FREDERICK DAY

The "Souvenir Plate Dinner" to be held in the Francis Scott Key Hotel, Frederick, Md., as one of the features of "Frederick Day," Sept. 12, has an unusual twist. The dinner gets to keep the plate.

Frederick Day is a part of the Civil War Centennial observances currently being held in Washington and Frederick counties. The day's activities include, in addition to the Souvenir Plate Dinner, final judging of contests, re-enactment of Lee's Lost Order and General Reno's visit with Barbara Fritchie on his way to the Battle of South Mountain, a gigantic parade, and a Centennial Ball.

The souvenir plate dinner, 5 to 8 p. m., will be served on a large (10") diameter plate decorated in color with pictures, under glaze, of many historic Civil War points of interest.

Final judging of contests has been scheduled for the morning and the other activities for the afternoon and evening.

Re-enactment of Lee's Lost Order will depict the scene in which Private B. W. Mitchell found an envelope containing three cigars and Lee's Special Orders No. 191. The orders were turned over to General McClellan and they enabled him to know specifically the plans of General Lee. McClellan gave orders to strike immediately, before the Confederates could concentrate, and by morning Union troops were marching towards Crampton's and Turner's Gaps in South Mountain.

After his visit with Barbara Fritchie, General Jesse L. Reno, commanding the Ninth Corps in the Battle of South Mountain, was killed while fighting for possession of the ridges on either side of Fox's Gap.

The big parade will be handled by the Frederick Jaycees, under the direction of Parade Chairman Harry A. Harper, and will consist of marching units, costumed men, women, and children, floats, bands, and representatives of schools, businesses, industries, civic and service clubs, and other organizations.

The Official Antietam-South Mountain Centennial Ball will be held in the National Guard Armory. All arrangements for the ball have been made by the Frederick B. P. O. Elks No. 648, with Centennial Ball Chairman Robert Bowlius in charge.

Meeting of Taney Annex Improvement Association

A meeting of the Taney Annex Improvement Association was held recently at the home of Jesse Wimer. The election of the Board of Governors and Officers for the organization for the coming year was held. Elected as Governors were: Ned C. Musser, Leroy Myers, Jesse Wimer, J. Robert Waddell, Wayne Baumgardner, Lyle Stutzman and Francis Lookingbill. Officers elected were as follows: Francis E. Lookingbill, president, Ned C. Musser, vice president; Leroy W. Myers, treasurer, and J. Robert Waddell, secretary.

Ned Musser, retiring president reported on the progress the association had made in the past year. He also reported on the numerous meetings that had been attended by officials of the organization in regard to improving the road, pointing out that the county commissioners would not take steps to improve the road leading into the development.

He gave a lengthy report on meetings which he had attended with the Mayor and City Council of Taneytown in regard to annexing the development into the town. He stated that the officials of Taneytown had a survey of the area made and these officials had stated that the report of this survey would be revealed in about a month after its completion, however, six months or more have passed and still the report has not been received. It was concluded that if the area had all the improvements needed that the Mayor and City Council would not hesitate to the annexation but that since there are no improvements it appears that these officials are very reluctant to have this development become part of their town.

The treasurer report was given by Mr. Jesse Wimer as follows:

Income during period June 1961 to August 1962
Dues $2.00 per member.....	$ 48.00
Contributions toward road repair	113.00
Total income	$161.00
Disbursements
Stationery, cards, etc.	$ 4.00
Snow removed	4.00
Stone for road	130.00
Grader operator	5.00
Total disbursements	$143.00
Balance in account	$ 18.00

The above report is money which is necessary for tax payers in Carroll County, living on a public road, to pay in addition to taxes in order that they are able to leave their homes and return by automobile.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

As I type this Column, the lone Cricket is singing his song and somehow it is delightful to my ears. He must be around the bushes underneath the window.

Ladies, many of those "Bird" Cage hats are to be worn again this winter and not just for evening wear. They are trimmed around the crown with fur. And here is something which surprised me. I went into a department store to purchase shirts or vests as some call them and the saleslady at the underwear department gave me such a queer look and said almost shockingly, "Why, no store sells shirts anymore, as women have not worn them for a long time!" That was shocking to me and I was told the same thing in each store! Ugh! "Those wonderful 'Hush Puppies' are in now for the Fall and selling at the Hecht-May Co. The Hess Shoe Store and Hahn's Shoe store. They are by Wolverine, made of the finest brushed Pigskin and are Casual Shoes and the most comfortable.

Soon all the new TV shows will be coming on and your favorite Comedienne, Carol Burnett who will be with C. B. S. for a long term contract, although she will be on shows as a guest now and then.

Yesterday, while dusting in one of the rooms, I lifted a lamp which was top of a chest of drawers and suddenly there was a fire all the way on the cord and at the plug in the wall. I quickly snatched it out of the wall socket but thought I would ask one of the men over the 'phone at the Fire Engine House about it and he said, "We will be right down!" I said, "Don't bring that engine with you!" He replied quickly, "We will have to lady, for fear there may be trouble in the wall and no one could come there as to one of us as we are not permitted to do so!" Well, that clanging engine came down Liberty Rd. and when those men rushed in my house all I did was apologise! They examined everything and simply were wonderful! They explained to me why they had to come instead of sending just one volunteer.

A lady—a young housekeeper called a store to make inquiries as to purchasing a larger refrigerator and that she would have to buy it on time and her letter continued, "Don't you think it strange for a man to talk me out of buying it, stating as long as the one I had was working with it. I never heard of such a thing. Did you, Observer?" Well, you see, there is an honest man, even if he is the sole owner of that store. Eh, folks?

Now, this following is a new wrinkle although I have always heard the Dunkards are thrifty people and are most comfortably fixed. They are buying blocks of city row houses in Baltimore which are converted into apartments. More power to them!

And that brings to light that Real Estate is a grand investment. If you and you decide to either dabble in Real Estate or sell your property, by all means, contact the finest Company in the State of Maryland and that is "LAMB & BAKER," in Randallstown. Never have I met a finer company in any city in these United States. Such a grand force of those salespeople in the "KNOW HOW."

They truly have a grand reputation and the big thing is that they take care of you. Their phone No. is W. A. 2-5000. They are Christian people through and through.

Here is a cute one! A lady who is a widow went to visit her sister in another town. They went to one of the big Chain Stores and as they were coming out in the revolving door, a gentleman—a widower whom this sister knew well introduced her guest. He now is calling on her and from the last I heard they are engaged and the wedding date set! And the nice part, too", she said, "is that he is most comfortably wealthy!"

If you want to see a mystery, a comedy and an exciting film—don't miss that cute Kim Novak in, "The Notorious Landlady", at the Town theatre. To make it more interesting there is Fred Astaire, Jack Lemmon and Lionel Jeffries. It is sort of a crazy affair but I leave the rest to you.

Have a grand week-end, folks. Enjoy it all the more after church by just sitting on your old front porch and watch those racing by! See you next week D. V. Until then.

I am,
Faithfully,
Your Observer.

HOW NOT TO COMPETE

One of the problems facing this country is how to compete in world markets with nations whose wage and other costs are, for the most part, far lower than ours. The expanding European Common Market is one example of the tough competition we are up against.

Yet, in mid-August, the executive council of the AFL-CIO announced a drive to make the 35-hour week general throughout organized industry, with no reduction in take-home pay, and with double-time pay for all additional hours worked.

The reason given for this is unemployment. The labor leaders say that employers would take on more workers in order to avoid overtime penalties.

But what they fail to discuss is the increase in cost that would certainly result, and that would find their way into the swelling prices of U. S. goods in world markets as well as the home market. Thus, our competitive ability would be further weakened. Then there would be reduced demand for our products—and more, not less unemployment. This would be a classic and tragic example of cutting off one's nose to spite one's face.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

From Human Events magazine: "In an address in India, Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith, former Harvard economics professor boasted that already one-fifth of the American economy is planned by the government. He said that if we take into consideration all current resources 'fully controlled and disposed of by the state, about 20 per cent of the American economy is planned.' Ambassador Galbraith pointed out that, as the comparable figure for India was only 13 to 14 per cent, 'the market economy of the United States has a larger public sector than the Socialist economy of India.' Translated, that means that now we're even more Socialist than Socialist India."

Senator Byrd estimates that, under existing tax rates, the federal deficit for this fiscal year will be about $6 billion. Tax cuts of a size now being discussed might raise this figure to $15 billion.

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "Economists are puzzled over why consumer spending falls substantially below predicted levels when the people's income continues to climb. It would seem to be the result of a general lack of confidence in the future either from fear of war or of the sharp advances in the massive federal spending that forces up costs on just about everything." In another part of his article he says: "almost anywhere you look throughout the nation you will find work stoppages that virtually guarantee the upward march of industrial costs on the eve of our much advertised participation in Europe's Common Market."

Chain Store Age reports that sales of canned and bottled juices by the food chains will top $330 million this year. The typical American family spends $154 a year for these products.

Coaches and players in high school and college football have been offered a word of caution by the American Medical Association concerning the dangers of vigorous physical exercise in hot weather. With the start of practice, it warns, it is essential to provide for gradual adjustment to hot weather activity. Equally important is the need to adjust salt and water intakes to weather conditions. It adds that the old idea that water should be withheld from athletes during workouts has absolutely no scientific foundation.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Labor Day in the United States is a legal holiday in nearly all of the states, where the first Monday in September is observed in recognition of the labor movement's long struggle for decent working conditions and sufficient rewards to maintain human dignity and respect. In 1882, the Knights of Labor paraded in New York City on this day; in 1884 another parade was held, and it was decided this day was to be set aside for this purpose. In 1887, Colorado made the first Monday in September a legal holiday, and in 1909 Labor Day was observed as a holiday throughout the United States except in Arizona and North Dakota; in Louisiana it is a holiday only in New Orleans, and in Maryland, Wyoming and New Mexico it is established as a holiday by statute and may be proclaimed as such in any year by the Governor.

Samuel Gompers is spoken of as the father of the labor union movement, the American Federation of Labor. He was its first president and he gave it a dedicated and vigorous leadership. His knowledge of labor fundamentals, his personality, and his great activity in speaking and writing, as well as his official position, made him a well known public figure and the very essence of the labor movement. His influence on the movement was enormous. He believed in a unified trade-union movement through the AFL, with autonomous national affiliates which would enjoy exclusive jurisdiction over their respective crafts and trades and he also believed in winning co-operation through persuasion rather than dictation. He also believed in business unionism, which would concentrate on improving wages and working conditions. He rejected radicalism or utopianism and was opposed to "intellectuals" as leaders of the trade-union movement. Substitutes for capitalism did not find favor in his eyes, since he believed that business unions could win great gains within capitalism through collective bargaining. He did not believe in a labor party in politics. Most of his ideas continue to be the backbone of the present AFL, although Mr. Gompers could never have dreamed how far-reaching the labor-movement would entwine itself into every segment of American life. Of course it was hurried on by two world wars and the great depression. The story of the labor-movement in the United States makes as fascinating reading as anything one can find on a library shelf. Courage, sacrifice, skulduggery and treason is all there, but the courage is the best. One wonders what has happened to men that they no longer believe in anything so strongly that they are willing to struggle for it as did the early leaders of the labor-movement. And do the workers today know just how they have obtained the splendid working conditions and the rewards they enjoy? Very few ever give it a thought.

Over 12,000 ice cream sticks have been saved by various clubs and individuals of Carroll County for the use of patients in Maryland's Tuberculosis hospitals. The patients in these institutions are most grateful for the sticks as they help pass the empty hours while they are recuperating from their illness. They make many useful articles like lamps, trays and baskets from the sticks. The following clubs and persons have recently brought their collection of sticks to the local office of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association: John H. Rosenberger, Mrs. J. A. Mason, Michaels Armacost, Tommie and David Reese, Dianna and Buddy Danner, George and Marjorie Zepp, Thelma Kelly, Mrs. George Schaffer, Katherine Close, Anna S. Bowersox, Mr. and Mrs. William Welling, Mrs. Truman E. Nusbaum, Mrs. Ella E. Naill and Ethel's Goodie Shop. Also the Girl Scout Troop 495 and Mrs. Peggy Tomlin, leader of the Brownie Troop 671.

We have been battling fleas for two weeks over the possession of our two dogs, Mike and Tanny. Bath after bath with all brands of flea soap has no effect. In fact, the fleas seem to enjoy the treatment more than the dogs. Last week after struggling all morning with two wet and uncooperative pets we gave up, and contemplated our efforts. We have at last reached the conclusion that since we feed our dogs well, groom their coats until they shine, provide pleasant surroundings for them that the very least they can do is just scratch. Like people who get too much attention the dogs are growing quite lazy, so the exercise of scratching will give them something they will be forced to do. Scratch or else!

A friend last week asked me what I do with my leisure time. I answered: "Enjoy it." Don't think this was an easy thing to learn, for it wasn't. We lived on a dairy farm for twenty years where every minute was accounted for, and none were ever lost. So when I found myself with hours, not minutes, to spare, I floundered around like hundreds of others looking for something to do. Most Americans have been trained from childhood that to be idle is wicked and I began to develop a guilt feeling. But suddenly I realized that with all my frantic business I really wasn't accomplishing a thing worth while. I am no longer ill at ease with my leisure for the lesson of enjoying doing nothing has been learned. Each morning I put my gears in neutral and go and do what every inclination pushes me. Its a luxury that once I didn't want but now I love.

Congressmen and senators should be limited to two terms like the President is. It would eliminate an awful lot of dead wood in both the house and senate and perhaps make better government. For they would have to work faster to get things done as they couldn't expect to spend the remainder of their lives in Washington, as many of them are doing now.

It is true that flattery will get you nowhere but it will butter up people who will take you where you want to go.

If, when you look into your own heart, You find nothing wrong there, What is there to worry about, What is there to fear?

—Confucius

The writer had a very nice surprise last week one day when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Berngen and daughter Peggy, of Denver, Colorado, spent a few minutes with us. It was so nice to see them. They informed me Mrs. Berngen's parents were going back with them for a short visit. Out there they said they have snow all the time. It makes it hard for them to stand the heat here. They spent their two weeks vacation visiting relatives on both sides. They had the pleasure of attending the Berngen reunion which was a treat to them, as it is impossible to visit each one on such a short stay. We hope they had a safe journey home.

"LET'S BE GLAD"

by Mrs. J. R. James

Let's be glad for the common things of life, the great good things of the everyday that we do not see through the tears and the strife.

But they all come to us all in the common way—the song of a bird in the early morn. Just fresh from the peaks of Paradise, or the sweet new hope of a day new born in the crimson glow of the Eastern skies.

Let's be glad for the common things of life—the summer's harvest of golden grain, the winter's snows with its fireside cheer, and then the sweet Spring days again, the scent of a violet blooming near in the hidden depths of the grassy sod, the hush of the night, and the stary sky that covers us all like the love of God.

Let's be glad for the common things of life, the song of a child, the smile of a friend, a place to work in the toil of life, and a purpose to work your way to the end.

If no one seems to care in the crowd and the way seems dark or drear, or sad, just remember the common things of life and sing to your heart, "Be glad, be glad."

STEERS SAYS SICKLES STILL EVADES POLLACK ISSUE CALLS ON OPPONENT FOR DEBATE

Newton Steers, Republican candidate for Congressman at Large, has challenged his opponent, Carlton Sickles twice during the past week to repudiate the support of boss Pollack of Baltimore. Pollack supported and endorsed Sickles in the Primary election. Sickles' name was on the Pollack sample ballots distributed during the primary.

Said Steers, "I have called on my opponent to repudiate Jack Pollack. He has repeatedly refused to. He persists in claiming Pollack is no issue."

Steers says, "There are many issues in this campaign and Pollack support is one of the major ones. Jack Pollack is a dark and voracious vulture who has hovered in the shadows, grabbing political plums at the city and state level. Now fear of his grimy talons threatens the very halls of Congress."

"I also specifically call on my opponent to accept my invitation to a debate on the issues. I call on him to name a representative with whom we can work out a time and place which are mutually satisfactory."

"During the past week my opponent has consistently evaded the main question put to him as to whether or not he rejects Pollack support and endorsement. My opponent says that he has not talked to Pollack since the primary. What the voters of Maryland should be told is what the conversations between these two before the primary was about."

Steers concluded, "Why does my opponent refuse to repudiate this support? In carefully avoiding any condemnation of Jack Pollack he in effect again accepts Pollack support. There can be but one reason. He is afraid he will lose the election without the help of this evil but powerful boss."

Gerald E. Hoak of Hagerstown, has been appointed Supervisor — Farm and Wiring for the Potomac Edison System. In this new position, he will take over the duties of Geo. O. Mullan who recently retired.

He will supervise all phases of PE's promotional activities dealing with farm and wiring. The appointment is effective September 1.

C. & P. TELEPHONE'S EXPENDITURE

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland has approved during the past 12 months expenditures totaling nearly $56,000,000, according to L. Mercer Smith, vice president of the company.

This total includes more than $1,100,000 authorized in the board's regular meeting on August 27.

To keep pace with expected increased customer calling and demands for new service in the rapidly expanding Maryland area suburban to Washington, the expenditure of $358,900 was approved for several projects. Additional interoffice trunks between Bethesda, Wheaton and Woodley were authorized. To provide for anticipated growth in Bethesda, Bowie and Colesville areas, approval was given to expand these outside cable networks.

Also for Silver Spring, authority was given to replace the underground cable along Wayne Avenue and provide electric power equipment of greater capacity needed to operate telephones from this center.

For the Baltimore Metropolitan Area, $195,400 was allocated. For Baltimore City, to improve long distance dialing service, approval was granted for the installation of automatic circuit testing equipment in various central offices.

Authority was also given to provide additional outside wire and cable to meet future growth in the rapidly expanding Cockeysville, Randallstown and Woodlawn areas.

Lighting Standards Higher Today's Medallion Homes

The creative use of lighting has become a favorite decorating tool of many homemakers. A big reason for this is the availability of attractive, efficient lighting fixtures at moderate cost. An added boost to this trend has been given by interior decorators and designers, as well as by builders who use imaginative lighting to show off their homes to the best advantage.

To find out what's new in home lighting, many families visit models of Bronze or Gold Medallion Homes in their areas. To merit a Medallion, a home must meet high standards for lighting and wiring, and must include other prescribed features that help make it representative of the best in modern electric living.

A luminous ceiling is both attractive and practical and is most often found in the kitchen, livingroom or den. With this type, fluorescent lamps are built into the ceiling and enclosed by translucent panels to provide light that's even and glare-free.

The luminous ceiling lends itself to the use of dimmer controls which can change the atmosphere of a room at the turn of a dial.

Medallion Homes are required to have some form of fixed lighting in each room as well as Excellent lighting adds to attractiveness of this bathroom. in hallways, walk-in closets, garage or carport, basement and outside entrances. Perimeter lighting, using valance or cornice units, is very popular today. Placed high on a wall or hung from a ceiling, long, slim units are often used to dramatize a wall or window area and to give restful, diffused light. Dimmer controls may be used to add lighting flexibility. Today's ceiling fixtures are not only functional but attractive.

Non-Stick Pans Make Cleaning Easy

GREATEST KITCHEN AID since the electric dishwasher—cooking utensils coated with a "Teflon" TFE-fluorocarbon finish. Absolutely no food really sticks. Soaking and scouring of pots and pans now belong with the scullery maid of bygone days. Even substances as notoriously sticky as oatmeal and melted cheese do not adhere to the slick coating.

"Teflon", a Du Pont development, has long been used in the baking industry on giant cookie rollers. Now it is being applied to all manner of cookware, and the most tedious job in all kitchen work is disappearing from the American domestic scene.

Here in this demonstration, residue from scalded milk is removed swiftly with running water, a little soap powder, and a soft sponge.

People on low-calorie or non-fat diets also are welcoming the new cookware, because it permits greaseless cooking. Eggs or pancakes, for example, turn out beautifully in a dry pan over moderate heat, and slip freely onto the plate with a nudge of a wooden spatula.

Now made by a number of manufacturers, utensils coated with "Teflon" finish range in price according to the quality of the ware itself. This type of non-stick coating should not be confused with other materials offered for the purpose.

Oil Imports Climb As Coal Use Drops

FOREIGN OIL DAMAGES COAL — The increased use of imported residual oil in the United States, which has caused a major reduction in the production of coal, is dramatically illustrated in this chart.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The bituminous coal industry of the United States is faced with a situation which could literally put it out of business along the entire Eastern Seaboard of the country, and seriously damage its markets in the Midwest, according to Joseph E. Moody, President of the National Coal Policy Conference, Inc.

Under policies permitted and fostered by the Federal Government, foreign residual fuel oil, a waste product of the refining process, is entering the country in vast volume and under predatory pricing practices with which no domestic fuel can compete, he said.

"During the 1962-63 quota year, 185.1 million barrels of foreign residual oil will be permitted to enter the United States for use, in direct competition with domestic coal, by electric utilities and medium sized and large industrial plants", he said. "Imports of 185.1 million barrels of oil are the equivalent of approximately 44 million tons of annual coal production, or almost one-third of the present production for use on the East Coast. Loss of this much tonnage means the loss of 3,170,000 man-days of work for coal miners of West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia and other major coal producing states.

"This lost work is equal to 16,000 full time miners' jobs, and what the loss of these jobs means to communities in the coal producing areas is almost incalculable.

"Under present government policies, coal has no hope of competing with foreign residual oil in coal's historic markets.

"Unless the government gives the coal industry adequate protection from the predatory pricing practices of foreign residual oil, there will be no coal industry."

Dictionary Habit Aids School Work

THE ABILITY TO COMMUNICATE CLEARLY is recognized as a prime aid to success in school and in careers later on. One of the proven ways for parents to help children enrich their vocabularies is to make a modern unabridged dictionary readily accessible to them in the family room, suggests Dr. Philip B. Gove, editor-in-chief of the Merriam-Webster dictionaries.

ANS

Parents who set an example by looking up words in the dictionary frequently and discussing the fine points of meaning with their children can work wonders in making the dictionary seem like an appealing family friend instead of an austere word doctor for emergency use only, says Dr. Gove.

Webster's Third New International Dictionary makes it easier than ever before to help children acquire the dictionary habit which can be an invaluable aid to their success throughout life. Quotations from distinguished contemporary writers and publications are used extensively by the new Merriam-Webster unabridged to point up the significance of fine differentiations in meaning, in addition to quotations from classical sources. Altogether 200,000 quotations illuminate the fine points of language. The 450,000 entries in the newest Webster include 100,000 new words and new word meanings. This explosion of language has added enormously to the problems of effective communication and makes "getting the dictionary habit" more important than ever.

WHAT'S NEW IN AGRI-BUSINESS?

PEANUTS

Americans consume peanuts by the billions—especially during the baseball season. But between the farm and the fan, peanuts must undergo a strict curing and drying process.

The peanuts we enjoy eating contain 7-10% moisture. From a moisture content of 20-25%, a crop of peanuts is air-dried to these ideal conditions in Stor-N-Dry steel bins.

Modern Butler peanut bins are part of a proven curing and drying system which helps assure peanuts of top market value for the American grower... and peanut-lovers everywhere!

HOUSEHOLD HINT XCHANGE

PLANNING on closing your summer home for the season soon? If so, you'll be wise to follow the advice of veteran "home-closers" who suggest that you try to resist the temptations of the carefree life (i.e., the hammock) soon enough to tend to a few important chores before "moving day".

If you do, the chances are good that you'll find your home in good shape when you open it again in the spring.

Here are some pointers to remember:

1. Notify telephone, light and gas companies so they can discontinue service before you lock up. Also, have the water company shut off service; then drain plumbing so the pipes are empty. Other people to notify of your departure — the post office, so you'll receive your mail without interruption, and the police, so they can keep an eye on your grounds (or, if you prefer, hire someone to look around once a week and let you know if anything out of the ordinary takes place).
2. As for the house itself, make a checklist of the following to be sure nothing is left undone:
 1. Pour one gallon of kerosene into toilet bowl to prevent it from rusting or breaking.
 2. Coat metal tools, lawn mower blades, guns, fishing tackle and other sporting equipment with Vaseline petroleum jelly to prevent rusting.
 3. Pack linens and bed-covers away in closets and bureau.
 4. Cover all furniture.
 5. Cover the burner-unit of the kitchen stove and chrome fixtures in kitchen and bathroom with a coat of Vaseline petroleum jelly as a protection against rust.
 6. Close and lock all windows and shutters.

Lesson for September 9, 1962

THE TWO parts or stages of any job, or of any enterprise, which are the hardest, are starting and finishing. It is more difficult to set a great liner on her way, harder to bring it through the harbor traffic at the end of the voyage, than to handle the ship on open water in mid-voyage. It is harder for a student to get himself organized and get to work, than it is to keep going once he has started. And it is harder to bring that term paper together as it ought to be finished up, than it was to write on and on. What were the critical moments in the historic space flight of Col. John Glenn? Getting off the pad and into orbit, and re-entering the atmosphere and being picked up by a ship, were much trickier and dangerous than roaring through space at 17,000 miles an hour.

The Blueprint's Getting Yellow

Once there was a church that decided to build a new sanctuary. They employed an architect, who drew up plans, and had blueprints made. Then the church officers began to be afraid they didn't have quite enough money, so they put off starting . . . and kept on putting it off for years. Nobody had a bad conscience about it, because they had started, hadn't they? But finally it dawned on a new preacher there that the blueprints were actually lost. And when after quite a search he found them, they had begun to look yellow. Not only that, but the town had changed so much that the old blueprints were out of date. Something like that happened in Jerusalem long ago when the second Temple was started. It was 20 years between the time the foundations were finished, and the final work on the building. Indeed if it had not been for those persistent prophets, Haggai and Zechariah, who knows when the Temple would have been finished?

These prophets were an interesting contrast. Zechariah was a dreamer of dreams, a seer of visions; much of his prophecy is obscure to this day. Haggai was no mystic, every word of his prophecy can be plainly understood. But prosaic as Haggai was, and fanciful as Zechariah was, they united on one point: The Temple must be FINISHED. Starting is not enough.

Things Don't Finish Themselves

A mistake that lazy people make is to think that by some kind of magic, things will finish themselves. Who has not known the amateur gardener who in springtime was full of enthusiasm, but whose garden by midsummer looked like the prize weed-bed that it was? Every school knows about the teen-age "drop-outs," the boys and girls who can't take the time or the trouble to finish high school and so all their lives are under the handicap of not having even a high school diploma. Many a woman has a bureau drawer filled with things she started but didn't finish—pieces of sewing, maybe a pile of unfinished letters, photographs she meant to put in her album but stuck in here till they're all curled and mixed up. Teachers of language know too well the student who starts easily enough, and expects the going to be easier and easier once he has passed the first week's lessons . . . and when it doesn't turn out that way, he gives up and gives out.

A Thing Unfinished

A thing unfinished is that way either because it couldn't possibly be finished no matter what, or because although it could have been finished not a soul was willing to work hard enough to get the job done. If a thing stays unfinished because it couldn't be helped, maybe it is a sign of lack of foresight on somebody's part. There is such a thing as starting too soon. Jesus told a parable about a man who started a house when he did not have and could not get money to finish it. One such house stood in a village for years, known for a generation as "So-and-so's Folly." Or maybe the thing is unfinished because no one has the ambition or the gumption to do what it takes to do it right. A contractor once said that he banished the word "practically" from his organization. A thing "practically" done is done all but the most difficult part! A thing unfinished may as well not have been begun.

JAYCEE COMMUNITY SURVEY REPORT

PART 5

This is the fifth of twelve installments of the Community Survey Report prepared by the Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Survey was conducted by the Jaycees earlier this year with the report and recommendations adopted in July.

The report is being published as a public service by this newspaper and it is felt many will wish to clip and save for future reference.)

This week we continue our question-by-question analysis and evaluation of the opinions expressed and supply additional related information we were able to gather. This week's portion also includes six recommendations pertaining to this phase. A total of 24 recommendations were adopted by the organization and will be included where appropriate.

QUESTION # 13. HOW WOULD YOU RATE TANEYTOWN'S CITY GOVERNMENT AND MANAGEMENT?

Over-All Opinions: Very Good — 15%, Adequate — 46%, Inadequate — 20% Don't Know or No Answer — 19%

Of the people living IN town, 59% rated present government very good or adequate, 23% inadequate, and 18% couldn't make up their mind. Annual elections afford the citizens an opportunity to express their wishes. However, at the recent elections in June only 147 votes were cast. This is only about 15% of the town's adult population. Either the people are satisfied, they do not care, or they are too busy to bother voting. Good government can only come when people are interested and exercise that valuable option to vote.

Following is some additional information on our city's government, operation, and finances. We also have adopted six specific recommendations for improvements in our City's operation and government.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON TANEYTOWN'S GOVERNMENT AND FINANCE

Taneytown is governed by a Mayor and five-man Council who serve for two-year terms. A municipal election is held each year the first Monday in June with the Mayor and two councilmen elected in the even years and three councilmen elected in the odd years. Anyone may vote who is registered to vote in a general election and who has either been a resident for 1 year, owns property upon which there are taxes assessed, or is a stock-holder in a corporation domiciled within the town.

The Mayor receives a salary of $700 per year and the Councilmen receive $10.00 per meeting. The town employs one full-time Superintendent of Utilities at a salary of approximately $5,000 per year, and one Chief of Police at a salary of $4,875, plus car and fringe benefits. Part-time employees include the Clerk-Treasurer who is paid a salary, one part-time maintenance man on an hourly wage, and one meter-reader who also supervises the billing and collection of water and sewer service charges. The town records are audited by Stegman & Co., Certified Public Accountants.

Budgets have been drafted, published, and adopted for the past few years. Taneytown has a current tax rate of 85¢ per $100 assessed value. Twenty cents of this is for payment of the Sewer Bonds, so that actually the tax rate is 65¢ for government and services.

Following is a comparison of expenditures in the past two years as compared with 1957, 5 years ago.

Receipts:	1957	1960	1961
Taxes	$43,061	$49,424	$55,340
County Shared Revenues	3,335	2,425	2,596
State Shared Revenues	17,552	15,125	15,188

Expenditures:	1957	1960	1961
General Government	$ 5,445	$ 8,489	$ 8,247
Public Safety	5,947	5,973	6,974
Sanitation	7,332	9,273	10,204
Streets	6,035	7,988	12,133

Miscellaneous	2,138	299	338
	$76,609	$130,841	$85,565

The current Assessable Base is: $6,823,500.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce submit the following recommendations which concern our local government and management. We recommend:

1. The adoption of a revised Charter for Taneytown, giving the City "Home Rule." We feel the adoption of a completely new charter, patterned after the Model Charter as provided by Article 23B of the annotated Code of Maryland is necessary to keep pace with the times.
2. That election of town officials be for a four-year term, with three elected every other year.
3. Complete revision and up-dating of all ordinances. If a new charter is adopted as recommended in #1, the Md. Municipal League will assist with this task free of charge.
4. That a practical, but effective and strong, ordinance be enacted concerning sidewalk construction, and that this ordinance, as well as all other ordinances, be strictly enforced.
5. That planning for the orderly extension of the corporate limits be made to promote orderly and compact growth on the fringes of town. We would also urge the exercise of powers by the town to restrict any haphazard building, sub-division, or development immediately outside the perimeter of the City Limits.
6. The enactment of a Zoning ordinance by the city. The County has at least adopted an interim zoning ordinance. However, this does not effect areas within an incorporated town. Therefore, undesirable elements may be restricted outside the town, and yet conceivably could then locate within the city limits. The enactment of a Zoning ordinance by the town could help control this.

(Next week's installment will include some information on our County Government and Finance and several recommendations regarding this.)

Going bass fishing? Keep in mind that large and smallmouth bass favor different hangouts.

The largemouth will be found in lakes and streams of all sizes, in shallow water, deep water, in clear or brackish water. Generally, though, largemouth bass favor warmer, weedier waters than smallmouth, and for that reason are more often found in southern lakes and streams. The smallmouth prefer clean, clear water and favor the cool pockets at the edge of rapids or deep holes in lakes.

An average largemouth will run 1 1/2 to 3 pounds. A good smallmouth will run an even pound. The listed record for largemouth is 22-pounds 4-ounces. The record fish, which ran 32 1/2-inches long, was taken out of Montgomery Lake, Ga. in 1932. The smallmouth record is 11-pounds 15-ounces. The fish ran 27-inches and was taken out of Dale Hollow Lake, Ky. in 1955.

An exception worth noting to the north-south boundary that roughly separates large and smallmouth bass is where special lakes have been created such as the TVA project and impoundments. The waters are usually clear and smallmouth proliferate.

To catch largemouth which linger near the shore line waiting for careless frogs or adventurous minnows, cast near fallen logs or under the overhang where there are plenty of weeds and vegetation. To avoid lost lures, take along a good selection of weedless Abu reflex lures. These will save you cash and catch plenty of fish. If you favor plugs, the new Abu Hi-Lo is one well worth investigating. The depth control lip can be set for six different fishing levels from surface to very deep. This feature alone will save you from buying half a dozen plugs to do the same job.

If you favor fly tackle, use a longer leader for smallmouth. They're spookier and harder to please than largemouth bass. Since they favor cooler water, you'll want to fish deeper and a larger variety of lures will be needed such as small bucktails, feathered poppers, weighted streamers, and deer haired bass bugs.

● In a hot, sunny day — trolling may be the only way to get a smallmouth. Troll deep. Give the lure or bait time to settle in the water. Move slowly and occasionally twitch the rod. Patience, friend. You'll catch bass.

AMERICAN HUNTERS

Daniel Boone, trail blazer and backwoodsman of the 1700's, lived by his gun — trading hard-won skins and furs. In the unexplored wilderness of Kentucky, he pitted his courage against bears and mountain lions — was captured three times by Indians!

Legend says that Tennessee's most famous hunter, Davey Crockett, killed his first "bar" when he was only three! His love for his rifle, "Betsy," lives today in song and story.

Teddy Roosevelt was one of our finest marksmen. He stalked game from the Wild West to Africa's plains. Today there are 15 million American hunters enjoying a sport which is now more than ever, a family pastime. New rifles like the lightweight Remington Nylon 66 are adding new pleasures to hunting.
