LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

"Town meeting is dying. It is dying right here in Maine under our own noses," writes Editor Gordon Mac-Kay of ISLAND AD-VANTAGES, up in Stonington.

"It is dying," he continues in his
"On the Side" column. "because you and I do not take the interest in our town that our forefathers

"In the days of unpaved roads; in the days of mud, when folks had to walk miles to attend meeting, they knew what they were there for. They also knew what was going on in their town; who was getting what. And they stood up in meeting and expressed themselves in no equivocal terms. Everyone understood who was saying what and why. The day of the silken glove, the day of polite society had not arrived and our country was the better for it.

'Let us see what happened in another country. Let us give you a quote from Doctor Zhivago by Pasternak. 'It was then that untruth came down on our land of Russia. The main misfortune, the root of all the evil to come, was the loss of confidence in the value of one's own opinion. People imagined that it was out of date to follow their own moral sense, that they must all sing in chorus and live by

Now the sad part of it all is that this is just what is happening right here in our town of Stonington. It is happening all over Maine. It is happening all over New England, the cradle of town meetings. People think they must conform. People have lost confidence in their own opinion, Editor MacKay goes on to remind us that every soldier in Napoleon's armies carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack, and that whether we admire the Little Corporal or not, this was effective way of building confidence and blowing on that spark of leadership that democratic government presupposes every person to possess. This spark, he says, must be kept burning . . in the breast of every citizen no matter how humble'

'Let it now be said of this generation that we have lost our nerve. our self-confidence, our ability or desire to express ourselves. matter who you are, your opinion counts and your opinion, expressed, may change history.
"That is why," says this trenchant

Downeast Editor, "this newspaper and every newspaper worth salt encourages letters to the editor. In a democracy, everybody must get into the act.

But perhaps you have no such problem in your community or state? Perhaps your "town meeting" or its equivalent, remains vigorous, free wheeling and well attended - regardless of the weather or of competing attractions? We wonder.

FIGHT AGAINST MAILED OBSCENITY GROWS

Post Office Grateful for Nation-Wide Support

The Post Office Department drive to stamp out the mailing of obscene materials to children is receiving widespread support from the press, radio and TV commentators, public-spirited organizations, and Members of Congress, the Post Office Department reports.

"We are most gratified by the wholehearted editorial support being accorded by the press," Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said today. "This, with the active national and community leadership being given the program by the Members of Congress by civic and religious or-Congress, by civic and religious or-ganizations, and by the postmasters of the nation, makes certain the im-portance of this problem is being brought home to the parents of America.

Mr. Summerfield said that he personally is receiving many letters from parents and other interested citizens who are becoming aware of the scope of the mail order obscenity racket and are horrified by its implications.

Continued Persistert, Large-Scale Action Necessary

Good progress toward solution of the problem is being made, he stated, but added that "persistent, intensive action on a nation-wide scale will be necessary for along time to come, to cope with the determined plans of the filth racketeers to continue expanding their business.'

These plans, he said are aimed in large part at children. In recent reports, as well as testimony before Congress, Mr. Summer-field has pointed out that the traffic in obscenity has doubled in just the last five years, and can double again by 1963 if the parents of America do not take a concerted stand within their own communities to wipe out this

The Postmaster General warns that 7000,000 to 1,00,000 minor children will be solicited this year through the mails for the sale of obscene materials. He reports that this highly lucrative racket is now operating at a half a billion dollar a year or more level.

The Post Office has noted that many letters of protest coming from parents and interested citize asked: "What can we do?"

Post Office Department offers a number of concrete suggestions.

"There are steps," the Postmaster General emphasizes, "that every comtant source for direct action against the mail order "merchants of filth." The minor child need not have indicated any interest in the material to receive solicitations through the mail to purchase obscene literature and photographs. It is of the parents to take action when such material comes into hands of their children through the mails. Remember: the postal service must honor the privacy of first-class mail. The Post Office cannot open first-class mail even if it is certain the envelope contains obscene material. The Post Office can act only if parents supply the evidence after the mail has been delivered.

Therefore, if the contents are obscene, or solicit the sale of obscene materials, the parents are urged to do two things:

Save all the material, including the covering envelope; Put it promptly in the hands of the local Postmaster either personally or by mail. Parents can join with other parofficers, and civic groups in drawing public attention to the menace of this traffic in filth, forming plans to combat it locally, and mobilizing community support for their representatives in Congress considering legislation to help the Post Office Department stop the mail-order obscen-

Parents can work closely with teachers in their community to detect obscene materials in the possession of children and to determine the orign of such material. Such efforts often can be instrumental in the prosecution of traffickers in mail-order obscenity. 4. Parents and teachers should make a special effort to impress upon the community the fact that even children who are never exposed to the obscene material may be victimized by sex criminals whose minds have been debauched by, it.

5. Perhaps most importantly, parents can cooperate with the schools in taking positive, long-range steps to help their children develop wholesome interests in good literature and art literary and library clubs, and through student groups.

Civic Groups Can Mobilize for Concerted Action 6. Through civic organizations the attention of the great majority of adult citizens can be concentrated on the menace represented by the mail order traffic in obscenity.

Civic groups can, at any time, call

THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1959 PEOPLE READ, REMEMBER, AND BUY

A recent nationwide survey shows that more than three-quarters of the nation's retailers expect their summer business to exceed last year's, Editor and Publisher reports. Only 20% anticipate no change, and a mere 2% look for a decline.

It will take a lot of good advertising to bring the expected results about. And it's significant that newspapers will continue to be the retailers' foremost advertising medium. The survey finds that 72% of the stores surveyed plan to invest 80% or more of their summer advertisng spending in the papers. And 57% will allocate at least nine-tenths of their ad budgets to the papers.

All advertising media are in tough competition these days, with newspapers, magazines, TV, radio, and direct mail scrapping for a large share of the ad dollar. But newspapers, despite the new media, hold their own-simply because newspaper ads get results. People read, remember, and buy.

CLIMBING SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES LIMIT YOUR FREEDOM TO SAVE

Social Security Taxes, like many other taxes, are up again this year. Where is the Social Security Program heading? How can it limit your freedom to save money for the future you personally want?

This year's social tax hike increased the maximum payments from $94.50 to $120.00 on the employee and employer alike. But over the next 10 years, the tax will about double, even if Congress votes no new benefits, which they are likely to do in any election year. This isn't speculation. The laws are already on the books.

During the years 1960-1962, you and your employer will each pay $144 in Social Security Taxes. By 1969 you each will pay $216-a total of $432 a year. There are two reasons for these increases.

First, the proportion of aged persons drawing Social Security benefits will be much higher in the future because more of them will be eligible for benefits. The proportion of those with jobs and compelled to pay these social taxes, however, will remain the Second, Congress has voted more Social Security benefits in every election year since 1950. Proposals for still more benefits are certain to be made in the new Congress. "Free" hospital, surgical and nursing home care for the roughly 13 million now getting Social Security benefits—young and old—is an example. This would cost you as much as $24 per year—to start with—and probably much more before long. It would cost your employer a like amount.

The constant addition of benefits is changing the whole purpose of Social Security. Originally, Congress intended the program only to protect retired employees from actual need. Whatever an individual wanted for his retirement beyond this minimum, he was expected to provide for himself out of his savings and other resources. The social tax was to have levelled off at $90 in 1949.

Today, we are heading toward a new and far costlier kind of Social Security, with more and more benefits requiring higher and higher taxes —to be piled on top of all other taxes you must pay-federal, state, and local.

Unless voters tell Congress to apply the brakes to Social Security, these taxes will leave you and other employees with less and less chance to save money, and so less and less freedom to make your own plans.

Obviously, you have little control over what happens to the money you pay in social taxes. It goes to build a kind of mass-produced, ready-made old-age program which the government hopes will please everybody.

But you should be the boss when it TAX RECEIPTS: comes to your own savings. And the more you can save, the bigger boss you are. Maybe you have your own ideas about retirement. Hobbies you want to indulge. Trips you've wanted to take.

up your retirement income. Maybe you want to save for an entirely different purpose, such as sending a son or daughter through college. As long as it's your money, you're free to spend it as you please.

A little business of your own to build

That seems better than to turn it over to Uncle Sam in social taxes, no matter how well he promises to take care of you when you reach retirement age.

What can you do about it? Write your Congressman and your Senators, and tell them to apply the brakes now.

CHEWELAH, WASH., INDEPENof America has been to work and save. Even though a man knew he hope to provide for his old age and Other Court Fines for his wife and children after he was who have worked hard and lived carefully find now that the value has been sapped from the hard - earned dollars they put aside. . . .

"Yet inflation is not inevitable. It is caused by our own actions and can be cured by our own actions. A major ment spending and debt-caused by our demands on government. We can remove this cause of inflation by stopping our demands for government handouts and by demanding government economy instead. . .

GLEN RIDDLE, PA., THE ROCK-DALE HERALD: "The politiciansthe spending politicians—seem to be getting a little worried. They are not quite worried enough, of course, to quit spending. But they are a bit worried by the growing signs of revolt among the people against endless taxing, spending and inflation. Evidently a good many people are finally coming to realize that the government policies of the past two or three decades are not merely eating away at our substance and our vaunted standard of living. They are also plunging us headlong toward the leveling and mediocrity of a socialist system. .

WASHINGTON, IOWA, EVEN-FNG JOURNAL: "With racketeering and extortion charges hanging over the Teamsters Union, Jimmie Hoffa says present labor laws are sufficient. Sufficient, that is, to permit Hoffa and his crew to carry on their activities in the General Assembly or Congress. Special pleading to influence lawfavor of members of the trial jury. But it is hard to figure a way to prohilbit lobbying . . . .

"That is to say, to realize any action on a new piece of legislation, omebody has got to lobby for it-or against it-enough to arouse a working quorum of the assembly into either passing or rejecting the thing."

MYRTLE POINT, OREGON, HER-ALD: "The executive council of the AFL-CIO has declared that although t accepted the Kennedy-Ervin bill as it was reported out of committee, amendments adopted on the floor before Senate passage make the measure, in its opinion, anti-union as well as anti-corruption. Therefore it will fight the measure.

"This decision, although largely expected, is nonetheless regrettable. It means that while honest labor (which the AFL-CIO overwhelmingly is) has said it needs legislative help in clean ing its own house, it is not willing to accept the degree of public intrusion into its affairs necessary to get at racketeers and gangsters."

War

War

A soldier in active service has published a little unpretending volume in which he describes the effect of shot in the field of battle: "You can form no idea of the storm of balls and shells which crossed each other in their deadly course. Before and around the spot on which Field Marshal Radetzky was standing, the heavy sixteen pound shots ploughed up the ground, tracing in one place a deep furrow, and cutting down a tree like stubble in another. It is remarkable how each kind of missile has its own characteristic. There is the tremulous howl of the large round shot, the whistle of musket ball, hiss of the shell, like that of the Catherine whell firework, and then its detonating as it bursts. Of these last, many which fell among us missed fire, and many exploded harmless in the air, but where one missed fire, and many exploded harmless in the air, but where one fell and did its office, the effect was dreadful. One such struck an officer in the breast, exploded at the instant, struck down a man to the right and left, and cut off the upper part of struck down a man to the right and left, and cut off the upper part of the officer's body, in such a manner that the frightened horse galloped off with the feet of the corpse in the stirrups. Such are the spectacles which a field of battle occasionally presents. Not far off lay a Piedmontage artillerist, who has been struck on ese artillerist who has been struck on the forehead by a spent six-pound shot which remained in the wound. An hussar had been killed at the same instant with his horse, by a shot which passed through the neck shot which passed through the neck of the latter; they had sunk together, the rider still in the saddle and the sabre still in his hand. The sudden collapse of a man in full vigour is what is most fearful to behold. One sinks without a groan, another jumps sinks without a groan, another jumps high from the ground with a shriek, falls over, lies stiff and dead. I saw a Granzer from the Banat with a ball in his forehead, falter a few paces leaning on his musket like a drunken man, and then after a faint whisper about his home, expire. Over the town the cappon smoke had will be entered as subscribing, or they will be entered as subscribers for one year.

Take a tip from the experts . . . in their own words . . . and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading lowpriced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR†-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line.
"In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's stand-ard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUS-TRATED puts it: ". . . surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Ride MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy ". . . the magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon-with Powerglide.

Best Trade-In Check in any N.A.D.A.: Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

The following poem may help someone on Life's Pathway.

THE TEST

The test of a man is the fight he makes. The grit that he daily shows, The way he stands on his feet and takes naught to fear, When nothing his progress bars,

Fate's numerous bumps and blows

But it takes a man to stand up and cheer While some other fellow stars.

It's the knocks that you take and the jolts you get, The shock that your courage stands,

The hour of sorrow and vain regret, The prize that escaped your hands That test your mettle and prove your worth.

It isn't the blows that you deal But the blows you take on this good old earth

That show if your stuff is real. -Author unknown

REMEMBER these important traffic mishap: Notify police or highway

Don't panic. Keep calm. It will help set the pattern for others involved.

Give first aid to the injured. Don't move them. If your car can be moved, drive it off the highway, but don't leave the scene.

Exchange name and address, license number and name of insurance company with the other driver.

Get names and addresses of witnesses.

Make notes of pertinent de-tails that may be useful later. Don't admit tiability to anyone. Don't sign anything. Leave it to the, legal authorities to decide who is at fault.

When released by the police, have your car towed to a garage if repairs are necessary.

Farmers who own young calves seem to be experiencing more and more winter losses due to a condition known as "pneumoniaenteritis" complex.

Today, this is causing an annual loss estimated at more than $30,000,000. It has become such a problem that it has been singled out as one of the major targets of National Livestock Loss Prevention Year in 1959.

Keep calves in small group.

Really, this is two diseases in one . . . calf pneumonia and bacterial or virus scours. Either of the two is serious, but when the calf contracts both, the consequences can be disastrous. Under confinement, calves are more likely to pick up the disease viruses and bacteria from contaminated air and bedding.

The best way to check pneumonia-enteritis losses is to have treatment started when first symptoms appear. Symptoms may include fever, loss of appetite, scouring, coughing, rapid breathing, and gauntness. Scouring may begin before pneumonia symptoms appear. The owner may mistake such scouring for simple dietary scours, when it may actually mark the onset of this fatal pneumonia-enteritis problem. So, when symptoms appear, it is wise to have a veterinarian make a diagnosis, to make sure which condition exists.

It is best to isolate sick calves and place them in dry, wellventilated quarters. If treatment is begun promptly, the chances of the calves recovering are improved considerably. One item on the plus side is that calves which recover usually carry lifelong immunity.

From the preventive standpoint, the farmer can take several precautionary steps-being sure that calves have the first milk or colstrum, keeping calves housed in pens alone, or in small groups of the same age, making sure that barns are well ventilated, not drafty, and that they have ample dry bedding.

Every minute in the day there are three bad checks cashed in the United States, so reports a reliable auth-server, I have been a widower for ten years and am truly very lonely. My married daughter whom I gave second floor apartment in my lovely home plus a garage has decided to move out and go into a house which will leave me alone. I am 70 years of age and of course retired and very nicely fixed. I am a real church man in fact one of the Executives. I have my house up for sale and although it is beautiful it seems that so many desire the brand new home and yet mine is about 15 years old. I am so upset that I do not know what to do when I will be all alone. At my age I hesitate even asking someone to marry me—not for myself but for the financial end. Would be greatful for suggestions as I hesitate asking even my closest friends. Thanking you! Mr 70.

Dear Mr. 70—I read your letter twice before making this reply and here goes—First of all—LIFE BE-GINS AT 80—Think of the fun that is still in store for you with that money and a lady by your side near your own age. You could go traveling for a change. You surely meet and know some eigilbe Widows in the church. They may be as lonely as you. Who knows? Seek and ye Shall Find! Good luck and start now right away before another day passes. The lady may be delighted to have such a home as you described. I am only too sorry that I could not write all your letter. Thank you, Sir and I'll be happy to wish you both much happiness at the wedding. Thank you for that surprise phone call! Your Obs.

Well, Folks was I surprised when I read the article in the Sunday paper titled—"You'd still be British If—and Why we celebrate the 4th of July— It was all through Richard Penn a Grandson of William Penn who was entrusted with the message during the War to present to the King of England. But the King-George 3rd would not turn from the shooting season for any reason where he was lo-cated in Scotland and no one would attempt to have the petition forwarded which read and was written by John Dickinson of Philadelphia, "Your Majesty will find your faithful subjects on this continent ready and willing at all times—with their lives and fortunes to assert and maintain the rights and interests of your Majesty and of our Mother country"! But the mission got off on the wrong foot (as the article states) as on August 14, Penn arrived in London to find the King in Scotland. Penn remaining in London sought to have the petition forwarded. It was at this point that the course of history was altered by an anonymous bureau-crat who took a violent dislike to Penn's presence in England who de-sired that Yankee to go home! A sec-ond' copy was dispatched of the petition and it never reached anyone in court! Just to think in 1931 it was sold to American collector for $53, 000. Today it is in the New York Public Library. The first copy is in the Public Record office in London!

No wonder, Folks the English do not really know or teach in schools what July 4th really is and that straight from a close English friend of mine. Have a grand week end, Folks. Be careful when you drive and if you are going to vacation by auto just take your time and you will enjoy it all the more. Until next week D. V.

Taneytown defeated Liberty by a score of 9 to 8 on the local basebal field Monday night, July 6. Liberty, the winner of the first half, was ahead by a score of 8 to 4 up to the 6th inning, but our boys scored 2 runs in the 6th inning and 3 in the 7th to win. #### Choices Count

Lesson for July 12, 1959

NOT ALL choices are worth losing sleep over. What tie shall I wear today? Shall I drive to town by the old road or the new road? What shall I give Grandpa for his birthday? The results of these choices are not likely to be worldshattering one way or the other.

Still, they might be more important than you think. If you pick the wrong tie, the right girl may turn you down, for the reason that anybody who would wear a monstrosity ## induce him to change his will. Decisions Determine Destiny

There are great choices in life as well as small. Looking back over a long life, an old man can see where this decision or that changed the whole direction of his lifetime. A train crossing Missouri approaches a little station where it will not stop There is a long siding at that station, and it is empty. The express train could just as well be sent through the station on the siding as on the main track, they are both going in the same direction. But coming out of Union Station in St. Louis with its maze of switches—that is another proposition. All trains head out of that station in exactly the same way, but when they hit those switches, they are turned once for all - westward to the Pacific Coast cities, or east to New York, or south to New Orleans. So it is with life. Some decisions turn life toward a destiny of glory, or of misery . . . depending on the choice . . . depending on the one who chooses. It was so when Moses said to his people: "I have set before you life and good, and death and evil . . . therefore choose good."

"Once To Every Man and Nation"

"Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide,' wrote James Russell Lowell in what is now a well-known hymn. an old proverb. Hymn and proverb are partly true, partly not. When an opportunity for decision has been ignored, or when the wrong choice has been made (and ignoring the choice entirely is itself a wrong choice), that particular opportunity, that one decision, does not come again. What one has lost by wrong decision is lost for good. But in the mercy of God there may be other times. The nation of Israel, to whom Moses made his appeal to decide for God, again and again had to make that same choice: Who is on the Lord's side? When we think of how one generation follows another, we see how true it is. Our forefathers may have decided for God; but unless we in our time face and act on that same central choice; For God, or against him? our ancestor's good choices will not help us a great deal.

Background for Decision

No choice, whether that of a man or a nation, is made in a vacuum. A man makes the good choices, or the bad ones, of his life, against all the background of his earlier life, education and training. This is brought out in Deuteronomy where the heads of families are commanded to teach their children the law of God. This writer once met a young man who was a patient in a hospital. He talked quite freely about the problem that was bothering him. He was undecided what to do when he got out of there. Should he be a rum-runner, bringing "moonshine" out of the mountains into the city, or should he get a job in the post office? All he could see was that the post office job was safer, but the rum-running was better paid! That's a little funny, but isn't it a little sad too? If that young man had been brought up in a Christian home, if he had gone to church and to Sunday school, if he had given his heart and his mind to Christ, how differently he would have faced that problem, how different his choice would have been!

Value of Making Wills Stressed

"Where there's a will there's a way", but if you do not leave a will way that your estate may be divided might not be the way you would want it divided.

A will is very necessary, says Joanne Reitz, Extension home management specialist of the University of Maryland. If a person does not leave a will the inheritance laws of the state will govern the disposition of the deceased's estate.

For example, the estate might be divided among a wife and children, when actually a father may have wanted his wife to have full control of the funds so she could support and educate the children without having to account for every penny to the courts.

A will can be made by any male 21 years of age or female 18 years of age who is of sound and disposing mind. A will is an important legal document, says Miss Reitz, and should not be a do-it-yourself project. A lawyer can help you decide on the type of ownership of property, in understanding the need for witnesses, and in other ways. The cost of draw-iter, Mt. A will may be very short or very for all members, wherever they have long and complex, depending upon the nature of bequest and the size of the estate. However, the following points should be included in all wills: A will should always name an ex-

What You Should Know About Lawyers' Fees

You don't have to be rich to need a lawyer. And you don't have to be rich to pay most legal fees, say the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.
It is true that the time and talents of lawyers cost money, but for everyday family problems the cost is not County, Westminster, Md., invites nearly so much as you might think, bids for refinishing the auditorium-

Finally, the American Bar Association recommends that individual lawyers follow customary charges of the local bar for similar services.

Efficient lawyers keep very close tabs on how they spend their time, and each client is charged for the hours actually spent on his case. In addition to hourly rates, some cost schedules suggest minimums for each office consultation, regardless of length, at anywhere from $3 to $10.

Simple wills are inexpensive and may run from $5 to $25. Minimum charges for probating a will vary from $15 to $250 and up. Brief and uncomplicated administration of an estate could cost as little as $50, but more often a percentage of the estate's value or an hourly charge will be made.

Such chores as examining contracts, drawing up bills of sale, writing a deed, etc., are usually inexpensive, though scaled to the complexity of the matter.
