YMCA CARROLL COUNTY

Will Present Varied Program of Fellowship and Sports

Families of Carroll County will soon be enjoying the varied recreation, fel-lowship and sports programs of the Young Men's Christian Association in a new Program Center of the Com-munity Extension Proph of the Rolls munity Extension Branch of the Balti-more YMCA. John M. McCormick, chairman of the new "Y" announced this week that the center will make its services available next January.

Now in the organization stage, the opening of the new facilities has been hastened by the recent expansion of the Community Chest-Red Cross Uni-ted Appeal to include Carroll County. The local YMCA is one of the five or-ganizations which joined the United Appeal initially in Carroll County, and will have headquarters, a profession-ally trained staff member on a fulltime basis, and a growing program to serve the county people, including both sexes and all ages from six years both sexes and all ages from six years old and up.

"The YMCA", according to Mr. McCormick, "is more than brick and mortar....it is an adventure in cooperative effort." The types of programs to be carried on will be determined by local interests, local leadership, and where needed, available local facilities. The more pressing needs and interests will be met first.

The YMCA has long been interested

The YMCA has long been interested in the federated method of fund raising carried on by the United Appeal n the Baltimore metropolitan area primarily because; first, the YMCA operates in a given community or area when it is invited and requested to do so by local citizens; secondly, as a result of this request it feels justified in using publicly contributed funds to enable the "Y" to exist in the community so it can serve the community.

The Young Men's Christian Association is a membership organization, ciation is a membership organization, but it is not a closed organization. Anyone who accepts the "Ys" purpose of "Developing Christian Character and Building a Christian Society" may become a member. As a membership organization, the YMCA does have membership dues and program fees but participation in the gram fees, but participation in the United Appeal permits the "Y" to keep these rates at a minimum. It also allows the "Y" to bring its organizational skill and professional leadership to work with local people to help the community serve its citizens

You can say one thing with virtual certainty about taxes-they always

Take the social security tax as an example. The combined employe-employer rate, with each paying half, was 2 per cent on a maximum of $3,000 a year in earnings when the plan went into effect in 1937. Now the rate is 6 per cent on $4,800.

This isn't all. The tax is scheduled to reach 9.25 per cent in 1969-without increased benefits. If benefits are increased, the tax will have to be boosted still farther, and applied to higher income levels.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Business Week has printed a letter from a reader which says: "...It seems to me that any business or industry that builds or locates in areas served by socialized (public) power or allows itself to be annexed into such an area is a traitor to the free enterprise system.... Every business in the United States should be fighting this attempt at nationalization of the tax-paying electric power industry. So far, 'Divide and Conquer' is certainly being used successfully by the socialists and Communists."

U. S. business and its companysponsored foundations will give away more than $400 million in 1961-nearly eight times their annual charity outlay of a decade ago, according to a report in Newsweek. The businesses, large and small, are apportioning the money among federated charity campaigns, hospitals, education, museums, libraries, and toward the promotion of international understanding. The magazine quotes Jersey Standard president M. J. Rathbone as saying: "If good citizens, corporate and individual alike, did not support these institutions, they would have to turn to the government-and that certainly is not the way to advance the cause of free enterprise."

The railroads rank as one of the biggest buyers of products of a thousand and one kinds, ranging from toothpicks to crossties. Instructor Billy Reynolds (turning front wheel) and Shell dealers check out a car at one of Shell's 123 training centers.

Shell instructor Billy Reynolds reveals 10 trouble signals he tells Shell dealers to watch for. You should know about them too. They may help you spot trouble before it starts.

MORE than 12,000 Shell dealers go to Shell's 123 training cen- check your shock absorbers. ters every year. Classes cover the gamut of station operation. But Shell's Billy Reynolds trouble-spotting gets special emphasis. Here are 10 trouble signals that Billy Reynolds, one of Shell's chief instructors, stresses.

If you notice any of them in your car, tell your Shell dealer. His advice may help you head off a big repair job.

1. Mushy brakes. When your car is standing still, push your brake pedal down with a firm, steady pressure. If the pedal feels soft and sinks all the way to the floor board, you've got trouble that should be fixed right away. Could be a leaking wheel cylinder. Or, more likely, a leaky master brake cylinder. A well-trained Shell dealer can track down brake troubles quickly.

2. Wandering wheels. If your front tires show more wear on one side of the tread than the other, your wheel alignment is probably at fault.

NOTE: an out-of-line wheel drags at an angle to the line of travel-can increase tire wear up to 50 per cent.

3. Jiggly front end. Put your foot on either bumper, and shove down hard. If your car bobs up and down for a long time, ask your Shell service man to

4. Decrepit tail pipe. If your tail pipe is rusted through in spots, it should be replaced. Same thing for your muffler. A worn-out exhaust system can make your car roar like a wounded hippo. Worst of all, you run the danger of exhaust fumes seeping into the passenger compartment. Your Shell dealer can take care of the whole problem.

5. "Bloated" radiator hose. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked or swollen, they can fail at any time and cause your engine to overheat.

Replacing hoses is a simple task for any Shell dealer.

6. Marred windshield. Feel the blades on your windshield wipers. If they're hard, they can scar the glass. If they're frayed, they can streak it. Ask your Shell dealer to check the spring pressure on your wiper arms too. If the blades rest too lightly against the windshield, they can blow away from the glass and let the rain swamp your view.

7. Strange noises. Listen for squeals, squeaks, rattles and other mysterious noises. Strange noises are often warnings of troubles on the way. So, don't be afraid to ask your Shell dealer about sounds you haven't heard before.

8. Under-the-hood clues. You can learn a lot just by looking at your engine. Watch for oil, fuel or water leaks. Even tiny leaks can lead to big trouble later on. You can also make a quick visual check of wiring and electrical connections. If wires are hanging loose - or insulation has worn away - see your Shell dealer.

9. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, an inspection of your electrical system is in order.

A run-down battery is usually the cause of starting problems. But the real trouble may be elsewhere. Something as simple as a loose battery connection can do it. Or your voltage regulator may need a minor adjustment. Play safe and tell your Shell service man.

10. Oil-streaked sidewalls. It may take a bit of back bending, but it's worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see - the side facing in. Look for signs of leaking fluid on the tire walls. Could be a leaking brake cylinder, or faulty oil seals on the rear wheels. Both can be serious.

Any trained Shell dealer knows many more trouble signals than the ten listed here. Ask him to give your car a bumperto-bumper inspection next time you stop in for a Shellubrication - or any service job. One last tip: when you've got your car in top condition, keep it filled with the gasoline that's made for top performance-today's Super Shell with 9 ingredients.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

#1 is TCP*-for power, mileage, longer

#2 is Pentane mix-for fast warm-ups. #3 is anti-knock mix-for resistance to all kinds of knocks.

#4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed

#5 is Butane-for quick starts.

#6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline-for power. #7 is an "anti-icer." Added in cold weather. #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors

Rebirth Of An Old Crop

Safflower, a thistle-like plant cultivated since ancient times in Africa and Asia, is enjoying a new boom as an oilseed crop in America. Seeds which yield the oil develop beneath the orange-yellow blossom (left). Inspecting a field of safflower (right) is agronomist Carl Claassen, who helped develop the crop in this country. New popularity of safflower stems from medical interest in the oil's high ratio of polyunsaturated fats, which makes it a possible dietary weapon against cholesterol and heart allments.

Those fields of yellow blossoms rolling across thousands of acres of our western plains and California valleys aren't dandelions. That's safflower, one of the newest important crops in a cattle feed.

The thistle-like plant became important in recent years chiefly because of the industrial uses of the oil extracted from the seeds. Among other things, it keeps white paint whiter, and helps produce a superior

More recently, the discovery of safflower oil's qualities as a food item has added impetus to the old crop's boom. Of all the vegetable oils available for cooking, salads, and use in food products such as mayonnaise, margarine, and frozen desserts, safflower oil is richest in the polyunsaturated fats which are valuable in the control of serum cholesterol-the substance in the blood believed to contribute to heart ailments.

Ages ago, in ancient Egypt, safflower blossoms were crushed for dye. For centuries in India, the meal from the crushed seeds has been used as a possible alternate (crop for Nebraska's wheat farmers However, there wasn't enough oil in the seeds to make it profitable.

Moving to California in 1950, Moving to California in 1950, Claassen teamed up with Pacific Vegetable Oil Corporation of San Francisco to push development of the crop. Through plant breeding and development, oil yield was increased. Meanwhile, PVO found new uses for the oil and the crop caucht on

This year over 300,000 acres of safflower were grown in the United States. Most of this acreage is concentrated in the Sacramento Valley of Califor-nia and in the Western Great Plains, where the right combination of good soil and a dry growing season preve

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Continued from first page) they will be all the rage for afternoon wear as well as for the evening cloak. I recall of the one beautiful af-fair I had in gray with a Military collar for evening wear and very long. Then, I remember the handsome affair of a heavy satin or silk of black lined with Mink which my wealthy relatives sent to my Beloved Mother from Paris one winter. That topped any I have ever seen and she wore it for many years. So if you are handy with the needle start right now and design your own affair in a handsome brown which I know would be the envy of many women. As soon as you feel the slightest joint ache anywhere Folks in your body, by all means sleep with the electric pad wrapped around that place for it will mean you will free place for it will mean you will free yourself of Arthritis in the future. Have you noticed, Mrs. Housewife the manner in which "BATTERED WHIPPED BREAD" is being advertised without one tiny whole? UGH! Grandmother knew that all down through the years! That is the first thing I was taught in "Demostic thing I was taught in "Domestic Science". As to the only milk anywhere which actually is as sweet at the end of the week—KOONTZ'S! I purchase one half gallon a week and no other can compare!

By this time, I think my Readers realize that I do not write anything of which I have had no experience which I pass on to you. The following is through my neighbor as to "Contact Lenses." For over a week, I noticed that she appeared very white and in fact ghastly and ill. When she came over to me she said, "I can't see yet!" I quickly asked her what was wrong and she told me that she was wearing "Contact Lenses" and they have to be worn a few daily to become accustomed to them! Her eyes and lids were so swollen that it was frightening and were very, very red. Such suffering and agony, I have never seen! The following day, she told me that she has given up the idea of ever being able to go through with the process. PLASTIC AND ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS! ORTABEALAW! She returned them There are so many beautiful frames, Folks which are becoming. Your Ob-server buys the ones she wears at the "Universal Optical Company", Cor. Park and Fayette for the price of $15.00. Then, when there is a change as to the lenses. I expect to use the same frames over again. It may be a modern method as to "Contact" affairs but after seeing the real torture and agony by someone close to me, I would never, never recommend them to anyone.

I know a man who purchased these, too and I noticed he was wearing his regular glasses and I asked him the reason and he replied, "Well, I just wear the "Contact" a few hours a day!" So it sounded as though he just could not endure them all day and switched to his framed affairs.

Letters: Dear Observer: My wife reads your Column regularly and maybe you can do something with her for I can't when it comes to those awful bobby curlers or what-ever you desire to call them. I never see her without them and nothing disgusts me more. All day long and even at bedtime! And I am some mad for she is a good looking girl with lovely thick hair. Please give her the works! Thanks a million! Signed---Young Husband R.

I don't blame you for nothing is so hideous and if women knew—only knew how they appear even in the stores downtown. It is worse than disgusting! If I had to resort to such a method to wave my hair, I would do that in the early morning when I was alone and place a dusting cap over it until I let down my hair be-fore the arrival of my husband in the evening. No man likes to look at those curlers and especially day and night time, too. Women really were more modest in every way to every detail years ago but of course women were not mannish then. Perhaps if you treated your wife to a permanent—it would mean the end of those pins?

Your Obs. Dear Obs.

When my husband has days off from work, he will remain away from nome most of the day and upon his return he tells me that he had the car to a garage. What would you believe really? Signed, Young Wife.

Dear Young Wife: I would believe that he had the car to a garage! Do you know of another reason why he desires to spend the hours away from home? Your Obs.

Dear Observer:

Could you kindly let me know what kind of nail polish you use? I recall you stating you bought it in the dime store. Thank You. Signed M.E.C. Dear. M. E. C.

That is correct and the name is "Helen Neushaefer, "Ice Creme" Iridescent." Price 32 cents! It is delightful and surpasses many expensive makes. I do not use that hideous red at any time although this make comes in all colors, too. Long nails, too are passe.' Your hands should be well groomed at all times and very refined appearing. Don't ever copy other individuals. Your Obs.

A-P.S.-How pleased I was to see the selection of my choice of "Miss America" There you have a lovely, modest girl, winsome and charming and a real beauty in face and figure. The entire program was the best yet of any year! Eh? So long until next week end. D.V.

Have a grand week end. I am Faithfully YOUR OBSERVER Temptation rarely comes in working hours; it is in their leisure time that men are made or marred.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

This is CONSTITUTION WEEK, by proclamation of the President of the United States, in accordance with Public Law No. 915. The purpose of the observance of Constitution Week is to recall to the American people the true significance of the events that occurred during the week of September 17-23 in 1787, and to revitalize appreciation of our great heritage which is the Constitution. It was on September 17, 1787, that the Constitution of the United States of America was approved unanimously by the Delegates of the Constitutional Convention. In the week following, the proposed Constitution was made known to the people throughout the

LITTLE TO SAY MUCH or much to say little? The Lord's Prayer has 56 words. The Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has 266. The Ten Commandments have 297. The Declaration of Independence has 300. But a government order setting the price of cab-bage has 26,911 words! (from the San Diego Union.)

I am not one of the desk-pounding type that likes to stick out his jaw and look like he is bossing the show. I would far rather get behind and, recognizing the frailties and the requirements of human nature, try to persuade a man to go along, because once I have persuaded him, he will stick. If I scare him, he will just as long as he is scared, and then he is gone.

Patricia Ann Moon, Maryland's contribution to this year's Miss America Pageant, will be the guest of honor at the Miss Maryland Ball which will be held Saturday evening, September 30th, at the Westminster Riding Club. The dancé, which is be-Jaycees for their Community Betterment Fund, will begin at 9 P. M. and is open to the public. Music will be furnished by the very popular "Sportsmen."

Patty, under the sponsorship of the Maryland Jaycees, competed just two weeks ago with over 50 of the nation's most talented young beauties in the Atlantic City pageant. She is now attending the University of Maryland with the help of the $1,000 scholarship awarded her as State winner. She will be studying nursing, although one of her major interests has been art she has deep art she has been art she has deep art she has deep art she has been art she has a she had has been art. She has done some paint ing and as a matter of fact, the dance which was performed in the State finals at Atlantic City was backed by props Pat herself designed and painted.

This charming and petite young lady is the daughter of Sgt. 1/C and Mrs. Eugene Moon, of Bethesda. Just 18 years old with a 35-24-35 figure neatly distributed over a 5-foot, 4-inch frame. Pat has twinkling graygreen eyes and naturally curly brown hair. In addition to dancing and painting, favorite pastimes include: swimming, skiing, riding and tennis. "I'm more of a participant than a spectator," she says.

Pat is thrilled about the Miss Maryland Ball being held in her honor at Westminster. When told that this was the first time the Taneytown Junior Chamber has ever attempted to sponsor anything of this nature she replied, "I think it's a wonderful idea!" A "GRAND SLAM" evening honor-

"Gentile has captured the fancy of Baltimore fans to a greater degree than any player since the team returned here in 1954," Barrett said, "and we feel that Jim is worthy of a lasting tribute to his exploits this season."

These feats include establishment of Oriole home run and runs batted in marks with three weeks of the season remaining. In addition, his four grand slam home runs have tied an American League record and his a six-month development with the two, in consecutive at bats, on May 9th at Minneapolis represents a new major league mark.

Barrett has appointed Jim Lacy as Chairman of the Gentile Night promotion. Lacy, a charter member of the Advocates, has appointed Chipmon Hoff and Chipmon Hoff per Hoff as committee Treasurer with other members including Merritt Birch, Bart Harvey, Jr. and Tommy Dukehart.

Some people will swear that bass fishermen are human. And perhaps they are. But not like the others that inhabit this planet, and not like any other creature that swims or crawls or walks or flies.

The typical bass fisherman is a quietly dedicated man who does not sing the praises of his sport so that all may hear and oin. He would rather be left alone, to pursue fish in his own way, with no discordant notes to mar the perfection of the symphony he creates for himself. He has no use for crowds, hot streets or bright lights; to him Utopia is a quiet pond where 5-pound lass play leapfrog over the lily pads.

Take a bass fisherman along on a trout trip and he will enjoy himself. He will join the others and fish faithfully with fly rod and minute bits of hair and feathers, trying to lure a bull rainbow to creel. But after a couple or three days of this his eye will begin to dull and it is obvious his thoughts are wan-

Laymen Needed Lesson for September 24, 1961

L AYMAN" does not mean "clod" as some people think. A layman in anything-farming, medicine, law, the church—is simply a non-specialist. A layman in law may take a great interest in law, indeed it may become his hobby; but if he never went to law school and never even tried to pass a bar examination, he's a layman. So with the church A Layman is a Christian without the specialized train-

Dr. Foreman ing that the minister (pastor, preacher or priest) has had. Most Protestants believe that a minister's training does not make a different kind of man out of him (except as all education changes any student). His studies, which the church requires of him before he can be called a minister in full standing, simply equip him for the special kinds of work he has to do. The layman has not taken these studies, and does not preach, and is no pastor.

"The truth of your life"

For all that, if ever there is a church where the laymen all become "dead wood," where all the work is left to the pastor, that church dies and doesn't take long at it either. Laymen are even more necessary to the church than ministers are. Laymen can be a church without a minister; but a minister without laymen can't possibly be a church.

What is a good layman? There is nothing mysterious about it. In the church, a good layman is simply a Christian who lives his religion-and has, to be sure, a faith he can live by The third letter of Saint John, in the New Testament, was written to a good layman named Gaius. All we know about him is in this one-page letter. John speaks first of all of the truth of Gaiue' life. No doubt his ideas were goot and his benefit were true; but for John that v not what he praised Gaius to It was the truth of his life to a impressed people most.

Many people think of chui work as anything done inside the church walls, on church propert Now where Gaius lived, there w no church building (the Ne Testament was completed before Christians began to build churc es) and no organization in modern sense of that word. An yet Gaius was a loyal worker 'Any service' to other Christians (the "brethren") is called a "loya" thing" to do. Gaius's particula: specialty seems to have been hospitality. In a time when hotels did not exist, men like Gaius would help the church by taking into their homes traveling preachers and bishops and missionaries

A supporting player on the stage or the athletic field, a sup porting regiment in a battle, are very important. So it is in the church. The far-flung work of the church, which is wider than most members realize, would fall to nothing overnight without support. The 20th century Gaius may not find any wandering missionaries at the bus station to take home to dinner; but the money he leaves in the church offering plates goes a long long way. The intelligent layman will want to know, and will find out, where his "benevolence dollar" goes,

"The friends"

There's no special difficult technique about being a good layman. Much of it is cultivating the simple arts of friendship. There are boys and girls in the church needing an older friend's word of guidance (not dictation!); there are parents pretty hard pressed who could use a little help and encouragement from others; there are grieving hearts, in need of sympathy, in need of a strong arm to lift them and set them on the highroad again . If you can look around you and see nobody who needs a friend, send us your name and address. You must live in Paradise. But if you still live on this planet, you live among people who need friends better friends too Some people tear others down; what is needed is people who are friendly in the name, and for the sake, of the Friend of us all

Step three - After flowers have dried, remove from silica gel carefully. Make stems from florists wire, wrapped with green floral tape.

Step four-Your dry flowers retain the color and fresh appearance of new flowers in bloom. They will last this way for months and months.

A unique way of drying flowers, to keep them as fresh looking and colorful as when first picked, employs silica gel, an industrial chemical used in baby powders and for the preservation of dry freshness in foods and pharmaceutical preparations.

The method developed takes advantage of the affinity of the silica gel for moisture. In about a week of contact with the chemical, moisture is almost completely removed from the flowers, leaving their appearance unchanged and preserving them for months.

A special blend of silica gel has been prepared for this use, known as "Flower-Dri". It is an admixture of blue and white particles. When it becomes saturated with moisture from the flowers, it turns entirely white and is then reactivated by baking in an oven, until the blue returns. With reactivation, the Flower-Dri
