MEETING:
With pride that generated prolonged applause, we listened to the manager of the Babe Ruth Baseball Team as he reviewed the record of these boys, ages 13 to 15 and their 1962 games; 12 regular games were played of which they won 11, losing only one; two other games were played in a play off series, this team winning both, as the playoff games were suspended at that time, this left the final record at 13 games won and only one loss. When the statistical records were given as to batting averages, errors, pitching perforcar records were given as to batting averages, errors, pitching performances, we feel that the scouts of the Baltimore Orioles and other League teams should be looking hopefully for the talent that is growing in these juveniles as they not only learn and advance in baseball, but likewise in sportsmanship and manly conduct. After the rugged legions of Rome had conquered the world and the wealth of nations lay at her feet, the temptations of luxury became so en-ticing that rugged individualism was soon lost, the luxury of seaside villas, all night banquets, the wines of conquered nations, the baths, the hordes of servants and slaves, the games with their brutality, which by the way was a replica or copy of ancient Roman physical fitness and ferocity, soon became the cause of Roman weakness, eventually leading to the downfall of the mistress of the world. Although philosophers and teachers warned and preached against this vanity, luxury loving Romans merely laughed.

These facts were very interestingly discussed by Mr. Charles Ecker of the Carroll County board of Education, whose association with the Board of Education is the promotion of Physical fitness.

How easy to note our loss of physical fitness when we stop to think that just about anything our fathers that required activity from milking a cow to pitching for the same ow is performed by some machine; if it is one city block to the Post Office and a letter we get out a $3,000.00 car and make the big trip reclining in a luxurious bucket seat while our caseling. "YOUR OBSERVER IS ON VACATION AND WILL RESUME HER COLUMN NEXT WEEK"

I am sort of tired from running around in the heat and frankly I enjoy the bitter cold weather. It is also a lot of work on this big lot for me to do once weekly and if I can sell I will go into an apartment in town. My sister from St. Pete thought it was terrible how I work and said, "It was too laborious," but I always say, "that I am a MILLIONAIRE as to health!"

If I could really afford it I would

If I could really afford it, I would go to the shore just to relax and breathe in the salt air. That would be a vacation for me.

Can you imagine my only sister in St. Pete is going to move up to Philadelphia in the near future, after living there so many years? I would not live down there for any price.

A lady whom I met on the train going down to St. Pete when I visited my precious sister before she passed away told me that the North-erners come down not being accus-tomed to the Tropics which do not agree with them and they start running to the Doctors. The Doctors do not tell them of the fact and they are simply coining money.

My sister Mildred, has complained and has spent so much money down there for Doctors that she is fed up. So you see why I tell all my Readers to go down and remain a year be-fore they live there the rest of their days to have experience both with the Winter and Summer. WHERE THE RUB COMES

In the television address to the nation in which he discussed the state of the economy, President Kennedy said: "I am urging the Congress to end the postal deficit of $600 million a year.'

All of us can agree with that purpose. But the rub comes in how to do it.

The bill now before Congress, which has passed the House but so far has not been given Senate consideration, contains provisions which almost all authorities regard as destructive in the extreme. For one thing, the mail rate increases proposed for the nation's smaller publications-newspapers and magazines -would in many cases be almost literally insupportable. Example: The rate increase on a country weekly newspaper mailed to a subscriber a few miles away would be as great as on a huge New York Sunday daily going across the continent. The magazine business is deep in the doldrums now, and the proposed increases in rates would actually, in a number of instances, be greater than profits.

Ever since the post office was founded its basic services-carrying of mails and publications-have been regarded as an essential contribution to public education, enlightenment and entertainment. They are thus a legitimate governmental expenditure, and they should not necessarily be required to pay their way in entirety.

But that is not true of purely commercial services, of relatively, cent origin. Parcel post-that chronic breeder of heavy deficits-is the prime example here. There is every justification for increases in parcel post charges that will make the income at least equal the outgo, on a basis of complete, business-like accounting.

Shell engineer uses stethoscope to help detect noise the ear alone can't hear. Super Shell fights three different engine noises to give you top performance.

How 3 of Super Shell's 9 ingredients fight engine noise-including one hard-to-hear form of knock that could lead to real damage

CHELL scientists will tell you that any O good gasoline should reduce engine noise. That's why they include no less than three noise-fighters in Super Shell's 9-ingredient blend. Here's how they work to help give you a soft-spoken engineand top performance.

How Super Shell fights high-speed knock

High-speed knock makes a sharp, highpitched noise-like metal tapping against metal. Because it's most likely to occur in hot engines at turnpike speeds, highspeed knock is often difficult to hear.

But even though you may not hear it, high-speed knock can pound away at pistons-even lead to costly damage.

Fortunately, high-speed knock isn't too common. But Shell scientists have known about it for a long time. Ever since they pioneered the development of a substance called Alkylate to help control high-speed knock in aircraft engines. Today, Alkylate is an ingredient in Super Shell gasoline.

How Super Shell fights wild ping

Wild ping doesn't last long. It sounds like the erratic beat of a nervous drummer.

This clatter is actually a series of premature explosions. They're caused by glowing deposits that ignite the fuel too soon.

Super Shell's famous TCP* additive tackles this problem. It acts to "fireproof" deposits that might glow. Result: chance of wild ping is greatly reduced.

How Super Shell fights ordinary knock

Most people have heard ordinary knock. It may sound to you like marbles dropping into an empty oil drum.

Super Shell's anti-knock mix is so powerful that a teaspoon per gallon is enough to raise anti-knock rating a full five points.

This anti-knock mix helps regulate the combustion of Super Shell. Thus, each piston gets a firm, even push. Not a sharp,

How Super Shell's other ingredients help you get top performance

Cat-cracked gasoline helps your engine deliver smooth, even power.

Gum preventive helps keep carburetors clean inside.

Platformate is for extra mileage.

Butane is for quick starts.

Pentane mix is for fast warm-ups. Anti-icer (added in cold weather) helps check carburetor icing.

Try a tankful of Super Shell today. Then, you'll know what top performance

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Last Sunday afternoon the West-ern Maryland College campus was the background for the re-enactment of the Civil War events which took place in Carroll County in 1862. The pag-eant was the work of the Historical Society of Carroll and was attended by several thousand people. The purpose of the pageant was to inform the younger citizens about a little part of history of their country which was important to the survival of their nation. As a great part of the audience was made up of young people the message may have made an impression. The small fry were doubt-less more impressed with the horses and the rebel yells and the firing of a minature cannon. The Centennial committee worked hard to present the program and they succeeded in giving A dinner-dance was held at the Emerson Hotel Friday evening in

Millard Roelke, Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Farrel, Mrs. Gladys Wimert and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Weant Jr. The chaplain of congress takes a look at that body and then prays for the country. The first postage stamps went on sale in the United States July, 1847, and they have been selling ever since. It is reassuring to know that the trust in the U.S. mail service coninues even though the trust in many other things has greatly diminished We all put in the mail personal letters containing family messages of the most personal kind, trusting that they will reach their destination safely and they do. We trust our valuable papers and money to the postal authorities the same way, and it's a rare instance when something goes astray in the mail. The postal service of the United States is a unique service and one with a history of high integrity. This reputation was built by the men and women who worked in the department when the service first began and carried on year after year by others who followed in their footsteps. It is a mutual trust between the public and the Post Office Department. May it long continue.

Don't worry too much about Cuba. Neither Russia or the United States want it. Russia is using Cuba to embarrass us as we have been embara-sing Russia for many years by sending arms and aid to countries in Russia's front and back yards. Making war on Cuba would be just like stirring up a hornets nest to see the fun, but ending up with a dozen stings. That's the trouble with wars. No one can tell where they may lead.

The American girl seems to be-come more delightful each year, judg-ing by the Miss America contest. The contest has become much more than a contest of beauty of face and figure. The judges now look at the whole girl and come up with a winner that not only looks well to the eye but also sounds pretty, acts pretty and allows her brains to show. To play the part of Miss America has become a much coveted role and the winner can well be proud her achievement. So can every contestant that enters the Atlantic City contest for each and every one is a distinct credit to the community she represents.

Whoever first used the expression 'getting your feet on the ground" had a pretty good idea of the relative importance of things. Anyone who deals with the earth and the seasons, even in the way of back-yard gardening, has a better sense of time and a better sense of proportion. You can't talk a weed out of existence or arbitrate with a bean beetle. And you can't pass a law that will compel a tomato to mature in 60 days.—Hal Borland.

The doctors say take a walk each day for your health's sake. This is good advice, but where is it safe to walk? Not along our highways for cars compete for every foot of the road. Not along the by-ways for the owners order you off for trespassing. Not in the public parks for it's not safe anymore. If you have a backyard you can walk around and around it until you have covered a mile but this can be disconcerting to your neighbors. They will either think you have lost something and are searching for it and they arrive to help you find it or else send two men in white coats

Congratulations to the farmers in the West who raise cattle and are now keeping them off the market to raise the price. Yes, we know the price of meat will go up and we will have to pay it, but the farmers are not getting enough money for the products they raise. Why should the meat packsrs and the consumer have cheap food at the expense of the men and women who work so hard to raise our food. We don't object to the cost of gasoline, or beer, or cigarettes which aren't cheap by any standard. Then why do we expect to get food cheap? It's about time the farmers got wise and did something to help their cause.

American women are paying attention to Ann Landers for they look more neat when they visit the shopping centers. Ann frowns on women in shorts and slacks and pin curlers doing their shopping, and calls them a disgrace to womanhood. Womanhood has survived many silly whims of women but not sloppiness.

Few of us prize, as we, should God's gift of memory, or realize what a means of enrichment it is intended to be. Weather we will or not, we are continually storing it with supplies for our future.

We may gather weeds or flowers beauty or ugliness, what we choose will determine what our memories shall hold in store. Every happy hour leaves its picture, every unworthy deed its blot. Our days are crowded but it is not worth our while to think about this. Let us choose what we will carry with us into the years ahead.

MAKRIED

HOPKINS-ARVIN

The wedding of Miss Ravina May Arvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wil-bur C. Arvin, Taneytown, to Ronald Murray Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hopkins, Taneytown, was solemnized Saturday, September 1, 1962 at 3 p. m. in Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Miller.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli, ferns and palms. Kenneth Reifsnider, Taneytown, was he soloist and the organist was Miss

Hazel Hess. The bride, who was given in mar riage by her father, wore a full-length gown of silk organza over taffeta with lace applique. The veil, elbow length, bouffant with pillbox headpiece, also with lace applique. She carried white rosebuds and carnations on a white Bible. The matron of honor was Mrs. Reba Wright, sister of the bride, Jefferson, Md., who wore a blue street-length dress, chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli and carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Bobbi Lyn Hopkins, sister of the groom, Taneytown; Miss Janette Baker, Baltimore, and Mrs. Martha Gaskin, Baltimore, and Mrs. Louise Arvin, sister-in-law of the bride, Taneytown. They wore gowns similar to the matron of honor's, a lighter blue, and carried bouquets of pink gladioli.

The best man was David Blake, town; William Batt, Baltimore, and Charles Collins, Belvedere, Ill.

The bride's mother wore a streetlength sheath, silk organza over taffeta with blue accessories with a baby orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a pink chiffon streetlength dress with pink accessories, with a baby orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony a recep-tion was held in the Trinity Lutheran Church social hall after which the couple left on a wedding trip to New York City. For traveling the bride chose a brown tweed dress with brown accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Baltimore.

The bride is a graduate of Taney-town High School and a Senior stu-dent at Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore. The groom is a graduate of Taneytown High School and a Senior in the Pharmacy School, University of Maryland, Baltimore.

WESTINE-MYERS

Miss Patricia Elizabeth Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Myers of 304 Upland Road, Haver-town, Pa., and Mr. Peter S. Westine, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Westine of Taneytown, Md., were married August 18th at Old Haverford Friends Meeting House in Oakmont, Pa.

A committee of four members of the meeting officiated at the ceremony. An aunt of the bride read a prayer which had been written for and read at the bride's parents' wedding 26 years before.

The bride wore a gown of nylon organza with a lace bodice featuring a rounded neckline and short sleeves The full skirt with lace inserts was trimmed with sequins. Her finger-tip veil fell from a crown and she car ried white carnations and an orchid.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore lime rickey green dresses with matching shoes and hats and carried yellow Fiji mums. The maid of honor was Miss Sabina Mueller (the bride's college roommate) and the brides-maids were Mrs. William Godwin, Miss Joanna Lee Oberlander, and Miss and the Rev. Paul Joslyn. Following the reception at the Alpine Inn, the couple flew to Bermuda for a week. They are now living in Ithaca, New York, where Mr. Westine STORING MEMORIES is studying for a master's degree in We possess many treasures that civil engineering and his bride is Swarthmore College and the groom is also a graduate of The Peddie School in Hightstown, New Jersey.

The automobile that turns the heads of American motorists, the Ford Thunderbird, sets new standards of elegance, performance and quality in 1963. All four new Thunderbird models—hardtop Landau (top photo), hardtop (bottom), convertible and sports roadster—combine distinctive styling with hundreds of engineering refinements that make them the highest quality cars ever produced by Ford Division. Maintenance requirements on the 1963 Thunderbird are drastically reduced, with a chassis that requires no major lubrication for 100,000 miles and an oil change interval of 6,000 miles. With a new vertical-bar grille and sporty new touches of interior luxury, including a walnut-grained effect on door and instrument panels, personal console and steering wheel on the hardtop Landau, the 1963 Thunderbird remains in a class by itself.

New power, durability in 1963 Chevrolet truck line

Two new, modern, more efficient six-cylinder engines lead a long list of improvements in the 1963 Chevrolet truck line Other features include a new front axle and spring design in medium-ind heavy-duty series for excellent ride and durability; generally reavier frames; easy-riding independent front wheel coil spring-ng in light-duty models; narrower front sheet metal width for easier handling in close quarters on many models and improved oody and sheet metal mounts for softer ride.

Shown above is the Falcon Squire station wagon for 1963, one of Ford's five models of compact wagons. The Falcon Squire, a four-door, six-passenger station wagon, is a deluxe model with all the basic advantages of Falcon economy and maneuverability. This view shows off some of the all-around styling refinements incorporated into the Falcon line of sedans and wagons for 1963. A new grille carries out the forward-thrusting, "blunted-spear" effect evident in the front-end profile. The simulated hood air-scoop is retained, and block "FORD" letters are placed on the leading edge of the hood.

Low-slung and spirited, Ford's all-new compact Falcon Futura convertible (below) leads off Detroit's 1963 parade of new car models. Designed with a sports car flair, the car offers luxury car interior appointments, an electrically operated power top and a complete range of performance options. Wire wheel covers, bucket seats and a floor mounted, 4-speed transmission are a few of the many options available.

These two models, along with Falcon's full line of 17 models, Shown above is the Falcon Squire station wagon for 1963, one

Leadership

Lesson for September 16, 1962

A MAN who succeeds in doing what no man has ever done before is a great man, provided what he does is worth doing. A man who succeeds where others even greater again supposing that what he does is a good thing to do. Nehemiah was such a man. He would be a success anywhere, and not only at the time and place

Dr. Foreman where he lived. The first we hear of him, he is a member of the royal court in what is now Iran, the ancient Persia. He was evidently a man the king trusted, one to whom the king gave much power. Yet he was one of the down-trodden Jews, as they were at that time. Nehemiah himself is a fine example of what happened to the Jews who were taken into eaptivity. They were not put into dungeons, only some of the more prominent ones suffered that fate. Most were left to sink or swim, and being Jews they generally swam. Nehemiah showed how far they could rise if they had the chance.

The Time and the Man

A glance at the calendar helps us to understand the genius of this man. It was now about 140 years after Jerusalem had been destroyed, or 90 years after the Temple had been started. But in all that time no one had ever succeeded in getting a stable government in Jerusalem or to build practical protection against their numerous enemies. In those days every going city had to have a wall around it; but in 140 years the city wall had been lying in ruins exactly as Nebuchadnezzar's primitive bull-dozers had left it. This was all news to Nehemiah when he first heard of it; it was a shock, too. That this should be so, goes to show that prosperous Jews like Nehemiah had no notion of the poverty-stricken, dangerfilled lives the Jerusalem Jews had been living. When Nehemiah, with government backing, went to see what he could do in Jerusalem, by building the wall as his Number One project he became the man of the hour. Five generations had passed; Nehemiah had been needed long before now; but at last he arrived and took charge.

Knowledge and Leadership

What are the qualities that make a man a hero? What are the characteristics of a "man of the hour"? Nehemiah is a very good example. He was a successful leader partly because of what today we would call "know-how," a penetrating understanding of a situation, an accurate aim at the heart of his problem, and above all an art in getting people to do what they ought to do. Sometimes a leader learns on the job, so to speak, as Abraham Lincoln did. Sometimes he comes to his great task already knowing what to do and how to do it. But if he neither knows nor can learn, he is no leader. Nehemiah's genius lay chiefly in this: he was able to make handicaps work with him, not against him. The people had always been a quarrelsome lot, as the Old Testament shows us. There were many cross-currents of jealousy in the dusty rubblefilled insignificant village that wanted to be a city again. These had defeated other men, no doubt. But Nehemiah put these jealousies to work. He had the goldsmiths working at one section of that wall, and the priests somewhere else. He pitted them against one another, and so induced them to do their best work.

Leadership and Faith

Readers may be interested in studying the story of Nehemiah to see what were the various ways in which he showed his power of leadership. But one of his qualities was vital, and must not be overlooked: Faith. The book called by his name, though filled with action, begins and ends with prayer. This man had faith in himself; self-respect was a notable quality in his make-up. He had faith in people if rightly led. But first and last his faith was in God. He could undertake the impossible because he believed God willed it, and what God wills, can be done. Nehemiah makes it quite clear that while he worked and planned, his energy would have faded, his undertakings miscarried, if he had not been sustained by the God in whom he constantly

JAYCEE COMMUNITY SURVEY REPORT

This is the sixth of twelve installments of the Community Survey Report prepared by the Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Survey was conducted by the Jaycees earlier this year with the report and recommendations adopted in July.

The report is being published as a public service by this newspaper and it is felt many will wish to clip and save for future reference.)

This week we continue our question-by-question analysis and evaluation of the opinions expressed and supply additional related information we were able to gather. This week's portion also includes four recommendations pertaining to this phase. A total of 24 recommendations were adopted by the organization and will be included where appropriate.

QUESTION # 14. HOW WOULD YOU RATE OUR COUNTY GOVERNMENT AND MANAGEMENT?

Over-All Opinions: Very Good — 8%, Adequate — 42%, Inadequate — 27% Don't Know or No Answer — 23%

As can be seen, just about one-half of the people rated this very good or adequate and 23% had no opinion. With this question, as with the previous one on City Government, only an interested, informed public can make for better County Government.

Following is some additional information on our county's government and finances. We also have adopted four recommedations which are included be-

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON CARROLL COUNTY'S GOVERNMENT AND FINANCES

Carroll County is governed by three County Commissioners, elected every other even-numbered year to a four-year term. They receive a salary of $2,800 per year and sit officially 3 days a week from 9 to 4.

The commissioners are assisted by a salaried full-time executive assistant, Mr. George Grier, who was hired 3 years ago in a flurry of opposition. He has also been appointed County Planning Director.

Although there were criticisms of hiring an experienced planning director, the County planning program has been advanced. A Major Roads Plan has been adopted. A 54-page agricultural report complete with recommendations has been published. Studies have been completed of existing land use and are under way on future land usuage. Population studies have been completed and soon will be published. Studies on the economy have begun and will be published next year. An initial Zoning Law has been passed, and planning for a good zoning law has begun. Some definite steps have been taken to try and attract industry. Several changes and improvements have been made in the County Roads Department.

Carroll County has a current tax rate of $1.95 per $100 of assessed valuation. Assessments are supposed to average about 60% of actual value. Almost two-thirds of the annual revenue of the county comes from the Real Estate Property taxes.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce submit the following recom-

The Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce submit the following recommendations which concern our County government and management.

1. We recommend the continued employment of an Executive Assistant to the County Commissioners. It would appear to us that a full-time director of planning and coordinator of activities is needed and be continued. This makes more sense than simply raising the salaries of the County Commissioners in an attempt to attract more capable men. Many of the studies which have been done by the planning commission were with the aid and assistance of volunteer workers and students from Western Maryland College. Without a trained supervisor, this work would have been impossible. We sincerely hope the fine relationship between the college and these agencies can continue.

agencies can continue. We propose the public posed County budgets. The County budget has never been published prior to its adoption. With the spiraling costs of government and services, we feel that either a hearing be held on proposed budgets, or that publication be made in advance, with the opportunity given the public to examine and question items therein.

We recommend a change in the terms of office of the County Commissioners. As is now the procedure, all three Commissioners may be replaced at one time and serve for four years. The possibility of having an entirely new set of commissioners take over all at one having an entirely new set of commissioners take over all at one time would harm continuity.

We therefore recommend that a committee be appointed to study our present system of elections and to make specific recommendations, keeping these points in mind.

We suggest that all Real Estate Property assessments be published appointed in the control of the control of and movie star will be the added feature.

For real exciting thrilling laughs, you will want to see the new added feature Thursday afternoon and night in front of the grandstand, the Calf Scramble Contest between the FFA and 4-H Boys. Top prizes, U. S. Government Bonds, with free sweat shirts, football helments, rope halter and additional $25.00 U. S. Bond to each of the 20 boys. There will be harness and running races each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. Several miles of shows and rides will provide fun on the paved midway. On Saturday afternoon and night Jack Kochman's auto thrill show will provide thrills and chills, plenty of lively action.

ACTION AT ANTIETAM 1962

More than 1800 reactivated Civil War troops will converge on the hal-lowed hills near Sharpsburg, Maryland, September 15 and 16 to re-enact the Civil War's Bloodiest Day, the Battle of Antietam. Units from 19 states, from as far as Portland, Maine; Dallas, Texas; West Bend, Wisconsin; and Lexington, South Carolina, have all registered their intentions of participating in the grand re-enactment.

Many of the reactivated units that will participate are descendants of the actual units that participated in the actual battle. These include the Delaware Blues, Cameron's Highlanders, and the New York Ninth of New York state, and units from Ohio, North and South Carolina, and Massachusetts.

Most of the units will be bringing their own cannon, muskets, swords, and other authentic paraphernalia to add realism and authenticity to the

The re-enactment will portray the action leading into Bloody Lane. Tacticians for the commemoration will be National Park officials who have spent many years studying the actions and the tactics of this battle. Those of the National Park Service participating are: Benjamin Davis, Park Superintendent of the Antietam National Partle Site: Pebert Lagran Park Superintendent of the Antietam National Battle-Site; Robert Lagerman, Antietam National Battlefield Historian; Louis Tuckerman, Park Ranger; Dwight Stinson, formerly of the Antietam Battlefield staff and now of the Pea Ridge National Battlefield. The troops will rehearse and plan the activities directly from the Cope Series Battle maps from the Department of Archives, Washington, D. C. All action will be authenticated by these maps.

D. C. All action will be authenticated by these maps.

Nearly two tons of cannon charges will be used during the two day reenactment. Again authenticity has been stressed and Dr. Hazlett, of Wheeling, West Va., noted authority of Civil War Ordnance, has been consulted to determine the exact authensulted to determine the exact authenticity from the friction primer to the lanyard, and patterns for the cannon
