BOARD OF EDUCATION HOLDS RECESS SESSION

Special Meeting Continued from Last Regular Meeting

The Board of Education of Carroll County held a continued session, recessed from the regular meeting of May 13, on May 19 in the County Offices. In this meeting expenditures were approved for certain additional bills related to school construction and approval was given for the purchase of a number of items connected with the furnishing of equipment for new schools.

Because of the inability of the local school system to offer driver education as a complete offering in all schools, the Board took action to eliminate driver education as an offering in the public high schools of the County for 1958-59. This action was taken because the cost of the program would be prohibitive if planned for all schools and for all pupils near the driving age.

The Board took action to approve increasing the personnel in the field of music (instrumental) by the addition of one teacher in order to provide a more adequate offering in that field throughout the County.

Approval was given for the purchase of maintenance materials for use by maintenance crews during the summer, as well as approval for a limited amount of work by instrumental music teachers during a part of the summer.

The Board was given all available information related to scholarships which are to be considered at the June meeting, especially those involving district scholarship appointments to Western Maryland College.

The Board was advised regarding a number of unmet needs in the schools of the County, including psychological and psychiatric services, increased guidance art offerings, outdoor education, etc.

Approval was given for the plan of seating the newly created school grounds of the Westminster Jr. High Elementary School.

Due to increased enrollment, the Board took action to order that the Harney School be discontinued for 1958-59. This is the one remaining one-room school in the County and the Board directed that the pupils of the Harney School be transported to the Taneytown Elementary School.

The Board adjourned with the understanding that a regular meeting would be held on June 10 at 9 a. m.

MEETING OF TANEYTOWN LIONS CLUB

The Taneytown Lions Club met on Tuesday evening at Taney Inn with President Ralph Stonesifer presiding.

Wilson Utz, program chairman and member of the Sight Conservation Committee presented the program. The topic was "Safety". Two films were shown, one was "Whither I Goest". These films were relative to the blind and showed the training of leader dogs for the unfortunate people who have lost their eyesight.

Andrew Mason, principal of the Taneytown High School, was a guest of the club and made a few brief remarks.

George Arnold was a guest of his father, Charles R. Arnold.

The program for the club's next meeting will be presented by Thomas Morrison.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawn.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

How lovely the pink dogwood appears at the bungalow, plus all those three dozen pink, orchid and purple tulips around the old oak tree! May is surely bursting out all over and this is the really most beautiful month of the twelve.

The "Flower Mart" this year at the Washington Monument in Baltimore was bigger and better they say than any other year. Thousands of people were right there and it was truly a big success. Of course, the Flower Mart is put on by the Women's Civic League which is one of the most active civic organizations in the city. It was founded in 1911 to promote good causes affecting the safety, health or welfare of Baltimoreans. Proceeds all go to excellent causes of the city. The day was a delightful one for the big affair and Your Observer just had to walk a little way around the corner, dressed in a real Spanish attire. I read astrology individually from 10:30 until 6 p. m., and the ladies were standing in line! Nice?

On Mother's Day at church a very dear aged lady of 90 years had three deep pink orchids flown to her from Los Angeles early in the morning, and there they were, pinned to the lapel of her coat. Life can be so beautiful! Eh?

And coming from church there was a pitiful sight of an elderly man intoxicated being held up by a policeman who sent for that wagon! I'll never forget the expression in that man's eyes as he looked at me and I knew he was someone's father I could not control the tears as I slowly walked away and then a lady came up to me and said, "Don't cry—it is sad, I know, and it means that he is sick!" But I kept saying to myself as I climbed the stairs to my apartment, "Why?"

And this was odd, someone telling me that they knew a family by the name of Devil! That could not be, I thought, as all names originate from something or other!

Now, here's to any M. D. I had been suffering terribly with a most terrific pain in my hip to my knee and it was not getting cured after many weeks and finally, I went to a chiropractor who made adjustments on my spine and I heard a bone go back into place. I got up from that table with immediate relief and no pain since. No medicine could have ever cured that! During the move, I had evidently misplaced a vertebrae. I know of a big surgeon right here in Baltimore who sends his patients to a chiropractor for these treatments in any adjustment.

What a nice letter to add to my collection and that from Victor Borger!

Ladies, dresses in most magazines are just below the knee and it all appears like the Roaring 20's when the soldiers returned and did not recognize "The Girl He Left Behind!"

The other day, I saw a policeman jump off his motorcycle and place a tag on a car in a "No Parking" zone! I called him over and had a chat with him and I said, "Tell me, Officer, don't you feel badly doing that? How do you know that it may be a real emergency in sickness or something as I know that my husband who was a Methodist minister was given many a parking ticket when he would rush in for sickness or death and upon returning to his car, there was that awful summons!" He said, "I know, Lady, that is true, but in any emergency anyone can leave a note on the windshield just where the driver is and what it will mean, but many park—well, I'll give you this example. On 33rd street, near the Stadium, there is no parking ever in front of those porch homes when a game is going on and many a driver will defy the sign and people sitting on the porch will call out to the driver that he will be given a ticket and that driver will say something unkind and when he returns there is the ticket!" So you see, folks, if there were no signs, there would be no laws! Vice versa! Then, what would it all mean?

Next week will be seeing you D.V. Until then have a grand week end. I am,

Faithfully,

DEBT OF HONOR

The railroads are in desperate need of help. We have this officially from the Surface Transportation Subcommittee of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. This group's findings, based on 11 weeks of hearings and the testimony of 103 witnesses, are embodied in part in the "Transportation Act of 1958" (S. 3778, H.R. 12448) introduced by Senator George A. Smathers of Florida.

There is no doubt of the critical plight of what was until recent years our No. 1 industry. Deep cut are being sustained in railroad traffic, earnings, working capital and employment. Railroads are now at the point where they do not have the money to meet next month's payroll and operating bills!

Moreover, the railroad slide is having impact far beyond track and terminal. The million-man railway supply industry reports new order so far this year have been cut in half, with the result that its own employment is down nearly one-third. Indeed, the railroad problem appears to lie at the very heart of the business recession, and improvement in this area could mean improvement in the entire economy.

It is clear enough that if our railroads are to remain a bulwark of free enterprise, they must have relief from over-regulation and over-taxation and from government-supported competition. More leeway in rate-making would in particular give railroads a chance to assert their proven advantages of low unit cost for volume transportation, and would result in benefits not only for the railroads but also for the public.

The Smathers bill, said to be "the most important transportation legislation in 18 years", provides a good start toward correction of many of the inequities existing in government's treatment of the various carriers. In addition, the subcommittee urges that Congress repeal the indefensible federal transportation excise taxes of 3 percent on freight bills and 10 percent on passenger tickets, and liberalize depreciation allowances to spur carrier investment in improved facilities and services.

The time has come to repay a debt of honor to the country's most dramatic industry—one, which for more than a century has supported our freedoms and knit together the world's greatest nation. It is our privilege now to call upon Washington to give these essential carriers a better chance to serve us all better.—U. S. Press Association.

THE HALF-CENTURY MIRACLE

It's become a tradition in the newspaper world that the weekly newspaper directs most of its attention—and wisely so—to local issues that need time for consideration without the hurly-burly of daily news headlines about the latest nine-day wonder.

But every now and then a different sort of nine-day wonder comes along. In this case it's a national issue that has tremendous local implications for every last one of our readers. And instead of a nine-day wonder, it's more of a half-century miracle. In brief, the railroads, and the situation they're in.

The miracle is that they've survived under a set of regulations that were originally established when the railroads were a monopoly—and acted like one, which is to say, not very well. At the turn of this century railroad regulation was still a vital necessity; no one would argue with that. But time changes all things; time, the Wright Brothers and a man named Henry Ford did the trick for the railroads. All in the past 50 years. The trouble is that long after the railroads ceased to be a monopoly, the same anti-monopoly bills still hold. We wanted a strong airline, waterway and highway transportation system, and we made the laws to insure that we'd get them. Fine and dandy to judge by the results, for we do have today strong airlines and the best highways in the world. Moreover, we paid for them. But while we were getting them, we forgot about our railroads (and they are ours, because they're privately owned by hundreds of thousands of stockholders), or maybe it would be better to say we just took them for granted. We simply overlooked the fact that the plans and the private automobile had cut the railroads' share of intercity passenger traffic from close to 100% to about 4%. We overlooked what the growth of the trucking industry and bargelines and pipelines was doing to the railroads' share of the nation's freight traffic. Cutting it by more than 50%, to be precise.

Meantime, the railroads were and are still buying their own rights-of-way and paying for their own maintenance and equipment. They're still paying the same taxes (except today the tax bill is even stiffer), plus some imposed "temporarily" during World War II to discourage all but essential military traffic. All this without a cent of subsidy. Wages have risen, and so has the cost of such common-places but absolutely vital necessities as box cars, wheels, brakes and what have you.

Yet the railroads have survived. So far. Now they've got their backs to the wall. Unless the Congress can give it some relief soon, our railroad system will be bankrupt and after that it'll be socialized and the taxpayers will be picking up the tab for an industry that we know for a fact can make money if it is given an even break as a private, free enterprise, but which has never - repeat, never - made anything but a riproaring deficit when it's government-operated. Look at France, England, and for that matter every other railroad system in the world.

Just remember that in World War I when the government operated the entire U. S. railroad system, it cost the taxpayers $1,000,000 a day. In World War II, when the railroads operated themselves, they paid the government $1,000,000 a day in taxes.

The United States has the last free-enterprise, privately-owned railroad system left. That industry pays its own debts, and pays us taxes. We don't pay a nickel, except for fares or as freight charges.

So what it boils down to is simply: Do we want the Congress to save our privately-owned and operated railroad system, or do we want to run the railroads ourselves (for ourselves, read "by Bureaucrats") and add a vast new chunk onto our tax bills?

There's the local angle to this national issue. Because it hits right here at home, and even closer, right at our own pocketbooks. There's legislation before the Congress right now which would help the railroads help themselves. It would give them an even break in the hot competition for traffic, and that's all the railroads want, an even break.

Surely an even break for them is better than not breaking even ourselves.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

There are 4,100 independent telephone companies in this country—that is, companies which are not part of the Bell System. They serve some 11,000 communities, represent a plant investment of more than $2,700,000,000, and it is expected that they will have about 10 million phones in service by the end of this year.

According to Today's Health, 21 flu epidemics have occurred since the 1918-19 onslaught that produced the highest mortality. As a general rule, the death rate has gone down with each succeeding attack. Various reasons are believed responsible for that—better medical care, more effective drugs, and the development of a certain degree of immunity in individuals.

If you are an average American motorist, driving your car 10,000 miles a year, your personal transportation bill will come to $1,078 in 1958, an American Automobile Association survey finds. Biggest item—$565—is depreciation.

We use an estimated 200 billion gallons of water a day in this country.

Henry Hazlitt writes in Newsweek: "Unemployment insurance as such can only be preserved if it is strictly separated from relief. What we really need now is not to desert the insurance principle but to return to it more strictly. A big step in that direction might be to have the workers themselves contribute directly toward the premiums, as they have always done in Britain, and in our own Federal old-age insurance system."

The Edison Electric Institute has compiled data showing the percentage cost of purchased electric power to the value of products of a large list of important industries. The percentage runs from 0.100 in the case of tobacco manufacturers to 3.174 in the case of chemicals and allied products. The average for all the industries is 0.77.

Tax Economics Bulletin says that diversion of highway user tax revenue (of which the gasoline tax is the major producer) has been steadily growing. In about 20 years this practice has drained off more than $4.5 billion which otherwise would have been available for improvement of roads and streets.

The Class I railroads of the country install something like 25,000,000 cross-ties each year. The total cost runs to around $10.00 each.

At a recent speech, Vice President Nixon said that several publishers had told him that national advertising was down as much as 40 per cent in the first quarter of the year, while local advertising had held up reasonably well. He added: "I can think of no more short-sighted action than this on the part of national advertisers. The very people who have most at stake in the survival of our free economy should be betting on its growth rather than hedging on its possible failure."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: We had sort of made up our mind to say nothing about it. But the "TALK, TALK, TALK" column of Onetta Fisher in the WEST BRANCH (Ia.) TIMES, with the sub-head "SACKED", provides us with both the first and last words on the subject:

"This may be my last column", writes Mrs. Fisher. "Any day now the man may come to take me away. The man in the white coat, that is."

"You see, I bought one of those dresses."

"I didn't intend to. There's been so much publicity about the 'sack' and the 'chemise' that an earlier yen to own one had faded. But the dress shop advertised a sale, so I dropped in. Just to look, mind you."

"Well—
"Now you read and hear a lot about what people—mostly men—think of the 'chemise'. Women, too, are pretty opinionated. But it's like flying saucers and the abominable snowman. None of it is 'first hand'."

"Here then, is a first hand report from one who wore one. Not very far, but she WORE one."

"I donned my sack and headed for the post office, half a block away—a two-minute walk."

"Now if you're timid and shy and starved for attention, here's the way to get it."

"Bobby rode his bike head-on into a fire hydrant. Mr. Smith left his car in reverse and backed into the bread-truck. Mrs. Brown dropped a two-quart bottle of milk. The Mayor ran a stop sign. Mr. Brown mowed a path through their tulips. A screaming toddler hushed in the middle of a scream and three ladies headed for the Lodge hall turned in the barber shop by mistake."

"A young squirrel fell out of the tree at the corner, but I think that was just a coincidence."

"All this before I reached the post office!"

"There, people asked for three two-cent stamps when they meant two three-cent stamps and a fellow said he wanted to look at a money-order..."

Obviously in search of moral support, Mrs. Fisher concluded with the query: "Honestly now, don't you think some of 'em are kinda cute?" This is a leading question if we ever encountered one. But we refuse to be inducted, and will reply, on advice of counsel, that we have somehow been denied a glimpse at the "cute" ones.

(More or less) Sincerely
BOB TAYLOR.

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

There will be a game of baseball on Saturday afternoon, (Decoration Day) on the Taneytown grounds, between the Uniontown and Taneytown clubs.

Oliver J. Stonesifer, formerly connected with The Taneytown Elevator Co., has entered into a business connection with the Union Bridge Pilot. We wish him a full measure of success in his new field, and trust that he may find the "pot of gold" at the bottom of the journalistic rainbow.

The very heavy rain, last Friday night, did a great deal of damage in this section especially along streams north of town. At Albert Frook's the first story of his dwelling was flooded to the top of the mantle, while at Daniel Null's an ice house was washed away, and considerable damage done to fruit trees, fences and roads. At the latter place the railroad embankment acts as a dam, a culvert being insufficient to carry off the water.

Union Bridge—The concert given by the band, Saturday evening, was highly enjoyed by all who were fortunate enough to hear it.—Stone and sand are being hauled for the new bank, now being constructed on Main Street.—Lots of visitors in town this week, attending commencement.—Decoration Day exercises will be held as usual in this place followed by a festival in Firemen's hall.—Assistant Postmaster, Mehri Stem, has purchased a fine Ford automobile. This makes seven in this town, which is well supplied for one its size.—Messrs. J. W. Little and Roy Keefer have each purchased new rubber-tired buggies of E. S. Koons, our up-to-date coachmaker.

Keyville.—The Detour band serenaded Mr. A. R. Six, one of our merchants, last Saturday night.—Mr. Geo. P. Ritter is putting a new slate roof on his store building.—Mr. Edgar Valentine is remodeling and improving his dwelling, making general improvements.—Mrs. Jacob Baumgardner has her new house well under way, ready for the plasterers.—Recent visitors to Keyville neighborhood, who have not been here for years, have expressed themselves greatly surprised with generally improved appearances with special reference to our well kept looking farms.

Special Notices

The Mayberry Band will hold a festival on the first and second Saturdays, 6th and 13th of June in Jacob Marker's Grove.

LET'S STOP AIR ACCIDENTS

The recent series of airplane crashes have shocked official Washington into an all-out effort to develop and administer more stringent regulations over the use of the airspace.

Officials have recognized that unless this is done, and at once, our airways may become as dangerous as our highways. The more than 100,000 planes, civilian and military, now in use often create dangerous traffic jams.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, delegated by Congress to promulgate air traffic and safety regulations, has issued orders which are intended to increase the safety and convenience of air travel. That order became effective April 1.

The administrative agency responsible for carrying out these regulations is the Civil Aeronautics Administration, an agency under the Commerce Department. It is both an air traffic police force and safety enforcement agency.

Both of those agencies, the CAB and the CAA, are under civilian direction. They are authorized by Congress to "police" military flying, except in an emergency, but neither has the power to penalize military flyers who violate the regulations.

Congress Starts Hearings

Recent congressional hearings brought out testimony that the recent mid-air crash of a military jet and a civilian passenger airliner near Las Vegas, Nev., was due, in part at least, to lack of proper liaison between the military and civilian air traffic control authorities.

The airliner, the testimony disclosed, was on time on a regularly scheduled route near an airbase when the jet pilot was given permission to make a "blind" dive into the path of the civilian plane. Forty-nine lives were needlessly lost.

CAB officials told the committee that it has records of more than 2,000 "near misses" in the air. Some of those were due to lack of proper liaison between the military and civil air control authorities.

Only recently, and reluctantly, the Pentagon brass agreed to persistent appeals from Chairman James R. Durfee of the CAB for closer coordination of peacetime civil and military traffic control.

More Coordination Needed

"A coordinated and unified system of air traffic and safety control has become an absolute must because of the growing congestion of air traffic and the increasing number of jet planes traveling at great speeds," Mr. Durfee said in an exclusive interview.

"That is being done just as fast as we can bring together the trained personnel and the facilities needed to do the job. The record of air safety, despite the more than usual number of accidents recently is very good and is getting better all the time."

The new regulations place full responsibility for air safety and traffic control enforcement in the Administrator of the CAA, James Pyle, acting under regulations issued by the CAB. This applies to both civil and military planes, except in an emergency, such as a sudden outbreak of war.

The development of new methods of air traffic control is under the supervision of the newly created Airways Modernization Board, a joint civil-military agency, created to work with existing air agencies.

Oh, where are the playmates of yesterday.

The fellows we knew in school? Oh, what has become of the studious one,

Where, oh, where is the fool? Oh, what has become of the orator,

Whose passion was to recite? And the bashful kid who could speak no piece

Unless he succumbed to fright? Oh, what has become of the model boy,

Who was always the teacher's pet? And where, oh, where is the tough young nut,

The one we can never forget? The studious one, so we have been told,

Is driving a cab these days; While the fool owns stock in a bank or two,

And a railroad that always pays. The orator that we knew so well,

Is a clerk in a dry goods store; While the bashful kid we knew,

Has been in Congress ten years or more.

The model boy is behind the bars for stealing a neighbor's cow;

And you ask what of the tough young nut?

Oh, he's a preacher now!

GIRL SCOUT FLY-UP AND INVESTITURE CEREMONY

Brownie Troops 820 and 588 and the newly organized Intermediate Troop 1202 participated in a Fly-Up and Investiture Ceremony May 28th at 3:30 p. m. in Trinity Lutheran Church.

Scouts crossing the brown and green Fly-Up Bridge to Intermediate Troop 1202 were: Martha Harmon, Linda Hahn, Barbara Motter, Joan Reindollar, Barbara Lynn Hopkins, Darlene Haines, Linda Riffe, Karen Skiles, Joan Dinterman, and Carolyn Specht. They were greeted by their new leaders, Mrs. George Harmon and Mrs. Ralph Hess who heard them give the Girl Scout Promise and Laws and presented them with their Girl Scout Pin, which signifies membership in the Girl Scouts of America, and their World Pin, which shows membership in the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. Today, in every land, these emblems point the way to brotherhood, friendliness, and good citizenship.

Before crossing the Bridge to a higher level of Scouting, these girls had been leader for the last time in reciting the Brownie Promise and had been presented their Brownie Wings by Mrs. John Skiles and Mrs. Dencil Laird, leaders of Brownie Troop 588, and Mrs. Wilbur Miller and Mrs. Frank Dunham of Brownie Troop 820.

Mrs. Stanley Jennings, Committee Chairman of Troop 588, served as narrator and a portion of the program was devoted to the recognition of adult volunteers whose contributions of time and talent help make scouting possible for the girls. During this period, Mrs. Robert Smith, retiring Neighborhood Chairman, introduced her successor, Mrs. Charles Hopkins. Other officers who will serve with Mrs. Hopkins are Miss Liza Carpenter, Vice Chairman, and Mrs. John Chenoweth, Secretary. At this time Mrs. Smith presented the following adult Scouts: Mrs. George Harmon, Mrs. Ralph Hess, Mrs. Lawrence Dunn, Mrs. Harry Mohney, Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Mrs. Stanley King, and Mrs. Helen Laird. On behalf of the entire Neighborhood Association, Mrs. Hopkins presented Mrs. Smith with an engraved, bronze statuette in appreciation for her six years of Girl Scout leadership in Taneytown. Under her guidance, the Taneytown Neighborhood Association was organized and has grown from one Intermediate Troop to include two Brownie Troops and two Intermediate Troops, numbering forty-six girls. There are also twenty-five registered adult Scouts. In June, Mrs. Smith will assume her new duties in Scouting as Chairman of Carroll District, which includes Carroll County and the Reisterstown area. In this capacity, she will also serve on the Board of Directors of the Baltimore Area Council.

The Investiture and Fly-Up Ceremony concluded with singing the Hymn to Scouting and Daylight Tans. After the dismissal of the Color Guard, the Scouts and their guests; the mothers of the Fly-Ups, enjoyed cookies, punch, and a period of fellowship.

Girls participating in the ceremony in addition to the Fly-Ups were: Marshall, Beverly Utz; invocation, Miriam Reindollar; flag bearers, Barbara Motter, Kathy Parish, and Susan Jennings; color guard, Eleanor Haines and Terrie Hess; refreshment and clean-up: Susan Copenhaver, Kristin Chenoweth, Debbie Dunn, Pat Wargny, Susan Laird, Peggy Joe Smith, and Connie Jean Nusbaum.

MANY DISABLED PEOPLE ENTITLED TO SOCIAL SECURITY

June 30, 1958 is a very important date for many disabled people, Laurie J. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Baltimore (North) Social Security District Office said today.

Many people who are disabled have neglected to apply under the social security disability provisions, Mr. Gillespie said, Workers, both men and women who have been disabled for over a year have until June 30, '58 to file application for the disability freeze or for disability benefits if they are 50 or older. Those who have been disabled for a prolonged period and wait until after June 30th may forfeit their rights to disability benefits, at age 50, to maximum old-age benefits, and to benefits for their survivors.

Mr. Gillespie pointed out that there is no deadline for those who file within a year from the time they become disabled. The June 30, 1958 deadline applies only to those who have been disabled for a prolonged period.

For more information or pamphlets on benefits available under Social Security, contact your Social Security District Office at 3107 Greenmont Avenue, Baltimore 18, Maryland.

The gift camera that arrives in time to capture graduation highlights is a welcome one. And the choice is varied enough to suit any purse or preference. A versatile box-type model, such as a Brownie Starflex Camera, takes snapshots in both color and black-and-white—and color slides. Captured in pictures, the day and all its attendant excitement will live long after classmates and teachers have parted.
