Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Carroll Record:

I have but recently heard with regret and surprise of the departure of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Garvin from Taneytown to a new pastorate at Parkton, Md.; regret, because of his faithful and unselfish service as a minister of the Church of Jesus Christ to the congregations of his pastoral Charge at Taneytown, Harney and Bart's; a service so unselfishly given, involving many sacrifices, and yet not without reward. His service was a faithful and fruitful one, as evidenced by the complete remodeing and modernization of the church building at Taneytown, together with extensive improvements to the church property at Harney and at Bart's; also improvements to the parsonage. But these material accomplishments are minor as compared with the real spiritual service he has given to the people under his pastoral care as their spiritual guide, through his consecrated preaching of the Gospel, his wise counsel, and especially the example of his own upright life as a Christian gentleman. Rev. Garvin has that rare inestimable quality - so often missing among the clergy as well as among the laiety—the quality of sincerity. He shows always in word and deed his full realization of the sacredness of his Calling as a minister of Christ. Such an example and influence were shared by the entire community, for his service was not limited to those of his own de-

Rev. Garvin was and is an industrious man. In addition to ministering to three congregations as their pasto three congregations as then pas-tor, and with no pastoral duties ne-glected, he has been driving five nights a week for more than twenty years to Baltimore in connection with nis work in the printing plant of the Baltimore Sun. Since coming to Tan-eytown, he has driven more than half a million miles in that service alone. The one mystery about Rev. Garvin is when he finds time to sleep. It was an appreciated privilege to be associated with Rev. Garvin as a pastoral colleague in Taneytown until my removal from the community in 1948. We have participated together in many union services. I occupied his pulpit many times as also he oc-cupied mine. His genial personality as a pastor and as a man encouraged and abetted what I might call a very unusual ecumenical amity among the churches of Taneytown, both Catholic and Protestant, in working together in so many projects for the furtherance of the best interests of the community, temporal as well as spiritual. Such a spirit I found more highly developed in Taneytown than n any other comparable community of which I have knowledge.

Finally, I want to express my sincere gratitude for the friendship of such a fine gentleman. We have been friends for nearly a quarter of a century. Rev. and Mrs. Garvin, together with their children, are persons whom I have always counted it an honor to know. I have enjoyed their hospitality many times. I am very sure that the entire Taneytown community shares the high esteem with which the Garvin family have always been held.

I not only hope, but I am sure that his new pastorate will be a successful and profitable one. Rev. and Mrs. Garvin will always bring blessing to any community in which they reside. May the good Lord continue to sustain and bless them with all the riches of His grace.

Very sincerely, Guy P. Bready Frederick, Md. November 10, 1962.

HIGHWAY FATALITIES

According to the weekly survey of highway fatalities published by the Maryland State Police each Monday, there were twelve persons killed in highway accidents for the week ending midnight November 11.

Four of those killed were drivers;

four were passengers; and four were pedestrians.

As in previous surveys, alcohol was a principal contributing factor, being present in three of the deaths; speed was present in six; and "driver erwas a contributing factor in ten.

A review of the past eighteen weeks indicates that of the 227 deaths on Maryland highways, alcohol has been a contributing factor in 45 per cent; speed in 46 per cent; and "driver error" in 80 per cent.

"Driver error," Major George E. Davidson, Field Commander of the Maryland State Police, points out, "is ignoring the basic and fundamental rules of the road. Among the most prevalent driver errors, in addition to speed and alcohol, are improper passing, failing to obey traffic controls, failing to give right of way, and failing to keep to right of center. "Most accidents, both those which involve loss of life and those which do not," continued Major Davidson, "could be avoided if the driver would make a conscientious effort to obey those basic laws which have been established for the protection of all motorists and pedestrians.

"To more effectively deal with a minority group which wilfuly and flagrantly violates the law, we have stepped up the use of unmarked cars during the last six weeks," added Major Davidson, "resulting in 7,029 arrests and 12,787 warnings by Troopers driving unidentified police vehicles. This effort to reduce accidents and save lives has met with state-wide acceptance and we expect to further the use of unidentified cars in our patrols.'

Merle Weant Wins Trip to 4-H Club Congress

Ten years of 4-H Club work will be climaxed this month for Merle Weant of Carroll County. Merle has been named a state winner for his outstanding participation in 4-H activities. He will, therefore, pack his bags and take off for the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Noember 25-29.

It is only natural that most of Merle's projects have been concerned with agriculture—dairy, swine, poultry, tractors. He has grown up on the family's 117-acre dairy farm in Taneytown. This 20-year old 4-H'er graduated from Francis Scott Key High School in June, 1961, and is presently helping his brother run the farm.

Every year since 1956, Merle has shown animals at both the Eastern National Livestock Show and the Spring Hog Show. He has also exhibited prize winning swine and dairy cattle at the state fairs.

Being in 4-H work has helped me to become a better farmer and a better citizen," says this state winner. Other 4-H activities include building floats, entering judging contests, preparing window displays, and serving in various offices of his club.

Being a Maryland 4-H representative is not new to Merie. He was one of the Maryland delegates to the Jackson's Mill leadership conference This year he represented the 4-H Clubs at the American Institute of Cooperation in Ohio.

"I have gained a wonderful ex-perience through the 4-H Club work," stated Merle. "Even though I have won honors, I am still striving to make the best better for my club, community and country.'

We will go to press one day earlier next week (Wednesday instead of Thursday) on account of Thanksgiving Day. We respectfully ask our advertisers and contrib-utors of news to get their copy to us ONE DAY EARLIER, PLEASE.

November always makes me think of Rabbit hunting and much else about those furry little animals. We owned one years ago and he surely was a dandy. His habits and manhad the run of the house that is the Parsonage. One day, we decided to take him to "Loves Retreat", thinking he would like the wide and open spaces and my Minister set him free on the lawn. That was the last of Mr. Rabbit for he headed to the

Another time as to rabbits when I was a little girl in Philly living in a house in a row, I was presented with several beautiful white ones and they, too, were pets. One day, we went to the yard, we saw a great big cat snatch one and was almost over the fence when my precious Mother reached up and jumping as high as she could grabbed that cat's tail! He opened his mouth and dropped that little bunny right into my arms! And the last story, Folks, about rabbits is the following. We were visiting friends in Kansas City, Mo., and the gentleman of the house was going rabbit hunting and I begged and pleaded to go along. When that little rabbit came into view, the silence was electric and that gun aimed against the shoulder of Mr. Hunter, I screamed and of course I never was invited to be a guest as to hunting anymore! I cannot understand how anyone can really say they enjoy eating rabbit, for I would imagine that I was eating a cat! UGH!

cured of cancer and that is really through your dollars?

Your observer had a terrific fall, in fact, just about the very worst one in all her life and she went down to that nice and brilliant Chiropractor, Dr. Calvin Hornstein (office in Ran-dallstown and one in Baltimore) and he is surely helping me by performing miracles! No medicine would have aided me only to ease the pain which means a temporary thing as you know. Medicine cannot put the vertebrae back in place!

Be sure and make the special trip to see "Gigot" pronounced "GEEGO" with that fat man, Mr. Gleason. This picture is entirely different from any which I have ever viewed and is in-tersting from start to finish. There is no getting away from it as that man is truly an actor and betcha he will get an OSCAR! He is supposed to be a Mute and his acting is marvelous without one word spoken. It is down at the "Mayfair" and I do hope it will have a long stay. Little Colette in the picture is adorable and has the most wonderful expression in those big brown eyes of hers! (Katherine Kath) You will understand the talent of Gleason if you have already seen, "Requiem for a Heavyweight" and then see "GIGOT." You will realize that the talents are widespread. How that man can run! I observed that you can really see how stout he is in this picture but his facial expressions are really beautiful. I'll leave the rest to you as I do not want to go into detail for then you will enjoy it all the more. But - - - don't miss it!

Awaiting the Shaffer's Bus at the Greyhound terminal the other night a young man sitting in the same seat said to me that he is from Westminster and his wife just had a baby girl - - - their first. Never, never have I seen or heard of such enthusiasm from any young father. He said, "I was permitted to just gaze at my little baby for a few minutes and I asked the nurse if I just could hold her a minute and she refused me stating they would not permit it. I just can't wait for two more days 'till I get my two girls home!" Cute? A man sitting behind me looked over his shoulder and said to me as this new father went in the search of Aspirins, "that is truly the most sincere man I have ever heard talk!" People are wonderful and I realize more and more that one finds them all over when you are not using the car! See what I mean?

And while I was writing this Column what do you think came in the mail? A booklet and advertisement entitled, "Pel-Freez Rabbit Recipes" from that Company! No foolin!
So long, Folks until next week D. V. Have a grand week-end and always remember not to do anything today for which you will be sorry tomorrow!

Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

George Towne, in the Georgetowne, Kentucky, News said, "Only in America.....the America of a bygone era, we are sorry to say, could a man shape his own destiny.....Today, however, while he is still relatively free to choose his own line of endeavor, any similarity between that and shaping his own destiny, is purely coincidental. At the top of every business, regardless of size, is some bureaucratic office of the Federal Government manipulating, controlling and otherwise effectively curtailing the efforts of free enterprise in a free society."

American business is a constant challenge. According to Nation's Business, "In this country there are 4.7 million businesses.....Some 475,000 will turn belly-up this year and another 350,000 will change hands or become inactive."

The Oregon Council of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency "NO TRESPASS CARDS" has narrowed efforts in the prevention field of crime and delinquency down to early identification of and timely help to children with small behavior disorders to prevent later and more severe and costly correction.

Benjamin Franklin once said, "A good newspaper and Bible in every house, a good schoolhouse in every district, and a church in every neighborhood, all appreciated as they deserve are the chief support of virtue, morality, civil liberty and religion.'

A recent editorial in the Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, Commonwealth Reporter, says, "The government has enough business problems without trying to sell electricity. The yearly post office deficit is just one example. Private enterprise has been the mainstay in our country's growth. We see no reason why the government should try to take over a successful private enterprise like the utility industry."

In a recent issue of Stanford Today, Karl Brandt says, "Thanks in considerable measure to the bully tactics of Stalin, Molotov, and their successors, Europe is striking off its fetters of narrow nationalism, reverting to its superior historical tradition. As it does so, it becomes a strong partner of the United States. Presservation of this partnership, which in effect means guarding against the European Economic Community turning into an emancipated Third Power, challenges the diplomatic resources of this country.'

According to David Lawrence, prohibition cost the nation in lost revenue and enforcement expenses an "estimated 30 billion dollars. Finally, he says, "the Eighteenth Amendment was repealed by adoption of the Twenty-first Amendment, which turned the problem back to the States. The principle of local option was re-established."

Robert G. Dunlop, president of Sun Oil Company makes the following statement: "The public has virtually no conception of the administrative maze of regulations surrounding business in this country. But to the businessman the regulation is a hard reality. The flow of new regulations and reinterpretations of old regulations - many appearing to be at cross-purposes with one another introduce elements of confusion and uncertainty over the future. Of all the deterrents to investment, a clouded future is the most effective."

My Pa he eats his breakfast in a funny sort of way: We hardly ever see him at the first meal of the day. Ma puts his food before him and he settles in his place And then he props the paper up and we can't see his face: We hear him blow his coffee and we hear him chew his toast, But it's for the morning paper that he seems to care the most.

Ma says that little children might grateful ought to be To the folks that fixed the evening as the proper time for tea. She says if meals were only served to people once a day, An' that was in the morning just before Pa goes away, We'd never know how father looked when he was in his place, Coz he'd always have the morning paper stuck before his face.

He drinks his coffee steamin' hot an' passes Ma his cup To have it filled a second time, an' never once looks up. He never has a word to say, but just sits there and reads An' when she sees his hand stuck out Ma gives him what he needs. She guesses what it is he wants, coz it's no use to ask: Pa's got to read his paper an' sometimes that's quite a task.

One morning we had breakfast an' his features we could see, But his face was long an' solemn an' he didn't speak to me, An' we couldn't get him laughin' an' we couldn't make him smile, An' he said the toast was soggy an' the coffee simply vile.
Then Ma said: "What's the Matter?" "Why are you so cross an' glum?"
An' Pa most took her head off coz the paper didn't come.

DETOUR-KEYSVILLE

Greetings to all:

Here it is, almost that busy Saturday: November 17. Are you ready to go to the supper at the United Church of Christ in Keysville? Will you be able to attend the Tupperware Party at the home of Mrs. Anna Clabaugh or have you given her your order? Perhaps you are planning on going over to the Ag. Center to 4-H Achievement Night? They will all be worthwhile so it makes it difficult to decide. Knowing many of you know Mrs Robert (Betty) Hood and are interested in knowing the news about her since this Cuban situation, I called her to be able to pass on to you the latest. It seems she was very definitely involved in the evacuation when all were given just an hour to get ready to leave and they could take just one bag per person. She said they were told to turn off their electricity and leave. It has been three weeks now and she hears from her husband about twice a week but as yet they still do not know anything definite. She and her son, Bobby, are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Young of Keysville. Betty was also telling me of their situation peforehand. There were so many things of interest to see and do and many facilities for entertainment. She s in hopes that she and Bobby will eventually be able to return there.

Keysville Lutheran Church Women held their meeting on Monday, No-vember 5, with Mrs. Doris Harner and Mrs. Mary Devilbiss as Leaders. On Wednesday evening, the 7th, Mrs. Ruth Wilhide, Mrs. Doris Harner, Mrs. Rachel Bostian, Mrs. Helen Dougherty and Mrs. Dharlys Fleharty attended a meeting held in Frederick for Lutheran Church Women which was about the Organization in 1963. The speakers of the evening told us about the plans for this Organization since the Merger. To us it did not seem as though the differences will be so great. There are differences, true, but we feel we shall be able to adjust to them with little difficulty our part. What we learned will be urther discussed at future meetings Friday visitors with Mrs. Richard Wilhide were Mrs. Melvin Baile and hildren, Michael and Lisa Ann, of

I have a mystery. Can anyone help me solve it? I call it "The Mystery of the Red Carnations." I have not mentioned it before thinking might bring out the answer but it hasn't, so I try this method now. On the evening before our Open House, we received by delivery from Creager's Florist in Thurmont, one dozen beautiful red carnations. No card was enclosed. Thinking it an oversight by the florist, we called them. We were told that the man asked them not to give his name. Now, I ask you, is that right? We have no idea to whom we should say "Thank you." In the event the giver should read this column and we still do not find out from whom they came, perhaps he will accept our thanks this way, for they were lovely and we truly appreciated the thoughtfulness behind the gift. Anyone have a solution?

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Misprints and literary blunders have plagued both authors and printers since the beginning of writing. Even the monks in the ancient monas teries made mistakes in copying manuscripts. Through misprints, a new field in collecting sprang into being. What is a blunder and how can it occur? A common one is the simple typographical error resulting from a typesetter's inserting a wrong character. Many such errors are never found until after the work has been printed. If too many errors occur, the author might demand that his book be re-printed or re-pressed. have another new address. It is 315 However, copies do leak out and col-Maple Avenue, Reedsville, North lectors find them. With the invention lectors find them. With the invention of the printing press, there came another innovation . . . the errata slip. This is a printed slip listing the errors in a book that have been discovered by the copywriter after publication. It was usually pasted in the individual volumes by the printer. In 1591 a book of 172 pages came off the press with 15 pages of errata. Such an enormous list of errors could not go unnoticed by the public. The author, feeling that some sort of explanation was in order, accounted for the misprints by saying, "the devil drenched the manuscript with vinegar, making it impossible for the printer to read it properly." Translations of books into different languages also account for errors. Such an error developed when a translator took the Biblical passage "Judge not, that ye be not judged" from the Arabic to read, "Be not just to others, lest others should be just to you.' Though some mistakes appear quite comical, some authors were very indignant over them and no doubt a few typesetters lost their jobs through an authors fiery temper.

Now that the election is over and there will be a new arrangement of our county commissioners, we trust they will find something more important to do with their time than to interfere with school consolidation here in Carroll. Gloria Swanson says that the trouble with American men is that they prefer their women to be on the dumb side. They are terrified of a bright woman. A ridiculous distorted ego is the cause of this attitude. Miss Swanson declared that the American male wants the female restricted to the home, raising cihldren, scouring pots and pans, shaking the dust mop and carrying out the garbage. Then he complains that his wife is dull and heads for the nearest bar. Remember Gloria Swanson said this,

I didn't. When Veterans Day was called Armistice Day it had a different meaning to some of us who can still remember faintly some of the earlier celebrations of Armistice Day. There were parades with bands playing, flags waving and people emotionally touched by the music, the flags and the speeches. For then, people really believed that the boys who died in the first World's War did so to make lemocracy safe throughout the world. Then no one could have made them believe that in less than fifty years the world would not be safe for anyone . . . not even democracy. But these thoughts have nothing to do with Veterans Day, not really. For the men and women who gave up their lives in World War II and the Korean War, or the brush fire wars all over the continents, had the same lesire to live as their comrades of World War I, and also the same desire to serve their country, though the reasons were different. Each decade has its crisis, and each decade has men and women who bravely stand and meet them. They valued life but not more so than honor and their country. This must be the lesson learned over and over again on each Veterans Day. Life is precious, but so is duty, honor and the loyalty to one's country. Without these three life is nothing. This is what we must remember on Veterans Day, for as long as we honor the ones who believed this and died. A highway sign in Maryland: "Be late, Mr. Jones-Not the late Mr.

The advice to young people is never acquire the taste, if you want to live reach the age to benefit from Social Security.

Much advice has been given on Cuba, but the best that we have heard comes from a man in Michigan who suggests that the Kennedy family buy it and if Castro refuses to sell then send Billy Sol Estes to steal it and if he can't steal it then send Harry Truman down to tell them where to go.

The election last Tuesday is proof enough that political campaigns are too long and that the voter gets fed up with the candidates and their speeches. Something must be changed that both the voter and the ones seeking office are not over-sold by the time the ballots are cast. Streamline electioneering in keeping with the space age. It takes ten seconds to get a jet off the ground. Why should it take ten weeks to get a balloon off?

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has gone from the American scene, but her compassion for the human race will live on and on. The minorities, the lack of opportunity for many, the neglected and the unwanted, she made her concern. She tried to set the world in order with kindness and understanding. She had a purpose for living and humanity will miss her

Highway Lifesaver

The head-on collision, deadliest of all automobile accidents, is being steadily eliminated on highways protected with tough steel median guard rails which separate traffic moving in opposite directions. The celebrated Pennsylvania Turnpike, above, has just passed the halfway point in a program to install median guard rails over its entire length. Not a single head-on collision fatality has occurred on another highway, the New Jersey Turnpike, busiest of the nation's toll roads, since it completed installation of a center divider down its entire 118-mile length

God's Call

Lesson for November 18, 1962

THERE is a word older than the Christian religion to express what happens to a man when God gets hold of him. The word is "saved." To its hearers in times past the word meant rescued, delivered, set free. That are not aware of it. Some people, especially people without religion, think that when a man becomes a Christian he gives up his freedom Dr. Foreman and his pleasure, and thereafter lives a tied-down wretched life. Quite the contrary. The Christian is not tied, he is untied, not chained but free, set Saved from what?

So much is said about this in the New Testament that we can take only one single passage of the many that have been listed for this lesson: Ephesians 2:1-10. The great word here is "made alive." The new Christian hasn't stopped living, he just never knew before what it is to live. The difference between before and after is the difference between death and life. What kind of life is the "dead" life? Three things are said of it: it is a life enslaved by the "spirit of disobedience"; it is a life enslaved to impulses and passions shared with the beasts; it is a life under "wrath." To put it into our everyday language, we may say that what God saves us from is (1) the habit of disobedience to God (and how self-destructive it is to be living as an enemy of Life!); (2) the habit of piggish self-indulgence; and (3) an exist-ence shadowed by the constant fact that one has 'urned one's back on God himself. From all this, God calls us away Saved by what?

A reader will object at this point. Does this mean that all

Christians were at one time criminals, outright and outrageous sinners? Do I have to be God's enemy before I can be his friend? Not at all. Many readers of these lines cannot remember a time when they did not think of themselves as Christians. In many cities there are "rescue missions" in the dirtiest and meanest parts of town, for derelicts, hoboes, down-and-outs. These rescue missions do a great deai of good. But there are also what can be called Prevention Missions if they do their job right; ordinary run-ofmine unpretentious main-line Christian churches, which by their life and work are every day say. ing their young people from starting on the road that ends in Skid

Whether it's a prevention or a rescue mission, what we're all either dragged out of or kept out of, is all the same thing. So what is it that saves us? Again it's all the same. We are saved by "grace," that is, God might have let us go-"good riddance to bad rubbish." But instead, he cared intensely for us, the pure and holy God actually loved and loves the soiled and selfish race of man. The point is that it is not because we were so good, God was bound to save us. He was so good that he saved us

Saved through what?

One thing is made clear all through the Bible. If man,-the race of man or some particular man-is going to be saved, he cannot save himself. God saves him; God's grace, that is to say his freely given love, saves us. But a life preserver will not hold a man up if he will not take hold of it. A word of wisdom might as well be a word of foolishness if no one pays any attention

Saved for what?

If a lifeguard has rescued a drowning man at the beach, the rescued man will not be so silly as to set up a tent beside the lifeguard's chair and every five minutes for the rest of the summer come to thank the lifeguard again. He will be eternally grateful for having been rescued. But if he never thought before, he may well think now: My life was almost washed away, and now it has been given back to me: what shall I do with it? So when God's call comes to a person, it is not a call to a perpetual vacation, it is a call to worl. We are saved not because what we have done earns the priceless love of God. We are saved to do the kind of work that God can do only through human beings,-saved to work with God. LUTHERVILLE FAMILY FINDS TELEPHONE CALLS SAVE 28 TRIPS TO TOWN IN TWO WEEKS

Not long ago, Mrs. Charles O. McAtee, Lutherville housewife and mother of two, kept track of all phone calls made by her family for two weeks. For each local telephone call that eliminated a trip in person, she estimated the time, travel and money saved.

And here's what the diary showed at the end of the two weeks: 567 miles of driving, $45.92 in car expenses and 34 hours ... all saved the easy way ... the telephone way. Telephone calls to the cleaner, the garage, the dentist, and department stores saved her countless steps and wasted motion. Mrs. Mc-Atee's enthusiastic reaction to the results of the diary? "It's really amazing how much time and effort your telephone saves you."

What tale would your telephone diary tell? You, too, would probably be amazed at how much your phone gives in return for its low monthly cost.
