One of the joys of moving into a brand-new home or apartment is the clean, hand-box look of the whole place. The day you move in is the time to firmly resolve to keep that fresh-scrubbed look always. Here's the easy way to do it, according to the Spic and Span Cleaning Clinic. As soon as any smudge appears on painted walls, woodwork or doors, wipe it off. Keep linoleum and tile floors so well washed the stains won't ever have a chance to discolor them. This resolution won't be hard to keep if you use the special cleaner that requires no rinsing for walls, woodwork and hard-surface floorings. With this constant upkeep, you'll be sure to keep that new look for a long time.

The quickest way to wash Venetian blinds is to turn the blades flat and wash on one side; then turn them so the other side is exposed and wash down with a sponge dipped in Spic and Span solution. This no-rinse cleaner removes all dust and greasy film immediately.

Bring color into your kitchen and let it capture your gayest mood, since you spend so much time there. Your equipment color doesn't limit you since it can be combined with any number of hues. For instance, with fresh yellow cabinets and appliances, choose aqua, navy blue or brown walls. With white equipment you can be daring, dramatic or restful—daring with tangerine, dramatic with plum, restful with gray. Paint the inside of the cabinet doors with your accent color, too. Just be sure that the walls are as washable as your linoleum floor, since grease and smoke can discolor them in a short time. And it's easy to keep them sparkling with the special no-rinse cleaner, designed for painted walls and hard-surface floorings.

MEMORIES OF OLD TANEYTOWN—(Part Two)

I did not tell of the Springs on the farm—
(They also helped to give it its charm!)
On Summer days when the Sun shone hot,
Many a cool Potion from them I got.

They convinced me that contagion is in the mind,
For there was no container of any kind,
With which one could kneel to get a drink,
Except cocconut shell on the brink.

Everyone who went there to get a sup
Made use of the shell or a rusty tin cup;
We all went there year after year;
For, disease and infection we did not fear.

The great stone pavement—(3 feet high)
Was a lounging place for all who went by;
Especially, on nights when the barometer was low,
That was where many people used to go.

The farm was a sort of Park where men like to roam;
And strangers shall someday call it their home;
The fields once famous for wheat, corn and hay
Shall be known as lawns and gardens some day.

In a few more years a fourth of the farm
Shall be a part of the town to give it charm;
People shall come from far and near
Because of its beauty they shall hear.

The Carroll Record is a beacon to light the way
For all homemakers and new enterprise, they say;
So, read it weekly; and, you shall know
Just where to settle, and the right place to go.

The 8-acre meadow, between the road and the creek,
Is an ideal spot which many shall seek;
Running from the creek to the Littlestown road,
It would surely make one charming abode.

It would make one wide, beautiful street—
A boulevard with which few cities could compete;
With lawn in front and fertile gardens behind,
A more perfect suburb would be hard to find.

Trees and flowers in the center of the street
Would make it a Lilliputian Paradise complete;
That is how Taneytown some day shall be
When they celebrate its ten-cen-tenary.

Most cities are built near the water, they say;
And, so it shall be said of Taneytown some day—
When "Old Piney Creek" becomes a part of the town
It shall give the place prestige and renown.

PAYCHECK ENEMY NO. 1: Unexpected hospital expenses

Protect your budget from the strain of unexpected hospital bills. Join BLUE CROSS

You won't want to think about bills and budgets when sudden illness lays your "Little Leaguer" low.

The important thing is to get him back in the lineup. But when he's back in the batter's box, scowling at the pitcher, your problems may be only beginning—if you haven't planned to meet them.

Luckily, planning to meet unexpected hospital expenses is easy, when you join your neighbors in Blue Cross, the non-profit plan to pre-pay hospital expenses.

Today over 1,000,000 Marylanders have, through membership in Blue Cross, broad realistic protection against the expense of sudden illness or accident.

Key to Blue Cross: "Service Benefits"

The heart of Blue Cross is hospital care, rather than cash. Through Blue Cross "service benefits"—agreements between Blue Cross and the member hospital—all the hospital's regular services are available to you. And Blue Cross pays the hospital directly for your care. You don't have to file a claim and wait for reimbursement. Another advantage is that these "service benefits" can cover a subscriber's hospital expenses in full, where cash payments may not.

Find Out Now About Blue Cross

If there is a Blue Cross group where you work, ask your employer how you may join it. If there is no Blue Cross group where you work, and there are five or more people employed there, ask your employer about getting Blue Cross protection for you. You may get information about Blue Cross by calling the Blue Cross office listed in your telephone directory.

What are you doing to strengthen America's Peace Power?

Not everybody can fly a jet to help keep the peace. But fortunately, everybody can do something to help strengthen America's Peace Power. Here's how:

Peace costs money. Money for many different things. To help us keep the peace, through industrial and military strength. To help make it lasting for the future, through science and education. And, (most important) it takes money saved by individuals. Your Savings Bonds, as a direct investment in your country, make you a partner in the job of strengthening America's Peace Power.

So—buy Bonds now. Buy them where you bank, or where you work, through Payroll Savings. They're a good way to save. And they're your investment in the future!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH FOREMAN

God Sets Men Free

Lesson for April 27, 1958

THE thought of God should be the happiest thought in the world, but often it isn't. On business contracts the words "Act of God" always mean "catastrophe," something dire and dreadful. Just mention God, in a serious way, at some party or in private conversation and people will stop smiling and look at you in a suspicious, almost resentful way. It is plain that some people don't like to think about God. They think of Him as the Eye in the Sky, sleeplessly watching. They think of Him as a Cosmic Calculator, forever at work adding up the good deeds and the misdeeds of all human beings, waiting for a slip, a big mistake, a sudden sin, to give Him the excuse to pounce. They think of Him as the Judge, all-knowing, un-forgetting, to whom and from whom there is no appeal.

Dr. Foreman

God the Deliverer

When people think of God in such ways, religion becomes a very unhappy and even wretched form of slow self-torture. It is like living in a prison or a concentration camp, under the guard's constantly watching eye. Now this is the very opposite of Bible religion. The keynote of the Bible from beginning to end is Salvation, which means Deliverance, which means to be set free. God is not a God who enjoys getting people into trouble, he takes delight in getting them out of it. The root of a man's feeling toward God should not be fear, but loving gratitude.

God and the Ten Commandments

Look at this from another angle again. How do people react to the Law of God, especially as we find His will in the Ten Commandments? Some people, not Christians of course, think of these laws as they may about certain state or national laws; they comply, but with a sour face and a slow heart. Sometimes they spell it out: "I don't like this law, but it's the law and I'm obliged to carry it out. I have no choice." God's law, like man's, seem (to some people) like so many prison bars. But His laws are laws of freedom, not restraint, because he is the freedom-loving God. It is written into the Preface of the Ten Commandments: "I (the Giver of these laws) am the Lord thy God, that brought thee up . . . out of the house of bondage."

A Movie's Mistake

The well-advertised and much-seen picture, "The Ten Commandments," devotes only ten minutes of its nearly four hours to the Ten Commandments. Most of the story is concerned (the narrator says) with the story of freedom against tyranny, of free men under God as against the slavery of life under a dictator. That is quite right about the Exodus of the Hebrew people from Egypt. It was the birth of a free people. By intention, the picture hit the nail on the head. But the picture itself didn't hit that nail at all. Freedom, in the picture, is just getting away, breaking loose, drowning your enemies and leaving your masters behind. But the Bible's idea of freedom is always attached to a question: What will you do with it? Freedom-from is not enough. There has to be freedom-for. The generation that left Egypt were not condemned to long wanderings, as the picture suggested, for that riotous night at Sinai. They were made to die in the wilderness because at a critical moment they refused to fight for the land of promise. (See Numbers 13, 14.)

God's Free Men

God sets men free today—he has always done it—in a more profound sense than changing their status from slaves to citizens. God sets men free in their souls. He creates a free heart as well as a clean one. God's men are not ordinary men carrying an extra load of Must's and Mussen's. God's people are set free from the "law of sin and death," not free to do as they please, but free to serve God and man. God's free men discover that freedom under God does not mean freedom from responsibility to God. Quite the contrary. No man can stand in the liberty of faith and at the same time reject his responsibility to the God in whom he says he believes. Freedom as a child sees it means having everything his own way. Freedom for the mature means seeking always God's way.

Bright Ideas

DOES YOUR TEEN-AGER have a pet project in mind that can run into quite a bit of money? A new jalopy, a vacation trip, or fitting out a photo darkroom at home are some of the teenage goals which require a sizable bankroll. But before you dig deep into your own pocket, why not try to see how you can use these desires to teach your offspring good saving habits you hope to encourage? One suggestion: open a special-purpose saving account in your youngster's name at the local bank where he can learn to save regularly toward the very special project he has in mind.

SIMPLE FRUIT DESERTS are often the most appetizing last course for a special occasion dinner. Cubes of fresh pineapple and tiny butter cookies make an elegant, yet light dessert for a party meal. To make the pineapple a little more festive, pour a few tablespoons of 7-Up over each serving. The lemon-lime piquancy of the beverage brings out the flavor of the fruit. Cut the pineapple in advance and pour the 7-Up over the cubes just before serving.

FORGETFUL BUS PASSENGERS leave behind everything from hats to crutches, but lost baggage represents the greatest potential loss in terms of monetary value. Best way to insure return of baggage is to put an identification tag on your bag, according to Trailways Bus officials. "If your name and address are on the tag, your bag really isn't lost!" bus experts say. Nation's bus systems have a record of returning better than 80% of all lost articles, including baggage, to owners. On your next bus trip, heed these bits of advice: "Before you turn your back—check the overhead rack" and "Tag that bag!"

But if he does really think that there is no distinction between virtue and vice, why, Sir, when he leaves our houses let us count our spoons.—Samuel Johnson.

Adversity is sometimes hard upon a man; but for one man who can stand prosperity, there are a hundred that will stand adversity.—Thomas Carlyle

'Tis ever thus with simple folk—an accepted wit has but to say "Pass the mustard" and they roar their ribs out!—Gilbert.

In baiting a mouse trap with cheese, always leave room for the mouse.—H. H. Munro.

You shouldn't say it is not good. You should say you do not like it; and then, you know, you're perfectly safe.—James McNeil Whistler.

JEST IN FUN
The artist had just set up his easel when a grizzled old mountaineer happened to come up the road.
"I'll give you five dollars if you'll let me paint you", said the artist to the mountaineer.
The mountaineer shifted his chew back and forth and appeared to be thinking it over.
"It's easy money", prompted the artist.
"No question 'bout that", replied the mountaineer. "I was just a wondering how to get all that paint off afterward".

ENTRANTS SOUGHT FOR "MISS CARROLL COUNTY" PAGEANT

Pasquale Donofrio, Chairman of the "Miss Carroll County" Pageant to be held June 18 in the Westminster High School Auditorium, said recently that his committee is searching for a group of representative local beauties to participate in the Pageant which is sponsored annually by the Westminster Lions Club.

Donofrio has requested every Carroll County resident who knows a personable, beautiful and talented young lady to suggest her to the Committee as a possible contestant in the local Pageant.

The winner of the Miss Carroll County 1959 Pageant, in addition to receiving a $100 cash award, will also receive an evening gown, a set of luggage, the "Miss Carroll County" crown, the "Miss Carroll County" trophy, use of a car until the Maryland Pageant, and flowers. Furthermore, she will qualify for participation in the Miss Maryland contest which will be held in Baltimore on June 27th. The girl crowned Miss Maryland will compete in Atlantic City for the Miss America 1959 crown and the $5000 scholarship (which reports say may be raised to $10,000 this year).

Members of the Entries Committee, which is headed by David Babylon, will interview each young lady suggested for a place among the group of "Miss Carroll County" contestants and will select those who will appear in the finals on June 18.

To be eligible for the "Miss Carroll County" Pageant, a contestant must be between the ages of 18 and 28 on September 1st.

1. She must be a high school graduate by September 1st.

2. Entrant must be a resident of Carroll County for the past six months; or attending college in Carroll County. She must not have competed in more than one official preliminary contest this year.

3. Entrant must be single, never married, divorced or had marriage annulled.

4. Entrant must be of good character and possess poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure.

5. Entrant must possess and display talent in a three minute routine. Talent may be singing, dancing, playing a musical instrument, dramatic reading, art display, dress designing or may give three minute talk on career she wishes to pursue.

6. Entrant may be amateur or professional.

An entry blank will be found elsewhere in this edition and may be filled in by anyone wishing to suggest a potential candidate.

Donofrio said recently that Carroll County girls considering the advantages offered to winners of preliminary Miss America contests might recall that Miss New Jersey, 1957, Sally Sue Hartman, of Giant-bug, captured her state title and a $1,000 scholarship by giving a three-minute talk on the sacred duty of Americans to vote. At the national contest in Atlantic City, she won an additional $500 special scholarship because of timeliness of her subject in the opinion of the Miss America judges.

The Committee calls attention to Miss Hartman's success, Donofrio said, in order that potential contestants will not feel that they are un-talented if they are not equipped with the gift of singing or playing an instrument. There are no entrance fees or requirements of any kind other than the eligibility of the contestant.

This is an exciting, challenging opportunity that comes once in a lifetime, offering possible fame and fortune for a Carroll County girl who is attractive and talented. Who do you have in mind? Won't you fill out the application and mail it today? Think how proud you would be to have discovered a Queen!

A woman who makes a match for her daughter usually intends to referee it as well.

The exhausted husband put down the heavy suitcases and dejectedly looked down the track at the departing train. "If you hadn't taken so long getting ready", he admonished his wife, "we would have caught that train."

"Yes" she answered, "and if you hadn't rushed me so, we wouldn't have to wait so long for the next one."

Doc Reters asked Ez Tike how well he sleeps. Ez claims he sleeps purty good nights and mornings, but afternoons he just seems to twist and turn.
