HAPPY BIRTHDAY, HERBERT HOOVER!

Herbert Hoover will be 89 years old on August 10th. It is a ripe ageand one can only hope that the 31st President of the United States will be with us for many years to come.

Few men have seen so much of the world or done so much for the world as Mr. Hoover. He has known triumph and tragedy, victory and defeat, exaltation and despair, all beyoud the ken of most mortals. In private life and in public, whatever the destinies of the moment, he has gone resolutely ahead as his conscience and his heart and intellect directed. And he has emerged a wise and mellow man, whose friendship and loyalties are beyond numbering.

It is for his work on behalf of the bungry, the dispossessed and the downtrodden that Herbert Hoover will be best remembered in historyand it is history that, finally, separates wheat from chaff and presents a man whole in the context of his time. Mr. Hoover started from humble origins but knew financial success at an early age. Then he divorced himself from commerce and turned to public life. Through wars and revolutions his was the guiding hand that saved millions from misery, pestilence, starvation, and death.

Happy birthday, Herbert Hoover! The civilized world will echo that fine old greeting.

ICC PROTECTS FREE - LOADERS

Jubilation in the South and Midwest over the 60 percent reduction in freight rates on multiple car grain shipments, for which the Southern Railway petitioned the Interstate -Commerce Commission two years ago and put into effect on May 11, was short-lived.

The ICC, by an 8 to 3 vote on July 15, rejected the new rate and ordered it cancelled by August 26. A majority indicated it might approve the rates if they were increased 16 percent, and sparked the immediate charge by Southern Railway's president D. W. Brosnan that:

"The Interstate Commerce Commission has arbitrarily increased the cost of living for everybody in the South . . . by approximately 16 percent . . . has decided that we must charge people more money than we need to charge them. It says we must soon charge $1.16 for a job we are doing profitably for a dollar." He promised that: "We'll carry our case to the Federal courts while we fight for our right to save the people money."

Whatever the intent of the ICC order, the effect will be to insure the lion's share of the grain hauling to the unregulated itinerant trucker, and to protect the extortionate profits of the equally unregulated water carriers and private grain dealers who use the taxpayer-built waterways in their grain-hauling operations without charge. This latter transport at the expense of inland towns and

Even more important, this order may well have killed off the vitallyneeded expansion of agricultural industries in these areas. The hopedfor developments include greatly increased production of meat animals, dairy cattle and poultry, more feed and flour mills and meat-packing plants in the South - with corresponding expansion in market outlets for the grain surplus of the Midwest.

The ICC has ignored its duty to the public, and it seems to us, is guilty of the very kind of discrimination it was set up to prevent. Nevertheless, this action by the Commission to make people pay more, not less, for the things they buy may | Press.

be very timely right now when Congress is considering the minimum rates bills, S 1061 and HR 4700. Passage of this legislation will permit justified and non-discriminatory rate reduction by all common carriers on the 70 percent of freight traffic composed of agricultural and bulk commodities.

It is now plain the ICC is not about to permit the railroads to compete for this freight - or to allow the public to enjoy lower prices. Now only Congress can help. So, perhaps, we should remind these gentlemen they have the remedy at hand.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Raymond Moley writes in Newsweek: "Stripped of all legal and philosophical falderal, constitutional government comes down to simple common sense. It is a device for the containment and control of those individuals who temporarily possess power over great affairs. The people who wrote our Constitution quite correctly regarded their fellow man, as one writer has put it, as 'a good sort but one who wants watching.' This is especially true when circumstances have created a vast power complex in which overwhelming authority is concentrated in a single individual."

According to the AP, it takes the taxes you and five other average Americans pay each year to keep a government secretary on the payroll. Her cost, including desk, typewriter, and other appurtenances is about $5.047.20.

From the New York Times: "It's a toss-up which is worse: the sound of a transistor radio outdoors or the sight of the person who lovingly carries it, usually walking about openmouthed and /or glassy-eyed. Transistor radios, especially . . . outdoors

. . are a blight on the landscape and to the eardrums. Adult children and childish adults use them as mating calls and conversation pieces. Sit on the grass or a park bench and a pointy-headed addict will sit nearby and blast off. Carriers (remember Typhoid Mary?) play them loudly at ball games, even at music festivals. Passengers play them in buses, and other fanatics play them at the

A recent study forecasts that by the year 2000 the U.S. population will be 331 million, will earn an average of $14,000 a year per family after taxes, and will produce $2 trillion worth of goods and services. The people will be taller, the study goes on, and will eat more meat, wear fewer and lighter clothes, travel more extensively, and pay about 25 per cent more income taxes.

Life magazine observes: "When the new Pope announced he would be called Paul, an American Jesuit in Rome said, 'The name is a program in itself. The very name will sit with both the Protestants and the Orthodox.' He expressed a hope lit by the late Pope John XXIII for all Christian churches — that they may be reunited and so multiply the influence of their faith beyond Christendom, as Paul the Apostle first launched its influences beyond Palestine."

An economy class plane ticket from New York to London now costs $270. Pan American World Airways, convinced that lower rates are the road to more traffic, proposes a thrift fare of $160-a whopping reduction of $110. But this needs the unanimous approval of all the transatlantic airlines which make up the International Air Transport Association, so there's no sure way of telling at the moment whether Pan Am's idea will be given a trial.

Retired Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs, speaking from 37 years of experience in the diplomatic service. says: "Many of our diplomatic missions could perform twice as effectively with half the personnel now imfesting the premises." He tells of the Greek embassy to which 70 military personnel were attached when he had the post, and adds: "Had I been able to deploy them for three hours every morning in full-dress uniform, playing leapfrog across the Acropolis, that would have made as much sense as most of the attache duties they solemnly declared they were engaged in."

Joseph Wood Krutch writes in his book, "More Lives Than One" (Sloane): "Man had hardly built the first cities before he began to try to get away from them."

In 1932, 2,196,000 people received a monthly check from the federal government. Today, 40 million people are receiving monthly checks from the government.

How to Mix Chemicals 1

When mixing chemicals, the label gives most necessary information. Sometimes it's a little tricky to figure out exactly how much water and chemicals to apply per acre. It isn't always possible to use exactly the amount of water per acre called for. But it's always necessary to apply exactly as much active chemical ingredient per acre as called for.

But the problem can be solved. Here's how. First, it's necessary to find out how much water a sprayer is delivering per acre. Then use the following formula to find how much chemical to be used in your sprayer

Number of acres to be sprayed x pounds actual chemical required per acre Pounds of active ingredient per gallon of liquid

Example:

You have a sprayer with a 50gallon tank that sprays 10 gallons per acre. One tankful will cover five acres. You want to control grasshoppers on grassland, and recommendations call for 0.25pound of actual chemical per acre. The chemical you have says two pounds per gallon actual chemical. Here's your formula:

Number Acres (5) × Chemical required per acre (0.25) Per Chemical required per acre (0.25) = 0.825 Chemical per gallon (2)

0.625 gallons of concentrate must be added to 50 gallons of water in the spray tank.

One precaution:

Don't let band spraying confuse you. Remember, bands usually cover one-third the total ground area, so you use one-third as much concentrate per acre.

How to Make One Gallon Of Spray

Sometimes you'd like to mix just a gallon or so of spray for small jobs. Then it's sometimes necessary to figure in teaspoons instead of pints. Here's how: One teaspoon per gallon equals one pint per 100

If recommendations call for 3/4 cup per 100 gallons (the same as 3/8 pint per 100 gallons), use 3/8 teaspoon per one gallon of water. If the recommendation is for two pints per 100 gallons, use two teaspoons per gallon and so forth.

Handy Liquid Equivalents: 3 level teaspoons = 1 level tablespoon 2 level tablespoons = 1 fluid eunce 8 fluid aunces = 1 cup 2 cups = 1 pint 1 pint = 16 fluid eurzes 2 pints = 1 quart 4 quarts = 1 gailon 1 gallon of water = 8/z pounds

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor.

It has seemed, ever since Postmaster General J. Edward Day took charge, as if the Post Office Department does not want to move the mails. No doubt the rate increases of the first of the year have relived Mr. Day's workers of some of their burden, even though the effort to abandon parcel post was put on the shelf for three years by Congress. What the new "Zip" numbers will accomplish beyond endless confusion, delay and the misdirection of huge quantities of mail remains to be seen. And now come more regulations to harass newspaper publishers and de-lay delivery to mail subscribers. Now and henceforth, papers addressed to small town must be bundled up and sent to an appropriate control center. sent to an appropriate control center. U.S. Savings Bonds make such good gifts for your grandchildren

The U.S. Savings Bond you give to a loved one carries two important messages with it.

First it says that here's a gift that will grow in value and some day go toward college tuition or a home or keep on growing as a nest egg for the future.

Even more important, it says to a grandchild or niece: Here's a gift that makes you a saver. That helps you take your place among a nation of savers. That starts you off on the road to financial strength which is really the strength of your country. And while your gift is growing, the dollars are working hard for freedom in a world where the enemies of freedom grow tougher and more determined every day.

Few other gifts accomplish as much as Savings Bonds. Why not start giving them today? (If you're a grandfather several times, you'll probably be most interested in the $25 variety which sells for $18.75 at any bank.)

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

Venture of Faith Lesson for August 4, 1963

Bible Material: Genesis 12 through Devotional Reading: Romans 5:1-5.

SURELY it would be a very extraordinary mortal who would be remembered with pride nearly four thousand years after his lifetime. Such a man was Abraham, honored as a saint in three religions, Jewish, Mohammedan and Christian. There is a Mohammedan mosque over the cave where it is said Abraham was buried: and pious Jews used to write out prayers and drop them in, presumably over his tomb. But

Dr. Foreman Abraham is much more than a historical curiosity and a post-mortem saint. The point is, Why is he so long and so respectfully remembered? He was a rich man for his times; he was a stout desert fighter: he was a great family man; he was on equal terms with kings. But he is not best remembered for these things. The word that should pop into any one's mind if asked what Abraham was noted for, is Faith. The faith that says, "I believe"

Faith has various meanings. We can select three of these and find that Abraham had all three. Now Abraham's faith, of whatever sort, was centered in God. This man had some faith in his family, a little in people outside his family, and no doubt some self-confidence. But these are slight matters, and he is not remembered for his faith in man. He put his faith in God. How he came to know about God when his ancestors were worshippers of "other Gods" as Joshua said (Joshua 24:2), we do not know. What experiences led him to the God forgotten or never known by his fathers before him, the Bible does * not say. But he believed in God, and God counted it to his credit. He believed in God in three ways which are closely related. First he believed that what God said was true. God gave him a threepart promise: first that he should have a son and many descendants; second that these descendants would "inherit" a piace in the sun, to grow to a nation; and third (stranger than all) that in some way he, Abraham, would be one who would bring a blessing to the whole world.

The faith that says, "I will" The reader can think for himself why all these promises were hard to believe. But Abraham believed them because he believed that it was God, and not some trick of his own imagination, who had put the thought, the conviction, into his mind. How did God speak to Abraham? Did Abraham hear God just as you hear voices on the radio? Did God speak in the Sumerian language? (Abraham lived where Sumerian was spoken, and the Hebrew language had not then been born.) We don't know about this. What is really important is that what God wanted

It was not only a matter of believing that God's promises were true. He could have believed that with his eyes shut, dozing over his supper, without the least danger in the world. But God called him into uncertainty and danger. GO! God said; and Abraham went. He had faith that said "You are right" in the face of improbabilities; he also had the faith that said "I will" when faced with hardship and risk. He had a sitstill consenting faith but he also had a going faith.

Abraham to believe, he believed.

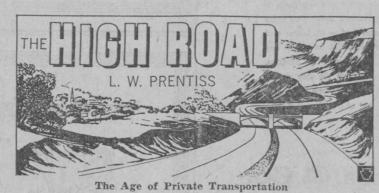

The faith that says, "I believe what you are"

Abraham believed what God said, and he was willing to do as God commanded him, because he believed in God. Again we do not know how he came to this faith. Perhaps gradually, perhaps all of a sudden. At any rate we all know what it is to believe in a person. You know this person will not lie to you, you know this person will not try to use you for selfish advantage. You know that this kind of person is just not capable of doing a mean thing. If some one told you a scandalous story about him you would know at once it couldn't be true. Now Abraham had that kind of faith. The number one thing with him was not, after all, believing in God's promises and God's commands. He believed in God. period. Believing that God exists is thought by some people to be the essence of religion, but it is not. I believe that pipe organs exist but that does not put one in my house and it does not make me a musician. Religion begins to be religion when we no longer merely believe something about God, but personally believe in mud" was the battle cry of the highway program in the 1920's and 1930's. In the early days of the automobile age, a paved road outside of the limits of a city or incorporated town was rare enough to be a curiosity.

Today, almost 70 percent of the 3,127,225 miles of rural roads in the United States have some kind of surfacing. A substantial amount of the remaining non-surfaced road mileage is so little traveled that paving is not justified; nevertheless, much remains to be done before we can claim a complete allweather road system in the United States.

Nowadays, however, "getting the farmer out of the mud" is one among many objectives of the national highway program. The automobile and the truck have become such an integral part of American life that good highway transportation i sential to the success of almost every activity. Industries, schools, churches and shopping centers share the farmer's vital concern with the highway program. Commuters get stuck in urban traffic jams more often than farmers get stuck in the mud.

The essentiality of highway transportation to the national economy and the national defense is reflected in the Federal-

"Get the farmer out of the aid highway program, which has assisted the States in the ighway program in the 1920's improvement of their highway networks since 1916.

Federal-aid expenditures for highways, increasing in line with the increase in highway travel, now approximate $3 billion per year, all of which is collected by means of special taxes on highway users, chiefly the 4c-per-gallon Federal tax on gasoline.

These special tax receipts are allocated by Congress to four categories of Federal-aid highway expenditures: (1) aid to the State primary, or trunk-line, highways, (2) aid to farm-tomarket roads, (3) aid for the improvement of city arterial. streets and expressways and (4) aid in the construction of the 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways, the new system of coastto-coast interconnected expressways designed to meet our deneeds and to serve as the backbone for our total highway network. The Federal government pays 90% of the con-struction cost of the Interstate highways and 50% on other Federal-aid highways.

State, local and Federal officials are all working together to coordinate their highway construction activities recognizing that the roads are economic and social lifelines which are the key to better living for all of us.

TRACTOR MAINTENANCE TIPS

Young folks have been learning answers to tough tractor questions in 4-H tractor maintenance schools since 1944. Learning by doing, they've found that better tractor care results in longer tractor life, more power and lower operating costs. Here are typical questions they answer at the end of their course. What's your score?

- 1) Is it best to grease morning or evening? Why?
- 2) Do front wheel bearings with no grease fitting need lubri-
- 3) Does too much grease on the clutch pilot bearing cause any harm?
- 4) How often should the air cleaner be serviced?

Although only a dozen or so tiny grease fittings are on your tractor, each does a big job, lubricating some mighty important parts. Remember, the best time to grease is evening, when the bearings are warm and take grease more easily. Always wipe dirt from grease fittings and the gun tip to avoid forcing dirt into bearings. Greasing at day's end also protects bearings with a film in case it rains and machinery stands idle, susceptible to rust.

If front wheel bearings have grease fittings, lubricate at least once a day. Use just enough grease to "ooze" it out around the inner dust seal—not so much the seal is damaged. If there are no fittings on front wheel bearings, remove the wheels periodically, clean and pack the bearings. Take care when greasing clutch throw-out or pilot bearing; too much grease commonly causes faulty clutch operation. Grease on the clutch face may cause slippage, generate heat and score the plate. When the clutch plate becomes rough, the clutch grabs. Remember, one stroke of the gun is enough.

Engines use more than 8,000 gallons of air for each gallon of gasoline burned. Or, they require 131/2 pounds of air for each pound of fuel that burns. And diesel engines suck in a full cylinder of air every time a piston moves down on the intake stroke. Air is dirty and it's the air cleaner's job to clean it. When operating in a dusty area, clean the cup once every half day, or as recommended in the operator's

A dirty, plugged, air intake stack restricts air flow and increases fuel consumption. Also, a leaky hose or clamp may let enough dirt in to ruin the engine. Check for other leaks, too-a leaky manifold gasket usually causes the tractor to misfire when idling. A simple check is to put a few drops of oil on the gasket and see if oil is sucked into the
