "Pilate", you must wash your hands When forced to do what earth demands.

God knew that man from Him would stray, So He devised the only way y which to get and wear that precious gem Which is called the "Royal Diadem."

FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

People are always interested in the ubjects that directly affect their own lives, which explains why the topics of marriage, birth, death and love are always interesting to any person regardless of race, color, creed or bank account. For this reason we think the reader will want to know that no onger can the male alone be blamed for deserting his family. A recent survey revealed that 50 thousand wobelong to that group described as "family deserters." But there is a cheering note to this dismal picture Social workers find that for every wenty men who desert, one woman leaves home. Does this mean that women are more conscious of their obigations than men or does it mean that women can take the trials of narriage better than the males? There seems to be no conclusive answer since both sexes desert their families for various reasons such as, ruelty, too much drinking, being un aithful, in-law trouble, gambling and the pressure of unpaid bills. But while hese are the apparent reasons for lesertions the real reasons are immature and warped personalities of one or both partners of marriage. Percy Whipple.

Dorsey, the present administration is worried about continued inflation but no serious effort is being undertaken to make people aware of the importance of keeping their personal affairs and their business in sound shape. But if the people are not being warned publicly, their own common sense has begun to tell them that they are about at the end of their credit buying spree. Most farmers a year ago knew that unless something was done to increase prices for farm products, buying for them was over. Most people working for industry admit their pay-check is committed to the very last dollar for time payments. What is going to happen to an economy. s going to happen to an economy based on such an unhealthy founda-tion? We don't pretend to know but we are considerably concerned.

Sometimes we get discouraged with our dog, Mike, because he can never distinguish between friend or potential foe. He greets everyone with the same aggresive attitude. But other people have the same trouble with their dog. The Mayor of Hagerstown has a pet dog who will not even allow the postman to deliver the mail. The Mayor has to get his letters at the postoffice. At least, Mike does allow our postman to put the mail in the box but he will never allow the milkman to leave his truck to place the milk on the back porch.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Continued from First Page) as I investigated all before the pur-chase. You can even hang it up in any closet when not in use to have it disappear entirely. There is no cord to trip over or step over as that, too, just by a press of the button, pulls it in or out of the handle. You can touch another little part that makes the machine go under any small piece of furniture. The longer you have it the more wonderful devices you will find it has to please you.

And at last, I can be like that sensible old lady who just sat and rocked and rocked and did much thinking for I have one of those old fash-ioned rockers, real high back, bought from a sale and as I sit in it, I often think of the type of people who must have sat right there! I have been wanting one for years.

If you are planning to do over your nome or purchasing a new one and decide to have the interior painted, be sure and paper the bedrooms as there s so much more charm to a papered bedroom. As to paint, nothing can compare to Sherwin-Williams! Highly colored exteriors are the thing in homes!

And, wrestling fans, what did you think of "Nature Boy" Buddy Rogers in the bout with that nice Irish man? Never have I seen Rogers use such tactics as he did and he has fallen 100% in the thoughts of this wrestling viewer. After all as I have written all along, there is no one like Antonio Rocca. Eh?

What a sweet note arrived from Her Royal Highness, Princess Margaret, to add to my collection!

Driving over the mountains last week to Wilkesbarre, Pa., was one of the most beautiful trips I have ever taken. No wonder there are signs stating, "See Beautiful Pennsylvania" It was Labor Day going up to Kingston and there was not one policeman which took exactly six hours from here by the way of Lancaster, Harrisburg, all the way and the return trip was through Reading to Oxford and no signs of a policeman anywhere. The roads of course had many travelers but making it at 50 all the way with the Susquehanna on the right side and mountains lay in front of us, beside us and back of us and the sun beaming down with the delightful weather made it a most enjoyable

So long, folks, and you will be surprised to read in my next column of the big surprise I had from where I will be writing. Have a grand week. Be careful when you drive. If a driver desires to pass, let him go for it may mean an emergency. Use tact behind the wheel and be kind always. See you next week D. V. I am,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: Just in case you may be looking upon the election campaign as a contest between former Governor Adlai Stevenson and President Dwight D. Eisenhower, we hasten to pass along to you the text of a printed announcement just received from Squirrel Island, Maine, where Frank C. Hughes states in black and boiled-lobster:

"Responding to popular demand, I have decided to become a candidate for the office of President of the Unit-States on the Atheists' ticket. Briefly, my platform is as follows:

"90 percent of parity for farmers.
"90 percent of parity for hotels and motels so that they will be compensated for unrented rooms by the Fed-Government.

"Expand this same principle to all lines of business so that the Government will purchase up to 90 percent of all merchandise and property the public will not buy. "I will cut Federal Taxes by 50 per cent "Foreign Policy—Immediately upon taking office, I will ask each foreign nation how much money it needs. I will send them just double the amount they ask. The Eisenhower, Truman and Roosevelt Administrations have been too slow in giving the United States away. "Just before election-if it doesn't cost too much—I will follow the examples of Eisenhower and Stevenson and join the Presbyterian Church to impress the women voters of my extreme piety too. This will be a wise move politically, for it will split the Presbyterian vote three ways.

"This program may not appeal to the intelligentsia—but there are not enough of them to cut much ice any-

In a letter of submittal, Mr. Hughes reveals that he was born in Yankton, Dakota Territory, in 1882 and lived in Glendive, in the Montana badlands for many years before migrating to Maine. We are sure he must feel at home on Squirrel Island.

Sincerely, BOB TAYLOR.

"A women hunting a man has a good advertising medium because it hetter chance of snaring him if she keeps her trap shut."—Nelson Eddy.

THE CARROLL RECORD is a good advertising medium because it and the rages now in vogue in women's clothes, and that is just what some people are doing in 1956.

SCHOOL DAYS

It seems but a short time since the familiar annual chant of the children, "No more pencils, no more books; No more teachers' dirty looks".

School days have arrived once more. For many children this will be a new experience and will be accompanied by mixed feelings on the part of both child and parent.

Dr. George Schochet, County Health Officer, offers some suggestions.

General Health Make sure your child is in good physical condition. In addition to his vaccination for small pox he should have a complete physical check-up and dental examination. It is a good idea for the mother to anticipate questions about the child's health and be pre-pared to supply information regard-ing his illnesses, immunizations, hand-icaps or restrictions and any communicable diseases he has had. By school age a child should have developed some good health habits. He should be able to go to the toilet without assistance. He should always wash his hands afterward and also before eating; and have an established time for meals and going to bed. His clothing should be comfortable, of the right size and easy to put on. If clothes are new let him become sufficiently familiar with them to recognize them as his own. He should have clothing appropriate to the weather -raincoat, rainhat and boots when necessary and warm clothing when chilly days arrive. Feelings of insecurity will be kept at a minimum if the child knows what to expect. He should know what his school and the room where he will be located look like. He should not expect his mother to stay with him. If he has gotten along without mother on previous occasions he will be better prepared to do so now. He should know how to get along with other children. Although he should realize that his schooltime will not be entirely devoted to free play, neither should he be anxious about what will be expected of him. The child who only looks forward to going to school "so I can play ball with the other kids" has an attitude as unrealistic as one who means, "The teacher might want me to read and I don't know how Safety on way Perhaps a major cause of parental anxiety will be centered around the child's safety on the way to and from The best precautions are to teach him practices for safety. If he must use the highway he should walk on the left facing oncoming traffic. If he rides a bicycle he should ride singly and in single file, and not try to show off or weave back and forth along the road or street. If he rides a bus he should know how to board and leave the bus, keep head and arms inside, refrain from creating a dis-turbance with other children or distracting the driver. All children should learn to obey traffic signals and know the rules applying to their particular situation. More vehicle accidents to children oc-cur when crossing between intersections than in any other area. Walking in roadway and coming from behind parked cars also cause unnecessary deaths. Teach your child the best route to take and see that he gets up early enough that he does not have to

At school he will be taught about health and safety and will be expected to observe safe practices. If possible it is best that he be accompanied by other children and he must be cautioned against accepting rides or gifts from strangers. Although safety for the school child is a joint responsibility of home and community the initial training must be assumed in the home. WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Most parents—from Dogpatch to Detroit—want their li'l lovin' boys and gals to have the advantages of a college education. How to get the necessary money presents the only problem.

One of the easiest, surest ways to do-this is to invest regularly in U. S. Series E Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. And the best time to get started is right now while your child is still little. Then when the day comes for him or her to start off for college, the money will be ready and waiting.

Here's all you do. Tell the people in your pay office how much you want to save each payday. The rest is automatic. Your money will go into U. S. Savings Bonds, one of the world's safest investments and one where your returns are guaranteed.

When held to maturity (9 years and 8 months) each Series E Bond pays an average 3% interest, compounded semi-annually. And that same fine interest rate applies for 10 years more, if you hold your Bonds. So if you save just $7.50 a week, in 9 years and 8 months you'll have $4,278. In 19 years and 8 months—$10,313—enough to give both son and daughter the educational chance they richly deserve.

So start now on the road to important goals like college for the children and retirement for yourself. Think of tomorrow today, and sign up for the convenient Payroll Savings Plan.

For the big things in your life, be ready with U. S. Savings Bonds

Here is why BLUE CROSS alone earns the official approval of the American Hospital Association

1. BLUE CROSS protects the interests of subscribers through its close association with member hospitals and local medical profession.

Blue Cross has written agreements with member hospitals. Under these agreements, hospitals contract to furnish hospital care to Blue Cross subscribers—the hospital care needed in each case.

Blue Cross, you see, puts the emphasis on hospital care, not just cash to help pay bills. Through its unique working agreements with member hospitals, Blue Cross and the hospitals work in joint responsibility to see that subscribers get the hospital care benefits they need, at the lowest possible cost.

2. BLUE CROSS gives you free choice of hospital and physician.

All forty general hospitals in Maryland are members of the Blue Cross Plan. When your physician arranges to have you admitted to one of these member hospitals, you simply show the hospital your Blue Cross membership card. Blue Cross pays the hospital direct. And, through working agreements with all Blue Cross Plans throughout the country, your Blue Cross protection goes with you when you are away from home.

3. BLUE CROSS is not operated for profit!

Sponsorship, control, and operations of Blue Cross are non-profit, in accordance with the requirements of the American Hospital Association for approval as a Blue Cross Hospital Service Plan. Overall administrative costs—the only part of income not used to pay for subscriber benefits—require currently a little over six cents out of every subscription dollar. Ninety-four cents out of every subscription dollar is used or set aside to pay subscribers' hospital expenses, another reason why Blue Cross pays so many hospital bills in full.

4. BLUE CROSS benefits mean hospital care.

The primary purpose of Blue Cross is to make available the widest possible range of hospital care benefits to as many persons as possible, at the lowest possible cost. Because Blue Cross subscription rates are based upon the actual cost of basic necessary hospital services, Blue Cross benefits mean hospital care. Membership in Blue Shield, the companion plan to Blue Cross, rounds out the protection afforded by Blue Cross. Blue Shield provides medical and surgical benefits, includes payments for consultations and obstetrical care. Blue Cross means hospital care—Blue Shield means doctor's care. Membership in both means a broad, realistic protection against the expense of sudden illnesses and accidents.

Essentially, Blue Cross is a community enterprise, organized by local business and civio leaders, and local hospitals and physicians, to provide a prepayment hospital care program for the people of each community. Today, nearly one million Marylanders enjoy the unique protection afforded by Blue Cross.

Revelation

Lesson for September 16, 1956

THE book of Revelation was several hundred years old before the whole Christian church accepted it into the Bible. Even after it became an official part of the New Testament, there were Christian scholars who questioned it. Saint James places it somewhere between the "ca- | nonical" and "apocryphal" books -that is, between Bible and not-Bible. Luther's first preface to his German translation of the New Testament said of Revelation that it did not seem to Dr. Foreman be either apostolic or prophetic. He came to think better of it, but he never did print Revelation except as an appendix to the New Testament. Zwingli, the Swiss reformer, considered Revelation "not Biblical"; and John Calvin, who wrote commentaries on almost every other book of the Bible, never undertook to write on Revelation.

A Strange Book

One of the reasons why so many distinguished Christians have had difficulty with the book of Revelation is the simple one: it is extremely hard to understand. Its pages swarm with weird monsters; fire and blood flow through its scenes; it is loud with the agonies of a crashing universe. Literally hundreds of persons, fascinated by the puzzles here, have written out their answers in books and commentaries; but the very fact that these commentators do not agree among themselves is eloquent testimony to the fact that no one yet has found the key that gives an answer the whole church accepts. What makes the book so strange is that it is written in the language of symbols. As one eminent conservative scholar, Dr. Warfield, said (with some exaggeration), everything in the book means something else. The author as it were puts us on notice when he tells us himself that his "stars" mean angels, and "lampstands" mean churches, and "incense" means prayers. Even the numbers in this book are symbolic-that is, not to count with but to express ideas. Readers who wish to pursue the study of Revelation more fully should write to their denominational headquarters and inquire whether their church has authorized some particular interpretation of this book. So wide are the disagreements that this writer could not recommend any one book without raising objections from some part of the church or other.

Some Things Are Clear

Sunday school lesson planners seldom select from Revelation; but those who planned our current series, used in more than 80 denominations, wisely selected three studies based on parts of Revelation about which there can be little dispute. For some things in this obscure book are clear as day; and it is probably in gratitude for these things, rather than in hope of unraveling all the knots, that the church, in spite of its uncertainties, has kept this book at the end of the Bible all these centuries. One of the clearer and best-loved sections is in the first three chapters, where we have seven letters to seven churches of Asia Minor. There is obscuritý here too; but also much light. Those seven churches have gone the way of all flesh, long since. But in those sharply etched pen-pictures the modern reader can see portraits, amazingly modern, which come close to describing churches we all have seen.

Christ in His Churches

The warnings and the promises to those far-off and long-gone churches are good today for us. One thing stands out in every one of these short piercing messages to the "seven churches": Every true church—then, now always is a true one only when and so long as it keeps faithful to Christ, so long as he can be satisfied with it. What are the points of a church Christ approves? The reader of Revelation can make his own list and should not skip the first two in the very first letter: "hard work and patient endurance" (to follow Moffatt's translation). It should be noted too that even in the church most praised (Ephesus) the thing that comes in for blame is their let-down of love. For of all things that make a church weak and un-Christian, loss of love is the most serious Even Christ's severest judgments are judgments of love. To the weakest and worst church of the seven, the word is, "As many as I love, I rebuke." (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)

Thousands of Maryland school children travel to Telezonia

You never heard of Telezonia? Chances are that your children have. Each year many thousands of Maryland school children see the color film, "Adventure in Telezonia," which is part of the telephone training kit used by most of our schools.

After seeing the film, children make calls over actual telephones and use directories right in the classroom. They learn how the telephone works, how to look up numbers, the correct way to dial and good telephone manners. And they love it.

The telephone is such a useful and valuable tool in modern living that we're always glad to help our schools and teachers give children this important training.

Protect Maryland's school children from accidents - drive carefully. Remember, they're looking to you to look out for them!

T. V. INTERFERENCE

TV interference, particularly in lower VHF bands, is expected to inlower VHF bands, is expected to increase next year and get worse in winter of 1957-58—due to 11-year sunspot cycle. FCC reported numerous recent complaints of interference in 25-50 mc mobile radio bands this week, said nothing about TV. Commission engineers tell us, however, that reflection of waves from upper inosphere layer will cause TV signals from 600-1500 miles away to be refrom 600-1500 miles away to be received either as interferences to local stations or a clear picture on locally unoccupied channels.

Little trouble is expected on higher VHF or on UHF channels. Last sunspot cycle hit peak in winter of 1946-47, but with only about a dozen TV stations and 20,000 receivers in operation, few interference complaints were reported. This time, with about 35,000,000 sets in use and 460 stations on air, Commission engineers say problems could become real hairshirt next year.—from TV Digest.

RETARDED CHILDREN

At the Tuesday meeting of the Carroll County Association for Retarded Children held in the Davis Library classroom in Westminster, Mr. Fern L. Smith, president, introduced Mrs. Agnes Lynch Allgire who has accepted a position with the Board of Education as teacher of one of the Davis Library classes for the retarded. Mrs. Allgire is a graduate of the Immaculata Seminary, Washington, D. C. with a degree in associate arts. She has traveled in Europe and lived in Japan where she taught in a private school for one year. Her husband is in the service and is at present sta-tioned at Western Maryland College. Mrs. Allgire's interest in retarded children is not new. She became aware of the great international movement on behalf of these youngsters through her extensive reading on the subject. Her teaching will be a real contribution.

Mrs. Mary Myers, chairman of the library committee, explained the plans for a lending library set up by her committee. A great deal of readher committee. A great deal of reading material in the form of books, magazine articles, bulletins, news letters, etc., was made available for parents and friends of the retarded.

Mr. Ray LeGore, program chairman, has come to the Association, not as a parent of a retarded child, but as a citizen of the community interested in helping to advance this work. Using his words, "Of all community projects which I have been privileged to be associated with, I find this work on behalf of retarded children the most gratifying.

Mr. LeGore presented Miss Louise Bankert, teacher of one of the classes for the retarded in Westminster. Miss Bankert spoke of her experience this summer in Silver Springs where she took a six-week course under the Syracuse University extension program. She mentioned some of the trends in special education in other trates and some of the points which states and some of the points which were given great emphasis in her summer course: namely, the great need for a program for the retarded which extends from the cradle to the grave (inasmuch as the parents need help from the time the child is born); and the great need for a social program for the retardates, especially the teen-agers. Miss Bankert mentioned, too, the great thrill of coming back to her class where on the first day of school the great excitement, the beaming smiles, the laughter, and expectant faces plainly displayed the great joy of being back in school. This swers the question so often asked. Do retarded children enjoy going to school? One of the school officials present on that first day agreed that there was probably no group of children asked. dren in Carroll County happier to get back to school.
