Mr. George Motter spoke of the plans of the Council of Lay Life and Work. He assured all that each would have a job in the church.

The program closed with all singing "Bless Be The Tie That Binds."

FALL LIVESTOCK SURVEY CARDS

George Fream announced today that Rural Mail Carriers will begin distributing annual Fall Livestock cards to farmer-patrons on their routes about November 16.

The annual Fall Livestock Survey provides the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service with basic statistical data on livestock and poultry. "These reports will be used for compiling official estimates of the pig crop, number of cattle, hogs and sheep on farms, and poultry being kept for egg production."

This is a sample survey, so not all farms will receive a survey card. To assure that your community is represented in this survey, Mr. Fream urges each farmer-patron receiving a card to fill it out and place it in his box.

Carriers distributing the survey cards from the Taneytown Post Office are: Ralph F. Kelly, Route 1; Howell B. Royer, Rt. 2.

PARAMENTS DEDICATED AT GRACE CHURCH

DOUGHERTYS OPEN NEW MARKET

Ultra-Modern Store on East Baltimore St., Taneytown

A completely modern market was opened yesterday (Wednesday) by the Doughertys on East Baltimore Street, Taneytown.

One of the finest stores in the County, Dougherty's Super-Thrift features a meat department with fresh, smoked and processed meats. The manager of this department is Mr. Joe Noel with 15 year's experience in meats. Another feature in this department is some meats without bones for the housewife's convenience and quick and economical cooking.

This most modern market, with three check-out stations, has the new frozen food case multiple deck which means eye-level shopping — first in this area.

A full line of luncheon meat, sliced fresh daily, is being offered. Home-style salads are made daily on the premises.

In their new location, the market offers ample off-street parking for your convenience.

This ultra modern market, to be known as Dougherty's Super-Thrift, is owned and operated by the Doughertys, headed by Mr. Harry Dougherty, Sr., who has been in the merchandising business since 1937. They are proudly (and rightly so) operating this store, offering a wide variety of nationally-known products at money-saving prices.

Scouts Activities

Fall Program Underway

A spate of patrol hikes and campsouts wound up the Summer days and ran through the months of September and October, the latest being a 12-mile hike two weeks ago by eight members of the Panthers under Patrol leader Rickey Clinean. In late September a bus trip to an Oriole game in Baltimore was the start of the Baltimore Area Council's Fall Round-Up, 22 members embarking on the excursion as part of a recruiting plan to recognize at an Open House on December 12 those Scouts who bring in a new member. The game, unfortunately, was canceled as the group entered the ballpark, but the outing was redeemed by a refreshment stop on the return trip.

At last week's meeting a plan to form a new, fifth patrol under Acting patrol leader Robert Miller was put into effect for the first time and a new "corner" allotted to them in the Scout hall. Any rearrangement caused by boys requesting transfers to this or another patrol is to be flexible for the next two weeks after which the line-up becomes permanent. The 1963 patrol contest closing was announced for November 30, whereupon the new one will begin, to end September 30, 1964, a more normal time to finish out the old and begin the new round of troop activities.

Scout Advancement

Such Scout contests as compass dash, measuring, Morse code, map symbols, and First Aid bandaging have characterized recent meeting programs. Perhaps as a direct result of emphasis on Morse signaling by buzzer, this stumbling block was overcome by patrol leader Clinean, who attained First class rank at the Board of Review conducted by Troop committee chairman Francis E. Lookingbill, October 29. Another advanced was James McKinney to Second class, while the honor of Star Scout was earned by Patrol leader James Frock and Assistant Philip Martin of the Foxes. At an earlier one Second class was reached by Foxes Ricky Airing and Robert Eckert, while a considerable amount of merit badges have been earned in their selected fields by the following: Airing, Home Repairs and Painting; Senior patrol leader Samuel Bower, Citizenship in the nation, nature and mile swim; Eckert, Home Repairs, Pets, Reading and Scholarship; Samuel Fleming, Cooking; Brett Fleagle, Hog Production; Frock, Marksmanship; Philip Martin, Poultry Keeping; Assistant scoutmaster Larry E. Six, Personal fitness; Edward Thompson, Home Repairs; James West, Cooking; and Thomas West, Mile Swim.

The Foxes seem to have stolen a march on the Flaming Arrows (Thomas West, patrol leader), finally overtaking them for the moment in the annual inter-patrol contest which now ends with this month. Scout advancement plays a part in these scores, and the Foxes have been unusually active in advancing. The finish should be close and exciting, for the Panthers too have been climbing rapidly.

New Members

Although a couple have been lost through the natural attrition of competing interests, duties, and activities, Robert Lookingbill completed his Tenderfoot test and was accepted as a Panther in September, while Richard Frazier is at any moment expected to join the Foxes. Terry Bell is a transfer to the Raccoons and should help to put them in the running again. With five groups now to work at the recruiting, and new faces continually appearing, it should not be long until each patrol will have reached or surpassed the ideal of active members — and yet there is room. Watch for details of the Open House for new boys on December 12.

Life is not truly life, but only misery. — Euripides.

Baltimore Archdiocesan Census

Approximately 50,000 volunteer workers will begin briefings this week-end in preparation for the massive Archdiocese of Baltimore Census of Catholics, the first such nose count in the 174 year history of the diocese.

Involved in the door-to-door survey will be Baltimore City and the 9 counties of Maryland that make up the oldest See in the United States.

The massive operation set for November 17, is under the leadership of the Rt. Rev. John C. Griffith, whose office is in the Archdiocese Chancery, 408 N. Charles Street.

Into this office, in three weeks, will flow folders from the parishes that will finally pin point just how many Catholics live in the area.

The last time, believe it or not, a hard figure was available was in 1919, when about 2,000 Catholics lived in the area now under census.

Since the Archdiocese once spread from New England to Florida to the Mississippi, the number has fluctuated from the thousands to the millions and back again.

At present, secular and lay leaders guess there are about 438,000 Catholics live in the city and Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Howard, Carroll, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Garrett and Harford Counties.

The primary aim of the census, beside the necessary nose count is to allow the archdiocese to project the needs of the faithful for the next 30 years.

From information obtained, broken down to digits and punch cards and fed into IBM computers, archdiocesan leaders will be able to closely estimate the number of churches, schools, hospitals and care homes will be needed by, say, the turn of the century.

This, in turn, allows for proper financing and planning and avoids the possibility of erecting large hospitals in what appear to be fast growing areas which may be deserted in coming decades.

The form the volunteers carry to every home, hospital, jail, nursing home, boarding house, hotel, transient stop, and mansion in the area, is simplicity in itself.

It can be filled out in less than 10 minutes and no questions are present which might offend the rights of privacy of the questionnaire.

The census will get underway the afternoon of the 17th and continue into the early evening. It is expected that every home in every section of the see of Baltimore will be approached by volunteers.

For that one day, Catholics are urged to remain home until the census takers have passed in an effort to make the count as complete as possible.

At the same time, small groups of volunteers will follow up during the week in the event someone was missed.

But for the big count, everything short of roadblocks has been considered.

For example, seminarians will be pressed into duty in those areas downtown where parish lines fluctuate. A class of sociology students from the College of Notre Dame of Maryland will also assist.

But the biggest bulk of the doorbell ringers will be the parishoners themselves, working in teams of two.

The census form itself is broken down into two parts.

The first deals with members of the household 21 years of age and over. The questions deal with age, sex, baptized, convert, confirmation, marital status, education level and whether or not the living quarters are owned or rented.

Part two is for the younger set and involves educational programs, i. e., type of school, receiving instructions, grade and number of sacraments received.

All information will be handled in strict confidence.

Each volunteer will be armed with an identification card, which should be shown, to verify their identity as census takers. The cards will be signed by the bearer and will have the signature of Archbishop Shehan in the lower right hand corner.

But the underscoring element of the census is the thoroughness. Everybody should see to it they are counted.

Or as one worker in the census office said, "wherever anyone is, we'll be."

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The last of the lovely Zinnias have been cut down and are on the dining room table as the center piece. Many housewives in various states use artificial flowers of all types but to me they are only dust catchers and I never bother.

Did you know that the first Surgeon General of the United States built Blair House in 1824? The name — Dr. Joseph Levee.

Mrs. House Wife if you are in need of bed blankets, be sure you purchase Acryln 100% instead of the woolen ones as they are warmer and will not shrink when washing them.

Now, ladies even if white is always right, nevertheless Black is back for afternoon and evening wear, regardless of materials.

You and you will love the new products that just came out by MAX FACTOR — and the nice part is Miss Dorothy Speight will tell you the real facts when you purchase any item of Cosmetics by that concern in the Hecht May Co. The new one is "PASTEL PINK" rouge. The tiniest drop from that tube will mean you have a lovely complexion. It is truly a wonder. Then there is "Lash Full" — a special lash builder to add to your lashes, to fringe them, darken them and make them appear longer. That grand company from the very beginning has never changed their wonderful formulas all down through the years and I know that is why that company keeps growing and growing! That is the main secret.

Many others may change but not "MAX FACTOR!" There is a special treat for Christmas for Milady as a grand gift and here it goes, "ONCE UPON A RED" — redder than poppy, ripier than persimmon, richer than rubies and righter than rain!

Cute? Just ask to see that one!

Now a real live and precious gift will be in the arms of Carol Burnette for Christmas!

Here's a good one and something for Ma and Pa to think about and that Teen-ager of yours. — Years ago, the growing girl and boy were taught to put their shoulder to the wheel but nowadays the Teen-agers' can't wait until they get their hands on the wheel! True or false?

What an attractive woman, the mother of our President is and such a sweet one, too, plus filled with good sound sense. She appeared charming on TV and so natural as she spoke about the retarded child mentioning her own daughter in the institution now for 20 years! How she must grieve in silence!

Hope you did not miss on TV Miss America Teen-Ager. I would have chosen Miss New York if I had been one of the judges.

In last week's Column I was so interested in my Readers purchasing a dog as a companion that I truly forgot to state how handsome Bobby really is with his Gotee that even Mitch Miller would envy, eyelashes two inches long and real black that Zsa Zsa Gabor would love to have and his beautiful hair that any girl would prize! She is losing pounds on less food.

Have been wondering with all the bells to cease their ringing if it will mean the tiny one of the old fashioned, "Scissor Grinder" and the Knife Sharpener" as he passes in the neighborhood? I then wonder if anyone would dare to stop a church bell ringing? That would be the day, Eh?

Did you ever taste a Plum Roll with a steaming Plum Sauce? Ummmmmmmm good! I can of purple plums, home-made biscuit dough or i. e., type of school, receiving instructions, grade and number of sacraments received.

The Taneytown Lions Club met in regular session Tuesday night, Nov. 12. It was Girl Scout Night and Thomas Smith was in charge of the program. Mrs. Fair and Mrs. Campbell, leaders of the Girl Scouts, stated that many of the girls had been together in the program for nine years. Carol Rensburg led the Scouts in recalling past experiences as they worked together in their program. The program was concluded with the Girl Scout Hymn. "GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "It is easy to fall into the error of supposing that automation, of which so much is heard, confronts society with problems different in kind from anything that has gone before. This is not true. . . Consider the experience of William Caxton, one of the great trailblazers in the art of printing. It was in the 15th century that he set up a London establishment to print books in English. The Guild of Stationers objected to this newfangled method of using machinery to turn out books. They wanted to know what would happen to the scribes whose livelihood depended on the demand for books copied by hand. What happened was that the printing trade absorbed the copyists and soon provided jobs for many other men."

PELHAM, GA., JOURNAL: "It may surprise a lot of people but every time a doctor stops at the scene of an accident and voluntarily renders emergency aid, he is taking a risk. For, strange as it seems, they can be sued if the victim they stop to help dies or is maimed. Recently one state enacted a law to protect the humanitarian doctor who stops to render aid in emergency.
The law was passed only after it became known that insurance companies and lawyers were sometimes advising doctors to keep moving when they came upon a wreck!"

SIoux RAPIDS, IOWA, BUL-LETIN-PRESS: "There is no logical or common sense reason for anyone to be a pessimist living in the United States, if he will only open his eyes and see. As an individual in the United States, you have free access to its gigantic wealth through your own initiative and ability. As long as you do not encroach upon the rights of others, you can acquire as much of it as your capacity warrants.
It is all yours."

GRAYSON, KY., JOURNAL-EN-QUIRER: "If the U.S. has enough nuclear weapons to kill three times the present world population, as many believe, and it wishes to maintain this ratio, it probably will have to step up production, as the world population is increasing rapidly."

LA PORTE, IND., HERALD-AR-GUS: "At times in the recent race upheavals in this nation the church (all faiths) has taken quite a beating. Charges have been leveled at churchmen that they had not assumed their Christian role and lived up to what they teach. Therefore, it should not go unnoticed that in Chicago's recent race disturbances the most used line of communication between the races has been traced through the churches. . . One Chicago church federation, composed of both Protestants and Catholics, actually has served as the peace-maker in urban renewal and public school misunderstandings between the races."

NOGALES, ARIZ., HERALD: "If every taxpayer had to pay an equal share of taxes to cover the public debt, it would amount to $5,084 each, $117 more than this date last year.
Present public debt is $306 billion."

LITITZ, PA., RECORD-EXPRESS:
"There are indications that the banning of books is on the increase in the United States. This apparently reflects the growth of a widespread but mistaken idea that someone ought to be telling others what to read. . . In 1954, for example, Hans Christian Anderson's beloved fairy tales were stamped in red ink, 'For Adult Readers Only,' by order of the Illinois secretary of state. Mark

Twain's 'Huckleberry Finn,' possibly America's greatest novel, was banned in New York because an influential organization disliked one of its characters. Other examples, involving even such masterpieces as plays by Shakespeare, are numerous."

OAKDALE, CALIF., LEADER:
"Some youngsters in an Arizona school declined to rise when the National Anthem was sung and were expelled from school. Their parents took the case to court, asking reinstatement of their children, using the right of individual freedom as the basis of their suit. The judge ruled that the First Amendment's 'guarantee of religious freedom and freedom of expression' was his reason for invalidating the law. . . The so-called individual freedoms do have a limit beyond which they cannot extend and one, it would seem, should be the nationally accepted patriotic observances we all offer to our National Anthem and our American Flag."

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The first snow flakes of the season came on Monday.

Walter A. Bower has added a new Ford to the automobile fleet of Taneytown.

From the loads of merchandise that our merchants have been receiving recently, and from the busy appearance of our stores, it is a pretty safe conclusion that Taneytown is keeping up its reputation for being a good place at which to do general buying.

Cluts - Valentine — At the home of the bride, near Harney, on Wednesday evening, November 12, Mr. Harry Cluts and Miss Mary Adaline Valentine were united in marriage. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cluts, of near Keysville, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Valentine.

Keysville — The following were regular in attendance during the Fall term at our public school: Nellie Kiser, Kathryn Stull, Lula Frock, Evelyn Dayhoff, Ruth Kiser, Victoria Weybright, Annie Dayhoff, Victor Weybright, Jennie Frock, Roscoe Kiser, Wilbur Hahn and Edgar Kiser. Peter Wilhide and family visited at Edward Shorb's on Sunday.

One hundred and fifty farms were advertised against trespassing in our last issue, to 97 last year. One farmer remarked that he did not care for the shooting of a few rabbits but wanted to protect himself against the chance of being shot.

The cold snap interfered with work on the state road, this week, but the concrete is now laid over a mile.

Special Notices

Chicken and Oyster Supper, Nov. 14-15 by Aid Society of Grace Reformed congregation, Taneytown, in the Opera House.

Public Sale — November 21 at 1:00 o'clock. Household articles. One mile from Keysville, Mrs. Wm. Hahn.

service bulletin

It pays to feed helpers, dry cows the Purina Way!

Grain feeding of heifers and dry cows is an accepted practice by leading dairymen here in the East. They do it to make more milk . . . and more money. Many report 1,000 pounds more milk during the next lactation when a dry cow is properly conditioned on Purina D & F Chow. You feed it according to body weight . . . a thousand-pound cow, for example, needs only 10 pounds a day. Purina D & F—full name, Dry and Freshening Chow—is specially designed to help build body condition, which later converts to low-cost milk. You'll find D & F in coarse or pellet form, whichever fits your feeding situation best.

Either way, it's one of the smartest feed buys on the market today. Ask for it by name—"Purina D & F"—at our Store with the Checkerboard Sign.

KEYSVILLE-DETOUR

Greetings to you:

Please note, it has been necessary to postpone the Cub Pack 459 meeting from Friday the 15th to Wednesday the 20th.

Happy Birthday Wishes this week to Mrs. William (Mignon) Weishaar of Forest and Stream Club Road on the 14th.

Francis Scott Key P-TA meeting to be held on Monday the 18th at 8:00 P. M.

Union Bridge Parish Lutheran Men's meeting will be on Wednesday the 20th at Rocky Ridge. There will be a film on safety for the program topic, "It Pays to Advertise."

Friday supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan of Forest and Stream Club Road were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wantz, Jr., near Taneytown.

It has been necessary for a number of people to drill new wells here in this area due to the drought. The rains we've had recently have undoubtedly been a big help for many homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stonesifer of Rockville were week-end visitors with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stonesifer of Keysville.

Have you ordered your Wolfgang's Candy yet? Contact any of the Keysville Lutheran Sunday School teachers or myself. The candy is being sold for the benefit of the Building Fund of the church.

Belated Birthday Wishes to two members of the Ausherman family of Forest and Stream Club Road. Helen Fossett was 14 on the 4th and Earl (Buddy) was 9 on the 9th. Hope they had Happy Birthdays.

Miss Carol Wolfgang and Mr. William Burr visited with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleaharty and children near Detour, on Sunday evening. They were on their way back to Washington after visiting in Harrisburg and Duncannon. Mrs. Stanley Sweigard (aunt of the two girls) is again a patient at the Polyclinic Hospital and Mrs. Sadie Seiler (grandmother) is now in a nursing home near Duncannon, after recent surgery.

You have just a week left now in which to save your papers, magazines, etc., for the paper drive on the 23rd by the Keysville Luther League. Don't forget to call 775-5802 to request pick-up.

Sunday callers at the William Weishaar home near Detour were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Weishaar of Taneytown, Mr. and Mrs. James Weishaar and Bobby of Detour, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Clingan of Thurmont, Mrs. Florence Hyde and Mrs. Mary Fossett of Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rinehart and Mrs. Helen Wayson of Reisterstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Slenker and Danny of Mt. Wolfe, Pa.

Don't forget the chicken and oyster supper on Saturday, the 16th, at the United Church of Christ in Keysville.

How good it was to see Mrs. Verna DeBerry of Hampstead, formerly near Keymar, in church on Sunday and looking so well, too. Mrs. DeBerry visited the previous week with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kiser and family of Naylor's Mill Road and is spending this week with Mrs. Bessie Myers of Detour.

Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Ausherman near Detour were Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Ausherman and children of Taneytown and Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Ausherman and Terry of Frederick.

Her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. David Seibert, Steven and David, Jr., of Hagerstown, were dinner guests on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan near Detour. In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. David Reifsnider and John near Keymar were visitors. Sorry, indeed, to hear the Reifsnider's other son, Mike, is a patient in Johns Hopkins Hospital. Do hope he will soon be well enough to be home again.

Have you been through Uniontown lately? It is such a pretty town anytime with the big trees making a canopy overhead, but right now with those same trees turning golden, it is lovely. This is another town that is kept up so well; houses in good repair and streets and sidewalks always looking so clean.

Luncheon guest on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide and family near Detour was his cousin, Mrs. Oscar Fogle of Frederick. In the afternoon, Mrs. Fogle joined Mr. and Mrs. Wilhide, Jane and Beth, in visiting in Baltimore with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fry and children.

Sunday evening visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Hans Steffen and Herman of Sixes Bridge Road were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan near Detour.

The work that was being done on the banks of the road—on the other side of the railroad tracks from the cannery in Keymar—has been completed and what a difference it has made. It will undoubtedly make a big difference this winter when the snows come, but right now it has made it possible to see the driveway at Zent's, which has always been a "blind," and that is a big help in itself. Looks right bare now, but there will probably be grass again next spring.

By the way, the construction on Mamma's Ford Road is still not complete, but should be finished shortly. Certainly does cause an inconvenience for the families that live back that way.

—Dharlys Fleaharty.

Last Sunday morning while sitting at our breakfast table we noticed a male pheasant; he was so big and beautiful it wasn't long until there were fifteen male and female. They were so pretty it seems a shame to kill them. I remember last year there were 30 in our neighbor's field but came the legal day for killing there was not one to be found. Well, come this Friday they will again have to go in hiding. There are not many rabbits this year as in other years. Sterling Smith, who fell and broke his arm, still remains in the hospital. He has been there the past two weeks and the reports are he has four more to stay. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Practical Arithmetic

Ten little Christians standing in a line. One disliked the preacher, then there were nine. Nine little Christians stayed up very late, One slept Sunday morning, then there were 8. Eight little Christians on the road to heaven, One took the lower road, then there were seven. Seven little Christians got into a fix, One disliked the music; then there were six. Six little Christians very much alive, But one lost interest; then there were five. Five little Christians wishing there were more, But they quarreled; then there were four. Four little Christians, cheerful as could be, But one lost his temper; then there were three. Three little Christians, know not what to do, One joined a sporty crowd; then there were two. Two little Christians—our rhyme is nearly done—Differed with each other; then there was one. One lone Christian, won his neighbor true, Brought him to Church; then there were two. Two earnest Christians, each won one more, That double their number; and then there were four. Four sincere Christians worked very late, But each won another; then there eight. Eight splendid Christians, but nothing rhymes with sixteen so we simply note that in four more rhymes there would be 1042; which would be quite a church full.

Lemon, Ice — Trick With Shrimp

In a hurry for shrimp cocktails? If you have canned shrimp on the shelf and 30 minutes to spare, you are on your way. There is a trick to putting extra firm "bite" into canned shrimp for cocktails and this is it:

First, drain and rinse the shrimp. Place them in a bowl and cover with ice, lots of it. For each 4½-ounce can of shrimp, combine ¼ cup water and 2 tablespoons lemon juice and pour over the shrimp. Let them stand under their ice-cap for 30 minutes, stirring once or twice to make sure all are chilled. It is this combination of intense cold and acid that gets results in short order. Take the shrimp straight from the ice into the cocktail glasses and serve immediately. Two 4½-ounce cans of shrimp make cocktails for six.

The Sportsman's Corner

by Dr. Joe Linduska, Remington Wild Life Expert

GAME NEVER HAD IT SO GOOD

Hunters afield don't always get a rabbit, a pheasant, or a Canada Goose, but they hope to. In this hope, sportsmen pay annually about $150,000,000 into the game management kitty.

The motive is at least partly selfish. To get more game there has to be more. So game is sheltered, protected and produced in quantity so that Mr. Nimrod can bring home a fair share at the end of a day's hunt.

Private companies, such as Remington Arms, contribute to the cause of increasing game supplies through their own conservation efforts. At Remington's experimental wildlife management farm in Chester town, Maryland, projects include work to develop and promote methods for managing game crops on farmland.

DIED

ROLAND MICHAEL BAKER
Roland Michael Baker, 74, husband of Mrs. Nellie (Powers) Baker, died suddenly at his home, 1915 Virginia Ave., Hagerstown, Saturday, Nov. 2, 1963, at 10 A. M.

Born in Taneytown, he was a son of the late John Curtis and Louise (Wertz) Baker. He had resided in Hagerstown for the past 40 years. THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports

I wasn't going to mention a thing about the vacancy in Baltimore, but the situation has gotten so out of hand and certain things have come to my attention that I think a statement of opinion has got to be made. WHY has there been so much trouble in getting a manager for the Baltimore Orioles? Is the pay that bad? Are the working conditions miserable? Are the Birds a cellar club that is beyond help and therefore worth no manager's help? Is there talk of the team moving to greener pastures? The answer to all of these questions is NO. There are only twenty major league teams and surely there has to be some amount of glamor to a job as manager in the majors and if nothing else it makes a dandy conversation opener to say "I'm the manager of so-and-so."

What Baltimore needs is a manager who will crack the whip and drive his players — period. We found out what happens when you have "Mr. Nice Guy" as manager. As you can guess, I was, and still am, a fan of the Paul Richards school of managing. He cracked the whip with the players. He wasn't afraid to levy fines if the players misbehaved. He had his team in the outfield running before the games, even his pitchers. They weren't in a "Coke funk" before the games to see who could hit the most home runs into the stands in the pre-game batting drill. When was the last time you saw the Orioles taking bunting practice before a game? Not since Paul Richards I bet you. Billy Hitchcock didn't want to upset the players with such bothersome drills. What about those card games that go on in the club house? When a group of "professional" ball players consider a game only a bothersome interruption to a game of cards then it's time to clean house! If booting the manager won't help then some of the players must go also. Why wasn't this thing abolished? When a card game is utmost in a ball players mind, you can't tell me that he's going to worry about winning a ball game. He's so anxious to get back to that table and those chips, that he's not going to put out 100 per cent on the diamond and you can't tell me any differently. I have this on good authority that Brooks Robinson, Mr. Hustle, was quoted as saying, "I'm only playing good enough to keep my present salary next year." This from a man who always seems to give his all. Apparently he wasn't. This it appears to me is the last straw. If a team doesn't hustle then it's the managers fault. True Billy Hitchcock has been fired, but they will probably replace him with Hank Bauer, a man who is a pal to the team. A manager CAN'T be a "good guy" with the team and crack the whip. No, Hank Bauer is not the man Baltimore needs. Who then, you say? Well, my personal picks have jobs already and will not be hired from their present employment, I'm speaking of Yogi Berra and Paul Richards. That's my personal opinion, you have your own.

Lee MacPhail, general manager of the Orioles, had his disagreements with Paul Richards and that was one thing that made up his mind to go to Houston. He isn't helping matters either with his looking for a manager. Apparently his searching hasn't turned up a thing because no one wants to touch it with a ten-foot pole. That's amazing because if the New York Mets had a managers vacancy tomorrow there would be about fifteen applicants, but not one for Baltimore. MacPhail is hemming and having around for another choice, while everyone knows that Bauer will get the job. Lee will then go to Hank and say, "Well, Hank, we tried to find a better manager than you, but we couldn't so I guess we'll have to give the job to you, we don't want to, understand, but no one would take the job besides you." That in effect is what will happen. Hank must know that they are looking around for someone else to manage. I wonder how he must feel about that. I'm expecting anyway now to read where BOZO THE CLOWN has been made manager of the Baltimore Orioles, it would make as much sense as anything else that has happened down there.

Remember When, Dept. — When Clint Courtney was catching, Dick Kryhoski played first, Bobby Young on second, Billy Hunter short-stop, and Vern Stephens was on third. That was fifty-four and that was the Oriole line-up.

Today's Sports Laugh — Former Cleveland Indians pitcher Bob Feller recalls the time he hurled the third no-hitter of his career, against the Detroit Tigers on July 1, 1951. Feller was asked how he did it. He replied, "With my new pitch—my atom ball. I threw it atom and they hit atom."

—John Breth.

"Going to college is becoming so expensive that even football players are writing home for money." —Kenneth Bennett, Greencastle (Ind.) Putnam County Graphic.

An object in possession seldom retains the same charms which it had when it was longed for.

Writing on Hearts

Lesson for November 17, 1963

Bible Material: Acts 16:10-40; II Corinthians 1 through 4.
Devotional Reading: II Corinthians 4:7-16.

WHAT WAS the greatest single influence in your life? Change that word "was" to "is" and leave out the word "single" if you like. It still is a question to think about. Most people, if they answer that question, would say truthfully that some particular person, perhaps now dead, was the strongest single influence. Or they might mention several names. But they probably would be names, not things. Every one of us may be Dr. Foreman at the other end, too. How many lives have known your influence in some way? How many lives would have been different if it had not been for you? These are sobering thoughts.

The fact is, we all are engaged, often without trying or thinking particularly about it, in writing something, good or bad, on the hearts of all we meet. Thinking about us is (for the people we have known) like getting a letter, bitter or gay, serious or silly as the case may be. Somebody else's handwriting is on every heart.

Through us the fragrance
The Christian above all has a responsibility that what he writes on others' hearts shall be recognizably Christian. But what is "Christian"? Paul mentions in the passage chosen for this week three points by which a Christian person, and Christian influence, can be identified. Paul did not mind mixing his metaphors, and neither should we. There is a gloriously many-colored beauty about the Christian character, like an old-fashioned garden. First of all, a Christian is one through whom the "fragrance of the knowledge" of Christ spreads everywhere. In plainer English, a Christian is one who does not leave others indifferent to Christ, but whose life makes others want to know the secret of the "fragrance" (Paul's word) of Christ. Second, a Christian is sincere, he is what he claims to be. Third, a Christian is a man of confidence not in himself but in God.

A letter from Christ
Paul was not an over-modest man. If credit was due him, he took it. Yet he never claims too much. Paul knew very well that he was perhaps the one most influential Christian in that part of the Roman empire. He knew he would be remembered all their life long by those converts of his in Corinth and other cities. Yet he does not claim credit for the handwriting on the hearts of those he had won for Christ. Indelible was the writing; but it was not his own. You (he said to his friends) are a letter from Christ, written not with ink, with with the Spirit of the living God.

You do not have to be a theologian to see what Paul is driving at. Every Christian is part of the communication between God and the world. Every Christian, so far as he is Christian (and no one 100%), expresses and makes clear God's will and word for the situations in which he lives. Then is every Christian a sort of little Pope, infallibly able to dictate God's last word in every situation and problem of life?

Delivered by us
Not by any means. Not even the Pope in Rome makes claims so sweeping as all that. We have to face the fact that men who are perhaps equally Christians-by-intention do not always agree, perhaps almost never. Paul says elsewhere that we have this treasure (and he meant the message of God) in earthenware vessels. And about the handwriting of the Spirit on the hearts of the Corinthians, he says it was "delivered by us," and Paul does not claim that he could never be mistaken. The Corinthians, moreover, were themselves farther from perfection than Saint Paul was. The letter of Christ was written on the hearts of men who (on Paul's own showing) were guilty of all sorts of sins. The handwriting of the Spirit gets rubbed down more or less as the letters are passed on. So no Christian's writing on your heart or on your grateful memory should be confused with direct contact with God himself. For every Christian has the same privilege and the same need of the Spirit as the greatest Christians have had. Time and distance may carry our friends far away, but the Spirit is always here. He who wrote, writes still today.

Picture of Progress

The first three-engined transport built in the U. S. since the thirties, American Airlines' 727 Astrojet, lines up alongside the most famous of the earlier airplanes, a Ford Tri-Motor. Occasion was the rollout at Renton, Wash. of the first of 25 Boeing jetliners to be delivered to American for service beginning early in 1964. The 600 mile an hour airliner, the nation's newest, will seat more than 90 passengers. The Ford shown here was built in 1929 and flew for American's immediate predecessor, American Airways, from 1931 to 1935. A year ago, the company repurchased and restored the airplane and it has been visiting airports throughout the country. Eventually it will be presented to the Smithsonian Institution's National Air Museum to be built in Washington, D. C.

FISHING LINES
By DICK WOLFF

Fisherman worry about whether they're using the right lures and using them properly. Let's start by conceding that most lures will catch fish. Reputable manufacturers design them for easy casting, good working action, and proper handling. Materials are selected to endure the rigors of rugged bottoms, rocky snags, constant moisture, and of course, the smashing strike of a game-fish. Finally, new lures are tested for fish-appeal by teams of anglers, before customers get a crack at them.

The real problem is to carry lures that produce even when conditions are poor. With so many appealing lures available, it's a rugged task to pick those that "score" when nobody around is catching fish. But choosing the right combination is one reason why ten per cent of anglers catch 90 per cent of the fish.

The best selection of lures must have all types, spinners, spoons, and plugs. Plugs should be both floating and underwater kinds. Colors should stand out against the lake bottom or stream bed when fished deep, or against the sky when fished near the surface. Another consideration is how closely the color resembles the game fishes natural diet.

Reviewing last summer's mailbag, one particular lure was a stand-out. It is a scoop-nosed plug called the ABU Hi-Lo. The versatile ABU Hi-Lo can do just about everything. The reason is an adjustable metal lip. Set forward, the lip will carry the lure very deep where the big ones move to escape the heat. Set back, the ABU Hi-Lo will operate as a surface plug, or near surface plug.

One of the most informative letters was from a Las Vegas reader who fishes for nearby Lake Mead's famous large mouth bass. He wrote: "I favor the light 3/4-ounce ABU Hi-Lo in red and white and also black patterns. When fishing in darkness or near-darkness, I work the shoreline with the lighter-colored pattern using it as surface plug. Then, as the sun comes up, I follow the bass into deeper water adjusting the Hi-Lo to various depths. Here the darker color works best because it stands out against the light-colored sky. On Lake Mead I like to use my Ambassador 5000 reel for 'free spool' bait-casting and 2216 Garcia tubular fiber glass rod. A light eight-pound test Platyl line goes well with this combination."

Other lures that make a lot of good fishing sense are ABU-Reflex spinners and ABU-Toby and ABU-Koster silver spoons. They're all durable fish-getters in both fresh and salt waters. With a few of each, along with several ABU Hi-Lo's, a sports fisherman is carrying about the best combination of lures available.

KIWANIS KLAXON

Meeting, Nov. 6, 1963. Good eats, perfect contentment as buckets of the long expected rain splashed merrily on the surrounding landscape bringing sighs of relief from all hands as the drouth made its exit into the limbo of past problems of community economy.

Doc Hopkins, the MC of the evening, introduced Mr. Earl Sipes, who after a few humorous remarks, introduced Mr. Sol S. Hack, Vice President of the Hack Insurance Agency, Inc., General Agents for Maryland for the Continental Insurance Co. and the Continental Casualty Co.

Mr. Hack, a graduate of LUTC, presently chairman of LUTC Health Committee, Instructor of Health Insurance, President of Maryland State Association of Health Underwriters and a featured speaker at Health Insurance Conventions, gave a very instructive and helpful lecture on the value of Health Insurance and the various affiliated types of insurance. How they have grown in the past decade and the need they fill in these days of high and growing higher, hospital costs.

The fact that a few years ago, people of 54 or 55 years of age were excluded from insurance has now been changed so that people of any age can have the same type of protection that the younger enjoy. The meeting was very helpful and instructive, opening to view the great opportunity that health insurance offers to all of any age.

Mr. Dave Taylor of the Westminster Club was introduced, wearing the smile that never fades. Two young men of the Key Club, Mr. Wayne Wilhide and Mr. Jim Frock, were present and both appeared to be future Kiwanians of the first rank.

When Father Times drops out for 1963 and the little Cherub of 1964 appears on the threshold he will find the prospects for Taneytown in the firm grip of a trio of officers who will surely set a pace for Kiwanians to follow, viz: President Paul (Smoky) Morelock; Vice President Paul Rodkey; Treasurer Felix Westline. "Looks like a trio of winners."
