VOLUNTEERS WANTED

An Opportunity to Help the Unfortunate

"The patients at Henryton State Hospital are greatly in need of services which individuals and organizations in Carroll County would be willing to provide if these needs were made known," stated Miss Virginia Shoffett, Director of Volunteer Services of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, at a meeting of the steering committee of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association. Serving on this committee are Mrs. Paul Lawyer, Mrs. Kathryn Diffendal and Rev. Mr. R. S. Abernethy, Jr.

Henryton is a tuberculosis hospital located in Carroll County and has a case load of around 400 colored patients. With the exception of movies which are shown twice a week, little except sporadic entertainment has been provided.

Miss Shoffett stated the greatest need was for the patients to have something to look forward to on a regular basis. This committee is looking for a group of individuals who will volunteer to go to the hospital the first Wednesday of each month from 7 to 8:30 p. m. to direct this activity.

Other types of entertainment approved by the hospital are: Hillbilly bands, variety shows, magicians, one-act plays, and singing groups. Hospital regulations do not permit anyone under 15 to visit the hospital.

Other needs are for radios (not necessarily new or in repair); 10 card tables (not new); View Masters for the 8 children at the hospital; games of all types; tray favors for any holiday; 100 stamps per month for needy patients; 150 Mother's Day cards; toothpaste, deodorants, and single and double edged razor blades.

Miss Shoffett will meet with any interest group to explain in greater detail the program of volunteer services which it is hoped can be set up at Henryton. The pilot program at Mt. Wilson State Hospital is in its third year and experiences gained there will be shared with Carroll County to inaugurate a similar program.

Additional information may be secured by calling any of the members of the committee, or the tuberculosis association at Westminster 1500.

TANEYTOWN SCOUT NEWS

Explorer Scouts of Troop 348, Taneytown, have enjoyed a varied March program, Assistant explorer adviser William B. Abrecht, Jr., leading off with a theme on animals and birds, the final competitors being Crew leader George Abrecht and Adviser Robert L. Bowers. Members of the group checked coats at the Lions Shrimp Feed and played a closely contested basketball game with the high school chapter of the FFA.

On the 18th Howell B. Royer gave an interesting presentation on coin collecting at the invitation of Mr. Bowers and Senior crew leader Harold W. Slaybaugh, who both had been his guests at the Frederick society of the regional Numismatic society. Last Monday one of the best game competitions they have ever had was invented by Adviser Bowers, a sort of combination basketball and hockey, and rugged enough that Assistant Adviser Larry I. Barnhart, the star goal maker, was floored once or twice—or was tripped.

An intriguing stunt night among the Boy Scout members of the troop saw the actor's mask plague go jointly to the Foxes and Panthers, led by Junior assistant scoutmaster Francis Nelson and Patrol leader, Edward Reaver and assistant Larry Hively. The hospital operation scene by Nelson's group was one of the best and funniest ever portrayed.

The Panther offerings of first aid guessing charade and flag folding skit adhering more closely to the scout-craft line.

Swimming attracted 20 persons the following week, while Assistant scoutmaster Robert J. Rock's problem on electric shock the Thursday after saw the Panthers again in first place and holders of this plaque; but this time John Myers, Patrol leader of the Raccoons, steered his bunch to a close second. The Flaming Arrows have been carrying on ably in the absence of Patrol leader Charles Turner, retaining the Honor patrol banner for first place in the whole inter-patrol contest to date. The going gets rougher, however, for although Donald Koontz brought points by his joining the Flaming Arrows, the Raccoons added two new members, Thomas Albaugh and Gerald Tracey, and Charles Mason has joined the Panthers, to bring these groups within shouting distance of the leaders.

A paper and general scrap drive is scheduled by both Boy Scouts and Explorers Saturday, April 6, to increase the building fund for the proposed new scouts meeting hall.

MEETING OF KI-WIVES

Forty Ki-Wives, Kiwanians and guests met on Monday evening, March 25, at 6:30 p. m. at Taney Inn for dinner.

President Naomi Baumgardner welcomed all the husbands and guests after which we all engaged in playing cards—Canasta, Bridge and Five Hundred—for the remainder of the evening.

Judging from the "roars of laughter" emanating from the various tables at times, no one needed to "wonder" if everyone was having an enjoyable evening—it was evident. We adjourned at 10 p. m.

As the cannibal said, "One man's meat is another man's person."

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE

Final Week of the 1957 Session

The State Budget. When the Governor sent his budget to us earlier in the session it was in need of about $7 millions to bring it in balance. Since that time the House Ways and Means committee has held hearings with the department heads and found that their expenses could be cut without impairing their services. The Senate Finance committee has done likewise. I have never been able to find out why the two committees do not hold these parties at the same time. As it is, these busy people will appear before the Finance group in the morning and the Ways and Means in the afternoon. Same questions will be asked and the same explanations given at each meeting. Last week these two committees met and compared notes. They found they had saved about $3 millions. Taking this from the original $7 millions we would need $4 millions. Subtract another half million for money saved in the equalization fund and you have three and a half left. Then the estimators of income say that it looks like the State will get more tax money than they anticipated to the tune of $3 millions and the thing is about balanced.

In addition to this there are $4,200,000 in hiding because the income tax people collect their taxes in advance and hold the money a year before sending it to the political subdivisions. A bill has been introduced to permit the use of this. If this passes, the money is available and can be used for teachers salaries or for any other expenses deemed necessary. So again, a little economy and more tax income and our troubles are over for another year.

As for our local legislation the following bills have passed: County manager for the county at the option of the county commissioners; $500 medical scholarship for those prospective students who promise to return to the county to practice; $200,000 for the hospital if the people raise $300,000 additional; authority for the Commissioners to borrow additional money for school construction if and when needed; the county treasurer's salary was increased and trailers will be taxed as homes if used as permanent residences.

Many of the state-wide bills are in a state of flux. What will happen is anybody's guess. Public should be retained as a racing center, but I doubt it. All road side control bills are in bad shape. So-called highway safety measures are floating around between the two houses or in committee.

Teachers will get a pay raise of perhaps $300 or $400 a year. Of the total of 1650 bills introduced, I doubt if over one third of them will pass and be signed by the Governor.

It has been a pleasure to bring the public these weekly reports. Most of them were written under pressure of time, so I hope you will understand the mistakes in grammar as well as subject matter.

In a way the legislature is a complex machine. This is because it is made up of varying needs and positions. To bring these together with groups and parties together with many outside influences is the work of leaders and minorities within the two houses. I marvel that it works as well as it does. Most of the actual work is done in committee with the help and advice of experts on government and taxation.

These devoted and experienced men and women are the backbone of the legislative process. The press does a good job in reporting the efforts of all concerned. They carry the message to the public and often influence opinion both inside and outside the legislative halls.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BONIFAY, FLA., ADVERTISER:
"And there was the man who only took a drink to steady his nerves and who sometimes got so steady he couldn't move."

ELSINORE, CALIF., LEADER-PRESS: "Regulation of gas prices at the well head makes no more economic sense than regulation of coal prices at the mine . . . It is to be hoped that with the President's recently restated endorsement, Congress will see fit to restore to this segment of our industrial structure its basic freedom to risk, in the hope of profit."

CORNWELL, ILL., JOURNAL:
"We owe a great deal to our Government. The question is, how are we ever going to get the money to pay it?"

WILMINGTON, N. C., MORNING STAR: "For example, higher taxes, a deep slash in government spending, tighter control of credit, the spreading of business expansion programs over a longer range, plus a limit on wages - - these are the things that would bring an abrupt halt to inflation."

"So abrupt would be the end of inflation, a chain reaction which eventually leads to a depression is not beyond reason."

"Yet, unless some steps are taken in the immediate future to curb the inflationary trend in the United States, the 'boom and bust' cycle can evolve simply because some form of control is not forthcoming."

DUBLIN, GA., COURIER-HERALD: "The opponents of the profit-and-loss system are advocates of some form of Socialism - - whether it be the Soviet-type Communism, the Swedish-type 'Welfare State,' or the present English-type 'Conservative Socialism.' The irony is that after 40 years of operation, the Soviet-type Communism has produced a living standard only one-tenth as high as ours; in the so-called Swedish 'Welfare State,' the living standard is about one-third as high as ours; and in England where 'nationalization' of basic industries has operated 12 years, the living standard is not quite half as good as ours."

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

Early gardeners have set out onions, and planted peas and lettuce. More work of this kind has been done this year, in March, than for many years.

Last Friday and Saturday beat the record for hot days in March, thermometers recording as high as 85 degrees and 90 degrees according to location. The sun must have been suffering from "brain storm".

Robert H. Bankard and family, of Pleasant Valley, moved to Taneytown, on Thursday, and took charge of the Elliot Hotel, as owners and proprietor. Mr. Elliot and family are comfortably housed in their new home, recently purchased from Mrs. G. T. Motter.

Copperville—In passing by the premise of L. F. Hemler, we were glad to see him able to walk out to the gate and have a friendly chat.—Earl Phillips is again proprietor of Trevanion blacksmith shop. He is a skilled mechanic.—Mrs. Martha Fleagle who spent a few weeks in Baltimore and Washington, has returned home.—Quite a merry crowd passed along our road on Wednesday evening to the home of Edward Stuller, of Trevanion, where a dance was indulged in.—Solomon Myers made sale of his personal property, on Thursday of last week, realizing good prices for everything sold. They will move to their newly purchased home in Uniontown.—Emory Flickinger will move from the Shriner property to the place purchased of Samuel Lambert on the Westminster road. Cleason Erb, to the property bought of William Shriner. He will continue to be his father's farmer.

Mayberry—Jacob Rodkey is on the sick list.—Among the many changes of our neighborhood are the following: Thomas Yingling moved to J. A. Koutz's farm, near Taneytown; Russell Myers to the farm vacated by T. Yingling; Jonas Heltebride to the Robert Everhart property; Howard Lemmon to the Reaver farm; Edward Sheets to the Currens property; Roy Keefer to the Sell farm; Elmer Reaver to the E. D. Stuller property; David Heltebride to the Marker property; Geo. Copenhaver to the farm vacated by Jacob Crouse; J. Crouse to near St. James Church; Charles Maus to the Shaneybrook house; David Slonaker to Mrs. J. B. Heltebride property; Mrs. Clara Witmore to Slonaker house, and Rev. L. F. Murray to Mayberry.

FEESERSBURG

A Voice From Carroll

For those persons interested in Pennsylvania Dutch antiques and primitive art the month of April will be the time to visit William Penn's ancestral counties. Three major shows will be held next month beginning with the Lancaster Antique Show which will last three days beginning April 1st. Lancaster is in the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country and is a treasure chest of lovely Stiegel glassware, gaudy Dutch china, hand-worked quilts, hand-made chests and all kinds of wrought iron pieces plus many, many other items. During the last few years the craftsmanship of the Dutch has become more widely known and treasured. But even treasured more than the things they produce are the people themselves, and the warm friendly feeling they impart to all visitors. They know the true meaning of hospitality. For they open their hearts as well as their homes to the tourists.

We are including in our column a letter written by a parent who is irked at the amount of homework given to school children. The letter speaks for itself and here it is: "There seems to be no co-ordination whatsoever between the high school teachers as to the amount of homework students are called upon to complete every night. Each teacher is giving from 30 to 40 or more minutes of homework, and when you multiply this by four or five teachers of various subjects you have three and four hours of homework nightly. It has gotten so far out of bounds that nearly all other vital family activities have been choked to a standstill. They are getting school all day and half the night. The fatigue of both the mind and body of parents and students alike is overwhelming. With school on day and night, half the children are jumping at the chance to quit and get away from it all. Since all other family activities have to be crowded into the after school hours, how can parents discharge their duties to their families and society unless the schools regulate this problem of excessive homework? If they do not take corrective measures soon, then the parents are going to have to seek legislation to cope with this problem. The well-rounded and balanced lives of students and their families are made up of many important factors and activities of which schooling although one of the main, is not by far a well-regulated home life coupled with good education produces the desired product in the form of good and useful citizens that our society demands and makes parents glad to have made the sacrifices that they have. But children must have the time to take part in all other community activities and not be buried in school books most of the important years of his life." The above letter was signed but we withhold the parents name.

The best thing about getting old is that all the things you couldn't have when you were young you no longer want.

It is hard to believe that in our rich and beautiful capital known as Washington there are hundreds of children going to school hungry. Last week the situation was made public and an effort put forth to serve free school lunches to the hungry children. With so much surplus food in our nation there isn't any excuse for a child anywhere to be denied food but sad to relate there are many who go to bed without any supper. We surely hope there isn't any children in our local school who is so neglected. About six years ago one of the observing elementary teachers discovered two of her young charges were not getting the proper food but she was a kind, conscientious person and the situation was soon remedied. Free school lunches have been advocated for a long time—in fact we think there is a bill before congress now, but like the school construction bill, it never gets passed by the little men on the hill. Anyway, leaders must be made aware that the public does not like our children neglected while they waste precious time serving on "witch hunt" committees. What is needed to prod Congress out of its smug know-it-all attitude are some leaders like Doctor Legg who isn't afraid to let people know what he really thinks. There are just too many afraid to express an original thought.

What nettles me most, is when time and again, The worst women drivers, Tom out to be men.—Thomas Usk.

A group of school children were recently invited to attend a town meeting by the Mayor and Council in hopes that they would learn something about government. The Mayor interrupted the councilmen frequently to explain things. The youngsters became bored and snored in their seats and finally to amuse themselves looked around the walls where maps were displayed showing the original Indian purchase and a huge Moose head. When the meeting was over the Mayor asked, "Any questions, children?" "Yes," said one little boy, "Who shot the moose?" We hasten to add that this did not happen in Union Bridge.

There are many women who still use refrigerators that must be destroyed once in awhile. Every housekeeper hates this job but there are methods that makes the work quite easy. Here is one tried and proven: Take all the food out and wrap in newspapers. Turn the ice box off and prop open the door. Put pans of boiling water in the freezing compartment and leave in about ten minutes. Replace the hot water once or twice. In about 20 minutes all the ice is gone. Wipe out with a cloth and the job is done. While the ice is melting the rest of the refrigerator can be washed and cleaned. The whole job only takes half an hour.

Remember the annual school play will be presented this Friday and Saturday evening in the school auditorium at 8 p. m. Also remember the luncheon sponsored by the P.T.A. Wednesday, April 3, at 12:30 in the Firemen's Social Hall. Both events need your support.

Do you remember when each year some person or organization use to predict that the end of the world was at hand and people use to go into a panic? Now all the reaction one gets to such omens is one word.... "good."—Ruth Roelke.

Once read lines, I know not by whom, But I thought them all too true; They spoke of the things we leave undone.

As well as the things we do. There were the kind words left unspoken.

The letter we did not write; The visit we promised but did not make.

The forgotten prayer at night. Perhaps the gift of a single rose Would have gladdened the heart of a friend.

We can never really measure the joy That is ours to share without end. How sad but true that many a life Could sparkle as noontday sun, Were it not for the loneliness often caused.

By deeds that are left undone. —Charlotte E. Neuls.

MARRIED

PETERSON-KOONS

Miss Sandra Elaine Koons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kenneth Koons, Taneytown, Md., became the bride of Stuart Clayton Peterson, son of Mrs. Evelyn Peterson, Taneytown, Md., Saturday, at two o'clock p. m. in the Piney Creek Presbyterian Church, near Taneytown, Md. The ceremony was officiated by Rev. Eugene Stambaugh before an altar of palms, ferns, and baskets of gladiolus. Miss Jane Bowers gave an organ recital preceding the ceremony, playing the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Elwood Myers, soloist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an ankle-length gown of Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice and long sleeves ending in a point over her hands, and a tiered tulle skirt. Her elbow length veil of nylon tulle fell from a crown of lace and was studded with pearls. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and rosebuds attached to satin streamers. The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Peterson, sister of the bride, wore a ballerina length dress of polished blue cotton fashioned with a v-neckline and princess styled, full gored skirt with a velvet bow at the back with streamers reaching the length of the skirt. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a pink colonial bouquet. Miss Shirley Koons, sister of the bride, and Miss Joan Davidson, bridesmaids, wore pink dresses and headpieces styled identically to those of the matron of honor and carried colonial bouquets of blue. All wore pearls and white gloves. Miss Carole Koons, sister of the bride, wore a blue dress styled identically to the others and wore a white picture hat. She carried a basket of mixed flowers. Robert Peterson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Elton Peterson, brother of the bridegroom and Marlin Rit-tase were ushers.

A reception for approximately 150 guests was held in the social hall immediately following the ceremony. The couple left for a wedding trip to Florida. The bride chose for traveling a navy blue dress with a white collar and the orchid from her Bible. Upon their return they will reside at the home of the bridegroom until their new home is completed.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT DISCUSSES COLLEGE REQUIREMENTS AND SMALL SCHOOLS

Dr. Earle Hawkins, president of Towson State Teachers College, was the speaker at the professional faculty meeting held last Monday afternoon in the Taneytown High School. Faculty members and parents who attended were the following: Mrs. Michael Drabic, Mrs. Louis Michea, Mrs. Delmar Baumgardner, Mrs. Kenneth Nusbaum, Mr. John Skiles, Mrs. Delmar Riffle, Mrs. Earle Stonestifer, Mrs. Noah Babylon, Rev. Stanley Jennings, Rev. E. P. Welker, Mrs. Charles Hopkins, and Mr. Murray Baumgardner. In his address Dr. Hawkins discussed the topic "Are the High Schools Meeting College Requirements?" and also touched on "Small Schools Vs Large Schools."

Dr. Hawkins started by saying that the accomplishments of the United States high schools will go down in history as a tremendous achievement because they have continued to educate all our citizens in spite of the fact that our school population has been doubling every ten years. Some people criticize the schools, he said, but it is remarkable that they have done as well as they have under the circumstances.

Dr. Hawkins listed the most important characteristics of a high school graduate that tend to make him a success in college. The first on the list was how hard the pupil worked in high school and the grades he achieved. Some specific abilities he listed were the following: a student should be able to write themes, use the library efficiently, be able to listen to a fifteen-minute speech and summarize it, be a good reader, have good study habits, have plenty of self-discipline and self-motivation, and be able to express himself orally. A good IQ is very helpful in insuring a student's success at college, but students have been known to graduate from college with only an IQ of eighty when they had plenty of listed four general elements directly related to college success: general background, which included wise home relationships, ability to read good newspapers and magazines; emotional stability; habits of work; that is the ability to start immediately to study and not to wait until the last minute; general intelligence. He mentioned that if a student were lacking in one of these he would have a hard time at college, and if he were lacking two of them he would probably fail.

In the second part of the discussion which was concerning the "Small Schools Versus Large Schools," Dr. Hawkins brought out the fact that we can have good students or poor students from either type of school. He said that the work given in the classroom must be a challenge to the pupil; it must make him feel that he has accomplished something after the assignment has been completed and it must not be so difficult that he will go down in defeat. This type of assignment can be given in any size school.

Dr. Hawkins said that the smaller school tends to have poorer equipment, smaller libraries, fewer first-class teachers because the better teachers tend to gravitate toward the larger schools, a less diversified curriculum, more inefficient classes because there are all kinds of pupils with varying abilities in the same class, and a higher cost per pupil. However, he said that none of these need exist. They only tend to exist. The small school can have good equipment and a large library if there is interest in seeing that these things are accomplished. In a county system, the assistance of the community may be needed to make these possible. He said that in a community where there are loyal teachers, you may have teachers who are deep-rooted and deeply interested in their school. Therefore, you may find experienced and efficient teachers in the small school. In the smaller schools there is less competition among the pupils and in general they do not have to work as hard to make a good grade. On the other hand, many of the pupils from the small schools do better in college because the competition which they find there really makes them apply themselves. He said that often they do not do as well in the first year of college because of the great adjustment in living, but in general, they make out well in succeeding years and many times do better than pupils from larger schools.

In the general discussion that followed one of the parents in the group asked Dr. Hawkins to define a small school. His reply was that in a six-year system he would consider an enrollment of under five hundred to be a small school. He closed his remarks by saying that he considered a school of 800 to 1000 as being the most efficient unit.

BOYS' HOME

The Raymond I. Richardson Foundation is preparing to open the Home for Boys for which it was created by the terms of the will of the late Raymond I. Richardson of New Windsor, Md.

The will states in part that a Corporation shall be formed for the purpose of a charitable institution for boys who may be in the discretion of the trustees of said Corporation in need of assistance and help as shall be provided by said Corporation.

Soon after Mr. Richardson's death, the executors of his estate appointed a Board of Directors and in September 1934 The Raymond I. Richardson Foundation was incorporated under Maryland law. The members of the Board of Directors are: Norman B. Boyle, President; Mrs. Ethel B. Bixler, Vice-President; Ralph G. Hoffman, Secretary; Granville E. Bixler, Treasurer; E. Miller Richardson, executive Director; Scott S. Bair, Landon C. Burns, Carroll L. Crawford, D. Eugene Walsh.

The trustees turned to Judge Thomas J. S. Waxter, Director of the State Department of Welfare for consultation and direction in planning a new institutional program for boys. As a result, plans are in the final stages for the establishment of a modern group care facility that will offer service to a maximum of ten boys who cannot be in their own homes and are not suited to foster home placement.

The Home will be located on the former Walden estate, known as Bowling Brook farm at Middleburg, Carroll County, Md. This property was recently purchased through Richard Riggs of W. C. Pinkard & Co. office, First National Bank building, Baltimore, Md. and the purchaser was represented by Westminster Realty & Insurance Co., Carroll L. Crawford and Loring B. Yingling owners, Westminster, Md.

Because of its adaptability to the purpose of the Foundation, the mansion house will serve as the boys home. A limited farm operation will be carried on by the Foundation for training purposes.

Mr. Newell J. Rice, recently Executive Director of the Childrens Home of Baltimore will be in charge of the program and services for boys. E. Miller Richardson, Executive Director also a trustee of the Foundation will devote full time to this project. In addition to the Boys Home there is a 264 acre farm with facilities for training and breeding thoroughbred horses.

Last Judgment
Lesson for March 31, 1957

ALL human judgments are imperfect, and some of them highly unjust; because no man knows all the circumstances of any act, not even his own. We are notoriously poor judges of our own actions; but we are no juster to others. Judgments of ourselves are spoiled by pride; judgments about others are spoiled by prejudice. We never do really see any action in all its dimensions. We can never judge the consequences of an act because we know only a small fraction of them. We cannot well judge the motives of an act, because we mis-read (or read through rose-colored glasses) our own motives, and the motives of others we can do no more than guess at.

Dr. Foreman

Final Judgment
Nevertheless, most of us are called on to pass judgment on others in various ways. And when we are honest we do try to come as near to God's viewpoint as we can. That is, we try to take everything into consideration. But try as we may, we must admit first and last that only God can be the final judge, for only he has all the facts. There are many pictures of the "Last Judgment" in the Bible and they do not agree in details, since they are pictures of what cannot really be imagined. But back of all the pictures, stern, compelling, chilling as some of them are, we discern some plain truths. One is that not only is God the final Judge of every man, but his judgment is final because he and only he has all the facts, and he does not read his judgment till all the facts are in. True, God's judgment is going on all the time, and we can read them in history. "I can read his righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps" as the poet says. This is true of men and nations, that the divine judgment is interwoven with their lives. God settles many of the affairs of this planet, on this planet. But in the ultimate future, and only then, will all the facts be in. No judgment before then, not even God's, is final.

The Great Separation
All sorts of efforts have been made to dull the force of Jesus' terrific picture of prophecy of the Last Judgment in the parable of the sheep and the goats. It has been said that this is a judgment of nations, not individual persons; but anyone who can read Greek can see that is not the case. The word "them" in Matt. 25:32 plainly does not refer to nations but to persons. (Furthermore, how do "nations" fit into the end of the story?) It has been said too that this is not a separation, of the "saved" from the "unsaved." But the issues of the Trial, as Jesus pictures it, are eternal life and eternal death. The fact is, this is Jesus' picture of the Last Judgment of mankind, and there is no getting out of it. At least two points stand out, etched as it were by fire. One is that the final judgment against a man is not necessarily for what he has done but for what he didn't do; did not even think about doing. The other point is that the basis of judgment is a man's human relations. True, deeper than that is a man's relationship to Christ; but in this parable, Christ identifies himself completely with the troubled sufferers of the world. What we do, or do not do, about human misery, we do or fail to do for the Lord.

The Judgment Seat of Christ
Another strange thing appears in this overwhelming portrayal of judgment, vast and final. The Judge, the King, is the Son of Man, Jesus Christ himself. This fits in with other passages in the New Testament where sometimes Christ, and sometimes God, appears as the Judge of all. This is a tremendous claim on Jesus' part, to have the right to sit on the throne of the universe. Nowhere is the deity of Christ more strikingly affirmed than right here. On the other hand, he is still the Son of Man. He is our Elder Brother, bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, "made like his brethren in every respect" as Heb. 2:17 says. God in his final judgment, acts with and through his Son who was and ever shall be one with God and one with man. We cannot deceive him. He is one of us.

MEETING OF FARMERS

The Taneytown Farm Bureau Planning Group met on Friday, March 22, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brower. The meeting was opened by the president, Mr. Harvey Dickinson, Sr. The group sang "Springtime in The Rockies", the secretary's report was read and approved, the treasurer's report omitted because of the absence of the treasurer.

The topic for discussion was "Surplus". Our group thought that the trouble could be partly remedied by "expanding research through industrial development to get more uses in expanding America to utilize farm production."

HIGH SCHOOL BIBLE CLUB NEWS

The High School Bible Club met Monday night in the high school auditorium. Rusty Harpp was our guest. He brought a message in music. He used to be with the 101 Ranch Gang.

Also Cliff Miller, Waynesboro YF leader was present. The contest for the radio is progressing nicely. All enjoyed the program. Everybody is invited to Bible Club next week at 8:00 p. m.

The family of Herbert Hoover, 31st President of the U.S., came to West Branch, Iowa, 18 years before his birth.

As your SALSBURYS DEALER, let me talk to you about

Stress Factors

Poultry feel the effects of many stress factors—chilling, lack of feed or water, and sudden changes of any kind are just a few of them. Stress can upset the bird, lowering disease resistance and contributing to poor flock efficiency.

My Recommendation: Start chicks on Dr. Salsbury's Medic-Aid in the water. Powerful combination of antibiotics and vitamins helps prevent disease and stimulates growth. Medic-Aid also helps stop slumps in laying. See me now for poultry health aids.

BETTER DO

Most people know by now that I can write them proper Fire Insurance protection at much less cost than most other agents. That I can still write Full Windstorm and Hail coverage, instead of $50. Deductible on each building.

It is your money you are paying premiums with, think about what you are buying, compare prices, coverage, and companies. But to really do yourself a favor. BETTER CALL

Cut Work and Handling Costs

with a farm-proven

DARI-KOOL CAN OPERATE ON LOW-COST "OFF-PEAK" ELECTRIC RATES

No other cooler can match Dari-Kool's fast cooling and year-after-year low operating and maintenance costs.

• Milk is cooled to 38° in only one hour—assuring a lower bacteria count and better milk. The milk cannot freeze because it is cooled with ice water.

• Dari-Kool's inner milk tank—with its moist, refrigerated side walls—retards the formation of milk stone. This makes Dari-Kool tanks much easier to clean.

• All Dari-Kool tanks are stainless steel—inside and out (not painted black iron). A rugged 10-gauge steel frame and pre-expanded milk tank assure accurate calibration and correct payment. Dari-Kools are electronically calibrated at the factory.

• Compare them all and you'll choose a farm-proven, guaranteed Dari-Kool—America's largest-selling bulk milk cooler.
