Service. Francis Lookingbill, chairman of the Easter Egg Hunt Committee, reported that plans for the hunt are progressing satisfactorily. This event will be held Easter Sunday at 2PM in the Taneytown Recreational Park. All Children of the community under 12 are cordially invited to attend.

The proceeds from the Heart Fund Drive, which was by voluntary con-tributions placed in the Plastic Hearts, was $21.30. This figure is disappointing. It is hoped that our Community might be a little more philanthropic next year.

Upon the advice of the Ladies Auxiliary and our local Doctors it was decided to purchase a Low Hospital Bed with the proceeds from the recent magazine campaign. The bed will be kept at the Legion Home and may be used by anyone in our Community, having need of it, simply by request-ing it from the Legion. It is anticipated that the Bed will be purchased in the very near future. It was decided to give the American Legion School Awards this year and does when hattiral disasters pare pared to act for other possible emer-gencies at all times. Almost all of us know part of the answer; have observed or benefited from or taken part in Red Cross activities. To get the whole answer, we have only to look at the record.

In three special situations last summer the Red Cross was on the job when it meant the most. It was on hand to help U.S. servicemen when they were rushed to Lebanon in the Near East and Formosa in the western Pacific because of critical international conditions. By discussions with the East German Red Cross, it was able to break the deadlock between our government and that of East Germany, and effect the liberation of the nine American soldiers forced down in their helicopter behind the iron Curtain.

The Senate Judicial Proceedings ommittee and the House Ways and Means Committee have been spending ong hours in discussing the Potomac River Compact of 1958. This compact s an effort to perpetuate and imove the fisheries of the Potomac liver to the mutual advantage and joyment of the citizens of the State Maryland and the Commonwealth Virginia. The problem which this pact attempts to solve grows out the fact that when the Colony of aryland was formed, its southern bundary was the Potomac River and rginia was given the Capes which rmed the entrance to the Chesaeake Bay and its tributaries. When he Colonies separated from England, Maryland controlled the Potomac River and Virginians could not enjoy he fisheries thereof, while Virginia ontrolled the Capes and the Maryland vitizens could not pass through them without the payment of toll. These Magistrates are appointed by the Governor but, be-cause of the small compensation paid for this position, few persons have been willing to serve in this capac-ity. For this reason, we have intro-duced a bill to raise the salary for the salary for these jobs from $72.00 per year to $180.00 per year. It is felt that this will provide for a sufficient number of Magistrates to adequately serve our County and that there will be little or no increase in cost to the The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee has set aside 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday, March 24, for hearing on Senate Bill 131. This bill attempts to provide amendments for Sections 2,4,5,6, and 9 of Article 3 of the Con-Legislative Districts in counties of over 250,000 population and to in-crease representation in the General Assembly. It is the fear of the less populated counties that such amend-ments would allow the more populat-ed counties and Baltimore City to completely dominate the State. The scheduled hearings should shed more light on this matter.

DID GOD REALLY DIE? (This is the last of a series of 4 Lenten Meditations prepared especially for The Carroll Record by the members of the Taneytown Ministerium)

Tenten Meditation

 $\begin{array}{cccc} 103 & 287 \\ 97 & 318 \\ 92 & 284 \end{array}$ Did God really die? We have come to Good Friday, the climax and practically the end of Lent.—And it all led to a cross. Saturday, the only other day in Lent, the world stands by a closed and sealed tomb. The world stands dazed, uncomprehending, for Jesus, the friend of man, the Son of God, lies in that grave. There is no doubt about it Jesus Christ did die. The 342 lies in that grave. There is no doubt about it Jesus Christ did die. The drama of the passion was carried through to the bitter end. All of the trials, the way to Golgotha, the three crosses, the words from the cross, the broken, bleeding body - the tomb were all evidences. Yes, there is no doubt about it, Jesus Christ did die. The lips which taught and preached and prayed were sealed. The hands which healed were limp. But did God really die? Did He grow disgusted because He couldn't have his own way, even though it was the best way? Did He walk out upon it all? Did He pull the shades down and go home as would some disillusioned shop-keeper bemoaning his losses? Did He give up? Thomas Hardy wrote a poem entitled "God's Funeral". It describes the procession of mankind carrying entitled "God's Funeral". It describes the procession of mankind carrying God's casket. They go to bury Him and as they march along, they tell of His fate. 265

> Tricked by our own early dream And need of solace, we grew self-deceived: Our making soon our maker did we deem, And what we had imagined we believed.

Til in time's stayless, stealthy swing, * Uncompromising rude reality Mangled the monarch of our fashioning, Who quavered, sank; and now has ceased to be

God is indeed dead for many, especially the agonizing, defeated in life. All the breaks have gone against them. Just ask them, or hear them snap at life, they give themselves away. Then can't win and things are bad. They have given up because they believe God has given them up. God is also dead for those who will have no time for Him and His Church. In difficulty they try their own hand at righting things or fashioning a solution to their prob-lem. They are the captain of their fates, they are the master of their soul. And things go wrong and an untried, unwanted, unworshipped God gets the blame. In time of happiness and normal living these people still have no time for God. You know the old answer to the leaking roof. "You can't fix the roof now because it is raining and when the weather is fine, then the roof desen't need fixing 311 $\begin{array}{rrr} 90 & 280 \\ 84 & 275 \end{array}$ 304 roof doesn't need fixing.

On the way to the grave to bury God we noticed several factors which have contributed to His death: There is the new concept of the world. Earth is no longer a room. Our living is no longer centered around activities which take place in the church—now there are other places—many places. There is so often so little time to come to God's altar. Then there is the enormous scientific field in which man is lost in misunderstanding. In this enormous scientific field in which man is lost in misunderstanding. In this great aspect of God's knowledge man forgets that God is the creator of 'all things. The new psychology is a third contributing factor to the death of God in the hearts and minds of many. In this the theory of religion is merely escape and unfortunately Christianity is placed on the same level with magic and spiritism in many forms. The soul is not allowed to be fed. God is not really allowed into the living room of life. The next factor is our own stubborn perversity, the twisted fashion of our conduct, our anger, our selfishness, our greed, our pride—man has taken over. And for him God is dead; and the crucifixion, if it means anything, means just another manifestation of His death and inadequateness. manifestation of His death and inadequateness.

But please, let us return to Thomas Hardy's poem: Then soon insist that they are burying not God, but a counterfeit of straw. The wistful ones of mankind begin to yearn over lost days of faith.

How sweet it was in years far hied To start the wheels of day with trustful prayer, To lie down liegely at the eventide

And feel a blessed assurance He was there.

They declare with hopeful finger pointing, that they can see on the world's edge a faint line of dawn. In the words of the Roman Centurian, "Truly this man was the Son of God."

He is here. God did not die today, tomorrow or any day. Take heart. Believe. Listen to those last words of love from the cross—that last will and testament to a dying world—decrees from the King of Kings from His throne. When the world had done its worst to each other and to Him, even now at the foot of His cross they were casting lots for His clothes, down from the cross came the mist of heaven, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." Thieves are crucified on the crosses at His side. One rails out in all the treachery of sin. The other sees His King and says, "Remember me, when Thou comest into Thy Kingdom." His King responds, "Today thou shalt be with me in paradise." A forlorn and heartsick woman, His mother, enfolds the base of the cross in her arms and weeps. The be-loved disciple John fidgets by her side. But Jesus knows what to do, "Wo-man, behold Thy Son, Son, behold Thy mother." As the dark pall of death sweeps near ,the humanity and the loneliness cries forth from His agonizing body, "My God, My God, Why hast Thou forsaken me?" He dredged the depths of hell that man might see the ends to which the love of God would go for him. The sun beats down, His throat is parched, His heart burns for the children of God. He cries, "I thirst." Refusing the vinegar and gall, the King of Kings sums up all of history and all of eternity and says, "It is finished.' The lamb of God is offered, "The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." And then the trumpets blew and triumph was voiced. The veil of the law and of misunderstanding, and sin and self adulation and exultation was split in twain and God stood clear, unhampered, unchained, unbounded, unveneered, "Father,into Thy hands, I commend my spirit." He is here. God did not die today, tomorrow or any day. Take heart.

THE CARROLL RECORD, TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND

The Red Cross was on hand with shelters and hot food when people in the Carolinas had to flee from the threat of Hurricane Helene last September.

Throughout the year and across the nation it was on the job to provide the blood thousands of us, ill or injured. needed to speed our recovery and in many cases save our lives.

The Red Cross trained over 2,000. 000 of us last year in first aid, water safety, and home nursing. Through the Junior Red Cross, it helped guide young people to responsible maturity by teaching them the importance of service to others.

The Red Cross has proved, again, that it can be relied upon all the time and everywhere. Now we must insure that this vital organization will continue its work during the coming year, that it is "On the Job When You Need It Most," by joining and contributing in its member and fund campaign, BRIDGEHAMPTON, NEW YORK, NEWS: "To be sure. there are critics of advertising who claim that many people buy things they don't really want or need -- with money they don't have--because of some copywriter's persuasiveness. While this argument sounds interesting, it doesn't hold up.

"Take, for instance, the automobile. Advertising through the years has made ours a nation on wheels. And working along with advertising has been the installment buying method, which has enabled many millions to buy cars and thereby improve their living standards."

Although this eliminated Virginia's consideration for the origal compact, nothing was done by the State of Maryland until 1957 when an act was adopted purporting to repeal the compact of 1785 and Virginia instituted a proceeding to invoke the original jurisdiction of the Supreme Oourt of the United States and to have the Court rule invalid the Maryland

Acts which were designated to repeal the compact and place exclusive jurisdiction of the Potomac River in Maryand. Mr. Justice Stanley Reed was assigned to act as a Special Master in taking of evidence and the preparation of a report for the Court. It vas then suggested that the parties should attempt to resolve their differ-ences by the appointment of Comnissioners from each State. These commissioners met and prepared the God did not die, even if you think He is dead as far as you are con-cerned. He is not dead. The empty cross is the evidence, the empty tomb is the evidence of God's living love for us. STANLEY B. JENNINGS, Pastor, Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Some days everything seems to go wrong. Right? There was gloom over Golgotha from twelve to three when Jesus Christ died on the cross.

Jesus' disciples knew another kind of gloom. His agonizng death seemed to contradict their belief that He was the Son of God and the Savior from sin.

• But Easter changed everything. The fact that Jesus was alive ended their sorrow. The knowledge that His death was God's solution to the problem of sin made them rejoice.

What causes your gloom ?-disappointment, guilt, embfarrassment over a foolish mistake, loneliness? Good Friday and Easter are your answers, too! God's' Son has "borne your griefs and carried your sorrows." He has removed our sins "as far as the east is from the west."

Who are you to say you are neglected, when God your friend? Should you tremble at the memory is sins when God through Christ says, "Be of good of cheer, your sins are forgiven !''?

Good Friday is God's answer to gloom. Easter's. essage of a living Savior will enable you to say can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth ". Find your Easter answer! The Lutheran church your community is preaching the Word of God that gives the answer!

Miss Vesta Elizabeth Null, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert J. Null, Taneytown, became the bride of David Morris Reifsnider, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Leonard Reifsnider, Keymar, at 2 p.m. on March 21st in Trinity Evangelical Luthern Church, Taneytown. The Rev. Stanley B. Jennings, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Morgan Andreas, pastor of the Grace United Church of Christ, conducted the double-ring ceremony in a setting of Easter lilies, ferns and palms. Rev. Howard Allwine, Upperco, Maryland, soloist, was accompanied by Miss Hazel Hess at the organ. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of hand clipped Chantilly type lace and nylon tulle over tulle ruffled skirt. The fitted bodice featured a sequin and pearl | trimmed sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to a point over the hands. The bouffant skirt was trimmed with lace pannier's accented by heart shaped beaded mofits, ending in a chapel train. Her head dress was a queen's crown of pearls and sequins attached to a silk illusion fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible, gift of the bridegroom, toppel with a white orchid from which fell satin streamers and stephanotis. The matron of honor, Mrs. E. human beings which neverth never act like human beings; they are more like vegetables. That a body is alive may be a tragedy, if the spirit and mind are not alive too. So the really important thing about Jesus is that he was and is alive, not that his mere body lived again.

Meaning Without Facts 4

On the other hand, suppose we emphasize the meaning of the Resurrection, that Christ livesmore than that indeed-that because he lives we shall live also. Then we shall be striking the center of the message of Easter. But what happens if we say, at the same time, "V.e believe in the Easter Faith" (meaning some sort of belief in immortality, perhaps)" but we are not interested in the Easter facts"? Strange as it may seem, there are people who have just that point of view. When we get rid of all the fancy language they use, what they are saying comes down to this: We don't know what happened on the first Easter, and we don't care. We are concerned with the meaning of what never happened.

To put all one's faith in the facts and disregard the meaning of Easter is to build a solid foundation and leave it, a useless curiosity.

The Meanings of the Facts A study of the New Testament will show any reader that the first Christians prized both facts and meaning. They never did say much, if anything, about the empty tomb, in sermons or letters; only in the Gospel stories. Christ is risen! was the cry. But that joyful cry pointed to something loftier and more precious than a plain livingagain. The New Testament writers dwelt lovingly on the' meaning of the Resurrection: it was God's stamp of approval on his Son; it was the triumph of Christ over sin and death, a triumph in which all his people will one day share; it was a sure token of a future beyond death; it was the Christian's glimpse into the meaning of heaven; it was a pledge of God's love and power.
