LET'S GIVE THANKS!

The Christmas street lights are being hung, the merchants are "stocking their shelves" with many items, the churches are preparing programs, the children have begun counting the days until Christmas.

We are enjoying Peace here in this country in spite of the distant faint rumbling of war.

Even though prices are advancing there still seems to be enough money that everyone can have the necessities of life and a few things more.

LET'S GIVE THANKS DURING THIS THANKS-GIVING SEASON FOR THE MANY BLESSINGS THAT WE ENJOY AS WE APPROACH THE BIRTHDAY OF CHRIST.

P.-T. A. MEETING WELL ATTENDED Fine Program Presented by The Committee

The P.-T. A. of the Taneytown Elementary School held its regular Elementary School held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, November 20, 1956, in the school auditorium. The meeting, presided over by the president, Frank Dun-ham, opened at 8 o'clock with the in-vocation by Rev. Morgan Andreas. While standing, the members of the Association sang one verse of "Amer-ica, The Beautiful", with Stephen Feeser accompanying at the piano, and then recited the flag pledge. The reports of the secretary and treasurand then recited the flag piedge. The reports of the secretary and treasur-er were given and approved. To con-clude the business part of the meet-ing, Mrs. Theodore Jester, delegate to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave her report on the activities of the meeting. The Program Committee, with Mrs. Florence Kennel as chairman, pre-

Florence Keppel as chairman, presented the following program: sixth grade chorus sang "Fairest Lord Jesus" and "Come, Ye Thankful Peo-ple"; Carl Zentz played an accordion solo; and Dennis Baumgardner, a piano solo The Christian Endeavor Rally at the well attended Sunday evening, al-though some of the Societies were piano solo.

Cpl. Dorsey said there are some differences among witnesses as to what happened but the general story is that a fist fight followed an argument between Crum and Glachen. The officer said it was not until late Thursday night that the identity of Glachen was determined. Baltimore Detective Bureau apprehended him at his home in Baltimore and turned him over to State Police at Barrack G. A warrant charging assault with intent to kill was on file against Glachen before Crum's death.

Authorities said Crum was never in condition to make any statement. Mr. Crum was a son of Hanson E. represented at the school. Dr. Frantz also described the Ital-ian schools, telling of the large amounts of homework, how the chil-dren learn to write with pen and ink in the first grade and of having

Final Plans Made for Carnival

Final plans are now being made for the indoor carnival to be held on Friday and Saturday evening, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. Mrs. Robert Clingan, Jr. and Mrs. Chester Cartzendafner are co-chairmen for the event. There will be the usual feature plus several added attractions.

The feature attractions will change each night. Three skits will be given on Friday and on Saturday nights, three different ones will be presented. The food fair which will feature a home-baked and home-canned goods contest will be held on Saturday eve-ning. Mr. Robert a magician, will perform feats of magic on Friday evening at hourly intervals beginning at 7 p. m. The Carnival Queen will be crowned on Friday evening. Saturday evening local talent will present a variety show.

Other features of the carnival will be the Country Store, where one will find numerous, inexpensive Christmas gifts, various games, a fishing pond, a fortune teller, movies for the children, and a cake and candy table. Children can have their picture taken with Santa. There will be dancing both evenings for those who delight in this form of recreation. A new feature this year will be the ham, chicken or tuna platters which will be served in addition to the regular refreshment of soup, sandwiches, soft drinks, coffee, pie and cake. Two vegetables, rolls, butter, and coffee will be served on the platter in addi-tion to the choice of meat. Serving will begin at 5:30 p. m. An auction will be held at 10 o'clock on Saturday evening with Gus Shank as auctioneer. The articles unsold at the country store, the cake and candy table, and the food fair will be auctioned

Another new feature of the carnival will be the door prize which will be given away immediately after the auction on Saturday evening. In or-der to receive the door prize, the winner must be present when the drawing is made.

JUNIOR RED CROSS STARTS ENROLLING FOR 1957

The Carroll County Red Cross Chapter will launch its annual enrollment of local public, and parochial schools in the American Junior Red Cross, Nov. 7 to 21, as announced by Miss Ruth DeVore, Chairman. Youngsters will be given the op-portunity to join a nation-wide or-ganization, which specializes in pro-meting the humanitary of moting the humanitarian ideals of the Red Cross through a variety as useful projects and programs.

Guiding the students in their pro-jects are teacher sponsors who are selected for their leadership ability and genuine interest in the Junior Red Cross.

The American Junior Red Cross offers school children an excellent op-portunity to develop cualities of lead-ership and responsibility. Its pro-grams are for children of all ages, and it assists schools and parents in helping these children along the road to responsible adulthood. Several of the Junior Red Cross children last year helped to promote friendship and understanding between students in this country and abroad. Children from the Winfield and West End School packed gift boxes for needy children in foreign lands. Ten letters of thanks have been received from pupils in foreign countries for these gift boxes. Five such boxes made by Westminster High School pupils have been forwarded to National for distribution. Children in schools throughout the county will make 450 holiday trav mats to be sent to veteran and military hospitals in Maryland this year.

Delicious refreshments were served.

THE ELECTION

In his telegram of congratulation to President Eisenhower, Governor Stevenson said truly: "You have won not only the election, but also an expression of the great confidence of the American people."

The President's victory, of avalanche proportions, amounted to an almost unprecedented personal tribute. There can be no doubt that he is the most popular figure of his time, and that tens of millions of Americans, all partisan considerations to one side, look on him with the utmost kets he lost some years ago under trust and with that still rarer feeling, affection.

But there is infinitely more to the Eisenhower victory than a personal achievement. What is of enduring | importance is the attitude of mind and heart that the President has brought to the most demanding and exalted position on earth.

Mr. Eisenhower's over-riding interest is in people-not just people in the mass, but people as individuals. His speeches, formal and informal, almost invariably stress the theme of individual freedom, and urge the kind be justly proud." of government in which that freedom may flower. He finds the super, centralized state dangerous and distasteful, and believes profoundly that government should not do for us what we can do for ourselves.

A great many supporters of the President, of course, have disagreed and will again disagree with him on various issues. Such disagreement is the essence of the democratic process. But his basic philosophy is solidly in the old, free American tradition.

some overhauling, as this item from Editor & Publisher demonstrates: 'The study of the 'teen-age market' just released by the Bureau of Advertising completely destroys the television-created myth that the youth of America is a new race of TV viewers to the exclusion of printed media. TV ranked high with this group for its entertainment value, but research revealed the medium of 'most practical value' to teen-agers is the newspaper and 80 per cent of them are newspaper readers. This study should be a valuable new advertising sales tool for newspapers."-Industrial News Review.

PORT HURON, MICH., TIMES HERALD: :: Whether you call it a democracy, or a republic, whether you judge its benefits by the car in your garage or by the freedom to worship at the church of your choice or by your freedom to speak out in public without fear, you are living under a system of government based on the dignity and freedom of the individual, that derives its powers from the bottom up rather than from the top down. Like the stars in the sky, the continuation of this system is too often taken for granted."

ing on his magazine. Once again he went over the actions he would take at midnight. He would feign sickness. They would take him to the infirmary. Weeks ago he had smuggled a gun there back of one of the beds, underneath a floorboard. The infirmary was right next to the wall. A leap out of the window and in seconds he would be speeding away in a car driven by his old pal, Brent Lyons.

It had taken a lot of planning. Letters to a fictitious name, who was really Lyons, written in a code he and Frankie had figured out in the cell before Lyons had been let out. Black's voice interrupted his thoughts. "Hey, Frankie," Black said, looking up from his newspa-per. "See this?" He offered the paper to his cell-mate. "I said I'm busy," Frankie snapped. "Shut up, will you?"

"Okay, okay. You don't have to get sore, Frankie. I just thought

SHOP EARLY

Each year about this time merchants begin to advise us to "Buy early-and avoid the Christmas rush.' That is always good advice. And this year, it would seem, it is better than ever. For, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Christmas sales, auto sales excluded, will total more then seven per cent above those of the 1955 season, for a new all-time record. The dollar total for November and December is forecast at $31.1 billion. The Chamber also observed that the 1956 retail boom is healthier than last year's, reflecting a more normal expansion in population and personal income.

This season the millions of people who flock through America's retail stores, in search of either holiday gifts or the routine things we buy at all seasons, will be offered an almost bewildering assortment of wares from which to choose. They will see the best and most attractive standards of display, sanitation, advertising and promotions. They will, with few exceptions, be met by friendly, courteous and helpful sales people. They will-unless their wants are unusual indeed-find exactly what they are looking for. And they would do well to consider what has made all this abundance possible. The most important force in that has been the competitive, free enterprise system, in which no one has a monopoly on anything, and in which the rewards go to those who please the public most ,and who offer the best value for the dollar.

maybe you knew-

'You' think too much," Frankie said. "Leave me alone."

It was close to midnight when Frankie rolled in his bunk, crying out, "Help! Help! I'm dying!"

Henry Black jumped from his bunk and went to Frankie. "Hey, what's the matter with you?"

"Get me a doctor! I'm sick I tell you! Get a doctor!'

Seconds later they were carrying Frankie out of the cell, down the hall and into the infirmary. He struggled and held his waist. "I'm dying!" he shouted over and over. "I don't want to die!"

"He'll be okay now for awhile." one of the guards said. "The doc'll be here shortly."

Footsteps faded away. Quietly Frankie got out of bed and went to the place he had hidden the revolver. Quietly he returned to the bed. Presently a guard came over. "What were you doing just then, Miles?" he said. "What are you up to?"

Frankie smiled, then he leveled the revolver. "Don't move, mister," he commanded. "Just tu-n around."

The guard obeyed and Frankie brought the butt of the gun down on the man's head. He stepped over him and went to the window at the end of the room. It was small, hardly large enough for a man to crawl through, and it wasn't barred.

Frankie squeezed through it and dropped to the ground. He looked wildly about for the car. He ran down the road, then back again. He stopped, paralyzed, at the sound of a siren, then searchlights blinded him.

A voice, coming from far away, commanded: "All right, Miles! You haven't a chance! Drop that gun and put up your hands!"

It wasn't until the next morning that Frankie learned why Lyons hadn't shown up as planned. Cn the floor of the cell was the newspaper Black had been reading the night before. Frankie picked it up and was about to toss it onto the table. But his eye caught a familiar name. He squinted at the front page and read:

"Brent Lyons, a former inmate of S.ate Prison, found himself in the county jail today on a charge of car theft. Lyons was stopped for speeding today-'

The family night program was held at the Union Bridge Brethren Church with the girls and the leaders on the platform showing the guests how a regular meeting is conducted. Mary Sue Albaugh, president, was mistress of ceremonies. Marian Priest gave a demonstration on making deviled eggs, Lois Priest gave a demonstration on removing stains from material, Joan Kiser and Irene Ausherman gave a demonstration on making chocolate macaroons, The girls who had made macaroons, The girls who had made clothing during the year participated in the style show. Some of the girls work was on display. The leaders were given a red carnation corsage by the Club. The girls served cookies and punch for refreshments. Leaders and members appreciate the interest and help of the parents.

The Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Earle Wilhide and Mrs. Mamie Erb in Em-mitsburg on Thursday, Nov. 15. There were 16 members and 3 visitors present. The visitors were Mrs. George Eyster, of Emmitsburg; Mrs. Pryor and Mrs. Birely who came with Mrs. Luther Ressler and they are all from Blue Ridge Summit, Penna. Mrs. Mamie Erb, President, conducted the business meeting, it was learned that the Club would aid the Union Bridge 4-H Girls in the WTTR plan rather then take it up for itself. There will be a program on WTTR concerning this money making plan beginning Dec. 3 and going through Dec. 7 at 1:45. Mrs. Coshun asked for help with the Dairymen's dinner to be held at the Agricultural Center on Nov. 27. Mrs. Earle Wilhide, Mrs. Harold Thomas and Mrs. Clarence Jackson gave the demonstration on curtains and draperies. Mrs. Erb gave infor-mation on the coffee hour to be held at the Davis Library in Westminster on Nov. 27, the same day unfortu-nately, as the Dairymen's meeting at the Ag. Center. The Christmas meeting was changed to be held on Wednesday, Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Clabaugh in Detour. Everyone is asked to bring Christmas town on Wednesday evening.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving is the feast day of the year; Even, when a boy, I delighted, when it drew near; Then, I thought it was a day for eating and fun; But, there are other things which should be done.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated in 1623; For a single harvest, that was said to be; But, Lincoln suggested, in 1863, That, a National holiday, the event should be.

Thanksgiving is more than cessation from work; It is one duty man should never shirk; Each day we need strength to do God's commands; The Bible tells us, we are His hands.

It is a day when we all should relate How God has blest us, in every City and State: It is not braggadocio to let others know What God has done for us here below.

When we give thanks, God knows, we trust in Him So He never fails to grant each tiny whim; For He is with us every moment of the day, And always hears what we have to say.

Man's mind from God should never stray; For, He is with him, both night and day; He is his Life; and, tells him what to do, How to banish fear and have skies of blue.

If there is something you want, make a decree, Thank God for it, and the thing shall be; It is an ancient law that was never known to fail, For praise and thanksgiving always prevail,

To deal with Spiritual forces, drop from mind Wants, and limitations of every kind; For God's treasures are vast, never cease to flow When we praise and trust Him as we go.

Words of praise and thanksgiving never cease To bring to man prosperity and peace; Even the animals, it is said, respond to praise; And show affection in many ways.

God does not demand it, but it fills Him with cheer Words of praise and thanks from you to hear; For, in those who do so, He sees His face; And, that is the goal, of the whole human race.

God never fails to bless those who believe; Everything they ask for, they shall receive; Jesus always gave thanks before making a request; Because of that, He was always blest.

The thought of God's mightiness held in mind Makes you feel strong and more refined; You were made like Him, the Scriptures say, So, try to emulate Him in every way.

If you give thanks for abundance for every one God considers that a duty well done; So He opens the windows of the heavens, and blessings flows To all of His creatures here below.

Here is a statement which is hard to believe; We should thank Him for things we hope to receive; For, every dream, you wish to come true, Has been suggested by Him to you.

"It is God who declares to man what is his thoughts; Everything we receive through Him is brought; He told you to ask for it—don't you see? All you need is faith, and the thing shall be.

The prophets gave thanks because they knew He would make what they said came true; So it shall be with you and me; if we truly believe, The thing we ask for, we shall receive.

So it should be with me and with you, If there is somthing we feel too weak to do; Thank God in advance; and, He will show How the thing is done, and the right way to go.

We should not only give thanks for a special thing Which we are anxious for Him to bring; We should thank Him for everything we see; For, without Him, nothing on earth could be.

As I have just said in the verses before, What we need is Faith, and to doubt no more; Jesus always thanked God before doing a thing; Faith, He knew, the answer would bring.

All through the ages this law has been known; But those who were wise it was always shown; Giving thanks will help you to put through Things which you think you cannot do.

Our God is not the Austere Autocrat He is pictured to be; His only thought, it is said, is His great family; Since the very beginning, it has been part of His plan To make this earth a paradise for man.

The law of increase is an action of mind-Everything we praise increases, I find; God never withholds a helping hand; So, all His creations grow and expand.

POOR POP

"How beautiful your daughter looks in that white cashmere sweater," cooed the hostess. "Now take a look at the sweat-er who paid for it," replied her father.

THEN AND NOW

Then when the monthly bills came in I paid them as I went— Now when the monthly bills come in I can't seem to make a dent; They just keep right on growing And I just keep right on owing!

WEAK WEEKLY

We recently got word of the glib-tongued insurance agent who had just convinced a prospect to sign on the dotted line dotted line. 'Now that amounts to a premium of $6.90 per month on a straight life. That's what you wanted, wasn't it?" 'Well," came the wistful reply, "I woul dlike to fool around a little on Saturday nights..."

Saturday nights....

FRIEND IN NEED

Joe had died and his bachelor friend Al went to make his duty call on the?

Widow. "Your late husband and I were mighty close friends," he told her. "I wonder whether there is something I could take to remember him by?" She raised tear-filled eyes to his and whispered, "Would I do?"

Jesus had but 5 loaves and 2 fishes one day With which to feed 5000 people, the scriptures say; But, He fed them; and, all were satisfied, With the rations which God had supplied.

The widow's cruet of oil was empty, they also say; Elisha caused it to fill, and stay that way; It even overflowed, so she filled pots and pans Another proof of how praise expands.

Faith, like the mustard seed, as many know, Out of "little mole hills", will make mountains grow; So, if you would prosper, and live in peace, Give thanks to God, and your worries shall cease.

than cost to keep in mind. Hunter and Jackson point out that the value of other plant nutrients in some nitrogen fertilizers-such as sulphur in ammonium-should be recognized. But only if the plant nutrient is needed in the soil on which the fertilizer is to be applied. 4

Of course, there are other things sometimes the names the church has given them fit, and sometimes not. The parable of the "prodigal son" might be better named "The Two Prodigal Sons' or "The Forgiv-

ing Father. Two Ways of Wasting

There are two ways of being prodigal or wasteful. One is to use up and destroy what might have been saved. If you let good farm machinery sit around in the rain till it rusts, you are wasting equipment. If you use expensive butter for a job a little bacon grease will do just as well, you are wasting the butter. If you are a general and order a useless assault in which thousands of men needlessly lose thir lives, you are wasting human life. All these wasteful acts, great and small, are done in the same way, essentially by throwing away or spoiling what might have been saved and use. Another way of wasting is just not to use what is there to use, something which if you do not use now you will never have the chance to use again. An example of this is water power. The river flows on its way, developing so many horsepower with every mile; if these are not used today, tomorrow the horsepowertoday's horsepower-will be gone. You waste water power not by de-

The Younger Son

Now in Jesus' famous parable, the two sons were both wasters, but in opposite ways. Take the younger one: Give me . . . he said, and off he went. A young fortune was in his hands; but he threw it away, he was through with it, he was through, "period," in no time.

There was something else he wasted; his father's love and confidence. He virtually treated his father as if he were already dead. This younger son is, of course, the type of the reckless sinner who wastes his health, strength, character, perhaps money too, the sort of man who is called a "wastrel" or waster. The time, life, strength that such a man wastes cannot be brought back again. You could go down to Skid Row or to the nearest hospital for drug addicts and convert them every one; but you could never give them back the "years the locusts have eaten." God forgives such men, as the father in Jesus' story forgave the younger prodigal; but just as the father in that story could not recall from the four winds the wasted fortune and the wasted years, so not even God ever turns the clock or the calendar back

The Older Son

But that older boy-he too was a waster. Only he wasted in the other way, not by destroying but by not using. There seems to be something deeply sad in the father's simple saying: "Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours." This was true-and yet the son had made it untrue. "You are always with me"-so near, and yet so far away. None of the father's spirit had penetrated the boy's mind. He was physically at home yet spiritually a stranger. He too, in a different way, had lived like an orphan. Every day there was open to him a father's heart, a father's sympathy, a father's wealth; but he never took it. If for the younger boy there was wasteby-destruction, for the older there was waste-by-neglect. Did the father forgive this son too? The story does not say. The impression most people get is perhaps what Jesus intended to suggest: The father was ready to forgive each son; but the younger son was forgiven, because he had "come to himself," he had confessed his wrong. The older son was not (so far as the story takes us) forgiven, because he did not seem to be conscious of having done anything wrong. Of course he was the type of the Pharisees; but the Pharisees are not dead. In the church and out there are correct, respectable citizens who know nothing of God's love for their lost brothers, and so have never known the God they officially call "Father." God will forgive such a man too; but perhaps he seldom does, for such a man seldom thinks he needs it. ### Keep Safety Shields On Farm Machinery

There is no adequate excuse for not keeping safety shields in place on machinery, says farm specialists, since the best shield made gives no protection if it isn't used.

Records show that unguarded power take-off shafts cause hundreds of accidents each year. If clothing merely touches a revolving shaft or coupling, it may catch. causing the operator to be mangled instantly. In spite of repeated warnings, many farmers still fail to keep shields in place. Too often, safety shields that might have saved a life, wind up in the machine shed or in the fence corner. Manufacturers have recently been equipping power-driven im plements with nonremovable power take-off shields that help to protect the operators from their own carelessness. For most equipment, however, removable shields are still the principal means of protection.

Farmers who do not have standard power take-off hitches or shields should consult their local implement dealers. Hitches and adapter packages for power-driven implements may be obtained from dealers representing the manufacturer of the machine.

You can speed up the task of mixing large quantities of chemicals (in powder or crystal form) by using a plumber's plunger to "churn" the mixture in a barrel. Cut a row of holes around the lower part. When "churning move plunger up and down, thus increasing circulation of water with the chemicals, dissolving them quickly.

Newest Buick Yet

W/E'VE introduced a lot of new Buicks to the local scene-but never before one as new as this.

Inside and outside, top to toe, end to end-this is the newest Buick yet.

And it's not just new for newness itself-but new in ways that make driving more comfortable, safer and more fun.

You'll see what we mean when you study these gorgeous new Buicks close up.

They're inches lower and stunningly styled from stem to stern - yet each is wondrously roomy inside.

They bring a wide-eyed new visibility of the road ahead with a rakish windshield that adds hundreds more square inches of glass area.

They're new in ride, with a new contour frame chassis that "nests" your going-giving new roadability with a lower center of gravityyet road clearance is unchanged.

They're new in handling with a new Buickdeveloped ball-joint suspension that makes steering and cornering easier while it levelizes braking.

But above and beyond all else-these 1957 Buicks are brand new in performance:

-with a V8 engine that's new from the crankshaft up, to give you the highest power and compression in all Buick annals.

-with an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* that brings you such instant response, such smoothness, such a full range of fluid motion in "Drive" that the need for "Low" is all but eliminated.

All this covers only the big advances in the 1957 Buick.

There are other wonderful new things-the new safety instrument panel-the new colormate interiors - the new counterbalanced brake pedals-well over a hundred and fifty new features in all.

As your Buick dealer, we're ready to show you these newest Buicks yet-and how easy you'll find it to call one your own. Stop in and see us this week.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century-optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
