Hospital Receives $600.00 from Taneytown District

The Taneytown District of the Carroll Co. Hospital Auxiliary very happily donated $600.00 to the Auxiliary Monday night, January 15 at their annual meeting.

This amount of money was raised when the Taneytown District worked very hard at the opening of Ray's Country Store Museum in October. The public responded beautifully at this unusual project and as the result, the Hospital has really benefited from it.

Mrs. Robert Smith, District Chairman introduced the chairmans of the project and presented the rest of the workers. Taneytown was very well represented at the meeting and was very proud when Mrs. Marcia Ray, chairman of the project and owner of Ray's Country Store and Museum, presented Mrs. Gladys Wimer, president of the Auxiliary the money that Taneytown had raised.

WHAT YEAR?

Thy promises are like Adonis' gardens, That one day bloomed, and fruitful were the next. —Shakespeare

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Butter it is really winter but cheer up for only three months to SPRING! Down on Charles Street in Baltimore the huge tubs of Boxwood are still right there with the artificial Pointsettias stuck in between the branches.

So many people and always the same ones for the last few years begging! One of these men started to pack up of his little stool and etc. and another said, "You leaving so soon?" (it was just 3 o'clock) "Yes," he replied, "I always wait until I get about $75.00 and then I go home!" Hochschild's are having the store remodeled beginning on the first floor and I have heard it is really going to be glamorous.

If your hair is coming out and this for the Ladies as well as the men by all means start immediately with Cuti-cura ointment and that Co. has added the new Shampoo which really makes healthy hair. Ask your Druggist to get it for you. You will note the difference in your hair in two month's time.

Don't forget to plan something very special for Valentine Day or night. No other parties seem to be quite like one of these affairs especially if it is a mask affair as on Halloween. And the most important thing is to remember that girl in your life with a card and if not a gift send her flowers and be sure they are roses and red ones at that for every woman in any country knows that they really speak and say, "I love you!"

And that reminds me to a gentleman makes inquiries as to purchasing PEARLS for his "Lady Love". This I know that the simulated pearls are usually made of glass or plastic centers covered with layers of lustrous substance of fish scales. Cultured Pearls are developed by inserting a tiny irritant into the fleshy interior of an oyster. The oyster builds a coat around it. Natural Pearls are built by the oyster around a speck of sand or some natural intruder. Like the beautiful Zircon—the naked eye cannot tell the difference between the two kinds of cultured pearls. Experts rely on X-ray reports. I have one medium size length of Pearls which I have had for many years and they have become more mellow as the years come on. Pearls are really beautiful and especially if worn with the proper dress.

Answer to Constant Reader: Apply to the Welfare Department in your home location.

Dear Observer: Will you kindly answer the following for five Teen-agers. As to table manners. Should the knife be left on the table cloth while eating? Thank You!

Dear Teens: When once the knife is used by all means place the knife with the sharp edge on the side of your plate with the sharp edge toward the center of your plate. After the meal is finished place knife and fork along side of each other in the center of the plate again with the sharp edge turned to the fork.

Your Obs. It was with much interest that I read in "The Carroll Record", "The Pastor and His Wife" by Mahlen W. Budd. It was beautiful and I know that many feel that way but seldom is it expressed in poetry.

Now, there is a "Life Insurance" in the State of Maryland for "PE-MALES ONLY!" That is an excellent reality due to the fact that women normally live longer than men, they are a "preferred insurance risk".

Don't miss "Flower Drum Song" at the Stanton which is from the stage in New York to the screen and although many stated the stage was superior, the screen show will interest every individual I am sure. The parade in San Francisco as those Chinese girls and boys march down Grant street is something to remember. The show is in color and the tunes are very catchy especially, "I enjoy being a Girl!" That cute trick, Miyoshi Umeki who made her debut on the Arthur Godfrey Scout program a few years ago if you recall who was brought over by one of our American Soldiers from China is as sweet as the time she was first seen by the American public. You will enjoy the entire story and there is a real one connected with the "Flower Drum Song" plus a Ballet. Don't miss it!

Be seeing you next week at the Auto Show. D.V. Have a grand week end. Until then.

I am Faithfully,

THIS IS AN INVESTMENT?

President Kennedy thinks Congress should authorize purchase by the US of half of that $200 million bond issue by which this global marching and chowder club hopes to recover the cost of its African military adventures and overcome its general insolvency. The investors are to be repaid (with interest at two percent) when, as and if delinquent member nations pony up their share. The President told Congress in his State of the Union Message that this would be a smart investment - but we can't help wondering whether Joseph P. Kennedy would think so.

In any case, Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, Illinois Republican, has said he will introduce a bill to prevent such a transaction. He is quoted in Human Events as saying: "...in view of the huge deficit, the continued outflow of gold, the back-breaking tax burden that is being perpetuated on our citizens, the purchase of $100 million of UN bonds, with their problematical value as well as their artificially low interest rate, is pure irresponsibility."

Democratic Senator Harry Flood Byrd, who incidentally is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, takes an even dimmer view of the matter. Commenting on the delinquency of Russia and many other member nations in their UN obligations, he said: "If they don't pay for anything else, why should they pay for the bonds? I think we'll just end up paying for the UN's other expenses and the bonds, too."

A better course might be to terminate all further UN expense - as soon as possible - which we could do by merely withdrawing our support.

52 phone calls over two-week period save Gove family $61.20
 771 miles of travel

Mrs. Gove, of Frederick, discusses plans for a parish supper with a friend.

We asked Mrs. Chase C. Gove, Jr., to help us find out how much the telephone can do for a busy family. Mrs. Gove kept a two-week record of all her family's outgoing telephone calls—estimating the time, traveling and money, if any, each call saved.

At the end of two weeks, the Goves' telephone record showed the phone had saved more than 33 valuable hours and $61.20 in car expenses. Visits and errands that would have meant an estimated 771 miles of travel were accomplished quickly and easily by telephone.

Mrs. Gove, the mother of three, serves her community through a number of organizations including the P.T.A., and the Frederick Community Chest. She is also President of The Women's Auxiliary of Frederick Memorial Hospital. For her, the telephone gives more time to devote to both her family and neighbors.

What does the telephone do for you? A record of your phone calls would probably show, too, that few things do so much for you... at so little cost... as your telephone.

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The oldest citizen in this part of the country does not remember such a siege of below zero weather as was experienced last Friday, Saturday and Sunday—in fact, for a whole week. Thermometers in Taneytown and vicinity last Saturday morning ranged anywhere from 8 degrees to 36 degrees below zero, according to location. The majority report was about 12 degrees below. The Weather Bureau's thermometer at Jas. B. Galt's registered 22½ degrees below on Sunday morning.

Thomson—Sell. On Wednesday evening, January 17th, Charles H. Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thomson and Miss Mary B. Sell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi D. Sell, were married at the Lutheran parsonage, Taneytown, by Rev. L. B. Hafer, and on Thursday left on a trip to Hanover and York. Harry Rinehart of Fritzellburg, Deputy Register of Wills of Carroll County died at the University Hospital on Monday morning, aged 45 years. He was the only son of the late Dr. Jacob Rinehart, for a number of years judge of the Orphans Court. His only sister who survives is the wife of William Arthur, Register of Wills. He leaves a widow who is the daughter of the late Levi D. Maus, and two children, Jacob Maus Rinehart and Margaret Rinehart.

A Silver Wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Galt celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding at their home at Keymar, Saturday evening the 13th, sumptuously entertaining about thirty of their relatives and friends.

A surprise party was given on Thursday evening last at the home of George E. Koutz in honor of Mrs. Koutz and teachers. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Koutz, Misses Olive Penell and Emma Becker, Mrs. Dr. F. H. Seiss, Mrs. Merle Baumgardner, Mrs. Thos. Clingan, Mrs. Harry Essig, Mrs. Albertus Riffle, Mrs. Albert Fox, Mrs. Forrest Otto, Mrs. Curtis Bowers, Mrs. D. J. Hesson, Mrs. James Reid, Mrs. Ellen Crouse, Misses Mertie Baker, Clara Crebs, Ruth and Helen Fox, Mary and Manilla Shoemaker and Estella Essig, Romaine Koutz, Ida and Millie Sherman, Elsie Baird, Anna Baumgardner, Mary Hesson, Lillie Sherman, Mr. Willbur Koutz, Howard and Geo. Bankard, Carroll Riffle, John Bowers, Herman and Kenneth Koutz.

REPORT OF SURVEY OF HISTORIC PLACES OF CARROLL COUNTY

By Mary-Carter Roberts of the Maryland State Department of Economics development.

For all the following information, as well as for great courtesy and personal assistance, I am in debt to the Carroll County Historical Society, represented by Miss Lillian Shipley, the Curator. The generous help I had is, I feel sure, a part of the Society's habit, for it came so naturally. I was shown all the records of the Society, and I could not have been more impressed with the orderliness and professional quality of what I saw. County Historical Societies are going to be the heart of future tourist development in many ways and the Society in Carroll County seems to be following a course that will meet future developments in a progressive manner. It affects the visitor as having a very real and substantial identity.

Tourist Attractions of First Rank Quality

The purpose of my tour was of course to collect information about the historic places of the County which are, or can be made tourist attractions. The canon of judgment which I applied in every case was as follows:

(a) That the place in question would possess some national significance so that it would appeal to visitors from all over the country.

(b) That the place in question be in some manner unique - as the oldest, the first, the only, and so forth - to the end that tourists would not see it duplicated elsewhere. The following places in Carroll County meet these standards according to my thinking.

1. The Historical House, 206 E. Main St. This building dates from 1807 and is a fine example of a prosperous middle class citizen's town house. Its great interest however, is in the collections and objects which are within its walls. Chief among the collections for the tourists' attraction is an exhibit of 150 dolls dating from 1825, beautifully dressed and exhibited in display cases. These were given to the Society by Mrs. W. Parker Jones of Washington, D. C.

A collection of 140 pieces of hobnail glass which belonged to Mrs. Henry L. Mencken was presented to the Society by Mr. August Mencken. The basement contains an exceptionally complete display of pre-machine age implements both household and farm - from a plunger butter churn, butchering equipment to hand made planes, cradles and flails.

While not a collection there is a panel of Zuber wall paper in the entrance hall. This panel made from the original wood blocks by the fifth generation of Zubers in their factory at Rixheim, France, replaced paper which was on the wall more than 100 years. It depicts the harbor at Rio de Janeiro and was given to the Society by Mr. Scott S. Bair. The Brazilian Embassy in Washington, D. C. uses the same design.

(2) The first Methodist meeting house in America known as the John Evan House, 1764, nearby is the home of Strawbridge, Robert 1772, the first Methodist minister, and the monument marking the site of the first Methodist church in America. I rate these relics as having a potential national attraction because they are unique and because they appeal to a very large religious group.

(3) Carroll County's history as site of the first Rural Free Delivery on a county wide basis in America. The Society has a complete and utterly fascinating set of records and pictures giving in minute detail the origin of R. F. D. and its practice through its early years. These records are kept in the Historical Society room in the County Office Building.

(4) The Church World Service of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America maintains the largest service center in the world in New Windsor occupying the buildings of the former Blue Ridge College.

(5) Homestead at Union Mills built in 1797 for a farm home and has served as an inn, a stage coach office, a post office, a school and magistrate's office while all the time retaining its residential uses. The furnishings are unique, in that they represent every generation living in the home.

Miss Mary-Carter Roberts, travel writer for the Maryland Department of Economic Development. Last fall Miss Roberts suggested to Department officials that a county-by-county survey of Maryland be made in order to compile a list of the State's tourist attractions of an historic nature. She was given the assignment. She began the work in October by making a three-day visit to Carroll County. Her report is available now from the Carroll County Historical Society, which assisted her throughout her stay. News stories which she has sent out since about the County have been used by the New York World-Telegram, the Chicago Daily News, the Kansas City Star, the Washington Post, the Baltimore American, as well as many smaller papers. Miss Lillian Shipley, Historical Society Curator, reports that inquiries have come to her as direct results of these accounts. In her own right Miss Roberts is well-known. Her short stories have appeared in the New Yorker Magazine, the former Colliers, Harpers Bazaar, Woman's Day, Fantasy and Science Fiction & others. A number have been included in anthologies. Her novels have been published in most English-speaking countries.

My First Vacation

"Hello dear ones, 'My it has been a long time since we have seen some of you, it is not like it was when we would see you almost every morning at the 'Coffee Shop'. But the least we can do, is to, wish you, each one, 'A Happy New Year.'"

On Saturday, December 30th I had the pleasure of taking my first vacation trip. (After 40 years) They say, "life begins at 40." (?) We'll see! Leaving Taneytown at 11:30 A.M., going down Route 11 from Frederick, over the beautiful snow capped mountains and down through the valley of Virginia. Words can't express the beauties of God, even at this season of the year. The weather was beautiful, cold, clear and sun shining. We arrived at Whyville, Virginia, at 8:00 P.M. Saturday evening—350 miles.

Stopping at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Freeman and family, our former Pastor at Keymar, Md. As we drove up the drive we saw the beautiful Christmas lights a burning out on the lawn and in the windows, just enough snow on the ground to be pretty at this season of the year. We knocked on the door and what a surprise—Rev. and Mrs. Freeman, Ruthie and David, they were just as happy to see us, as we were to see them. They have a beautiful home on a hill overlooking the farm land in the valley. They asked about all you good people and said to tell you all you are never forgotten for they love you all.

We attended church three times on Sunday, my what a day. We enjoyed every minute of it. Good attendance in Sunday School and Church, around the 100 mark—good for a little country church. After church we went back home, there awaited us a grand roast turkey dinner with all the fixin's. It was wonderful. In the evening at 7:30 out to Mt. Zion M. E. Church about 10 miles from Whyville we went for a New Year's Eve service. The church was packed and it was wonderful, the Lord surely was in all the service; people being blessed and helped. At 9:00 P. M. we went back to the "Gospel Tabernacle" again where the service had already been going on since 7:30 P. M. for a Watch Night Service. The loud speaking system was working and the tape recorder was busy taking everything down. Singers from all over were there, this is just some of the names I remember: "Redeemer's Quartet", "Home Land Trio", "The Gillman Trio," and many, many others I can't remember all the different names. Had the pleasure of hearing many fine messages from all the different pastors, from all over. We never got home from service until 1:30 A. M. Prayed, cried, and sang the old year out and the new year in.

It surely was a pleasure to hear our good Bro. Freeman preach again. If you have never been down that way, go pay them a visit. It is wonderful—I like the Southern ways. Everybody just seems to love everybody. They call Rev. Freeman, "preacher Freeman," even the children, just seems like one happy family down thru there. I am so happy and so thrilled over my trip, I plan to go back again sometime, maybe soon, the Lord willing. Preacher Freeman and family said, to tell, "one and all a Very Happy New Year." We arrived back home Monday evening at 7:00 P. M. Thanking the Lord for a safe and Happy Trip (over 700 miles). We didn't see any accidents, we just enjoyed every minute of our first vacation.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Marriage counselors have named many things as the cause of the breakup of happy homes, but not one as far as we know, has named the plumbing and heating system of a home as a source of marriage trouble.

As long as these two systems are working okay there is no friction between man and his spouse but let the heat get low or the faucet spring a leak then the marriage starts to come apart at the seams. There is nothing like a cold house when the temperature stands at twenty degrees on the outside, to start a family argument that lasts until summer sets in. A man and his wife can never agree on the temperature a house should be to be comfortable. If its too warm for the husband, its too cold for the wife. If its just right for the wife, its too hot for the husband. Then an argument begins which we have known to last thirty years and hasn't been settled yet to the satisfaction of both parties. If the heating system can cause disagreements, the water system can create chaos. In far too many homes the number of days when the water system is running smoothly are few and far between. Either there is too much water or not near enough. If you don't have enough then you take a bath and save the water to scrub the floor or the dog. If you do have water then its getting away from you either by a leaky faucet or by someone forgetting to turn the hose off after washing the car or it may be gushing like "Old Faithful" from a broken pipe in the bathroom caused by one of the children using the wash bowl as a step ladder to reach the medicine chest. But probably the most devastating blow to a marriage is a closed drain pipe. In this instance the male can give vent to all he finds wrong with the female...especially if the drain is clogged with coffee grounds. He can and does tell her how stupid women are...how inconsiderate...how stubborn and so on and on. Does this sound familiar. It happens all the time and in thousands of homes where plumbing and heating are used. The solution is for people thinking of getting a marriage license to first get a plumber's license.

January is traditionally known as the month of "White Sales". The housemaker can stock up on towels, sheets, and pillow cases at bargain prices. Its a real pleasure to walk through the stores and see how glamorous these items have become. The sheets are especially high fashion. A far cry from the unbleached ones our mothers used. The rose sprinkled ones are very pretty and can be used as draperies and tablecloths as well as for bed covers. The bath towel has taken on every color of the rainbow and they do much to spruce up the bathroom. Women with imagination use them for curtains and seat covers too which is practical as they absorb the humidity which is often very high in the bathroom.

Americans commonly take it for granted that industry, thrift, and ambition are virtues. We encourage our children to get ahead, to make money, to acquire possessions. In game of business the aim is to win the game, the trophy, or the contract. We value youth and beauty. We go in for labor-saving devices, gadgets speed and short-cuts. We think that every young couple should set up a home of their own and we feel sorry for the couple who must share their home with a parent or relative. Actually, not all Americans hold all these values but they are generally considered desirable goals, and the individual, whatever his personal inclination may be, is under considerable pressure to conform. But what of other peoples? A Hopi Indian child is taught that he should never push himself forward, never try to win at games or try to get ahead of his playmates. The typical American teacher who tries to make Hopi Indian school children compete with one another in school work by getting their work done "first" or "faster" or who organizes competitive games is asking the children to act in a way that is the opposite of what they have been taught by their parents, friends and their culture. Such children are shamed and embarrassed when they get ahead of their comrades. The Hopi way is a way of cooperation of man with man and man with nature. Competition as we know it is alien to their whole system of values. This is the sort of thing that we are constantly confronted with in our aid program around the world. Our way is best for us but not always best for the people we try to help.

A pessimist is someone who likes to listen to the patter of little defeats.

The Carroll County tax-payer owes something to all the cigarette smokers of Maryland for they helped to keep the tax rate at $1.95. The county received a little over $97,000 from the state cigarette tax which is not a small sum. We shudder to think how many people risked their health by smoking so many cigarettes and lets say they did it for a good cause.

The Democratic's Woman's Club will meet Wednesday evening January 17 at the home of Mrs. Edward O. Weant, Jr. Willis St., Westminster. The installation of new officers will be held with Mrs. Lawrence Thomas, president; Mrs. Winston Bullock, 1st vice president; Mrs. Wilbur Magin, 2nd vice president; Mrs. William Dulaney, recording secretary; Mrs. A. Millard Roelke, corresponding secretary; and Miss Mary Agnes Harmon, treasurer. Mrs. Cecelia Farley, who has served as president the last two years will preside.

A friend of mine told me that recently her husband's car was in the garage for repairs and he told her to call a cab to take her to work. She was already late for her job when she called the cab, so when a car pulled into the driveway, she rushed out of the house, got in, and told the driver where she wanted to go. On arrival she asked the driver how much she owes for the trip. "Lady, you don't owe me a thing," said the driver. "I was just turning around in your driveway."

Dr. Daniel Welliver, Westminster, states that Tuberculosis is one of the leading disease problems of Carroll County. There have been 14 new cases and 2 deaths reported by the Carroll County Health Department for the year 1961. Eliminating the disease from the county depends upon the willingness of the citizens to actively assist the Health Department and county physicians by offering their effort and support. Dr. Welliver urges all persons to answer their Christmas Seal letters if they have not done so already. The Carroll County Tuberculosis needs your support to carry on its control program. Officers of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association are: Edwin W. Shauk, president; Robert Lee Miller and Preston G. Coffman, vice presidents; Mrs. A. Millard Roelke, secretary; Charles Stonesifer, treasurer; Samuel Jenness and Willard Uhler, executive committee; Raymond Buchman, Mrs. Paul Lawver, George Otto, Mrs. Virginia Minnick, Mrs. Paul H. Smith, Dr. Daniel Welliver, Mrs. William B. Culwell, Miss Maxine Garvin, Mrs. Francis Crawford and Robert Flickinger, board of directors.

Politics and politicians are beginning to come out of hibernation again. It happens every two and four years. Both political parties in our county are coming to life and doing some setting up exercises. They are limbering up their muscles slowly but the democrats have a bit more limbering up to do than the republicans. It has been verified before but its worth pointing out again that although the democrats have more registered voters then do the republicans, the republicans get more votes. After every election the democrats promise each other that they are going to find the answer to this enigma but so far they haven't come up with the answer or if they know, they don't make it public. There are some issues in the county at the present time that could create quite a battle between the parties. It would be a healthy thing for both the democrats and republicans if each party had enough candidates for each office to put on a hot primary fight. It would help stimulate interest in the election and give each section of the county a chance to be represented on the ballot. As it stands now some parts of the county have no say in what goes on and some sections have too much.

If the knocking at the door is long and loud it isn't opportunity...its the neighbor's children.

Mayor Raymond Perry today proclaimed January 21-26 as "Junior Chamber of Commerce Week" in Taneytown and asked local organizations to co-operate in the observance.

He said the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing, and emphasize that the Taneytown Jaycees have done an outstanding job in the fields of community development and leadership training.

The week celebrates the founding of the Junior Chamber in 1915, when Henry Giessenbier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter, according to local Jaycee President James Fair. The movement spread so fast that in 1920, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce was formed with 24 Cities represented. The Taneytown Jaycees were formed in 1956 with 18 charter members and has increased to 32 active Jaycees as of 1961.

Built on the solid foundation of creating opportunities for leadership training through community betterment projects, the Jaycees today, over 200 strong, are active in 4,100 communities in the United States. National headquarters is located in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

J. Hevner Miss Aaro G. Bruchey Jr. T. Magruder III

Members of the quartet were awarded all-expense paid trips to the 40th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago the last week in November and memories of the exciting time they had are still fresh in their minds.

They are Jerry Hevner, 18, of Union Bridge; Arlene Aaro, 17, of Brandywine; George Bruchey Jr., 20, of Frederick, and Thomas Magruder III, 19, of Westernport.

The four were among Maryland's 27 member delegation that attended the big 4-H meeting. The state had two national winners at the congress.

The 1,400 delegates were special guests at the International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show and at a pop concert, conducted by Arthur Fiedler.

The Maryland quartet also found time for window shopping on Chicago's famed Michigan Ave. and gazing at the city's skyscrapers.

Among the distinguished speakers they heard was Brooks Hays, assistant Secretary of State for Congressional relations.

They were also given a message by comedian Danny Thomas and attended several fancy banquets given by some of the firms that back 4-H.

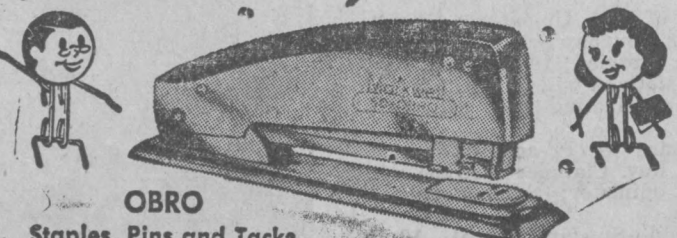

Hevner, the state's beef award winner, had his all-expense paid trip donated by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hevner, who operate a 105 acre farm.

Household Hints

BY JOAN MARCH WORDEN

Director, Pine Cleaner Information Center.

Every day may be a holiday for some people but every holiday is Labor Day for the homemaker who has to clean-up after.

As the New Year begins, here's a clean-up calendar with emphasis on holidays but useable on any day.

January: If the New Year dawns with souvenirs of last night's celebration still around, remember that such party postscripts as grease spots, spilled food and beverages can be eased away with the aid of a little pine cleaner.

February: If any of the Valentine candy gets mashed on the floor or rug, keep in mind that pine cleaner is a magician at making sticky goodies like candy, cake and cookies disappear.

March: If the Ides of March bring coughs and sneezes, remember to kill many of the germs with a high-percentage pine oil disinfectant.

April: The joke's on you if you still start spring house cleaning by tearing the house apart. Assemble a small portable kit of cleaning aids and do your housecleaning a room at a time. Easier on you, easier on the house, easier on your family.

May: Mothers who long to return to the days of feeling like Queen of the May might hint for a bottle of glamorous pine bath oil.

June: Every day is Father's Day for doing man-size chores. Pine cleaner, sponge and water are dad's best friend for basement clean-up, car and white-wall tire washing, dog shampooing and patio-prettying.

July: Outdoor cookery for the Fourth of July? Keep a bottle of pine cleaner handy for a quick clean-up of grill and utensils used over the charcoal fire.

August: Vacation days need not turn into dog days if the whole family lends a hand at cottage clean-up or summer spruce-up. Remember that a good pine oil cleaner is a great banisher of sticky salt-water residue, tar tracked in from the beach and even "general" dirt such as mud, sand and mustard from hot dogs.

September: Make Labor Day a take-it-easy time by preparing for fall clean-up. Check on your cleaning supplies — three basic aids should be a 2-sided sponge, a sponge cloth, a triple duty pine oil cleaner-disinfectant.

October: Trick the holiday treaters out of marking up windows with soap. Smears and ghosts will vanish in a whisk with pine cleaner.

November: The turkey and trimmings will taste better if you know you can short-cut the after-dinner kitchen chores. While you're sitting at the groaning board, let your pots and pans sit in a pine cleaner solution. Then just a good rinsing — and little or no scrubbing will be needed at clean-up time.

December: Add gaiety to your own outlook of the festive holiday season by providing some little household elves to help with holiday clean-up! Two shopping bags to hold wrapping paper (before and after use); extra sponges for quick mop-ups during parties and, of course, an extra bottle of pine cleaner might be a gift you can give yourself to help make the holiday season more fun and less work.

Lists Safe Solvents for Removing Spots, Stains in Home Laundries

BENTON HARBOR, MICH.—There's nothing more exasperating to homemakers than finding oil or juice or coffee stains still on clothing when laundry is taken from the washer!

"But don't blame the machine if this happened to you," advises Miss Virginia Van Nostrand, home service director for Whirlpool Corporation. "It's probably because the stains weren't treated properly to assure complete removal."

Miss Van Nostrand asserts that certain stains can be removed without too much difficulty if promptly treated. However, in cases, she adds, they are not treated soon enough or are handled incorrectly and become difficult to remove. It's under these conditions that the innocent washer is abused.

Two Classifications

"Stains can generally be classified into two groups," according to Miss Van Nostrand. "Those that require treatment before washing and those that should be washed first and then treated."

Oil stains—oleo, butter, hair oil, cottonseed oil, corn oil, salad oils, cod liver oil and some types of lipstick—come under the heading of "treat before washing," as do coffee, tea, egg and chocolate stains. These spots should be removed as soon as possible else it may be impossible to eliminate them. What type of solvent to use?

Advises Whirlpool's expert: "Energine and carbona, both of which contain trichlorethane, are safe dry cleaning solvents so either of these could be used."

Treating Stains

Treating oil stains is simply a matter of placing the stained area over a white towel, saturating the area with solvent, then blotting it. As the solvent seeps into the towel, the oil stain follows. Even better results follow when the stained area is moved to another part of the towel and the same treatment applied. The number of times treated depends upon the size of the stain. For a small stain, three or four treatments would be sufficient.

Once this treatment has been completed, garments should be washed immediately, following the regular laundry procedures.

Fruit juice stains should be treated after the garment has been washed and dried. A treatment with sodium perborate bleach and household ammonia gives the best results.

Simply cover the stained area with bleach and add a few drops of hot water to make a thick paste. Then apply a few drops of household ammonia on the stained area, three or four times over. Wait about 30 minutes, then wash and dry the garment again.

"If the stain has not been completely removed, a second treatment should be applied," says Miss Van Nostrand.

God Is Spirit

Lesson for January 21, 1962

THE Greek language, in which the New Testament was at first written, has no way of expressing our English "indefinite article" a or an. Consequently the two sentences, "God is a Spirit" and "God is Spirit" would be exactly the same in Greek. So then, what did Jesus say to the Samaritan woman? Did He say "God is a Spirit" or "God is Spirit"? This is one of these places where Bible translation can't depend on the words only, for here two different translations would be equally correct, so far as the words go. One reason why practically all contemporary translations say "Spirit" in John 4:24 is that saying "God is a Spirit" might give the idea that God is just one among many spirits. God is Spirit fits better with all that the Bible tells us about God.

What is God like?
The central meaning of "God is Spirit" is that God's nature is spirit. Water is liquid, earth, water, fire and air are physical; God is spirit, it is very hard to think clearly what this means, because we have never seen spirit by itself. We experience what it is to be spirit, ourselves; for man is spirit, partly spirit. Yet in ourselves spirit never is felt alone. It is extremely hard to be certain at any point in our experience what elements are "spirit" and what elements are physical, material. We know what spirit and matter are in close combination; we can observe matter without spirit every time we look at a rock or a raindrop. But spirit, pure and unmingled? Let us try to speak of a few of the meanings that Christian thinkers have seen in this tremendous saying, so simple and yet so profound.

No likeness of anything
Moses did not try to tell the Israelites that God is spirit. What he did say was something simpler. The people of God were forbidden to make any image or likeness of anything at all, in water, earth or air. The Israelites alone, among the people of the ancient East, had no statues nor pictures of their God. God is not like any physical thing. Nothing that can be seen with the natural eye looks like God. Now this is very important. If God had some kind of body, if God were as dependent on his body as we on ours, then like all bodies, his would have to be at some definite location in space. You could point straight at God (let us say) at noon by the clock, but because of the way the earth spins, at midnight you would have to point in the opposite direction. Nothing that has a body can be in more places than one at one time. Everything that has a body, or is a body, has to move or be carried, from one place to another place. But God is everywhere all the time. All places are "here" to him. This could not be true unless God is spirit.

Judgment and consolation
This Christian belief (which we owe directly to our Master) that God is spirit, is not just a difficult doctrine! It is extremely practical, and that in two ways. For one thing, you cannot go anywhere and shut God off from following you. He does not need to follow you. He is always there. No door can be closed against him. This means that nothing escapes His eye. No recording angel is needed to keep your record. At the final judgment there is no need to summon witnesses, no wondering if they are telling the truth. God does not depend on eye-witnesses. His judgment is just because He is always at the scene of every crime. Crime? Yes, at the scene of every sin too. In a human court a man may "get by with murder." He may build up a reputation he does not deserve. But no man can surprise God; your reputation with Him is no better than you are.

The other very important practical bearing this truth has is that God is present in our darkest hours. We may be too ill to visit the bedside of a dying loved one. We may arrive too late for a funeral. But God is never too late; the high God, the only God there is, He is always there. We are never alone, and we need never feel alone. We may know that no human sympathy quite penetrates to the inside of our hearts; but God knows us from the inside as well as from without.

Inexpensive, new main dish

"Crispenny Casserole"

An inexpensive way to combat the ravenous appetites of school-age youngsters is to fill them up with "Crispenny Casserole"—a nourishing, quick-and-easy new main-dish that's sure to become a winter-long favorite. Sliced frankfurters are the pennies and the crispness comes from crumbled salty saltine crackers. Chopped onions, butter, eggs, milk and pepper complete this nourishing, budget-stretching new casserole. Make it for your family this easy way:

|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| 5 cups coarsely broken Krispy Saltine Crackers, about 25 double crackers | 1 pound frankfurters, sliced into 1/4 inch penny-cuts |
| 2 onions, about 2 1/2 inch diameter | 3 eggs, beaten |
| 4 tablespoons butter or margarine | 2 cups milk |
| | Coarsely ground black pepper to taste |

Separate crispy saltine crackers and break each into 8 or 10 pieces. Set aside. Peel and coarsely chop onions; over moderate heat, sauté onions in half the butter, until soft but not brown. Place about a third of broken crackers in a layer in bottom of shallow casserole, about two quarts capacity. Sprinkle with about half the sautéed onions and half the penny-cut frankfurters. Add about another third of the crackers, the rest of the onions and the frankfurters, saving a few penny-cuts to garnish top. Sprinkle with remaining broken crackers and cut frankfurters. Beat eggs and milk together and pour gently over casserole. Sprinkle lightly with pepper and dot with remaining butter. Bake in preheated, moderate (350°F.) oven until mixture is partially firm to touch and crackers are golden brown, about 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 large servings.

Home Owners Beware:

The Ice Dam Cometh

It's never too late to protect a house against damage caused by ice dams. Even in the dead of winter, roofers can apply asphalt shingles to guard against leaks that may result from ice dams. Ice dams cause trouble and water damage in many improperly roofed homes in cold climate areas where freezing temperatures allow ice to build up in gutters.

These accumulations of ice act as dams that keep melting snow from running off the roof normally. When this happens, water can creep up and under improperly applied roofing and into the house.

Insulation may be soaked, walls, ceilings, floors, furniture and household goods can be ruined. Dangerous short circuits may result if electric wiring becomes wet.

In areas where the daily average temperature is 25 degrees or less, authorities advise families to make sure a new or replacement roof is applied to protect against ice dam trouble.

Proper application of asphalt shingles in cold climate areas calls for protecting the eaves section of the roof with five layers of material.

A metal "drip edge" is applied first, and is bent down over the edges of the roof deck boards. The second step is an "underlayment" of asphalt-saturated roofing felt that forms a waterproof layer over the entire surface of the deck.

Low-slope roofs require an application of two thicknesses of underlayment felt which, to form an "eaves flashing strip," should be cemented together from the eaves up to a point at least 24 inches beyond the interior wall line.

For conventional roof slopes, an "eaves flashing strip" is formed by applying a continuous strip of heavy roll roofing along the eaves on top of the drip edge and felt underlayment. It should extend from the edge of the roof at least 12 inches beyond the interior wall line.

Fourth, a 9-inch "starter" strip of roll roofing is applied. Strip shingles laid with their tabs pointing up the roof may also be used as a starter strip.

The first course of the regular shingles is applied as the fifth and final layer. These shingles form part of the visible roof covering. The other four layers are designed to give full protection against ice dams and wind-driven rain.

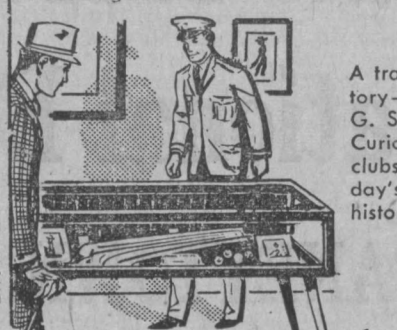

Golfing Through History

GOLFING FIRSTS

There is good reason to suppose that the first golf balls were made of wood! But in the 17th and 18th centuries, they were made of various materials, wood, straw, stuffed hard into a core of leather. The best, however, and those which ultimately came into universal use were stuffed with feathers.

The primal golf club was probably a stick with a thick or curved end. The next step was a supple-shafted mallet. As early as 1503, account books of James II of Scotland record purchases of special wooden golf clubs.

The term "caddie" or "cawdie" was at first applied to loafers on the streets of Edinburgh who would hire themselves out as guides, baggage-carriers or messenger boys.

A travelling museum of golfing history—The White Horse Scotch—A. G. Spalding Collection of Golfing Curios—currently, touring country clubs from coast-to-coast offers today's golfer a glance at the early history of his favorite game.
