CARROLL COUNTY HOSPITAL FUND DRIVE

The Different Levels of Giving Explained

The levels of giving to the Carroll County General Hospital Fund enable every individual or family to help establish the first hospital in the county.

The different levels of giving for the Founders of Carroll County's first hospital include: 1, Memorial and Memorial opportunities ranging in cost from $500 up; 2, Book of Enduring names gifts of $300-$450 lists the donor's name in the book which will be placed in the hospital lobby; and 3, Founder's Benefit Plan gifts of $60 or more provide a certificate worth $30 in hospital service not covered by Blue Cross, to the holder for a period of two years after the hospital opens.

The present campaign is a dramatic culmination of concentrated efforts of public spirited and far sighted persons to establish a hospital in Carroll County. Forty years ago the need was felt and expressed in the local newspaper. Today growing population, lack of space in other hospitals, congested highways as well as distance to those hospitals emphasize the present need. In addition to these factors is the determination of a conscientious and responsible citizenry to provide for its own needs.

It is the function of the Community Gifts Division on the campaign work to visit all of the homes in their community and to present the people with the Founder's Levels of Giving.

We build many things in a lifetime; home to nurture the family; industry to provide incomes; churches to nourish our souls; libraries for our minds and gymnasiums for the development of bodily skills. It is a once-in-a-lifetime challenge to found a hospital that will succor the sick for generations yet to come.

The founding of a hospital in Carroll County is the greatest undertaking the citizens in this section of Maryland have ever set out to accomplish. It is because of this that the Community Gifts Division will bring to every family in the campaign area the opportunity to be a founder in the Carroll County General Hospital.

MEETING MEN'S BROTHERHOOD

The Men's Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church sponsored its second family night on Wednesday evening. The Mite Society and all members of the church were invited to meet with them. Mr. Merwyn Fuss was called upon to present the speaker. Before doing so, he gave some of his good jokes which he always has up his sleeve. The speaker, the Rev. Eugene Gardner, of Waynesboro, Pa., needed no introduction because he had served Trinity as student pastor while in the seminary. His address on "Family Life" was most helpful. Mrs. Gardner was with him.

Leatherwood, Jr., Chairman for the Jayettes; Taneytown, Mrs. Charles D. Baker, Chairman for the Fireman's Auxiliary; Union Bridge and Middleburg, Mrs. Raymond Selby, Sr.; New Windsor, Mrs. Fred S. Condon, Chairman for the Fireman's Auxiliary; Uniontown, Mrs. Floyd Devibiss; Sykesville, Mrs. Marion Cook; Berrett, Mrs. Milton Eckhardt; Mt. Airy, Mr. Herman S. Beck, Jr., Chairman for the Mt. Airy Lions Club; Woolery, Mrs. Merwyn D. Dutterer; Manchester, Mrs. Eugene Jordan; Myers, Mrs. Robert H. Harman.

The campaign kick-off dinner will be held on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, at 7 p. m. at the VFW Home on Poole Road, Westminster. Manford A. Hall, Director of Community Services for the National Association for Retarded Children, will be the guest speaker. Another program highlight will be the film, "A Day in the Life of a Retarded Child," shown through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Company. This film was first featured on the Arlene Francis Home Show.

Serving on the program committee for the kick-off dinner are Ray Lettore, Mrs. Mary Myers and Mrs. John Cannody.

The general solicitation for funds throughout the county will be from November 17 through 28 with concentrated one-night "New Hope Marches for Retarded Children" scheduled for several of the townships.

Over $8,000 was collected during the 1956 campaign. Some of this money was used to finance a summer day camp, to purchase special equipment for use by the four special classes, to purchase a third station wagon which is being used in the Hampstead-Manchester area, etc.

Not one cent of this money was used for administrative personnel. All officers of the Association work on a volunteer basis.

15% of the proceeds of the drive was sent to the NARC earmarked for medical research which is making slow but sure gains toward a better understanding of the causes of mental retardation. Already there are some 70 known or suspected causes, and it is entirely possible that through this same research future generations may be spared this tragic affliction.

"Meanwhile, there are an estimated 1500 retarded children and adults in Carroll County who must be provided for, and their parents need whole-hearted community support," says Col. Joseph R. Hess, campaign chairman. "There is not an easy task. Not only must they work for a total comprehensive program for their children—which literally is a program from the cradle to the grave; but they must also erase the stigma and misconceptions which have erroneously been connected with retardation in centuries gone by."

Col. Hess urges all parents who have been blessed with healthy children of sound mind and body to give special thanks during this Thanksgiving season by helping retarded children.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

During these times, one thinks of the man who gave the world a dream of Peace—Woodrow Wilson! His earliest memory, he always said, was this: He was playing on the lawn of the big house in Georgia when two men came by. "Mr. Lincoln has been elected," said one. "There will be war." The boy ran to find his father, who was working on next Sunday's sermon. "Sir," said the boy, "What is war?"

Fifty years later, Woodrow Wilson found out! In the meantime, though, he led a life of peace and quiet success. He was a man who seemed at his best in sheltered places—in the classroom, lecturing thoughtfully on government to young Princeton men; in the study, writing idealistic articles on public affairs. And if his ideas were a little too good for the real, harsh world, well, that was hardly a fault in a professor, hardly surprising in a minister's son.

Americans like an upright man. They elected Woodrow Wilson Governor of New Jersey. Later it seemed to them a good idea to make him President of these United States. Woodrow Wilson, the preacher's son, the sheltered professor, the high-minded writer on public affairs, walked into the world's biggest job in politics and it never bothered him at all. He knew what was right and he knew what was wrong, what was honest and what was not, what was just and what was unjust and these firm convictions he governed. He had a sense of his country's high place in history and of the direction in which it should go. And we moved by his vision, grew in strength, prosperity and moral leadership throughout the world.

In 1914, an archduke was shot in Bosnia and the boy who had asked his father, "What is war?" now had the answer. By the time it was over, he knew that the most important job in his life was to make a peace that would not let war happen again—a peace based on freedom for all—for he knew that free men do not start wars. He gave his life to the effort.

We know now that he was wrong. But how wrong? How wrong is it to believe so hard in something that you get to thinking it's easier than it really is? Maybe Woodrow Wilson made world peace seem too simple. Maybe he made it seem too near. But isn't the whole American story of people who get what they want just because they oversimplify the difficulties...because they think hard things are easy...because they want the good and the far-away, not later, but now?

Isn't it possible we will live to see that Woodrow Wilson was right?

Have a grand week end, folks. Be careful when you drive. Will be seeing you next week D.V. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1957
GRASS ROOTS OPINION

HANOVER, KANSAS, NEWS:
"When big people get together, they discuss ideals, when average people get together, they discuss things, and when small people get together, they discuss other people."

CARTHAGE, TENN., COURIER:
"The railroad passenger train is the best method of travel ever invented, a fact not too strongly impressed upon the present generations which have grown up largely in automobiles."

COATESVILLE, PA., RECORD:
"History makes it tragically clear that punishing the press for publishing facts is fatal to a nation's freedom. Aware of this, the framers of the first ten amendments to the U. S. Constitution provided that 'Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press.' And this principle has precedence as the first article of our Bill of Rights—not to favor the press but—to perpetuate our people's freedom to be informed."

NEWPORT BEACH, CAL., NEWPORT HARBOR NEWS-PRESS:
". . . there is nothing sinister or cynical in a newspaper being successful on a business basis, any more than there is in a market or a hardware store. The business success of a newspaper does not change its duty to print the news, to let the people know what is going on in their community, to give voice to the minority side of public issues as well as the majority side. This is not only fulfilling the duty and responsibility of a Free Press under the Bill of Rights, but is good business."

OZONA, TEXAS, STOCKMAN:
". . . in 1956, a year in which the labor leaders and politicians were talking loudly of our unprecedented employment and prosperity, manufacturing profits (after taxes) sank to the level of recession years. From 4.9 per cent in 1948 these net profits flattered steadily downward to 3.1 in 1956."

TEXHOMA, OKLAHOMA, TIMES:
"It is generally agreed that the average driver reacts in three quarters of a second. At sixty miles per hour, a car will travel 66 feet in that time. At forty miles per hour it will travel 44 feet, at 20 mph it will travel 22 feet."

CARLSBAD, N.M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "International finance is an intricate, and intriguing, thing. The World Bank has agreed to lend Thailand $66 million for a huge new hydro-electric project. Some are wondering where Thailand will get the money to repay the World Bank loan."

ANAHEIM, CAL., BULLETIN: "Possibly the most terrifying news to come off the press wires in a decade is the advent of 'subliminal' commercials for television and movies. This diabolical idea involves the use of a visual advertising message flashed on the screen with such split-second swiftness that the eye and mind do not record it, but the subconscious does. Thus, Mother, while weeping over the forlorn fate of the soap opera heroine may all the time be building up an inner but inexorable urge to slink out and buy a flagon of 'Purple Passion' perfume."

POINTE-LA-HACHE, LA., PLAQUEMINES GAZETTE: "We are dealing in 48 cent dollars today. That means that for every dollar we paid for life insurance during the past few years, every dollar we paid on a mortgage and every dollar we put in the bank is really worth less today than half of what we paid out."

"Dropping taxes by increasing federal debt is like pouring gasoline on a fire—it is inflation, giving a man new money which won't buy as much as his old money. If prices are to stay firm and taxes to drop, inflation must be curbed and hogtied".—Utica (N.Y.) Observer-Dispatch.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—Concrete spilled and hardened on slate flagstones while we were building a patio. How can the concrete be removed?

A—Mix a ten percent solution of muriatic, or hydrochloric acid with water. Wear rubber gloves and apply with a cloth. Rinse well with a garden hose. The acid is obtainable from most drug stores.

Q—We're tiling a basement floor and find there are some shallow areas here and there which must be filled to give an even surface. What can we use for this?

A—Professional tile installers often mix linoleum paste with plaster of Paris. Mix a small amount at a time into a putty-like substance and apply with a wide-bladed putty knife. Let the mixture dry thoroughly before putting the tiles down. It will provide a firm base for the tiles which will not crack or crumble under ordinary usage.

Q—We plan to install an attic fan. How can we judge the size we'll need?

A—By the number of cubic feet of air space in your home. Get an accurate estimate of this and take it to your dealer. He'll sell you a fan of the proper size.

Q—When our home was built, a two-inch layer of insulation was installed in the attic floor. Is this enough to give us the maximum benefits of insulation? If not, can we install more insulation ourselves?

A—Authorities on home comfort agree that at least four inches of mineral wool insulation should be installed in ceilings for winter comfort and heating economy, and six inches if the house is air conditioned in summer. You can obtain pouring wool—mineral wool in bags—from building material dealers. This is simply poured between joists of the attic floor, as shown in the sketch, spread out to the depth of the joists with a garden rake, and smoothed with a piece of board.

Corn husking is progressing very slowly, and the corn itself is tough and not in good storing condition.

All of the candidates from this district received a splendid home vote. Mr. Reindollar had a majority of 313, or about 123 more than the republican majority; Mr. Smith had a majority of 267 over Richards, his lowest opponent, while Mr. Fink ran about 68 ahead of the democratic state ticket.

At the Congregational meeting held by the Taneytown and Piney Creek Presbyterian churches, Rev. Herman A. Goff, D. D., was elected as pastor and a call extended to him. Mr. Goff has accepted the call. Rev. Goff and family are now comfortably installed in the Presbyterian Manse which has recently been renovated for their occupancy. We welcome both pastor and family. Dr. Goff will preach the Thanksgiving sermon, in the Reformed Church.

The season for hunting rabbits and partridges opens next Monday. Hunters will be wise in first reading the list of those who advertise their farms, before they start out.

Close shaves aren't restricted to beards. Careful cutting often is needed to put together tight-fitting pieces of handicraft project for home or farm. Some problems that crop up really call for ingenuity. A reader asks:

Q.—"We have a fieldstone fireplace for which we would like to erect a wooden mantle. How can we fit the lumber so it will be flush with the irregular stone surface?"

A.—Place the lumber against the surface at the height you wish to attach it. You may need helpers to hold it steady and level. (Run one leg of a compass or dividers along the stone surface.) The other leg will mark a similar outline on the lumber.

Use compass, or dividers, to get exact measurements.

Before you start marking, note the widest gap between the lumber edge and stone surface. Set your dividers a speck wider than that gap.

Following the outline, trim the edge of the wood. You'll probably need a compass saw, wood chisel and file to carve out the niches and curves. Place the lumber back against the surface to note any vertical variations.

Q.—"When I drill in metal, the hole never seems to wind up as exactly centered as I want it. How come?"

A.—You may be forgetting one of several basic points for using a portable electric drill (freehand or mounted) or a drill press. First, use measuring devices to determine where you want the hole and to locate its center. Mark the point with a scribe or scratch awl. Then punch a mark large enough to receive the point of the drill bit to be used, using a center punch and hammer.

With a press or mounted drill, line up the punch mark exactly with the drill bit point, clamp the work securely and then drill. (Readers may address handicraft problems to Thor Research Center.)

FEESERSBURG
(A voice from Carroll)

After much discussion and a great deal of pressure from residents of the Eastern Shore of Maryland, toll rates of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge have been reduced. Motorists will save at least 15 cents but Eastern Shore legislators contend that the rate cut was not enough. The new rate schedule is $1.25 for car and driver and $1.50 regardless of the number of passengers carried. The old toll was $1.40 for car and driver and 25 cents for each passenger over six years of age.

High school student government leaders from all parts of Maryland attended a two day convention at Montgomery Blair High School in Silver Spring last Thursday and Friday. Four hundred delegates assembled for the 9th annual convention of the Maryland Association of Student Councils to discuss school and teenage problems. First general session was held Thursday evening and continued on Friday and Saturday morning. The visiting students were housed in homes of Blair's students and faculty among the problems that bothered the delegates most were reckless driving, party behavior, homework and "what-to-do" after school and on week-ends. These problems seemed to be the concern of all students whether they came from a city, a small town or from the farms. Mr. William W. Pyles, president of the Maryland Association of Secondary School Principals addressed the convention at the first general assembly and stressed a very important point in his address. It was that so much newspaper publicity is given to the bad things teenagers do and hardly any publicity to the worthwhile things being done by high school students. One example, was he present Student Council convention. He said he had looked through all the daily newspapers near Washington and in the District and only one carried any story about the 400 hundred youth leaders assembled at Blair. But every newspaper carried a half dozen front page stories about misbehavior of young people. The newspaper just don't present the true picture about the American youth. The convention ended with a banquet at the Naval Ordnance Laboratory White Oak, Md., followed with a dance at Blair High school. Eight students from Carroll County attended the convention and were impressed with the friendly treatment they received from everyone. Nothing had been overlooked to make their trip both pleasant and educational. Elmer Wolfe school who is president of the Carroll county student council. Ann Jarvis was also a delegate but due to contracting the flu she was unable to attend.

All men will applaud the opinion of J. Robert Havighurst of the University of Chicago who says no man should retire from work until he is 68 years old and not even then if he wants to keep on living. It is often said that man is so frustrated by enforced retirement that he mopes around for a few months then out of sheer boredom gives up and dies. This also can be true of women who are used to leading an active life, although women can keep busy doing nothing. Women may resent this remark but they know its true. Most women can pass the day cleaning out the dresser drawer, washing the china in the cupboards or making new curtains. But try and interest a man in leaning out his workshop more than once a year or redecorating the basement every ten no matter how much time he has. Men want to feel that what they do is necessary, not just time killing. This is why retirement is so difficult for the male to adjust to even though he may feel financially secure.

Members of the Mt. Union Church congregation held a get-acquainted party and pantry shower for the new pastor and his family. Wednesday evening in the parish house. Over sixty persons greeted Rev. Joseph Callahan, Mrs. Callahan and their young daughter, Laurie. Mrs. Blaine Broadwater led the impromptu singing and Frank Bohn served as toastmaster. Pastor Callahan was deepened by the spirit of friendliness and the many other tokens of appreciation for his coming to the Uniontown Parish.

Russia launched a second satellite over the week-end. It proves that these Russians have brains and use them. Of course we Americans have brains too and we use them in our own cute way. For instance, we build cars that grow bigger, longer and faster with each passing year. Our only drawback is we don't build roads to match them. And we have just about perfected the electric razor. Did you know that you haven't really lived until you have shaved with this little gadget? No, I didn't either. Not until a dozen bearded men on T.V. proved it to me by shaving right in my living room. And have you ever seen anything as romantic as a five day growth of beard being moved and baled right in your own living room? Then there is the electric lighter. You have seen them I know. They are supposed to take the place of matches. The kind that Grandpa use to bring to life by a swish on his pants. But they don't pass in polite society today. Oh, no! One must have a lighter incased in silver and cutglass and refilled ever so often with oil. The old-fashioned match box is taboo. We also use our brains to fill the kitchens with untold numbers of aids to the homemakers. There are dozens of perculators, toasters, fry-pans, mixing machines and so forth. All these to help the little woman get a good meal. And what happens? The little woman puts on her hat and goes to the super-market and buys a meal already prepared. Yes, Americans have brains and they use them to pamper those who have none. But we wonder if we aren't pampering ourselves down the long road to oblivion.

Nature may have given us a bad time this summer but she is really trying to make up for it by giving us a beautiful fall. Those people with picture windows facing a woods or mountains have been able to view for several months a landscape that no artist could ever hope to duplicate on canvas. Even the birds are cooperating. Yesterday morning a blue jay and a brilliant red cardinal were sitting in an orange colored maple tree at the same time. It was one of those rare moments when the world seemed to be playing a tender melody. One minute of this kind of harmony sets the entire day to a symphony.—Ruth Roelke.

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mr. William Lwypher. The family has our deepest sympathy.

Better than Giving "Please give me some money to get something to eat." A nine year old lad with a very dirty face and a bright pair of eyes accosted a woman hurrying across Boston common. "No, I won't give you money to get something to eat." The woman replied, but she hired him to carry her umbrella to her office, on the way she gave him a dissertation on labor and its fruits that she thought he could understand.

She advised him to get into the newspaper business, she loaned him twenty cents to invest in paper after he had signed a contract she drew up in it, he promised to pay her immediately when he had cleared that amount.

In an hour and a half the lad came to her office proudly and deposited the money on her desk. She took ten cents of it and allowed him to keep the other ten.

The next day he cleared $1.50, the boy was radiant. This is better than begging, isn't it?" the lady asked. "You bet!" the boy replied. "Now, if I give you this ten cents, will you promise to buy with it what I shall ask you?"

"Yes'm", was the quick reply. "Then buy a cake of soap and use it," that was the way one boy started on the road to honesty and manhood.

I think the above story is very good and should be practiced by all. When a child or even a grown up should constantly be asking for this or that, I do not believe in turning any one down when they are hungry or in need, but I do believe in honesty and dependability.

THE CHRISTIAN'S REFLECTIONS ON REFORMATION DAY MY CHURCH: Before I was born my Church gave to my parents ideals of life and love that made my home a place of strength and beauty. In helpless infancy My Church joined my parents in consecrating me to Christ and in baptizing me in His name. My Church enriched my childhood with the Romance and Religion and the lessons of life that have been woven into the texture of my soul. Sometimes I seem to have forgotten and then, when else I might surrender to foolish and futile ideals of life, the truths My Church taught become radiant, insistent, and inescapable. In the stress and storm of adolescence My Church heard the surge of my soul and She guided my footsteps by lifting my eyes toward the stars. When first my heart knew the strange awakenings of love My Church taught me to chasten and spiritualize my affections; She sanctified my marriage and blessed my home. When my heart was seamed with sorrow, and I thought the sun could never shine again, My Church drew me to the Friend of all the Weary and whispered to me the hope of another morning, eternal and tearless. When my steps have slipped and I have known the bitterness of sin, My Church has believed in me and wooingly She has called me back to live within the heights of myself. Now have come the children dearer to me than life itself and My Church is helping me to train them for all joyous and clean living. My Church calls me to Her heart. She asks my service and my loyalty. She has a right to ask it! I will help her to do for others what She has done for me. In this place in which I live, I will help Her keep aflame and aloft the torch of a living faith. —W. H. BODDY. BABY SHOWER A baby shower was given for Mrs. Richard Wetzel by her sister, Mrs. Eugene Eyer, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Eyer, Wednesday, October 30, 1957. A Luxury Pie The Easy Way,

Here's a streamlined version for that most elegant of pies — Nesselrode — originally concocted by Count Nesselrode's chef. Cherry-studded and rum-flavored, this unusual and delectable dessert is no trouble to make with a package of vanilla pudding and pie filling mix. It's a perfect dessert for holiday entertaining and so easy to attain.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix | 2 tablespoons sugar |
| 2 teaspoons gelatin | 1/4 cup whipping cream |
| Dash of salt | 1 tablespoon chopped maraschino cherries |
| 2 cups milk | 1/4 teaspoon rum extract |
| 1 egg yolk | 1 baked 9-inch pie shell |
| 1 egg white | Baked pastry cut-out and pecans |

Combine pie filling mix, gelatin, salt, and 1/4 cup milk in saucepan. Add egg yolk and blend well. Add remaining 1-3/4 cups milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat.

Beat egg white until foamy throughout. Add sugar, a tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until meringue will stand in peaks. Then fold in hot filling gradually. Chill, stirring occasionally. Whip cream and fold with cherries and rum extract into pudding mixture. Pour into pie shell. Chill. Decorate top with a small baked pastry cut-out and circle of pecan halves.

Fuel Wasted If Insulation Has 'Leaks'

A leak anywhere in the water supply system usually gets quick attention from the home-owner. He knows that even a slow drip-drip costs money in wasted water.

But another type of leak many home-owners fail to do anything about because they aren't aware of it is the silent, invisible escape of heat through gaps in the insulation barrier.

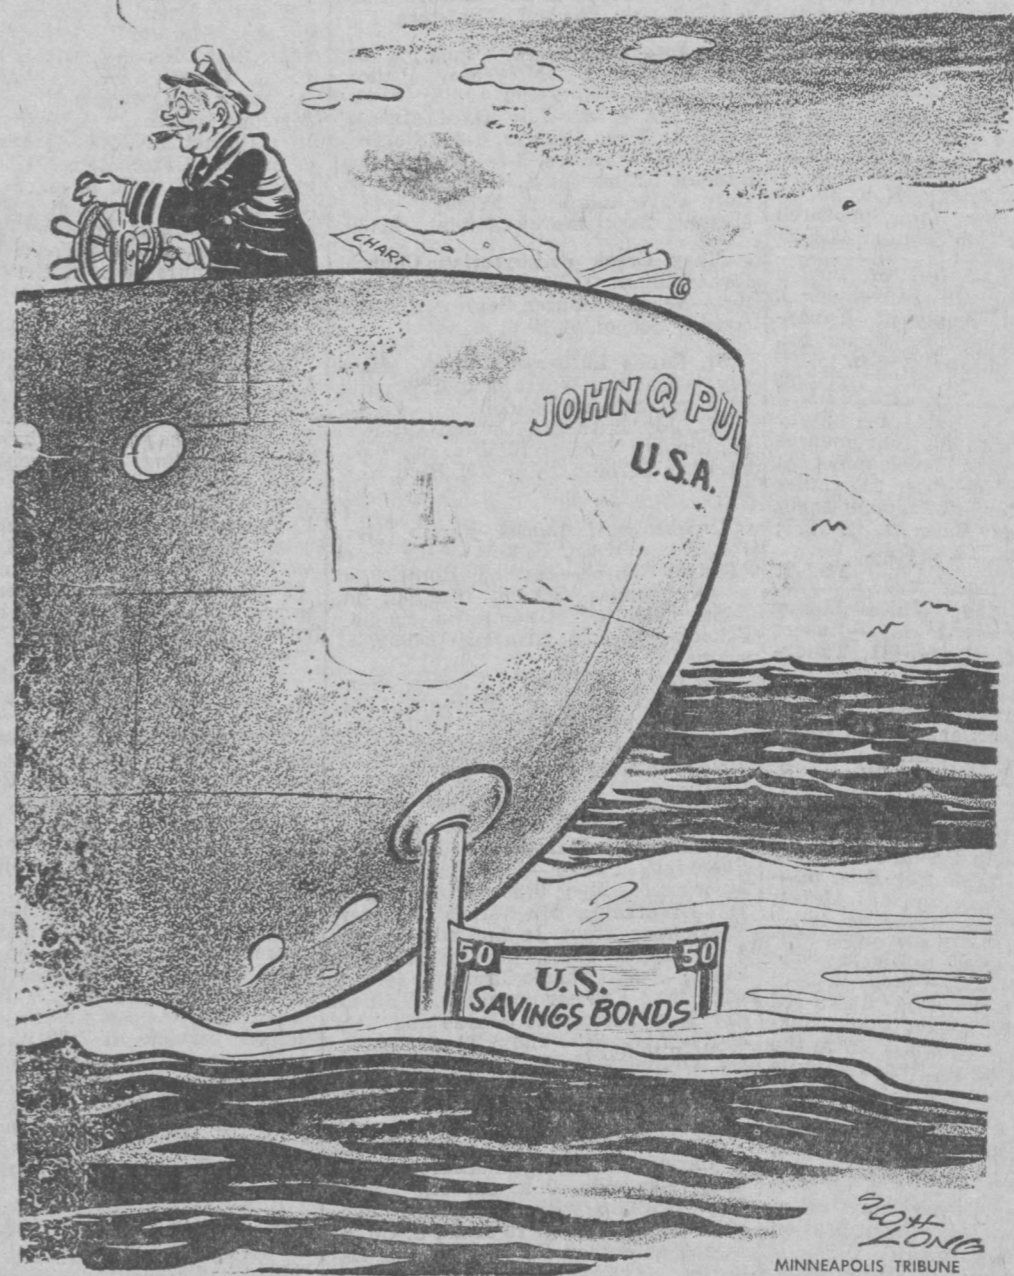

Heat gets out through these leaks in a steady stream all winter long, wasting costly fuel and causing discomfort zones in the home.

Economy-minded home-owners can find and correct these insulation leaks. A few of the most common areas where leaks are discovered are the wall between the house and an enclosed garage, a garage or porch ceiling with living space above it, and, particularly in split levels, the wall between the attic over the lower level and the upper level bedrooms.

In areas which are easy to reach, the homeowner can stop insulation leaks himself with thick batts or blankets of mineral wool. Areas such as a large wall or ceiling which the homeowner suspects is not insulated or has inadequate insulation can be inspected by an insulation contractor and properly insulated by him if necessary.

It's also a good idea to look for small gaps in areas which have been insulated, such as the attic floor. Here batts and blankets should fit snugly against joists and against the wood at the ends of the joists, and there should be no holes. Batts and blankets generally can be pushed in place, and any holes found can be filled with pouring wool available from building-material dealers.

Gifts of God

Lesson for November 10, 1957

THE tiny patch of Paul's letter-printed in most Sunday school quarterlies this week is not nearly enough to give the full idea of what he meant to teach on our subject. For this, the three whole chapters should be read. The reader will please notice that the famous chapter 13 is tied in both to the chapter before and the one following. However, there's enough in the first baker's dozen of verses in chapter 12 to give any one food for thought.

Dr. Foreman

Every Christian Has a Gift

The problem in the Corinthian church, to which these three chapters turn our attention, was the matter of "spiritual gifts." Some of the church members had some rather spectacular gifts like working miracles or speaking with tongues; others were good at administrative jobs, and so on. Everybody with a special gift was inclined to look on his own as a mark of God's favor, something that set him "a cut above" other Christians.

All these people combined to despise the poor ordinary run-of-mine Christian, who in Corinth (as in your own home church) had no special gift at all. Coming out to church once a week, and staying awake, was about all that could be expected of him.

Paul points out, in effect, that every Christian has some gift of the Holy Spirit. Well, what about these church-goers who don't seem to have anything special about them? Paul would be asked, "No one can say 'Jesus is Lord' except by the Holy Spirit," Paul says. Now that is the mark of all true Christians, that they accept and confess Jesus as their Lord. Every child, every new member, from the humblest unskilled worker right up to the President of the United States, on entering full church membership is required to acknowledge Jesus as Lord. Now, says Saint Paul, wherever that is said sincerely, there is evidence of the work of the Holy Spirit. You may call this the Grace of Believing, or the Grace of Confession; whatever you call it, it is a gift of the Holy Spirit.

For the Common Good

There are two wrong notions, among others, about gifts of the Holy Spirit, against which Paul sets the simple truth. One of these notions is that gifts of the Holy Spirit are bound to be something sensational, miraculous, spectacular. On the contrary, the truth is that the Spirit's presence is shown by such simple things as confessing Christ as Lord, or teaching, or simply having faith. The other notion is that if I have a spiritual gift, something supernatural, direct from on high, that is a sign of special favor to ME; that the gift is mainly to benefit myself.

On the contrary, Paul points out, "to each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good." (That is the R.S.V. translation of verse 7.) Any gift of the Spirit is like money put into our hands to be used for some good cause; if we keep it, hoard it or use it selfishly, we are bad trustees.

One Spirit, Many Gifts

Why doesn't the coming of the Holy Spirit into people's lives affect them all alike? Why all the variety of gifts that Paul mentions? Well, the reason is not hard to see; all these gifts are needed, in the church and outside. But one thing Paul emphasizes is that there is only one Spirit, and that all spiritual gifts, even the "humblest," are divine gifts. No one has any right to look down on any other Christian, certainly not if the other Christian is using "for the common good" the gift God gave him. A man complained to D. L. Moody, a not too well educated but very successful 19th century evangelist, that his grammar was bad. "Brother," said Moody, "you've got plenty of grammar. What are you doing for the Lord with it?"

No one should read the 12th chapter of I Corinthians without reading straight on into the 13th, which brings all this to a point. No matter what a person's gifts may be,—they can be miraculous as moving mountains,—one and all, if there is no love in the heart the most gifted Christian is a Zero, no Christian at all. It is love that gives life to all else.

'Look-Alikes' Out In Builder's Plan For Subdivision

A California builder of more than 30,000 homes has come up with an entirely new approach to the problem of giving individuality of appearance to each house in a giant subdivision.

The firm, Bollenbacher & Kelton, of Los Angeles, avoids indiscriminate use of sharp colors and widely-varying roof pitches, concentrating instead on quiet restraint in developments that fit the terrain.

"We study the terrain and work with it," says Ray J. Swaner, manager of the firm. "In San Diego, we are building 3,000 houses in a bare valley surrounded by stark hills. So we have chosen an earth-brown for our asphalt shingle color, and a moderately steep pitch for the main roof lines."

For variety and interest, Swaner says, 16 different exteriors are used for 10 basic floor plans. Some 80 percent of the roof styles have the same high pitch. They include gable styles, hip roofs, and louvered Scotch-hipped roofs. The variety of roof shapes gives each house its individualized look.

The total effect of the Bollenbacher & Kelton development is rich restraint and a quality of unobtrusive substantiality. The high-pitched roofs have an advantage of an air-washed attic, which helps keep the houses cooler in hot San Diego summers. Another important contribution to living comfort is made by the thick layer of mineral wool insulation laid in blankets between the attic floor joists.

Approached from the hills around the sub-division, the houses, with their subdued earth tones of asphalt shingles, seem to fit naturally into the rugged countryside, and harmonize softly with the green of lawns and landscaping.

D. #1, has recently been assigned to the 3rd Infantry Division, Fort Benning, Ga., where he will undergo military training and accompany the "Marne" Division to Germany next spring.

The Pentomic Marne Division, a new type of Army Combat Force designed to fight and survive on the atomic battlefield, will assume North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense responsibilities in the American zone of Germany.

RECRUITS WANTED FOR MARINE CORPS

Young men and women enlisting in the Marine Corps may now stay at home up to four months before reporting for recruit training.

Approval of this program by Marine Corps Headquarters was announced today by Staff Sergeant Patrick Bohanan, of the Marine Corps Recruiting Sub-Station at 10 West Franklin Street, Hagerstown, Md.

Its immediate effect will be to permit applicants to spend the holidays with their families.

The program was primarily initiated, Sergeant Bohanan said, to allow applicants who are employed or in school to continue working or to complete their education.

He pointed out two other distinct advantages of the program. Accepted applicants will be exempted from call by Selective Service, and the time spent at home will count toward completion of military obligation.

Applicants will not be required to participate in any military activity during the four months before reporting for active duty. For further information call REgent 3-7080, Hagerstown, Md.

YOUR SURVIVAL—WHAT IS CIVIL DEFENSE?

"God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to defend it." Daniel Webster.

Civil Defense is preparedness to defend and preserve our liberty. Each one of us has the responsibility to know how to take care of himself in storms, flood, enemy attack or any catastrophe. We must survive, not only for ourselves and our families but because upon survival in war depends the continuance of the free way of life that we believe in. How much are we willing to do to insure that free way of life to our children? Civil Defense is more than protection against a threat, it is understanding between people. It is communities ready to help each other in any emergency.

Civil Defense is states giving mutual aid. Floods and storms cut across political boundaries and states have always learned their need for organized Civil Defense help in time of disaster.

Civil Defense is nations promising to help each other in a life saving operation not just war. Several years ago when floods swept Holland almost their first help came from Denmark's Civil Defense Mobile Columns they brought in trained help with their own tools and trucks.

Civil Defense is you and me, knowledge and training and work; it is "we the people", descendants of the men who used those words in founding this nation.

Civil Defense is the will, the power of the people to follow one of our best American pioneer traditions of neighbor being prepared to help neighbor.
