CHAMBER DISCUSSES SCHOOL ADDITION

Representative Groups Vote for 8 Rooms Instead of 4

Taney Inn was the scene of a special Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting Monday evening, February 20th, at 6:30 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting was to determine what, if anything could be done to convince the Carroll County Board of Education that the Taney town Elementary School should have an eight room and cafeteria addition rather than the four room and cafeteria addition which has been author-

There were 64 persons present, 50 of these members of the C. of C. The remaining 14 were guests. Official representatives of the following organizations made up this number: Mayor and City Council; Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company; Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company; Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company; Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company Auxiliary; Kiwanis; Lions; American Legion; Rod and Gun Club; High School PTA; Elementary School PTA; Jaycees; Cambridge Rubber Company; Harney Volunteer Fire Company; and the Harney Volunteer Fire Company Auxiliary iliary.

Attorney A. Earl Shipley, Westminster, was the moderator of the discussion. Mr. Shipley is also council for the Carroll County Commissioners. He emphasized at the outset that he was not here in an official capacity but as a long time friend of Taney town. He stated that his primary purpose in coming was to determine how much support exists for the 8 room addition rather than the authorized 4 room addition.

Mr. Shipley quoted the following contract gfiures—4 room plus cafeteria addition: $95,412.00. 8 room by Francis Smith, Reading Teacher Ours is a reading world. Although other medium offers an equal opprovide the money, have recommended the 8 room addition and have set aside $175,000.00 for the Taney-town project. The Board of Education, who has final determination in school design and construction has decided that Taneytown only needs an additional 4 rooms, not 8.

A census taken this winter does sustain the fact that the 8 rooms are not needed today for actual class rooms but evidence does indicate that at least 5 or 6 of the rooms will be needed by 1966, and this does not take into consideration any new families moving into our community. How-ever, it was pointed out that the 8 rooms will not be wasted in the interim; one room could be used for audiovisual training; one for band practice; one for vocal and instrumental music instruction, etc. Again, the comparative low cost of the additional four rooms makes it most foolish to consider anything but 8 rooms. It was noted that, from time to time, the county Commissioner's have arbitrarily added extra rooms to other proposed additions and new schools and the Board of Education has gone along with it; but for some reason or another, Taneytown cannot have the extra four rooms it wants, needs and which the County Commissioners also recommend and which they have

All 64 persons present indicated, by 8 room addition.

The final action taken was a motion, unanimously passed, to ask the County no material damage and only slight Commissioners to resubmit to the Board of Education, their recommendwater damage resulting from the fire.

"Extra Session" Held Frederick, Wednesday

One of the interesting and unusual happenings of the past week was the "Extra Session" of the Maryland Legislature held in Frederick as part of the Civil War Centennial Celebration. On Wednesday, February 15, both the members of the Senate and the members of the House of Delegates journeyed to Frederick to commorate the meeting of the Maryland General Ass-embly which was held in that city 100 years ago.

It all began at that time when the Governor, Thomas H. Hick issued the call for the "Extra Session" of the Legislature to be held in Frederick, the reason being that the city of Annapolis was occupied by Federal Troops that threatened to interrupt the meeting that was called.

Both the Senate and the House of Delegates began their deliberations on

The Senate then consisted of 22 members and the House of Delegates 73 members, with 17 senators and 53 delegates answering the roll call on April 26.

Throughout the session delegates

Throughout the session, delegates from the various counties presented resolutions and memorials demanding an Ordinance of Secession without delay, while others presented propositions to the contrary, stating that those powers were not possessed by the Legislature.

While all of this was occurring in the General Assembly, plans were being formed whereby the Federal the General Assembly, plans were being formed whereby the Federal Government was preparing itself to preserve Maryland's position in the Union. Simon Cameron, Secretary of War, in developing these plans, wrote to Major General George B. #### YOUR NEWSPAPER IS A BARGAIN

Your newspaper continues, in this period of inflated prices, to represent one of your best buys.

At the same price, or a few more pennies per copy, more than 80 million subscribers and newsstand purchasers over the nation are getting a paper that is almost 20 percent bigger than it was ten years ago.

A major factor in making possible this impressive money's worth is the research conducted continuously by newspapers and groups of publishers to hold down prices by constant improvement in methods and equipment. Outstanding in this field is the American Newspaper Publishers Association, which has announced that it will spend $600,000 in research in

But newspapers cannot do the whole job alone. Nor are efforts to strengthen your newspaper confined to research on methods and equipment. For example, the Newsprint Information Committee - composed of six Canadian newsprint producing companies - has just revealed that it is putting up $60,000 this year for research to measure the advertising impact of newspapers. This incidentally, is the same group which spent $40000 in 1960 to have Harvard University measure the effectiveness of advertising repetition in newspapers.

Your editor is always ready to take full credit for the journalistic excellence and high editorial standards of your paper, just as he must take the blame for his errors-and even for some things that are not errors. But he is likewise happy to acknowledge the help of others, such as ANPA and this small group of newsprint manufacturers, in making it possible for us to better serve our advertisers and to present the bargain that is delivered to you for little more than it cost two decades ago.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

LENNOX, S. D., INDEPENDENT: "Operating under the 'sanctity of the mails' tradition, the U.S. postal department deliverd approximately seven million pieces of Communist propaganda to addresses in this country last year. Although we certainly want to maintain this sanctity of the mails, it hardly seems reasonable to maintain it to the extent of making a 'sacred cow' out of Communist propaganda. No other free country in the world permits Moscow's propaganda to be deliverd at the expense of the taxpayers and many countries refuse to let such subversive material in under any circumstances".

SAN DIEGO, TEXAS, FACTS: "The Welfare State both feared and desired, seemed likely to arrive via Social Security. Steadily, the Social Security tax expands and the promises and 'benefits' grew. The individual taxpayer, recalling his own painful disbursements to Uncle Sam, may be inclined to say, 'It figures'.

The only consolation is that the money goes for a good cause—to keep the governmental machinery of this great nation oiled, but it takes a lot of oil. The taxpayer can be forgiven for wishing that some of the leaks

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN. JOURNAL: "The fight for federal aid (to education) still goes on but the crisis that was supposed to justify it is withering away. Those who have said the job could be done without federal aid have been proved right. Those who persist in seeking a federal solution, however still have a chance of getting their way. This could happen because many Americans, deafened by a propaganda din for federal aid, may not yet realize that the crisis is passing."

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP HIGHER THAN EVER IN UNITED STATES

在中国的

Church membership in the United States is higher now than at any other time in history. Sixty-two per cent of our nation's population regard themselves as "belonging" to a church.

And of the 103.2 million United States' church members, 51 per cent attend religious services on a given Sunday. These statistics are revealed in the American Peoples Encyclopedia 1958 Yearbook.

Religious leaders, in compiling the Yearbook figures, also had a chance to take an overall look at religion throughout the world. They found that 2.2 billion persons of the total 2.6 billion world population are adherents of religion in some

The Yearbook researchers say that if numerical strength provides a key to the solution of pressing international, national and personal needs, Christianity is in the best position of its history.

Total world adherents to Christianity are 820.3 million. That group is composed of Roman Catholics, 484 million members; Eastern Orthodox churches, 128.8 million, and Protestants, 207.5 million. Among other world religions, the Jews total almost 12 million; Moslems claim 416.5 million members and Hindu statistics show 319.1 million followers. In the United States, the Yearbook article shows the following breakdown among major church memberships: Protestants, 60.1 million; Catholic, 34.5 million; and Jews, 5.5 million.

FORTY

Life moves along so smoothly with most of us that there seems to be very little difference between one birthday and another; but to this rule there is one outstanding exception. That birthday is of course, the fortieth. It is one of the great days in lifes little story. It is a day in which we should include in a little angious stock taking.

is one of the great days in lifes little story. It is a day in which we should indulge in a little serious stock-taking.

At forty a man enters upon middle life; what could be more helpful than words of Habakkuk's prayer "O Lord, revive thy work in the midst of the years". What anguish to discover cherished idols in ruins, many are overwhelmed and stagger out into the dark. Youth may sin and sin grievously, but youth recovers itself and frequently emerges chastened and enrolled by bitter experiences. How difficult to recover the exuberance and trustfulness of youth when the eyes are turned toward the setting sup of youth when the eyes are turned toward the setting sun.

Young people write poetry and get sentimental, so do old people, but people in the forties never! Young people are in the age of romance and poetry, those of the forty are in the practical or prosy stage of life. The romance of youth has worn off. The romance of age has not arrived. They are between the poetry of the dawn and the poetry of the twilight. Between these is the panting presiration of the noonday. Youth and old age writ: in poetry, middle life in prose. The prose writing is only a minor peril as many of the finest classics in literature are penned in prose. Without stocktaking the minor peril may develop into a major peril as when prosiness curdles into pessimism. Then the case of the forties is very grave.

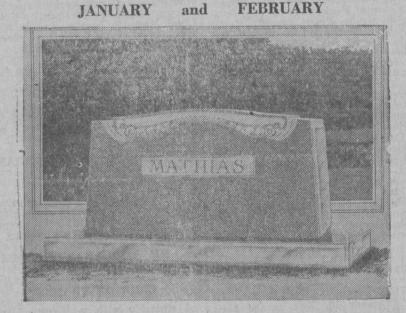

At forty the position in the world becomes more responsible. There has been struggle, sickness, and anxiety, interest have multiplied, life has

A man life is like a garden. There is a limit to the things that it will grow. You cannot pack plants in a garden as you pack sardines in a can, so the farmer thins out his beets, the orchardist prunes his trees. Life has to be similarly treated. It contains all the flowers we planted in youth and all the vegetables we set there in prosais manhood. We should not allow the pansies to crowd out the potatoes. So in middle age when memory is still half passionate and not entirely contemplative, may we not retain a beautiful border of pansies around a promising patch of potatoes and congratulate ourselves that the richest wine in the chalice of life still awaits our thirsty lips.

Increasing in seriousness, it must not be allowed to increase in sordid-

Then from under a mash barrel came water moccasin, too much under the afluence of liquor to crawl straight. Towever the snake made it to a near-by creek, fell in and floated off-torunk to swim. There are very few women that lon't treasure an expensive bottle of perfume, but few of them know that in every bottle there is a part of a sperm whale. The base for all good perfumes is ambergris, a mystery substance which comes solely from the whale. It turns up in the form of unattached lumps in various sizes along the seacoast of temperate zones. is dark, almost black in color and of a sticky nature. It has a very offensive odor, but the longer it floats around in the water, the more it lightens in color and gradually changes its odor to a musky sea smell. Ambergris can be used only in the finest and most expensive perfumes. It acts as a fix-ative. It adds nothing to the scent of perfume but has remarkable powers of keeping the scent in the perfume from fading and evaporating. Some chunks of ambergris weighs as much Visitors during the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Mummert and family were: Mrs. Walter Marker, Mrs. Charlotte Shorb, Miss Helen Marker, Mrs. Robert Strickhouser, Mrs. Elwed Mrs. Elwed Mrs. Elwed Strickhouser, Mrs. Elwed now is $2.00 to $9.00 per ounce. The strike of the Flight Engineers of the major airlines has demonstrated to the public how many people travel by air. Travellers by the thousands are abandoning other modes of travel for the airplane simply because it is faster. Where is everybody going in such a hurry and what do they do when they get there? Aren't Americans ever again going to do things in a liesurely way and enjoy what they are doing? We watch them pass our home every day in their cars. Hurrying to work in the morning and hurrying home in the evenings; hurrying to eat their meals; hurrying why am I hurrying and to what?

With every state in the union seekng new sources of revenue, we wonder why most states including our own have not found it expedient to place a tax on "Billboard" advertising ... Everything else is taxed, why not billboards and signs? The roadsides of our state and our nation are a disgrace with the litter of signs and billboards cluttering them. If we are to attract visitors to our state we must not detract from the natural scenery or hide it from view by unsightly advertising on bill boards and signs. An annual tax should be put on signs of every kind and to put an end to the bill board menace along our highways an annual tax of $100.00 per square foot of area should be levied by the state legislature. Our children and grandchildren have the right to see their country as nature produced it. But unless our generation finds the time, energy and courage to do some things that must be done, they will only see their country as a land of billboards, hot dog stands, gasoline stations, trailor camps and graveyards for worn out cars. Is it too much to ask that a small fraction of our magnificent heritage of woodland, mountains and streams be spared from commercialism?

The assuraice of immortality alone is not enough. For if we are told that Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vaughn and family were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wantz and Mr. Wm. Vaughn.

Today, when other people are struggling for the same things, in the same way we forget our own struggle under Washington. May we have the courage to remember and remembering hold out a hand of understanding to the men and women who have not yet found the meaning of dignity and human rights, Lincoln, whose birthday was also celebrated this month believed in "Malice toward none and liberty for all". These two great men have given all Americans a tradition on which to build their own lives and wisdom on which to pattern their own thoughts.

After years of rigid economy and pinching every penny, a friend of ours managed to build a beautiful ranch type home and furnished it with new things. Shortly after she moved in, her three grandchildren all under six came to spend the day with her.
"I'm afraid I wasn't a very nice grandmother to them," she confided to me with tears in her voice. "They kept tearing things to pieces and I kept saying DON'T DO THAT, and by the time they left I felt they hated me. Then last night I had a horrible dream. I dreamed that I was living alone in a big castle with a deep canal all around it and I could see my grandchildren playing and the second seems. my grandchildren playing on the other side of the canal. They couldn't get across to me and I couldn't get over to them. "What a terrible dream," we said sympathetically. "But you don't understand" she wailed. "The part that made it so horrible is that I really liked it."

The Because reading is a process used all areas of living, it must be an his unique personality - his past experience, his use of language, his interest in reading, and his own rate of learning. Therefore reading instruction must be differentiated in terms of the needs, interests, and capacities of the learners at all school levels.

General Goals in the Reading Program The general goals of the reading program are to help each student to read on the highest level of which he Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Myers left last Wednesday, Feb. 10, to spend some time in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warehime and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warehime, visited at the home of Mrs. Clarence H. Myers on Thursday. Mrs. Myers spent Sunday at the home of her daughter Mrs. Elder Hara and fam. others, and answering problems in vocational and avocational pursuits.

Specific Goals in the Reading Program Reading requires a fluent, accurate recognition of words and a clear grasp of the meaning implied. However, both word recognition and comprehension are not separate distinct skills; and skills are needed by students in the primary grades and con-tinue to be needed throughout the high school. Their complexity and sequence are related directly to the material read, the purpose for reading, the student's reading achieve-ment and his maturity level. Major abilities which are important in the reading program include developing the ability to grasp the meaning of a selection, to interpret critically what is read, to organize ideas, to build a meaningful vocab-ulary, to gain independence in word mastery, to locate information, and to use graphic materials.

Rate of Reading

Speed in reading is facilitated as the reader gains skill in recognition of words and in comprehension of ideas. In a day when the annual output of printed materials far exceeds that of charge of the education recognition of transition and connective words. These skills are learned not only from reading but also in written and oral language work. There is no one standard for rate of reading, as each selection has its own best speed, depending upon the na-ture of the material and the reader's purpose in reading it. A satisfying rate in reading is not mastered in the elementary school but is a part of the developmental reading program in all grades.

Independent Reading As the student grows in skill, he uses independent reading more and more for both work-study purposes and for recreation. If he is to rea-lize full enjoyment from recreational reading, he must have materials he can read with ease. When a student is assigned reference work or committee work for some purpose as to work up a report, the material provided should be on his independent reading level if he is to work alone. If the materials used are above this level, the teacher must use a guided or developmental reading procedure suitable to the pupil's purpose and his reading ability. Moreover, it stands to reason that the best results will be achieved when the teaching materials and procedures are adjusted to one. the strengths and weaknesses of the pupils.

YEAST BREAD TOPS IN NATIONAL GRANGE BAKING CONTEST

Lawrence Blake, husband of the winner of the 1960 National Grange Baking Contest, proudly takes a bite of his wife's prize winning bread. Mrs. Blake, of Olathe, Kansas, won Best of Show and First Place in the Yeast Bread Class at the recent national contest held in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Here is the recipe which won the coveted prize:

APRICOT-FILLED COFFEE LACE Basic Sweet Roll Dough

2 cakes or packages Fleischmann's Yeast, compressed or active dry

1/3 cup warm water

1 cup hydrogenated vegetable shortening 2 eggs, beaten slightly

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Set aside. Measure into large mixer bowl shortening, sugar, salt. Scald milk, add while hot. Stir until shortening is melted. When mixture is cool, start mixer and blend in 4 cups flour. Beat 4 minutes on medium speed. Stop mixer, add eggs and yeast mixture. Beat batter smooth on medium speed for ½ minute. Gradually add 3 additional cups flour, one cup at a time. (Mixer may be used for first two additions, but dough will be stiff and somewhat sticky, and must be pushed away from beaters with rubber spatula.) Blend last of flour by hand and beat vigorously. Brush dough with melted butter, cover and set in warm place. Let rise again until doubled in bulk. Stir and beat with wooden spoon. Let rise again until doubled in bulk. Stir down and let rest for 5 to 10 minutes.

Melted butter 1/2 cup brown sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 cup apricot preserves sliced almonds

2 teaspoons salt

7 cups sifted, enriched flour

2 cups milk

Use ½ basic sweet roll dough. Roll dough into 8 x 14-inch rectangle. Brush generously with melted butter. Place rectangle on well-buttered warm cookie sheet. Sprinkle brown sugar down center of rectangle on strip 3-inches wide. Sprinkle with cinnamon, spread apricot preserves over sugar mixture. Sprinkle with sliced almonds, keeping filling within 3-inch strip. At each side of filling make cuts 2 inches apart, 2 inches into dough, making 7 strips on each side. Take strip at each side, cross at center, keeping ends inside. Continue lacing strips, tucking last ends underneath. Cover with damp cloth and let rise 30 to 40 minutes. Bake until golden brown in moderate oven—375°F.— for 30 to 35 minutes. With pastry brush, brush on confectioners' sugar glaze while hot, and sprinkle at once with fine silver shot. Garnish with candied cherry flowerets. Glaze: Heat 3 tablespoons milk, add 1 tablespoon butter, stir, add enough sifted confectioners' sugar to make thin creamy glaze. Add ½ teaspoon lemon extract. To make candied cherry flowerets, snip red cherry from stem end into 5 or 6 sections. Place petal-like pieces curved side down on cake in star fashion. Center flower with large silver shot, Use 1/3 basic sweet roll dough. Roll dough into 8 x 14-inch rectangle. side down on cake in star fashion. Center flower with large silver shot, and fashion leaves from green candied cherries.

TOP YEAST BAKER AT FAIR WINS SPECIAL AWARD

"Best of Show." Those were magic words at hundreds of county and state fairs across America this year, as women competed for the coveted Fleischmann's Yeast Best-of-Show Award in yeast baking. Mrs. Thomas O. Lynch of Brodbecks, Pennsylvania, was the winner at the Maryland State Fair. The special prize—given in recognition of this traditional homemaking skill—is a cash award and a diamond-studded gold ribbon pin. Here is the prize-winning recipe:

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

1 package or cake Fleischmann's
Yeast, Active Dry or Compressed
1 cup lukewarm water
2 teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons shortening
4 tablespoons brown sugar

Dissolve yeast in water. In large bowl, mix together salt, shortening, brown sugar. Add scalded milk, allow mixture to cool. Add yeast mixture. Add flour gradually until dough is stiff enough to handle. Knead until dough does not stick. Dough should be smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover and allow to rise about 1½ hours. Punch down and allow it to rise about 1 hour. Shape into two loaves. Place in pans, let double in size. Bake 1 hour at 350° F.

Quick and easy, but oh so delicious-hot corn muffins straight om the oven! A package of your favorite corn muffin mix saves me in wee morning hours but no one will ever dream they aren't from scratch. Dress 'em up with an orange glaze and chopped nut-meats and spread each bite with fresh comb honey. Add orange juice, Canadian bacon, a poached egg and coffee or milk to complete the menu. Hmm, fit for a king!

ORANGE 'N' HONEY MUFFINS
Makes 12 muffins
Glaze:

One 12-oz. pkg. (1-3/4 cups) Flako Corn Muffin Mix 1 tablespoon honey 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

1 egg 2/3 cup milk Heat oven to hot (400°F.). For muffins, empty contents of package into bowl; add egg and milk. Blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. (Batter should be slightly lumpy.) Fill greased medium-sized muffin cups half full. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until golden brown.

While muffins are baking, combine honey, butter and orange juice in small pan and melt over low heat. After the 15 minutes' baking, remove muffins from oven, brush with glaze and sprinkle with chopped nutmeats. Return to oven 3 minutes. Serve warm with comb honey. 1/2 teaspoon orange juice

Loving and Losing

Lesson for February 26, 1961

THE HEADLINE above might I lead you to think this is a column about a boy and a girl. If that's what you are looking for, read no further. That's not what this is about. We are talking about something more important than an imaginary girl or boy. This is about life, your life. We may as well come to the point at once. "He who loves his life loses it." This is a quotation from Jesus Christ. As if it were not hard enough to understand by itself,

Jesus adds an Dr. Foreman even harder sentence: "He who hates his life in the world will keep it for eternal life." Jesus never talked nonsense; but he often said things that made men walk away, asking themselves, What can this mean? This is one of those hard sayings.

The Cross is the Answer

Jesus did not explain his riddle in words. He explained it by action. Let it never be doubted that Christ was fully normal, apart from sin. "Like his brethren in every respect," a New Testament writer says. Now the will-to-live is strong in every man. In some persons of unsound mind there is no will-tolive, only the will-to-die. But Jesus never strikes you (nor any one else) as a morbid type, who would go around hating himself and hating life. Jesus had a joy in living, this is clear from all we know of him. Yet he came at last to a crisis in life where he had a chance to choose to live, perhaps for many years; but chose to die. He loved life; but he would not treasure his life above all things else. He loved life; but it came to the point where he knew the best investment of his life would be to "lay it down" (to use his own words).

Suppose Jesus Had Refused?

Jesus sometimes said he "had to" suffer and die; but what kind of necessity what this? No outside force pushed him True, once he got into the hands of the police, the end was foreseen by every one Yet even then Jesus said he could summon angels to his aid. And before that, it would have been perfectly simple not to offend the Pharisees and the scribes. Pilate had never heard of him and would never have heard of him if the chief priests and the rest of them had not brought Jesus before him. Jesus had no quarrel with the Roman Governor; and could have lived to a ripe old age, in retirement somewhere. But then what about the rest of us? What would we think of God? If Jesus was the divine Word made flesh, if he was God-made-man, and if he had refused the cross, then we would have known that there is one thing God would not do for man. God would teach man, condemn man, praise or punish man; but God would not die for man. God would not let himself be hurt . . . But no, Christ chose the Cross. He chose to die, not for himself alone but for every man.

. The Dying Seed

Look into the garden ground after it has been planted. What do you find? To the eye, nothing; just seeds rotting in the ground, seeds that will never come out again, seeds falling apart, dying. But look again; every living seed is sending up a green stem that will hold up another plant. To have life, you must first have death. To have victory, you must be willing to take scars. It is so with gardens. It is so with life. Jesus' sacrifice is not the only one needed to save the world. Let us suppose for a moment that every Christian in the church were just as selfish, just as much a Me-Firster, as anybody outside the church. What would the church amount to? Nothing more than another pompous club. It would never have lasted as long as it has, of course; it would indeed never have existed at all. Go over the roll of history. Some people are called "Great" when nothing about them was great except their crimes. Who are the truly great? They are, they have always been, those who did not love themselves best. They were those who-in the pinch-whether in one single burst of horoism or through long years, gave themselver - others.

GOD'S SON-

God's Son is the Christ, the ideal man—
(He is the central figure in God's great plan!);
Through Him man came into being, they say;
And, just so things are, in the present day.

God, our Father, had an idea one day;
That is why, we are all here, they say;
Since His Son, the Christ, is His ideal man;
For us all to be like Jesus, is God's plan.

The truth is, man has existed ever since that day;
But, to be like Him, God gave him from well they say;
He did it to teach all His Sons—(both you and me) That like His Son, Jesus, we all must be.

The door to mind is the "I Am", they say;
But, his thoughts, like sheep, wander day after day;
That also, is a lesson for you and me,
That, like His Son Jesus we all must be,

Jesus is the Light of the World", the Scriptures say; So unless we follow Him, we go the wrong way; God sent Him here that Light to be To show us the way from time to eternity.

God saw exactly how mortal man would be
Long before He created you and me;
That was why He sent Jesus to show us the way
Which leads from Time to the endless day.

The Spirit of Truth tells us all what to do;
It is God's thought as He watches daily over you;
If we listen it gives life and energy they say;
So, health is restored to us in that way.

Every good and perfect gift comes from above—
(Another proof to man that our God is Love!)
So, do not listen to what men may say;
Always follow Jesus, and do things God's way.

Substance is something we know little about, Although it is seen everywhere without;
It is living energy out of which things are said to be;
We see it in the fruit on every tree.

Substance is first given form in mind;
As it manifests, it becomes active, I find;
So, to get what we want, both you and me
Must put in practice the Law of Decree.

The Bible says to us all: "Make a Decree";
And the thing you want shall be established unto thee;
That is how God works; so, it is His plan
To satisfy all the wants, of mortal man.

God's laws differ from the laws of mortal man;
(That is why we are slow to adopt His plan!)
But if you put in practice what the Scripture says
You shall see how He works from day to day.

The Law of Decree is old—(one of the oldest, said to be)
But, it was written, for all humanity;
The things I want must seem real to me

Before in reality they ever shall be. Faith, too, plays a big part the Scriptures say, In causing things we want to come our way; So, the things I want my mind's eye must see Before they shall ever come to me.

This may sound like foolish talk, as some say;
But, to give us something, that is God's way;
So, if you really want a thing, make a decree
That is how God answers both you and me.

The ancients had laws about which we do not know; And they put them in practice 2000 years ago; Greek mothers studied statuettes, in that early day; And, produced illustrious sons, the records say.

Many ancient laws have been forgotten by man;
(That, in part, accounts for our ignorance of God's plan)
So there was a time ages and ages ago
When the people knew laws we do not know.

Read what the Bible writers have to say
About ringstreaked and spotted cattle in Jacob's day;
That is another proof of what I say is true; That the thing you decree shall come to you.

Of all the ages of Time the records also say, This is the greatest in every way; But, the ancients know things thousands of years ago That men of this age would give millions to know.

They made swords that could cut another in to-That is one thing we have not yet learned to do;
To us, it seems fortunate; but, to them it was real,
For they know the secret of temporing steel.

WHETHER IT'S WALL STREET OR MAIN STREET, good grooming plays a major roll in a man's success. "A shirt size changes just as radically as a suit size, when weight is gained or lost. Nothing ruins appearance more than a collar that is uncomfortably tight or carelessly loose," say the makers of Arrow Shirts, who offer these good grooming pointers:

Collars should fit comfortably, yet neatly, around the neck.

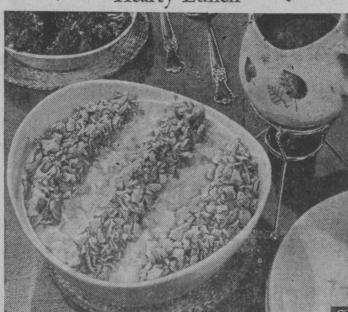

Cuffs should end at the wristbone and show ¼ to ½ inch beneath the suit sleeve. Select a good tie-it lasts longer and is an obvious reflection of a man's personality and taste. A breast pocket handkerchief matching the color of the shirt or in the same pattern is an important finishing touch. Here, for example, on Wall Street, a new V striped Cannes collar shirt, by Arrow, is worn with a matching handkerchief, striped tie and traditionally tailored suit.
