"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The lovely Gardenia plant is full of buds ready to burst into bloom. I have discovered that it appears more healthy indoors.

Most of the "Living Fence Rose Plants" are thriving. That company from California stated that they would make good even within a year! Now, I'll see and keep you and you posted. A letter just arrived from them stating those facts!

What a pleasure it was on Memorial Day in the Bus without one individual smoking!

Just to think our President now has three M I L I O N more dollars! Do you know, folks when I was a Volunteer for Nixon and accosted different young people behind soda fountains and the various places and talked to them, they frankly told me that the reason they were voting for Kennedy was for the simple reason that the paid Volunteer of the Democratic party told them that Kennedy was positively going to see that their salaries were raised if he would give it to them himself and that would be almost immediately! They really believed that one! UGH!

There is no doubt about it, seeing and hearing Mr. Nixon on TV on the Jack Parr Show really thrilled me as it did millions of others. He is truly a polished Orator and his English and accent is beautiful.

Now, "Prince Ballantyne of Tiver-ton" is registered and in the Blue Book and I hope to place him in the very first Dog Show. Just to think Zsa Zsa Gabor has three Cairn dogs and takes them with her wherever she goes.

Today after a delightful luncheon, a friend asked me to follow her to the huge lawn and there was the most beautiful Magnolia tree of the largest double blooms I have ever seen. The leaves appeared as large as tobacco leaves! The measurement of that white Heavenly Magnolia is exactly five feet six inches across! It now is in a silver urn on the dining room table. I made inquiries as to the age of the tree and it is just ten yrs. old! They call it a "double bloom Magnolia" tree, due to the size of each flower. That really was my first experience as to actually seeing one so large.

Don't forget, folks, plan to see the annual exhibition of the "Maryland Hobby Club" on Father's Day, at their headquarters, "Jr. Order of Mechanics Building" on Paca Street near Fayette. There are many things there that surely will interest FATHER and the entire family.

Letters—Dear Observer:—Thank you for the advise as to the house buying. What do you think of the purchase of an old house and fixing it up, rather than buy a new one? I will appreciate your answer immediately. Thank you! Signed, Bride.

Dear Bride:—The new houses are lovely but many of course are really bare on the exterior as for shrubs and trees and bushes, although they most always have a lawn started. Be sure you get a real expert as to an old house that you may purchase. Much can be done to an old home and it is fascinating but many times it runs into more money than one realizes. Of course you could do one or two rooms over at a time and those the rooms that you will be using immediately. Then, the additional rooms, you could have done one at a time until all is completed. Nothing like beautiful shrubs and trees for they do add so to any place. Much happiness for you both and thank you for all those kind words. Your Observer.

Dear Observer:—I have a very dear friend who takes me in her car many times, as we go to the various places. They have a big dog which sheds those awful hairs. This past Sunday, I went with her to her church and had on a black suit and everyone was looking so at the back of my suit but did not say anything. When I arrived home, I was shocked to see my new suit covered with these long tanish hairs and I could not even get them off and had to send the new suit to a cleaner. They take this big dog wherever they go in the car and the interior of the car is a sight. Could you kindly suggest something? Signed - Friends.

Dear Friends:—The only thing you can do is to stay out of the car and refuse to go to the various places. Then, when your friends ask why, tell them frankly in a nice way, but you will have to be careful because—the love of a dog can really break any friendship and I do think that that is so foolish. Your Observer.

Don't forget, folks, the third Sunday in June is Father's Day —you know that best man in your life. Plan something nice for him—something so different and the best part is to love him, and that he will love more than anything you may give him!

Have a grand week-end. And Always remember never to do anything today for which you will be sorry tomorrow!

Until the next week-end.

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

From National Review: "Add to the list of prominent American critics of recent UN actions: James F. Byrnes, who belongs to the group in the Roosevelt Administration that first conceived of the UN, and who was appointed by President Truman first Secretary of State and then Supreme Court Justice. 'The United Nations of today is not the organization we sponsored in 1945,' he now concludes. The addition of 54 member states since its founding has greatly changed its purposes. Mr. Byrnes believes, for while it was founded 'to maintain international peace and security,' the new Afro-Asian states seem to think its primary purpose is to promote colonial independence. If we are to continue our UN membership, he says, we must enforce 'the provision of the charter that prohibits the United Nations from interfering in domestic affairs of a state. We must also place less reliance upon NATO and other regional organizations of our allies pledged to the preservation of the independence of free peoples.'"

Changes in the farm program, as proposed in companion bills in Senate and House, seek to expand opportunities for recreation and fish and wildlife on private lands, according to the Wildlife Management Institute. It is estimated that new techniques and greater efficiency will release about 51 million acres from crop production by 1980. The proposed Agriculture Act is designed to put these lands to constructive purposes.

The American Medical Association observes that there is no cure for poison ivy, and warns against wasting money on quack cures. The best precaution against poison ivy, it adds, is to know how to recognize the plants and avoid them. Any natural history book and many encyclopedias have photos of the plants. The main identifying factor is the three-leafed twig.

Senator Barry Goldwater writes: "The one bright aspect of the steel price hassle, it seems to me, is that the whole affair has served to highlight and to dramatize the very grave problem faced by American industries which are saddled with out-moded and obsolete equipment. Private studies in this field indicate that presently there is some $95-$100 billion worth of this kind of equipment now being used by American industry in a time of heavy competition. And, against this, the Administration is proposing a piddling 8 per cent tax credit on funds scheduled for expansion and modernization."

A publication of the Jersey Central and New Jersey Power and Light Company observes that when a driver says he can stop on a dime, he means the last dime at the end of a long row of dimes. At only 20 mph—including time for reacting and braking—it takes 47 feet to stop. At 50 mph it takes 243 feet, and at 70, 532 feet.

A well-known engineering and transportation consultant, testifying before a Senate sub-committee, said that proposals by the Army Engineers to build two new barge canals in the South at a cost of millions of dollars are uneconomical and "thoroughly unsound." Existing transportation facilities in the areas of the canals, he added, are being used at only a fraction of their capabilities. So the canals would not create new traffic, but would depend entirely on diverting traffic from transportation facilities.

Instructor Billy Reynolds (turning front wheel) and Shell dealers check out a car at one of Shell's 123 training centers.

Shell instructor Billy Reynolds offers 10 clues that may help you spot trouble before it starts

Billy Reynolds

OVER 12,000 Shell dealers go to Shell training centers every year. There, they learn how to spot trouble quickly.

Here are 10 trouble signals that Billy Reynolds, one of Shell's chief instructors, always stresses. If you notice any of them in your car, tell your Shell dealer. His advice might head off a big repair bill later on.

1. Mushy brakes. When your car is standing still, push the brake pedal down with a firm, steady pressure. If it feels soft and sinks to the floor, you've got trouble that should be fixed right away.

2. Wandering wheels. If your front tires show more wear on one side of the tread than the other, your wheel alignment is probably at fault. Out-of-line wheels can increase tire wear up to 50 percent.

3. Jiggly front end. Shove down hard on either bumper with your foot. If the car bobs up and down for a long time before coming to a rest, ask your Shell dealer to check your shock absorbers.

4. Decrepit tail pipe. If your muffler or tail pipe is rusted through in spots, it's a good idea to replace it.

5. "Bloated" radiator hoses. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they're cracked or swollen, they can fail at any time and cause your engine to overheat.

6. Marred windshield. If your windshield is scarred or streaked, it's probably due to faulty windshield wipers. Have your Shell dealer check and replace them if necessary.

7. Strange noises. Listen for any odd noises from your car. They can be warnings of trouble on the way.

8. Under-the-hood clues. You can learn a lot by looking at your engine. Watch for oil, fuel and water leaks. Also, loose wires and worn insulation.

9. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, a weak battery is probably the trouble. But it could be something else. Better check it.

10. Oil-streaked sidewalls. Check the sides of your tires you seldom see—the sides facing in. Look for signs of leaking fluid on the tire walls. Could be a leaking brake cylinder, or faulty oil seals on the rear wheels. Both can be serious.

Any trained Shell dealer knows many trouble signals besides these. Take advantage of his training. And one last tip: when you've got your car in top condition, keep it filled with today's Super Shell—for top performance all year long.

At our request, Mrs. Edwin Howe of Baltimore recently kept a two-week diary of her phone calls. For each local "telephone trip" she took, she estimated the time, travel and money saved.

Mrs. Howe's calls were the kind that many active mothers with three young children make. Calls to baby-sitters and doctors. Calls to check on Little League registration and nursery school schedules. Calls that saved her 48 hours in fourteen days. Plus 312 miles of travel and $27.84.

According to Mrs. Howe, there were even other savings her telephone diary didn't show. "There were so many difficulties painlessly avoided by the use of our phone. Worry and misunderstandings, as well as unnecessary effort and inconvenience. I honestly can't evaluate the merits of our phone in terms of time, money and mileage alone!"

If you kept track of your phone calls for two weeks, what would you find? You'd probably discover, too, that your telephone gives you a great deal in return for its low monthly cost.

Nothing is as easy to make as a promise in the winter to do something in the summer. This is how commencement speakers are caught. But it takes a lot of courage to be a commencement speaker. Imagine standing before a group of young people who have already made up their minds about everything and trying to impress them with your wisdom of fifty or sixty years. What can you say to wide awake and alert young minds does not sound stuffy and out-dated? One thing you could warn them about is "patience". Young people want too much, too soon. They will have to learn that worthwhile things do not come quickly. Another thought that you might try to interest them with is the necessity of remaining optimistic. Even in the face of adversity and bad times there is nothing to be gained by pessimism. This is the basic trouble with our generation. We are always ready to throw cold water on everything that the young people suggest. It is as if we fail to remember our own youth and its love of life, with all its opportunities, its heart breaks, its beauty and its ugly scars. Life is to be lived, not brushed aside or ignored. To be sure it may give you some rough times, but it will also give you noble moments. For as President Kennedy said this week to the Yale graduating class many of the old cliches have no truth in them; it's up to the young men and women to find new slogans that are in keeping with the present. The optimists will find opportunities in every situation and reap the benefit for their own generation. Good luck graduates, the future depends upon you.

We have friends with a young daughter named Beverly and she has recently acquired a boy friend who comes to see her quite often. At least he says he comes to see her. Actually he seems more interested in the free food and when he's at her house, spends all his time eating. Beverly was feeling pretty depressed about the situation last week and said to her mother, "I'm trying to think of some way to get Jimmy to pay attention to me." Her mother, being a realist, said, "Why don't you find some perfume that smells like hamburgers, dear?"

These liquid diets that many women are using to gain a trim figure are putting a strain on family ties in more ways than one. One lady we know who is on one of these liquid diets invited her pastor for supper. While she was putting the finishing touches to the meal she left her five-year-old son to entertain the minister. For conversation the little boy took the pastor by the hand and led him to the dining room and showed where he was to sit at the table. The boy said, "Daddy sits here, my sister sits there and you sit beside me. 'But where,' asked the minister does mother sit?" "Oh, said the small boy, 'Mother doesn't eat anymore. She just drinks.'"

When a person can truthfully acknowledge to himself that every age has its own particular compensation, then he is mature, and what is more important, happily adjusted.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Murray Hoyt, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, tells how to get along with bees, but if you are as sensitive to bee stings as we are there is only one way to get along with them and that is—keep out of their way. To some people, a bee sting can be as dangerous as a rattlesnake bite. Several years ago a friend of ours was stung by a yellow-jacket while plowing corn. In less than a minute he felt himself getting weak and nauseated. He remembered reading about the effect of insect stings on certain people, so he managed to get to the house and called his doctor. The doctor was busy but told our friend to have his wife bring him to the office. He was given an injection of adrenaline and warned to stay out of the reach of all kinds of bees. One year on the farm horsets built their nest in the window of the dairy barn. It was there all summer with the hornets coming and going in the same door that we used and no one was ever stung. That was before I knew that one of their needle-like bite could mean the end for me. As Mr. Hoyt points out in his article there is no excuse to spending all one's time avoiding bees. If you know you are sensitive to bee-stings, consult your doctor and have him immunize you against them. We can't live without bees because they pollinate many plants and trees, but we can learn how to protect ourselves against their potent weapon.

The Children's Day program will take place at Mt. Union Lutheran Church Sunday morning following Sunday School, June 17, at 10:30 a. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

If you know you are sensitive to bee-stings, consult your doctor and have him immunize you against them. We can't live without bees because they pollinate many plants and trees, but we can learn how to protect ourselves against their potent weapon.

The Children's Day program will take place at Mt. Union Lutheran Church Sunday morning following Sunday School, June 17, at 10:30 a. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Nothing is as easy to make as a promise in the winter to do something in the summer. This is how commencement speakers are caught. But it takes a lot of courage to be a commencement speaker. Imagine standing before a group of young people who have already made up their minds about everything and trying to impress them with your wisdom of fifty or sixty years. What can you say to wide awake and alert young minds does not sound stuffy and out-dated? One thing you could warn them about is "patience". Young people want too much, too soon. They will have to learn that worthwhile things do not come quickly. Another thought that you might try to interest them with is the necessity of remaining optimistic. Even in the face of adversity and bad times there is nothing to be gained by pessimism. This is the basic trouble with our generation. We are always ready to throw cold water on everything that the young people suggest. It is as if we fail to remember our own youth and its love of life, with all its opportunities, its heart breaks, its beauty and its ugly scars. Life is to be lived, not brushed aside or ignored. To be sure it may give you some rough times, but it will also give you noble moments. For as President Kennedy said this week to the Yale graduating class many of the old cliches have no truth in them; it's up to the young men and women to find new slogans that are in keeping with the present. The optimists will find opportunities in every situation and reap the benefit for their own generation. Good luck graduates, the future depends upon you.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Murray Hoyt, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, tells how to get along with bees, but if you are as sensitive to bee stings as we are there is only one way to get along with them and that is—keep out of their way. To some people, a bee sting can be as dangerous as a rattlesnake bite. Several years ago a friend of ours was stung by a yellow-jacket while plowing corn. In less than a minute he felt himself getting weak and nauseated. He remembered reading about the effect of insect stings on certain people, so he managed to get to the house and called his doctor. The doctor was busy but told our friend to have his wife bring him to the office. He was given an injection of adrenaline and warned to stay out of the reach of all kinds of bees. One year on the farm horsets built their nest in the window of the dairy barn. It was there all summer with the hornets coming and going in the same door that we used and no one was ever stung. That was before I knew that one of their needle-like bite could mean the end for me. As Mr. Hoyt points out in his article there is no excuse to spending all one's time avoiding bees. If you know you are sensitive to bee-stings, consult your doctor and have him immunize you against them. We can't live without bees because they pollinate many plants and trees, but we can learn how to protect ourselves against their potent weapon.

Smorgasbord Gives Guests Feeling Of Warmth On Cold, Wintry Nights

THE SWEDES HAVE A WORD FOR GOOD EATING — it's smorgasbord, which originally meant a table set with bread and butter, but has long since been expanded to mean one of the best and heartiest ways to entertain a roomful of hungry guests. In the recently published book "Invitation to Dining", the Melamine Council offers this suggestion for combining traditional Swedish food with contemporary melamine dinnerware, and provides the menu and recipes needed to prepare a zesty self-serve supper party.

*SWEDISH PANCAKES 1/4 c. butter 1/2 pt. light cream 3 eggs 1/4 c. flour 1/4 c. sugar Melt butter, let cool slightly. Beat eggs and sugar until fluffy. Add cream and flour alternately, beating thoroughly. Beat in butter. Drop teaspoons of batter on lightly buttered hot griddle. Move spoon in circular motion on poured batter to make 2-3/4 inch pancakes. Cook until pancakes look dry; turn, and brown other side. Place pancakes in stacks of eight or ten on squares of aluminum foil. Keep in refrigerator until about one hour before serving. To serve, place pancake stacks with foil on a baking sheet and bake in preheated 400° F. oven 10 minutes. Flip, pancakes from foil onto serving plates. Top with lingonberries, and dust with powdered sugar. Serves six to eight.

The swany smorgasbord setting is one of 2 imaginative tables shown in the new, vividly illustrated booklet on entertaining at home, available from the Melamine Council, 75 West Street, New York 3, N.Y. Twenty-five cents should be included with your request to cover the cost of mailing.

JOB OF MAKING YOUR NEWSPAPER

NEW YORK—Canada's newsprint producers who provide more than 70 percent of the American supply, have just finished a key phase of the job of making paper for next year's newspapers. This is the annual Spring drive, in which millions of pulpwood logs cut in the backwoods last Fall and Winter are floated downriver to the mills. Most of the paper made from these logs will reach U.S. newspapers during 1963.

Details of the drive are explained by the Newsprint Information Committee, composed of a representative group of the Canadian mills.

Tossing one log in the river to float downstream is simple and costs nothing. Tossing in some 40 million logs is complicated and costly.

From the air, a lake or river full of logs looks like a tub of bath water into which have been dumped twelve boxes of cornflakes. The latter eventually would present certain problems for the plumbing and these problems have their counterparts in the complex river drive.

Annual Push Records for one such river operation show that the annual push requires the services of 300 men to move a million cords 189 miles. It takes 150 days and almost a million dollars.

As the thaw builds up the head of water in the lakes and rivers, the logs are enclosed in booms which are towed into position behind the dams. For this job and kindred work, the inventory includes 20 power boats, 10 outboard motors, two derricks mounted on scows, ten other scows, and four house-boats.

Holding Ponds Men are posted at the dams day and night to open the sluice gates for passage of the logs when wind and water conditions are right. Detailed arrangements are worked out with the power authorities so that there will be adequate water flow for both the log drive and generation of electricity.

On the trip downstream, light power dams have to be passed by the logs. Intermediate holding ponds are set up where logs are again assembled behind dams at various stages of the trip so that they can be sent onward with sufficient momentum of wind and water behind them.

One company finds that Indian employees are especially good at understanding the ways of weather and river and turning them to best advantage for the drive.

FISHING TACKLES

By DICK WOLFE

Marine anglers are digging (literally) out the tackle debris of their homes with high hopes for a good season. Why not? If a storm produces good surf fishing—a tidal wave such as recently hit the Atlantic coast should really do the trick.

Another tidal wave is sweeping Congress, too. Surf clubs and anglers from twenty coastal states may finally get some recognition by way of a national salt water fish research program. Appeals to the House and Senate appropriations committees to put up 15 cents for every dollar authorized in 1959, may get some attention this year. The hope for results will include work on coastal pollution and protection of some coastal marshlands to save an already diminishing fish population.

A new lure by Garcia makes sense. The Abu Hi-Lo comes with an adjustable lip that holds six depth control positions from surface to very deep. It comes in four colors and can replace half a dozen individual plugs to save tackle box room and cash. It sells for under a deuce.

Fishing deep is the word for the April opening of the nation's trout streams, if you read the Farmer's Almanac. A slow spring is predicted. That means cool waters with the fish hugging the bottom. Bass fishermen can expect a long or delayed spawning period.

If you're in the market for a new reel to open the season, take a look at the new Abu 505 "Auto-Spin". A below the rod reel, it requires no lifting of line and has no ball. A touch of the control disc lets you concentrate on sport fishing without worries of line release and timing.

Inland fishing may be in for a big push by the Interior Department. New hatcheries, bigger stocking programs, more realistic conservation policies, and new night-of-ways to lakes and streams are all part of the Outdoor Recreation and Resources Review Commission's report to the President. The report cites "improved fishing" as one of its major objectives. Interior will be given the job of making it work. And, Secretary Udall is an angler and outdoor sportsman.

Praise In Heaven

Lesson for June 17, 1962

SOME of our hymns about heaven are well-meant but stupid. For example there is one that contains the couplet:

"Where congregations ne'er break up
And Sabbaths have no end."

What a terrible place! You would never have a chance to speak to any one, never any opportunity to do anything. Just stand and sing, or (worse yet) listen to sermons forever and ever.

We may be thankful no such picture is given in the Bible.

Dr. Foreman
Yet we can understand where the church-loving author of the poem got his idea—probably from those scenes in the book of Revelation where voices without number join in praise to Almighty God. These passages, including some of the grandest word-pictures in the book of Revelation, give us a starting-point for some thoughts about worship, especially that aspect of worship which we call praise of adoration.

Praise of God versus praise of man

First, there is certainly a difference between the praise of God and the praise of man. A man may or may not deserve our enthusiasm; we can praise men too much. But we never can praise God enough. Furthermore, when we praise other men, we may be doing something for their ego, something to bolster their self-respect, something to cheer their discouragement. We may also (provided we don't overdo it) help along their reputation and their career, by judicious praise. A good and wise teacher, by praise just at the right time, may guide a boy into a useful and even brilliant life-work. What are "recommendations" but sheets of praises? Something is added to a person by praise; or when the praise is mistaken, something may be subtracted. (Don't you feel pretty small when someone has buttered you up beyond recognition?)

God is, of course, not affected in this way. He doesn't need to have his reputation built up, he doesn't need recommendations, he does not try to live up to the nice things said about him! He is above these things, above the loftiest adoration we can offer.

From the heart

Another important difference between the praise of God and of man is this: The one who praises men hopes to get something out of it; indeed even when we praise God we rather sheepishly hope he will take special note of it and remember it when we need a favor. But the praise of heaven is not (as Samuel Johnson said about gratitude) "a lively sense of favors to come." It rises out of a grateful heart, it is spontaneous and sincere, it has no price-tag, yet it is beyond price. Such praise is possible even here and now. The necessities of life more or less force us to consult our clocks and calendars to see when it is time to worship God. Thus we get into the regrettable habit of putting off our expressions of gratitude until after 11 A.M. next Sunday, and if we stay away from church, then God goes forgotten (so far as we are concerned) for another week. What we ought to be doing (otherwise heaven will embarrass us) is to cultivate the thankful heart at all times, week-days and Sundays. "Thank you, God," may not be rated an elegant prayer in Boston; but when it is heart-felt, God does not look it over for fancy language.

To God and the lamb

One other, and very important, point strikes us as we read these great lines from Revelation: adoration is rendered at the same time to God and to the Lamb,—that is, to God and to Christ. We can see how at the very outset of the Christian religion, it was natural to think of God and Christ sharing the same Throne. The real test of whether a person actually believes in the God-hood of Christ is whether he offers prayer and praise to him. In church he does, of course; but does he quietly in his own private prayers? Later on in the book of Revelation we hear about prayer offered to a Beast, to a Dragon, to an Image; and this is pictured as nothing less than blasphemy. To offer prayer and praise to any person or thing that is not God, is to sink into idolatry. Yet to refuse prayer and praise where it belongs, is to make religion cheap and small.

Delectable Drinks And Sauce The Instant Strawberry Way

Make it in moments—a sauce that is clear as crystal, sweet 'n' strawberry, as sassy colored as a red lollypop. Takes only two basic ingredients to make this sauce—quick strawberry-flavored mix and corn syrup—yet it glamorizes ice cream puddings, plain cakes, into "company creations."

Best known for flavoring milk, quick strawberry-flavored mix makes delicious drinks in an instant. Just stir it in, and strawberry milk is ready to serve. If you like a bubbly drink, try combining milk, strawberry-flavored mix, and your favorite carbonated beverage, to make a Strawberry Sipper. Quick, cool, good for you.

Quick Strawberry Sauce

- 1 cup quick strawberry-flavored mix
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ cup light corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine quick strawberry-flavored mix, syrup, water and lemon juice in 1-quart saucepan. Place over high heat. Bring to full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Chill. Serve over ice cream, custard or puddings. Yield: Approx. ¾ cup. Strawberry Sipper Fill 10-ounce glass ¾ full with milk. Add 2 heaping teaspoons quick strawberry-flavored mix; stir briskly until blended. Fill with chilled carbonated water. Serve immediately. Yield: 1 serving.

Boating Facts...

ALUMINUM

Just five years after aluminum's discovery in 1886, a Swiss boat builder applied the metal's light weight, strength and minimum maintenance requirements to a sleek lined, swift sailboat.

An improvement in the Navy's PT boat fleet in 1948 was the use of aluminum hulls. The reason was to obtain more speed and maneuverability from the light weight material.

As a result of aluminum's marine applications through the years it is now a popular material for boats. Since 1946, boating enthusiasts have bought more than 1,000,000 aluminum hulled pleasure boats.

The members received copies of current news releases and announcements which had been sent to the schools including those related to a proposed summer school offering in the Westminster High School.

Award of the service contract for typewriters was made to Wades Sales & Service, Westminster, on the basis of their low bid for the 1962-63 school year.

Action was taken to approve the purchase of duplicator and other paper supplies on the basis of prices submitted and compared.

The Board was advised regarding the opening of bids for school bus insurance and, after consideration, action was taken to accept the bid of the Nationwide Insurance Company.

The opening of bids on this fleet insurance was held on June 7 in the presence of insurance representatives.

The Board considered the scholarship appointments and awards were made to fill existing vacancies as follows: Taneytown District, John Fred Wooden, III, 1 year; Uniontown District, Charles Carr, 4 years; Freedom District, John H. C. Lassahn, III, 4 years; Franklin District, Walter Crouse, 1 year; Middleburg District, James Reck, 1 year; New Windsor District, Carolyn Ann Werhime, 4 years; Union Bridge District, Jean R. Fisher, 1 year; Berrett District, Ann Hamilton, 1 year and Darlene Stoffle, 1 year.

Action was taken by the Board to defer any further planning in connection with the consolidation issues in the Taneytown area. It is presumed that further discussion of this matter will be on future agendas of the Board when deemed necessary.

The organization of the Taneytown High School for 1962-63 is in progress and the Board was informed regarding these plans.

The Board took action to appoint committees consisting of the Superintendent and Board Members Hering and Pickett to explore the needs and to make recommendations regarding the construction of new school facilities in the southeastern part of the county to accommodate the increased population, in both elementary and secondary fields. It was apparent through discussion that needs will exist in both areas and a future location for a consolidated high school in the southern section of the county will also be studied.

The Board acted to approve adherence to the present policy related to integration and directed that announcement be made of the plans of the Board to integrate all first-grade pupils in September, 1963. The Superintendent reported on the approval of transfer requests made during early June and statistics regarding these transfers were made known.

The Superintendent reported briefly on progress in connection with the building projects including the William Winchester building and the North Carroll addition. Report was also made that no additional facts were in hand to be related to the proposed construction of a gymnasium at the Westminster High School location.

Authority was given to the Superintendent to make certain improvements in connection with the site and grounds at the Freedom District School; and in connection with certain grading and repairs to the athletic field at the Francis Scott Key School.

The Superintendent was further authorized to proceed with appointments to supervisory and administrative positions.

The Board was advised of certain information in hand regarding the quality of service in the field of custodial maintenance services and the Superintendent was directed to make improvements if they are within budgetary limitations.

The meeting was adjourned at 12:25 P. M.

WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

FORT BENNING, GA., (AHTNC) — Army Pvt. William M. Barnes, son of Mrs. Helen M. Barnes, 333 Davis Rd., Westminster, Md., recently completed the ten-week infantry mechanics course at The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

Barnes was trained to perform organizational maintenance on wheeled vehicles and associated accessories and equipment used by Army infantry units.

The 23-year-old soldier entered the Army in October 1960 and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. He attended Westminster High School.

"A Barclay Heights resident claims his neighbor doesn't like TV much. He just sits and glares at it all evening." — Donald S. Fellows, Saugerties (N. Y.) Catskill Mountain Star.

Kiwanis Klaxon

Under the supervision of Kiwanian Ned Musser, Principal of T. H. S., the program was in honor of the 35 graduates of the Class of 1962. Twenty-three of those graduating have already mapped their course for the future, of this 23, Eight have already enrolled for a college course, Eight will enter the "Armed Forces" and seven will attend Business Schools. This high percentage of students seeking more education or pursuing a definite objective speaks well for the work of the school.

Two young ladies read essays or articles prepared by them as a part of their study. Miss Diana Skiles, daughter of Kiwanian John Skiles, presented an Essay on a very difficult and thought provoking theme viz: "The Right Wing" or "Conservatism." The amount of research made necessary to intelligently and comprehensively present this subject will all its present day ramifications was a testimonial of the studious and thinking habits of the student.

Miss Kathy Jennings also read an essay on "Tranquil Thoughts" and as we listened to the well selected adjectives which described the beauty, tranquility and wonder of nature and natural phenomena, we began to believe that the ghost of Sir Francis Bacon with his beautiful essay and thoughts on "The Goodness of Nature" must have inspired this young lady to drift into a reverie of beautiful thoughts which removed the listener far from the crass and sordid aspects of the world into the infinity of beauty as portrayed by Divine Power and care.

Taneytown may well be proud of students whose elementary and secondary education has led them into the paths of thought so worthy, and for this school, its faculty, its students and its patrons, our wish and hope is, that its future may be as golden as is its present and past.

Feed Dealers Tour New Mill

George C. Flohr, manager of S. S. Taneytown Cooperative at Taneytown has returned from Baltimore with a group of three local (dairy, poultry, swine) farmers where they toured the new Southern States Cooperative feed mill.

The group was the guest of Southern States at a luncheon and afterwards they participated in a discussion of the cooperative's feeds and feeding programs.

The cooperative will conduct similar tours for farmers throughout the 20 county area in Virginia, Maryland, W. Virginia and Delaware, that is served by the mill. The tours will continue through June 7.

The new plant serves farmers through 67 Southern States retail outlets. It has a capacity of 75,000 tons of feed on a one-shift basis. The facility, which was placed into operation in February, can manufacture a three-ton batch of feed every five minutes.

The mill is a "batch" plant, with ingredients for each three-ton batch being electronically selected, weighed, and mechanically conveyed to the mixing equipment. Every known facility and idea to guarantee absolute control of quality in the feed have been incorporated in the mill, cooperative officials say.

Making the tour from the local area were: Claude DeBerry, Percy Bollinger and Luther Senft.
