He concluded his very happy service in that congregation on last Sunday with the observance of World-wide Communion. The good people of Marietta have shown him many kindnesses during his service among them, and the end of this pleasant association will be shared with mutual regret. The climax of his pastoral service at Marietta was reached when the congregation planned and carried out a surprise celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Bready's ordination. That happy occasion was attended by thirty-eight members of the Reformed Churches of Taneytown and Keysville. This celebration was greatly enjoyed and deeply appreciated by Dr. Bready, who regarded this day as one of the happiest of his life. THE FAMILY FARM

The charge that the family is dying and is destined to be almost entirely replaced by gigantic corporate farms has no basis in fact. Every objective study shows that the family farm is the solid foundation on which our agricultural economy rests—and that there is every indication that this will continue to be true.

However, the character of the family farm has changed.

The change was made inevitable by agriculture's technological revolution. The tractor, symbolically speaking, utterly transformed farming. It put it on a business basis. A substantial investment is now necessary, as is a high degree of operating efficiency. Numberless family farms have adapted themselves to the new conditions—to their enormous benefit. These farms have grown larger, too—primarily because modern equipment gives each man a far greater productive power than he had before.

In modern agriculture, there is less room for marginal farmers, with poor land, or the inability or lack of desire to deal with the conditions of today as against those of the past. Many of these farmers have left agriculture to enter industry—and they are better for it. The good farmer, on the other hand, has stayed with his land, and enlarged, improved and conserved it. Like everyone else, he's had his ups and downs. But over the years he's done very well indeed.

Yes, the good family farm is here to stay. And efficient farm equipment is among its principal mainstays. —Industrial News Review.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

ABILENE, KAN., DAILY REFLECTOR-CHRONICLE: "... Neil McElroy, president of Proctor and Gamble, who was chairman of the education conference—would have big corporations and private business provide more funds to help students through school and do away with as many government subsidies as possible. This is no complete solution, but it appears to be a better answer to the problem of reducing college costs than resorting to public funds."

ARTHUR, ILL., GRAPHIC-CLARION: "We recently ran across an item describing how valuable local newspaper advertising is. The American Banker's magazine carried an article which said: 'No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned in its columns....'"

EAGLE RIVER, WISC., NEWS-REVIEW: "The scientific genius of Dr. Jonas Salk and other researchers, at long last gave mankind an inexpensive, plentiful vaccine that promises to end for all time the ravages of paralytic polio. Unfortunately, as in almost everything else, many folks think it can't happen to them—let the other fellow pay for the vaccine and have his kids vaccinated—but we'll take a chance. Of the 31 million American children most susceptible to polio, it is reported by Health News Institute in Milwaukee, less than half have sought Salk protection."

BASSETT, VA., JOURNAL: "Not many months ago there were all kinds of dire predictions—many made for obvious political reasons—that agriculture was in for a Grade-A depression unless the government took new, drastic steps in the way of aid and subsidy. Those drastic steps were not taken. But agricultural prices have been coming back—in some cases by big percentages."

This is where Tomorrow starts!

The New Ford Station Wagons. This famous line of champions has been redesigned from nameplate to tailgate. These five spacious glamour wagons are lower, longer, livelier than ever.

The New Fairlane 500 Series. Less than 5 feet high, over 17 feet long, largest car ever offered in the low-price field. With the look of tomorrow in its flight-hearted lines, this Club Sedan (above) typifies the beauty of all five Fairlane 500 models.

After today, American cars will never be the same again.
For the Big New Kind of Ford is a brilliant new automotive package—the one fine car in the low-price field!

We've unwrapped the 1957 Fords!
These are the best Fords of our lives. The whole package is new.
The power is new—with Silver Anniversary V-8's to fit every horsepower need.
The style is new—a revolutionary, sharp, brilliant, clear-cut design that will stand out in traffic.
The comfort is new—a rock-solid velvet-road ride.
The braking is positive—silky smooth when your toe says "whoa." The steering is feather light yet firm.
This is a great automobile, from the large honest dial faces on the instrument panel to the effortless loading way it cruises. At high speeds this new Ford has none of the struggling, humping, stretch-out feeling you sometimes get in some other cars.
The new Ford begins with the "Inner Ford." Its new elegance comes from within, from the way its automotive muscles are put together. There are a thousand-and-one automotive lessons built into this New Kind of Ford. All of the changes are toward more rugged endurance, toward increased power, toward smoother operation. These are the bases for its "Mark of Tomorrow" elegance. This is the one fine car in the low-price field.
There are actually 19 different new kinds of Ford—the new Custom 300 and Custom Series on a 116-inch wheelbase, the new Fairlane 500 and Fairlane Series on a 118-inch wheelbase, and the famous five Ford Station Wagons, the champions of glamour cruisers. And no matter which new kind of Ford you choose, it's yours at low Ford prices!
How does it look? It's only fourteen hands high—as tall as a child's pony. You can stand beside it and lean your elbows on its roof. And it's over seventeen feet long... 21 inches wider than it is high!
This big new kind of Ford looks like the fun on a travel poster. It's the kind of car that looks sunshiny in the rain.
It looks as fresh as morning.
It looks like tomorrow—like the first thing out of Detroit that symbolizes the new Age of Movement.
See it at your Ford Dealer's. Give it your own Action Test. But you'd better leave a deposit... for you won't want to bring it back.

FEESERSBURG (A FEELER BY CARROLL)

A modern architect has touched off a wave of protest from women after he advised that kitchens should be built without windows. His argument is that window space should be reserved for the living room where the family spends 90 per cent of its time.

We don't know what class of people the architect had in mind but no family that we have ever met spent 90 per cent of its time anywhere but in the kitchen. Since the homemaker spends most of the day in the kitchen, she should know whether a windowless kitchen would appeal to her or not. The trouble with designers of homes is that most of them are men and they build houses from the male point of view. Maybe in a city apartment it makes little difference whether a kitchen has a window or not, but in a house with a view across fields and an open sky, we doubt that a windowless kitchen will ever be taken seriously by home-builders.

When we were in school, studying arithmetic two times two equaled four, but since listening to some of the political speeches on the cost of living we are about convinced that figures are not what they once were. For instance, according to our books the farmers income has dropped 30 per cent in the last three years but figures juggled by politicians tell me that my books are wrong. . . . that instead of a deficit it should be a profit. According to my monthly bills the cost of living has steadily been rising, but according to political book-keeping prices are stationary. It just goes to show that arithmetic the way it was taught 25 years ago is out of date. What we all need is a course in modern figure juggling so we can convince ourselves and our creditors that a deficit is a profit and a profit is a paper with figures on it.

No matter how good the old days seem in memory, we must live today as modern life dictates for there is an old saying: "Either bend with the wind or break." Right now the wind is strong against so many old ideas and customs. We who are middle-aged struggle against these changes but if we are wise and wish to live another day we will accept the changes without too much waste of energy fighting against them. Bend with the times and live to enjoy the changes.

Gone—the old-fashioned woodshed—with out-moded treasures piled; It settled many a problem—and many a problem child.

The husband and wife were having their usual evening argument. "Tell me, Will, be a movie when you don't know the actors and you know even if you did the movie is just a movie." "I guess" replied his wife, "its for the same reason you yell and holler when a man you don't know steals second base."

Mr. James Wilson made the headlines this week when he tapped his wife over the head with a wrench because she wouldn't listen to his conversation. We have frequently heard of women snatching the paper from their husband or dumping a plate of bacon and eggs on his head because he paid no attention to her breakfast conversation, but Mr. Wilson is the first man we have ever heard of trying to gain his wife's attention by means of a plumber's wrench. Usually the husband is eager to avoid conversation with his spouse, knowing it generally means a new hat or the use of the family car.

A change of lipstick now and then is relished by the best of men.

The Elmer Wolfe School P.T.A. meeting was well attended Monday evening. The pupils from the Elementary grades put on a Halloween program as the evening's entertainment and it proved interesting. As usual the seating capacity of the auditorium did not accommodate the crowd and the acoustics played havoc with the speakers voice. What is to be needed is a good public address system and a new auditorium. Yet the unanswered question still remains the same "How do we get them?"

Airman Audrey Bowers is enjoying a ten day leave with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Bowers, of Middleburg. Audrey has just completed her basic training at Lackland Air Base in Texas. At the end of her leave Audrey will be stationed at Albuquerque, New Mexico where she will study business administration for two years.

Is your family changing its eating habits? This is the time of year for country sausage and hot cakes but we have been ordered by our family not to serve them again. This use to be a popular meal but for some unknown reason it is now being boycotted.

Wage scale in 1956: Unskilled labor, $1.50 per day; carpenter, $2.50 per day. Bricklayers, stonemasons and plumbers 0.45 cents an hour. Today, of course it is a different story and yet we know the low wages of those years could buy much more than the wages of today. For one thing there weren't so many things on the market to desire and one didn't waste one's money and peace of mind on gadgets.

Things we could live without: Salespeople who tell you that hat or that dress was made for you when you know full well its ten years too young for you—questions about our health—insincere compliments—people who make engagements and never keep them—but above all the person who says "I meant to write but I have been too busy."

A career woman and a cat have one thing in common—both can take to domestic life or they can avoid it like the devil.—Ruth Roelke.

WANTZ—In sad, but loving remembrance of our dear mother, MRS. MAUDE L. WANTZ, who departed this life two years ago, Oct. 15, 1954.

There is some one who misses you daily And feels very sad since you're gone There's some one who grieves after you, But tries to be brave and strong.

Only a memory of by gone days And a sigh for a face unseen But a constant feeling that God above Knows just what should have been.

Her journey on earth is ended She has gone to her heavenly home, Where loved ones awaited her coming To join them around the heavenly throne.

CLUBMEN HEAR TALK ON LIONISM

A program on Lionism was presented at the bi-monthly meeting of the Taneytown Lions Club at a dinner session held at Taney Inn. It was arranged by Singleton Reinsnyder, chairman of the program committee. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Charles Held, a veteran member of Gettysburg Lions Club who chose as his theme "Liberty Intelligence Our Nations Safety". Rev. Held also gave an account of the International Convention which was recently held in Miami, Florida.

Guests introduced by president of the club J. Alfred Heltzebride were: Geo. Johns and E. Engler of the New Windsor Club.

President Heltzebride announced the purchase of six Telecron electric wall clocks for installation in the Taneytown Elementary School, also the purchase of glasses for numerous optical cases.

Lion Wilbur Thomas was named to head the Bake Sale which will be held in the near future.

REV. GALAMBOS TRANSFERS

The Rev. Gideon Galambos, pastor of the Taneytown-Emmitsburg-Piney Creek charge has accepted a call to become the first pastor of the Presbyterian church at Elmwood Place, a suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Rev. Galambos came to Taneytown about five years ago, after the transfer of Rev. Charles S. Owen to Cohocton, N. Y. Meeting of the elders of the three churches was called last Sunday, following the worship services to act on the resignation.

LOCAL GUERNSEY BREEDER WINS HONORS

George L. Gunther and sons of Three D's Farm won some of the top and most coveted honors at the recent Frederick Fair. With twelve animals entered they succeeded in winning two championships, four firsts, five seconds, two thirds, one fourth, one fifth, and two thirds ribbons. The classes entered and placings were as follows: bull calf, second; bull over 2 years, first and senior and grand champion; junior heifer calf, fourth; heifer, 2 years old (in milk), first; second, fifth and sixth; cow 5 years old, sixth; best uddered cow, second; junior get of sire, third; senior get of sire, first; and produce of dam, second and third. "Wyno's Merry Man", the Grand Champion bull, was the sire of eight of the animals exhibited and the sire of both the junior and senior get. This was a repeat for him as he was made Grand Champion bull of the Maryland State Fair as well as the Montgomery County Fair.

REV. BREADY RETIRES

acted two-thirds of it was given as pastor of the Taneytown charge.

During Dr. Bready's residence at Lancaster, his activities, besides the duties of the Supply-Pastorate, covered the completion of two major literary projects. He has prepared a complete three-way cross Index of the "Messenger", the weekly church paper of the Reformed denomination, covering the period from its establishment in Nov., 1827, to the end of 1953. In performing this work he read every weekly issue of the paper within the indicated dates, making copious notes of items relating to persons, places, and subjects of articles. This material was later arranged alphabetically and typed in permanent form.

It is possible, by referring to the Index, to follow the career of thousands of ministers and prominent laymen of the Reformed Church, including such information as college and theological seminary attended, date of graduation, dates of licensure and ordination, also by what Synod, Classis or Classes licensed and ordained, pastorates served with dates of beginning and ending of each pastorate, earned and honorary degrees received and by what educational institution awarded, date and place of marriage with name of bride, authorship of books and articles, date and place of death, date and place of funeral, and biography.

The "place" Index includes names and locations of churches and congregations, covering such items as organization, erection and dedication of church buildings, outstanding events in the history of the congregation, etc. This portion of the Index includes informative items regarding all the educational institutions of the church, covering date and circumstances of organization, buildings erected, president and faculty, commencements, etc. Also, complete information regarding the General Synod, District Synods and Classes; dates and places of meeting, with a record of important items and decisions.

The "article" portion of the Index records the title of every article on literary, theological, ecclesiastical or secular subjects, together with the name of the author and date of publication. This is regarded as the most valuable part of the Index in that it readily guides the scholar in search of material on outstanding movements in the Reformed Church in the last century and a quarter, prominent among which is the celebrated "Liturgical Controversy", as well as a complete compendium of information regarding the organization and continued activities of the Benevolence arm of the Church.

The Index is in daily use by those who are searching for material needed for the assembling of congregational histories, and for the preparation of learned treatises and dissertations by candidates for advanced academic degrees. The "Synopsis Index" has been called "A Synopsis History of the Reformed Church in the United States".

The completed Index fills twelve large bound volumes (typewritten) of more than 3300 pages (8 1/2 x 11) and 100,000 different items. Each item is identified by date (year, month, day of month) of the issue of the Messenger in which the particular item appears; also the page number. The preparation of the Index required more than 3500 hours of work and kept Dr. Bready busy for four years. He did all the work, including arrangement and typing, without help from any source.

The second project completed by Dr. Bready was the writing of six volumes of the series "The Fathers of the Reformed Church" begun by Dr. Henry Harbaugh in 1857. Dr. Bready has written the biography of every minister of the Reformed Church in the United States who died during the interval between 1888 and the end of 1941. These books (typewritten) are permanently bound in buckram. The six volumes written by Dr. Bready fill 2400 pages and record the complete biography of 1177 deceased ministers, included is a complete index of the whole Series (Volumes I - XII). Dr. Bready also performed all the labor in the preparation of this project, including research, processing and typing. He has presented them as a personal gift to the Historical Society, which organization hopes to have them published in order that they may be more readily accessible.

All the volumes (eighteen in all) prepared by Dr. Bready are deposited in the rooms of the Historical Society of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, located in the Fackenthal Library of Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster.

Dr. Bready has recently published his historical article, "A Century and a Quarter of the Messenger", which appeared in the July, 1956, number of the Theological Seminary Bulletin. A further article, "The Story of the Other Periodicals (Printed in English) of the Reformed Church in the United States" will appear in the October, 1956, issue of the same publication.

Dr. Bready's step-daughter, Miss Mary Ellen Leh, and her mother's sister, Mrs. Kathryn Gast, will continue to reside at 511 N. School Lane, Lancaster, Pa.

Are You Buying Your Insurance? or
ARE YOU BUYING YOUR INSURANCE AGENT?

It is just my nature I guess, but I can not ask a person to buy insurance from me unless I feel I can either give them better coverage, or a better rate, or better service, or place him in a stronger company, at least something has to be as good or better than what he now has.

Yet a good many people will say "I have my insurance with a certain agent, he is a good fellow isn't he"? My answer can usually be, sure he is a wonderful fellow, but if you are buying insurance, you should look at the facts and figures. Are you properly covered at today's values? How does the rate you are paying compare with other agents rates? Can your agent be at the scene of a loss and render prompt service to you? How is the financial standing of the company you are insured in?

I represent several different companies, show you all of the facts and figures, with nothing hidden or twisted around, but if after actually comparing the facts you do not feel I can do you more good than some other agent, I certainly would not want to take your money.

PAYCHECK ENEMY NO. 1: Unexpected hospital expenses

Protect your budget from the strain of unexpected hospital bills. Join BLUE CROSS.

You won't want to think about bills and budgets when sudden illness lays your "Little Leaguer" low. The important thing is to get him back in the lineup. But when he's back in the batter's box, scowling at the pitcher, your problems may be only beginning—if you haven't planned to meet them.

Luckily, planning to meet unexpected hospital expenses is easy, when you belong to Blue Cross, the non-profit plan to pre-pay hospital expenses.

Today over 950,000 Marylanders have, through membership in Blue Cross, broad realistic protection against the expense of sudden illness or accident.

Key to Blue Cross: "Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. Blue Cross's way of providing for the hospital care you may need is "service benefits." These are, to put it simply, agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospitals to provide the hospital care you need.

The emphasis, you see, is on care—not cash. Blue Cross does not give you dollars to help pay your hospital bills. Instead Blue Cross, through its "service benefits" pays the hospital directly for the services covered in your membership. You don't have to file a claim, or wait for reimbursement. Dollar payments are often not enough to cover hospital bills. Blue Cross records show that Blue Cross "service benefits" do often cover a subscriber's hospital expenses in full.

Find out now about Blue Cross

If there is a Blue Cross group where you work, ask your employer how you may join it. If there is no Blue Cross group where you work, and there are five or more people employed there, ask your employer about getting Blue Cross protection for you. You may get information about Blue Cross by calling the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory, or by writing for a free booklet to: Blue Cross, Dept. 1014, 200 West Baltimore St., Baltimore, Maryland.

Why God Says No!

Lesson for October 14, 1956

A QUESTION often asked about the Ten Commandments is this: Why are they all in the negative? It all seems to be "Don't, don't." Does God hang chains on us to hamper our freedom? Is God more interested in stopping us from what we want to do than in showing us what to do? Why the emphasis on the negative? Isn't Christian morality, right living before God, a positive thing? Can a set of prohibitions be a solid base for life today?

Dr. Foreman

"Don't" Is a Useful Word

Let's look at this a little. For one thing, it must be remembered that the Ten Commandments, as they are called, were not invented by Moses or first revealed to him. We know that centuries before Moses, wise men were saying it already, and it is pretty safe to suppose that most people knew it,—namely that stealing and killing and adultery are wrong. The reason Moses gave the Ten Commandments was not that either he or God had just discovered them. These Commandments came out in their present form (or possibly a shorter form, enlarged later) for the benefit and guidance of a very primitive people, just out of slavery where they and their forefathers had been for generations. For people like that "Don't" is easier to understand than "Do." A little child can be saved from being hurt or killed just by learning the meaning of the little word NO. "Don't" is a useful word. It is simpler, too, to say "Don't" than "Do." Learning to do well takes time, and brains too. You don't have to learn to stop. You don't have to be a "brain" to stop doing wrong. So the Ten Commandments begin at the right end, the simple end. "Thou shalt not," or "Don't," in other words, is not the whole of what goodness means; but it is a good place to begin.

Under Control

Nowadays it is not popular to mention such words or ideas as discipline, self-control, temperance, or restraint; but these are good things in their place, and no life is good that ignores them. Doing what you want to do when you feel like doing it without asking anybody is a small boy's dream, but it is no way for a grown man or woman to live. This is another reason why so many of the Ten Commandments begin with "Don't." Brakes say "No" to a car, and a car without brakes isn't safe for a minute. Stakes say "No" to sprawling vines, but the vines are the better for being tied up. Pruning shears say "No" to grapevines; but unpruned grapevines soon run down. Rails say "No" to train wheels; and when the wheels (so to speak) decide to go where they please, you have a wreck. "Doing what comes naturally" may be silly, sinful, even criminal. Impulses can be harmful and hateful. Instincts may be warped or exaggerated. The disciplined, self-controlled life is not a life of mere repression; but if there is no repression anywhere, if there is no response and obedience when God says "No," then life becomes a tangle like an untrimmed grape vine, a smash-up like a train that tries to cross a field without rails.

Every Don't Has a Do!

Every "don't" has a matching "do" of some kind. Thou shalt not steal means also, Thou shalt not waste property. Thou shalt not waste the earth's resources. Thou shalt respect property. When you see a farmer using intelligent methods to prevent or cure soil erosion, you may think about it, and he may not; but he is trying to prevent stealing or wasting the land on which future generations may depend. He is obeying the Eighth Commandment. But such a farmer shows that right living consists not merely in refusing to commit a certain small list of selected crimes; right living is not only not stealing land (for example) from the rising generation, right living includes also doing all one can to pass on to those who shall come after, land that shall have become—because wisely used—more fertile and fruitful than it was before. In the same way with all other commandments, every Don't! has a Do! Thou shalt not kill means not only committing no murder, shortening no life; it means contributing to life and health all we can, wherever we can. "Temperance" is not mere restriction, it is not life-denying; it is life-building.

USEFULNESS

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for any one else.—Charles Dickens.

To do good to all because we love all, and to use in God's service the one talent that we all have, is our only means of adding to that talent and the best way to silence a deep discontent with our shortcomings.—Mary Baker Eddy.

That best portion of a good man's life, His little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love.—William Wordsworth.

THRIFTY DAYS HATH OCTOBER

And so do the months to come if you make your home furnishings purchases at Fuss Furniture Company.

Don't be misled by vague furniture advertising, with big headlines and big price cuts. You may find that the picture is not at all like the merchandise that is to be sold for the price beside it.

Smart homemakers have been shopping at Fuss Furniture for three generations and they will tell you. "You can't beat Fuss for the lowest prices
 —the best service—and an honest evaluation of each piece offered, whether it is budget furniture or quality furniture made to last a lifetime."
