Washington, February 6, 1961-At last count, our teenagers were watching home television some 20 hours every week. It is difficult to estimate how they are being affected by this heavy exposure to Gunsmoke, The Untouchables, Red Skelton and Shirley Temple. Perhaps an enterprising in-vestor will assemble a TV counter (akin to a geiger counter) to deter-mine when a 15-year old has been over-exposed to the "rays" of a television set. Nevertheless, TV can be a positive influence upon a teenager as well as another problem for For example, TV can be utilized bills might serve to clear up certain misconceptions which have come up regarding them. Senate Bill No. 5 was recommended by the Maryland Pharmaceutical As-sociation and the Baltimore Metro-politan Pharmaceutical Association following the Legislative Council's study of House Bill No. 373 of 1960. The latter bill had proposed a revision of the pharmacy laws and was re-ferred to the Council by the House Ways and Means Committee. The two pharmaceutical associations proposed before the Legislative Council that House Bill No. 373 be dropped and that two bills be instituted in its place. This is one of the two bills. It proposes amendments to those por-tions of Article 43 of the Code contions of Article 43 of the Code concerning pharmacists with particular respect to the sale of drugs by pharmacists and to the suspension, revocation and renewal of pharmacists' licenses.

Senate Bill No. 6 was also recommended by the two pharmaceu-tical associations and it proposes to amend portions of Article 27 of the Code concerning dangerous drugs, particularly as to the dispensing, labeling and advertising of dangerous drugs and as to their sale by itinerant vendors.

Apparently the wording of these bills makes them a great deal broader in effect than was intended by the Legislative Council. This is being pointed out to the Judicial Proceedings Committee and attempts are being made to eliminate the objectionable aspects. Both bills were introduced by Council and neither of them was spon-sored by any member of the Carroll County delegation.

PROPOSED CHANGE IN MINIMUM WAGE

Economists estimate unemployment this winter at well over 5 million and predict that government will take "quick action to aid depressed areas". Immediate steps may include more job insurance, more public works and other measures to alleviate what is felt to be the growing problem of joblessness. What, many do not seem to realize is that government itself can create unemployment as a result of over-regulation of our free market economic system. The January issue of Nation's

Business presents a telling case against impending proposals to raise the minimum wage and extend coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act. This Act was conceived with the best of humanitarian intentions toward "those who toil in the factories". Its purpose was to eliminate from industries and interstate commerce "labor conditions detrimental to the maintenance of the minimum standard of living necessary for health, efficiency and general wellbeing of the workers". It did not apply to "local pursuits and services. which no federal legislation can effectively cover". Thus, for example, executives, professionals, local retailing employees and outside salesmen be kept down and the U.S. must live are exempt as well as employees in within its income. To follow any unskilled persons older than 50. Multiply these instances by thousands and you get a pretty good idea of what over-regulations can do. And in this instance it would almost certainly give another turn to the thumb screws of inflation.

The most telling indictment against the federal minimum wage in the minds of many critics is on the principle involved, namely-that of government injecting iself as final judge and jury in the bargaining area between employer and employee .- Industrial News Review.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

The Milwaukee Railroad proposes to discontinue its passenger train service west of Minneapolis, effective January 8. The Miles City, Montana, Star, said, "Perhaps it is a sign of the times. The Milwaukee is only one of many railroads serving a vast area and must spend more than it takes in if the service is to be continued. Deficit spending may be the modern trend as far as government is concerned, but certainly private business cannot long endure such procedures".

Don't eat that last roll because, 'Any adult obviously obese might just as well wear a placard saying, I haven't any self-control'," declares Dr. Edward J. Stieglitz, Washington, D. C., internist, "Ninety-nine per cent are the result of overeating; one per cent are the result of other disorders".

It costs the U.S. government for storage $14,000 a day for flaxseed and rye, oats $15,000; rice $17,000; soybeans $23,.000; milk and butter $29,000; barley $64,000 and cotton $76,000. "But these are peanuts", comments the Arlington, Texas, Citizen, "compared to the big boys. Have a good look: Grain sorghums cost $262,000 a day. Corn costs $444,000 a day, wheat $579,000 a day for storage." Total cost of storage for all these commodities comes to over $550,000,000 a year.

The railroads may have to discontinue a few of their runs for lack of patronage but as the Association of American Railroads said, "American railroads continue to serve 50,000 communities over 218,000 miles of railway, carrying almost as much freight as all other forms of transportation combined.

In most areas, anti-freeze is a wintertime "must." However, just having the radiator filled with anti-freeze isn't enough, according to Shell Oil's automotive experts. Allied parts of the car should be in good repair.

Tips on Touring

Women's Travel Authority

Check Your Radiator

If you're a woman getting your family ready for winter-don't for-get your family car. First item of business-the radiator. These tips will help women know what needs doing.

So have the service station at-tendant check the cylinder head and bolts and gaskets to see that they are leak-proof. Ask him to inspect the hot water heater and all connections. The thermostat should be replaced if it is not working right. If the water pump shows signs of leaking, have it repaired or replaced.

A leaky or weak radiator hose and hose clamps should be replaced to prevent your car from gradually losing anti-freeze. All gaskets, expansion plugs, and drain cocks should be examined for leakage. And don't forget the radiator itself.

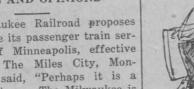

Before having the anti-freeze added, have the cooling system cleaned out. If rust or dirt appears in the drained water, the cooling system should be cleaned with a radiator flush.

Modernization Easy With Aid Of FHA Loan

The Federal Housing Administration has announced that more than a half-a-million fam-ilies used FHA-insured loans to remodel and repair their homes during the first six months of FHA points out that the total value of loans in the first six months of the year reached 479 million dollars. This, the agency says, indicates the continuing basic interest of home owners in improving their homes by repair and remodeling. Eligibility for an FHA-insured loan requires that the repairing, remodeling, or additions to a home actually improve the liva-bility of a house. In its apprais-als, FHA gives credit for superior and workmanship that will give families better homes. Among improvement items that add to a home's livability and thus are eligible for FHA and thus are engineered that loan insurance are: Insulation. Mineral wool in-sulation increases comfort in a home and reduces the cost of home and reduces the cost of operating it. Built-in kitchen appliances. An automatic electric dishwash-er increases livability by getting dishes more healthfully clean and freeing the housewife for more time with her family. New roofing. Reroofing a house with asphalt shingles gives it a "new lease on life," with a promise of trouble-free protec-tion from weather for years, colorful new beauty for the en-tire house, and increased resale tire house, and increased resale value. Combination storm and screen doors and windows. These add to comfort as well as heating economy. Many families favor combination storm and screen doors and windows of ponderosa pine because wood, unlike metal, is a natural insulating material and can be painted to match or harmonize with exterior colors. harmonize with exterior colors.

dustries and taxicab work. As with most government activities the wage hour law had an innocuous beginning. In 1938 the minimum wage was set at 25 cents an hour, raised to 40 cents in 1945 and 75 cents in 1949. In 1956 it was set at $1. In 1960 both houses of congress had bills under consideration that would have boosted the mini- family circle must assume the primmum wage to $1.25 and extended coverage to a point that legislators felt would actually result in federal coverage for all employees of all businesses. Congress adjourned without making changes.

The irony of the minimum wage law is that, aside from its humanitarian goals, it is becoming a prime cause of unemployment. No less an authority than the U. S. Labor Department studied the economic effects of the minimum wage after it was raised in 1956 from 75 cents to $1 an hour. The agency found "significant declines in employment in most of the low-wage industry segments studied." In the words of Nation's Business, "Employers cut their payrolls and replaced less efficient workers. They also installed more efficient workers. They also installed more efficient machinery changed product lines and raised production quotas".

Increasing wages by government fiat simply means fewer jobs for marginal workers and increased wage costs all along the line in order to maintain wage differentials. And this is true even for businesss not directly covered by the law. To determine potential results of extending and increasing the minimum wage as proposed in the last Congress, Nation's Business queried firms in all parts of the country. These queries showed that a variety store chain operating in eight southern states would be hit with a $360,000 a year increase in wage costs. It would have to fire 110 workers-the youngest and oldest women employees. A Louisiand druggist with five stores would have to discharge 50 of his 140 employees to stay in business. Some of them are teenagers; some elderly widows supplementing their social security checks with part-time work. A Cincinnati department store would have to lay off 90 employees, raise its prices one per cent, eliminate over time and no longer consider hiring financial, but national destruction".

Dr. Harry A. Snyder writes in a recent Saturday Evening Post on the problem of juvenile delinquency as follows: "If there is any remedy for disrespect for the law, dearth of moral values and absence of religious guidance, it appears that the ary responsibility".

Herbert Solow says in Fortune, The Senate will soon be asked for its advice and consent on several hundred nominations to high posts in the new Administration. One of the tests sometimes applied to a nominee is whether there exists any conflict between his private interests and the performance of his government job. Anyone who takes a job in Washington may be relying on a lawyer's bad guess and since half a dozen of the conflict-on-interest statutes are criminal in character, he nay end up in the penitentiary-at east in theory". The conflict-of-interest laws are considered antiquated y many critics.

Unanimity: Newsweek magazines said, "In Washington, almost everybody agrees, the investigators need investigating, the monitors need monitoring, and the rulemakers need new sets of rules for themselves. In short, an overhaul is called for in the Federal regulatory agencies that have a powerful influence over most of the economy"

Accountant Clause R. Groth, veterin of 37 years service with the Pacific Power & Light Company, has stated that, "There have been years when our company has paid out more to city, county, state and federal tax collectors than was paid in wages to all of our employees".

News is scarce this week so I'm adding this to my letter, written by Owen Penfield Fox.

Many people believe the old su-perstition about the Groundhog and his shadow. They say that on Groundhog Day if the sky is light enough to cast a shadow, the Groundhog will go back to bed and winter will to stay another six weeks. ## Carroll County Can be Aided by State Program

Carroll County would receive $243,-006 in State aid under the program recommended by the Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters.

I spent three hours right there, Folks asking queshours right there, Folks asking ques-tions of the owners of each pet and especially those which interested me mostly. What a wonderful life these dogs have today. Eh? Remember that old saying, "Give the poor dog a bone!" Why a bone these days means just a thing for him to play with for he gets the best of certain foods and he gets the best of certain foods and the best of care with the SHOTS everything! Men were engaged right dorsed by Governor Tawes and made everything! Men were engaged right a part of his financial program for there to groom the pets and those the 1961-1962 fiscal year. dogs behaved more beautifully than many children.

The big and handsome 110 pound Old English Sheep Dog fascinated me and he was a dream and very lovable. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hendrik Van Rensselear-Youngs Road, Bas-Van Rensselear-Youngs Road, Bas-king Ridge, N. J. He is "Champion Fezzing Ceiling Zero!" I loved the real Blood Hound. He looked so sad just like that dog on a T.V. show which did all his thinking aloud and which the audience always enjoyed Van which the audience always enjoyed thoroughly!

I have heard many say, "Oh, a dog is too much trouble. I don't want that care!" But, Folks everything in life The money Carroll County would that is worth while is always a little care and trouble. It was truly a grand show throughout and I enjoyed every minute of it. There were many dogs there of which I was not familiar with the type of breed. Think of it, the puppies of the "English Sheep Dog" starts at the price of $2001 starts at the price of $200! Dog" They are very rare. A number of "Pup Dogs" were shown and they are adorable and the type which the Duke and Duchess of Windsor own. They are very popular in England yet I recall when I was a little girl in Philly, that breed was the dog of the day. The "6th Maryland Orchid Annual Show" at Hochschild Kohn Company which I attended yesterday was as beautiful as any other year right there. There were so many varieties and the coloring fantastic plus the beautiful artistic displays and all so different. Although, all had great appeal to this Observer there was one exhibit which was most prominent which was titled "Rhapsody in Blue"! There were beautiful pastel shades of Orchids on a background of "Alice Blue" Tafetta and a white Violin placed most gracefully and that by the "Reiner" Florist. There was truly a most delightful charm to that one!

Now — the letter! Dear Observer: I wrote to you sometime ago and much has hap-pened since that letter. I married a man against the wishes of my Mother. I was the only child. He drank ter-ribly of which I did not know until after our marriage. I am a Lutheran and he was a Catholic. One day, he came home and in a loud and angry voice under the influence of drink said, "I am not married to you" I asked him what he meant as we had had a big Church wedding. He said because we were not married by a Priest of The Catholic Church. So to please him, we were married in the Rectory of his Faith. Finally, he became very abusive striking me in his fit of temper and drinking and it kept getting worse. He would lose one position after the other yet I worked all the years of my married life and am still employed in the same posi-tion. The last blow was a terrific strike on the side of my face which did much damage and I was hospitalized. That was the end and I got a divorce immediately! Recently, I purchased a tiny house and he keeps begmoney as I am a secretary and have always been most saving. I have had very little affection all my life in fact I do not recall of my Mother ever once kissing me. There is another man who is interested in me and who works in the same building as I but lately have caught him in a number of real lies yet he keeps pestering me to marry him. Please help me as I feel as though I am going into a real break down. Signed Widow. Dear Widow: Yes, I do recall your letter and I only wish that I could publish right here all of your letter which I am confident would be of great aid to many women left alone. First of all, why did you remain with a man who mistreated you and especially beat you? There was a Judge one day that stated to a lady seeking a divorce, "Well, the first time your husband beat you was his fault and second time was your fault! Which meant very plainly you should have left when the very first beating happened. A man is in my way of thinking a Beast who would attempt to strike any woman for that type of a man is so cowardly that he would never attempt to strike a man. If you take this man back you deserve "There are only two kinds of peo-"There are only two kinds of people in the world—those in the swim and those in the soup."—F. P. There is no accurate way of measuring unemployment-the figures representing it are as distorted as images in a fun house mirror. the first place, man groups such as summer resort employees, fishermen. farm workers, guides and others who never worked 12 months out of the year, never considered themselves "unemployed" during slack periods until the advent of unemployment compensation. Secondly, when "ben-efits" approach the take-home pay, they subsidize and prolong voluntary unemployment.

Old accountants never die; they just lose their balance.

Two men have been spending much of the time cutting and making these chains for some eleven trucks and eight graders which are quite a necessary item during snow removal operations.

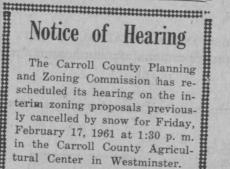

Cost of the chains alone is sixtyfour cents per foot, or approximately $3500. The worst part of it all, accord-ing to Mr. Walsh, is that chain is getting extremely scarce in the Baltimore area.

Bill took the cue. He stepped out of the picture.

Nevertheless, as the days passed, Janice hoped that Bill would make some sort of an overture for a reconciliation, but he remained as silent as a church mouse.

Three weeks from that fateful night, Bill was flying into port, the landing gear froze as he hit the runway, the plane swerved and fell on it's side. It didn't crack-up, nor was there any fire, but when they hauled Bill from the cabin his left leg was broken.

An hour later, upon receiving news of the accident, Janice rushed to her mother.

"Mother," she sobbed, "I've just got to go to Bill."

"Very well, dear," replied her mother. "But take into consideration; Mr. Wallace may not approve."

"Then he can disapprove," said Janice briskly. "No man is going to run my life."

When she arrived at the hospital, a nurse indicated the white bed on which Bill was half asleep, his leg hoisted and held in position by weights.

She weaved her way around other white beds and stood over him.

"Ha!" he exclaimed, breathing laboriously. "Strange what a fellow see's when delirious." Janice sobbingly, leaned over and kissed his lips. "Gee-ma-nettie," he muttered, a smile was in the making. "That seemed real." "Darling," quavered Janice. "It was real, really real." "Then unreal another one." The smile had reached it's peak. Janice obeyed, joyfully.

"Oh, Bill, I didn't think I wanted to marry a flyer, but a little bird kept telling me I couldn't love anybody but you."

"That same little bird has been humming and jet-diving around my ears and heart, too. Listen, honey, shut off the water works and kiss me again.'

Again Janice submitted to authority.

"Soon as they unwrap this left hind leg of mine we'll be married. Will I still be flying?'

"Always," blurted Janice. "I've wanted to be the wife of an aviator.'

How efficient is your casting? Do you know that the right combination of rod, reel, line, and lure can help you cast better? Selecting the right combination of tackle based on your skill and fishing plan "romises longer casts, greater ease, and more accuracy. When g tackle is right for the angler and the con-ditions, its called "balanced tackle".

Casting champions, such as International Champion Johnny Dieckman, who count on accuracy or distance and sometimes both together to win a tournament, use six to ten different rods in a tournament depending on the events. For their fly tackle they provide a different reel and line for each rod depending on the purpose of the event.

If you are planning to buy a rod for yourself, your wife, c. one of the kiddies — keep these points in mind.

A stiff rod is more difficult for the reginner to work efficiently. requires more coordination and know-how. But it offers the good caster great-er distance with less effort. However, don't be sold on distance alone. While it is often the main reason for a choice of tackle - catching fish is still the prime reason for buying tackle.

Abu-Matic Spincasting Reel

The lake fisherman making long casts with light line may be willing to chance a broken line. If he isn't, he may compro-mise by giving up some distance and using a more limber rod to cushion the shock of light line and avoid unnecessary breakage.

If you fish swampy marsh land or tree-lined rapids where snags are a constant threat, you may well prefer heavier line to avoid breakage. Of course, this will shorten your casts but long casts are less important than accurate casts and your tackle is by necessity "balanced" to your need.

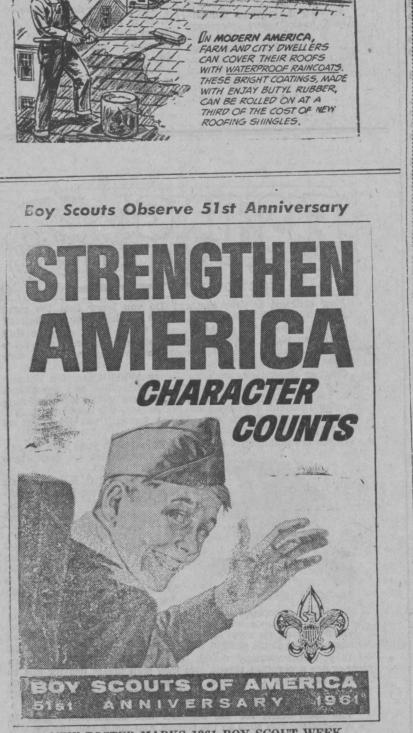

The ideal outfit for the beginner and occassional angler is a spin-casting reel such as the Garcia Abu-matic 140, 160, or 170, a spin-casting reel such as the Garcia Abu-matic 140, 160, or 170, a fast taper, hollow fiber glass rod designed for  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{5}{6}$ -ounce lures, and the line which comes pre-wound on the spool. For those who plan to fish often and in a variety of conditions, an open faced spinning reel offers more versatility but requires more practice to operate efficiently.

You can properly balance your rod and reel by experimentation. Try different weight lines and varied lures until you strike the combination that's best for you. When you do - you'll find your easts easier, more accurate, and - more productive,

Light of the World Lesson for February 12, 1961

TIMID Christians, especially nowadays, sometimes wonder if we haven't set our sights too high. Missionaries have had to leave China and parts of Africa; they have had a hard time in sections of India, and elsewhere. Are we meddling where we ought not to be?

Intelligent Japanese Christians will tell you frankly why it is that Christianity has grown so slowly in Japan: it is because it is regarded as a western religion, an importation, and to be a Chris- Dr. Foreman tian is (in the eyes of millions of Japanese) to be unpatriotic.

Wouldn't it be better, some American church members say, if we just recognized that the Japanese are right, Christianity is a western religion, it suits America and maybe Europe, so let's cultivate it here and leave Asia to the Asiatics?

The cure for such timid Christians is a good look at the New Testament, and at history. Take the history first. The Christian religion did not start as a western religion; it began in Asia. It had its roots in the Jewish religion, and that also was a religion of Asia. One of the big questions that stirred the early church was: Can the Christian religion take in non-Jews? In other words, can the Christian religion be acceptable in Rome, Spain, Germany, Britian? Nobody thought about Britian at first, to be sure; and when Christian missionaries first went there it was dangerous in the extreme. But they went. There were timid Christians then as now, satisfied with Christianity as a home-town religion. But there were also bold Christians, far-sighted Christians, and with or without the backing of the whole church they went, in time, over the wide world. Christianity today is the one world-wide religion. Our nearest rival has less than half the number of adherents that Christianity has.

Light of the World

All this was not an accident, not

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN-(WHY JESUS CAME) All who read this Book shall know Why God sent Jesus as a Baby here below; He did it to show how we must grow up to be To live, forever, with Him, in Eternity.

APPALI PECORD TENEVTOWN, MABYLAND

Many books have been written, to tell about God;

But, He is still a stranger, to some on this Sod; So, read the Bible and, study God's plan To make earth heaven and a home for man.

People of old all thought God was a man-(They knew nothing about Him or His plan), So read this book, and, you all shall know Who God is, who you are, and, how to go.

The book tells the truth about the Real you-That, too, is something few persons ever knew, God tells us all through Him, how and what to do To make our physical body like the Real you.

The whole book tells about God, and His plan. To make earth heaven, and, the future home of man, It tells who God is, who you are, how we all must At the end of Time, and, through all Eternity.

Your physical body is not yet the Real you, (Many moons shall come and go, before that is true!) It is only a machine, some writers say Which the Real you operates from day to day.

Take God out of my body—(what do you see?) Physiology says: "A very little me!)— Nine-tenth of my body is blood, water and bone; So, God would be standing there alone.

The millions of bodies in our cemeteries to-day Are only houses in which people used to stay, Those who once dwelt in them, experts say, Are now building bodies which shall not decay.

Reincarnation is the way, it is now said, By which God is raising all the dead;

In a perfect body we all must be, Since, in a body, we shall spend Eternity.

There are thousands of people on earth tody Who claim they were here only yesterday; They have intimations of having lived before— That, too, is something we should not ignore.

Nature seems perfection—(so does mortal man), So, the evils of the past, new races shall ban; Jesus so, it shall be on the "New Earth" of ours

With its cultural peoples, its trees and its flowers.

Man was not made to come here and die— (Then sleep in the earth while the ages go by); He only came here certain lessons to learn; When that is finished, he shall return.

This earth is not yet like God wants it to be;

And, the same may be said of you and me; So, like the Rivers, you and I must come and go Till we make it a Paradise here below.

A simple life span, too, short a time would be For one to learn how to live through Eternity; So, God sends us all back to learn His plan To make a perfect earth, woman and man.

Death is only a transition; it is not the end Of your exisence, you may well defend; God still has many things for you to do, When your itinerary down here is through.

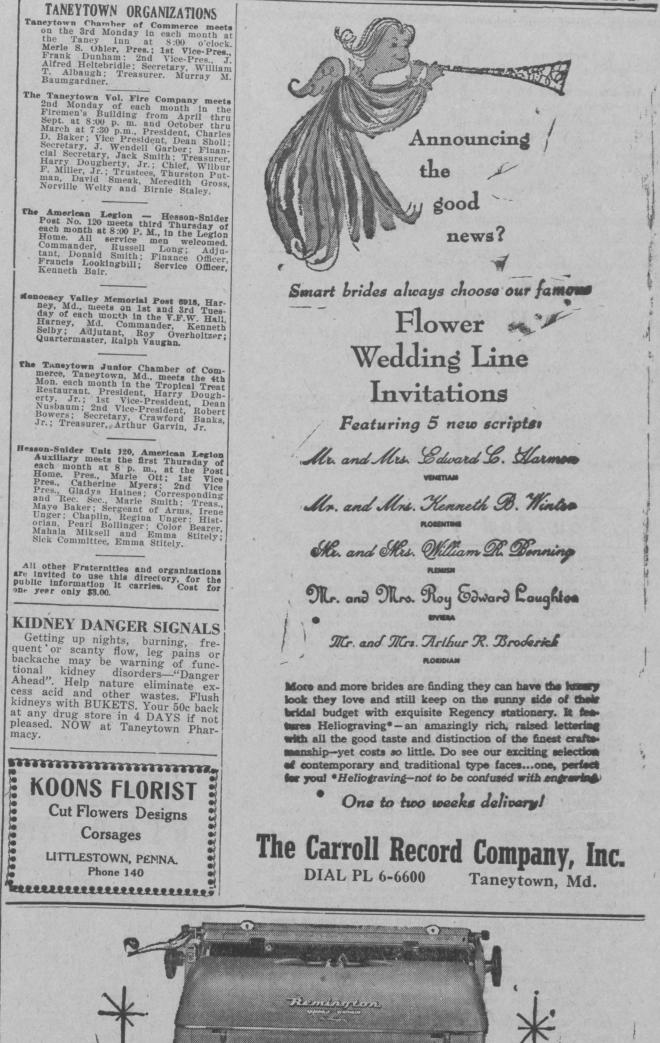

The poems in this book are like those you shall see At the end of Time, and through all Eternity; God made Earth a Paradise on which to dwell; It is mortal man who tries to make it a hell.

So, read the book, carefully, through and through; It tells how God did, how He wants us to do, Since we are made in God's image it seems to me Like our Great Father we all should try to be.

To learn to know God like Jesús we would be (That is why God sent Him to Galilee); God sent Jesús as a Baby to show you and me How, just like Him! we must grow up to be.

Just so, we find things on earth in our day (We learn to know all of our friends this way) There is something in others which attracts they say;

So, to learn to know God, that is the nature way.

an after-thought. Jesus himself though a loyal Jew had a worldvision. He called himself the Light of the World. This was a kind of divine audacity. It didn't look like it in his lifetime. There he was, off in a very obscure corner of the world, without one single follower who could have been called "distinguished." The intellectual and economic and political centers of the world were elsewhere. There was no religious vacuum for a new religion to fill. There was no welome-mat at the world's front door when Christianity began to knock. But Jesus called himself, all the same, the Light of the World.

Jesus could rightly say this. The light he came to bring, the light he personally was, is different from all other lights. It is a light from God and also a light on God. Jesus is God - making - himself known. A well-known atheist said he would believe in God on one condition: "Trot him out and let me see him do something." Well, a "god" who could be trotted out would not be God at all; but as for doing something, Christ is what God has done, he is what God has said.

How He Shines

Jesus said, also, to his friends and followers: You are the light of the world. This is no contradiction. He shines through those who share his spirit and his service. Through the gradual Christianizing of society, through the freedom and dignity that has come to those who have entered the Christian way; through every school and church and hospital and orphanage that works in his name and service; through the preaching of the Word in the languages of the world; through the day-by-day living of genuine Christians, the light of Christ shines every day around the world. "Christianity is possible only in a nation of Christs," said a famous non-Christian, G. B. Shaw. He was more right than he knew; it is precisely the "nation of Christs" that is our aim everywhere. Lights in small corners are good so far as they go; but Christ sets out to be the Light of the World.

(Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)

God made the Planet man's future home to be At the end of Time, through all Eternity; He gave it no name at first they say Because it was far from perfect in every way.

Only 3000 years ago, Bible students now say, We had no mountains and Rivers, like to-day; In Adam's day the people all drank dew— It was the only beverage of which they know.

Our earth has no name like our stars they say Because they were named after god's of that day But in future ages, Heaven, its name shall be— The Paradise home of God, you and me.

When God said of Jesus: "This is my Beloved Son" His words they tell us were meant for everyone; So, learn to know Him, and, study His plan To make earth the Paradise home of man.

Jesus too, said to the people: "The Father and I are one" (As is the Father, so is the son); So, try your best like Jesus to be Through us God shall reign in Eternity.

The fellow who calls himself a worm does not know Who God is, who he is, or, how to go; So, learn to know God, and help with His plan , To make Earth Heaven and the future home of man.

As things are to-day, on earth, they always shall be-(Not only in Time but, through all Eternity. But, in a death proof body we all shall be; For, through us, God shall reign in Eternity.

How God without a body can possibly be Has always puzzled mortal s, like you and me; But now, to me it is plain as a-b-c-; Since His body is my body, and, always shall be.

To learn to be like Jesus study God's plan To make a perfect earth, woman or man, God has worked through all the ages they say, To make Earth the Heaven it shall be some day.

You And Your Taxes

Just as air conditioning belies Mark Twain's contention that everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does much about it, so does an experience in Wichita, Kans., destroy the misconception that you can't do much about your taxes.

In Wichita, average taxpayers DID something about their taxes.

As a result of action taken by a group of taxpayers, local governmental budgets were cut more than $1,000,000 in 1959, one mill was cut from the 1960 tax levy, more reductions are forthcoming, there has been a general awakening of interest in local government, and local officials have become economyminded. All this in the face of a national trend toward ris-ing costs and taxes at the local level.

The device by which these results were accomplished is an organization known as Home Owner Tax, founded a year ago by a successful young Wichita businessman. Basically, the program involves a campaign to inform local taxpayers about local government expenditures, focus attention on constantly increasing local taxes, and induce the taxpayer to communicate his views on spending and taxes to local government of-ficials. It is designed to help the taxpayer decide what he wants and what he does not want to buy and pay for in local government. H.O.T. organized a series of ect of the Wichita Junior Chamebr of Commerce, and early this year by the U.S. Jaycees for pilot operations in some 200 cities during 1960.

The need for this sort of activity is obvious enough, but too often the obvious escapes notice. The facts are that the cost of government is the big-gest expense item in the average wage-earner's budget. One out of every three dollars in his paycheck goes to government in federal, state or local taxes. And the cost of government is going up every year. Local government expenditures, for example, have more than tripled in the last 10 years. Unless this spending is checked, the American economy could very well be ruined.

Many times, by default, tax-payers permit the government take over in areas where they themselves could act. H.O.T. seeks a middle ground between the ideology which holds that only government can perform certain services, or can do them better, and the opposite ideology which holds that the individual can, in some cases, better perform these ser-vices for himself and thereby preserve his initiative. There is plenty of support for the former these days, but not much for the later. H.O.T. is adding weight to the side of individual initiative.

The experience in Wichita should be heartening to tax-payers everywhere. It is a real break-through, and now the

INTERRUPTIONS

Interruptions are extremely vexatious; but, oftimes through interruptions

Interruptions are extremely vexatious; but, oftimes through interruptions we reach our goals. Samuel F. B. Morse, poor as poverty, while puzzling out the details of his invention was often compelled by sheer necessity to pass twenty four hours without a meal. The telegraph emanated largely from homesickness. He was in Europe; his parents in America; It took a month to send a letter, another month to await an answer. A sentence he had memorized at Yale haunted him night and day. It was, "If the circuit of electricity be interrupted, the fuid will become visible and when it passes, it will leave an impression upon any intermediate body". The interruption would take the form of a spark; why not make the spark a part of a speech, a letter, a number? The idea reached its climax in his brain in the evening, working all night the next morning the Morse Code was complete. After the first message; "What hath God wrought?" Eloquent tributes were paid to the simplicity and perfection of this alphabet. More interruptions, awaiting the endorsement of timid Parliaments and Congresses, always averse to new and sensational innova-tions; withering scorn and pitless ridicule by millions who said, "The idea of sending words along wires"! Interruptions became an amazing triumph. One of the greatest classics of American Literature was born of an inter-ruption. 'I was just going to say', it begins, when I was interrupted— This period.

One of the greatest classics of American Literature was born of an inter-ruption. 'I was just going to say', it begins, when I was interrupted— This opening sentence delayed the writing of the book for twenty-five years. Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes tells us but after twenty-five years came "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" a treasure in any library. Hon. Alpheus Hardy a student at Phillips Academy yearned to be a minis-ter. Broken health, in spite of his determination forced him to forego his ministerial training. The sequel! Later in life he came to own a line of steamships that traded with Japan. A little Japanese boy stowed away on one of his ships. The boy was brought to Hardy who talked to him, won him by his kindness gave him the University education for which Hardy had yearned. Then he returned him to Japan where he became the Abraham Lincoln of his own people. No name in Japan is more honored today than "Neesima" the stow-away boy. The interruption of Hardy's education un-doubtedly did more for Japan than any foreign missionary could have accomplished.

And death! What is death, but an interruption. Believing in immortality Life is interrupted at twilight, to open with the dawn. The pause, the inter-ruption, the temporary break that changes mortality to immortality Life as a whole is often immeasurably enriched by interruptions!
