COUNCILMAN NAYLOR'S REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

The 15th annual Conference of the Maryland Municipal League met at the Commander Hotel in Ocean City, Md. from June 9 through June 11, 1963. Delegates in attendance from Taneytown were Mayor Perry and Councilman George Naylor, Jr.

The Maryland Municipal League consists of 136 towns throughout the state of Maryland. At these conferences all types of problems which confront town governments are discussed and experts in their field are in charge of the technical sessions and lead the open discussions afterward. Much is to be gained by attending these conferences through learning how other cities and towns have solved problems which confront our own local government or which might face our town in the future.

These meetings are very educational and informative. The following is a report of this conference. On Sunday afternoon the Conference opened at 2:30 P. M. with Mr. Alan Beals, Executive Secretary of the Maryland Municipal League, speaking on "Municipal Home Rule." This talk centered around the relationship between the city and the state. He stressed the importance of mayors and city councilmen running their own town governments and staying away from state involvement as much as possible. This, of course, means that much more responsibility rests upon the mayors and city councilmen under this form of government.

At 3:30 P. M. Mr. John Shriver, Director, State Fiscal Research Bureau, spoke on "Financing Municipal Government." He spoke on State Shared Funds and the formula used for the returning of these funds to local government. The methods for the returning of these funds are as follows: (1) State Shared Income Tax—As you know the State taxes every individual 3% on ordinary income and 5% on investment income when you file your State Income Tax at the end of every year. Of the 3% on ordinary income the State keeps 2.32% and sends 34% to the County and 34% to Taneytown, the town in which you live.

Of the 5% on investment income 3.3% goes to the State with .85% going to the County and .85% going to Taneytown. If you do not live in Taneytown the County gets the full .68% return on Ordinary Income and the full 1.7% of Investment Income. This shows how important it is to fill in that portion of your tax return stating that you live within the corporate limits of Taneytown on your State Tax Return each year.

(2) Auto License—On the average $15 auto license, $10 goes to the State, $2.50 to the County and $2.50 to Taneytown. Again, you must state on your form each year that you live in Taneytown or the full $5 goes to the County. If you live in town and give an RFD number the town does not get its share of this tax.

(3) Admissions Tax—The entire proceeds from this source goes to the town where admission is charged for admittance. (4) Business Franchise Tax—50% goes to the County and 50% comes to Taneytown. If your business is outside the town the County gets the full 100% of this tax. (5) Business License Fee—This entire tax goes to the town if your business is in town or to the County if it is outside the town limits.

(6) Racing Money—This is based on population. 50% of the Racing Revenue goes to the State; the other 50% goes to the counties based on percentage of population of all counties. Then each county distributes its share of revenue to the towns on the same percentage of population of each town to its county population. (7) Motor Vehicle Fines and Gasoline Tax—50% goes to the State for the construction of State roads. 30% goes to Baltimore City. 20% goes to the counties based on the percentage of miles of roads in each county to the percent of miles of roads within each town to the total number of miles of roads in the county. At the present, the width of streets and alleys within a town has no bearing on this return but is based on length only.

Monday morning, June 10, the Conference opened with the invocation by the Rev. Richard S. Gibson of the Atlantic Methodist Church and a Welcome Address by the Mayor of Ocean City, Hugh Cropper. Talks by Warren Phelan, Regional Administrator of Housing and Home Finance, Philadelphia, on "Federal Aids Urban Renewal" and a talk by Russell Nontney, City Planner, Rockville, on "Renewal in Central Business Districts" were given. Since these do not concern Taneytown too much I shall not comment on them in this report. However, statements were made that Maryland is growing very rapidly and much intelligent planning is needed by each community of the state for the future in the areas of housing, town governments, the keeping and restoring of historic buildings, etc.

Vacation Bible School

The Community Vacation Bible School of Taneytown will be held at the Taneytown Elementary School with the opening session on Monday, June 17th and concluding on Friday, June 28th. The daily session will be conducted from 9:00 to 11:30 A. M. The theme, "Christ's Way, My Way," taken from the Standard Curriculum will be used and taught throughout the school. It is very highly recommended for Community Schools. We feel that we have a very good staff of teachers and helpers with the able guidance of the Co-Directors, Mrs. Blanche Lookingbill and Mrs. Betty Naylor and the Supervisor, The Rev. William F. Wiley. The present enrollment stands at 180. This will probably be increased with the first and second days of the School. We hope and pray for a grand school which will make our children better followers and disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ. Boys and girls, we look forward to seeing you at the V.B.S. on the first day, Monday, June 17th at 9:00 A. M., promptly.

GUILD AND BROTHERHOOD MEETING

The Guild and Brotherhood of Grace United Church of Christ met on Thursday evening in the Parish House. The meeting was in charge of the Christian Education Committee, Mrs. Larina Fream and Mrs. Catherine Clingan, co-chairmen.

Mrs. Guy Benchoff of Woodstock, Va., as guest speaker, spoke on our responsibilities as Lay Workers. Religion and Christianity are not new subjects but because times are changing, we must find a new and different way to carry the message to the world. The Lay people must realize this urgency. It is something that we cannot shirk.

Groups were asked to discuss: (1) How can my church serve best through the Lay people, and (2) What are the places where the church ought to be at work?

There being no business meeting, the group adjourned to the dining room for a social hour.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health-life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

FATHER'S DAY!

Legend and romance have always glorified Mother. The poet has allowed her place in life and home. Father's Day comes more than a month after Mother's Day. Thus Mother's Day loses none of its glory and glamor. Little sentiment is created through toils of Father. His sacrifices of which he never brags! Many think of Father just as the wage earner. Much of his time is spent in the world of strife and competition. It is true that Mothers soothe the brow, heal the hurts, ease the pain but Father pays all the bills. Many women desire to work out instead of remaining at home and they will let Her Mother or His Mother assume the entire responsibility regardless of the objection from Father. So therefore it means Father is coming into his own since women are earning money as well as men. He is becoming recognized for what he is rather than what he has!

A little boy was asked, "What is wonderful about Father's Day?" And the quick reply from the little fellow was, "Mother's Day!" We all know the Fifth Commandment which God gave to man, HONOR THY FATHER AND THY MOTHER! You see Father was mentioned first! In the marriage ceremony, we all know the question by heart, "Will you love, honor and obey?" I think that should be applied to all Fathers—to love him, to honor him and to obey him!

I know of many who take Fathers just for granted... thinking of him as the man who pays the bills! I know many families who are distant to Father and will say, "I can't be affectionate with my Father but he understands that I love him!" How sad! Fathers are so worthy of affection and they just beam with a hug and a kiss and a word of encouragement! Just try it from this day—his day and realize the big dividends!

I know of a few Mothers who will always say to a child, "I'll talk it over with your father first and see what his opinion is!" That is considering Father and is as it should be! Just stop and think, folks, of the many times a Mother can sit down and relax in her own home, but how about Father? Can that man say to his big Boss, "I'll stop working for a half hour to take a rest!" What rest does Father really have? Just take inventory, folks. The only time most Fathers rest is when their hands are folded in their last rest and I think you know just what I mean.

I have been in homes when Fathers have driven up to the door and no sooner than he alights, I heard, "Supper is not ready yet, dear, so you might as well do the lawn first!" Father should come directly into the house, be handed the evening paper after a warm bath with his clothing ready for him—an entire change and that should always be for one-half hour before his big meal. He will live much longer! Do not permit Father to take a shower—ever, for that is truly what is killing the men with heart attacks!

A close friend told me the other day she will always remember her graduation from High as they were very poor people and yet her father surprised her with the dollar a week which he had saved for the special dress for that big night! Think of the Fathers who work overtime to save that money for the college education and he just beams when he says, "My daughter or my son is going to college!"

FATHERS ARE NECESSARY!
I did not have the opportunity when I was young," Fathers say, "but I made up my mind that my Johnny will!"
I recall when I was in my teens when my Beloved Dad was ill and I ventured to shave him daily and succeeded and would curl his moustache up and he appeared handsome and with a loving kiss and hugging him tightly, I would say to my Precious Mother, "Just look how handsome he is, Mama!" Then, when he had to hurry to make a call which was unexpected, I would place water with ammonia in a bowl and with a whisk broom sweep and sweep his trousers and then press with a dry cloth while they were still damp so the creases would be permanent. Those days there were not the number of cleaning establishments as there are now. One day, he walked all the way home to purchase a beautiful doll that he saw in a store window that he thought would be very special for me! I recall my Minister stating, "Such sweet love from a daughter which I always desired!"

What is home without a Father? Many widows marry again just to give the children a Father. Did you ever see the expression on a child's face when he states that either his father is dead or his parents are divorced? One grown man, who is the son of my friend and is now 40 years of age, talks about his parents being divorced and that he never really had the love of a Father!

There is so much more to write about that wonderful man in your house! Love him and appreciate him for FATHERS ARE REALLY NECESSARY!

Have a happy day this coming Sunday on the special day and make it for the entire year.

Will be seeing you next week, D.V. I am,

Faithfully,
Your Observer.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1963

THE SHORT END

The Seattle, Washington, Post-Intelligencer editorializes on a truism that deserves more public understanding on the part of the man in the street than it enjoys: "The basic difficulty, inherent in any socialized welfare service, is that once the system takes root, the administrative overhead becomes so extensive and expensive that the public necessarily gets the short end of the stick."

It uses the Social Security System as an example. It was established in 1937 on the theory that it would provide benefits superior to those available under private plans. See what has happened: "..... consider the case of a worker today who at 21 begins paying his Social Security taxes. By the time he is 65, he will have contributed, between his own and his employers' payments, over $18,000.

"If that same money were banked at 4 1/4 per cent compounded quarterly, he would accumulate about $50,000 at retirement age. This money continued at 4 1/4 per cent would bring in an income of about $2,125 yearly. On the other hand, S. S. provides only $1,524."

It can be added that S. S. terminates on death, save for very small benefits to widows. No cash reserve is built up.

brides love me!

Pardon my blushing, but I, REDDY KILOWATT, can steal

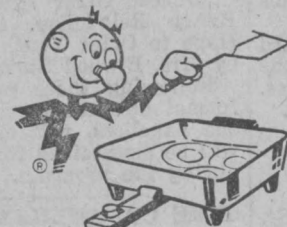

the heart of any June bride. Yes sir, modern brides can't resist the electric way of making housework fun. With an electric coffee maker, I can help her make coffee with ease... and make coffee

that tastes better than ever before.

She loves the way I cook breakfast, lunch and dinner in an electric fry-pan... so easy, convenient and takes up such a small amount of room. I'm a real trouble-saver with an electric toaster... she just puts in the toast and forgets it until it pops out, ready to eat. I can also help her keep ahead of the "sunbathing season" with an electric ultra-violet

sun lamp... for just minutes a day

she can have a beautiful tan all year-round. And, no husband can resist food cooked on a flameless

electric range... cooking is easier, faster,

cleaner. The modern bride will have fun experimenting with her new electric blender, a unique kitchen help that will assist her in preparing unusual and tasty dishes for her husband. All brides love ME and their electrical appliances... the perfect wedding gift for the June bride.

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The very erratic Spring kept up its record with a drop in temperature to the frost point, Monday and Tuesday. Very wet spells, very dry spells, then hot and cold by turns, has been the season's record. Early potatoes are greatly in need of rain.

Miss Amelia Birnie left Thursday evening to visit her sister, Mrs. Geo. W. Clabaugh of Omaha, Neb.

Miss Mary Shaum was one of this year's graduates at the Maryland State Normal, Baltimore, carrying off high honors.

Clyde Hesson was one of the year's graduates at Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg.

Messrs. E. J. Classon and J. W. Nusbaum attended the State Firemen's Convention at Westernport as delegates from the Taneytown Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Fringer of Seattle, Wash., arrived here on Sunday on a visit to Mr. Fringer's brother, Calvin T., and sister-in-law, Mrs. Lavina Fringer. They are on their way to Seattle from a trip around the world.

We are very glad to announce that Earl and Carroll Koons made fine records at Massanutten Academy this year as members of the Senior Class. Earl will enter Johns Hopkins University on his certificate. Carroll gets a scholarship of four years in Lehigh University. M. A. Koons and Rev. Martin Schweitzer attended the commencement exercises.

Frizzellburg... Barley harvest has begun but help is scarce owing to the fact that many are employed on the state road... The cherry crop is a short one, but the quality is good and are bringing high prices... Jacob Marker had the barn on his farm covered with a new shingle roof this week.

Harney... John Yealy has torn down the building on his lot, commonly known as Dr. Simpson's old office, and is having it erected on the other side of his house for a summer kitchen and wash-house... Some of our farmers have commenced making hay but the crop generally will be short. Barley is now being harvested and the crop is said to be a good one... E. G. Sterner is having his dwelling painted which will add greatly to the appearance of the place.

COUNCILMAN'S REPORT

the methods used in determining the needs of State Highways, the costs of building new roads, maintaining our present roads and the new four-year program for the future.

Also at this same session, John Shriver, Director, State, Fiscal Research Bureau, spoke on the seriousness of getting revenues to meet the very pressing needs of State government let alone getting enough funds to cover the things that should be done.

At 2:30 P. M. Walter Scheiber, City Manager of Rockville, Md., spoke on "Effective Annexation Policies." This came at a very opportune time in that Taneytown is in the midst of annexation procedures. He spoke of many flaws in the annexation laws, many of which will very likely be passed during the next session of the state legislature.

General Rinaldo Van Brunt, Director, Maryland Civil Defense Agency, spoke on "New Developments in Civil Defense." Quite an elaborate plan is being passed along to counties and towns on building fall-out shelters in public places to protect the population after a missile attack from fall-out. Many communities have either forgotten about or have failed to do anything along the lines of protecting their people from this danger.

On Tuesday morning at the 10 A. M. session several delegates to the 1963 General Assembly of Maryland spoke on various bills that were passed. Acting Speaker Marvin Mandel, Fifth District, Baltimore, told of the Planning Commission that was set up to investigate and study all problems of the Metropolitan Area of Baltimore. This also includes Carroll County. Areas to be studied include water, land, roads, recreation, zoning; in fact, all facets of living.

Delegate Raymond McDonough of Prince George's County told of one bill that will enable municipal employees to withdraw from the State Retirement Fund and another that will enable municipalities to set up special taxing districts. Delegate Goodloe Byron of Frederick County told of the State Sanitary Facility Fund that enables municipalities to borrow money from the State to finance water and sewer projects. Interest on this money would only cost 2.5% but only 25% of the cost of any project could be borrowed from this fund.

Delegate E. Homer White, Jr., of Wicomico County spoke on Maryland Traffic Safety and the educational program that must be undertaken to make everyone safety conscious. Carl Everstine, Director, Department of Legislative Reference, spoke on the new fiscal year period for counties (July 1 to June 31), the revision of the condemnation laws and tax exemptions for the elderly.

At 11 A. M. Mayor Theodore McKeldin of Baltimore spoke on "The Life and Health of our Largest City — Baltimore."

The annual luncheon was held at 12 noon with the Honorable Brooks Hays, Special Assistant to President John F. Kennedy, bringing the address. His message dealt with Federal-Local State Relations. Mr. Hays was outstanding and everyone thoroughly enjoyed his address.

The Conference adjourned at 2 P. M.

Charter Amendment Resolution No. 1 of the Mayor and City Council of Taneytown, titled "A Resolution to repeal and re-enact Sections 405 to 434, both inclusive, of Article 7 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (Flack's 1930 edition), title "Carroll County, subtitle "Taneytown," as amended by Chapter 188, 1931 Acts; Chapter 100, 1937 Acts; Chapter 550, 1943 Acts; Chapter 173, 1947 Acts; Chapter 243, 1949 Acts; Chapters 313 and 543, 1951 Acts; Chapter 281, 1953 Acts; and Chapter 101, 1955 Acts; and any other amendments, the said Sections and amendments being the Charter of Taneytown" was adopted on June 3, 1963, pursuant to the authority of Article XI-E of the Constitution of the State of Maryland and Article 23A and Article 23B of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 edition, as amended), to repeal the present Charter of the City of Taneytown as contained in Sections 405 to 434, both inclusive, of Article 7 of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland (Flack's 1930 edition) and to enact in lieu thereof the municipal corporation charter contained in Article 23B of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 edition, as amended), title "Municipal Corporation Charter," with the following exceptions:

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter establishes qualifications for Councilmen of one year residency, the new Taneytown Charter establishes qualifications of two years residency and twenty-five years of age.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides for an annual salary for Councilmen, the new Taneytown Charter provides for a fee for each meeting.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides for the Mayor to act as President of the Council, the new Taneytown Charter provides for the Council to select its own President.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides for each ordinance to be published in a newspaper and permits a referendum on ordinances, the new Taneytown Charter provides for summary of each ordinance to be published and omits the referendum provisions.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter establishes qualifications for the Mayor of one year residency and authorizes the Mayor a veto power, the new Taneytown Charter establishes qualifications of a five year residency and twenty-five years of age and omits the veto power but authorizes the Mayor to vote on all questions before the Council.

The new Taneytown Charter contains the powers of the Council regarding tree trimming that were in the previous charter in addition to the specific powers contained in the Municipal Corporation Charter.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter establishes voter residency requirements of 6 months, the new Taneytown Charter establishes voter residency requirements of one year.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides for a Board of Supervisors of Elections to control elections, the new Taneytown Charter vests these powers in the Clerk-Treasurer.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides nomination by primary elections or conventions, the new Taneytown Charter provides for nomination by filing of a certificate.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides for election every four years, the new Taneytown Charter provides for staggered election dates.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter provides for a vacancy in the office of Mayor to be filled by an appointment by the Council, the new Taneytown Charter provides for the President of the Council to become Mayor in event of a vacancy.

Whereas the Municipal Corporation Charter does not contain a limit on the rate of property taxation, the new Taneytown Charter contains a limit of $90 per hundred as provided in Chapter 101, Laws of Maryland, 1955.

The new Taneytown Charter makes reference to the borrowing authorization contained in Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, (1957 edition, as amended).

The new Taneytown Charter contains the powers of the Council regarding repair of public utilities on public ways that were in the previous Charter in addition to the provisions of the Municipal Corporation Charter.

A copy of the new Taneytown Charter will be posted on the Bulletin Board of the Post Office and a copy is available for public inspection in the office of the Clerk-Treasurer.

Charter Amendment Resolution No. 1, adopted June 3, 1963, shall become effective on July 23, 1963, unless a proper petition for referendum is filed before July 13, 1963, in accordance with the provisions of Section 13, Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 edition, as amended).

Justice

Lesson for June 16, 1963

Bible Material: Psalms 11; 72; 82; 106; Amos 5; 8.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 67.

PEOPLE who talk about the separation of church and state often do not know just what they are talking about. As the founding fathers of America saw it, there is a danger in the possibility of the state's supporting one church or one form of religion against all others. The framers of the constitution had seen some examples of state religions and they did not want to make the same mistake here. However, it was not their intention to rule religion out of public life. These were the same people who started the custom of inaugurating presidents and other high officials with religious oaths and public prayer. These were the same people who adopted the motto "In God We Trust."

Justice is demanded

In the view of the Bible, justice is not optional. When the prophets spoke of justice, they were speaking of it as a requirement, not optional but demanded. The prophet Micah speaks of justice as one of the three great requirements of religion along with mercy and humility before God. Justice is woven into the Ten Commandments and into American ideals. A man dare not fancy himself religious, he dare not fancy that he can please God, if he is not just in all his dealings, so far as he is able. All forms of Christianity have this (and much else, to be sure) in common with one another and with the religion of the Jews: Religion and right conduct go hand in hand. Religion that is genuine calls for a life devoted to justice. This does not mean that every man is called to be a lawyer or a judge. It does mean that every day every person is faced with some decision, perhaps many, in which he is tempted to be unjust.

Justice is defense

There is one very interesting feature of the Bible's interest in justice. It is hardly ever defined as simple fairness; it is more often seen as taking sides. It is the notion of some people, though how they can think so is a puzzle to any who knows a bit of history, — a notion that justice is to speak automatically. There is something in the nature of things that works toward justice — so this idea supposes — so that we do not have to try hard, much less fight, for justice. Everything will come out right in the end if you will just leave everything alone! Of course, it does not. Whenever injustice, in any form, has passed away or become less, it has because some one was bold enough and strong enough, not only to speak up for the victims of injustice, but to stand up for them. Justice, mentioned in the Old Testament so often, means taking sides when one side is unfair to the other; "the poor," "the needy," the oppressed — these words are common. The Ten Commandments begin with an introduction to God, "I am a just God." Rather, "I am the Lord thy God who brought thee out of the house of bondage." God is the kind of God who is everywhere and always on the side of the oppressed and against those who do the oppressing. Justice, if you believe in it, often demands that you fight for it. Justice is defense.

Justice is divine

Unjust people seldom think of themselves as unjust. Every one knows in his heart of hearts that injustice is wrong. Every one resents injustice fast enough if he is the victim; very few people can see injustice being done when they are the oppressors, not the oppressed. Injustice has many evil consequences, but itself is rooted in selfishness. In the days when society was organized in the feudal pattern, nobody thought it wrong that the serfs, at the bottom of the ladder, were cruelly treated. "Noblemen" would resent, at sword's point, the kind of treatment they gave the serfs every day. If you asked a nobleman about this, he would have said it was no injustice, he was so much superior that he deserved superior treatment. In every age those who battle for justice have the equivalent of the feudal so-called noblemen against them. There is no comfort for the fighter for justice: He may be sure that the God who hates injustice is on his side.

Whatever they call you, they say it with love. It isn't easy being a father these days. A father is many things, to many people... all of different ages.

So have a nice day, Papa. Enjoy yourself, Dad. Be happy, Daddy. Rest a little, Pop. And remember, Happy Father's Day.
