Boys Scout Camp Fund

The Baltimore Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America is presently engaged upon one of the most significant campaigns for the citizens of Baltimore City and the counties of Carroll, Howard, Baltimore, Harford, and Anne Arundel. The principal aim of this program is to secure funds for the expansion and development of the Broad Creek Memorial Camp.

This camp, which serves Baltimore City and the surrounding counties, consists of 1700 acres which is only partly developed, thus many scouts are denied the privilege of attending this camp, due to a lack of facilities.

It is necessary to construct a water system, troop sites, roads, parking areas, electric power, piers, swim areas, boat docks, etc. Chairman for this drive to contact scout families is Mr. George Crouse. It is urged that scout families cooperate in this effort, as well as friends of scouts.

Memorial opportunities are available such as tent sites, shelters, etc. Additional information and contributions may be made to George Crouse or Francis Lookingbill, who is Unit Campaign Chairman for Troop 348.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

With much anticipation of the packed audience for the curtains to part for the show, "Can-Can" at the Mayfair on North Howard Street which was publicized plenty and in the making for five whole years previously must state right here that it all is thrilling.

It is a lively affair and the only real adjective to describe it is "gay" which you and you will enjoy from the start to finish.

The big Stars shine and it is filmed in Paris. That alone should be suffice! The year is 1893 and right from the very showing, you will know that you are going to enjoy every minute of it.

Those two French actors Jourdan and Chevalier are superb!

No doubt about it Louis Jourdan is growing and growing with each picture in which he stars and the entire American public have open arms for him at any time. To hear him sing, "You Do Something to Me!" and observe his expression on his handsome face is something to remember! As to Shirley MacLaine this I do think is her top Masterpiece! The ladies will love the colorful and graceful gowns of that year of 1896 (and there are plenty!)

The story? Simone Pistache (Shirley MacLaine) is arrested for the shows she puts on at her dance hall and when confronted before the Judge (none other than Jourdan) he falls in love with her and through a fast talking lawyer friend, she is free. Again, much action takes place and a lively Apache dance is beyond describing. The most original is "The Ballet of Adam and Eve!" Fantastic!

Don't miss this wonderful treat—it surely will give you a lifter-upper and I think you know what I mean and that to such an extent that you will want to view it all again Frank Sinatra is the friend lawyer and also takes an excellent part. The screen is "TODD-A-RO" now you know!

"The Rat Race" with Tony Curtis and Debbie Reynolds plus Manhattan as the background is the story at the Century and it is all filmed right in New York City. That is again the boy and girl who think they can make good in New York and find it a city of unhappiness especially for them with all their trials while living in a flat as they call those bare, barren and cold places. Debbie is a dime-a-dance girl who is told that she must leave the quarters due to back rent and it is at this time that the handsome Curtis comes into the picture meeting Debbie for the first time. She does not know where to go and somehow he senses it all and tells her to remain right in her room—regardless! Curtis is a saxophone player from Milwaukee and just about believes everyone he meets in New York until his musical instruments are stolen. The acting is excellent and this is the first picture I have seen with Debbie Reynolds as one of the Stars that she does not do a lot of jumping around.

Perhaps it will be a good idea for the teenager to view especially if she or he have ideas which are New York bound with their talent!

Don't forget, folks next Sunday is "FATHER'S DAY" and you know it is nice to have a man around the house! Plan something special and be sure you show him how much you love him and are grateful for all he does for you. Have a grand week end and now that school is closed, be sure, Teen-Agers (and I do mean you and you) don't waste the summer months but do something worth while and you will agree at the end of the summer that it was the best summer ever! Until next week end, D.V.

I am,

Faithfully,

Your Observer.

Watch Bulb Sizes in Your Fixtures

Keep an eye on the maximum bulb wattages and voltages noted in your lighting fixtures, urges the American Home Lighting Institute.

Bulbs of higher wattages overheat the fixtures and can crack the glass shielding. The heat can also shorten bulb life.

An additional consideration is the glare that can result from too much light in a single source.

AFTER TAX COLLECTOR GETS THROUGH

News media occasionally carry stories concerning the highest paid people in American industry. Under the law, these figures must be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and thus become a public record. And the gross earnings of the executives concerned are certainly huge.

However, the news stories commonly pay little or no attention to what is left of these big incomes after the federal tax collector gets through.

U. S. News & World Report describes this aspect of the matter in a recent article. Example. One man had total compensation of $670,350 before federal income taxes—and $172, 785 after. Another earned $600,100 before federal taxes—and was left with $160,070. Still another had a before-tax take of $515,100—and an after-tax take-home pay of $144,685.

The fact is that the U.S. Treasury is the biggest beneficiary of large incomes. And the earner is able to keep only a fraction of this compensation. In addition, of course, he must pay taxes to state and local government, thus further reducing his take-home pay. Salaries have to be enormous to leave a net return large enough to interest executives desired.

The same thing is true of the earnings of business. The profits tax on a corporation of any size is a whopping 52 per cent. And that's just the beginning. For the dividends paid to stockholders out of the remaining profits are subject to the individual income tax, at rates ranging from 20 to 91 per cent.

Top executives and substantial businesses handle a lot of money. But most of it goes right through their hands, and into the coffers of government.

—Industrial News Review

THE GOVERNMENT IS BROKE!
HASN'T A DIME!

As a matter of fact, the Federal government is in the hole — terribly in debt — owes over 280 billion dollars. When the Government sends you or anyone else a check, it's money that it has collected from you. The Government through its tax collector takes a dollar from you, and sends back 50 cents. That's the way it operates. Public money is not the product of riches alone, but of the hard earnings of labor. All those beautiful spending programs, YOU pay for double.

Taxes are costing the American people more than food. Last year, the nation's tax bill totaled 125 billion dollars, as against only 73 billion for food. Thirty years ago, the tax bill was one-half the food cost.

"GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

JEFFERSON, OHIO, GAZETTE: "A survey of some nine hundred communities recently revealed that youngsters stand a better chance of living a crime-free life if they come from rural areas, or from small cities, than if they are reared in metropolitan areas...."

"All of which goes to prove, once again, that the strength of America lies in rural areas and in small towns, where close family ties, an orderly and supervised life, and the basic, traditional values of society, are still more keenly appreciated."

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "Too often the pressure groups measure the suitability of a lawmaker by the number of times he voted 'right' with them. Just as frequently, politicians go before the voters to boast of their 'rightness' with labor, the farmer, the veteran, or whoever."

"It would be refreshing for a change to see a candidate get up and contend that he had tried for the last two or six years to vote 'right' with the United States."

"This country will be moving toward real political maturity when men seeking office are judged on this broad plane, rather than by the narrow gauge of service to limited interests."

"But, for the most part, neither the politicians nor the people they represent seems close today to the threshold of that maturity."

WASHINGTON, IOWA, JOURNAL: "While a great political effort is being made to establish federal aid for the elderly, an army of senior citizens would deem it a great boom if the compulsory retirement age were raised from 65 to, say, 70. That's all the federal aid they would want."

CASSELTON, N. DAK., REPORTER: "Read the other day that the New York City Board of Education favors a short course of study to be started in the schools next year to teach the students how to have a happy home. (Practice common sense, I'd say.)"

"How about teaching those virtues as laid down by the great statesman Benjamin Franklin, for his standards of life: Temperance, Order, Resolution, Frugality, Industry, Sincerity, Cleanliness, Tranquility, Chastity, Justice, Moderation and Humility (imitate Jesus and Socrates)."

"And obey the dictates of the Golden Rule."

MILES CITY, MONT., STAR: "The National Labor Relations Board has taken the great leap forward toward giving business immortality."

"It happened in the case of the Bonnie Lass Knitting Mills, Inc., which had 50 employees and decided to fold up when they were organized by the Ladies Garment Workers Union. "The Board has ruled that Bonnie Lass must pay back wages to each dismissed employee from December 15, 1958, when the mill shut down, until the employee found another and comparable job."

"If this rule been in effect a couple of generations ago, the land might still be dotted with buggy whip factories, celluloid collar makers and outfits making bustles for milady."

FRANKLIN, IND., REPUBLICAN: "When knowledgeable statesmen tell us these days that people all over the globe are rising for freedom and independence, they do not, of course, mean those hundreds of millions within the Communist orbit."

CLARISSA, MINN., INDEPENDENT: "Adlai E. Stevenson candidly declared he would rather serve under the British than the American political system. He prefers the Parliamentary system because the spokesman for the opposition is always on the floor of the House of Commons and there is more party discipline. Our political system, he avers, is based on local rather than national politics. He's right about this last, but in such a big country, regional problems must be represented to create cohesion. The president speaks for the nation as a whole."

2-Zone Cooling Important Feature
Of Levitt's Newest Colonial Home

A 2-zone air-conditioning system that provides separate cooling for downstairs and upstairs rooms is a leading feature of a new, 4-bedroom Colonial-style home now being built by Levitt & Sons, Inc., in Levittown, N. J.

The house has 3 bathrooms and a lavatory, a 2-car garage, 26-foot living room with fireplace, a library-den, dining room, complete electric kitchen with refrigerator-freezer and built-in dishwasher, and a laundry room with washer and dryer.

Other features include a 16 x 15-foot master bedroom with its own dressing room, storage attic with folding stairway, and center-hall entranceway.

Levitt's engineers and designers were faced with a real challenge when they were told by William J. Levitt, the firm's president, that he wanted to build a big, two-story house and sell it, air conditioned, for $25,000.

The problems of providing cooling equipment for a 2-story house with more than 2,500 square feet of living space were difficult enough. They were compounded by the need for staying within a tight construction budget.

Operating costs had to be low. Levitt guarantees his homes, and has a reputation for few "callbacks," builders' lingo for complaints from buyers.

This is one of four models of a Colonial-style house now being built in Levittown, N.J., by Levitt & Sons, Inc. Completely air conditioned, it sells for $25,000 with all-electric kitchen.

community's winding streets. The problems eventually were solved with the 2-zone cooling system; a big attic under a steeply-pitched roof of asphalt shingles, and plenty of insulation.

The engineers virtually wrapped the entire house with mineral wool to block the flow of summer heat. They installed wide louvers in the gable ends of the attic to let accumulated heat escape before it could penetrate into living quarters.

The 2-zone cooling control system, with separate thermostats upstairs and down, permits cooling of individual levels when they are in use.

The end result was use of a smaller, less expensive cooling system that would do a comfortable job, yet would operate at the lowest possible cost.

Successful Car Styling Can Mean Dollars In Pockets Of The Public

With one out of every six business firms in the United States associated in some way with the automotive industry, the success of American car styling may mean dollars in your pockets, one of the nation's leading automotive stylists says.

"It's enough to make the stylist break out in a cold sweat when he realizes that the success or failure of his work can affect not only his own company and its suppliers but also local merchants in towns and cities far removed from his styling studios," says George W. Walker, Ford Motor Company vice president and director of styling.

"Obviously, economy of operation and other factors enter into the decision to purchase one car rather than another," Walker says. "But the appearance of a car — its styling — is still a mighty important consideration. If the public disapproves of the styling, the car probably won't sell well. If sales fall off, production and employment may drop. And if employment drops, the people affected may not be able to buy all of the things they've been buying in the past."

"As a result, local business declines, and the individuals and companies who depend on these businesses for their livelihood begin to feel the pinch."

The "one out of six" firms whose fortunes rise or fall with those of the automotive industry cover a wide range of businesses from public utilities and highway transport concerns to the cross-roads service station. Walker pictures this situation in the form of a pyramid with a car at its peak. The fate of the car, he explains, involves more and more people as the effect of its sales trickles down.

"In an automotive sense," he says, "the American public determines its own well-being. The purchase of a car can start a chain reaction that eventually may lead to financial benefits for the individual who bought the car in the first place."

"As someone once pointed out, we build cars by hundreds of thousands, but we sell them one at a time," Walker says. "So it's as important to us as it is to the prospective customer that he likes what he sees."

well-styled cars are one of the best ways to spark public interest and approval, according to Walker.

"Far from being wasteful and unnecessary," he claims, "styling innovations actually offer other advantages to the public. Favorable sales raise both buying and employment, help speed technological progress, encourage competition, and bring enough used cars into the market so that private transportation can be placed within reach of just about everyone."

"I'm sure that explains why the modern automotive stylist has to be a realistic business man as well as an artist," Walker adds. "With so much at stake, neither he nor his company can afford to style cars that are out of step with current trends in public tastes."

Something Can Be Done For Arthritics

By Science Features

Contrary to what many people believe, there is much that can be done to help the millions suffering from arthritic and rheumatic diseases, according to one of the nation's leading medical research authorities.

Dr. John R. Mote of New York, an independent medical consultant and supervisor of many research projects in the health and drug field, declared that because there is no cure for these diseases, many people are not taking advantage of the various treatments available to them. Dr. Mote, who has been interested in these diseases for more than 20 years, said that while there is no cure for arthritis and rheumatism, there are several types of treatment which can relieve pain and muscle spasm in varying degrees in many of the eleven million Americans suffering from these diseases.

"This relief from pain and muscle spasm, even though temporary, is very important in helping these people maintain their daily activities. If we can help a patient live more comfortably and effectively, we have accomplished a great deal," Dr. Mote explained.

Researchers have had varying degrees of success in helping patients increase daily activities through the use of drugs which counteract inflammation and pain, gold treatment, large doses of salicylates, heat and massage therapy, and exercise under medical supervision. Any one or a combination of these methods relieves pain in many arthritic patients.

Dr. Mote stated that entire groups of products have been condemned, some of which provide relief to arthritic and rheumatic disease patients. "While many such products are worthless, I believe that, by inference, people are discouraged from using those which have been medically proven to be of value," he said.

For example, he pointed out that a top research team working at one of the nation's leading hospitals dedicated to the treatment of arthritic diseases, recently completed a study in which cyclo-massage equipment by Niagara was tested under both hospital and home-use conditions on a group of adults suffering from chronic rheumatoid arthritis.

The study revealed that the use of cyclo-massage therapy, on chronic rheumatoid arthritis, was proven to be simple, safe and effective in the cases studied. There was an immediate, repeatable, beneficial effect of treatment in that pain, muscle spasm and stiffness diminished in nearly all instances which lasted from 45 minutes to two or more hours. After the use of cyclo-massage therapy, the activities of daily living and therapeutic exercises were performed with less difficulty.

Dr. Mote explained the prime objective in this disease is to maintain mobility or the activities of daily living, regardless of what method is used. However, the important thing is that something can be done, and should be done, for the many millions suffering from these crippling diseases.

PEACH CHEESE MOLD IS TEMPTING DESSERT

Creamy and cool is a delicate Peach Cheese Mold which is served with a bright raspberry sauce. A tempting warm weather dessert, the mold combines peach-flavor and lemon-flavor gelatins with cream cheese. Diced, drained canned or thawed frozen peaches are folded into the gelatin before setting. This luscious dessert, like all gelatin molds, can be prepared a day in advance, unmolded early in the day, leaving you work and worry-free at the last minute before serving. The raspberry sauce is, of course, the wonderful flavor addition to the peach which made the name of "Melba" famous in the world of food. It's color and flavor-right.

The Peach Cheese Mold with Raspberry Sauce is typical of dozens of quick and easy desserts, salads, pie and specialty recipes which are available in a new booklet, "Time Tested Royal Recipes." The booklet is available free by writing Room 786, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, New York. Special feature of this booklet which contains a variety of exciting and easy recipes, is the time-testing. At the top of each recipe the actual preparation time is included, along with the time required for the freezing, chilling for baking involved. A BRIDE would never think of scrubbing the floor in her wedding dress... and a wise bride would never think of scrubbing aluminum ware without the help of new blue oval soap pads. Loaded with soap, they also have a rust arrester which saves the pad till all the soap is gone.

KITCHEN SHOWERS bring welcome gifts of aluminum or stainless steel pans and electric appliances. Small kitchen gadgets are appropriate gifts, too, such as the new soap pad dispenser made of plastic which holds six soap pads and also contains a soap dish for the pad in use.

ANOTHER HANDY GADGET is that little red and yellow plastic mesh ball which cleans the most delicate china and silver without harm and also is wonderful for scraping carrots, potatoes and other vegetables.

Steal Grandmother's Formula for World's Best Fried Chicken The old ideal for culinary perfection, "just like mother used to make," is rapidly being supplanted by a still higher goal, "even better than grandmother used to make." Grandmother's cooking was known not only for its excellence but its reliability: she got the best results every time. If you're cooking a fried chicken, for instance, how is it possible to surpass grandmother's achievement? Well, you start with a leaf from grandmother's book—a can of evaporated milk. This staple, which grandmother may have depended on to get her sure-fire results, is as good as ever, perhaps even better. Evaporated milk will help you cook a golden, evenly coated chicken every time as well as to prepare a rich, creamy gravy to go with it. Chickens are also better than ever. These days, the broiler industry raises birds scientifically to produce chickens that are tender, meaty and delicately flavored. Grandmother's chicken probably couldn't hold a candle to the ones you can buy now at every supermarket. GOLDEN FRIED CHICKEN AND CREAMY GRAVY 1 tall can (1 1/2 cups) evaporated milk 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons flour, divided serving pieces 2 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided Fat for frying 1/2 teaspoon paprika 1 cup stock from cooking giblets 1/2 teaspoon pepper Cooked chopped giblets Pour evaporated milk into shallow pan. Combine 1/2 cup of the flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons of the salt, paprika and pepper in another pan. Dip chicken pieces in evaporated milk, then roll in flour mixture. Reserve remaining evaporated milk for Creamy Gravy. Preheat fat to cook deep in skillet. Brown chicken in hot fat, about 30 minutes, or until tender, turning to cook evenly. Remove chicken; keep hot. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons of the fat in skillet. Add remaining 2 tablespoons of the flour and 1/2 teaspoon of the salt and stir until smooth. Add stock and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add reserved evaporated milk and giblets and heat to serving temperature. Serve with hot cooked rice. YIELD: 4 servings.

Christian Science

Decisions about national elections should come out of each voter's communion with God and the guidance obtained through prayer. The Christian Science Board of Directors said today.

More than 7,000 Christian Scientists at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, heard the Director's message which called for an end to apathy, irresponsibility, and blind partisanship. "In the United States," the Directors said, "the current year will record important political decisions as well as international approaches." They added that "through prayer, we can rise above blind partisanship and the irresponsible tumult of aggressive mental suggestion."

Named President of the Mother Church for the coming year was Arthur W. Eckman of Cambridge, Mass. A lawyer, he is a native of Vicksburg, Mississippi. He was educated at the U. of Texas, the University of Southern California, and Harvard Law School.

The Directors held that peoples of all lands will be delivered from tyranny through the freedom-giving power into materialism. "With complete confidence in God's guidance," they declared, "Christian Scientists foresee the doom of the evil forces which would undermine righteous government, weaken human freedom, and sink mankind deeper into materialism."

The new President, Mr. Eckman, served three terms on the Los Angeles Board of Education and one term on the California Board of Education. A former Manager of Committees on Publication, he was appointed General Counsel of the Legal Department of The Mother Church in 1944, an office he still holds. He succeeds Mrs. Kathryn F. Cook of Boston, Mass.

Mr. Eckman emphasized the need for individual action through prayer to deal with impending challenges to civil and religious freedoms.

The threats to be coped with, he said, "are not merely external forces under authoritarian dictatorships that would seek to destroy our way of life. Vicious internal enemies, represented by organized crime in league with corrupt politics and subversive influences, claim the power to take over government in one community after another..."

Through reliance on God's power and guidance, these challenges will be met and mastered, he declared, adding that "the beneficent government of the founding fathers will be preserved, and civil and religious freedoms reign supreme."

Reports of key officials covered the far-reaching activities of the demagogues which has branches in more than 45 countries throughout the free world.

Public lectures on Christian Science were given for the first time, it was announced, in many distant areas including Ghana and the Fiji Islands.

Vigorous response to the international television and radio series "How Christian Science Heals" was reported by Will B. Davis, Manager of Committees on Publication. More than 175,000 people have written to Boston for information about Christian Science since the programs started, he said. In addition, some 6,000 requests a month, he noted, have come to Christian Science Reading Rooms from interested listeners.

Many outstanding healings through entirely spiritual means were cited in the reports. They included healings of alcoholism, leukemia, pneumonia, cancer, asthma, tuberculosis, broken bones, insanity, hay fever, heart trouble, and cerebral palsy.

The total number of Christian Science organizations at colleges and universities has nearly doubled in recent years, Edward Froderman, Manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners stated. Newly listed organizations include those at the University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, South Africa, and at the Free University of Berlin, Germany.

Widespread interest was reported in Christian Science periodicals, including the denomination's world-famous daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor.

New translations of certain of the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, this Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, were announced.

Special conferences for Christian Science personnel in the Armed Forces were held during the year, it was reported, in Okinawa; Seoul, Korea; and Berchtesgaden, Germany.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Matthew 7:13-14; Luke 15:11-32
Devotional Reading: Psalm 1

The Two Ways

Lesson for June 12, 1960

THE NOTION that you can find out what is right by seeing how many people do it, is not an idea you can find in the Bible. If what the majority of people do makes anything right, then you are really deciding right and wrong by voting on it. The truth is, the majority of people are wrong as often as they are right. Jesus believed that in his day, at any rate, the majority was on the wrong road. There are two ways or roads through this world, he said, one is broad and the other narrow. One is easy to find, the other you cannot find so easily. What is more, the broad road is popular and the narrow road is not. But the real question to ask about any road is: Where does it go? Where shall I land if I follow it?

Dr. Foreman

To life or to destruction?

Life and destruction are opposites. You would think any one could see that. But to judge from the way many people act, it is plain that they think the same road leads both to destruction and to life. Many a man walks the broad road with plenty of company, knowing (or at least having heard) that the road ends in destruction. But he thinks life is a wayside stop, indeed he rather pities the poor fools that took the narrow rocky road to life, when it is so much pleasanter to take the broad road. The truth is, on the contrary, that you can't reach life by the road that goes to destruction. You have to choose.

Discipline

Why is it that the road to life is sparsely traveled and the road to destruction crowded? It isn't that people prefer destruction. It's the road that attracts them. Let's look at one attractive feature (that is to say, one that does attract unthinking travelers) of the broad highway. It is like the broad concrete highways that cross our nation. Wider and faster roads are being built all the time; but the accident rate keeps going up. One reason why the broad road is preferred is that you don't need to use your brakes on it very often. There are no stop-lights on a through-way for most of its distance. But forgetting about brakes has its dangers. There used to be a stretch of road in North Carolina, about equally divided between a pretty straight shoot through low hills, and a very crooked steep climb up the Blue Ridge. For years on end there was not a fatal accident on the narrow, steep and crooked part of the road, but many accidents on the straight stretch to the east. Going up the mountain or down, drivers were careful. But once down, they would let the brakes go and zoom off—many of them to early death. So it is for persons or for nations: life without brakes goes swiftly to destruction. And the name for the brake we have to apply to ourselves is called Discipline.

As important as steering

There are three things a car must have, at the very least. It must have power to move, it must have a steering mechanism that works, and it must have brakes so that the driver can slow down or stop. So it is on the roads of life. The traveler must have power, he must be able to steer, and he must be able to hold himself down. Brakes are every bit as important as carburetor or steering-shaft. So in the life of every man; without discipline he is running just as great a risk as if he had no driving power at all. Discipline means being able to say No to yourself. Discipline means being able to choose what is unpleasant, if it is right. Discipline means loving yourself last. It means, in the first place, choosing a road because it leads to Life and not because it is easy.

No one would venture to say whether today, as in Jesus' day, the wrong road is crowded more than the other. But sometimes one wonders. A nation made up mostly of people who never say No to themselves, a nation made of citizens who always want the most for the least, who translate "I want it" into "I must have it," is a nation like that going to be better than its people?

House For Active Family Living Bestows Prestige With Comfort

Unmistakably designed for comfortable and carefree living, with huge paneled family room opening through a dramatic glass wall to the patio, this house imparts prestige with living ease. Long, low roof line sweeps across 75 feet of distinctive Colonial exterior of weatherproof Johns Manville Asbestos Flexboard charmingly done in board-and-batten.

The wide foyer opens on a spacious, three-zoned interior. Designer Don Scholz has plotted a magnificent living-dining room combination with charming bay and massive fireplace that can also open to the family room. Restfully secluded bedroom wing includes an elegant master suite, and two baths feature such deluxe appointments as new, colorful National Gypsum interior wall finishes. Step-saving kitchen adjoins a delightful dining nook, and sensible laundry-mudroom.

Named the Rio Grande, this home is included in the Scholz design collection of fine houses and floor plans featured in a colorful brochure available for $1, or write for free details to Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 115, 2001 N. Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

This Home's Charm Says 1760 But Delivers 1960 Livability

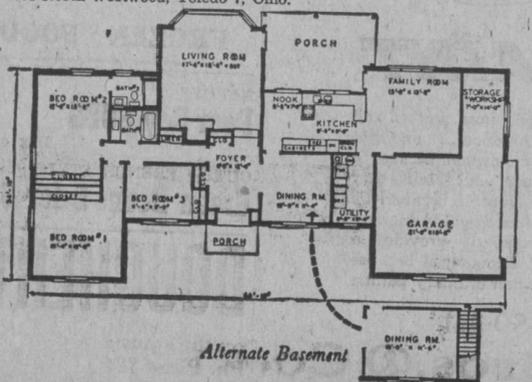

Designed to strike a regal pose in a worthy, spacious setting, this luxurious Colonial ranch by Don Scholz brings the traditional and modern together in a pleasing blend.

Room-size foyer keynotes a meant-for-lazy-living interior distinctively separated into spacious rooms. Design artistry places four main rooms—living and family rooms, master bedroom and kitchen—in command of the view to the rear.

Magnificently bay-windowed living room and the family room open onto a sheltered rear porch. Efficient kitchen is high-style, featuring a new Revco refrigerator with furniture-quality wood doors to match cabinets, and Tappan built-in wall unit that puts two ovens and broiler at visual work height.

One of many in the distinctive Scholz Design Collection, the Trout Valley is included in a colorful idea brochure available for $1, or write for free details to Don Scholz Design Associates, Dept. 116, 2001 North Westwood, Toledo 7, Ohio.

Carroll County General Hospital Auxiliary Meeting

Monday, June 13 will be the next meeting of the Carroll County General Hospital Auxiliary at the Medical Center, Gist Road, Westminster. The program for the evening should prove quite interesting with a white elephant sale, tray favor displays and financial feature of the year. The tray favor displays will be handled by Mrs. M. K. Talley. The White elephant sale chairman is Mrs. Fred Shipley with co-workers, Mrs. Gold Towshend of Westminster and Mrs. Roy Kiser of Taneytown. The meeting will also give the men and women of the county and Reisterstown-Glyndon area an opportunity to see the progress of construction of the new hospital. All members and their friends are urged to attend this meeting.

NAMED PRESIDENT — Arthur W. Eckman of Cambridge, Mass., was named President of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., at the June 6 Annual Meeting.

This is the Witness

I have the witness that God heals arthritis. He did it for me. People spend thousands of dollars for the cure. Deuteronomy 30:19 I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing, therefore choose life that both thou and thy seed may live. The Bible is full of promises that are positive. God always speaks in the positive, Mark 11:24 Jesus says, Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire when you pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. Take your Bible and read these promises, Mark 16:18, Matthew 21:22, James 5:14. God has done lots of healing for me, in answer to prayer. He is still on his throne; he delights in his children. If you are not one of his, you can be. Matthew 11:28. Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. I John 1:16 we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins. Have you tasted of the good things of God. 1 Corinthians 2:14, But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. You see when God takes over in us we become his new creatures, passed from death into everlasting life, joint heirs with him. Personally I have been healed according to the scriptures, of broken ribs, kidney trouble, gall bladder, blood poison and many other things.

How To Tour on a Budget...
by CAROL LANE
WOMEN'S TRAVEL DIRECTOR,
SHELL OIL COMPANY

Here are some tips on cutting costs for your vacation tour:

- Drive at a steady rate. Don't speed. The faster you go, the more gasoline you use.
- Stick to toll-free roads when possible. They may add to travel time, but are tops for sightseeing.
- Picnic when possible. Try a picnic breakfast (prepared the night before). Make coffee with a percolator that plugs into cigarette lighter.
- When weather's nice, camp out. Sleeping bag and a small tent will do fine.

A motoring vacation is fun and economical, too. In a car, the whole family travels as cheaply as one.
