MORE ABOUT TEACHERS' SALARIES

Professional Conference to be Held in Westminster January 25

The Board of Education of Carroll County at its recent meeting was, of course, confronted with the probelm of teachers' salaries which is of state-wide as well as local interest. The wide as well as local interest. The teachers' salary scale prevailing in Carroll County during the current school year has been a basic salary of $3200 for a beginning teacher holding a Bachelor's Degree and increasing by a series of 17 steps to a maximum of $5000 after 17 years of experience. It has also been possible to pay to teachers holding a Master's Degree $100 in excess of their current salary experience step.

Many counties of the state offer more attractive salaries than Carroll, and this has resulted in a considerable number of cases of teachers removing to other systems in Maryland in order to take advantage of increased salary. Efforts are in progress by the Board of Education and the school authorities to bring about an increase in teachers' salaries locally and to secure support in the Maryland Legislature for increased state minimum salaries as proposed by the State Board of Education. A study has re-cently been made regarding the salar-ies now being paid to the county teaching staff, and the distribution of salaries being paid in 1956-1957 is shown in the following tables: $2200—2 teachers $3900—15 teachers 4000—18 4100—18 2300 - 32500 - 12600-1 4300-3 4400- 8 3100-6 4500-10 3200-41 4600-11 4700-6 3400-20 4800-37 3500-2 4900- 6 3700-0 5100-22 ,, 3800-16 Friends of education will, it seems, have little difficulty in understanging the major problem confronting the county in seeking to recruit new personnel to the teaching profession when beginning salaries of $3600 prevaling in surrounding counties. The figures submitted show that 174 teachers out of a total of 364 surveyed earn $4000 or less and that 102, or 29 per cent, earn less than $3600.

It is hoped that parents, citizens, and friends of education will their support to secure passage of desirable teachers' salary legislation in the Maryland Legislature and to secure local cooperation in meeting competitive salary scales so as to permit a recruitment and retention of competent personnel in the Carroll County Schools.

The Board of Education of Carroll County announces that the county schools will be closed on Friday, Jan. 25,to permit all teachers to attend a professional conference in Westminster High School. meeting has been held for about 10 years during January for the purpose

ATTEND TRAINING SESSION

On Wednesday evening Mr. Murray Baumgardner and Rev. Morgan An-dreas attended a training session for those of the Western Maryland area of Potomac Synod who will partici-nate in the Every Congression Visi pate in the Every Congregation Visitation program during the month of February. The purpose of this pro-gram is to present the Advance which is a program promoted by the de-nomination and includes the phases of outreach in membership and missions, commitment of the people to the cause of Christ, and participation service and witness.

Mr. Baumgardner will visit Apple Church at Rocky Ridge, Trinity Church, at Thurmont, and St. Paul's Church, at Westminster. Rev. Andreas will visit Jacob Church near Fairfield, St. John Church, Sabillas-ville, St. Stephen Church, Highfield, and Emmanuel Church, at Tyrone. The visitation team will visit the Keysville and Taneytown congrega-tions on February 17 and 18, respectively. All church leaders in any and all capacitities and any other interested members of the congregation are strongly urged to attend these meetings.

CHILDREN'S MEETING AT NEW TIME

The Taneytown "Good News" (Bible) Club is now being held every Saturday afternoon at two different locations. There are 2 classes held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nusbaum, 464 E. Baltimore St., each Saturday afternoon from 1:00 to 2:00 o. m., and 2 classes held from 2:30 to p. m. in the hall above The Carroll Record office. These classes are for all children from 4 years of age through 13. The children from age 4 through the 2nd grade are taught by Miss Marion Hymiller and the children from the 3rd grade up are taught by Mrs. Kenneth Nusbaum.

Bible stories visualized on the flannelgraph board, group singing, Bible memory work and Bible games make up the hour's program. This meeting is not proposed to draw any children away from their churches but rather to be a supplement to Sunday School

The teachers cordially invite all children in the Taneytown area to come to the Good News Club regular ly. There are now approximately 50 children attending the 2 different groups. Parents are invited to come in and observe if they so desire, and to urge their children to come.

FARMERS TO MEET IN ANNUAL MID-WINTER SEASON

The annual Carroll County Mid-Winter meeting for all farmers will be held on Tuesdav and Wednesday, January 22nd and 23rd.

County Agent Burns announces that the meetings this year are designed to interest all farmers. A variety of subjects will be discussed by specialists and farmers in the County.

The meetings will be held at the Agricultural Center and will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and adjourn just as promptly at 3 p. m.

The time is here now when all farmers should take stock and look sharp to the future with the thought in mind of cutting the cost of production to a minimum.

Farmers should mark their calendar now and arrange to attend these annual meetings. More complete announcements will follow.

SEN. FLANAGAN

His Interest in Carroll : County is Manifested

To serve the people as their representative is an important and honorable position. It is serious business able position. It is serious business to spend public money. We shall do our best to preserve the traditions of a free and God-fearing people. Carroll County is one of the fast growing areas in the country. We must prepare ourselves for an adjustment from rural to suburban living. The law maker must face the future with a determination to meet new situaa determination to meet new situations. In fact he must anticipate novel and complicated conditions before they arise. He can follow the patterns set by communities that have already experienced rapid expansion.

The duties of the legislator are many, but they easily divide themselves into two classes first, responsibility to the people of the county and, secondly, obligation to the State as a whole. I am cheered and encouraged whole. I am cheered and encouraged by the fact that our four members of the House are all veterans in the legislature. Mr. Ray Barnes has probably served longer than any other member in the history of the State while Joseph Hahn, Jr., Donald Six and Carroll Smith have served with distinction for several terms. It will be a privilege for me to constantly be a privilege for me to constantly consult with them.

The citizens of Carroll County should always feel free to give us the benefit of their experience, advise and counsel. We are ever mindful of the fact that we are merely servants in your legislature. Let us assure you that we are at all times aware of the fact that it is your money that provides the public services for your comfort and welfare.

We are required to be at Annapolis during the week days where you are always welcome to see up and we are always welcome to see up and always always always welcome to see us and we are available at our homes and offices Monday and Saturday mornings during the session. Fortunately our county is in an enviable position financially and otherwise, and except for a few enabling acts that may be needed to expedite the work of the County Commissioners there should be no need for much local legislation. However, if any individual or organization feels there is need for legislation on a local or statewide basis it is their duty to inform

We are living in a complicated society to-day. The cost of public services has grown in alarming proportions. We feel it is our duty and moral obligation to procede cautiously and conservatively consistant with good government. It will be a pleasure for us to keep you informed of the proceedings of the legislature in this newspaper from time to time. Several bills are being prepared for introduction this week. We these as well as certain state-wide. ones that will personally effect you in the next issue.

Suffice to say, at this time the Board of Education has gone on record favoring higher salaries for teachers and the County Commissioners have requested that the so-called tobacco tax for Carroll County be reduced. To provide adequate housing for our school children the borrowing power of the county should be increas-The Hospital committee has asked that the two hundred thousand dollars be provided over a four year period to match private subscriptions. We do not favor any extention of the sale of alcoholic beverages in Carroll County.

FATHER & SON BANQUET HELD

The annual Father & Son Banquet of the Men's Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church was held on Tuesday evening of this week with a large turn out considering the very bad weather. Over 100 fathers with their sons and guests were present. The Ladies Mite Society of the church served the meal consisting of roast turkey with all the trimmings. They are to be commended for the way in which it was pre-pared and the fine service rendered.

The toastmaster for the occasion was George Naylor. Invocation by Reverend Andreas of the Reformed Church, Group Singing in charge of James Fair at the piano and Henry Reindollar leading. LICENSE PLATE BONUS

Motorists in five states get a special bonus when they receive their license plates. People who live in Delaware, Maine, Louisiana, Minnesota and South Dakota receive reflective license plates, which are widely recognized as one of the most important safety devices to be developed during the past decade.

The plates, most of which can be seen from 2,000 feet away at night, were first issued by Maine in 1949. Since then, their value has been recognized in other states and their use has grown. Safety experts call them a practical way to reduce accidents atter dark, which is when almost twothirds of all accidents occur.

One of the important features of reflective plates, experts say, is that they are probably the only safety advance that could be put on all automobiles-old and new ones alikewithin a relatively short time. Within a few months after individual state legislatures approve reflectorization of its state's plates, they can be made in their own correctional institutions and issued. Once these plates are on, cars equipped with them are much safer at night. Unlike lights, these plates are not hampered by mechanical failures or adjustments. They are made of a light-reflecting sheeting applied on a metal base.

These plates cost motorists only 25 to 50 cents a year. Some states have even made reflective plates cheaper than the non-reflective kind, according to a recent report in Public Safety magazine, the National Safety Council publication.

Geraldine Tweet, South Dakota's secretary of state, said recently, after extensive tests by South Dakota law enforcement officials, "The reflective license plate exceeded expectations in all cases. The conclusion of the viewers was unanimous—that reflective plates would add immeasurable safety to the highway by making vehicles visible at greater distances, thus providing greater reaction and braking time to approaching motor-

100-MPH Winds Can't Damage Good Construction

Ordinary frame or masonry farm buildings can be constructed to withstand storm winds of hurricane velocities of more than 100 miles per hour, accord-ing to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

High winds would do much less damage if it weren't for weaknesses caused by poor con-struction. Key structural points proper application is the main

Farm buildings and other structures will resist winds of hurricane velocities if special attention is given to construc-tion at these key points: (1) foundation, (2) joist connections at sidewalls, (3) connection of flooring to end wall, (4) rafter and plate connections, (5) ridge connections, and (6) roofing application.

cause of roofing damage. Asphalt shingles will resist extreme storm winds when properly applied. There are a number of cases on record where hurricanes or tornados have lifted entire roof structures off buildings without disturbing the shingles.

For application on farm buildings in windy areas, asphalt shingle manufacturers usually recommend fastening down square-butt shingles tabs with quick-setting asphalt cement. Also recommended are interlocking shingles, which are especially made for high wind-

All of those persons who have moved from their native communities have felt, I am sure, the magic tie to that communitay when its name is heard. Just now I was all ears when I heard a lady who lived in Long Green Valley and has a confectionary shop in the neighboring town of Glen Arm on the TV program "Strike It Rich." I agreed with Warren Hull when he said "My, what pretty names you have down there".

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilhide, Emmitsburg were recent callers at the home of Earle's cousin, Carroll Wilhide and family.

A sewing machine instruction class was held at the home of Mrs. Carroll Wilhide on Saturday. The 4-H mem-Wilhide on Saturday. The 4-H members who attended are Jane Wilhide, Audrey Wilhide, Marian Priest and Joyce Myerly and Eileen Kiser. On Saturday the 19th a 4-H sewing class is to be held at the home of Mrs. Roger Roop, Mt. Union. The meeting is to begin at 10 o'clock. Each person is to bring her lunch. The girls are to bring patterns in order to start work on patterns in order to start work on their sewing project. The regular monthly meeting of the Union Bridge 4-H Club will be held at the home of Irene Ausherman near the Forest and Stream Club on January 21st.

Robert Frock was a visitor with Myron Wilhide on Sunday. Robert's family, the Ross Frocks, recently moved near New Windsor from the house on the Delaplane farm near Robert's brother Gene, Detour. Mrs. Carroll Cover tells me that her son, Carroll and his family, arrived sately in Norfolk, Va., after spending the holidays here. Mrs. Cover, Carrol and his tamily joined her daughter Mrs. Monroe Phoutz and family at Christmas day dinner at the Pnoutz home. Mrs. Cover's other daughter, Mrs. Herman Koutz and family live in Rochester, N. Y. The Koutz family moved to another home, 95 Roxborough Rd., Rochester 19, N. Y., in December.

Mrs. George Rogers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman near Detour, flew to Dorchester, Mass on the night of January 11. Mrs. Rogers is spending some time there with Mr. Rogers's sister who recently became the proud mother of a daughter. Janet Myerly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Myerly, near Detour, is doing very well in her nurses training in Hagerstown—she excels in her chemistry class. Janet gets home every week.

The engagements of three girls from this section have recently been announced—they are Miss Betty Young who expects to become Mrs. Hood; Miss Carrie Ruth Clabaugh who expects to become Mrs. Boone; Miss Arelene Ahn who expects to become Mrs. Miller.

The Lay Visiting Committee, headed by C. E. Priest, of the Keysville Evangelistic Mission, Feb. 24th thru March 1st, met on January 10th. All seems to be working well, enthusiasm is mounting—we expect to fill Keysville church every night of the services. The next Lay Visiting Committee meeting will be held on Thursday, Feb. 7th. The Missioner, Rev. James K. Hilton, of Central Bridge, N. Y., endeavoyed himself to this endeavored himself to this congregation when he came here for a year to help in the services as part of his training. We are looking forward to his messages. Rev. (A Voice from Carroll) There were two unwritten laws that I learned early in life which made such an impression upon me that they helped to shape my way of thinking for as long as I shall live. They were "A Captian goes down with his ship" and "Rats leave a sinking ship." I do not know whether anyone today bothers to think about these two laws of the Navy or if they do pass them off as too old-fashioned for 1957. But it is time to think about them again and especially in our relationship with the refugee problem. The newspapers and T.V. have become quite emotional over the Hungarian revolution although the average peron seems to be keeping his emotions well in hand. It seems to me that our government is taking a very unhealth attitude toward countries that are trying to throw off tyranny and oppression. To encourage people to try for freedom is wonderful but to encourage people to leave their country when the going gets rough doesn't live up to very high standards of conduct. We deplore hit and run drivers as low grade cowards. The same holds true of hit and run revolutionists. It is one thing to start a fight and another thing to see it through. Our own country was born of a revolution and there were many times when George Washington and his followers could only see defeat ahead but at no time did they look for a safe passage to a European country. When the South was de-feated in the Civil war its leaders and citizens did not leave, but stayed to help salvage what was left. The type of person who leaves his own country when the chips are down doesn't have the stuff of which he could become a grade A citizen of a new country. Furthermore our government is not setting a too high standard for our own young citizens. It is encourage ing them to run away from trouble of their own making which violates the first principle of being an honest person. One cannot escape from his own conscience no matter how far he We should always encourage people to try for freedom and liberty but we should define these two words more clearly. Neither one is found at the expense of someone else. As Robert Frost so ably said it in a recent interview: "Liberty and free-dom can be found anywhere as long as one is true to himself. Even behind prison walls one can be free." Gandhi was never so influential and inspiring to his people as when he sat behind prison doors. Can one imagine Gand-ni seeking a safe haven outside India? He could have lived in luxury anywhere in the world but what would have happened to his country and his people? And what would have hap pened to Gandhi himself? Just as captain prefers to go down with his ship that he is responsible for so should every citizen of any country feel that same responsibility toward the land of his birth. If he doesn't possess this loyallty to his own coun-try and people, he will never have it

For the first time this winter snow closed the schools in Maryland. And its the kind of snow that makes good sliding and skiing. If we had a horse and sleigh we would be out this morning for it is an ideal time for uch a venture. The wind is calm,

the air crisp and the sun out. The last time we took a sleigh-ride was about 22 years ago. If our friends on the Eastern Shore read this I wonder if they will recall the afternoon we upset in a snow bank on Hape's mill road. It was lots of fun but that was the last time we ever tried to drive a horse on a country road with snow drifted at some places four feet deep.

Some time in the future a drive will get underway here in Carroll for pub

ic subscriptions toward the hospital which the committee hopes will be constructed by 1960. The goal will probably be one million dollars with the county paying one-third, federal aid one-third and the citizens the other third. A 50 bed hospital is planned as a beginning which should meet the needs of the community at the present rate of expension. There the present rate of expansion. There is no reason why our county cannot support such a hospital and it will play a major role in securing young doctors to settle in our county. For the day of practicing medicine out of a little black bag is over. The new methods of treating and diagnosing sickness requires expensive equipment which a doctor starting a practice cannot afford to place in an of-fice of his own. He needs to be close to a hospital to make use of its lab oratories and technicians to meet the needs of his patients. But if the community and the taxpayer puts at the disposal of the doctors a million dol-lar hospital they should not accept this as something due them without one thought that they have a sacred trust to the public. They will have an obligation to the people of Carroll county to never turn away a patient who needs medical or supplied attentions. who needs medical or surgical attention even if they cannot pay the doctor's fee. They will be obligated to givet 24 hours service; they will be obligated to prove the control of the con ligated to practice their profession with the highest traditional of medicine, to practice it with skill and with a conscience. They should remember that they deal in life and death which is not a commodity to exploit in any way. They should remember that a hospital is no place to practice pro-fessional politics. There is room in this county for many doctors and they should be welcomed, not obstructed. The public is beginning to wonder if many doctors aren't more interested in making money than in making sick people well. These are some of the things that the doctors in this county will have to think about while the hospital is being built for they can be sure that the people who will contribute toward the hospital will be thinking along these lines too. WOMAN'S GUILD OF BAUST CHURCH HOLDS INSTALLATION SERVICES

The Installation Service for the Woman's Guild of Emmanuel (Baust) Evangelical and Reformed Church was held Sunday, Jan. 6th at 10:30 a. m. The theme was "Lighted to Lighten". Church colors of historic origin were personified and given modern inter-pretation by the characters Need, who wore black, Light, who wore orange, and Power, who wore red. Need was interpreted by Miss Jean Wantz. She presented 2 globe of the world, a symbol of the plan and effort of the group reminding the officers that we live in a new world. Black, one of the historic Reformed colors, symbolized the mourning and suffer-of the Reformation. "All progress is born in pain," was her mesage.

The officers responded with singing the hymn "Jesus Calls Us O'er
The Tumult." Light is interpreted by Miss Marsha Poifspuder corried a Miss Marsha Reifsnyder, carried a lighted candle, a symbol of "Jesus, the Light of the World." The candle was red. The historic orange color of her robe stood for the golden rays of the Son of Righteousness.

"The message of the Book" she said, "will arouse, lighten and transform the world." She wore a robe of red and as red signifies devotion, consecration, and courage so votion, consecration and courage so through the life blood of our Lord a long train of believers have struggled into the newness of life. The officers sang the response "How Firm A Foundation".

The characters were fully described in the meditation by Rev. Reifsnyder. He challenged the officers to see the purpose of God in the events of the world, and to apply their talents and time to the known duties of their office. The services were closed with a consecration prayer.

TB ASSOCIATION SPONSORS SCHOOL PRESS PROJECT

Entries from the Westminster High School and the Elmer Wolfe High School, Union Bridge, to the 20th annual school press project have been received by the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association. This project is co-sponsored each year by the associa-tion, an affiliate of the National Tuberculosis Association, and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The subject, "What's Needed to Defeat Tuberculosis", was developed through feature stories in the student staffed publications "The Owl", and "The Wolfe's Tale". Both articles are well written and give evidence of research and understanding of the subject matter.

The articles will be judged first by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and, if selected, submitted to the National Tuberculosis Association for the decision of the national committee of judges.

In connection with the project, Mr. J. Wakefield MacGill, faculty advisor to "The Owl", arranged for a group of Westminster High School students to visit the Tuberculosis Association headquarters and the Health Department of the County Memorial ment at the Carroll County Memorial Medical Center. The sound film, "Within Man's Power", a story depicting man's progress against this disease, was shown. The students interviewed Dr. George Schochet, Health Officer, gathering statistics and understanding the problem of tuberculosis control in Carroll County. In the laboratory, they were given an opportunity to study tuberculosis cultures and view the germ under the microscope by the laboratory technicion, Mr. Jesse

This project is part of the association's program with schools, mad possible by the annual Christmas Seal Sale. The association will be happy to accept late contributions through the month of January.

Seen on a farm truck in Alabama: Crime doesn't pay; neither does farming.

By Edno M. Muller With Thanksgiving so near it may well be that many of you are making plans for the "big dinner." We have received so many compliments and flattering remarks for the stuffing we make that I thought some of you ladies (who may have stuffin' prob-lems) might like to try it. Add to a package of good prepared stuffing, ½ lb. (loose) sausage, I finely cut onion, ½ cup chopped walnuts, 1/8 lb. melted butter, and 2 raw eggs

(unbeaten). Blend ingredients together well (Add a litle water if you prefer the dressing more moist.) It is now ready for a 10-14 lb. bird. It's really surprising that preparing anything as simple as the above can be so delightfully delicious!

At a public works convention I aw a new rescue truck which has been designed for rushing a fully-equipped, life-saving team over wreckage or rough terrain to the heart of any disaster area. Basically a civil defense vehicle, the GMC rescue truck has a multitude of emergency uses making it in-valuable in supplementing fire-fighting, flood rescue work, windstorms, and other types of disasters. Geared to travel cross-country through deep mud, sand or drifted snow, the truck can carry a rescue team of eight doctors and nurses with their medical supplies and some 150 pieces of emergency equipment from a portable resuscitator to tools for freeing persons trapped under debris. A special roof rack holds stretchers and a 30-foot extension ladder. Because of the truck's hydra-matic transmission it is extremely easy to drive, and if need be, could be operated by a person with no previous truck driving experience!

Would seem to me that this type truck would be a mighty good investment for all community organ-izations — even if it took block-parties, fairs and railles to raise

New Iodine Gargle Eases Sore Threats

THE PAIN which accompanies sore throats is now eased by a tamed version of iodine, the most powerful germ-killer known to medical science. A new product, Concentrated Isodine Gargle, retains all the germ-destroying properties of iodine, yet is soothing to sore throats and safe for children to use. The basic ingredient is polyvinylpyrrolidone - iodine (PVP-iodine), a product developed during World War II for use as a plasma extender. Even in its concentrated form, Isodine does not sting, burn or stain.

Research Leads 3 To Finer Homes, Better Living

Engineers who design improved building materials deserve much of the credit for the comfort, convenience, and durability of today's homes.

Modern materials often are longer service, and look better than the materials they have superseded. Yet frequently they are less costly and require less time and labor to install.

Good examples are modern floor tile, plastic counter surfac-ing products, interior paints and some types of wallpaper. All these are decorative, take all kinds of wear, are easy to apply and are easy to clean.

Many newer types of exterior siding have color built in and never need painting. Most of these are fire-resistant and come in sheets which can be applied quickly without special skill.

Pre-fabricated materials have made it possible to build homes with greater speed and at less labor cost. Some of these are pre-finished wallboard and wood paneling, window and door units, and various plumbing and electrical assemblies. Even swimming pools are available in complete prefabricated packages, ready for assembly.

Roofing ranks high as an engineered product. Research over the years has made asphalt shingles fire-resistant, and colorful and has given them stouter weathering ability and longer life.

This research has led to a con-This research has led to a construction technique which makes it possible for asphalt shingles to be applied on roofs with slopes as low as 2 inches per foot. As a result, homes with nearly flat roofs now can be made more modern in appearance with colorful coofing.

Style Rules Color Choice In Any Home

Color choices in modernizing the exterior of an older home should be governed by the size and shape of the house, the climate and the neighborhood, says Beatrice West, home color stylist. Here are four typical color schemes suggested by Miss West for popular types of houses. In all four, the color of the asphalt shingles on the roof serves as shingles on the roof serves as the key to other colors used on shingles on the roof serves as the key to other colors used on the exterior.

1. Colonial. A roof of pastel blue is complemented by grayblue siding with white shutters and trim. The entrance door is painted deep blue to complete a "modern color scheme that maintains the traditional feeling," says Miss West.

2. Tall, boxy house. Black asphalt shingles on the roof make the house appear lower, while gray siding and charcoal shutters take emphasis away from awkward proportions and large size. The eye is focused on a carnation red door, keeping the visual center of interest low. White on windows and trim adds brightness.

3. Expansion attic. Dark green shingles will make the roof seem lower than it is, yet give the house color. Dark green siding, off-white trim and garage door, and a warm coral on the front entrance door complete the color harmony.

4. Ranch. A russet asphalt roof

4. Ranch. A russet asphalt roof—a light shade which will make the house appear larger—is ideal, especially if the house is in a rural setting. Good colors with russet would be coral for sidewalls and light gray trim. An accent color of bright blue on the front door, window boxes and garage door make a house stand out effectively if it is set among trees and shrubbery. among trees and shrubbery.

THE MIGHTY AGES-CLANG! CLANG! LET THE BELL TOLL

5-10-tf#

By the grave of the honored dead, Let a eulogy be read! He sleeps;

But the glory of his deeds shall never die!

In his hand he held the key
To a world of mystery;
Old customs ,old desires have fled
Before the thunder of his tread,
The rolling of his wheels!

Ere he began his fearless reign The sickle felled the golden grain, While now the Binder's voice is hurled On every breeze which fans the world.

Who was this warrior, shrewd and great, Whose mighty arm our ship of State, Hath steered to peaceful seas? Whose calm, yet keen, discerning eye Once penetrated earth and sky? Who talk of empire did despise? Who saw the child Columbia rise; And, at her feet, the nations bow?

The chain of servitude was hung Around her neck, when she was young; He broke it, with his iron hand,

This watchful guardian of our land, And on his back the musket bore Which drove all tyrants from our shore. Our Nation's song, to us he gave; He tore the shackles from the slave, O'er all the land made freedom ring, Taught love of God, who is our King!

For everything we have to-day,

It was He who paved the way. Dead? He is not Dead! While Sun, and Moon, and Stars shall last, Among great epoch's will be classed.

The Age of 1800! The songs and ditties of that day,
Like the Pyramids, have come to stay;
Down through the corridors of Time,

Those catching strains shall always chime! But, from one truth, I can't refrain-

My, how the people did complain
Of muddy roads, on a pitch dark night!
But mud and darkness took their flight.

For want of a buggy or a hack, They journeyed on old Dobbin's back; Six miles per hour to us seems slow; But, he took them, where they wished to go. Now, on Macadam roads, at last,

We roll along ten times as fast On pleasure jaunts, from East to Through what was then a wilderness

When war's dark cloud obscurred the land He made the tumult cease, Took brave Columbia by the hand, And led her till the dawn of peace.

He bade his Son, Invention rise: Unbarred the gates of light!
Of things which were not caused to be A glittering host!

He made the Factory raise its head,— Beheld a future bright! Beneath dark and sullen skies He saw the smoke of commerce rise; Then, cast a bright electric spark, O'er all the land, where it was dark.

He gave us money, the match, the lamp, the radio, The stove—millions of things we now know; He also gave us tools of every kind, Tools to saw with, and tools to grind.

Mortal man shall never be Greater or wiser than was he Whom God sent to make strong and free This wonderland, called America.

Dead! His Name shall never Die!

The wonders of his master hand Are common talk in every land— From Sea to Sea, from Zone to Zone O'er all the earth his fame is known!

No more a Mayflower ploughs the Sea In quest of an America;
Mighty ironclads daily come and go
No matter how the winds may blow.

But, listen! Lo, there cometh Another warrior bold! Hear the thunder of his iron heel! Who is this mighty sovereign?
What means the tramp of armies in the rear?
The mighty things? These heralders of Truth,
This arbiter of wrong?

It is the Age of 1900!

In his hand he holds the key
To a world of liberty!

Through the Vista of the future, the avenue of years, I see many smiling faces, eyes undimmed by tears, A world at peace, all peoples in accord, The advent of the plow, the exit of the sword.

Alabaster cities everywhere abound, A veritable Eden in every place is found; All the earth by godly men is manned, Who do not make a hell of the Paradise God planned.

The things I see are but a dream; But, just as real, to me they seem; The brotherhood of man will surely be The inception of peace and felicity.

The things I see are but a dream; But, just as real to me they seem; The brotherhood of man will surely be The beginning of peace and felicity. The war-drum's beat shall cease to be When all races shall agree, When man learns to know that he His brother's keeper is meant to be.

Protect your budget from the strain of unexpected hospital bills. Join BLUE CROSS.

How much money would you set aside if you knew you were going to have a hospital bill to pay this year? There isn't any way to tell, is there? No one can predict the extent of an injury, or the size of a hospital bill.

Blue Cross can protect you against unforeseen hospital expenses, as it now protects more than 950,000 other Maryland citizens. Many of these Blue Cross subscribers can tell you that Blue Cross offers broad, realistic protection at a small monthly rate.

Key to Blue Cross: "Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care. Blue Cross's way of providing for the hospital care you may need is "service benefits." These are, to put it simply, agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospitals to provide the hospital care you need.

The emphasis, you see, is on care—not cash. Blue Cross does not give you dollars to help pay your hospital bills. Instead Blue Cross, through its "service benefits" pays the hospital directly for the services covered in your membership.

You don't have to file a claim, or wait for reimbursement. Dollar payments are often not enough to cover hospital bills. Blue Cross records show that Blue Cross "service benefits" do often cover a subscriber's hospital expenses

Righteousness

Lesson for January 20, 1957

RIGHTEOUSNESS is an old-fashioned word. You almost never see it outside the Bible. But the thing itself is not old-fashioned, you can see it outside the Bible, nearly everybody wants it himself and everybody wants it for his neighbors. Even criminals count on it-in other people! The word originally came (in the Bible) from the Hebrew word meaning "straight." To this day everybody knows what the difference is between a straight man and a crooked on e. We mean the same thing sometimes when we Dr. Foreman use only the first part of the word, "right." We like to be right, we like to have the right people around us. "He's just not right" is one of the worst things that can be said about a man. A righteous person is one that is all that he should be. He comes up to standard, there is nothing shoddy or make believe about him. To be sure, some people don't care about this; but then some people don't care whether they are healthy or

Better Than the Best

One of the things Jesus said that must have sounded surprising at the time he said it, was that the righteousness of those who followed him must "exceed that of the Pharisees." Now the Pharisees made a specialty of righteousness. They were super-good, or aimed to be. They had money, and leisure, and they spent their time thinking up ways to be better than anybody. They were, so to speak, the athletes of morality. They held all the records for high jumps and pole vaults to the righteousness. Nobod de even tried to be as good a So it must have astonished everybody, not to mention sho king the Pharisees, when Jesus as good as said they were not up to the standards of the kingdom of heaven. If we look into what Jesus said by way of explaining this astonishing remark, however, we can see three ways in which the Pharisees' idea of what it is to be rightright in the sight of God, that is -comes short of the true ideal. First of all, the Pharis interested in action only. Now acts are very important. But as Jesus explained it, actions come from inner attitudes, and where the attitude is wrong, acts are likely to be wrong too. True righteousness, or rightness, begins and has its roots in "the heart," the inner life, where thoughts begin. The truly right person will not be content with making a good showing, he wants to be right even if it never

No Fences for Love So the rightness Jesus demands goes deeper than what satisfied the Pharisees, ancient or modern. But he pointed out another difference. Jesus' ideal (which is God's ideal) of rightness is also broader than the Pharisees' brand. They loved their friends, they would do a great deal for those who did a lot for them. Jesus pointed out that anybody not a complete fool will do as much. "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours" is a philosophy almost anybody can understand. Loving people who love you - and no others - is like exchanging presents at Christmas time. Some people "give" a great many presents, at least they wrap them up and distribute them; but they don't give a thing unless they expect to get a present in return. The Pharisees, ancient and modern, know what love is; but they put a fence around it. They do not "waste" love on those who do not in some way pay them for it. Jesus went all the way-so far that to this day few of us dare to follow him. Love your enemies, he said. Love is good; the Pharisees were on the right track. But love

Why Be Good? The kind of rightness God wants has another sure mark: it has the right motive. The Pharisees wanted to be right so as to be admired by other men. But true rightness has just one motive: to be like our Father in heaven. To wish to be God,—to "play God," is wicked; but it is not wicked, it is the very heart of the truly good life, to love God so much, and know him so well (and never so well as in Christ) that one can think of nothing better than to be like him. All other motives fail,

Midst of Revolution

EVERY American school child, of course, knows the story of juices. the American Revolution, knows how the staunch colonists overthrew the existing government, freed themselves from the shackles of political and religious slavery, and stood forth as free men. But it took violence and bloodshed. But don't all revolutions take violence and bloodshed?

Not any more they don't. Some of the most drastic revolutions are accompanied only by pleasantness and gains, such as the tremendous revolution in living.

This is the newest style in revolutions - and the force which is motivating it is advertising!

To be an eye witness of this great revolution take an observer's place, as one noted advertising man, Fairfax M. Cone, did at the checking stand of a modern super market.

Watch the people as they go by and check what they have in their baskets. They have all manner of wonderful things . . . wonder- our existence, advertising never ful things like ready-cut cello- served us better than in pointing phane-wrapped meat . . . cake mix the road to modern revolutionary and oven-ready biscuits . . . froz- living!

en chicken pies and pizza. . fresh frozen vegetables . . . concentrated quick frozen vegetable and fruit

But the folks who are enjoying these miracles are not the rich people. They are the everyday people of every American town.

If you follow them out to their cars, you will see them climb into sleek new shiny sedans, more beautiful and efficient than the rich men's cars of a few years ago. And they will drive to new ranch-type homes, in which you will find a TV set, a couple of radios, an electric refrigerator, a home freezer, automatic dishwasher, and washing machine.

We take these things for granted, but we shouldn't, for they did not "just happen." All were caused, all were caused in exactly the same way-by the miracle of advertising, which showed the way to the revolutionary way of life we Americans are liv-
