Unemployed To Be Put To Work

Edmund L. Carr, President of the Edmund L. Carr, President of the Board of the County Commissioners, and Bryan McIntire, Chairman of the Welfare Board, announced today a program to put employable persons to work on the County Roads. This program is designed to meet two serious County needs. First, the need to repair and clear the shoulders of County Roads as a result of last winter; second, the need to provide welfare assistance for the families of employable persons who are not entitled ployable persons who are not entitled to unemployment benefits. Carroll County is the third County in Maryland to adopt such a program.

With these needs in mind, the County Commissioners have established a program whereby those who apply at the Carroll County Welfare Board for help to employables will be given the chance to work with the County Roads chance to work with the County Roads Department. Commenting on the program, Mr. Carr had this to say: "I feel that this program is a financial advantage to the County because half of the money paid to these people for working on County Roads will come from the State. I think it is far better than the other programs suggested than the other programs suggested by the State Department of Welfare by the State Department of Welfare which call for the free distribution of surplus food, or for the outright payment of monetary benefits without requiring any work in return." From the Welfare Boards point of view, Mr. McIntire had this to say, "This program should act as a deterrent to those who want something rent to those who want something for nothing; an incentive to those who want to help their families by earning a minimum wage. The County Commissioners stated that the program will be set up as follows: 1. The Welfare Board will certify persons according to the rules and regulations that now pertain to eligibility for general public assistance to employables. The board will require certification from the employment service that the individual is not eligible for unemployment compensation and that no suitable job. is available. 2. These individuals will be certified for as many hours of your be certified for as many hours of work as will be required to meet their families needs. No head of a household will be allowed to earn more than $100.00 in any one month. After the local Welfare Board has certified these individuals as being eligible for help under the aid to the employables program, the County Commissioners propose to do the following: 1. To provide supervised work through our vide supervised work through our County Roads Department to do work county Roads Department to do work on County projects. 2. The record of time will be kept by the Roads De-partment and certified as to its ac-curacy and turned over to the Wel-fare Department. 3. The rate of pay will be $1.00 per hour. 4. Necessary working tools and equipment will be furnished by the County. 5. Work-men's Compensation Insurance will be carried on the workers and be paid for by the County.

One of the most glamorous parties, I have ever attended was the "Fash-ionata" Spring display at the Hecht May Company by special invitation. The entire store in every department appeared as pictures in magazines. It was really breath-taking of the arrangement of the flowers and arbors throughout the store and yellow was the color theme. Roses and Forsythia predominated. No other store in Baltimore can compare with the Hecht-May Company for there is truly OOMPH all over! The door men at the entrances were attired in flannel suits of pink and tangerine with a matching cap.

Truly, Folks the most beautiful girls were right there as Models and they were stunning and posed most beautifully. There was a swing high to the ceiling which held a young mannequin and even that was being mannequin and even that was being operated by electricity. An orchestra played in an elevated Band stand and of course the appropriate tunes for such an occasion. It was simply SPRING all over and this Observer enjoyed every minute of it. Every item of wearing apparel was exhibited for Milady by the Models. Some of the most prominent Baltimoreans were right there, too and were as stylishly dressed as the Models! (Your Observer still thinks the Baltimore girl is the most beautiful in the world!)

The Elizabeth Arden Company girls were making lip sticks right before

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING MOVES GOODS

Editor & Publisher quotes the head of a large retailing organization, which has 36 stores around the country, as saying that it "couldn't do business today without the 84 papers in which we advertise."

The magazine adds: "Other retailing establishments are paying the same tribute to newspapers every day in the year through their advertising dollars. They know which advertising medium sells goods with speed and economy. Newspaper advertising moves goods off the retailers' shelves into the hands of consumers regardless of whether the sales effort is made by the manufacturer or the retailer".

Nothing replaces the printed word -and most particularly, from an advertiser's standpoint, the printed word which the thousands of daily and weekly newspapers of this country bring to their tens of millions of readers.—Industrial News Review.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Writing in the Oregon Voter, Ralph T. Moore recently said: "When our social security system was originated there was no thought of subsidizing deliberate idleness nor the begetting of illegitimate children to increase the monthly stipend. But it finances a great deal of this sort of thing at present and no one seems to be able to come up with a solution. And let this writer make it clear that he includes unemployment compensation as a part of the general social security program. The results, therefor, of this effort, largely political in inspiration, to bridge such universal crises in the lives of just about everybody have been more to prolong the trouble than to alleviate it."

According to an article in Coronet, this country has the youngest average marrying age in the Western world. In a late year, for instance, 40 per cent of all brides were teenagers. A result: couples where bride and groom are under 20 at the time of marriage have a 20 per cent divorce rate, highest for any age

The American Medical Association News reports on a New York State study showing that injuries and deaths were 60 per cent lower in 400 accidents involving people using seat belts than in 400 similiar accidents where seat belts were not used. And the U.S. Forest Service says that seat belts have saved at least 100 of its employees from death or serious of its employees from death or serious injury.

Financial columnist Sylvia Porter writes: "...our economy has entered the toughest, roughest, phase of competition in modern times—and in this era the businessman who doesn't recognize what he is facing or know how to fight competition successfully is going under. He can't bail himself out by price hikes as he could in the first postwar years and through most of the '50's. He can't get by with shoddy merchandise, shabby service, sloppy salesmanship.

One of the major problems facing atomic energy developers in this country is quite non-technical, according to The Exchange magazine. It is public concern about radiation. But that concern is unfounded. The Edison Electric Institute reports that "the relatively insignificant radiation coming from luminous dials and television sets will probably be greater than the average radiation from nuclear power operations in the United States during the next several decades." It adds that even if world atomic operations increase rapidly, their average radiation will be far less than that from natural sources, such as cosmic rays and minerals in the earth, and much less than radiation from medical and dental pro-

A report of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States indicates that the American people have hardly been niggardly in supporting the schools. We are spending three times more money on public elementary and secondary schools than we spent 10 years ago, and eight times more than 30 years ago. Expenditures will top $16 billion, for a new record, by the end of the current school year. Putting it another way, we are spending an average of about $390 per pupil, which is 52 per cent more than the 1950-51 figure.

Country Cobbler Goes Modern

A fruit-rich Country Cobbler is yours for the making at any time of the year. Prepare it quickly and easily the Borden Kitchen way, by combining ready-to-use mince meat, mandarin orange sections and sour cherries, and using prepared pie crust mix. It's a dessert with a hearty full rich flavor that will appeal to appetites of young and old. And it calls for only 25 minutes of baking time.

Country Cobbler . (Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1 (11-ounce) can mandarin oranges, drained

2 cups Ready-to-Use None Such Mince Meat, well

1 teaspoon sugar 2 (1-pound, 4-ounce) ins sour cherries, drained 1 (5-ounce) stic in tant mixing pie crust mi 2 tablespoons boiling water 2 teaspoons flour Combine pranges and mince meat. Arrange in bottom of 8-inch square baking dish. Mix flour and sugar with cherries; pour over orange-mince meat mixture. Mix pie crust stick and water according to package directions; roll out pastry on floured surface to 81/2 inch square. Cut several slits in center of pastry to allow steam to escape. Arrange over fruit. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 25 minutes or until pastry is brown. Serve with ice cream or whipped

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The "first day of spring" (Tuesday) was something like the real thing—perhaps after all the "coal will last".

Mrs. William Kehn is authority for the statement that we have had 43 snows, this winter, and that the first one fell just 43 days before Christmas.

Charles Elliot of Wrightsville and Edgar Essig, of York, Pa., two of our graduate telegraph operators visited Taneytown the first of this week.

George C. Fissel, well known to many of our young folks, was married less week to Miss. Laure K.

ried last week to Miss Laura K. Bream, of Gettysburg. Mr. Fissel is deputy sheriff under his father. On Tuesday a very large crowd of people attended the opening of the new repository for buggies, implements and harness, conducted by Chas. E. H. Shriner. The day was ideal for the purpose and good advertising did the rest. The stick wagon, given away on tickets distributed free of charge went to Philip Stuller of Keysville and the set of harness to Charles Kemper of Taneytown.

A Double Wedding. A double wedding took place at Frizellburg on Saturday night March 18th at 7 o'clock. The contracting parties were James H. Myers and Mrs. Mollie Handley, both residents of this locality. The other was her daughter, Etta, and Mr. Scott Sullivan, a painter. The marriage ceremony was conducted by the heridd's nestor Person On Tuesday a very large crowd of

er. The marriage ceremony was conducted by the bride's pastor, Rev. Murray, of Uniontown at the bride's pretty home on the village limits. The brides were both attired in white and the grooms wore the usual black. The vows were made in the presence of about sixty invited relatives and

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

A man must have a job to go to in the morning. If he doesn't, he soon loses respect for himself and then later he loses faith in his community and later his government. During the first depression men without jobs still roused themselves each morning, shaved, put on clean clothing and left the house to look for work. Somehow these men filled up the day. They followed every want ad and waited in line with hundreds of atheres. line with hundreds of others for a job which had already been filled. They sat in the parks or on the bench along a street and looked at other people. Toward evening they went home to face their families with shame and despair. For a man without a job feels that he can no longer be the master of his house. This is the reason that a jobless man soon wedding anniversary, and to know succumbs to self-pitv and then later to bitterness. Employment is necessary for a man's soul as well as his pocketbook. Work gives a man dignity in his own eyes and approval by society. Making jobs available for all is just as much a part of National defense and morale as keeping soldiers and guns on constant alertness.

Why is fluoridation so much in the news? By reading much of the material in the newspapers we are convin-ced that those who were against the New Deal, Social Security, and Fore-ign Aid are now against Fluoridation We have no special opinion on the subject. We believe that the public health people should settle these matters. We can remember the hue and cry that went up when it was suggested children be given shots for typhoid fever. It has worked out okay. laymen talking about fluoridation don't know what they are talking about because they are not experts on public health. We are content to let experts guide us in the matters of health

We have often heard our mother tell about the pack peddler who sold things from door to door when she was a young girl. He was the closest 7-Sports Festival - Key High thing to a dime store, as the pack he carried on his back was filled with thread, needles, buttons, scissors and even dress material. He knocked on every door and when the housewife answered, he displayed all the things in his pack. Since time was plentiful and all visitors welcome including salesmen, a whole afternoon could be spent in examining the peddler's pack. Rare indeed was the peddler who failed to make a sale wherever he stopped. Following the peddler's footsteps was the man who mended umbrellas and right behind the mender came the fellow who sharpened knives and scissors. Each of these wandering tradesmen charged only a few pennies for their services, but it is almost certain they eventually sent their sons through college or set them up in a business.

You can learn a great deal if you stay up and watch the Jack Paar show. And you can get to know a lot of nice people and some that are not so nice. If you like conversation will have two weeks leave.

The Science Fair and PTA next morning you can't remember anything he said the night before. The show is stimulating to the view er, but don't ask me why. The only answer that we can think of is that we like to hear people talk, if they have something to say. And the people on the Paar show are willing to talk on most any subject.

Thank heavens this is still a free country, where a man can do as his wife pleases.

During a recent convention of atom scientists at Las Vegas, one of the professors spent all of his free time at the gambling tables. A couple of his Ir. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide on Satrday.

Spring was official on Monday, but the first robin means spring to us and so far we haven't seen one robin red-breast. Usually one at least has the courage to appear in February, but so far not even one has showed up in our territory. Maybe they know some-thing that we don't, like a big snowstorm in April. It could be that the big winter has made them more cau-tious. However the blackbirds are back, garlic is up a foot, lilacs have buds ready to burst and the rose bushes are putting out little red ears to listen for spring's approaching footsteps across the green lawn. And so even though the robins are late, other spring symbols are on time. For the coming Civil War commemoration to be held this year, the horses that will pull the guns and caissons are undergoing rigid training now. Fifty or more horses are in combat training to get use to the cannon fire and the smell of gunsmoke. The horses come from Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania and some of them are from rural communities where the sound of roaring, modern traffic has never reached their ears. The first big battle the horses will participate in is the Battle of Manassas in July. It will be interesting to see how well they perform under can-non fire, pulling the heavy artillery

The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Search is one of the better things that have come from modern advertising. Every girl is a potential homemaker and wife and while romance is important for a marriage good housekeeping and good meals is the best insurance against divorce. A man will think twice before he gives up a comfortable home and well planned meals to try the great unknown. A girl should learn to do things with food besides opening up a package. Betty Crocker is saving American husbands from sloppy meals and indigestion. She is also putting home-making on the elevated plateau where it should have been all the time.

So while we are in a domestic mood, we urge you to try "Hush Puppies" to give zest to a Sunday dinner. Into 3½ cups of boiling water stir the following: 2 cups of white corn meal, 1 teasp. of double acting baking powder, three tablesp. of sugar, 1 fourth cup of butter and 1 tbsp. salt. As soon as the mixture is smooth, re-move from heat. Cool. Form into finger-shaped rolls and fry in deep fat until golden brown. Good Luck! We all love a good loser....pro-

LETTER FROM ANNPOLIS

The last day for introducing bills without suspension of rules, was March 14, saw approximately 150 bills put into the 'Hopper' in the House of Delegates and approximately 50 introduced in the Senate. Of course, many of these bills are of a local nature and will have little trouble in negotiating the trip through the Legislative maze. However, these bills of a State-wide and controversial nature will find the going very tough during the last days of the Melrose. Legislature and many will fall by the wayside.

We might say here that the Scholarship Bill which would have abolished the education scholarships now available for citizens of Carroll County to Western Maryland College has been defeated. This is the same bill that threatened to abolish these scholarships in the 1960 Session of the Legislature. This bill has been replaced by another bill which would set up a Scholarship Board and establish 608 new scholarships to various colleges over the State. It was felt that the establishment of a Scholarship Roard was necessary to receive ship Board was necessary to receive any Federal monies which might be Taneytown Evangelical United made available to the States for scholarship purposes in the future. This bit of legislation passed the Senate last week and should have

It is expected that the last days of this 1961 Session of the Maryland General Assembly will be the most hectic scene in years. There are left to be considered such controversial subjects as the reapportionment plan, the conversion of Frostburg. Teachers' College into a branch of Taneytown—Sunday School, 9:15; Teachers' Pay Bill the reconsideration of Senate Bill 19 which is now in the House and which would plug up the loop holes in the Unemployment Laws, the Perennial "Rock Fish" Bill the various racing bills and the Ice Milk Bill to mention a few. All of these subjects have strong proponents these subjects have strong proponents and equally strong opponents. Many are clouded with prejudicial testimony given by both sides, sometimes intentionally and sometimes unintentionally, and it is often difficult for the members of the Legislature to arrive at a true understanding of the actual facts in order to best decide on actual facts in order to best decide on

While your correspondent is informed that it is doubtful that Carroll County will get a separate State Park, it is felt that this resolution might accomplish complish the extension of Patapsco State Park well into Carroll County, This might well accomplish the purpose of the resolution and allow for preservation of wooded areas for the use of the citizens of Carroll County during their leisure hours. Now that the 1961 Session of the General Assembly is drawing to a close, both the Senate and the House of Delegates are having night sessions in addition to the day sessions These night sessions convene at 8:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and the day sessions convene at 2:00 p.m. It also our understanding that there will be day sessions on Saturdays until the end of this 90-day term. * Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. I have been advised to put my life insurance on an income basis for my family, but I hesitate to tie it all up this way. Which is best, lump sum or income?

A. There is no best plan. Your insurance is best arranged according to your specific needs. You certainly would not want to tie it all up on an income plan, as there would be certain cash needs-last expenses, outstanding bills, taxes, possibly mortgage repayment, perhaps educational needs. But the basic family protection might well be on an income plan, as the family need usually is for income rather than cash. Even for this part of the program, however, it is wise to leave an "escape" clause, s that in the event of an emergency the family can withdraw a certain amount of cash. In a recent typical case, a policy paying $300 monthing income was arranged so that $1,000 may be withdrawn for emergencies on three separate occasions over the next 15 years. If withdrawn, the family income would then be slightly reduced, but this arrangement avoids a straight-jacket budget for the family.

. . . . Q. Does anybody ever live to get the face amount of his life insurance policy himself?

A. A great many policyholders are living to receive the face amount of their policies themselves. A few years ago, a survey showed that 1,500 life insurance policyholders and annuitants were over 95 years old and that number would be materially greater today. Then there are nearly 2,000,000 owners of retirement income policies and a high percentage of them will live to retirement age. This year probably some $700,000,000 will be paid out to owners of endowment policiesthe full face amount of their policies. And a great many older policyholders, whose family insurance needs have been sharply reduced after age 65, adjust their insurance so that they can use the cash value in it to supplement their own retirement income. As a matter of fact, "living benefits," that is the payments made to policyholders themselves, now bulk larger than death payments.

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance

Q. A friend of mine has just bought a policy which, he says, guarantees that he can buy all the life insurance he wants in the future regardless of what happens to his health. Is this possible? I thought you had to be qualified to

A. Your triend has apparently bought one of the relatively new and quite widely purchased plans which "insure your future insurability." Life insurance policies totaling billions of dollars now have this feature included at a small additional premium. It is an addition put on a policy for a younger buyer (usually under 37), permitting him to buy more insurance without examination or question at stated intervals in the future. For example, a 22-year old buyer purchasing a $5,000 policy from a typical company is given under this "guaranteed insurability" clause, the option to buy an additional $5,000 of insurance at ages 25, 28, 31, 34, 37 and 40. Thus, he could eventually have $35,000 of protection without further examination.

Q. How is it that some people have life insurance policies which pay the premiums for you if they are sick? Mine doesn't.

A. Some people have added what is called a "waiver of premium" clause to their policies, which provides that, in case of total and permanent disability from accident or sickness, the premium will be paid for the polcyholder for the duration of this of his life. The addition of this clause adds a small amount to the cost, this amount depending on the age of the policyholder and the type of policy to which the clause is attached. This additional cost might be as low as 35 cents at younger ages for each $1,000 of insurance or range to possibly $4.00 or more per $1,000 of insurance for large-premium policies at older ages. As a measure of the usefulness for this added protection, the life insurance companies last year paid out $21,000,000 for this "waiver of premium" benefit, keeping up more than $1,000,000,000 worth of life insurance for disabled persons. If your policy does not have this feature, you may be able to have it added.

popular birthday card asks the question: "What is a Hus-

It contains a witty description of the typical American husband and reads in part: "A husband is the handiest thing invented. How else could a wife get furniture moved, the phone company bawled out, the dresser drawer unstuck the finance company reasoned with, the zipper fixed, her back rubbed, her supper praised or the tip of her nose kissed?"

This is one of a dozen wordportraits from a collection by Rust Craft entitled "Candids," dealing with the whole family, plus "friend" and "sweetheart."

"What is a Girl?" According to the verse editors she "is innocence playing in the mud, beauty standing on its head, and motherhood dragging a doll by the foot."

And her little boy friend, portrayed on another card, "is truth with dirt on his face, beauty with a cut on his finger, wisdom with bubble gum in his hair, and the hope of the future with a frog in his pocket"

Super Supper Sandwiches

Almost two centuries ago, John Montagu, the and pour over chicken. Top with grated cheese fourth Earl of Sandwich, hit upon the idea of Bake till brown. Serve on toast. placing meat, cheese or a savory mixture between slices of bread. Since then literally thousands of variations — from the ladylike canape to the man-size hero - have delighted the palates of all ages. Fertile imagination is still at work and now the lunch box staple has taken on forms that, while simple to prepare, can grace a stylish buffet table. Here are five brand-new supper sandwich recipes. Whether toasted, broiled, baked or cold; open, closed or triple-decked, sparkling Coca-Cola complements naturally.

One quick trip to the market will provide ingredients for a variety of suppers-TV snacks or festive party spreads. The recipes are easy on the pocketbook and easy on the cook, but a glance will reveal some unique new tricks that will make her culinary reputation soar.

How He Died

Lesson for March 26, 1961

F YOU WILL take time to count the pages of the four Gospels, and then count the pages of the chapters telling of the trial, death and resurrection of Jesus, you can see for yourself that the events of those last days and hours are given space far beyond what is given to any other part of Jesus' life. It can even be said, as a paradox, that nothing stands out in the life of Christ as it was first written, as does his death. Not only in the Gospels but in Dr. Foreman the thinking of the church, the death of Christ looms large. Look at the pictures or statues of Christ in Protestant or Roman Catholic homes; how often he appears as a

"I Thirst!"

At first this seems strange. Do not all men die? All men do, to be sure, but not always in the way, nor ever with the purpose, which the church has always seen in the death of Jesus. If on Good Friday in many a church three full hours will be set apart for meditation on the memory and the meaning of the Cross, all we can do here is barely to suggest some of the thoughts which that tragic and glorious story suggest to a sympathetic reader. One is that Jesus died by violence, died under torture, died in disgrace, for the penalty of crucifixion was inflicted only on slaves and savages. Jesus himself, looking forward to this event, had used the pain words "die," "be killed." He did not use any of the pretty word's that have been thought of, like a blanket of flowers over a corpse, to conceal the face of death. It was real death that afternoon, death in the midst of youth, death with much to say that could not be said, death without friends. Like a red underscoring of the mental distress and spiritual agonies, was the physical agony of being crucified. Bleeding slowly for hours beneath the hot sun, the sufferer's whole body cried out for water. The one cry personal physical distress that was wrung from Jesus during those six terrible hours, however. was just that desperate "I thirst."

So we have to say of Jesus that he died in to ure. But the last word from the cross which John records is not a word of pain but of power: "It is finished!" This does not mean "All is over!" as an admission of defeat. It is the shout of the victorious fighter after the battle, it is the cry sent up by the mountain climber who after many perils sets his foot on the topmost pinnacle never before scaled, it is the outburst of the engineer who after months of planning and years of working sees the span over the great river complete at last. He had said something very like this the night before (John 17:4), so that we must not think of the Cross as the one and only achievement of Jesus. The cross was the crowning accomplishment. Jesus' life and death were all of one piece, his death was "in character" with his life. Every man leaves his life unfinished in some respects. We leave behind us friends, children, a new generation, plans unfulfilled, words unspoken, work undone. Even Jesus knew what it was to wish to say things that could not be said. And even his perfect life has not had its full effect without other lives welded together into his living purpose. Nevertheless there was a oncefor-all quality about Jesus. He had finished what no one else could have done.

For Us

This is true, because, as the Christian church soon came to see, Jesus' death was much more than every-man's death. Alone and uniquely it was on behalf of all men. This in turn would not have been so if Jesus had lived a selfish life; and it could not have been so, even if our Lord had wished, unless his life was more that of one man in history. For the church makes two great affirmations of faith about Jesus Christ the Lord: first, he is not only a particular man, but he is Man, he sums up in himself all the human race, he is the Man. The other affirmation: He is the Divine Son of God.

HOW THE FUTURE SHALL BE—THIS IS A MENTAL WORLD

The year 2,000, they tell us is not far away-(Only 40 years off, the Calendars say!); Old books of every kind shall then leave the shelf; And, man shall listen, only to his Real self.

In the past we have always done as others say;
But, to grow strong and healthy, that is not the way;
Jesus healed the multitudes, the Scriptures say;
And, He used no drugs in that early day.

So long as we do as people do in our day,
Our bodies shall melt, and, go to decay;
Or always do as the Real you tells you to do;
And, a perfect man or woman shall be made of you.

This is not a physical world as some shall say-So, everything not real, soon goes to decay); So, do as Jesus did, and, follow His plan) If you hope to be a healthy woman or man.

In a mental world, things which appear Sometimes, exist, long before we see them here; Just so it is, with diseases of every kind— They all get their start in mortal mind.

All those whom Jesus healed when here, Were made whole because they had conquered fear; Jesus said, "Fear not"! the Scriptures say; So, they were made whole that very day.

Jesus knew that Fear is just an emotion-It has no power, it is only a notion?)
But, it causes all the ills of the present day—
Both physical and mental, experts say.

Fear is an archer we must watch from the start His arrows are sure—(never miss the heart)
And, unless we are crafty, and, let them pass by,
Earth's sojourn shall end; for we shall die.

Standing on the corner, in Taneytown, one day, I saw a horse—(a beautiful dapple grey)
An engine passing shook the ground under his feet And the lovely creature fell dead on the street.

And fear is, daily, doing the same to those Who are fearful—(we see it wherever one goes)
So remember, God gave you dominion here,
That you have the power to conquer fear.

That this is a mental world few people know; So, listen to God, to learn how to go; All who heard Jesus when He was here Were made whole because they had conquered fear.

So listen to the Real you, and, the cares of the day "Shall fold their tents, and, quietly steal away" God's throne is in man's conscience; they say; "It is He who directs, and shows us the way"

God does not speak direct to physical man—
(To speak through the Real you is His plan);
The Real you comes here—(don't you see?)
To build a body that is fit for Eternity.

What would we know about God but for man?—
(That is one of the secrets in God's Great plan!);
Man is God's Eyes, mouth, ears, feet and hands;
Through him, God carries out all of His plan.

Many still think they are one, but, they are two—
(The body we see is not yet the Real you)
Man is God in manifestation—(don't you see?)
That is why he shall live through Eternity.

For every change that takes place on earth; God sends a Leader made perfectly re-birth—Adam, Noah, Cyrus, Moses, Lincoln—many more All were good men who had lived before.

That is why Reincarnation is a part of God's plan (In the way he makes perfect woman and man); It is the only way mortal man ever could be Made fit to live, forever, with Him, in Eternity.

God and man always, together, shall be Through all ages of Time and Eternity;
So, as I understand, it is a part of God's plan
To make earth the Paradise home of man.

The physical body is fine; but, only a thing—
(Like the moon of its own, no light does it bring);
The moon only reflects the light of the Sun
So it is with God, you, me, and, everyone.

So, learn to know God, and, the bogies you see Little lambs shall turn out to be;
For the thing from which we all try to flee 9 times out of 10, is a nonentity.

FROZE FER MEAT

picnic when we were teasing the girls with a big bullsnake. One of the girls screamed:
"Why did you catch that horrid thing?" and Simp hollered back: "We're gonna eat it!"
Simp only said that for effect, but there was no turning back. We were committed. So we skinned the snake, cut it up, and spitted it on a stick to roast beside the marshmallows. Reveling in the girlish shrieks, we ate it. It wasn't bad. Roast bull-snake, as I recall, gets bigger with the chewing and tastes something like a setting hen But it isn't bad eating when you're sixteen, hungry, and girls are watching you be

For the next two years more from wanting to be mountain men than from being hungry — we went on a binge of Injun cookery. If it walked, crawled, flew, swam or ran, we ate it. We chewed our way through a regiment of black-birds, crows, robins, bugs, muskrats, skunks, groundhogs, bobcats, mussels, hawks and sala-manders. Some of this eating was a little rank, but much of it was pretty good and we learned a lot.

To this day, walking in from a hungry fishing trip, I may catch large grasshoppers, deleg them, flip off the tips of the large thighs, and pull out the delicate slivers of meat. We never did learn to like freshwater clams, but maybe we weren't handling them right. Crawdads are delicious, but mean a lot more cleaning than eating.

than eating.

One of our big surprises was skunk. Older skunks tend to be a bit beetley in flavor, but a young animal tastes a lot like prime 'possum which, in turn, is sort of like pork. A man can do worse than eating young skunk.

young skunk. Same thing with muskrat.

It started at a high school beaver and groundhog. I still think the finest wild meat I've ever eaten was a young mus-krat done to a turn over a slow hickory fire in a trapper's camp. It's sweet, delicate, tender, and goes mighty well after you've laid fifty drown sets in you've laid fifty drown sets in a November river.

Eating crow, blackbird, starling or hawk is just eating bird, and that's about all you can say for it. It's O.K. for a change, but it's nothing you'd get addicted to.

To capture the spirit of all this, we never put these critters into pies or stews. We took them straight, turned over a slow fire, for two reasons:

1) we owed at least that much to Jim Bridger, and 2) our mothers wouldn't allow the stuff in their kitchens. These experiments were so successexperiments were so successexperiments were so successful that we started calling each other "Ol' Hoss", and saying "Waugh! This chile is froze fer meat!" We were budding mountain men, ready for anything, and so it was that one day we tried eating for day we tried eating fox.

It was a big old dog fox, trapped in mid-February with romance on his mind and a winter's hard hunting behind him. He smelt like a wet civet cat, and under the thick fur we could feel the bands and packs of winter-hardened muscle. He promised to be about as tooth-some as a belt knife, but we took him home anyway and butchered him and fried him on the laundry stove in the base-

I'm here to testify that foxes taste just like they smell.

That was the rankest, meanest, sorriest meat that ever soured a frying pan. But it accomplished what scolding mothers and shuddering girl friends could never do — it converted us from mountain men into normal, smalltown boys. We knew when we were licked. That old fox was stronger and tougher than the best
