"BUILD WHILE YOU LIVE"

• Folks just naturally love Ford's lower, sleeker silhouette. And they love Ford's new Thunderbird V-8's and Mileage Maker Six. But the thing that's really got 'em buzzing is Ford's new ride. In the new kind THROUGH MARCH 15th of Ford, vital riding features team up to give you the smoothest going in the whole ride world. For example:

More comfortable seating

Installation When Weather Permits JOSEPH L. MATHIAS & SONS

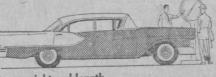

1-3-61

There's no sag when you sit in a Ford . . . even on long trips. Comfort-contoured seats, rigidly anchored, have advanced springing for greater comfort and longer life.

New automatic variable-rate rear springs nditions. You get a smooth ride all the way!

Going from a highway to a byway in a Ford, is like going from satin to silk. New design allows Ford's rear springs to "soften" or "stiffen" depending on road

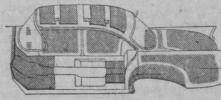

It's the new inner Ford that gives you a big-car ride at low Ford prices

More weight and length

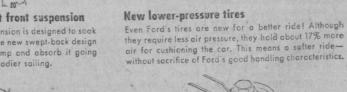

Head for the roughest road in the new kind of Ford. Notice how the biggest bumps lose their "thump"! One reason is that this biggest, longest, heaviest Ford has the extra "beef" to give a smooth, road-hugging ride.

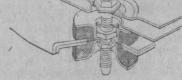

New swept-back Ball-Joint front suspension Ford's new, stronger front suspension is designed to soak up the shock of rough roads. The new swept-back design lets wheels "roll" with the bump and absorb it going away . . . for far smoother, steadier sailing.

More body insulation Ford has more body insulation-protection against weather, dust, and noise—than any car in the low-price

Better balance

One of Ford's nicest back-road habits is to make believe the rough spots aren't there. Proper weight distribution and precise balancing let Ford iron out bumps far better

No metal-to-metal chassis and body contact Only Ford in its field uses 20 Cushion Quiet rubber body mounts . . . more than any other low-priced car. It all adds up to a smoother, quieter riding car.

Try the new kind of ride in the new kind of field. You ride through city traffic in library-like quiet.

FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

So much is being written these days about world problems, behavior problems, school problems and proorem children that there is little space ett to write about another problem that is just as important as any of the other things facing us in our present society. It is the problem of mothers Those who visited the past week with Mr. Wm. Vaughn and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wantz were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vaughn and family and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vaughn and family and family af Emmitshurg and Mrs. Weis Bill and family af Emmitshurg and Mrs. Weis Bill and family af Emmitshurg and Mrs. Weis Bill and familiar kitchen and fireside. the familiar kitchen and fireside Why? The main reason is to add to the family income so that the family can have more material things. But there is a limit, on the basis of time and energy, to how much a working wife and mother can accomplish. Material things at the expense of health and family unity, is quite a big price to pay. It may be proven in the tuture that working mothers contrioute much to making their children instable and breaking up the family closeness. Husbands may lose their mative and self-esteem when they realize the family does not alone depend upon his pay check. Women beome more independent when they help earn the living but the independence is bought at the price of having to do two jobs—that of keeping house and also doing their outside job. Family tension increases, too, because a woman worn out trying to cope with too many tasks becomes short-tempered and when mother is nervous and upset, the entire family suffers. Many mothers work of course be cause it is absolutely necessary, and they are to be admired. But the ones that take a full time job to keep up with the Jones' or to give their children more of this and that are really betraying themselves. For they cheat their children out of the joy of earning things for themselves and instill in their minds the wrong set

> And speaking of values just what is the American sense of value? What do we think is important? For instance we spent last year $9 million for alcohol; $5 billion for tobacco; more than $1 billion for cosmetics and movies and $275 millions for chewing gum. Also last year the Federal Government spent $1 million dollars on agricultural research to find out how to produce better cows and chickens but nothing to find out how to raise better boys and girls. Congress can vote billions without one outery from the public to support people like King Saud and Colonel Nasser, but not one American dollar to support our school teachers nor a penny for schools. Oh yes, the people talk about education, but the concerted effort is missing. We wonder what is happening to the American public whose opinion at one time pushed Congress into doing things. Is it possible that the public no longer has an opinion? Has conformity and regimentation already molded the public's mind into such a state of apathy that it cannot know what is really happening. Or doesn't it really care about anything but cars, new homes and T.V. programs? Past performances have proven that the American people can accomplish whatever they want to accomplish if they put their hearts, minds and energy into it. We think

put its mind, energy, and heart into two problems—the deteriorating educational system and the appalling waste of our talented boys and girls.

A recipe for long life was offered by Marie Toubert on her 104th birth-day. It was: "Never put water in your wine and eat plenty of snails. "You guessed it—she lives in France."

Good reading during Lent is the latest book by Jim Bishop titled 'The Day Christ Died'. Mr. Bishop writes the entire book about the most drama-tic day in the Christian world. It opens at 6 p. m. on the evening of the Last Supper and closes at 4 p. m. when Jesus was taken down from Cross. The author writes as a historian as well as a devout christian. He spent 16 months of research in Jerusalem and found many interesting facts that makes his book exceptionally interesting reading. The first part of the book appears in the March issue of McCails maga-

Irading stamps is the newest craze of shoppers. We are addicted to the drugged affect of the green stamps ourselves but after doing some figuring we are not so sure but what the premiums are not costing us more than we realize. But the psychological affect is wonderful. What person doesn't like to believe that he is getting something for nothing.

Here are some more statistics on teenagers. How they must get tired reading about themselves in print! Anyway, this is good news for a change. The teens now have an average weekly income of $10.50 a week from part time jobs and allowances. They save $4.00 per week. The total weekly spending of all the teen-agers in the United States is (hold your breath) $85 million. The total savings $52 million. We don't know about the saving part but we do not doubt in the least but what the figures on spending are correct. Most parents will agree. If advice is going to keep people from making unhappy marriages then there isn't a thing for future brides and bridegrooms to worry about. For every leading magazine each month has at least two articles on choosing a life partner or keeping the one you have. I often wonder how our generation was able to get married and stay that way for we certainly were on our own. The topics discussed openly and frankly in every paper and magazine today were not even hinted at by parents to their children twenty years ago. But some how like the British, we muddles through court-ship and marriage without too much advice, or too much knowledge. I do not advocate ignorance of course, but we wonder sometimes if there isn't too many articles written about certain subjects. They may be more harmful than educational.

This is the time of year when fishermen feel the strong urge to forget everything for the old fishing hole even church on Sunday. One such person struggled with this problem and finally solved it. One Sunday morning he left a note under the church door with a dollar bill pinned to it. The The note read: I feel bad but I'm still going fishing. "Please put the dollar in the collection plate."—Ruth Roelke.

G. H. ENFIELD

THE SEASON OF LENT by G. H. Enfield

Lent as its derivation indicates is a spring festival. Excluding Sundays, it is a forty day period of prayer and fasting preceding Easter. Fasting is abstention from food, and often also from drink, for a longer period of time than usual. This custom began in the far distant past in connection with religious ceremonies.
In the United States, fasting is observed chiefly by Roman Catholics, Episcopalians, Lutherans, and Ortho-

Ash Wednesday, which in 1957 was March 6 is always the first day of the Sacred Season of Lent. This period is a penitential season. Ash Wednesday gets its name from the ceremony of placing ashes on the forehead as a sign of penitence. It is thought that the custom was introduced by Pope Gregory the Great. It was sanctioned in 1191 by Pope Celestin III.

In the Roman Catholic Church, be fore mass on Ash Wednesday, the ashes of the palms consecrated on Palm Sunday of the preceding year are reconsecrated. These are placed on the foreheads of the priests officiating, other members of the clergy, and the people assembled, while an officiating priest recites the latin Memento homo, quia pulvis es, et in pulverem reverteris, when trans-lated mean, "Remember that thou art dust, and into dust thou shalt return." Lent is an annual observance of fasting and prayer by members of the Anglican (Protestant Episcopal in U. S.), Roman Catholic, and Greek Churches in preparation for Easter Since the 4th century, forty days have been traditionally regarded as the length of the Lenten fast.

In the Western Churches, the forty days' fast begins on Ash Wednesday and extends, omitting Sundays, to noon on Holy Saturday, the day before Easter Sunday.

Let each of us during this Sacred Season add to our spiritual strength!

FROM THE MEMBERS OF THE CARROLL COUNTY DELEGATION IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY by Sherman E. Flanagan, Senator Before I begin this discourse, I know there will be a difference of opinion as to its contents. However, I have felt so keenly about the matter that I cannot remain silent anylonger. Today we hear a great deal about schools and education, first, because all of us are so intimately connected with them through our children and second, we are so conscious about the cost (which in the final approximate and second the cost (which in the final approximate approximate and second the cost (which in the final approximate a in the final analysis is relatively low compared to other activities, such as, recreation and entertainment).

I am convinced that we are getting more for the dollar in the field of eduucation than any other item in our personal or public budgets. The only fault that I find with it is that it is geared to the level of the average or below average pupil. This leaves the gifted and the talented youth suspended in mid aid with out stimulation for mental activity or a challenge to eration of forced universal education. Up to 1910 in the cities and 1920 in the rural areas only the superior student entered the secondary schools and he knew what he was about when do-The curriculum consisted of substantial academic meat that stuck to the ribs and met the primary purpose of education, the training of the nation's brain power to its highest potential. Today by force of law we require all pupils to remain in school until they are sixteen and I find no fault in this. But when a teacher is required to accept in the same class, children with a relative mentality ranging from 90 to 150 with the un-derstanding that all must submit to the same subject matter and progress at the same rate, I am convinced that something is wrong with the system and not with the teacher when results are not produced.

I have talked with teachers from the elementary grades to college presidents an dthey all agree that this should not exist, but in the rush of our daily activities the status quo is permitted to continue. The public view toward individual attention to a talented few is over-shadowed by the mass educational needs. This outlook, limited in range by not recognizing the national need of outstanding brain power makes the task the more diffi-cult in that it entails a reversal of public sentiment. Entering into an age of technology the like of which is not known to man, the present shortage of scientific and professional men and women could easily reach a point if not already where our nation would be jeopardized in the interna-tional contest to out produce rival nations in brain power.

We must accept our responsibility to modify our system to permit the upper 15% to progress at an accelerated pace during a longer school year so that they can complete their higher education and still live a normal life of early marriage with its accompanying obligations.

With this in mind I am preparing a resolution for introduction this week asking that the Governor of Maryland and the Department of Education be urged to include in any study which is being or which shall be conducted as to the educational system of the State of Maryland, the means whereby superior intellect can soon be discovered, and given the earliest possible attention to allow it progress at a rate commensurate with its intellectual ability. And that a study be made toward the feasibility of educating the parents and the public in general of the need of separate attention for the advanced student as such separate attention has been granted to the retarded student.

"We should work vigorously to ward the economic advancement of less fortunate nations everywhere."

—H. C. McClellan, Chairman, NAM.

CARROLL COUNTY ASSOCIATION FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

Mr. Ray LeGore, program chairman for the Carroll County Association for Retarded Children, introduced Miss Gertrude Justison, guest speaker, at the Association meeting Tuesday evening, March 5, 1957.

Miss Justison, who is the principal of the Norwood School in Montgomery County spake on the needs of retard. County spoke on the needs of retarded children in all communities. She enumerated these needs as follows:

There is the need to let the public know the true facts about retardation by removing the veil of suspicion and half-hidden facts to spread the gospel about what retarded children can learn and do with help.

There is the need to change public attitudes through education, said Miss

Though much progress has been Though much progress has been made in recent years, there is still a need for additional educational services for retarded children.

There is a need for establishing sheltered workshops where retarded children can be productive. She pointed out that most of these children will need supervision, but can do will need supervision, but can do much with help.

There is a need for improved home-school relationships. She urged par-ents to establish a consistent home routine such as is followed at school and to bear with the children while they learn self-helps even though their slowness and clumsiness may be very frustrating

Lastly, she spoke of the need for providing proper placement facilities both public and private. She pointed out that the State of Maryland offers free care and training in its correctional institutions and in the schools for the blind and deaf, while parents, if financially able, pay full care for a child at the Rosewood State Training School, the State school for the mentally retarded.

Here is why BLUE CROSS alone earns the official approval American Hospital Association

• BLUE CROSS protects the interests of subscribers through its close association with member hospitals and local medical profession.

Blue Cross has written agreements with member hospitals. Under these agreements, hospitals contract to furnish hospital care to Blue Cross subscribers—the hospital care needed in Blue Cross, you see, puts the emphasis on hospital care, not just cash to help pay bills. Through its unique working agreements with member hospitals, Blue Cross and the hospitals work in joint responsibility to see that sub-scribers get the hospital care benefits they need, at the lowest possible cost.

2. BLUE CROSS gives you free choice of hospital and physician.

All forty general hospitals in Maryland are members of the Blue Cross Plan. When your physician arranges to have you admitted to one of these member hospitals, you simply show the hospital your Blue Cross membership card.

Blue Cross pays the hospital direct. And, through working agreements with all Blue Cross Plans throughout the country, your Blue Cross protection goes with you when you are away from home.

3. BLUE CROSS is not operated for profit!

Sponsorship, control, and operations of Blue Cross are non-profit, in accordance with the requirements of the American Hospital Association for approval as a Blue Cross Hospital Service Plan. Overall administrative costs—the only part of income not used to pay for subscriber benefits—require currently a little over six cents out of every subscription dollar. Ninety-four cents out of every subscription dollar is used or set aside to pay subscribers' hospital expenses, another reason why Blue Cross pays so many hospital bills in full.

4. BLUE CROSS benefits mean hospital care.

The primary purpose of Blue Cross is to make available the widest possible range of hospital care benefits to as many persons as possible, at the lowest possible cost. Because Blue Cross subscription rates are based upon the actual cost of basic necessary hospital services, Blue Cross benefits mean hospital care. Membership in Blue Shield, the companion plan to Blue Cross, rounds out the protection afforded by Blue Cross. Blue Shield provides medical and surgical benefits, includes payments for consultations and obstetrical care. Blue Cross means hospital care-Blue Shield means doctor's care. Membership in both means a broad, realistic protection against the expense of sudden illnesses and accidents.

Essentially, Blue Cross is a community enterprise, organized by local business and civic leaders, and local hospitals and physicians, to provide a prepayment hospital care program for the people of each community. Today, nearly one million Marylanders enjoy the unique protection afforded by Blue Cross.

Highest Command

Lesson for March 17, 1957

WE ALL live by authority of some kind. When some one says, "Do this!" we do it-willingly or unwillingly, but we do it if we can. If a man says, "I wear no man's collar, I do as I please, I am my own authority," a close observer can often perceive that the man is fooling himself. He may have certain habits, certain appetities. He may be one whom Dorothy Parker de-scribes: "Some men cannot pass a bookstore." It

Who Is in Charge Here?

Consider some of the many bosses of the human race. One authority whose voice is loud in the land is the "Voice of the People." Some politicians live by it. A politician will split the welkin telling the world what a lowgrade rat his opponent is: but then the opponent beats him in the primary, and the politician sings another tune. "The people have spoken," he says; and turns around to support the very man who (he had just been saying) was hardly fit to be dog-catcher. Others again regard the law as the highest command. In their eyes, law can turn right into wrong or wrong into right. But the law is a human thing; any good lawyer will admit that there is a gap between what the law commands or permits, and what is morally right. Law tries to catch up with morals; it never creates right or wrong.

Money Talks

Others again find their highest authority in morey. Some will admit it, some will not. But whenever you find a person making all his decisions on the light of the one question. What will make the most money' Or, What will cost the least? then you know that for that person the last word is with the cash account. One form of this authority is Business. If it's good for Business it's good for the country. In the name of this authority many practices are advocated which are definitely not good for the people who make up the country. For many other persons, the highest command is the voice of the one who is most loved. In times gone by, it might be the King's Favorite. In our more democratic era, individual citizens may take their wife's or husband's word as the last word. Or-to take one more type, for a vast number of persons the highest authority is their Church. Some people even think the church cannot make a mistake!

Jesus, Lord of All

For the Christian, however, his highest command is that of Jesus Christ. The vows taken when a person is confirmed, or joins the church, profess, sometimes in these very words, "I take Jesus Christ for my Lord and Savior.' "For my Lord . . ." If the word means what it was intended to mean, it means that above all other authorities is His. All these other commands have their places; but his is supreme. In a great corporation there are many persons with authority; but only one President. No decision at lower levels is valid if it conflicts with a policy the President has laid down. So there are situations where the money question is decisive. There are other situations in which a political party's decision, slate or platform may be decisive for the party worker, - and so on. But if decisions on these lower levels come into conflict with what we may call the policy of Jesus, then those lower decisions must give way. In Jesus' lifetime He challenged every authority that confronted him. He was responsive to authority within proper bounds as ween He paid taxes or when placed on oath in a trial) but even over the church, even over the inspired Law, He claimed first right. The sensible Christian does not claim for Jesus what he did not claim for himself. He did not set up to be an authority on forms of government, financial affairs or farming. But He did lay down certain great principles founded in the will and nature of the heavenly Father

Fire insurance company records show thousands of claims with insufficient coverage ($10,000. Home Lost-Insurance $4,000.; $10,000. Barn Lost Insurance $2,500.). Don't let this happen to you. Building costs have gone up 42% since 1947, up 100% since 1945. Homes built in the 30's are selling for many times their original cost. Still many homes, farms, and business places never change their insurance policies.

With the Volunteer Fire Companies doing excellent work, quick communications, good roads and the right insurance agent you can have full protection at very low cost.
