They were followed by the delegates of colleges, universities and theological schools throughout the country, the Seminary Faculty, representatives of the boards, agencies and departments of the former Evangelical & Reformed Church, synodical presidents of the eastern synods, members of the corporation and the Board of Visitors in their academic gowns, hoods and mortar board hats.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The lovely Christmas Rose Bush in the garden is blooming beautifully these days. The Tulips are ready for their bed in beautiful colors of Purple, Orchid, Pink and another deeper shade of pink which will be placed around the 200 year old Oak tree just in back of the breakfast nook picture window. The Nursery Man was here to trim all the Evergreens and as I stood by and watched, I thought of this man working so close to God day after day! What a difference to see it completed. Appears Super-Duper!

The logs are burning brightly in the fire place as I type this Column and the cracking is so 'homey' of the sparks. A fire place may be a little trouble as to cleaning it the following morning but everything worth while, is a little bother or trouble otherwise you would not appreciate it. Eh? And soon there will be cold days ahead and I love winter although each season has it's own beauty. The first time "Sugar" saw the burning logs and she barked and barked looking up into my face all the time and back again at the burning logs but finally she and "Buttons" made a real picture stretched out before it all.

Today, Your Observer visited the "Home Show" down in the Army in Baltimore for my Readers. The various types of fences were surely in the lime light and as for a new stone facing for your home—well—there were many types and of course by different companies.

The kitchen seems to be coming to the "front" more and more with each year added new glamor. They are simply BEAUTIFUL this year. It really makes Mrs. Housewife eager to be in the kitchen these days. Any husband or every husband should have a bug put in his ear on this one and I think you know just what I mean!

Of course, the Organs were right there and my favorite—The BALDWIN outshone them all as to tone and quality and workmanship. Nothing could be finer! Just compare! In the back part of the Army eats were being served by the price of those little hot dogs was a quarter!

Now, is the time to trade your car in for a new one as all the 57 Models regardless of the name are as much as one thousand dollars less! And that is just everywhere. Better investigate that one soon.

Leaving my car at the Army, I got into a Taxi and coming out in a hurry, I had dropped the car keys in the taxi had realized it when I walked into Hutzler's. What a most fortunate thing, I always carry another set with me! Nuff Sed!

Many of you have read the grand write up by the Honorable Congresswoman of New York in the American Weekly called, "Why Social Security is Unfair" giving as her reasons that anyone getting S.S. is entitled to it but should be permitted to make more than the $1,200 yearly. If you agree with this grand lady and desire that bill to be passed do write immediately to your Senator which would mean if the Bill is passed that it will take off this ceiling on earned income. The Bill, H.R. 71411 is an amendment to title two of the S.S. Act.

That will prevent you from becoming lazy and OLD! Hope you did not miss the once big mammoth Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald on T.V. last week. The songs were as of old as they did the duets in the same manner but one would hardly recognize him. I must admit there were a few tears for he was always my favorite in any Movie!

Mrs. Housewife, if you are going to purchase a new set of pots omit even looking at the Copperware bottoms! They will make you scour after each using and that is real work. Nothing like the fine and heavy STEEL! They top any other and are the real FUTURE as to cooking pots.

Have a grand week end! See you next week D.V. Adios; I am, Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER.

INTERNATIONAL LETTER WRITING WEEK

International Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Taneytown during the week of October 6 to 12, the local postmaster announced today.

Commenting on the establishment of International Letter Writing Week, the postmaster pointed out that each year since 1938 the Post Office Department has joined in the observance of National Letter Writing Week—an annual event celebrated to emphasize the meaning and value of letter writing as a symbol of American freedom.

As a result of its success, National Letter Writing Week will be conducted on an international basis this year for the first time. International Letter Writing Week is based on the idea that written communication between people in all the countries of the world will contribute toward the building of a lasting peace.

"I am sure we are all aware that a personal letter is, next to an actual visit, the most intimate means each of us has to communicate with our fellow human beings. Letters between peoples of different nations are a sure method of establishing friendly relationships and understandings. The problems of freedom loving peoples will be more quickly solved if they are better understood.

"I urge all citizens of Taneytown and community to join in this first celebration of International Letter Writing Week and at the same time write that overdue letter to friends and relatives in America.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1957

THIS IS NEWSPAPER WEEK

This is National Newspaper Week, and if we tend to boast a little just now perhaps we may be indulged. For the newspaper, which regularly devotes itself to bring news and the interpretation of news to your homes, has a message of its own. We believe that message worthy of some attention.

The American newspaper occupies a unique place in the world. Its freedom to print is guaranteed by the Constitution. It has been considered from the beginnings of the Republic and from even before that—an essential instrument in the lives of the American people.

Its basic purpose has been and always will be the same: To tell the happenings of the day. Here the function is of particular importance in regards to the happenings of government, which is but an instrument of the people's will.

Its next and almost inseparable function is to try to place the facts concerning these happenings in perspective—to give them meaning in the light of other events, past and present.

It has other important purposes—to serve as a medium for advertising, to entertain and amuse, to serve as a public forum.

You may, and undoubtedly do, on occasion become discouraged with your newspaper or even become angry with it. Yet it is an indispensable item for intelligent living, and in more cases than is generally realized it is the most constructive and most educational item in a family's existence.

Where newspapers are free from government restriction, as they are in the United States, you are free to select the reading matter of your choice. You are privileged to have a voice of protest. You are favored by having news of importance about you, personally, collected, verified and presented in readable and understandable form delivered to your home every day.

The modern newspaper is a swift and an accurate purveyor of important factual data and a medium of considered, moderate and enlightened opinion.

The newspaper of America set aside this week, therefore, to call attention to the services they perform. But more than that they set it aside to remind themselves and their readers of the obligation they owe the American public.

It is their constant hope that the reading public will continue to trust the integrity of their services. It is their constant effort to maintain the standards which have made this nation, more than all others, a nation of newspaper readings.

National Newspaper Week, therefore, is not an occasion for self-praise by newspapers nearly so much as it is an occasion for self-appraisal. It is a time for newspapers over the land to rededicate themselves to the trust placed in them by the vast intelligent, progressive and enlightened American public.

AND A FEW QUOTES

"Freedom of conscience, of education, of speech, of assembly, are among the very fundamentals of democracy and all of them would be nullified should freedom of the press ever be successfully challenged."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

of American civilization that any enumeration of its value seems unnecessary."—Herbert Hoover.

"And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."—John 8:32.

"I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."—Voltaire.

"Four hostile newspapers are more to be feared than a thousand bayonets."—Napoleon.

"And were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."—Thomas Jefferson.

"Our liberty depends on freedom of the press and that cannot be limited without being lost."—Thomas Jefferson.

"In these times we fight for ideas, and newspapers are our fortresses."—Heine.

"The first act of any dictatorship is to suppress freedom of information."—Alberto Gainze Paz.

"For who knows that Truth is not strong, next to the Almighty? She needs no policies, nor strategems, nor licensings to make her victorious; those are the shifts and the defenses that error uses against her power, Give her but room."—John Milton, in Areopagitica.

"GRASS ROOTS OPINION"

ANAHEIM, CAL., BULLETIN: "... proposals to make unions subject to anti-trust laws are current in Congress. In recent days they have gathered considerable momentum as a reaction to the new drive by Teamsters boss James Hoffa to weld all transportation labor into a giant new union."

SULLIVAN, ILL., NEWS: "The schools are one of the biggest users of tax dollars in the community. Taxpayers who supply those dollars have a right to expect that they be spent locally whenever and wherever possible. These local business concerns not only provide some of the tax dollars but they support and contribute to school activity programs."

MASONTOWN, PA., BULLETIN: "Smoky, the Bear, has been seen on television many times during the past few months, warning us to avoid forest and brush fires. The trouble with Smoky on TV is that while his message may be appropriate to California or New England viewers at a given time, he is also warning people who are in the midst of a rainy season. Like the school zone signs which lose their effect when they remain on the street during the summer vacation, the regular appearance of Smoky robs his message of effectiveness."

SUMMIT, MISS., SUN: "... the U. S. Treasury paid $600 million as interest on the $23 billion Social Security trust fund invested in federal bonds. In short, you've paid social security once when you pay your tax—and you pay more on it every time the government pays interest on those bonds!"

TERRE HAUTE, IND. TRIBUNE-STAR: "... Though the mythical 'average' American can buy almost 50 percent more consumer goods than he could buy in 1929, inflation could play hob with the figures. It already is putting a painful squeeze on some people, and in some degree it is affecting all of us. Inflation, far from being a vague threat, is a real danger that can gobble up our economic advances unless it is kept under control."

WEST POINT, MISS., DAILY TIMES LEADER: "... all of us know that federal spending is not going to be turned off like one would turn a faucet handle. There must be a gradual decline—in spending first, and then in taxes."

CHAGRIN FALLS, O., EXPONENT: "Physicians, newly impressed with the growth and energy potentials of a high protein diet, are increasing the meat ration for patients of all ages."

HOWARD, S. D., MINER COUNTY PIONEER: "YES, JAKE... the difference between us and the millionaire—is that we worry over the next meal—and he worries over the last one."

WACO, TEXAS, FARM AND LABOR JOURNAL: "As organized labor will continue to work within the system of free enterprise. That system is as dear to us as to anyone. There could be no free labor without free capital. Collective bargaining would be meaningless in a government-dominated economy. The right of business to a fair return is basic to the American system. Equally basic is the right of labor to a fair wage."

X-rays were first discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist.

Lab Keeps Windows Efficient

Tests Duplicate Storms

Nature's tempests are being duplicated in the laboratory today to test the efficiency of wood windows in keeping bad weather out.

In the photograph, a technician is inspecting a window of ponderosa pine in a special wind and rain chamber. Wind velocities of approximately 60 miles an hour can be produced in the chamber. The window can be battered with as much as five inches of "rain" per minute.

These tests have resulted in wood windows that are weather-tight even under the most extreme conditions. The wood itself also is weather-resistant, and it is treated with a moisture-proofing chemical.

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

Even the greatest prosperity always has its weak spots. Chestnuts and pumpkins are a very poor crop. Dr. Chas E. Roop has equipped his handsome new home with a modern acetylene gas plant. He evidently thought that waiting for a town plant to be installed would be a very tedious wait.

The canning season in Taneytown, this year, was an extremely poor one. The yield was very poor, owing to the unfavorable weather.

Our public school building, to which another story and two rooms have been added, will be open for school, October 14th. The building is now large enough for both present and future needs and is well adapted for school purposes. Miss Effie E. Hess will have charge of the highest grades while Prof. L. D. Reed and Miss Emma Reaver and G. May Forrest will continue as heretofore.

(Advertisement) The Great Hagerstown Fair and Horse Show will be held at Hagerstown Md., October 15, 16, 17 and 18, 1907. Grand Stand attractions greater than ever.

Hawk-Wachter.—On Oct. 2, 1907, at the Reformed parsonage, Union Bridge, by Rev. Martin Schweizer, Mr. Clarence H. Hawk, of Ladiesburg, and Miss Myrtle M. Wachter, of New Midway were married.

Geatty-Repp.—On October 2, 1907, by Rev. G. W. Baughman, Dr. J. Sterling Geatty and Miss Anna Mary Repp, both of New Windsor, were married.

Eichelberger-Hyder.—On Sept. 28, 1907 at the Lutheran Parsonage, Taneytown, by Rev. Wm. E. Wheeler, Mr. Hershey F. Eichelberger, Woodsboro and Miss Edna S. Hyder, of Ladiesburg were married.

Detour.—Commissioner Hesson, of Taneytown, was here looking after repairs on the D. P. Creek bridge.—The continued rains have retarded wheat sowing.

Till the middle of this week only a few of our farmers have any corn cut off.—S. R. Weybright has threshed out his clover seed, getting a bushel to the acre.

No doubt you have often read this chapter, have you ever meditated just how it could be carefully carried out in your life? Should a follower of Christ try to practice this chapter? Note carefully verses 14 and 15, certainly we want Jesus to be our Lord and Master. Christ tells us, "Ye also ought to wash one another's feet." He even gave us an example that "Ye should do as I have done to you".

In verse 16 He gives us a comparison, that we His servants ought to be willing to do as much or more in humble service, than He, our Lord, does. Verse 17 definitely promises us "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them". John 14:15 tells us, "If ye love me, keep my commandments".

These ordinances are new commandments which Christ has set up for His New Testament Church: as even Peter, an experienced Jew, did not understand them nor know anything about them, verses 7-8, 13-15.

The Dunkard Brethren Church believes in the practice of Christ's teachings, as near as possible in just the way He commanded them. The local Walnut Grove congregation, at Kumps Station, plans to observe these ordinances on Sunday Oct. 6. Sunday-school at 9:30, followed by preaching. Services from 2 to 4 in the afternoon. Communion services at 7 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend any or all of these services.

A Poem. Life's lesson by C. L. Sear). A child came to his teacher's side, his book tightly clasped in his little hand. "Teacher," he said, with wistful eyes, "We're coming to words that I don't understand; I've turned the pages over and over. And the words are so big, and they're all so new; When we come to the lesson where they are put, O teacher, I don't know what I'll do."

The teacher smiled at the troubled face, and tenderly stroked the curly head.

"Before we reach them I think you will learn the way to read them" she gently said.

"But if you shouldn't I'll help you. And don't you think the wisest plan is to learn the lesson that comes today, and learn it the very best you can?"

And it seems to me it is so with us; we look at the days that are still ahead—the days that perchance may never be ours with a pitiful longing and nameless dread.

But surely the teacher who gives the task will lovingly watch as we try to read.

With faltering tongue and tear-dimmed eyes, And will help his children in time of need.

I think the above is a beautiful poem and it sure does apply to us of today. I hope all who read this will take it to heart as much as I did.

A happy week-end one and all.

FACTS AND FIGURES

Last year taxpayers of Overland, Mo. were perplexed to find enclosed with their tax bill an attractive explanation of the use to which their tax dollars are put. This small, single-fold leaflet, prepared by City Clerk Dorothy Miller, features a brief summary of the activities of the past year and the plans for the future, and two pie charts which show at a glance the various sources of the city's revenue and the purpose for which each tax dollar is spent. A good reminder for all—whether satisfied or inclined to grumble—is cleverly placed on the last page: "Protect your most precious possession.—Exercise your right to vote."

Copies of this excellent piece of public relations work are available, through the courtesy of City Clerk Miller, upon request to The National Institute of Municipal Clerks, Inc., 1313 E. Sixtieth St., Chicago 37.

CARROLL COUNTY CIVIL DEFENSE COUNCIL

The first meeting of the Carroll County Civil Defense Council was held on Monday evening, September 23 in the Civil Defense room at the Fireman's Building in Westminster. Mrs. Joseph W. Hazell, a member of the executive committee of the Civil Defense Advisory Board in Montgomery County and Maryland representative at the atomic tests in Nevada, was the guest speaker. She emphasized the home protection course; the need for better education for the rural sections as to fall-out and its effect on animals; the need for auxiliary police; and the importance of the dispersal of people in industry in case of an emergency.

Mrs. Eldon Sweeney, who has served as Chairman of Civil Defense for the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, talked on a specific course of training for men and women in Welfare planning. This is a six hour course and the volunteers taking the course will then teach two six hour courses to 12 persons, 6 in each class. This plan has been successfully carried out in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. W. Glenn Speicher, District Chairman of the County Girl Scouts, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Peck, President of the Junior Woman's Club of Westminster, reviewed the activities which led to the formation of the Council and urged participation in the Civil Defense Program. Mr. W. Warfield Babylon, County CD Director, had met with the visitors and representatives of the Scouts and Woman's Club in the afternoon.

The next meeting of the Council has been set for Tuesday evening, October 29. The nominating committee Severene MacLaughlin, Rotary Club and WTR; Mrs. Fred Wehrenberg, Givnette Club; Mrs. Arthur Peck, Jr. Woman's Club, will make its report at that time. Any organization that wishes to be represented on the Council may contact Mrs. Peck.

BASEBALL TANEYTOWN TAKES SERIES FINAL, 8-6

Taneytown captured the Shaughnessy playoff championship of the Pen-Mar Baseball League by defeating Union Bridge, 8-6, Sunday afternoon at Taneytown Memorial Park.

With Bob Weaver, veteran right-hander, on the mound, Taneytown made it two-for-two in the best-of-three series concluding area sandlot competition.

The Bridgers early edge was short-lived, for Taneytown battled back in its half, forging to the front to stay on a two-run poke by Graham Wildasin.

Taneytown played "bang-up" baseball. Larry Eckard was one of the star players hitting a 3-base hit that accounted for two runs. He also made a shoe-string catch that prevented runs from scoring.

A fourth-inning single and three runs on two walks and two errors in the sixth clinched matters for the home club. Union Bridge rallied late but to no avail.

The Shaughnessy champs finished fourth in regular season play. Union Bridge had dethroned Blue Ridge Summit in the pennant fight. The score:

DOES GOD HAVE A BODY?

Does God have a body? (many persons now say);
The answers is "Yes; it is like ours in every way";
For in Him we live and move and have being to-day;
So, He must be like us in every way.

The Scriptures also tell us God is All in All—
(The only Presence on this great ball!);
Even Moses thought He had a body like me and you;
And, what Moses thought, they say is true.

But, there is one thing that Moses did not know;
Our God is with us, every place we go;
He implants Himself in us all at time of birth;
So, He is our personal God on Earth.

God has millions of bodies which we daily see;
But, none can equal the body of you and me;
It is true our body is still in Embryo;
But, in it, God tells us how to do and to go.

Mortal man is far from being perfect, you say!
That is true; and, we see it on earth each day;
But, here God teaches him the secrets of His plan;
And, here He trains him to be a model man.

Things on Earth, I admit, are far from complete;
And, that, may be said of the people we meet;
But, here God trains us from day to day
Till we learn to know Him and go His way.

The chemist can make a grain of wheat
Which resembles the ones we daily eat;
But, if you plant it, it will not grow,
Because God is not in it to make it do so.

That is one proof that God is All in All,
Even though a grain of wheat is small
It shows that, in everything, God must be
Whether it be a man, a flower, or a tree.

The Bible says: "The heavens declare the glory of God!"
How about mortals who dwell on this sod?
Don't you think we should begin to study a plan,
That will make of you and me a perfect man!

This is not just a few simple words put in rhyme
They were written for those who live in our time;
Like Jesus, God wants all His Sons to be
For, with Him, they shall reign through Eternity.

Jesus is the Light of the World, the Scriptures say;
God sent Him here to show us the way
We all must be; and, how we must go
To enter Paradise from here below.

The day is coming when all shall want to know
More about God and the right way to go;
So, listen to the prophets; and, do as they say;
For, the things they tell us shall be someday.

About the future, I shall not try to tell—
You all know the story; and know it well!
A Paradise God intends this Earth to be
When the time arrives for its great jubilee.

There shall be no more night, the Scriptures say;
Just imagine!—Sunshine, flowers, an endless day!
Even Death shall have no dominion, they say;
When man learns to know God; and, goes His way.

So, follow Jesus; and, put in practice the plan
That shall make of you a perfect man;
For, in no other way, the Scriptures say
Can we hope to live in the endless day.

Protect Your Equipment

"AT TODAY'S PRICES, you can't afford to leave implements outside the year around," say farmers throughout the country. "They have to last a few years longer than ever before."

Therefore, yesteryear's sights of tractors and combines corroding in open fields or under trees are becoming less common.

The pole building provides much better protection than trees and at very little cost when compared with waste caused by depreciation of implements.

It is a modification of the farmers' standby, the pole barn, which costs less to erect than other types of construction and yet is sturdy and flexible.

Pole buildings can pay for themselves in a handful of years by providing longer service life of implements. The buildings will last much longer than a few years if they are erected with poles and lumber commercially treated with permanent-type preservatives such as pentas, which profects wood from termites and rot. These buildings can be multi-purpose structures and can be easily converted to other uses. Combination bar-corn crib-implement buildings have been built. Tool rooms, garages, or grain storage sections can be provided within the building.

Contractors specialized in putting up pole buildings quickly and efficiently are available in most parts of the country. For the farmer who wants to put up his own buildings, pentas-treated poles and lumber as well as other necessary materials are available from building supply dealers.

Plans are readily available from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, state agricultural colleges and many of the metals manufacturers.

Predict 400,000 LP-Gas Tractors in '58

Greater power, longer engine life, and reduced maintenance are major reasons for growing use of LP-Gas as tractor fuel. Leading manufacturers are stepping up production of LP-Gas factory models. Inset: Behind the wheel of a new factory model LP-Gas tractor.

Chicago—More than 400,000 LP-Gas farm tractors will be in use on the nation's farms in 1958, it is predicted by the National LP-Gas Council.

In the first six months of 1957, approximately 30,000 farm tractors were converted to LP-Gas while 7,474 factory equipped models were produced. This brought the total LP-Gas tractor population to 340,474.

While total tractor production decreased 25 per cent last year, production of new LP-Gas tractors bucked the trend to show a 4.5 per cent increase. An equally significant increase is predicted by the Council for this year.

There are many factors responsible for the growing popularity of LP-Gas as a tractor fuel. In many areas cost of the fuel is favorable.

But greater horsepower and operating economies realized through the use of the fuel are even more important than cost.

The fuel's high (110) octane rating and slow burning characteristics make it possible to achieve additional horsepower. The octane rating is always constant, assuring a smooth flow of power when the engine is accelerated.

University tests and farm use records indicate that engine wear and maintenance costs can be cut as much as 50 per cent and dollar savings per tractor may range from a minimum of $75 to $300 a year. Periods between major engine overhauls are two to three times or more longer with LP-Gas engines than with gasoline engines.

Because LP-Gas is a dry gaseous fuel, it does not tend to wash oil from cylinder walls. LP-Gas is a liquid in the bulk storage tank and in the tractor fuel tank. It becomes a vapor on the way to the carburetor where it mixes thoroughly with air to achieve complete combustion.

Phil Rizzuto salutes the Newspaperboy!

"I'll certainly add my cheers," says Phil Rizzuto, "to those for the newspaperboy on Newspaperboy Day."

"These youngsters want to learn to earn their own way. They're developing qualities of loyalty, perseverance and faithfulness to duty. And they're already demonstrating foresight and thrift. Many of them are planning ahead for college educations or independent lives in business for themselves by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds and Stamps."

Background Scripture: I Corinthians 1-4
Devotional Reading: I Corinthians 3:11-23

Ideal and Real
Lesson for October 6, 1957

PAUL was not the fly-by-night sort of preacher who passes through a town, stirs up a meeting and moves on, so to speak, without looking back. He was not the kind of missionary who preaches to the natives gathered on the river bank, starts his engine and cruises on down the river, confident that the gospel has been brought to the people. Paul being a statesman as well as a saint, a psychologist as well as a theologian, stayed long enough — whenever they would let him — in every place he visited, to found a church, a going, active fellowship of believers. Then after he left, he would take time from his more than busy life to write back. He knew that churches, like new Christians, like new babies, need post-natal care. It is not safe to bring them into the world and just leave them.

Dr. Foreman

Called to Be Saints

No church gave Paul more trouble than the one at Corinth. That city was big, booming and bad. Most of the Corinthian church members had had no background of experience in the high religion of the Jews, but came in from raw paganism. Few of them were persons of great culture. At the time Paul wrote to them first, none of them had been Christians long. And yet Paul writes to them as the "sanctified in Christ Jesus, called to be saints." As J. B. Phillips translates Paul's Greek, these Corinthians are "those whom Christ has made holy, who are called to be God's men and women." Almost every one of Paul's letters to Christian churches begins on this same high note. To the Ephesian Christians he writes that they have been "stamped with the promised Holy Spirit as a guarantee of purchase" (Phillips). The Colossians he calls "saints and faithful brethren." Theologians and others have often discussed the question: Is the church human or divine? If we take Saint Paul seriously, we have to say, at least, that the church is made of persons who have been touched and are being transformed by the divine.

"There Is Quarreling . . ."

The ink is hardly dry on the high words Paul has used to describe his "brothers" in the Corinthian church, when he begins to write in a quite different key. "It has been reported," he says, "that there is quarreling among you." The reader who pushes on through this and the second letter to the Corinthians may be shocked by what he sees. These people are unspiritual (3:1), they are babies (3:2), there is jealousy and strife among them (3:3). Gross sin goes on among them unrebuked (5:1,2). They have lawsuits against one another (6:1). They have to be warned against prostitution (6:15, 16). Some of them came drunk to communion, or got drunk there (11:21). Paul is afraid that when he next visits them he may find "selfishness, slander, gossip, conceit and disorder" (II Cor. 12:20). How can he say such things to people who have been "sanctified" and are "called to be saints"? The truth is, Paul sees the Corinthians, as he saw all his converts and all his churches, in two lights. He sees the ideal church, what it ought to be and what in the mind of God it already is, or more precisely what it is destined to be.

The Answer

Now the church moves from where it is to where it is to be. But by what power? What is the secret of the church's transformation from what it is to what it is destined to become, from the real to the ideal? The answer is—in one word—Christ. Paul calls him the "power of God and the wisdom of God." In other words, as Christ comes to live in the hearts of these raw, imperfect, quarreling Christians-by-intention, they will become changed, as time goes on, more and more into his likeness. As they face their many problems, they will learn to find the solutions as they learn more and more what the spirit of Christ really is. If Christ lives in his church, the church will not be tempted to confuse what it is with what it ought to be.—It will not mistake the real church for the ideal one; but on the other hand, if he lives in the church, no one has a right to be discouraged, and fear that the ideal will never come true.

A sheep rancher suddenly struck it rich. His first purchase was a Cadillac limousine. On his next trip into town, the dealer meeting him on the street inquired how he liked the car. "Say, fella," said the sheepman, "that there is a real nice automobile. Sure do like that winder back of the front seat."

"How's that?" said the salesman. "You don't have a chauffeur!"

"Don't need no chauffeur sonny," said the sheepman, "but that winder keeps the sheep from licking my neck when I'm taking 'em to market."

SLOTS SUPPORT IRON

Slots shaped like a "V" cut in opposite sides of an empty coffee tin provide an ideal support for a hot soldering iron. The space inside the tin holds rolls of solder and a can of flux.

WORLD WIDE COMMUNION

First Sunday in October

CARROLL COUNTY COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

The first Sunday in October will be celebrated by churches around the world as World-wide Communion Sunday. This annual celebration of the Lord's Supper throughout the world is as annual witness to the essential unity of all Christians of all denominations. Sponsored by the World Council of Churches, the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Maryland-Delaware Council and the Carroll County Council of Churches. The goal is to have every Christian receiving the sacrament that day. To that end local pastors not only celebrate the sacrament in their churches but also take the service into the homes of shut-ins who request it.

Probably the first service on that Sunday will be held in Wellington, New Zealand at 10:30 a. m. in that city which will be at 8 p. m. Saturday in Carroll County. As the light of the sun moves around the globe Christians in other countries will share in the service as though the communion table were 25,000 miles long and people approached that table and retired from on from the far east end to the far west end. Many churches equal or surpass their Easter attendance on this day which has become the day of renewal of the spiritual life and the active program of the church after the summer.

New Cotton Shirt Ends Laundry Woes

Both boys can play on the floor, and no one worries about the laundry, thanks to the new all-cotton wash-and-wear shirt introduced by Arrow. These shirts combine the comfort and sturdy good looks of cotton with the convenience of wash-and-wear. New pliable permanent stays keep collars neatly in place.

There's good news from the menswear designers this fall with the introduction of a new all-cotton wash-and-wear shirt.

This new shirt, which should be welcomed by students, travelers, and ladies on the soap-suds detail, is made of 100 per cent cotton. It has the drip-dry, no-body, prevents soil from penetrating the fibers. After washing, hang dripping wet on a hanger over the bathtub. Do not squeeze or wring, since this will produce wrinkles that may need ironing. Pull seams to eliminate puckers, smooth collars and cuffs, and "finger-press" the front closing. After it is dry, it will be ready to wear. In most cases, no ironing will be necessary.

The new all-cotton shirts are "Sanforized" for permanent fit, and will retain their wash-and-wear properties indefinitely, as long as they are laundered according to directions.

The makers of Arrow shirts recommend that the all-cotton shirts be washed exclusively by hand, using mild soapsuds. Bleaching and hard scrubbing are unnecessary, since the new process used by Cluett, Peabody, prevents soil from penetrating the fibers. After washing, hang dripping wet on a hanger over the bathtub. Do not squeeze or wring, since this will produce wrinkles that may need ironing. Pull seams to eliminate puckers, smooth collars and cuffs, and "finger-press" the front closing. After it is dry, it will be ready to wear. In most cases, no ironing will be necessary.

The all-cotton wash-and-wear shirt is available in a complete men's and boy's size range.
