EXPLORER SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Arranger of the most recent Explorer outing, although with some slight snafu, was Crew Leader, George Abrecht, who, together with Jackie Bowers, Deputy Senior and Crew leaders Robert Fitz and Philip Garrett, Larry Hively, and Larry Martin, were at Natural Dam over the past week-end. A productive Green-Bar leaders' council was held Sunday afternoon, with Advisor Robert L. Bowers in charge, and the circle was increased by Grant Harman, Secre-tary, Carroll Hively, Senior crew leader Harold Slaybaugh, and Acting assistant adviser, Wilbur O. Thomas. Fred Sharman was discated to assistant adviser, Wilbur O. Thomas. Fred Sherman was directed to carry out last Monday his theme'of "Handling oneself in the Woods" carried over from the previous week because of attendance conflicts. Ad-viser Bowers came through with a fine variation of the favorite Crows and Cranes which produced more of a rough-and-tumble atmosphere, right down everyone's alley apparently, for both theme and game went over well. The meeting of December 3 will be cancelled, and it was decided to have a swimming evening in the Frederick "Y" for December 10. The next meeting will see Bowers present the theme, Secretary Hively the game. Dues will henceforth be paid monthly to lighten the record load, and occa-sionally all will abid in to how come to lighten the record load, and occa-sionally all will chip in to have some refreshments right at the hall. Avoid-able absence for three successive meetings will be cause for being dropped from the roll. Repairs at the meeting room were to be undertaken Monday; there is an unfinished pro-tion the program to be ject as regards the pingpong table, and some benches still need attention. Fritz had resurrected a lively

CHRISTMAS MAILING

Postmaster Burke Urges Early Mailing

"It's time to start those Christmas mailings." On the calendar its a month away, but here in the Post Office its Christmas today—and every day until December 25th. The Post Office has already sent a large quantity of gift packages head-ed for members of the Armed Forces overseas. Christmas cards for ser overseas. Christmas cards for ser-vice personnel overseas, can still be delivered in time if they are sent by air mail before December 1st. Here in the United States smart people are now mailing gifts to friends and relatives living in distant states. Housewives or "The lady of the house" is really in charge of each family's Christmas mailing program. She selects the Christmas Cards, buys most of the gifts and sees to it that the mailing list of friends and loved ones is up-to-date. "Actually, success in having all

Christmas gifts and greeting cards delivered on time is largely a matter of advance planning and preparation which should be done this week. Get out vour Christmas card list and carefully check through it. Make sure that each address includes the full name, street and house number, city, zone and state. Then, pay a visit to the Post Office, stock up on stamps, and ask any questions you may have about mailing regulations. Then on your way home, visit your local stores and pick up a supply of heavy wrap-ping paper, sturdy empty cartoons, and strong cord or twine. A modest investment in these nec-essities will pay big dividends in safe delivery of your cherished Christmas gifts

After your gift wrapping and packing is complete, plan your mailings so that those for the most distant points biat those for the most distant points go first. Try to get all long-distance mailings into the Post Office before December 5th and those for nearby points should be mailed by December 10th. SUEZ CRISIS IS SETTING OFF ECONOMIC CHAIN REACTION

A tremendous number of consequences, far greater than most American realize, have been set in motion by the Suez Canal and Middle East situations.

The war scare already has upset a good many economies, especially in Europe.

In one little town outside Paris tion? two weeks ago in three days there were no sugar, rice, and some other staple commodities upon which people rely. The price of tea and jute have jumped 20 and 30 per cent in some European countries.

One Parisian woman walked into a store and bought 700 cakes of soap, remembering that in World War II it could not be obtained.

Gasoline rationing has started in England, France, Switzerland and Sweden, and other countries undoubtedly will follow suit.

The Canal is blocked by at least 32 ships, and nobody knows quite how long it will take to clean out the wreckage. It has been figured hat the job will take up to three months and probably more, assuming no more damage is done and the work can begin promptly.

That means that Europe will go through the winter without getting its usual three-quarters supply of oil through the Canal. Here we see the origin of the consequences mentioned above.

The price of coal has jumped. Our exports of coal will rise. In turn, we will build more tankers honestly fearful-and advocate the and other shipping facilities. That will United States drop out. Ostrich-like from our sight that life has tumbled in, a strange new directive puts a taboo on the Creator's petaled masterpieces which can say nameless things that no human lips can utter.

"Whence comes this incongruous suggestion? Omit flowers - in the Valley of the Shadow, when every yearning impulse is struggling vainly to express feelings that are too deep for words!"

Dr. Harris seems to suggest, and rightly, that when those in charge of ! obsequies ask us to "Please Omit Flowers" they are exceeding their The meeting was then adjourned. moral authority. They are presuming on our private grief in undertaking to circumscribe our expression of our innermost feelings.

"Then it is," writes Dr. Har-'s 'that flowers offer wings to affection, appreciation and consolation, to wistful memories and assurances of sympathy."

And no one has the right to deny us our sentiments - or the ageless symbols with which to speak when our tongues can not.

-U. S. Press Association SENATOR BORAH WAS WRONG

In an earlier era, it seems clear, the advocates of the federal income tax had no conception of the extent to which it would grow--and the tremendous portion it would take from the earnings of the people.

In defending this tax, the late Senator Borah once said: "The great and honored lawyer, Joseph Choate, denounced such a tax as socialistic. He said that if you can levy a tax of two per cent, you may lay a tax of fifty per cent or a hundred per cent.

"Who will lay the tax of fifty per cent or a hundred per cent?

"Whose equity, sense of fairness, of justice, of patriotism, does he ques-

"Why the representatives of the American people-not only that, but the intelligence, the fairness, the justice of the people themselves, to whom their representatives are always answerable."

Senator Borah was a famous and able man, but in this case he could hardly have been more wrong. An income tax of 50 per cent now applies at levels which are far from great wealth. And in the top bracket the tax is 91 per cent-only nine per cent short of the total expropriation that Joseph Choate feared.

Moreover, even in relatively modest brackets; the tax collector hits very hard. Taxes, direct and indirect, account for one-third of a $7,500 annual income. And a man earning $85 a week works more hours to pay his taxes than to pay for his food and clothing combined .-- Industrial News Review.

put pressure on steel, particularly a they think that by not facing the facts type of steel plate that already is scarce.

Furthermore, the war scare is likely to step up-and in some cases, has Higher U. S. spending for defense is expected, too.

So the pressure on metals is likely to be great for months and perhaps years, unless peace really becomes evident and an enduring solution is worked out for the Middle East.

Resurrected is the old problem of the so-called dollar gap. The English and French and others of our allies are going to need money to buy American petroleum.

It seems more than likely they will get dollar loans.

Oil and gas rationing probably won't be necessary in this country, but some price increases can be expected.

And so the Middle East affair has unleashed a chain reaction. certain to be felt here in the tangible ways just described.

Should the outlook for peace brighten, however, the western nations can resume what appeared only a few short months ago to be a steady and heartening economic growth .--U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

ERROR OF OMISSION

The nation is indebted to the Rev. Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, Chaplain of the US Senate, for his inspiritional influence over the upper house of our Government and the profound impression his selfless devotion to his country and to Christian principles has made on the individual members of that body.

But Dr. Harris shares his gift for perceptive expression with a far wider audience through his syndicated newspaper column, "Spires of the Spirit". Just the other day, in writing for all of us, he said:

" 'Please Omit Flowers' is a request often issued when arrangements are announced for what is usually called a funeral service.

"In life's darkest hours, when hearts are torn by poignant grief, when it seems as a dear one goes of this changing world that this nation could exist alone."

WADESBORO, N. C., MESSENG-ER AND INTELLIGENCER: "Poststepped up-military programs of masters, we have noticed menmany countries, large and small. tioned in the newspapers, have become fretted by the number of ballpoint pens stolen from postoffice lobbies since the government furnished that kind of writing instrument. As we recall to, the pens cost our dear Uncle Sam about 14 cents a piece. That is rather picayunish loot for a fellow to risk, maybe, paying a $500 fine and also being jailed for a year just to get something to scribble with."

> CLARKSDALE, MISS., PRESS REGISTER: "President Eisenhower has said at least twice in his news conference that he could see no reason why information on the travels of senators and congressmen at government expense should not be made public. This is the first break in the wall of secrecy that surrounds such expenditures in many government departments and agencies, not to mention Congress itself." PENSACOLA, FLA., STANDARD: 'The freedom of the individual to explore the thinking and conclusions of the human race, and to weigh them in the scales of new intelligence, is the spark-plug of human progress."

MARSHFIELD, MD., MAIL: "Hundreds of thousands ~" working people find that they MUST join and pay' dues to a union if they are to work at the jobs they want. In no other area of American life today is a basic freedom so obviously and cynically violated. In almost every other instance, freedom of choice is not only permitted but it is zealously guarded. Why is not for working people?"

BOONE, IOWA, NEWS-REPUB-LICAN: "In Nurenburg, Germany, they have made a sausage 2,000 feet long and filled with the meat of three bulls, five calves and five pigs. Even in this country in an election year that would be a lot of baloney."

Each man should have a code by which to live; every man should make certain his code is one by which he lets his fellowman "live", too.

Giving is living.

The persons who appreciated The persons who appreciated the Thanksgiving holiday more than any-one were the school children who had four days of freedom from books and on Friday Our teenager made the most of the time by eating, sleeping and having fun until Sunday when out of nowheres she developed a virus which put her in bed, for twenty-four hours. Among the college students home for the holiday were: Alice Booher, Richard Wilhide, Earnest Colwell, Rose Marie Grabill, Gretchen Reese, Eleanor Baker, David Houck. Glenn Yingling, Neil Bohn, Ann Crumpack-er and Janet Myerly. It is always surprising to learn how being away from home chapters once proceeding. from home changes one's personality Only a few months makes quite a dif ference. College life seems to ma-ture and develop personality traits in girls and boys more rapidly than any other environment. This is one of the reasons why college is so imbeen too much under the domination of their parents. The freedom of campus life allows them to grow as individuals.

Mrs. Russell Bohn spent several days in Towson with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Myers and children. For men only: "For a woman, it takes very little to make life wonderful: . . . a package of flower seeds . . . earrings from the dime store . . . cloth for a gay apron a simple book of poems, but mainly a few words of praise by the man she mar-ried will make her a happy woman. A farmer recently became disturbed about the way his chickens were behaving and finally asked the county agent: 'What's the matter with my hens? Every morning when I go to feed them I find some of them have keeled over. And thev never get up." The county agent replied: "They're dead.

The annual supper at the Mt. Union parish house proved an outstanding success last Saturday with four hun-dred persons buying their suppers. On Dec. 8 the women's Missionary Society will have a food stand at the Mil-lard Roelke sale near Uniontown.

We received a letter from a friend in England who last summer toured the U. S. She wrote about her impressions of our country and people and it is always interesting to learn what strangers really think about Americans. FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

This hunting season not only has brought friction between hunters and landowners but it has brought tragedy becoming alarmed at the carelessness becoming alarmed at the carelessness and impudence of hunters. In fact the hunters this fall have violated all the rules of good manners and most of the state game laws. It is against the law to shoot a hen pheasant but some men become far-sighted at the glimpse of any kind of bird. This naturally makes the landowners angry as some farmers never do any kind hunting but make a special effort to protect wild-life. The hunters act like a hunting license gives them the privilege of tearing down fences, scarng farm animals, shooting at anything they see including the landown er himself, and hunting so close to farm buildings that one has to stay indoors for fear of being killed. Postg one's land against hunting does little good. A sign reading "No Trespassing" seems to add zest to the hunter. Some men with a gun in their hands act like some men with too much fire water under their chins Too often hunters have both gun and fire water which is certainly a fine combination. Pity the poor rabbits and the landowners when such a hunter appears on the horizon. About the only solution to the problem is to introduce into the Maryland legislature a new law to outlaw hunting on Noise proves nothing. Often a hen who has merely laid an egg cackles as if she had produced a new moon. -Ruth Roelke.

IN MEMORIAM

BAKER—In loving memory of our husband and father, CHARLES A. BAKER, who passed away November 27, 1952.

"Gone but not forgotten". Four years have passed dear husband, Since God took you away, And in those years of sorrow, I've missed you more each day.

At the time when life was sweeter, And he could have lived his best, The gate of Heaven opened, And he entered into eternal rest.

Sometimes it is hard to understand, Why some things have to be But in His wisdom God has planned, Beyond our power to see.

Father, your children all shall keep, Your blessed memory as vou sleep, And when eternal dav shall break, boro, recently. Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith the past week-By his loving WIFE and CHILDREN. NOVEMBER 29, 1956

ARE YOU SATISFIED

Recently a man told me he was satisfied with his Fire Insurance. After talking awhile he decided to do a little checking. When he found he could have Full Windstorm and Hail coverage, instead of $50.00 Deductable on each building, found that he could have Non-As-sessable protection, and to top it all off, could save $65.00 a year on his farm insurance, then he was not satisfied with what he had.

Farmers did their work with horses, milked by hand, cut and husked their corn, etc., they were satisfied then; but how many would give up their tractors, milking machines, corn picker, combines, etc.

Anything is alright, until you learn there is something better. I'll bet you, that if you actually take time to go over the facts and figures with me, you'll find better insurance.

Heart at Peace

Background Scripture: John 14. Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthia 7-15

R. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

E VERYBODY wants what Jesus. Christ has to offer . . . At least, they think they want something by the same name, but they do not always know how to get it. Let a book come out with "Peace" in the title and it may easily become a best seller. Between a heart and mind at rest and a heart torn in two, restless. dissatisfied, in perpetual turmoil,-who would not choose the heart at peace? But the word

Jesus used when Dr. Foreman he said to those anxious friends. "Let not your heart be troubled." -at least the word the Greek writer used in reporting Jesuswas much the same as a word the Stoics used, only what Jesus meant was something quite different.

No Arctic Calm

The Stoics had a word "ataraxia" and in it they thought they had the key to happiness .- Or if not that, at least the key that would lock the door against unhappiness. What they meant by it was indifference, just not caring. Of course there is truth in that notion. It is only the sympathetic who can be bothered with other people's troubles. One way to insure yourself against sorrow in this world is simply never to allow yourself to love any one. One way not to worry about tomorrow is not to care what happens or whether anything happens. But this is not the kind of peace of heart which Jesus himself had, or wants his friends to have. The Arctic Ocean is perfectly calm; it is locked in everlasting ice. But the icy heart is not the Christian heart. A swamp is peaceful too; no waves break on its shores. And a human heart can be a swamp as well as an icy lake. But this again is not the heart at pance of which Christ

Does Faith Bring Peace? So the heart at peace is not the cold, indifferent heart; it is not the sluggish dull self-centered heart. It is the peace of the flowing river, the peace of the great electric generator which though motionless itself, sends out power to city and countryside. But how to have this? Let not your heart be troubled, Jesus said: Believe . . We hear a great deal about the power of faith. The pathway of faith is the faith bring peace? It is easy to misunderstand this. Faith can bring a false and fatal peace, not the real thing. A hunter in the north woods can put faith in his compass, and not worry about being lost. But if his compass is wrong he may lose his life. A patient can trust a surgeon; but if the surgeon is incompetent, the patient's trust is fatal. Jesus himself used the expression, "Your faith has saved you." But faith will not save you if it is faith in the wrong thing or the wrong person. Somewhere in the United States there stood a fine bridge for many years, -at least it was perfectly built, out from one side of the river; but the other side had never been built. Faith that does not rest on something or some one worth believing in, is like that bridge; it's worse than no bridge at all, because in the dusk it may tempt people out to their deaths.

"Not What, But Whom"

"Believe," said Jesus. But there are some important words after that. Just believing is not enough. Moreover, believing something is still not what Jesus meant. Some people think that the way to a peaceful heart is to believe a cate-· chism, a set of doctrines. That is not the main thing. "Believe in God," is the word. He who created all things, he in whom all things exist, holds me in his hand too. The Infinite God has room in his heart for me. Turning to him in faith is the highway to peace.-But why does Jesus say, "Believe also in me"? Is not belief in God enough? Or the other way around: Is it not enough to believe in Christ? The Christian experience of faith never can separate Christ and the heavenly Father. The best way to express it would be to say we believe in God in Christ. To believe in God as if Christ had never lived, is to believe in the dark and terrible Mystery, the awesome Avenger, whom the Gentiles feared. To believe in Christ as if God could be ignored, is to believe in Man, man at his best but still man. The way to peace is the way of faith in the God whose glory we see in the human face of Jesus of Nazareth.
