DRIVE FOR FUNDS

An important "get ready meeting" for the light bulb sales was held by the band committee of parents on Tuesday evening, at 8:30 with twenty parents participating. The children in the band with the assistance of their parents will be on the street next Tuesday evening starting at 7 p. m. selling bulbs to raise funds for their band uniforms. It is the plan that a group of the band will parade the streets during the time of the sales. Please be pre-pared to greet these kiddies. They have a worthy need. All parents of the band children are requested to come with their child to the band room at 6:30 on Tuesday evening in order that you may help with this project. The success of this campaign will put us well on the way to our goal of raising $2700. Alumni and citizens of our town, you are asked to be on the alert in regards to a letter sent you by the band committee. There are approximately 700 Alumni members. Just think what it would mean if each gave just one dollar! We would like to order these suits by Sept. 1. You can help us do this with your support. We'll be seeing you on Tuesday evening. The Band Committee of Parents.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

In memory of my wife, Ruth Flea-gle Jones who has gone on to her Heavenly reward, and of her mother Mrs. Benj. Fleagle, Sr., would like to "perpetuate" several "Carroll Record" subscriptions, if possible. Wife and "Grandmother" Fleagle both appreciated The Carroll Record more than we realized. It has served as a "landmark" in stability of purpose and righteous living, neighborliness and community prosperity as God ordained it. We cannot bring back the past ,but we can help make a more glorious and helpful future, where-ever we may go, with God's help, day by day regardless of "circum-stances". And somebody stated we should make circumstances, but this cannot always be done, unless we take the Creator and Divine Administrator, our Lord and Savior into "partner-ship." From then on, things can be different, in His will and plan.

REUNIONS

The 9th annual reunion of the late Jacob and Rachel Frock clan was held July 28, 1957 at Pine-Mar, near Tan-eytown. There were 115 members in attendance.

We, the delegates to the National Education Association's Centennial Convention at Philadelphia, wish to thank the members of the Carroll County Teachers' Association for making it possible for us to attend this historic event. The National Edu-cation Association was started one making it possible for us to attend this historic event. The National Edu-cation Association was started one hundred years ago in Philadelphia with forty-three members, and it now has a membership of over 700,000. There were 6124 official delegates from the forty-eight states, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and Alaska who attend-ed this convention and 5,471 others, making a total of 11,595 registrations. The attendance of some of the meet-ings was estimated at 20,000. The theme of the convention was "An Educated People Moves Free-dom Forward". The President of the N. E. A., Miss Martha Shull, of Port-land, Oregon, presided. The program for the week included speakers who are outstanding in their various pro-riages, 4 deaths and 4 births during the year. Prizes were awarded as follows: Oldest Man, Mr. Emory Frock, Fort Howard, Md., 80 years; Oldest Wo-man, Mrs. Tillie Frock, York, Pa., 82 years; Youngest, Richard E, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Frock, Lit-tlestown, Pa., 3 weeks. Married long-est, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Gladfelter, York, Pa., and Mrs. Lynn Gladfelter, York, Pa., are outstanding in their various pro-fessions; such as, heads of universi-ties, scientists, historians, novelists, architects, musicians, statemen, etc. Some of these were Vice-President of the United States, the Honorable Richard M. Nixon; Senator John Ken-nedy; Senator Richard Neuberger; Secretary of the United States De-partment of Health, Education, and Welfare, Marion Folson; Director of the Eastman School of Music, Dr. Howard Hanson; General Secretary for the World's Organizations of Teachers, Sir Ronald Gould; Governor of Pennsylvania, George M. The pro-gram was concluded with everyone praying the Lord's Prayer and singing "God Will Take Care of You." Mr. Jennings Frock, Sr., the newly elected president made a few remarks and reminded everyone of our slogan, "Together, we stick, divided we're In these days when the problems of education are so overwhelming, their solutions so difficult, and the effect on solutions so difficult, and the effect on the lives of our nation's children so direct, it is well to consider and heed what the leaders of our nation are saying along educational lines. They are profoundly concerned about the lack of classrooms, about the scarcity of teachers, about the small number of qualified young people who enter the teaching profession, and about the apathy on the part of some of our children's education. The crowded classrooms directly affect the quality of teaching because the teacher is un-able to assist each child as well as he could. The scarcity of teachers puts more demands on the ones who are teaching so that the teacher is he could. The demands for extra-curricular activities, committee work, professional meetings, summer school, and "paper work other than classroom teaching, frustrate the modern-day teachers and tend to drive them out of the teaching profession. Then, too, the salaries of teachers are not high enough to attract and hold people who should teach and who are rearing families. Industry, business, and other fields of work draw teachers because of higher salaries and fewer problems; such as, discipline in the classroom and disposition which appealed to every-long hours of preparation and plan- one in those days. The 'old faithful' red Geraniums on each side of the front porch steps appear as huge roses and as to the lovely Gardenias which I just picked lend the delightful aroma throughout the first floor of the bungalow. And—that reminds me! I wrote to the "Plant Dr." of the Baltimore-News-Post asking him if there was a way to make the Gardenias larger and in a personal letter here is just what he said—"I gave my girl friend a Gardenia last year and it bloomed beautifully. This year the buds drop off as fast as they form. It is an exasperating plant. Greenhouse experts often have a great deal of difficulty with them. If I were you and had a plant that blooms like yours, I wouldn't try to make it larger or anything. I'd just be happy with it as it is. Perhaps Fd better come over and take some lessons from you!" C. & P. APPROVES EXPENDI-TURES FOR SERVICE EXPANSION AND IMPROVEMENTS

To further expand and improve telephone service in Maryland, the board of directors of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, in its regular meeting (July 29) approved expenditures of $618,000 according to an announcement by W. Griffin Morrel, vice president. Largest single expenditure authorized by the board was $184,000 needed to provide additional cable and aerial wire for expansion of telephone service in the growing Frederick area.

Another large appropriation of $145,000 calls for cable and wire in Princees Anne, which will help meet the demands for service there. An additional $111,000 was allocated to the continuously expanding Baltimore metropolitan area. This includes $45,0000 required to augment telephone service in northeast Baltimore, $38,000 for extension of wire and cable in Woodlawn, and $28,000 for improvements in downtown Baltimore

In the Maryland area suburban to Washington, four projects totaling $157,000 were authorized for new central office equipment and outside wire facilities to meet demands for service in Silver Spring, Bethesda, and Suitland.

During the last 10 years snow and ice removal has cost the railroads more than $200 million of their revenues.

Lewis Mumford, an expert on city planning, has this to say: "Either the motor car will drive us all out of our cities, or the cities will have to drive out the motor car-not by absolute prohibition, of course, but by restrictions of size and access, favoring small cars-and penalizing such monstrosities as those fantastic and insolent chariots with which American motor car manufacturers now burden our streets and parking lots.

"At the risk of deflating Mount Holly after your fine build-up, we must point out that this plan has been in effect in Neosho for the past three years. To the best of our knowledge, it originated in West Plains, Mo., some four or five years ago and we stole it from them.

"However, regardless of where it originated, it is one of the fin-est courtesies a city can extend and Mount Holly will not regret its forward attitude. "This newspaper has had let-ters from all over the United States expressing amazement and appreciation for this courtesy. "Many people abuse the courtesy, but many others do sin-cerely appreciate it. Only people who appear in police court these days are the chronic offenders." We are sure that neither Editor Barrett of the MOUNT HOLLY NEWS nor his fellow townsmen will be "deflated" by the words of Publisher Bush. Rather, we think, they will be reassured by them. Such encouragement might well provide the extra patience required to work out any bugs that may develop, and it, might even cause similar experiments to break out in many other towns. As for our own reference last week to "this very latest innovation in progressive merchandising, mutual aid and civic harmony", we offer humble apologies to Neosho, West Plains and any other communities which may have adopted this plan in advance of Mount Holly-together with our congratulations on having made it work.

Sincerely. BOB TAYLOR.

SPEECH AND HEARING CORRECTIVENESS

The Easter Seal Treatment Center for crippled children and adults will begin its treatment program August 1, serving Frederick, Washington, and Carroll counties. Speech and hear-ing therapy will be available at this time with accurate therapy and time, with occupational therapy and physical therapy to be added in the early fall.

According to Miss M. L. Champney, field representative and director of the Center both children and adults will be accepted for treatment, but only on recommendation of the physi-cian. Initial appointments can be made by writing to the Easter Seal Treatment Center, 1730 N. Market Street, Frederick, Md., or calling the Center (MO 3-6240). FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

There is conclusive evidence that Carroll County will eventually boast of supporting a hospital. This is long over due but it is gratifying for many people that at long last inertia has given way to progressive action. An architect has been engaged by the committee headed by Mr. Willis Wampler to design a 50 bed hospital to be an addition to the existing Coun-ty Health Center. Methods of financ-ing the structure head almost hear ing the structure have already been worked out and include a public subscription campaign to begin in Sep-tember. Carroll Countians have contributed to several subscription drives put on by the Frederick Memorial Hospital and the Gettysburg Hospital This was no more than they should have done for our count makes use of both of these institu our county tions. Now the time has come to aid our own proposed hospital and every family should help no matter how small the contribution. For when our county has its own medical facilities it is going to benefit everyone. More doctors will be willing to locate in Carroll and ease the doctor shortage and it will save patients from making the long trip into other hospitals through congested traffic. Further-more it is time the citizens of Car-roll assumed the responsibility of looking after its own people and pro-

They soon learn that coming in contact with the wire will sting them. Most of them will give up reaching the green corn with the first contact with the wire. One or two in a herd will finally decide that they can creep under the wire and get to the corn. Surely this isn't instinct but reasoning. In the past man has been taught a lot from animals and maybe he will still learn much more. He may learn that to survive the atomic age he will have to build his group who believe that animals cannot reason but act by instinct alone.

We have seen animals do many things that require the ability to think things nouse under-ground, like the woodchuck and the fox. This is the time of year when you pick a peck of pickies and make your favorite relish, that is if you have any pickles to pick after the dry weather and the hungry insects get through with the vines. A new car will help you to see the world but before you start out you had better decide which world.

The person who believes that where there is smoke there must be fire just hasn't tried cooking over an outside grill .- Ruth Roelke.

For Good Living Land Management Is Profit Foundation

Good earth means good living for farmers who keep their land's fertility level high by sound soil management practices, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement

Most any farm can be built up by attention to a few fundamentals. Among these are liming, where needed, good crop rotations, and the regular application of sufficient amounts of fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash. The soil's organic matter supply can be replenished by plowing under legumes, the use of "green manure" crops and by regularly returning crop residues to the soil.

Such soil management practices can pay dividends in the form of extra profits per acre, says the committee. These extra profits, in turn, can help farmers pay for the comforts and conveniences they and their families desire.

Tests at agricultural colleges and field experience on farms, says the committee, show that fertilizer can return anywhere from $2 to $5 in increased crop production value for every dollar invested in plant food. The extra dollars can help farmers buy new cars, tractors and equipment, new furniture, rugs and drapes, labor-saving electric kitchens, more plumbing or new refrigerators, the committee says.

"This makes prosperity for local merchants and for business generally," the committee points out. "And it all springs from intelligent management of the soil." "When a farmer invests in crop-boosting items, he cuts the cost of production per bushel, per ton or per pound and he increases his profit margin."

How Insurance Rates Are Set

Insurance rates for a particular auto coverage vary all over the lot. A New York businessman (to take an extreme case) may pay $45 for a single insurance coverage that costs a Pennsylvania farmer only $15. At that, the New Yorker may be getting a bargain. How are such auto rates set? They are set by the risks you run. Using a lot of tables, charts and statistics the rate-makers put a price tag on your risks consider. price tag on your risks—consider-ing three things mainly: the price of your car, the territory you live in, and whether or not you have a "youthful driver" in the family.

If you drive a Cadillac, your fenders will cost more to repair than Ford fenders. This means your rates for collision and comprehensive insurance must be higher.

The territory you live in affects both your collision and your lia-bility rates. If the accident rate in your territory is high, your insurance rates are pegged higher all around because all your driving risks are greater—risks to yourself, your car, to other people and their property. Different territor-ies show different auto repair costs, too, and they are reflected in the price of all your auto coverages. For drivers under 25 most companies charge liability rates that are nearly double the regular adult rate. The rate-makers' tables show that untrained youthful drivers, as a group, have about twice as many fatal accidents as other age groups. Two other factors affect liability rates. If you don't drive your car for business purposes, your rate is somewhat reduced. Also, some companies give a reduced rate if you drive less than, say, ,500 miles a year.

The problem farmers face is to kill insects and other pests without killing themselves. Every says. Chemicals must also be applied in such a way and at such a time that no harmful residues are left on food crops when they reach market.

Nothing is as closely regulated as the nation's food supply. The federal food and drug administration, under the Miller bill, has set up tolerances limiting the amount of pesticide that can remain on food crops when they're harvested. Food crops are regularly inspected as they move to market, and any crops carrying more chemical residue than listed, or a residue from a pesticide chemical that hasn't been approved for use on the crop, are subject to seizure.

To protect themselves from personal danger and possible financial loss, Every advises farmers to use only those pesticides approved by the food and drug administration-and to use them in a way that will make it possible for the crop to pass inspections at harvest time. Growers can get information on which pesticide. chemicals to use, and the correct rate and method of application, from their local county extension offices.

"NICKELS FOR FARM YOUTHS"

Richmond, Va.—Farm youth in the six-state operating territory of South-ern States Cooperative, will have the opportunity to win up to $68,000 in the "Nickels for Farm Youth" contest M to be held by the cooperative during August, September and October. Southern States Cooperative cur-rently serves over 350,000 farmer-members in the states of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Here's how the "Nickels for Farm Youth" contest will work: During the three-month period of the contest, farm youth under 21 years of age can collect used Cooperative Mills formula feed tags bearing a star and redeem them for cash at their local Southern States Cooperative local Southern States Cooperative Service Agency. The tags will be worth five cents each and must have at least three of the five points of the star showing to qualify. Tags must be turned in at the same local agency throughout the contest to insure par-ticipants accurate total scores.

Farm youth whose parents are em-ployees of Southern States Coopera-tive or its Cooperative Service Agencies are not eligible to participate in the contest.

The special tags will appear on all Cooperative Mills feeds except broil-er and turkey feeds and scratch grains.

The individual boy or girl in each of the six-states who collects and turns in the greatest number of used tags will also receive a cash award of $100. The youth with the second greatest number will receive $50 and the third place winner will get $25. To be eligible to win one of these state awards a youth must turn in at

THE INTRODUCTORY POEM-

This is a book for both young and old— It has many secrets to unfold; It tells about things people never knew;

And, its doctrine, experts say, is true.

The book is a mixture of poetry and prose; And, every line is intended for those Who would like to know God; and, study His plan, Which includes this earth as well as man.

After making a careful study of the book, Things shall assume a different look; For Love and Nature, when combined, Will form a picture of God in your mind.

God is not a will-o-the-whisp floating on air— He is real! and, His body is seen everywhere! If the average man knew what He has done To make earth a Paradise for everyone.

Present conditions would change over night; And, to serve Him, it would be a great delight; All the peoples on earth would shout and sing! Hallelujas would make the welking ring—

Nature is God's physical body which we see— He lives in all things, as in you and me; They speak; but, we do not understand, Because the five senses are in command.

The chemist can make a grain of wheat Which resembles the ones we daily eat; But, if you plant it it will not grow;

For ,God is not in it, to make it do so. At no place on earth do God's face I see

As in a rose or a beautiful tree— It just seems like He is speaking to me— The likeness is so great which I see!

The poems tell of the rivers, the brooks, and the seas, The mountains, the flowers and the beautiful trees; They tell of what Nature is doing for man, Even give a slight hint of God's great plan.

They tell about Jesus, our Wonderful God, Who made this earth; and, on it once trod; He told about a Hereafter which no one knew,

And the many things which we ought to do. Before He came man did not know

From whence He came, or whither He shall go; Se, He lighted the way through the valley of death, Through which all must pass at their final breath.

They tell of this country, the land of our birth, Why God made it the greatest place on earth-A great haven of refuge, where all who roam May come and make for themselves a home.

From the flourishing East to the golden West, Every inche of our soil is blest; Both the "early and the later rain" Drive famine from this vast domain.

It seems as if God Himself stands here To feed all who hunger from year to year; None are ever refused a helping hand When famine or pestilence visits their land.

God knew what it is to be an emigrant— (As a child many years in Egypt He spent); So He made this great El Dorado, "The land of the free" A refuge for all who from tyranny flee.

Just try to imagine the wisdom it took To lay out the course of the babbling brook! flows, not only through valleys, but mountain

"On a picnic we will go, for it's summertime you know." What is a summer without lots of picnics, even if they are in your own back yard?

back yard? Pan-fried chicken cooked right in the back yard is the order of the day. Along with that goes Chicken Bread, potato salad and, of course, icy cold soft drinks. Mix and roll the corn meal biscuit dough in the house shortly before picnic time. Cut the biscuit circles and vefrigerate. With a package of your favorite corn muffin mix, it won't take long to prepare. After the chicken has been cooked to a golden turn, remove it from the frying pan and replace it with the Chicken Bread circles. As they rise and brown, they take up all the good chicken flavor of the fat in the frying pan. The weatherman permitting, plan a back yard picnic for tomor-row. Invite the whole crowd for some good summertime eating! Chicken Bread

ROYAL FAVORITE-OF-THE-MONTH

One of summer's nicest gifts is its generous offering of plump fresh berries. A few quick tricks can turn them into elegant desserts that resemble gay French pastries, but are ever so much simpler to make. Dainty sponge cake shells from your baker, plus a creamy vanilla filling, are the two quick tricks that make these tempting Berry Baskets possible. The filling's made from Royal Instant vanilla pudding, currently starred as the Royal Favorite-of-the-Month. You'll find it's your favorite, too, in this dessert and a bost of others — not only this month but all year in this dessert and a host of others - not only this month but all year 'round.

TISKET-TASKET BERRY BASKETS 4 to 6 baker's sponge cake 1 cup light cream 1/2 pkg. (6 tablespoons) Royal shells Instant pudding, Vanilla flavor 1 cup fresh berries*

Pour cream into mixing bowl. Add pudding and beat until well-mixed about 1 minute. Let stand until thickened, about 2 minutes. Spoon into sponge cake shells. Cover pudding with berries, using all of one kind or a variety of berries. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

*Use strawbecties, raspberries, blueberries or blackberries.

as well And tells of of God's mercy wehrever men dwell.

Our God is not like the ancients have said; He is a God of the living, not a God of the dead; He, the Scriptures tell us, is like the real man; So, some day we all shall know of His plan.

What some call Nature, I call God; And, to prove He is, on earth He once trod; So, the 33 years, He spent with us here, Should prove to all peoples that He is near.

God Himself, is like the real you; So, to make us all h appy, He knows what to do; Who but He could have flavored the fruits on the trees And, given them the colors we delight to see?

Who but He would have done what He did for man Just to let him know of His great plan? Even the earth shook, when He went away; And, the heavens frowned ,the Scriptures say!

Such is the God of whom I delight to tell-The God who once came to earth to dwell! He is the Life of everything we see, Not only man but the rose and the tree!

When the stormclouds gather and billows roll, I know He has them under full control; So, I never fear, as men did of old, Because, of His Love and Power, I have been told.

When men learn to know God they never fear; For, they know He is always with us down here; He lives in you and, He lives in me; So, our Life and our Health, He is said to be.

Then, let us give thanks to the God we adore, Who still guards our country as in days of yore, And, let all peoples, in every land Give thanks for the blessings from His hand.

Can She build a barbecue fire? Yes she can — the modern mother knows how to kindle a fire that will barbecue or charcoal grill any of her family's favorite outdoor foods. And she does it without so much as smudging her fingers! She follows this list of helpful suggestions from a noted research laboratory. The New York Testing Laboratories of New York City, as a result of a study sponsored by the company that makes Rey-nelds Wrap Aluminum Foil, has come up with a method of build-ing fires in outdoor grills that is safe, clean and easy. Here are their suggestions: suggestions

- gestions: Line the bottom of the fireplace or portable grill with one or more layers of heavy duty aluminum foil to reflect the heat back up on the food and speed the cooking. This also keeps the grill free from grease and ashes. Be sure to use fresh dry foil packaged briquets. These can be shaken from the package without touching and will ignite quickly, burn without excess smoke. Use a safe starter material. Foil packaged briquets include an envelope of granular starter material that eliminates danger of flareups.

Remember they do not glow red when burning instead are spotted gray. Don't touch them with the fingers, use tongs. 4.

Looking for a new idea in warm weather drinks for the family? Then here's your answer—"Chocolate Drink on the Chocolate Rocks.

Refreshing and nutritious, "Chocolate Drink on the Chocolate Rocks" is made with the amazing new chocolate flavored drink crystals that contain all the milk values of fresh chocolate drink.

Simply mix Carnation's Instant Chocolate Flavored Drink crystals with water according to package directions. Pour about two cups of the drink into a refrigerator ice cube tray and freeze. That's to make the Chocolate "Rocks."

Background Scripture: Ruth. Devotional Reading: Deuteronomy 10: 17-21.

A MERICA has always been a land of foreigners. The first human beings who ever came to these shores were natives of other lands. We think of the Indians as having lived here always, but their ancestors came from Asia across the Bering Strait. Some ancestor of every one who reads this sentence was once recently-or long agoan immigrant to this country. And 10 Mar. still they keep coming. The coming of Hungarians is fresh in our minds; but they are only one among many races in our Dr. Foreman American melting pot. In this we are more like Brazil or Australia than like long-settled countries such as Norway and Scotland.

Motives

Why don't people stay put? Why this age-long trek from one land to another? Sometimes it is a mass-movement. sometimes mere trickle of individuals. But migration is almost never aimless. There are always reasons. The story of Ruth, in the Bible book named for her, is the story of an immigrant girl, and very suggestive for our times too. This particular young woman left her native land to go among strangers at a time and place when strangers and migrants had a much harder time of it than they do even now. But her motives were simple, strong and good. She went from Moab to Judah because she loved her mother-in-law Naomi, the mother of her dead young husband. One of the most beautiful expressions of devotion, by the way, to be found anywhere, is in the book of Ruth where the young woman declares her determination to follow Naomi wherever she goes;-a small poem of love, from a daughter-in-law to her motherin-law. Ruth's motive in moving from her native country to a strange one was simply her love for her family. Many persons have come to Amani a for no other reason than this and their families had come or size coming. Think of the Hungarian families who want to stay together; of the war brides from Germany and Italy and Japan; of the newcomers from Greece, China, Ireland and all over the world, who as soon as they got through customs have headed

THE HISTORIC CHRIST CHURCH WOMAN'S WORLD Sunday morning, July 14, when on vacation Mrs. Enfield and I worship-ped in Christ Church, Alexandria, Va. While serving a pastorate several years ago in a resort center, near Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., the distin-guished rector of a fashionable Epis-copal Church in Washington, D. C. the Rev. Randolph H. McKim, D. D., and who was rector of Christ Church 1867-1875, attended an occasional Sunday evening service at the church of which the writer was serving. the church, and which a visitor may receive upon request. The first edifice having become in-adequate, the present church building was begun in 1767 and was complet-ed in February, 1773, and has been in continuous use ever since. During this long period, the church has had only 24 Rectors, including the pres-ent one

When the Parish of Fairfax was formed, prior to 1765, there were two small churches in the area. One of these was located near the Falls of the Potomac River, which, today, is called Falls Church, Virginia, and the other was known as the "Lower Church' in Alexandria. As Alexandria was growing, and the need for larger churches was felt, the problem was discussed by the Vestry at a meeting on November 27, 1766. On New Year's Day, 1767, James

On New Year's Day, 1767, James Wren, thought to be a relative of Sir Christopher Wren, who was the archi-tect of St. Paul's Cathedral in Lon-idon, presented plans for both churches. The Alexandria Church in design is similar to the country type of English churches. John Alexander of Stafford County, the founder of the new city of Alexandria, gave the land for the church, and James Parsons offered to construct the Alexandria Church for 600 pounds.

Church for 600 pounds. Parsons being unable to complete the structure, the Vestry decided on May 25, 1772, to employ John Carlyle to complete the work. This part of 220 additional to complete the work. This part of the work required 220 additional pounds. And eight additional pounds were paid James Wren for lettering the tablets on either side of the pul-pit. On February 27, 1773, the Vestry accepted the Church as "finished in workmanlike order."

George Washington was a Vestry-man of the Parish when the church was planned, and purchased pew No. 60 for 36 pounds and 10 shillings, the highest price paid for any of the pews. This pew is said to be today exactly as when occupied by the Washingtons. It is the only double pew in the church, one seat facing the other and extraord is the other the other, and entrance is through a

On the com-munion rail is a small silver marker attesting his confirmation here on July 17, 1853, by Bishop Johns. Lee's pew No. 46, across the aisle from Washington's, is marked like Wash-ington's with a facsimile autograph on silver on silver.

In the very shadows of Christ Church, one Sunday morning in 1774, Washington, surrounded by the congregation, advocated withdrawing al-legiance from King George and de-clared that he would fight to uphold the independence of the Colonies. Nine years later, in his accustomed seat in Christ Church, Washington heaver the Beater the Bay David hears the Rector, the Rev. David Griffith, proclaim that peace and good-

Many Presidents of the United States have attended Christ Church and have worshiped in Washington's Was years for the President to attend the Church on the Sunday nearest to Washington's birthday. President Wilson, Marshal Foch and Prime Minister David Lloyd and Frime Minister David Lloyd George attended services at Christ Church shortly after the First World War. On the first of January, 1942, President D. Rodsevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, the Honorable Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Creat Paintie and the Forl of Hal Great Britain and the Earl of Hal-ifax, British Ambassador to the United States, attended services together at Christ Church. Silver markers in Washington's pew indicate where President Roosevelt and Mr. Church-ill sat. President and Mrs. Harry S Truman attended Thanksgiving Day services at Christ Church on Novem-ber 28, 1946. President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower attended services on George Washington's Birth-day, 1953. This Church has had several names. In the early days it was called "The Church," then "The Church nigh Alexandria", also "The Church in the Woods". After the Revolutionary War it was called The Protestant Episco-pal Church, Fairfax Parish. When the Church was consecrated by Bish-op Claggett of Maryland in 1814 it was given its present name, "Christ Church".

Blackberry gelatin provides the base for this party dessert made by chilling a mixture of whipped gelatin and cream with chopped nuts. It's served by cutting in wedges, and, if desired, with additional whipped cream and fresh, sugared raspberries.

Dissolve blackberry gelatin in hot water; add cold water, salt and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Set bowl of gelatin in ice. Whip until frothy and light. Fold in whipped cream and chopped nuts. Pile into 11/2-quart mold. Chill until firm, about 3 hours. Unmold. Serve plain or with whipped cream.

Contributions

Ruth, like most immigrants, had to start at the bottom of the ladder, both economically and socially. She was one of the extremely poor for whom the ancient law had been made: Do not harvest our fields clean-leave some gleanings for the poor of the land. So in her humble way, picking up what she could find in the fields of Boaz, Ruth contributed to the "labor pool" of her new home. Boaz was bright enough to see that Ruth had something to contribute besides physical strength. (She could carry a 90-pound sack of grain without help.) She had character of a rare sort. It took courage on the side of Boaz to decide to marry her, for he would be going against the prejudices of his neighbors, even against the law, which banned Moabites down to the tenth generation-and Ruth was only the first! But Boaz knew that this young woman, as wife and mother, would be an asset to his family and his country. And we know how right he was; how she became an ancestor of King David and even of the greater King Jesus.

Welcome

It is only natural for people, families, communities and even nations to become ingrown, to be suspicious of strangers. Some places hardly ever admit any one to their closed circle. In a Virginia community a daughter of one of the "First Families," speaking of a neighbor, said, "Her family came here only 60 years ago-they don't really belong here!" What a lonely life that neighbor must have led! Newcomers have to prove themselves, as all men must; but it is shabby treatment not even to give them a chance. Happy is the community, and blessed the church, that will be as quick to help the needy among its newcomers, and to perceive the good in them, as Braz was with Ruth, the penniless immig-ant.

FROM "LIFE IN THESE UNITED STATES"

My son in college had been dating a pretty, vivacious young blonde and had even brought her home one week-end for us to meet. Then, suddenly, the whole thing was off. When I asked him what happened he showed me a letter she had written him setting forth what she expected of marriage: a beautiful home, trips abroad, a convertible, and more.

"How in the world did you answer the letter?" I asked.

'he replied casually, "I merely told her that when I married I hoped to have children-but I didn't want my wife to be one of them.

Having moved into a new apartment, a women phoned the subscription department of a magazine to which she had subscribed. "I would like to change my name and address," she explained.

There was a sigh, and a sweet young voice replied emphatically, "Who wouldn't!"

Angel Pie Offers Handsome Dessert

There are times when we look for something really special in a dessert. For a special dinner, an afternoon or evening dessert party. a shower or a luncheon, do try an angel pie.

Meringue rather than pastry makes the crust for this kind of pie, and the filling is a rich but cool and delightful custard. Make it a day in advance of the party because no cornstarch or flour thickens the filling and it must be thoroughly chilled to cut properly. Pineapple Angel Pie

(Serves 8) 4 eggs, separated 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar Pinch of salt

1¼ cups sugar 1/2 cup pineapple tidbits 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel 2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 cup heavy cream, whipped For the meringue shell, beat egg whites until foamy. Sprinkle with cream of tartar and salt and beat until stiff. Add 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time and beat thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until mixture is very glossy and will stand in peaks. Spread in a well-greased and floured 9-inch pie pan, pushing mixture higher on the sides than in the center so that it resembles a pie shell. Bake in a slow (300°F.) oven for 40 minutes. Remove from oven and let cool.

For the filling, beat the egg yolks until thick and lemon - colored. Gradually beat in the remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Add pineapple tidbits, grated lemon peel and juice. Cook over boiling water until mixture is thick. Cool, Fold in whipped cream and spoon mixture into cooled meringue shell.

How Savings Bonds helped his ship come in - twice!

fervor of a lover of liberty.

And one of the big dreams of his life was a trip back to his native Greece to tell his friends of the wonders of this country.

Like more than 40,000,000 other Americans he saved for his goal through U.S. Savings Bonds.

When he had enough, he arranged his passage to Greece and set off for a New York bank to cash his Bonds.

He arrived but the Bonds didn't.

Somewhere on the way, he'd lost them and to further complicate matters, his ship sailed in 72 hours.

He told this story to a bank official who got in touch with the Treasury Department.

Ulysses K had adopted America with the Records were checked and Ulysses received his money in time to sail on schedule.

This true story illustrates the indestructibility of U. S. Savings Bonds. Any of your Bonds that are lost, stolen or destroyed will be replaced withour charge by the U.S. Treasury. That's why Bonds are said to be "safer than cash.'

And now "safer than cash" Savings Bonds are better than ever. Every Series F. Savings Bond purchased since February 1, 1957, pays 3-1/4% interest when held to maturity. It pays higher interest, too, in earlier years and matures in only 8 years and 11 months.

Now more than ever it's smart to save with guaranteed-safe U. S. Savings Bonds. Buy them where you bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds

Color Can Make Your Farm Safer

Safety Scheme Marks Various Equipment

Color can help make your farm shop a safer, more pleasant place to work, says J. W. Matthews, assistant professor of agricultural engineering and vocational agriculture at the University of Illinois.

A new idea for farm shop safety is the safety color scheme adopted by the National Conference for Farm Safety. It is based on the American Standards Association Safety Color Code.

Matthews says five colors make up the code. Red identifies areas of danger and areas where fire protection equipment is kept. Orange designates dangerous parts of machines or equipment. Yellow is used to mark stumbling and tripping hazards. Green designates the location of safety and first aid equipment. Blue designates electrical controls and caution areas.

Matthews suggests that you start using the safety color code by painting all areas around fire extinguishers and all gasoline containers red. Paint handrails, guard rails, top and bottom treads of stairways, projections, low beams, posts, and pipes high visibility yellow. Use safety green to mark the first aid kit and the location of safety goggles, eye shields, res-pirators, fire blankets and gloves.

ispose of without creating a nuisance aspect of whey is providing a strong incentive to develop uses that can turn this waste into a raw material for new products, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Although whey may be described as the watery part of milk, which is separated from the curd in cheese-making, the amount of this material wasted each year in the United States actually contains well over 550 million pounds of solids-enough to fill a 5,500-car, 40-mile-long freight train.

It is these whey solids-perishable and highly active-that present difficult disposal problems, yet also offer great promise as industrial raw material, according to USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Cheese makers in the U.S. produce more than a billion pounds of cheese each year. Since about 9 pounds of liquid whey are left from each pound of cheese, that means some 12 billion pounds of whey are produced. It is estimated that almost 9 billion pounds are wasted and present a disposal problem.

Concrete blocks used as shown make sturdy, portable posts for electric fence. Drive posts into center holes of each block. Fence can then be moved short distances without taking down the wire.

$3000 Added to 4-H Dairy Foods Project Awards

To mark their 10th anniversary in support of 4-H Club work, the Carnation Company is offering additional awards valued at $3000 in the 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstration work, bringing their total awards budget to $11,600 in this program.

Under the revised awards syspaid trip to the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago mext Decem. ber. Heretofore the national 1957 Dairy Medal award was a trip to the Congress and no sectional awards were offered. The state award will again be a 19-jewel wristwatch, and medal awards for county winners.

Participation in the program may be on an individual basis or as a member of a demonstration team. The importance of dairy products to general good health is emphasized, and ways are taught to prepare and serve nutritious dairy foods. The project affords many opportunities for leadership in the community through public demonstration and speaking.

Girls and boys between the ages of 10 and 21 are invited to enroll in a 4-H Club. There are no fees or dues. Complete infor-mation may be obtained from the local 4-H Club or County Extension Agent.
