SWIMMING LESSONS

To Be Held at Kingsdale Beginning Monday, Aug. 4

The annual "Learn to Swim" classes conducted by the Red Cross begin this Monday morning, August 4, for the children of the Taneytown area. They will be held at Crouse's Pool, Kingsdale, and will continue through August 15. The Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce will assist in arrangements and transportation. Classes will begin at 9:30 a. m., Monday through Friday, and will end about 11:30. The cost is only 10c per day, per child. The pool operators usually ask that the fee be paid either by the week, or the entire $1.00 to cover the two weeks, be paid on the first the two weeks, be paid on the first morning to save bookkeeping.

Every enrollee must have an application blank completed and signed by a parent or guardian. For those who do not have application blanks, they will be available at Dougherty's Sup-erette or at the Post Office this weekend. Mrs. Louise Arvin, who attended aquatic instructor's school this spring, will be the Water Safety in-structor, and will be assisted by many Aides, most of them from the Taneytown area. The Jaycees will try to arrange adequate transportation for those needing rides. Parents are also asked to try and arrange car pools. Everyone desiring transportation and those able to provide same should meet at the Municipal Parking Lot at 9 o'clock, sharp. The committee in charge is James Fair, Kenneth Crouse, and George Fream. Those desiring additional information should contact one of those men one of these men. Not everyone can be an accomplished swimmer, but most everyone does enjoy fun in the water. It is very important to learn the rules of water safety, to feel at home in the water, and know what to do in case of an emergency. It is for this reason that your local chapter of the Red Cross and your Jaycees urge you to take advantage of this opportunity for expert instruction at very little cost.

A smile that shall last until the left day dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Remember reading, my Columns of "I remember Philadelphia" I wrote of the Philadelphia Pepper-pot. The Old Liberty Bell, the Historical buildings, the long blocks and much else. Just recently, the following was sent to me and it really was interesting as I know that downtown in Phila., a great change is being taken over in other words a new look and I was amazed when last there to see many amazed when last there to see many of the old buildings being torn down. And the builders are still going at it in fact busier than ever and in time Philly will have its own type of Radio City, called Penn Square complete with outdoor skating rink sandwiched in between the skyscrapers. Despite the city's modern archiers. Despite the city's modern architectural additions many old stand by attractions remain—Grace Kelly, Scrapple, the Liberty Bell, Betsy Ross' flag and Independence Hall! Those creaky halls where Washington was given command of the armies and the Decleration of Independence prothe Declaration of Independence pro-posed and adopted is being turned into a great National Historical Park. Buildings are being torn down to make a great green mall that will stretch for squares and squares. Whatever they do or change in town, whatever they do or change in town, nobody will ever change the squares and the scrapple! The soup as I explained called Pepper-pot handed down from Colonial days mostly of tripe was always sold in the alleys of the Phila. neighborhoods by a big, beautiful black Negro woman and when I say or write "Black." I mean just that for there was no Sin in her! And she was immaculate at all times And she was immaculate at all times with a smiling face that any Movie Director or Producer would have been glad to have in his company for films Independence National Park will stretch for seven squares, all of to be a land scaped greensward. It is expected to be ready by 1963.

The entire area exudes history.

Along side the proposed mall is Christ Church cemetery where the visitors toss pennies for luck on a grave that says simply Benjamin and Deborah Franklin, 1790. A few squares away is the Dilworth-Todd-Moylan House where Dolly Todd, who marry James Madison lived.

Then there is the Betsy Ross House to which Washington is supposed to have come with a request to make the first U. S. Flag. Betsy and John operated an unholstery shop here. Elfreth Alley contains a cluster of ancient colonial homes and twice a year the current inhabitants hold open house and serve punch to comers. Not far off is Edgar Allen Poe's home where he wrote "The

CHANCE TO BE HEROES

It is some time now since the House approved, by an impressive vote of 311 to 67, the budgetary reform plan of the Hoover Commission to bring about savings estimated at from $2 to $5 billion a year.

But the bill, H.R. 8002, is presently languishing in the Senate Appropriations Committee. And it does not seem that the senators, who from time to time have mentioned their passion for economy to the constituents, are very anxious to dislodge it.

This is the bill that would prevent the various Government agencies and bureaus from squirreling away enormous accumulations of funds they hadn't been able to spend, and which, as matters stand, Congress is powerless to recover and redistribute.

Unless there is some public pressure—and quick—H.R. 8002 appears destined to gather dust until 1959. But, if, by any chance, it were to be passed now, those senatorial speeches on reducing the taxpayer's burdenwhich we are soon to hear-will sound a lot more convincing .- U. S. Press Association.

The Farmers Reunion. The Farmers' reunion was unfortunate, this year, in being held on the days during which our extended drouth was broken, the heavy rain of Saturday afternoon, especially, breaking up the most important period of three days. There was a good attendance each day, that of Saturday being a record breaker. There were some new fea-tures present this year, giving the gathering something like the appearance of a country, fair. On Saturday, Governor Crothers made an address "Manhood and Womanhood".

The tree and seed catalogs do such a wonderful job that we can't wait to pick the fruit from a new tree. And how long it seems before the first fruit appears! Horticultur-ists tell us that trees will bear sev-eral years earlier if branches are weighed or tied down so that branches are parallel to the ground. This lets more sunlight in—helps set

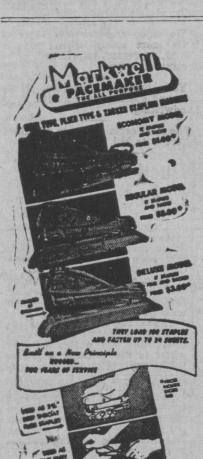

Now that we have the fruit arriving earlier, we ought to know how to handle it. One of the best aids for removing fruit skins is household lye. Just dissolve a can of lye slowly in two gallons of cold water (not in aluminum container) and bring to a boil. Place the fruit in a wire basket or in a thin cloth and lower into the solution for about 30 seconds. Remove and immediately immerse in cold water. The skins may now be washed or rubbed from the fruit. After peelings have been removed, rinse fruit in clear water, then dip in solution of four tablespoons of vinegar in two gallons of water to neutralize any lye remaining, and help prevent fruit from darkening. And here's a tomato-peeling trick.

Massage it lightly with the dull edge of a knife. The peel will come loose much more easily.

One of the handiest ways to scoop the insides out of a tomato or pepper is to use a curved-blade grapefruit knife.

Interior 'Dutch' Doors Keep Children in Bounds

A Dutch-style door used inside | shut off from the rest

A Dutch-style door used inside the house can be the answer to many problems and inconveniences, especially when there are children around.

The photograph, showing a "Dutch" door as the entrance to a small child's room, illustrates one of the most popular uses. When the bottom half is closed, the toddler is kept happily confined without being completely is incompleted to the from the rest of the family.

A Dutch door of this type is available in stock from building material dealers, or can be made from a stock panel door of ponderosa pine sawed in half.

As a kitchen door, the Dutch-style is ideal, since the top half can be left open for ventilation, while the bottom half keeps children and pets out.

> FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

When we saw the pictures of our Marines landing in Lebanon on television we had a sickening feeling in our stomach. For we were seeing our Nation do something which in the past history of our country has never been done by us before; that is, inter-fere directly with the internal affairs of other nations. When we fought our Revolution with Britain to gain our independence we would have highly resented out side interference. The citizens of Lebanon in the long run are going to resent our sending Marines in to take sides in an inter nal revolution. For the truth of the matter is the Arab world is fighting for the right to live as decently as the West. They are tired of living like beggars under a feudal system that treats them like slaves. want to raise their standard of liv-ing and they know it will not be changed as long as the same set of leaders are in power. It has always puzzled us why our government lined up behind these outmoded leaders. ### Ductless Houses Cooled by Water

"Liquid cooling" is the ideal "Liquid cooling" is the ideal system for air conditioning a house that has hot-water heating, says the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

When a house has no heating ducts, a contractor can "snake" flexible tubing through walls without opening them up.

The tubing carries chilled water from a central unit to each ter from a central unit to each room, and air cooled by the water is blown through grilles in the walls. The cooled air displaces warm air, which rises into the return grille of the unit. Insulation is important, says the Council, because it can save money on original equipment costs, and operating expenses, and make the cooling system more efficient. The Council adds that a reputable contractor should be con-sulted, both for the air conditioning and mineral wool insulation, since the job must be "engineered," just as in a heating installation.

An Easy Informal Cook-Out With Exotic Menu

Certainly one of the most popular forms of entertaining in America today is the informal outdoor barbecue party.

Menus for these are generally quite simple — featuring, for example, steak, hamburgers or frankfurters served with salad and hot rolls. But it's almost as easy to have more exotic fare, too, if you'd like your next outdoor party to be a little more special.

One such festive idea is based on kebab cookery. You still make use of the barbeque pit or charcoal grill, but actual cooking is done on individual skew-If your household doesn't already have a set of these, it's relatively easy to select from the wide variety on the market today. There are some wonderful ones in stainless steel that are perfect for this type of cookery as well as being so easy to clear afterwards.

Give each guest one of these small skewers to start with. You might add a personal touch by having them affixed with individual name tags. Then invite the guests to the serving table, and allow them to choose from a variety of meat and vegetable ingredients. Lamb, in bite-size chunks, is

Lamb, in bite-size chunks, is particularly successful. The small pieces are marinated and spiced the day before and allowed to stand overnight. You can use a large stainless steel bowl for this. The metal being absolutely taste-proof, it will protect all the delicious flavorings, and these stainless pieces ings, and these stainless pieces are also pretty enough to use as actual serving pieces at party time.

A variety of other condiments are used on the table along with the lamb chunks. These might include platters of quartered to-matos, small peeled raw onions, mushrooms and slices of green pepper. Guests can spear them up in any order and amounts they wish—much the same as a "Dagwood" sandwich. Then, all skewers are placed over the fire for ten to twenty minutes.

A hot rice casserole, which is easy to prepare in the kitchen oven beforehand, makes a delicious complement to the kebab lamb and vegetables. A large green salad, too, is in order. But just to give it a bit more of the exotic Near Eastatmosphere of the dinner, add a few fresh spinach leaves to the familiar

Still another thought might be to use a small Persian rug you might have at the foot of the table, and if you're really ambitious, perhaps friend husband might even be able to improvise a lean-to tent over the whole serving area. And just for fun, toss nillows could take for fun, toss pillows could take the place of chairs when it comes time to sit down for the meal. There's another happy aspect to this kind of party, too. Skewers are small and easy to handle almost anyplace. If there's an unexpected rain storm, it's just as easy to substitute the family fireplace indoors for the backyard barbecue pit ..

How To Foil Poison Ivy

Will poison ivy spoil your vacation and picnic fun this year?

About a million people in this country are destined to spend a part of this Summer scratching a case of this "public pest number one". It has been estimated that 60% of us are susceptible to this annoying skin condition.

Through the centuries over a thousand different remedies have been devised against poison ivy. These have ranged from chewing on the leaves to rubbing the affected area with banana skins. Unfortunately, most of them didn't work. Recently medical investigators have had excellent success with preparations such as Rhulispray which contain zirconium. Medical investigators have discovered that zirconium neutralizes the irritant in poison ivy, affording relief from its agonizing itch and burn.

Poison ivy doesn't grow wild in Europe. The continent first heard about this Summer scourge from Captain John Smith in 1609. He reported that the "yvie causeth redness, itching and blisters. Because for a time it is somewhat painful, and in aspect dangerous, it hath gotten itself an ill name."

Throughout our history this "ill name" has been well descreed. It was a major source of delay in constructing the Union Pacific Railroad in 1853-56. More recently it accounted for 80% of the lost time illnesses among members of its Civilian Conservation Corps. It also accounted for 15% of all dispensary cases at one Army camp during World War II.

The best weapon against poison ivy is knowledge. Learn to recognize and avoid it. Its colorful leaves and white berries look attractive, but their effect can be disastrous.

Keep an eye out for poison ivy's characteristic triple-leaf and steer clear of it. If you should contact the plant, lather the affected area with a strong soap and rinse several times under running water. If a skin eruption should result, preparations like Rhulismray will be such to asse term discomfort.

Guarding Freedom

Lesson for August 3, 1958

AN OLD prisoner named John came into the warden's office at the penitentiary. "Why den't you ask for a parole?" asked the warden, for this was a model prisoner. John said he was not interested. All his people were dead by that time, and most of his friends.

No job could be had on the outside. John had no use for a freedom that meant no more than the privilege of starving to death. Freedom that

Freedom is Basic

This should be particularly interesting to Christians; for freedom is at the very center of the Christian life. Christ has set us free for freedom, Paul writes. But Christian freedom does not mean that we can now do whatever we like. Freedom does not mean we are never under orders. It does not mean we should never accept any man's authority. It does not mean that we shall run around, each man working out his own little rebellion. A Christian can take orders from other people, and if he is in a subordinate position (as most of us are to somebody), it is usually his Christian duty to take orders and to carry them out as best he can.

Christian freedom means that whatever other authorities have the right to tell us what to do and what not to do, our topmost authority is God. Christian freedom means that we have no right to consent to, or to obey any brand or sort of tyrant or dictator who sets himself up as final judge and controller of other mon. Christian freedom means that when a man, or men, ask us or order us to do what we know is contrary to the will of God, we have to say as Peter and John did to the police court in Jerusalem, we must obey God rather than men.

The Price of Liberty

"Eternal vigilance," our revolutionary ancestors said, "is the price of liberty." That is to say, freedom always has to be guarded. Let us give a thought to two enemies of Christian freedom, one outside us, one inside.

One is the state or the community around us. This turns out to be an enemy of freedom when a Christian is discouraged or prevented from speaking out in any way which might seem to criticize the community or the state. That was what got Amos into trouble. The chief priest warned him not to preach any more there in Bethel: "It is the king's sanctuary, and it is a temple of the kingdom," he said. In other words, the church belonged to the king and the king could not be criticized, much less condemned. The Lord had commanded him to speak, not the king; and he insisted on being heard. So in our time there are people in politics and out who say that ministers have no business criticizing the government, or the "American way of life." True ministers know their call is from God, not the government, not any other organization whatever. In Atlanta, Georgia, a group of ministers put out a statement condemning segregation as practiced there. If they had thought of the state, or the public in general, as their authority, they never would have dared open their mouths.

Threat From Within

More subtle than attack from without, is the attack on freedom from within. There are in our country far more persons who are slaves to their own sins than persons who are slaves (in body or mind) to the state. Christian freedom is a precious thing, because freedom is what makes the difference between ourselves and the lower animals. If a man lets himself drift into sin far enough, he reaches a point of no return, like a man in a rowboat floating down toward Niagara Falls. When a man forges his own chains, he may even admire the chains as his own handiwork. But a man who cannot and dare not say NO to himself has failed to guard his freedom against his worst enemy

GOD IS LOVE-MY 90 MINUTE POEM

God has put countless things on this earth of ours—
(Among them, the animals, the birds, trees ,and flowers);
Why did He make all the things we now see,
Because, He has hobbies, just like you and me.

Our God, the Scriptures say, is like the real me (That is why He made the things we now see!); We all love the animals, the trees and the flowers; So, He sent them to make perfect this earth of ours.

Take the horse as an example of what I say;
He helped to make America what it is today;
Among all the animals, the horse, cow, and dog, they say
Are man's truest friends in this modern day.

Treat them all kindly, if your want a true friend; No matter what happens, they will stay with you to the end; Many have refused even to eat, the records say, When their master has suddenly passed away.

The birds, too, are companions for both you and mer—
(Just as always they make their home in the tree)
Long before God created man He sent the birds here
To give him a welcome and fill him with cheer.

From the treetops they warble all the day long
To make the earth jubilant with their song;
So, they teach a lesson to both you and me

When we fail to thank Him and with men disagree. Then ,to o, think of millions of flowers of every kind—(Flowers which delight the most finicky mind);
They, too, come ti tell us that God is here;
And to make us happy six months of the year.

There are many things I would like to say About the flowers on our planet to-day; But, the day is coming when you, too, shall know Why God sends them to us here below.

God sends them here to embelish the land; But, they speak a language we don't understand; They tell us that the real you shall never die That is why they come each year as the seasons go by.

When Time shall end, and no longer be
The flower shall be the emblem of Eternity;
They shall make us glad, and be a delight
In that wonderful era, the "day without night".

In some other way God shall give us light—
(That is why it is called the day without night);
Just so, in the future things shall be;
Perfect flowers shall bloom in Eternity.

Just think of how God kampers "you and me"
At first, man got his food from the trees;
He had not yet learned how to till the ground;
So, much of his food on the trees he found.

God knew how dreary Earth would, at first, be; So, He sent the animals as company for you and me, nd, just so forever, these things shall be Not only in Time but through all Eternity.

The things we see about us shall never die, Because they seek perfection, like you and I; God is the Life of everything on this earth; So, from Him, all things get their birth.

In order to do so, God puts a seed in everything we see
That seed is Him; so, they always shall be;
Everything on the earth shall continue to be; And they shall reach perfection in eternity.
