Trip To West Coast

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ohler and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hess returned home from a four-week trip to the West Coast on Thursday evening. Places seen were the Corn Palace in Mitchell, S. D., Mt. Rushmore and Dinosaur Park, in the Black Hills and the Bad Lands of S. D.

On the Cody Road over the Big Horn Mountains we saw herds of antelope grazing.

Going into Yellowstone Park we travelled through snow drifts six to eight feet high. Snow was still on the pine trees making a beautiful sight.

In Cody we went to the Buffalo Bill Museum where the finest collection of Western art and sculpture were on display. In Yellowstone Park the snow was still drifted high in places, but it did not keep the bears, buffalo, elk, moose and deer from grazing. We found more active geysers and new ones since the earthquake last year in Northern Yellowstone.

From Yellowstone Park we went across Montana through the Couer de Eleme mining section to the Grand Coulee Dam.

We arrived in Seattle on Saturday and went to the Fair on Sunday. We found the 600 ft. Space Needle exciting with its celestial observation deck and revolving restaurant. From the top of the Needle can be seen a breath taking panorama of Seattle, Puget Sound and the grandeur of Mt. Rainer and surrounding mountains.

Some of the interesting exhibits at the Fair were the U. S. Science Building, the General Motors Exhibit, the B. M. Exhibit, Nally's Food, The Fashion Pavilion, Forestry Building, the U. S. Commerce and Industry, the Foreign Exhibits, Plaza of States, the International Fountain, Jewels of the World, Fine Arts Building and Boulevards of the World. Other exhibits present the role of science in the service of mankind and are designed to encourage youth to scientific careers, while providing entertainment to the Fair Visitor.

From the Fair we went to the beautiful Mt. Ranier, again traveling thru high snow drifts and on arriving at the Chalet we found snow drifts to the roof of the building. Skiers were still skiing on the slopes of the mountains.

From Vancouver we went up the Washington State side of the Columbia River Hi-way and came down the Oregon State side of the river. Here we went to Bonneville Dam and fish ladders and saw millions of fish in outdoor hatcheries. Coming down the mountain highway we saw the beautiful Horseshell and Multnomah Falls dropping into the Columbia River, and the beautiful Columbia River Basin from Crown Point.

Following the beautiful Pacific Coast Hi-Way we travelled to San Francisco and across the Golden Gate Bridge and the Gabrielle Hi-way to the San Simeon Mansion and Park, built by the late Wm. Randolph Hearst newspaperman and publisher. Spending many millions of dollars for a mansion to hold the many art treasures collected from all over the world. He built "The Enchanted Hill" the famous "Hearst Castle." The main house contains some hundred rooms. Topped by two Spanish Renaissance towers which house 36 carillon bells. Surrounding the main house are three guest houses.

The Neptune Pool is of gleaming marble and tile and the inside pool is of beautiful marble and terrazzo. After the death of the owner it was presented to the State of California in 1958 and opened to the public. Thousands have marveled at the combination palace and museum, the equal of which has never been seen in this country.

After going through Los Angeles the Hess's took a bus at Riverside and went to see their niece, Mrs. Paul Mannio (Phillis Hess) at La Mesa and the Ohler's went to see their niece, Mrs. Harry Bryan, at San Jaunto.

After our visit we went across the Mojave Desert to Los Vegas and the Hoover Dam. From here we went to the Majestic Zion National Park and Bryce Canyon and on thru Kaibab National Forest to Grand Canyon. While traveling through the Painted Desert to Grand Canyon we saw how the Navajo Indians lived and their primitive way of life. We found the Indian villages and hogans more numerous than on previous trips through this region.

From the Grand Canyon we went to the Petrified Forest and the Painted Desert.

At Gallup, New Mexico, the Indian Capitol of the world, where 80,000 Indians live on Reservations we were told that the Lions Club were having their 43rd annual Rodeo, clearing a year between $9 to $12,000. We attended and found it very amusing and entertaining.

From Gallup we started our homeward journey the trip was very interesting and we found lots of new dual hi-ways for the tourist driving.

Fishing Rodeo

The Jaycee Fishing Rodeo was held June 23, 1962, at the Taneytown Rod and Gun Club at 9:00 a. m. There were forty-two participants, among whom Brenda Harner caught the first fish. ## "SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

"BIG RED" at The New Theatre is truly the sweetest story ever told and is the new Walt Disney picture. It is taken in the Canadian woods and the stars are: Walter Pidgeon as a man who breeds fine dogs only for the money that is in it. But he soon changes his mind when he engages a young boy who really stars, Gilles Payant as he just has the way of all dogs. This young boy is a real blond and one of the most attractive in any show. (And he can act!) The dog who really stars is an Irish Setter and this French Canadian boy is devoted to her. The little new born puppies are seen and the only thing that went amiss was the growth of these puppies in just two weeks! However, you and the youngsters will be thrilled with it all. Don't miss it. The crowded audience on Saturday really applauded.

How wonderful it is to hear the band Concerts in the cool evenings in different parts of the city under the leadership of that graceful, Mr. Gerald Eyth.

Don't keep repeating how hot it is for after all you know that old saying, "No one can do anything about it!" Dress along with the weather, sip slowly a nice cool drink, relax as much as you can. Don't forget the chopped ice in the canvas bag with either two lemons or two limes in a big T A L L glass. Just relax by lying flat on the floor. Don't over-work as I did one day last week by doing the laundry, cleaning every room in the house and giving Prince Ballantyne a bath and then going out for a very long drive in the late hot afternoon!

How wonderful it was sitting in the meeting of The Salvation Army Auxiliary at the Belvedere last Tuesday. Those women really work hard for the Salvation Army.

Well, folks, the "Robin Living Fence" is thriving beautifully and word came from Cal. that the ones which did not thrive will be replaced by Air-Mail. Nice? So much for that one for it means very little money spent for a fence plus all the beauty for years instead of erecting any other type of a fence and think of the cost of the latter! Will keep you posted.

Ladies, there is still nothing like "FELS" for your laundry no matter how many other new ideas come out as a soap and the grand aroma after such a good homey smell!

Met a lady recently and she related to me the sweetest love story which panned out beautifully. She said she was twenty. One day, electrical work was being done and the Electrician starting just like this, "Don't tell me that you are doing all that ironing?" She answered that she certainly was but the iron now and then goes back on her work as something is wrong with it. So he quickly replied that he would repair it free of an evening sometime and to this she was most grateful. He sure did come back the next evening and asked her for a date to which she quickly said, "Oh no, I never leave this place for I do anything they ask me to do here, rather than go out to work!" She then was eighteen years of age. Finally, he made excuses to return which he did repairing odd jobs for free. He asked one of the Matrons if he could have the pleasure of taking out this young girl for two evenings a week. That kept up for two years until there was a grand wedding at the home and that was 31 years ago and as she put it to me, "He is the most wonderful man in the world!"

Then, in the paper I read the other day about a couple in England who were celebrating their 80th Wedding Anniversary. He 102 and she 92 and when asked about their happiness this is what Mr. James Burgess replied, "I've always worn the trousers in this house and there is no other way!"

And who do you think is going to be in the movies? None other than that nice John Charles Daly of the famous, "What's My Line?" The scene will be taken in Washington, D. C.

Don't get peeved, Mrs. Housewife when you open the door to any religious person. Just in one day and a half, the Presbyterian Minister's wife called to ask about sending the children to their "Summer Bible School" then two Laymen of the Baptist church making a survey as to the number of Baptists in the location and lastly but not least, The Jehovah's Witnesses (and they surely do know their Bible!)

Well folks, have a grand week-end, until next week D. V. when I will be seeing you with "Doris Day" in "That Touch of Mink!" and a P. S. Will be trying "SEGO" beginning July 1 and will tell you how it pans out!

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Congressman James A. Haley, Democrat from Florida, says: "The House Appropriations Committee has come forth with a statistic which should frighten every man, woman and reasonably mature child in this country. It certainly frightens me. This is the Appropriations statement: Interest on the public debt now is costing the taxpayers $17,960 every minute of the day. I will not even attempt to compute what that amounts to per hour or per day, but I will point out that the interest on the public debt now has become the largest single item in our Federal budget except for the defense appropriation."

Railroads were the safest way to travel last year, as in previous years. In fact, a rail traveler could have covered more than one billion miles without a fatal accident—equivalent to 12,520 journeys of America's astronauts.

Eventual results of European Common Market policies will create additional sales for a number of farm commodities, while immediate results may discourage trade in certain commodities, according to the Master of the National Grange, Exports of U. S. commodities not extensively produced in Common Market countries, such as cotton and oil seeds, will be increased materially. Others which compete with domestic production of member countries will not fair so well.

Secretary of the Treasury Dillon announced that new depreciation schedules for business will be announced soon. Depreciable lives of the equipment affected will be significantly shorter, on the average, than those now prescribed. Additionally, he went on to the new guidelines and standards will be designed to achieve these three major objectives: "First, simplicity—for the taxpayer and the tax administrators. Second, objectivity—to minimize controversy about depreciation schedules. Third, uniformity—to assure even-handed application of the new rules to all businesses in similar circumstances, regardless of their location or which revenue agent they deal with."

Some 40 million people will take to the water this year in pleasure boats. The American Medical association stresses certain basic precautions that all boaters should know and observe. Among them are these: Don't overload the craft. Don't stand up or change seats while the boat is underway. Watch your wake—waves can cause damage. Avoid boating too close to swimmers, fishermen and water skiers. Don't jump or dive from a moving boat. Be sure everyone aboard wears a life jacket. Don't venture too far from shore. And if your boat overturns, stay with it until you're picked up.

The marketing vice president of the American Oil Co. says that service station operators will have to rely increasingly on tires, batteries, and automotive accessories for profitable operations in the future. As he sees it, "given the present competitive circumstances and those likely to persist for years to come, no dealer and no jobber can prosper on gasoline sales alone."

Cash dividend payments to common shareholders of companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange in the first quarter of 1962 state a new high for the 20th consecutive year. Total payments for the three months came to $2,655,678,710, a gain of 6.4 per cent over disbursements made by the same companies in the comparable period a year earlier.

SUMMER SPORTS

Operating a power boat is thrilling... but it can be hazardous if you're blinded by the glare of sunlight on water or sand. Protect your precious vision by wearing properly made sunglasses.

The American Optometric Association reminds us, "Darkness is no substitute for quality in sunglasses." Treat yourself to properly ground and polished dark lenses, which 1) shield eyes from glare, 2) transmit only useful light to eyes, 3) screen out irritating ultra-violet and infra-red rays, and 4) give clear, undistorted vision.

For safety's sake, don't participate in summer sports without your prescription eyeglasses clear or dark - if you normally wear corrective lenses. You can wear contact lenses while swimming... dark glasses for sunshine sports like tennis... and a comfortable wide-brimmed hat to shield your eyes when early morning or late afternoon sunlight is not too bright. With care, your eyes will see you through a life-time of fun.

THE JOHN FLEAGLE REUNION

The third annual Reunion recently resumed from the large and full fledged one of a generation ago of the Fleagle Clan was held at Baust Church, June 23rd, with about 75 relatives present. Those present represented local places as Taneytown, Frederick, Hagerstown, Mayberry, Mt. Airy, Westminster and Baltimore, as well as Harrisburg, Providence and Washington, D. C.

There was a morning business session, a box lunch, followed by an interesting full program with a roll call requiring family reports. The program was of a musical nature with the Fleagle Clan song led by Rena Fleagle Kennedy and all members joining in the choruses. A piano solo then was given by Miss Peggy Fleagle of Mayberry. A quartette consisting of a well selected number, a solo, "Lord God of Love, Let Us Have Peace," and community singing led by Mrs. Kennedy was given while the younger male element played baseball. Later, all were invited to view the fine colored slides shown by Lt.

Col. John Rogers Fleagle and wife of Hagerstown of their complete European and African trip. The children especially enjoyed the refreshment period of ice cream and cold drinks, following the program. The Historian, Mrs. Miriam Linker, of Baltimore; gave authentic proven facts of the family's historical life, character work and attainments traced back before the eight generations lived in this country. This information was most satisfying to those of this generation wishing to make the most of themselves and to live up to their ancestors. This information gained thru the years as well as recently by research work done in Harrisburg Court House, New York Univ. Library and Congressional Library in Washington, D. C., has been most rewarding.

The new officers elected were as follows: President, Arnold N. Fleagle, of Frederick; Vice-President, Rena F. Fleagle, of Mt. Airy; Secretary, Leroy Taylor of Baltimore; Treasurer, Stoner Fleagle, of Mayberry; Historian, Carol Mac Tammany of Providence, R. I.

C. & P. TELEPHONE REPORTS

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland has approved during the past 12 months expenditures totaling more than $56,000,000, according to L. Mercer Smith, vice president of the company.

This total includes $12,300,000 authorized in the board's regular meeting on June 25.

The largest single amount approved in the June meeting was $8,300,000 for a number of projects throughout the state for the construction and expansion of telephone facilities.

For Anne Arundel County four projects at a total cost of $2,369,000 were approved. These include the provision of dial switching equipment for the dial centers now under construction at St. Margaret's and Mayo, placing cable along Ritchie Highway for additional voice channels between Annapolis and Severna Park and the extension of the outside wire and cable network to the new dial center at St. Margaret's.

Approval was granted for the expenditure of $191,300 for several projects in the western part of the state. These provide for a building addition at New Windsor, and additional lines and associated dial switching equipment at New Market, New Windsor and Smithsburg. Outside wire and cable will be placed to meet customer demands for service in the Williams Road section of Cumberland, the Church Hill and Wolfsville sections of Myersville and provide inter-city trunks between Frederick, Damascus and Mt. Airy.

For southern Maryland an allocation of $170,800 was approved to make provision for anticipated growth in the northern and southern sections of the Prince Frederick exchange and provide for growth and the rebuilding of pole lines along route 5 and the rerouting of cable in the vicinity of the Waldorf central office.

An appropriation of $166,200 was granted to make outside wire and cable available to meet customer demands for additional service in the fast growing eastern shore exchanges of Easton, Greensboro, Pocomoke and Princess Anne.

To meet the continuing demand for service in the rapidly expanding Maryland area suburban to Washington approval was given to spend $131,500 to provide additional central office lines at Bethesda, $53,700 to place cable in the Montrose Road section of Rockville and $118,000 to furnish additional inter-office trunks between the Riggs Road and Georgia wire centers.

Several projects costing in excess of $250,000 were approved to add dial and other central office equipment at various central office throughout Baltimore City as well as provide dial switching equipment for the new Mercy Hospital and cable to serve a housing project in the northwest section of the downtown area.

LOW-CALORIE FISH BROIL FOR TRIM FIGURES

Many fine fish come out of our oceans, rivers, and lakes, but calorie counters will appreciate the lean ones such as sole, flounder, haddock, halibut, ocean perch, cod, and red snapper. In addition, the cholesterol-conscious should know that the oils present in fish are largely of the unsaturated kind which are believed to prevent or lessen the accumulation of cholesterol in the blood. (Cholesterol deposits in the walls of blood vessels are responsible for the condition known as "hardening of the arteries"). With most everyone interested in low-calorie foods these days, the following suggestions from the National Fisheries Institute are especially welcome:

LOW-CALORIE FISH BROIL

Select lean fish fillets cut thin lengthwise. To save calories, the broiler pan need not be greased; the moisture from the fish will prevent sticking. Preheat the pan and arrange fish in the hot pan. Cover with a low-calorie topping, and broil 2 to 3 inches from the source of heat—4 minutes if fish is thin; 8 minutes, turning once, if fish is thicker than flounder, for example. Fish is done when it flakes easily when tested with a fork.

These toppings are created to add a maximum of zest with a minimum of calories. The first three toppings are pictured above.

SAVORY CARROT TOPPING

Sprinkle during last three minutes of cooking with fish herb mixture (or your own favorite combination) and a little grated fresh carrot for color.

PAPRIKA SAUCE TOPPING

Brush with a thin layer of Worcestershire sauce; sprinkle with paprika.

PICKLE-PIMENTO TOPPING

Cover during last three minutes of cooking with a mixture of minced pickle, pimiento, onion, salt and pepper.

SPICY TOPPING

Spread with a thin layer of catsup or chili sauce (fewer calories than butter).

Of Interest To Farmers

Lieutenant J. P. Novicki, Commander of the Maryland State Police Westminster Barrack, wishes to remind the public that the time of year is here when an increased number of farm tractors and trailers will be using the highways, hauling their crops to the canning factories. The laws covering these vehicles is as follows:

Sec. 270 — It is a misdemeanor for any person to drive or move or for the owner to cause or knowingly permit to be driven or moved on any highway any vehicle or combination of vehicles which is in such unsafe condition as to endanger any person, or which does not contain those parts or is not at all times equipped with such lamps and other equipment in proper condition and adjustment as required in this Article, or for any person to do any act forbidden or fail to perform any act required under this Article.

In addition — Sec. 276 — All vehicles, including animal drawn vehicles and including those referred to in Sec. 270 not hereinbefore specifically required to be equipped with lamps, shall at the times specified in Sec. 271 hereof be equipped with at least one lighted lamp or lantern exhibiting a white light visible from a distance of 300 feet to the front of such vehicle and with a lamp or lantern exhibiting a red light visible from a distance of 300 feet to the rear.

Section 271 states that lights are needed when an object is not clearly discernible for a distance of 300 feet. Penalty — fine up to $100.00 and costs.

Radio Station Honored

WFMD, Frederick, Md., was selected recently as the subject for a special Voice of America broadcast.

The program in which the 26-year-old station was featured is one of a series on "Rural America." The object of the "Voice" broadcast was to illustrate to European and African listeners how a typical non-metropolitan radio station serves the interests of its listeners.

Eugene Peterson, who conducts a daily English language for V. O. A., spent a day at WFMD getting samples of the community service efforts which the station makes. In an interview with WFMD station manager Morton M. Siegel, Mr. Peterson learned of the dependence of a non-urban community, such as Frederick, upon its radio station. Whenever the region receives a snowfall, for example, the community radio station is the only means of finding out whether schools are open and rural school buses are running, whether roads and business activities are closed, etc.

The interview was used as a feature of a Voice of America program. It will also be incorporated into an hour-long documentary, tentatively entitled "Small Town, U. S. A."

WFMD is a CBS affiliate operating at 930 kilocycles with a full-time power of 1000 watts, soon to be increased to 5000 watts.

Broadsides Is War of 1812 Game

The 150th Anniversary of the War of 1812 is commemorated by an exciting new game, "Broadsides," which bases competition on replays of the celebrated naval battles, that determined its course. This historically oriented game by Milton Bradley is accompanied by a booklet on the War of 1812 by American Heritage editors. Playing pieces are ships, and guns must hit broadside to score in approved naval fashion.

This is one of many new games with great educational value. "Battlecry," for example, bases competition on replaying the Civil War. "Stratego" is a fascinating new game of strategy that derived inspiration from Napoleon's time—playing pieces are field marshals. "Go to the Head of the Class" is a classic game favorite with questions keyed to three different age levels. "Summit" is a game of global strategy that gives players an understanding of all phases of the cold war.

Welcome Common Market

Internationally-Minded Business Men See Powerful Ally in Economic War

Of particular significance in today's economy is the influx of many forward-thinking American industrialists who no longer consider U. S. business as being confined to these shores. Among the new thought leaders is young, 41, Sherwood H. Egbert, who recently declared "Three-mile limit thinkers among business leaders are not serving the best interests of their country or stockholders."

Recalling the accomplishments of Hospital Ship Hope, a people-to-people project, prompted Egbert's suggestion of recalling from the mothball fleet another ship to be christened "Project Freedom."

"I see 'Project Freedom' as a dramatic way to show the peoples of Asia, Africa and South America the meaning and fruits of freedom and free enterprise," Egbert continued. "Supported by private funds, this floating exposition would be a graphic picture of human progress under a free government. Its exhibits would illustrate the workings of free enterprise, free unions and collective bargaining, free worship and a free press."

URGES TAX REFORM

The Studebaker-Packard president stated that no single question before Congress is more important than tax reform to promote economic health and growth of America. "It is vital that job-creating investments be encouraged," he added. The way to bring this encouragement about is to provide realistic depreciation allowances comparable with those enjoyed by competing industries in Western Europe. Then we'll see earnings plowed back for needed plant expansion and new equipment.

"Management, for its part, must step up to new, stiffer competition from abroad with every resource at its command. It must work all the harder to improve its products. On the one hand, it should learn from those imports that are successful with the American consumer. On the other hand, it must meet the demands of foreign consumers, whose tastes frequently don't coincide with our own—a truth only recently registered in the automotive market. Beyond this, we must build on our own promotions and sales skills—in which Americans have no superiors—and do an even better and more precise job of selling."

"You can take foreign competition lying down—or you can grow with the challenge," Egbert concluded.

STRESSES 4 POINTS

Highlights of his address:

1. A proposal to convert a mothballed freighter, with private funds, into an exposition ship called "Project Freedom," which would visit the world's ports displaying scores of exhibits demonstrating the methods and fruits of free government and free enterprise.

2. Recommended that businessmen cooperate with school administrators in increasing student understanding of the workings of the free enterprise system.

3. A proposal for re-evaluation of foreign aid programs and termination of aid to nations which "talk neutral and act pro-Soviet."

4. Proposed antitrust laws be updated to bring "monopoly power" in labor, as well as in business, under "proper control."

Anytime is Vacation Time in New York

It's a city to be visited. More than 5 million will visit Manhattan this season alone. There are dozens of ways to see it, be in it, get to know it. Pat and Linda, two young secretaries, found an inexpensive method: they chose a theater tour. The tour included three nights at New York's newest hotel—

The Summit—plus three separate Broadway shows, a United Nations tour and even a trip to the Latin Quarter for $83 each, not including air fare. Extra nights were $12.60 and they did stay longer!

It was Pat and Linda's first sojourn into Manhattan, and there was a bon-voyage party the night before their Astro-Jet left for New York. Friends planned an easy-to-serve buffet supper! They gave the party a metropolitan air with travel posters, and set the table with modern melamine dinnerware that is so popular with Manhattan apartment dwellers.

Both girls had definite ideas of what they wanted to do once they arrived. They viewed Manhattan from the top of Rockefeller Center, from the top of The Summit, and from the lake in Central Park. They rode subways and took buses. And they had their hair done in Manhattan, a town that harbors more good hairdressers per square block than any other in the world.

As for clothes, Pat and Linda knew that all this business about black dresses in Manhattan is something of a legend. Dark cottons and silks are perfectly correct. But you CAN wear a light cotton dress on a hot summer day, so long as you wear black shoes, carry a black bag and white gloves. Pat and Linda followed these instructions and felt like natives after the first day . . . once they had established that there IS an uptown, a downtown, a cross-town and a Fifth Avenue in the middle.

If you want to dress like a New Yorker, you'll wear black patents or beige calf shoes. Something to watch: new white patents, and whether they take fashion's fancy. You won't need a hat in Manhattan this summer, but you'll need plenty of hair spray. New York's humidity is the automatic end of more coiffures than anyone ever tried to count. So pack hair rollers, wave set and spray right along with your light cottons and silks and your dark cottons.

You'll find that traveling is easiest when you pack one suitcase and carry a cosmetic bag. Use a piece of cardboard cut to the exact size of the suitcase for a divider and shelf. Put shoes and handbags at the back, on the bottom, then tuck lingerie all around. Your dresses, layered with tissue paper, travel flat on the cardboard, then lift out easily when you arrive.

Young At Heart Senior Americans Take Special Tours

Members of the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association gather in New York prior to sailing for Europe for a leisurely paced tour arranged by their non-profit organizations.

Thousands of Senior Americans eagerly desert rocking chairs, television sets and babysitting chores to see Europe on guided tours specially planned with the older person in mind. Two national non-profit organizations representing more than half a million senior citizens sponsor these guided tours to Europe.

Dr. Ethel Percy Andrus, 79-year-old president and founder of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and the National Retired Teachers Association (NRTA), explains why this travel program was inaugurated:

"We received thousands of letters from our members asking for low-cost, trouble-free European travel. Our people are as 'young-at-heart' and adventurous as young folks . . . and as eager to explore Europe's varied treasures. However they were held back by high cost, lack of companions, and red tape in making arrangements. Our non-profit tours overcome these worries. This is our fourth season, and we'll pamper a record number of members, and friends with our red carpet treatment."

AARP and NRTA tours sail for Europe throughout the spring, summer and fall. Each group has its own experienced tour director, (usually a European graduate student) who stays with the group throughout the trip. In major cities, special guides are also used. As an example of the special planning with older persons in mind, the modern buses used for the tours have been fitted with extra steps to make travel easier for older people. One of the tour directors, a 28-year-old graduate of Heidelberg University, stated: "I am constantly amazed by the energy, high spirits and intense interest of these older tourists. They're far more enthusiastic than younger ones."

A typical NRTA-AARP tour lasts 51 days, including a stay in New York before and after sailing. Most popular tour is the Grand Circle, embracing England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Monaco and France. There are also tours to Scandinavia, British Isles, and Spain, Italy, Greece and Israel. NRTA-AARP Travel Service headquarters are located at 80 William Street, N.Y. 38. N.Y.

Simply Elegant Fruit Ring

One of summer's eating joys, California Midsummer cantaloupe is spotlighted in "Regal Fruit Ring." Serve this elegant, easy-to-make gelatin mold as salad, dessert or accompaniment for barbecued meats. Refreshing as a summer breeze is the combination of naturally sweet California cantaloupe and fresh strawberries in lemon gelatin flavored with pineapple-grapefruit juice.

Most cantaloupes in the nation's markets during July and August are from California's sun-gilded San Joaquin Valley. You can identify these vine-ripened beauties by their clean stem ends, high, well-defined, close net and warm beige color. Rich in Vitamin A and a good source of Vitamin C, California Midsummer cantaloupes are remarkably low in calories — only 35 to 40 in an average half-shell serving.

REGAL FRUIT RING

- 1 California cantaloupe
- 1 quart pineapple-grapefruit juice
- 2 packages (3 oz. each) lemon gelatin
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 basket fresh strawberries

Cut cantaloupe lengthwise into halves. Scoop out seeds; cut into 12 wedges and cut off rind. Heat 2 cups pineapple-grapefruit juice to boiling, and dissolve gelatin in it. Stir in remaining cold juice, lemon juice and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Coat 2-quart mold with 1/4 cup gelatin. Stand cantaloupe wedges up in mold. Place washed hulled strawberries between cantaloupe slices. Fill center of ring with remaining berries. Spoon gelatin over berries and cantaloupe. If tips of cantaloupe wedges extend above gelatin trim them off and press into gelatin. Chill until firm. Unmold to serve. If desired, garnish with cantaloupe balls, strawberries and salad greens. Serves 12.

Eye-Openers

CONTACT LENSES

Few people know that Renaissance artist Leonardo de Vinci was also a student of optics . . . in 1508 he drew and described a tiny lens which looked amazingly like present-day contact lenses! But it wasn't until 1827 that Sir John Herschel, British scientist, detailed the modern concept of such lenses.

As recently as 10 years ago, a fitting required having a cast made of the eye, trying different liquids between eye and lens, and wearing lenses that covered the eye completely. Many wearers gave up in discomfort and discouragement, returned to full-time use of their regular prescription eyeglasses.

Most of today's wearers are fitted with a corneal type lens . . . covering just the colored part of the eye. Invisible to others, comfortable for unlimited hours, they also offer protection to the eye in some circumstances. Write to the American Optometric Association, 4030 Chouteau Avenue, St. Louis 10, Missouri, for additional information.

Leave Me Behind . . . Never!

THERE'S NO NEED to deprive the family of your dog's company during vacation time. Wise dog owners know how to make the family pet welcome at motels and hotels, how to keep him from getting car sick and what's the best travel food and equipment. A booklet of dog-care rules entitled "Traveling With Your Dog" provides sensible advice plus special tips for the family who doesn't want to leave Fido behind. Included are regulations for dog travel in foreign countries. The booklet is free on request from the Purina Dog Care Center, Checkerboard Square, St. Louis 1, Missouri.

Wonderful World by Waldman

The America's Cup Race

In 1851, New York Yacht Club members built a 101-foot schooner — the America — and sailed her to England where she passed the fastest British yachts in a race around the Isle of Wight and won the Hundred-Guinea-Cup!

Re-named the America's Cup, the trophy was brought to the U.S. and the most famous series of international sailing matches was born — the America's Cup Yacht Races! Fastest recorded speed for the races: slightly over 13 knots!

Among boating fans the nation over who set their courses for cooling refreshment after an exciting match, Seagram's Extra Dry Gin takes the prize! It's the sailing season's first mate!

Discontinued in 1937 — and resumed again in the '50's — the America's Cup Race will be held in September 1962 with Australia as the opponent. Even now, elimination races are being held to determine which sleek yacht will carry the colors against the Aussie adversary.

23 Years Deaf
Lesson for July 8, 1962.

THE woods were full of prophets back in times when the nation of Judah was plunging to its doom. For every single true prophet there

Dr. Foreman Readers of the Bible are inclined to blame the people of Israel for not paying attention to the prophets who spoke to them in the name and with the message of God. We think we could not have been so foolish as those people were.

But we can't throw too many stones. We have to remember that the true prophets were in a small minority, and also that the false prophets said what people wanted to hear. Isn't it true today that we would rather listen to cheerful predictions than gloomy ones?

What is God Doing?

In times of deep trouble, such as war or other disaster, a common question especially among religious people is: What is God doing? Why doesn't he stop these disasters? Now there are some calamities which we can be saved from only if we ourselves do something about it. God will not save us from just any jam we care to get into. Those long-ago Israelites, for example, had plenty of warning. Jeremiah and others too had told them and told them again, just what was going to be, unless the nation radically changed its ways. Read the terrible 19th chapter, where Jeremiah predicts that these elegant city people will end by becoming cannibals, out of sheer desperate starvation. God says: "I will break this city so that it cannot be mended." Through Jeremiah

God draws an accurate picture of exactly how God will bring this to pass.

Why No Believers?

Twenty-three years is a long time. Jeremiah began to preach when he was only a youth, let us say around twenty or so. He was a middle-aged man when finally the storm came. But in 23 years no one had listened. Yet (said Jeremiah) though "I have spoken persistently unto you, you have neither listened, nor inclined your ears to hear."—that is to say, they hadn't heard and didn't want to hear the truth.

Why this fatal, this suicidal, willful deafness on the nation's part? It was partly, as already said, that they did not like to hear what they considered gloomy, doomy predictions. They liked to think that if they were just cheerful enough, circumstances would change to match their mood. But there was something else more deep-reaching. Jeremiah made it plain over and over (so often that he himself wearied of his own preaching and wished he could stop, even wished he had never been born)—made it plain that the nation was not such that it could make a valid claim on God. You could put it in two sentences: The people said, "We are God's people, he won't let us get hurt; while Jeremiah said, "God's people? You don't act like it!"

Justice!

What was needed, in God's sight, was not a change in the place of worship. King Josiah had "reformed" the state religion that far; but a hypocrite's worship is just as distasteful to the God of righteousness in one place as another. In one of Jeremiah's famous sermons (chap. 7) he warns against bragging that they had the one true Temple. What God really desires is a people who practice justice between man and man.

The voice of many a preacher summons proud America in these days to repent. But now as then it is a mistake to think of sin as just personal faults. The sins of society, dishonesty and greed in political and social and economic life, are more far-reaching and just as fatal in undermining a nation's character and strength, as are purely individual sins. Let no one claim that social justice is merely "political"! To say that, you will have to be as deaf to Jeremiah now as his doomed people were then.

HOW TO HELP YOUR HOUSEKEEPER

Whether your domestic helper is a full-time housekeeper, a once-a-week maid or even a friend who helps at a party, a wise employer or hostess makes certain that she can work efficiently and happily. The following practical tips are from the manufacturers of Tender Leaf Tea, the firm that has just announced the "Win Mrs. Webley" contest — a unique contest which offers as grand prize the services of a full-time housekeeper for a full year.

- Here are their suggestions: (1) Provide proper and sufficient equipment for cleaning or serving. (2) Explain exactly what is wanted. (3) When instructions are given by note, make them brief. (4) Request only a reasonable amount of work within a given time. (5) Remove personal clutter such as clothing, newspapers and mail. (6) If lunch is provided, suggest what may be eaten. (7) When children or animals are present, do not back down on discipline. (8) Allow privacy and the privilege of working without constant supervision. (9) Show appreciation for a job well done.

Barbecue Boon

THE BARBECUE CHEF is rescued from the need to expose his hands to the heat of the coals when manipulating the barbecue spit by a new convenience, Swing-out, a feature of Structo's Grid-Master barbecue grills. Swing-out, a completely new concept of barbecuing convenience, swings away from the hood of the grill on a hinge mount to permit easy removal of the fowl or roast without exposing the hands to the heat from the coals. Then it snaps back into place when needed for rotisserie cooking.

Cool Car. Cool Driver.
Thousands of motorists will make the trek this year to see "Old Faithful", the famed geyser that spurts hot water and steam in Yellowstone National Park. For many, the big steam bath will look mighty familiar, since the do-it-yourself version is right under the hood of their old faithful car.

Nearly all cars of the American road are water-cooled. That is, the engine heat is carried off by circulating water which passes through the radiator, giving the heat to the open air. Deprive your car of water, or be careless about cooling system care, and you will turn it into a hot-headed blow-top. These may be seen lined up along the side of the road on any hot, traffic-jammed weekend.

In the North, the biggest offenders are those who neglect to drain their winter alcohol, which boils off at a lower temperature than water. Draining anti-freeze, however, is the beginning of cooling system maintenance, not the end.

To prolong cooling system life and to keep rolling along on the hottest days you should turn your car over regularly

"Lime Fluff Pie"

Pretty to look at, divine to taste, and easy-as-pie to make is "Lime Fluff Pie". The no-bake crust and filling were created for each other to give a cool, refreshingly different flavor blend. The crust is made of finely crushed round buttery crackers mixed with sugar, nutmeg, grated lemon rind and butter, plus whole crackers for a prettily scalloped finish. Refrigerate, then fill with a simple filling of lime gelatin and whipped cream. Decorate with candy shot and silver dragees. Here's how to make it:

- Lime Fluff Pie
- |                                                              |                                    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 1/2 cups finely crushed Hi Ho Crackers (36 whole crackers) | 1/2 cup melted butter, 1 stick     |
| 1 tablespoon sugar                                           | 12 whole Hi Ho Crackers            |
| 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg                                          | 1 package lime gelatin dessert     |
| 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind                               | 1 cup boiling water                |
|                                                              | 1 cup heavy cream, stiffly whipped |

Crush crackers by rolling between two sheets of waxed paper. Combine with sugar, nutmeg, lemon rind and melted butter. Pat evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Press 12 whole crackers around side of plate to make scalloped edge; refrigerate. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water and refrigerate. When mixture has reached consistency of unbeaten eggwhite, beat until slightly foamy and fold into stiffly whipped cream. (If small particles of gelatin remain, this only adds color to pie and does not prevent setting.) Pour into cracker crust, swirl the top with a spoon and refrigerate until needed. Remove from refrigerator 10 to 20 minutes before serving. Garnish with silver dragees or candy shot, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

TOASTED COCONUT PUDDING AND FRUIT MAKES TEMPTING PARFAIT

Local markets are offering colorful arrays of fresh fruits and the bounty will become greater as the season continues. In addition to serving the fruits alone, homemakers are looking for new and simple ways of presenting the fruits in tempting desserts.

A quick and appealing dessert is the combination of fresh fruits with the new Toasted Coconut Instant Pudding now reaching the market here. The new pudding has a smooth, creamy consistency with a crunch of toasted coconut. In combination with fruits, you have a dessert which hints of the tropics and offers a different flavor dessert treat. Any fresh fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, bananas and oranges make tempting parfaits when layered with the Toasted Coconut Instant Pudding.

Because the toasted coconut pudding is an instant pudding it is prepared in minutes. Beat the pudding with milk for 1 minute and let set for 5 minutes and it is ready to serve. Because it is part of a newly improved line of Royal puddings and pie fillings, it has a new "pre-cooking" process that gives a "home cooked" flavored and consistency, free of bubbles which have identified instant puddings in the past.

The fruit and pudding combination may be served simply or layered in individual parfaits. Or, for a spectacular dessert, serve the dessert in a tall glass bowl or wide apothecary jar.

STRAWBERRY COCONUT PARFAIT
(Makes 5 servings)

- |                                                 |                                                   |
|-------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|
| 1 package Royal Toasted Coconut Instant Pudding | 1 cup sliced fresh strawberries; sugared to taste |
| 2 cups cold milk                                | Whipped cream                                     |

Measure cold milk into mixing bowl. Add Toasted Coconut Pudding and beat with egg beater until well blended, about 1 minute. Let stand until set, about 5 minutes. Spoon half the strawberries into 5 parfait glasses. Spoon the coconut pudding over the strawberries. Top with remaining strawberries and a spoonful of whipped cream.

Note: a 10-ounce package of frozen strawberries, thawed, may be used.

VISIT NEW FEED MIXING MILL

Geo. Flohr, manager of Southern States Taneytown Cooperative at Taneytown Md., has returned from Baltimore with a group of four local (dairy, poultry, swine) farmers where they toured the New Southern States Cooperative feed mill.
The group was the guest of Southern States at a luncheon and afterwards they participated in a discussion of the cooperative's feeds and feeding programs. The cooperative conducted similar tours for farmers throughout the 20 county area in Va., Md., W. Va., and Del., that is served by the mill.
The new plant serves farmers through 67 Southern States retail outlets. It has a capacity of 75,000 tons of feed on a one-shift basis. The facility, which was placed into operation in February, can manufacture a three-ton batch of feed every five minutes.

The mill is a "batch" plant, with ingredients for each three-ton batch being electronically selected, weighed, and mechanically conveyed to the mixing equipment. Every known facility and idea to guarantee absolute control of quality in the feed have been incorporated in the mill, cooperative officials say.
Making the tour from the local area were: Paul Brower, Earl Welty, Dave Hess, Sam Harner.
