CARROLL COUNTY TB ASSN. APPROVES GRANT

Unknown cases of Tuberculosis in Carroll County constitutes a public health threat which demands an intensive Case Finding program. At a special meeting of the Carroll County TB Association on March 25, Mr. Robert Lee Miller, President of the Association, announced that the Executive Board had approved a grant of $850 to the Western Maryland College sociology department to finance a research project in the area of tuberculosis case finding being carried out there by the sociology department.

The research will be done by a junior student majoring in sociology, under the supervised guidance of the teaching personnel of that department. It was brought to the attention of that department by the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association that there is a need for research in this area since for some time now there has been a lag in the use of the Mobile Chest X-Ray units as a means of discovering new cases of tuberculosis. However, the incidence rate of this disease is still rising, new cases being reported by local physicians. The problem at hand then is to discover the reason for this ineffectiveness of the X-Ray units to get at the "hard core" element of the population with this probable prevalence rate in tuberculosis.

A tentative outline for the study of this problem has been proposed and will include such aspects as case studies of existing tubercular patients in Carroll County as well as analyses of physician participation in the final diagnosis of this disease. The present care and treatment available for tubercular patients will also be looked into. After research of the present conditions involved in this problem is completed, various proposals and recommendations will be offered well within the present scope of medical knowledge concerning tuberculosis.

LUTHERAN WOMEN MEET TODAY AT TRINITY

Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner Elected as Chairman

More than 150 delegates and guests attended the Organizing Assembly of the Lutheran Church Women of Westminster District, which took place this morning (Thursday) at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Taneytown. The delegates, from Lutheran congregations throughout Carroll County, elected Mrs. E. Elwood Baumgardner, a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, as Chairman, and Mrs. George Sanner, a member of Emmanuel (Baust) Lutheran Church, as Secretary.

The Assembly was divided into two sessions. The morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock, opened with brief devotions by The Rev. Elwood S. Falkenstein, Dean of the Westminster District, Maryland Synod, Lutheran Church in America. Mrs. William B. Hopkins brought greetings to the Assembly on behalf of the host congregation. Among the special guests recognized were The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Fife. The Rev. Dr. Fife is the President of the Maryland Synod, Lutheran Church in America.

The Foreign Missions presentation employed a multi-colored map depicting the various missions areas served by Lutheran missionaries. Letters written expressly for the Assembly were read to the delegates from the missionaries in Montevideo, Uruguay; Fukuoka, Japan; Taiwan, China; Hong Kong; Singapore; and Tandil, Argentina.

The morning session concluded with an instructive leadership membership workshop, conducted by Mrs. Albert R. Fischer, President of the Maryland Lutheran Church Women; Mrs. J. Leon Haines, Chairman of Publicity, Promotion, and Publication Committee for the Maryland LCW; and Mrs. Oren Strine, Treasurer, Maryland LCW.

Devotions for the afternoon session, which began at 1 o'clock, were led by Mrs. Carl McCullough. The Scripture for her meditation was I John 4:13 (the Moffatt translation) from which was taken the theme for all the organizing assemblies of LCW in the Maryland Synod: "A Share in His Own Spirit." Mr. Ordell Braase, Administrative Assistant of the Lutheran Social Services, Baltimore, spoke of this agency's work to the indigent and other less fortunate in the immediate Baltimore area.

Mrs. Carl L. Schaeffer presented the report of the nominating committee. Following the election of Mrs. Baumgardner and Mrs. Sanner, Mrs. Fischer conducted the service of installation. The Rev. Howard W. Miller, Pastor of the host congregation, pronounced the benediction.

Between the sessions, at noon, the delegates were treated to a delicious luncheon of roast turkey, with cranberry sauce, cole slaw, peas, potatoes, dessert and coffee, prepared and served by the ladies of the local Mite Society and Lutheran Church Women. Mrs. Martin Zimmerman served as food preparation chairman; Mrs. Norman Sauble, as food serving chairman. The tables were beautifully set and decorated with fresh-cut flowers and favors of vari-colored spring hats. A backdrop of the LCW seal, picturing a white dove in descent against a blue background, captured the attention of the delegates. Mrs. John M. Skiles served as chairman of the decorating committee.

Interesting displays were arranged on Christian Action Projects, on Foreign Missions, and on LCW materials. Mrs. Wayne Baumgardner served as chairman.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADVICE

June — the traditional month of brides and roses—sees many a "Miss" become a "Mrs." But no matter in what month of the year this happy event occurs, the new "Mrs." should be sure to let her Social Security Office in on the good news—that is, if she already has an account number card in her maiden name.

A change of name requires a new social security card. It will carry the same number as she had before, but will be issued in her new name. Failure to notify us makes it difficult for the working bride to receive credit for earnings reported in her new name, even though the number is correct.

Therefore, working girls, let us know when you get married. It may help us to lower the 1½ million dollars spent yearly to correct erroneous earnings reports!

Your local office will send you the necessary form. Make your request to: Social Security District Office, 3107 Greenmount Avenue, Baltimore 18, Maryland.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning.
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!
Forsythia is just about everywhere and those magnolia trees are really breathtaking. The pansies are showing their pretty little faces in many rows. The Azaleas are much in evidence. The country side is beautiful at this time of the year. It was delightful driving up along the Susquehanna River in Harford County and seeing so many men fishing.

A letter from a Reader and which was a lengthy one which will follow as to the important part and perhaps it may give you room for thought.

Dear Observer: I am a widow now for three years and I sold my lovely home in the country to go half and half with my widowed sister. I never knew my sister was as careless as she is and I am grieved beyond describing as to conditions existing. She comes down in the morning still in her nightgown with her hair not combed and will remain this way until noon. She leaves her dishes in the sink. I even make up her bed and do so much else but I refuse to pick up her clothing which she drops to the floor. I regret from the bottom of my heart as to selling my home and I cry so much about it all as I am terribly upset. I hope this letter will save another woman from living with a relative for you really do not know the person, even a blood relation, until you live with them. Signed — Broken Hearted.

I do not have to write any answer to that, folks as she is giving advice to all. It is always best for any Widow to await for a time before giving up her home or going fifty-fifty with another individual relative or friend. Most every woman prefers and likes her own home. (Especially if she has had a home for many years.) I read in the Reader's Digest where there are 90,000 women living alone!

Mrs. Housewife, here is the best dessert for that party or your family which I have tried and which I read in the paper. It is called, "Peachy" and it is Ummmmmm good! So very different from all other desserts and it will serve ten guests. I know your guests will desire the recipe. I can sliced Cling peaches 1-lb. can), 3 eggs separated, ¼ cup water, 1 envelope of plain Gelatine, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup whipping cream and twelve Lady Fingers, drain peaches, saving 5 slices to garnish, dice remainder. Beat egg yolks with the water. In top of double boiler combine Gelatine, salt, yolks and reserved ½ cup peach syrup. Cook and stir over hot water about 8 minutes and remove from heat. Stir in juices and chill until slightly thickened. Meanwhile beat the egg whites until they stand in peaks and then remove and beat the whites. Fold diced peaches and whipped cream into gelatine mixture. Turn into a bowl and place Lady Fingers around edge, garnish slices, chill and set. That's all! Follow directions exactly.

Now, folks here is for that Aries Individual both Male and Female from March 20 to April 20. These people are deep thinkers and usually when they stick to one position or job, they excel and soar to the top in time. They are wonderful dressers and many times give the impression to the public that they are very wealthy. They can do just about anything they make up their minds to do but they must learn at a very early age to stick to one thing to be successful as at times they have as that old saying, "too many things in the fire at one time." At times they are given to arguing which they must learn to control as they have tempers which will dominate. This sign for both men and women is a very jealous one, in fact the Professor in Chicago under whom I studied called Aries "The Green Eyed Monster." All this can be remedied with self control for there are no finer leaders in any business than Aries individuals. "Leo" people are the ones who get along beautifully with them more than any other sign.

Have a grand week-end, folks. Drive carefully and now that you have joined Church on Easter, be sure to visit God's House at every opportunity.

Until next week-end may be seeing you D. V.

I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER

TAX BRAINWASHING

A burgeoning campaign—and it is a bipartisan campaign—is underway in Congress to sharply cut the proposed Presidential budget. The cuts would run to $10 billion and perhaps much more. And this movement is intimately connected with the tax reduction program.

Representative Byrnes, ranking member of the Ways and Means Committee, reflects widespread sentiment in these words: "It is time we tailor our tax laws to the needs of the economy — and that we tailor our expenditures to the needs of our tax laws." So does Senator Lausche when he says:
"... tax reductions cannot be made by the use of a magician's wand as pretended by the economists of the 1962 school. ... The Promoters of the principle that by taxing less and spending more the country will be better off, contemplate what is called an intensive educational program. Labeling it an education effort is wrong, because in truth it is nothing but a brainwashing undertaking."

"A tax cut without a corresponding reduction in spending will merely increase the already alarming deficit, substantially increase the interest burden which already amounts to ten billion dollars a year, increase the national debt which is already up to three hundred billion dollars. ... and further increase the fiscal burdens
that will have to be carried by future generations."

The moral is clear: The nation needs tax reduction—needs it urgently. But it must be accompanied by every possible cut in government spending.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

ODESSA, TEX., AMERICAN:
"Apparently the Amish of Independence, Iowa, are going to be fined or jailed again and again unless they bow down to the awesome might of the state. They must either send their children to the tax-supported institutions or must provide teachers approved by the state for their own church school. It would seem that every individual who claims to believe in freedom would jump in to help these farm folk who seek to train their own young people in the way they believe they should. For, if those in the school hierarchy are successful in closing the 'unauthori-zied' schools of the Amish, they'll start next on the Free Methodist, the Baptists, the Seventh-Day Adventists, the Jews, Episcopalians, Lutherans and Catholics."

JUNCTION CITY, ORE., TIMES:
"Two score and ten years ago our fathers brought forth upon this nation a new tax. Now we are engaged in a great mass of calculations, testing whether that taxpayer or any taxpayer so confused and so impoverished can long endure."

MEADE, KAN., GLOBE-PRESS:
"Let's hike right back to sane government practices in which we realize that we cannot go on spending more than we are making—that we cannot borrow ourselves out of the poor house, that we cannot postpone a day of reckoning forever and ever, that the only way to prepare for the future is to meet and conquer the challenges of today."

iting its funds!"

his right foot on a hot stove and his left foot in a freezer, some statisticians would assert that, on the average, he's comfortable.'"

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN.,
DAILY JOURNAL: "At the request of the Senate Appropriations committee, all field offices of the U. S.
Health, Education and Welfare department in all the states are making a spot investigation of families
on welfare rolls to uncover cheaters.
Families found ineligible are to be dropped and welfare abuses stopped, since they are supported by matching federal funds. This investigation—should answer many questions that have bothered a good many people throughout the country about the welfare program—specifically how widespread is the practice of living on welfare in this country."

LENNOX, S. D., INDEPENDENT:
"We spend billions on education believing that higher intellect will solve all of man's problems, but the simple fact of the matter is that it is man's emotions, not his intellect (or lack of it) that cause most of his troubles. A rejected, unloved child becomes a social problem because of an emotional upheaval in his life, not because he has been failed by our educational system. We are only fooling ourselves if we think such problems can be solved by starting at the top and working down. The trouble lies in the basic unit of society—the family.""

MARION, WISC., ADVERTISER:
"Reaction to liberalism (liberalism with OUR hard earned money, that is) is growing daily and it won't be long when the word conservatism returns to its time-honored place of respectability. The very survival of the nation depends upon it."

BRISTOL, CONN., PRESS: "Bicycle riders who disregard traffic signals are breaking the law just as drivers would if they fail to stop. The rules of the road governing the use of vehicles on our streets and highways include the riding and equipment of bicycles as well. Parents should be sure that youngsters know the rules of safe and sane bike riding."

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD:
"President Kennedy proposes to expand the experimental Peace Corps into a three-pronged offensive against domestic ills. If eager youths can do good for Nigeria they can do good for Washington. But the problem of idle youth itself, or idle adults, is not going to be solved by putting them all on the government payroll. The leaf-raking jobs of the Great Depression did little in bringing back prosperity."

Wyoming recently passed a right-to-work law. It thus became the 20th state to do so.

Maryland's total E and H bond sales for the first quarter of 1963, amounted to $19,248,432 and were 9.7 per cent above the corresponding 1962 period. This represents 26 per cent achievement towards the State's yearly quota of $74,100,000.

Salt water anglers are fishing in troubled waters today. In recent public hearings, one witness told the assembled Congressmen that "It is very possible that a fisherman of my generation who caught striped bass in the Atlantic Ocean as a boy will have to travel 3,000 miles to the Pacific to hook one before his fishing days are over."

The trouble is that little is being done today to ensure that future generations of sport fishermen will have fish to catch. This, despite the fact, salt water angling is the nation's fastest growing sport.

Coastal wetlands are being filled-in for housing. Pollution is spreading like a plague as cities grow bigger. Increasing fishing pressure on popular game-fish is wiping out young populations. Just as the Buffalo was wiped off the Western plains by overzealous hunters, so can the weakfish, the blue, striped bass, and the yellowtail disappear.

To help the nation's commercial fishermen, 129,000 strong, the government is providing approximately $25 million annually for deep water research and conservation activities. To assist salt water sport fishermen, or roughly one out of every three Americans, the nation's marine laboratory program which is responsible for research and conservation along 11,500 miles of recreational coastline, is provided $159,000, annually. This sum supports a laboratory at Sandy Hook, N.J. and a skeleton staff of marine biologists.

The laboratory program to help sport fishermen was started by Congress in 1959. At the time, Congress agreed $2.7 million could be appropriated annually for this work. However, no one has seen fit to ask Congress for more than 10 per cent of this sum which Congress thought might well be needed.

This year, coming to the aid of fishermen are four organizations including the newly created National Association of Marine Angling Clubs, Inc. which is now opening its membership drive across the country, the Outdoor Writers Association of America, the National Party Boat Alliance, the Underwater Society of America, and the American Littoral Society. The latter two, representing growing numbers of skin divers, are as keenly interested in marine conservation as fishermen. Testifying in the public interest in Congress, these groups called for vastly increased research funds for the marine laboratory program.

These organizations and their members deserve our help and our thanks. Without their interest and the willingness of their members to pitch-in and help, the thrill of hooking a bluefish or a striper could be a thing of the past.

New Fashioned Old Fashioned Cooking

Every now and then, most of us think nostalgically of the kind of meals we had back in the good old days, when mother had time to hand-tend a pot of soup or stew that took hours in the making.

Well, the new fashioned way to enjoy old fashioned cooking is by using a pressure cooker. The usual 4 hours required for home made navy bean soup, for example, can be reduced to about 30 minutes. Swiss steak or barbecued spare ribs cook in only 15 minutes, beef stew takes 12 minutes and fricassee of chicken is done in 25. Even corned beef, a notoriously long cooker, can be prepared in less than an hour. This easy-to-clean aluminum pressure cooker is like having a full-time chef in the kitchen. And because it is made of aluminum it heats evenly, cooks to perfection because there are no troublesome hot spots to contend with. Here's an idea for a hearty main dish that's ready to eat in 15 minutes—Potted Swiss Steak.

Potted Swiss Steak

- | | |
|----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 2 lbs. round steak, 1-inch thick | 1 medium onion, diced |
| Salt | 1 cup celery, diced |
| Pepper | 1 cup carrots, diced |
| Flour | 1 medium green pepper, diced |
| 2 tablespoons fat | 1/2 cup catsup |
| | 1/2 cup water |

Cut meat into serving pieces. Season with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Melt fat in aluminum pressure cooker and brown meat on both sides. Add onion, celery, carrots, green pepper, catsup and water. For exact cooking time and pressure setting, follow directions that came with your cooker. Makes 6 servings.

GETTING THE MOST... FROM YOUR GARDEN

by Dr. W. A. Liddell

Director of Information, Asgrow Seed Company

PLAN BEFORE YOU PLANT!

If you're an old hand with trowel and spade, these words of wisdom are already chiseled in stone over the doorway to your garage. But if you're starting a garden this year, or even if you're only thinking of fixing things up around the yard, give heed! By planning now, you can save time and money later on, and almost certainly you'll be better pleased with the results of your efforts.

Plan your space

None of us, probably, has space enough around the house to do all the things we'd like to. Even if we did, we'd still have to plan. Fortunately, planning what to do with the available area is a lot of fun and it can be reasonably simple. Some of us will want to consult a landscaper or a nurseryman for professional help with special problems, but a pad of paper, a couple of pencils, and perhaps a straight-edge ruler should be enough to get the rest of us thinking about what we want to plant and where.

In your planning, leave plenty of room! Trees, ornamentals, flowers, and vegetables have a way of growing bigger than we ever imagined. How many of us have found that the "little" evergreens by the front door now tower above the roof and threaten to block the way into the house! And who among us hasn't, in his first attempt, tried to squeeze an acre of vegetables into a 20' x 20' plot!

No, the message is: "think small" until you learn more about how things grow and what can be done in a given area.

Plan your time

This simple rule will save you many headaches and backaches. In gardening and lawn care there's usually a right time for doing everything. If you set your sights properly, there will usually be time for the essentials.

Figure out how much time per week you want to spend, and then make sure that the time is well spent. There's no sense rushing out on a postcard, to Asgrow Garden the first warm Saturday at the end of winter to plant a flower garden.

It will be another month before the soil is warm enough for plants to grow. If you can't resist doing something outdoors at the first sign of spring — and who can, really? — spend it with your lawn. It will respond quickly to a little attention at that time.

On the other hand, later this summer, why break your back mowing the lawn every Saturday morning? Relax and go swimming! Your lawn will probably be the better of having escaped one or two scalplings during the hot, dry weather.

Plan your budget

There's no sense kidding yourself that gardening and lawn care don't involve money. But don't go overboard, biting off more than you can chew; and above all, don't try to skimp in the wrong places.

First, decide how much you can afford to spend and then list the possible ways you could spend it. You can figure costs by consulting your garden center and the catalogs of reputable horticultural suppliers.

While we all want to get the best value for our money, the fact is, with garden and lawn supplies and equipment, you get in value just about what you pay for — and maybe less, if you're addicted to "price" buying. It takes a lot of experience to shop for bargains in this field.

If you would like free information about how to grow vegetables in your back yard, send your name, on a postcard, to Asgrow Garden Guide, PO Box 406, New Haven 2, Conn.

Plan a Permanent Party

Everybody's doing it in June! Nearly 3 million women celebrate June, NATIONAL HOME PERMANENT MONTH, by having home waves. Any time is the right time for Toni home permanent get-togethers, when women enjoy bridge, TV and visits with friends.

Spring Planting

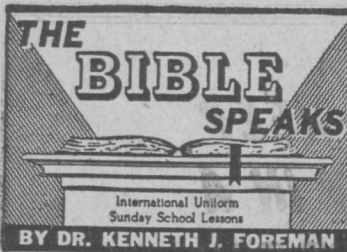

All over the country at this time of year farmers are preparing their fields for the spring planting. Today there is a growing trend toward the use of bulk fertilizer, which is less costly than bagged material. With this new spinner-type New Idea spreader holding up to two tons of fertilizer, the farmer can spread his fields in a uniform pattern up to 56 feet wide using pelleted, granulated and semi-granulated fertilizer.

Time Out For Nutrition

Helping Jim Phillips, star pass-catching end of the Los Angeles Rams, get in shape for the 1962 professional football season with a refreshing nonfat milk toast are a couple enterprising lads whose fathers also know something about throwing and catching passes. They are Tommy Waterfield, left, and Winn Hirsch—sons of former Ram greats Bob Waterfield and Elroy Hirsch. Phillips led the National Football League in passes received last year.

Worship and Life

Lesson for April 21, 1963

Bible Material: Psalms 1: 15; 73.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 139:1-12, 23-24.

THERE are two sides to religion. One side is shown when a man enters his room and shuts the door and speaks with God alone. The other side is seen when the man leaves his room to take part as a Christian in the life, work and service which he shares with others. On the one side of religion, in its extreme form, a man forgets about other people and turns to God as if he were the only other being in the universe. On the other side of religion a man deals with his fellow men in devotion and sympathy, as if they were alone in the universe. One might say that one extreme of religion is to deal with God and forget man; the other extreme is to deal with men and forget God.

The kind of religion which is called Christian, as well as our mother-religion Judaism, believes that each of these extremes are wrong, and that the right truth is that the kind of religion God desires and delights in, combines both worship and service.

Worship

The subject of these Bible studies from now through June is going to be the Psalms of the Old Testament. Any attentive reader of the Psalms will find that they, like all the Bible for that matter, look both ways—toward God in worship, and toward this life with its tasks and troubles. Each of the Psalms chosen for this week combines these two sides of religion. Take the First Psalm as a prime example. At first glance it seems to be all about man. It describes two kinds of men, good and bad. The good man is compared to a great tree by a river-side; the bad man is like the chaff blown from the threshing floor on the hill. From the first verse to the last, attention is focussed on these two men, the tree-man and the rubbish-man. And yet a second glance will show a third person in the picture: the LORD. The two men are examined and judged in reference to God—in reference to their relation to God and to His will.

Isn't it true that we often judge men without thought of God? Isn't it true that we often judge other things, events in nature and in the human world, without ever a thought of God? The Psalm suggests that whatever we look at can be seen more truly if we see it in the light of God.

Life

If the first Psalm observes conduct in the atmosphere and light of religious faith and worship, the 15th Psalm observes a worshipping man in the light of his conduct. The main point of Psalm 15 is characteristic of both Old and New Testaments: You can't worship God aright if you are the wrong kind of person. You can't disobey and disregard God six days a week and make it up by going to church on the seventh day. Worshippers with what the Psalmist would call dirty hands get nowhere with God. Some of the most severe denunciations in the Bible are against those who make a specialty of worship but have forgotten to be just to their fellow men. The story of Cain is a notable example. Cain and Abel brought sacrifices to the same God; God did not accept the sacrifice of Cain—why? He was not the kind of man whose sacrifices would be acceptable.

The place of beauty

So true worship and right living blend into and support each other. But there is another point the Psalms suggest. The Psalms are poems, and much beauty is in them. Is beauty something the good man should fear or despise (as some good men have thought), or is beauty related both to worship and to life? If we follow the guidance of the Psalms, we shall find that beauty, so far from being a mere decoration, is a support to both sides of religion. Beauty is not a substitute for either worship or conduct, yet it has a high place in both. How would the Psalms sound if all their beauty were ironed out flat in unimaginative prose! How unattractive is a good life that has no beauty in it! Right living is an art rather than a science; and so beauty of spirit is even more attractive, in the long run, than beauty of form. If you made a list of the people you love and admire most, are the persons at the top of the list the most handsome?

The Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company will conduct their annual solicitation for funds from April 15th to May 15th. It is hoped the people of this community will be generous when the canvassers contact them for donations which are requested merely to keep the company in a position to meet any emergencies that arise, also keeping in mind that these men give freely of their time for this worthy cause.

Ham • Chicken Complementary Combination

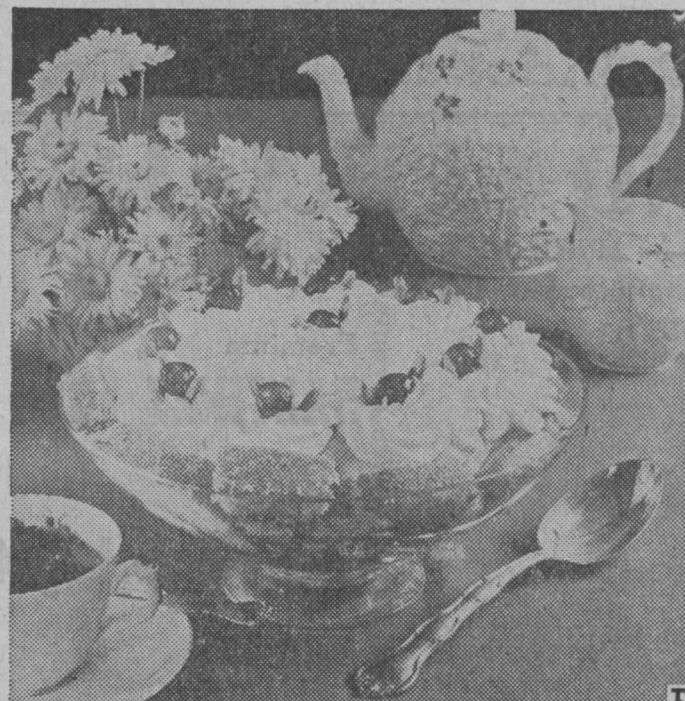

Good eating individually, ham and chicken are even better in combination. Sample the proof in Ham and Chicken Shortcake. This appealing entree for a luncheon or supper features a creamy chicken sauce spooned over and sandwiched in between squares of quick bread made with whole bran cereal. Ground ham sparks the shortcake squares. Serve this tasteful main dish accompanied by buttered peas and crisp relishes.

HAM AND CHICKEN SHORTCAKE

½ cup All-Bran (whole bran cereal)	3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup milk	½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sifted flour	1 cup shortening
	1 cup ground, cooked ham
½ cup butter or chicken fat	1 cup chicken stock
½ cup flour	1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt	½ cup light cream
½ teaspoon pepper	3 cups diced, cooked chicken
½ teaspoon nutmeg	2 tablespoons pimiento, cut in strips
½ teaspoon celery salt

Combine All-Bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Stir in ham. Add All-Bran mixture, stirring only until combined. Spread mixture in greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into pieces approximately 4 x 2½ inches. Melt butter. Stir in flour, salt, pepper, nutmeg and celery salt; blend well. Add chicken stock, milk and cream gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in chicken and pimiento; heat thoroughly. To serve, split shortcakes, place spoonful of chicken sauce on bottom halves. Cover with tops and remaining chicken sauce. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

A CHALLENGE TO TEEN-AGE COOKS

Our American teen-agers not only enjoy preparing good food, but they like to learn about the background of celebrated international food specialties. Quick to note new products and new techniques, they are apt to eliminate preparation steps from the traditional recipes and create their own, streamlined versions.

To encourage this creativity and interest in food, the makers of Royal puddings, gelatins and pie fillings are conducting a recipe search that offers teen-agers in our town and across the country an opportunity to attend world-famous cooking schools in Paris or New York.

The recipe search is open to high school students and requires the entry of a recipe made with one of the Royal products. Complete details about the recipe search are available from: Royal Student Recipe Search, P.O. Box 50, Madison Square Station, New York 10, New York.

Typical of young America's streamlined approach to classic cuisine is this simplified version of an English Trifle, the famous dessert combination of cake and custard.

ROYAL PEAR TRIFLE

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) pear halves, drained	2 egg yolks
1 large bakery jelly roll	2 tablespoons margarine
1 package (regular size) Royal Vanilla Pudding	¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups milk	1 cup heavy cream
	Candied cherries
	Silvered toasted almonds

Drain pears, reserving ½ cup pear juice. Cut jelly roll into slices ½-inch thick; arrange slices around side and on bottom of a deep, 9-inch serving dish. Sprinkle cake slices with the reserved pear juice. Place pear halves on cake. Refrigerate.

Combine Royal Vanilla Pudding and milk; stir in egg yolks. Cook over medium high heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Stir in margarine and vanilla extract. Place waxed paper or transparent wrap directly on pudding; cool. Pour cooled pudding over pears; refrigerate until ready to serve.

At serving time, whip cream; spoon onto pudding or turn into pastry bag fitted with large rosette tube and make rosettes on pudding. Garnish with candied cherries and silvered almonds.

Makes 8 servings.

(The struggle of peoples around the world to win stability for their countries and better lives for themselves is one of the great stories of our time. Especially equipped to tell this story are CARE Mission Chiefs. On four continents they distribute the CARE food and Self-Help materials made possible by U.S. contributors; they are in daily contact with the men, women and children engaged in striving for growth. Here is a recent report by the Mission Chief in the Dominican Republic.)

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC — This Caribbean nation is taking decisive steps to protect one of its most important natural resources — its valuable forests.

Nearly one-half of the 500,000 acres of pine forests in the mountainous central part of the country has been destroyed in recent years through wasteful practices.

The destruction was caused by farmers seeking to extend their individual acreage by the "slash-and-burn" method, and by people taking long suppressed vengeance for their sufferings under the Trujillo regime. This took the form of burning down forests owned by the dictator, his family and favorites. Eighty percent of the land, industries and businesses in the country were owned by the Trujillo clique.

Today, with the help of CARE's people-to-people aid programs, the country's rich timberlands are being safeguarded.

Recently the first class of 40 students graduated from the Dominican Forestry Training Center. The rangers, most of them in their early twenties, are now spread throughout the wooded regions of the country to protect it against fire and depredation.

That constructive step was made possible because CARE provided the school with $7,000 worth of tools and firefighting equipment necessary for the training program.

American forestry engineers estimate that it will take from 10 to 12 years of firefighting, planned seeding, disease control and other forms of scientific forest management to restore the woods to their former abundance and safeguard the productivity of the valley farmlands.

Protection of the wooded central part of the island is of even greater significance because it serves as the main watershed for over 15,500 square miles of farm lands.

The 3,000 people in the Dominican Republic are vitally concerned with the increase and diversification of crops. Until the fall of the Trujillo regime, the country depended almost exclusively on sugar. The drop in the world market price, however, has brought a demand for greater diversification.

Renewal of the country's near-bankrupt economy depends on initiative taken by communities tackling their own local problems. Joint voluntary efforts of citizens are being called for by the Government.

CARE's Mission in the Dominican Republic is playing a key role in this important effort. The agency's Self-Help program is putting plows, wheel-hoes, agricultural implements, masons' and carpenters' tool kits, sewing machines and other equipment in the hands of willing townspeople.

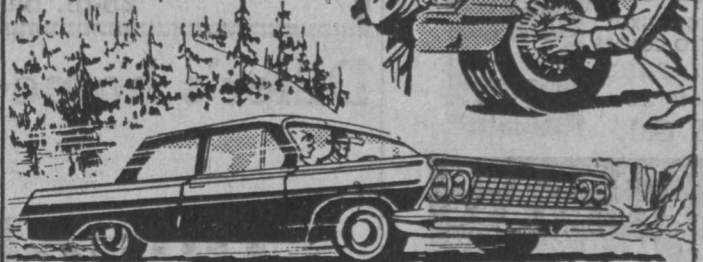

Tips For The Travelbound.

For a smooth, carefree motoring vacation, prepare your car as carefully as you prepare your itinerary by following these three steps suggested by Tyrex Inc., association of Tyrex rayon tire cord producers.

First step is a stop at your service station. See that the car's lubricated ... have lights adjusted if needed ... ask the attendant to check oil, battery, transmission fluid, brakes and wheel alignment.

Second step is up to you. For safety's sake, Tyrex urges you to let your tire dealer check your tires. Look for wear and cuts ... make sure your spare is in good shape.

You're finally ready for the road and step number three: have you remembered roadmaps, flash light, litter bag, first aid kit and enough games to keep the kids occupied on those long stretches ahead?
